MR. BISSELL: GOOD MORNING, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: PRETTY BAD ON THE FREEWAY, MR. RUSSO?

MR. RUSSO: NORTH OF JEFFREY, IT WAS A PARKING LOT. THERE WAS AN ACCIDENT. I AND EVERYONE ELSE TRIED TO DRIVE AROUND IT, ALL THE SIDE STREETS. IT WAS JUST ONE OF THOSE DAYS.

THE COURT: DID YOU USE THE WAZE PROGRAM ON YOUR PHONE?

MR. RUSSO: NO, I DIDN'T. ONCE I GOT ON AND I REALIZED IT WAS STOPPED, I JUST PUT THE GOOGLE MAPS ON AND SAW IT WAS RED FROM WHERE I WAS ALL THE WAY, MID-WAY BETWEEN JEFFREY AND CULVER. SO I DROVE AROUND AND GOT BACK ON AT CULVER AND IT WAS FINE, BUT IT TOOK A WHILE.

THE COURT: ON THE 5?

MR. RUSSO: I GOT OFF THE 5 BECAUSE I REALIZED AFTER TEN MINUTES WE WEREN'T GOING ANYWHERE.

THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. SO WHAT I AM ABOUT TO DO AT THIS TIME IS TO INVITE ARGUMENT WITH RESPECT TO THE

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION ISSUE, AND WE WILL SEE WHERE WE GO AFTER THAT.

SO MR. BISSELL, WE WILL START WITH YOU.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

YOUR HONOR, CIVIL CODE SECTION 1636 PROVIDES THAT A CONTRACT MUST BE INTERPRETED AS TO GIVE EFFECT TO THE MUTUAL INTENTION OF THE PARTIES AS IT EXISTED AT THE TIME OF THE CONTRACTING. THE CASE OF SHAW VERSUS REGENTS OF UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA 58 CAL.APP.4TH 44 STATES, "ALTHOUGH UNDER CIVIL CODE SECTION 1636 AND 1638 THE INTENT OF THE PARTIES DETERMINES THE MEAN OF THE CONTRACT, THE RELEVANT INTENT IS OBJECTIVE. THAT IS, THE OBJECTIVE INTENT IS EVIDENCED BY THE WORDS OF THE INSTRUMENT, NOT A PARTY'S OBJECTIVE INTENT. THE TRUE INTENT OF THE CONTRACTING PARTY IS IRRELEVANT IF IT REMAINS UNEXPRESSED."

IN THE CASE OF TRAVELERS -- I'M SORRY -- AUGBURN VERSUS TRAVELERS INSURANCE COMPANY, 207 CAL.APP. 50 STATED, "AS TO HARDSHIPS, ADVANTAGES, OR DISADVANTAGES, WHICH MAY RESULT FROM SUCH CONSTRUCTION, COURTS HAVE NOTHING TO DO."

SO WHAT WAS THE OBJECTIVE EXPRESSED INTENT OF THE PARTIES AT THE TIME THAT THEY ENTERED INTO THIS CONTRACT? FIRST OF ALL, WE ALL HAVE TO DEFINE WHAT THE CONTRACT IS. THE ONLY CONTRACT WE HAVE BETWEEN THE HUMPHREYS AND MR. BEREKI IS OUR EXHIBIT 303, WHICH WAS

THE APRIL 5, 2012 E-MAIL STRING IN WHICH MR. BEREKI COMMUNICATED HIS PROPOSAL FOR THE WORK ITEMIZING EACH ITEM OF WORK. MS. HUMPHREYS RESPONDED TO THAT PROPOSAL AND AGREED TO THE TERMS OF THE AGREEMENT AND HIRING MR. BEREKI AND MR. OVERLEY TO DO THE JOB.

THERE SIMPLY WAS NO OTHER CONTRACT. THERE WAS NO CONTRACT AT ANY TIME PROPOSED, OFFERED, SUGGESTED BY SPARTAN ASSOCIATES AND THE HUMPHREYS OR PROPOSED TO THE HUMPHREYS.

NOW, IT IS APPARENT THAT MR. BEREKI, AT SOME POINT, DEVELOPED AN UNEXPRESSED INTENT THAT THE CONTRACTING PARTY BE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES INSTEAD OF HIMSELF. HOWEVER, THE EVIDENCE IS CLEAR THAT THAT UNEXPRESSED INTENT DIDN'T EVEN DAWN ON MR. BEREKI UNTIL SEVERAL MONTHS INTO THE JOB.

THE EVIDENCE THAT SUPPORTS THAT IS MR. BEREKI AFTER THE -- SHORTLY AFTER THE EXHIBIT 303 CONTRACT WAS PROPOSED AND AGREED TO, HE REQUESTED THAT THE PAYMENTS BE MADE PAYABLE TO HIM PERSONALLY. MR. BEREKI PAID ALL OF THE JOB COSTS ON THIS PROJECT UP UNTIL JULY OF 2012 ON HIS PERSONAL ACCOUNT OR ON HIS MOTHER'S PERSONAL ACCOUNT, NOT ON THE SPARTAN ACCOUNT.

MR. BEREKI NEVER SENT AN INVOICE TO THE HUMPHREYS BEFORE JULY OF 2012 ON ANY DOCUMENT THAT WOULD EVEN HAVE THE NAME SPARTAN ON IT, MUCH LESS A LOGO OR ANYTHING THAT WOULD ALERT THE HUMPHREYS THAT SPARTAN WAS

PART OF THIS JOB.

MR. BEREKI DIDN'T SET UP SPARTAN AS A -- AN EMPLOYER UNTIL JULY OF 2012. THAT'S WHEN HE REGISTERED WITH THE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION AND THAT'S WHEN HE APPLIED FOR WORKERS' COMPENSATION INSURANCE FOR THIS JOB AS SPARTAN.

THE HUMPHREYS PAID MR. BEREKI $100,000 BEFORE MR. BEREKI EVEN BROUGHT UP THE NAME SPARTAN. PURE AND SIMPLY, SPARTAN WANTED PRESENCE IN THIS JOB IN ANY WAY, SHAPE, OR FORM BEFORE JULY OF 2012. AND, AGAIN, A CONTRACT'S INTERPRETED BY THE OBJECTIVE EXPRESSED INTENT AT THE TIME THE PARTIES ENTER INTO IT.

MR. BEREKI OFFERED AS EVIDENCE EXHIBIT 30-1 SHOWING A SPARTAN SIGN ON THE PROJECT AT SOME UNDISCLOSED DATE. BUT MR. BEREKI HAS TESTIFIED THAT FOR THE FIRST SEVERAL MONTHS, EVEN THOUGH HE HAD BEEN PAID $100,000, THE HUMPHREYS PAID HIM $100,000 ON THIS JOB, HE BASICALLY JUST HAD BEEN PUTTERING AROUND. EXHIBIT 30-1 SHOWS THE CONDOMINIUM IN A VIRTUALLY DEMOLISHED STATE. SO CLEARLY THAT PICTURE WASN'T TAKEN AT ANY EARLY STAGE OF MR. BEREKI'S INVOLVEMENT IN THE PROJECT.

WHAT WAS THE EVIDENCE OFFERED AS TO THE OBJECTIVE INTENT OF THE PARTIES AT THE TIME THAT THE CONTRACT WAS ENTERED INTO THAT SPARTAN WAS ONE OF THE CONTRACTING PARTIES? YOUR HONOR, THERE WAS ABSOLUTELY NONE. THERE IS NOTHING THERE THAT SUGGESTS SPARTAN

OBJECTIVELY WAS A CONTRACTING PARTY. IN FACT, IT WAS CLEAR FROM THE TESTIMONY OF MR. BEREKI WHEN HE WAS TALKING ABOUT -- FIRST HE TESTIFIED THAT HE HAD ENTERED INTO THIS SHOP RENTAL LEASE AS SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION. WELL, WHEN WE LOOKED AT THE LEASE, IT WAS CLEAR THAT HE DID NOT ENTER THE LEASE AS SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION. HE ENTERED IT AS ADAM BEREKI, DBA SPARTAN. IT'S CLEAR ADAM BEREKI NEVER UNDERSTOOD THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A CORPORATION AND HIMSELF. HE JUST DIDN'T UNDERSTAND. HE THOUGHT -- HE FELT THE CORPORATION WAS HIM, HE WAS THE CORPORATION. AND THAT'S NOT THE WAY IT WORKS UNDER THE LAW.

WHAT'S THE SIGNIFICANCE OF THE CONTRACTING? THE SIGNIFICANCE IS THE CONTRACTOR HAS TO BE LICENSED. MR. BEREKI SEEMED TO BE UNDER THE IMPRESSION THAT UNLESS HE WAS DOING SOMETHING STRUCTURAL, HE DIDN'T NEED A LICENSE. IN LIGHT OF WHAT TRANSPIRED ON THIS JOB, IT IS NOT SURPRISING THAT MR. BEREKI THINKS THAT, BUT HE'S CLEARLY WRONG.

A FUNDAMENTAL SECTION OF THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE LAW, BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONS CODE SECTION 7026 DEFINES A CONTRACTOR VERY BROADLY AS INCLUDING ANY PERSON WHO UNDERTAKES TO CONSTRUCT, ALTER, REPAIR OR IMPROVE ANY BUILDING OR STRUCTURE.

EXHIBIT 303, THE AGREEMENT THAT THE PARTIES ENTERED INTO, IS EVIDENCE OF SUCH UNDERTAKING. IT IS CLEAR A LICENSE IS REQUIRED. NO QUESTION ABOUT THAT.

MR. BEREKI WAS NOT LICENSED. HE'S TESTIFIED THAT HE HAD NO LICENSE ISSUED TO HIM AT ANY TIME, EITHER AT THE TIME THE CONTRACT WAS ENTERED INTO OR AT ANY TIME THE WORK WAS BEING PERFORMED BY MR. BEREKI. HE TESTIFIED THAT THE PARTNERSHIP OF HE AND MR. OVERLEY WERE NOT LICENSED AT THE TIME THE CONTRACTING WAS ENTERED INTO OR AT ANY TIME DURING THE WORK. IN FACT, THEY COULD NOT HAVE BEEN LICENSED BECAUSE MR. BEREKI DIDN'T HAVE A LICENSE. A JOINT VENTURE LICENSE REQUIRES THAT BOTH PARTIES TO THE JOINT VENTURE, OR IF IT'S MORE THAN TWO, HOWEVER MANY PARTIES TO THE JOINT VENTURE, EACH BE INDIVIDUALLY LICENSED. MR. BEREKI TESTIFIED THAT HE WAS NOT LICENSED.

EVEN IF ONE WERE TO SUBSCRIBE TO THE THEORY THAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES HAD CONTRACTED WITH THE HUMPHREYS, SPARTAN ASSOCIATES AND MR. OVERLEY, AND MR. BEREKI HAS TESTIFIED IT WAS AN INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR HE PARTNERED WITH ON THIS JOB, THAT PARTNERSHIP WAS NOT LICENSED. THERE WAS NO COMBINATION OR PERMUTATION OF INDIVIDUALS OR ENTITIES THAT PARTICIPATED ON THIS JOB THAT HAD THE REQUISITE LICENSE.

THE COURT RAISED THE QUESTION YESTERDAY AS TO THE QUESTION OF WHAT IS THE IMPACT, WHAT IS THE EFFECT OF THE FACT THAT NOT ALL PAYMENTS ON THIS JOB CAME TO MR. BEREKI DIRECTLY FROM THE HUMPHREYS. WHAT IS THE

EFFECT OF THAT? CAN THE HUMPHREYS STILL RECOVER ON DISGORGEMENT?

THE KEY STATUTE WHICH HAS BEEN BRIEFED, AND I AM SURE THE JUDGE HAS READ, IS BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONS CODE SECTION 7031, SUBSECTION E, "A PERSON WHO UTILIZES THE SERVICES OF AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR MAY BRING AN ACTION IN ANY COURT OR COMPETENT JURISDICTION IN THIS STATE TO RECOVER ALL COMPENSATION PAID TO THE UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR FOR PERFORMING -- PERFORMANCE OF ANY ACT OR CONTRACT."

NOW, THE COURT SUGGESTED YESTERDAY THAT MAYBE HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES SHOULD BE A CO-PARTY TO THE ACTION TO RECOVER THE FUNDS THAT THEY -- BASICALLY THEY WERE A CONDUIT, BUT -- THE FUNDS THAT WERE CONDUITED THROUGH THEM TO MR. BEREKI. THEY COULDN'T BE A PARTY TO THIS ACTION. THIS STATUTE IS LIMITED TO A PERSON WHO UTILIZES THE SERVICES OF AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR.

THE ONLY PEOPLE WHO UTILIZED THE SERVICES OF THE UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR OF MR. BEREKI AND MR. OVERLEY WERE THE HUMPHREYS. THEY WERE THE ONLY PERSONS THAT CAN BRING THIS ACTION. THERE IS NO LANGUAGE IN THAT CODE SECTION THAT LIMITS OR RESTRICTS WHERE THE SOURCE OF THE FUNDS COME FROM. IT'S JUST ALL COMPENSATION.

NOW THAT MAKES SENSE. IT MAKES SENSE THAT THERE'S NO LIMITATION BECAUSE I ASSUME THAT THE LEGISLATURE WAS -- TOOK SOME SORT OF CUE FROM THE

CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY THAT, HEY, WAIT A MINUTE, WE HAVE CONSTRUCTION LENDERS OUT HERE WHO ARE DISBURSING FUNDS ON PROJECTS ALL THE TIME. WE HAVE THIRD-PARTY CONSTRUCTION CONTROL AGENTS WHO ARE DISBURSING CONSTRUCTION FUNDS ON PROJECTS ALL THE TIME. WE HAVE CONSTRUCTION FUND ESCROW ACCOUNTS WHERE FUNDS ARE DISBURSED ALL THE TIME.

SO THERE ARE A MYRIAD OF EXAMPLES OR SITUATIONS WHERE PAYMENT DOESN'T HAVE TO COME OR DOESN'T COME DIRECTLY FROM THE PARTY WHO CONTRACTED WITH THE UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR. THERE ARE OTHER CONDUITS FOR THAT PAYMENT AND THE STATUTE MAKES NO DIFFERENTIATION OR NO RESTRICTIONS ON WHERE THAT MONEY COMES FROM. IT'S PURE AND SIMPLY ALL COMPENSATION PAID.

IF YOU LOOK AT THE INTENT, THAT SECTION OF 7031 WAS NOT AN ORIGINAL SECTION. THAT WAS APPLIED AFTER -- SEVERAL YEARS AFTER SECTION 7031 WAS ENACTED. SECTION 7031 WAS INITIALLY SIMPLY A SECTION THAT SAID AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR CANNOT BRING AN ACTION IN ANY COURT OF LAW TO RECOVER ON ANY JOB THAT HE'S PERFORMED WORK ON THAT REQUIRED A LICENSE.

WELL, THE LEGISLATURE UNDERSTOOD -- AT SOME POINT THEY UNDERSTOOD THAT, WAIT A SECOND, WE NEED TO TREAT PEOPLE EQUALLY HERE. THERE'S PEOPLE THAT HAVE PAID AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR AND THERE'S PEOPLE THAT HAVEN'T PAID AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR.

NOW, IF THE HUMPHREYS HADN'T PAID MR. BEREKI A DIME AND MR. BEREKI CLAIMED -- THE HUMPHREYS PAID HIM 848,000. SAY MR. BEREKI CLAIMS, HUMPHREYS, YOU DIDN'T PAY ME A DIME. I DID ALL THIS WORK. YOU OWE ME $848,000. WELL, HE WOULD BE OUT OF LUCK. HE'S NOT ENTITLED TO DIME ONE UNDER THE ORIGINAL SECTION OF 7031. NOW, UNDER THE ORIGINAL SECTION OF 7301, THOSE WHO HAD PAID THE UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR, THE PEOPLE IN THE HUMPHREYS POSITION, THEY COULDN'T RECOVER. SO THERE WAS AN UNEQUAL TREATMENT OF PARTIES DEALING WITH UNLICENSED CONTRACTORS UNDER SECTION 7031. WELL, THE LEGISLATURE RECOGNIZED THAT AND HE EQUALIZED THE IMPACT THAT SOMEBODY WHO DOESN'T PAY OR SOMEBODY WHO DOES PAY IS GOING TO BE TREATED THE SAME AS SOMEBODY WHO DOESN'T PAY; I.E., IF YOU OWE THE GUY 100 PERCENT OF WHAT WOULD OTHERWISE BE DUE ON THIS JOB, HE'S NOT ENTITLED TO IT. IF YOU PAID HIM 100 PERCENT OF WHATEVER HE IS ENTITLED TO ON THE JOB, YOU'RE ENTITLED TO RECOVER 100 PERCENT.

IN THE CASE ALATRISTE VERSUS CESAR'S EXTERIOR DESIGNS, INC. 183 CAL.APP.4TH 656, THE COURT STATED 7031(B) WAS DESIGNED TO TREAT PERSONS WHO HAVE UTILIZED UNLICENSED CONTRACTORS CONSISTENTLY REGARDLESS OF WHETHER THEY HAVE PAID THE CONTRACTOR FOR THE UNLICENSED WORK. THE ONLY WAY THAT 7031(B) CAN BE APPLIED IN THIS CASE WOULD BE CONSISTENT WITH NOT ONLY THE LANGUAGE OF THE STATUTE ITSELF -- THROUGH LANGUAGE OF THE STATUTE,

WHICH IS NOT VAGUE AND NOT AMBIGUOUS. AND THE INTERPRETATION OF THAT STATUTE IS FOUND IN THE ALATRISTE CASE, IS THAT THE HUMPHREYS ARE ENTITLED TO RECOVER ALL COMPENSATION PAID. THAT DOESN'T MATTER IF IT CAME FROM THEIR PERSONAL ACCOUNT OR IF IT CAME FROM A CONDUIT THROUGH WHICH THEY MADE PAYMENT OR WHETHER IT CAME FROM A RICH UNCLE. IT JUST MAKES NO DIFFERENCE. THE STATUTE IS CLEAR. ALL COMPENSATION.

THE EVIDENCE IS UNCONTROVERTED THAT THE HUMPHREYS PAID AS COMPENSATION TO MR. BEREKI ON THIS PROJECT $848,000. MR. BEREKI WAS REQUIRED TO HAVE A LICENSE. HE HAD NO LICENSE. UNDER THE LAW, THE HUMPHREYS ARE ENTITLED TO $848,000.

THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: THANK YOU. MR. RUSSO.

MR. RUSSO: YES, YOUR HONOR.

IF ONLY IT WERE SO SIMPLE. YOUR HONOR, THE BACKGROUND ON ALL THIS IS MR. BEREKI WAS WORKING IN THE POLICE FORCE WITH MR. HUMPHREYS' BROTHER.

THE COURT: WHICH POLICE FORCE WAS THAT?

MR. RUSSO: HUNTINGTON BEACH.

THE COURT: HB?

MR. RUSSO: YES. HE WENT OUT ON DISABILITY FROM THE POLICE FORCE. SO THAT WAS HOW THE RELATIONSHIP STARTED WITH THE BROTHER. HE JUST WENT INTO CONTRACT. THAT BUSINESS HAS NOW BEEN DISSOLVED. SO IT'S GONE.

DOESN'T HAVE ANY MONEY. HE'S OUT WITH HIS DISABILITY TRYING TO EARN A LIVING. THE COMPANY HAS NO MONEY. THE COMPANY HAS NO MONEY TO PAY THEIR ATTORNEY IN THIS CASE, BUT HERE WE ARE CLOSE TO TRIAL SO HERE I AM.

THE COURT: GOD, WE LOVE THE VOLUNTEERS.

MR. RUSSO: IT IS THAT. SO THE BOTTOM LINE IS WE'RE AT A POINT WHERE THROUGH SOME CREATIVE LAWYERING THIS NEW ISSUE CAME UP AT THE LAST MINUTE. THEY SAID THIS DISPUTE HAS BEEN GOING ON SINCE AUGUST OF 2013. THIS LAWSUIT HAS BEEN PENDING SINCE AUGUST OF 2015. AND THEN IN JANUARY OF THIS YEAR, THE CROSS-COMPLAINT WAS AMENDED TO ADD THIS CLAIM FOR DISGORGEMENT. SO IT'S NOT SOMETHING THAT WAS ON THEIR MINDS, IT'S NOT SOMETHING THAT THEY CARED ABOUT, IT'S NOT SOMETHING THEY CARED ABOUT WHEN I TOOK THEIR DEPOSITIONS. THIS WAS A LAST MINUTE, HEY, LET'S GIVE THIS ONE A SHOT.

SO SHOULD THERE BE SYMPATHY FOR THE HUMPHREYS IN LOSING THIS CLAIM WHEN WE HAVE BIGGER ISSUES IN THIS CASE? ABSOLUTELY NOT. THIS IS SOME GOOD, CREATIVE LAWYERING BY A GOOD LAWYER TO COME UP WITH THIS TECHNICAL ISSUE. AND IT'S A BIG FORFEITURE ISSUE. WE KNOW THE LAWS OF FORFEITURE. I HAVE BEEN ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THIS STATUTE AND ARGUED IT, AND IT'S DRACONIAN. IT IS. BUT THIS CASE DOES NOT FIT THE PIECES OF PUZZLE FOR FORFEITURE. THIS IS NOT AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR CASE.

WHAT DO WE HAVE HERE? WE HAVE PAYMENTS OVER $800,000. AND OF THAT, OVER 700,000 OF IT WAS PAID TO A LICENSED CONTRACTOR. THE LICENSED CONTRACTOR WHO PERFORMED THE WORK. THE STATUTE AT ISSUE 7031(B) TALKS ABOUT REPAYMENT FOR COMPENSATION PAID TO THE UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR FOR PERFORMANCE OF ANY ACT OR CONTRACT, WORK THAT HAD TO HAVE A LICENSE. OKAY. SO COMPENSATION TO THE UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR.

YOU HAVE SEEN THE CHECKS, EXHIBIT 32. AFTER THE FIRST $100,000, THE CHECKS WERE MADE TO THE CONTRACTOR WHO PERFORMED THE WORK WHO WAS LICENSED. INTERSPERSED LATER ON THERE WERE SOME PAYMENTS, THEY WERE DIRECTED TO MR. BEREKI, DESPITE THE TESTIMONY THAT HE ASKED THAT THEY BE PAID TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES. THEY GOT DEPOSITED INTO THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES' ACCOUNT AND SPARTAN ASSOCIATES DID THE WORK.

SO IT'S NOT EVEN AN ISSUE UNDER THE SUBSTANTIAL COMPLIANCE RULES THAT WENT ON. AND I UNDERSTAND, WITH THE CHANGES TO 7031, MOST OF THAT WAS -- SUBSTANTIAL COMPLIANCE WAS, FOR THE MOST PART, THE PAST. WE DON'T HAVE THAT REALLY, NOR DOES THIS FIT NEATLY WITHIN THE CONFINES OF SUBSTANTIAL COMPLIANCE. THIS IS JUST PURE INAPPLICABILITY IN THIS CASE OF 7031 BECAUSE IT'S NOT ABOUT THAT ORAL AGREEMENT, THE E-MAIL, THE STATUTE IS ABOUT UNLICENSED WORK. WE DON'T HAVE THAT HERE. THAT FIRST CONVERSATION, WHETHER OR NOT THEY

THOUGHT IT WAS SPARTAN ASSOCIATES OR MR. BEREKI, THAT'S NOT WHAT THE STATUTE SPEAKS TO. IT'S PAYMENTS TO AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR FOR WORK THAT NEEDED TO BE LICENSED. AND THE PAYMENTS, THEY KNEW WHO THEY WERE WRITING THE CHECKS TO WHEN THEY WERE WRITING TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, LICENSED CONTRACTOR, THIS DID NOT APPLY.

NOW WE DO HAVE THE FIRST $100,000 OF PAYMENTS WHICH WERE PAYABLE TO MR. BEREKI. WHAT I WOULD SUBMIT ON THAT, YOUR HONOR, IS IT'S -- IT DOESN'T REALLY MATTER WHO THOSE PAYMENTS WENT TO. THE POINT IS THERE'S BEEN A FAILURE OF PROOF BY THE HUMPHREYS ON THIS AS TO THAT WORK FOR WHICH THAT $100,000 WAS PAID WAS REQUIRED TO BE LICENSED. THERE'S BEEN NO EVIDENCE. TO THE CONTRARY, THE ONLY EVIDENCE YOU HAVE IS THAT BASED ON WHAT WAS GOING ON AT THAT TIME, DURING THE FIRST $100,000, THE TESTIMONY OF MR. BEREKI WAS THAT WE WERE LOADING UP THINGS, WE WERE GETTING STORAGE UNITS, WE WERE DOING THOSE THINGS, DOING SOME DEMOLITION. BUT IF YOU WERE TO LOOK AT THE C11 LICENSURE FOR DEMOLITION WORK, STRUCTURAL WORK, AT THAT POINT IN TIME, THERE'S NO EVIDENCE AT THAT POINT IN TIME THAT THIS WORK REQUIRED A LICENSE FROM HIM PERSONALLY. SO THAT'S A FAILURE OF PROOF ON THEIR PART.

THEN WE TURN TO THE ISSUE OF THE REAL PARTY IN INTEREST. THE FACT OF THE MATTER IS THAT A CORPORATION PAID $495,000 OF THE PAYMENTS TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

THE CASES ON THAT ISSUE, ON REAL PARTY IN INTEREST, ARE THE DION VERSUS PELAYO CASE, 2006 145.CAL.APP.4TH 347 AND THE GANTMAN VERSUS UNITED PACIFIC INSURANCE CASE, 1999 232 CAL.APP.3RD 1560. THIS IS JUST FUNDAMENTAL STUFF. THE CLAIM HAS TO BE PROSECUTED BY THE REAL PARTY IN INTEREST, NOT SOMEBODY WHO'S INTERESTED, BUT THE ACTUAL REAL PARTY. THEY FAILED, AT LEAST AS TO $495,000 OF THE CHECKS, BECAUSE THEY WERE WRITTEN BY A CORPORATION WHO SHOULD HAVE BEEN JOINED IN THIS ACTION, SHOULD HAVE DONE AN ASSIGNMENT, SHOULD HAVE DONE SOMETHING LONG BEFORE NOW. IT'S LATE AND THERE COULD BE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS ISSUES ASSOCIATED WITH THAT PARTY COMING IN. IT'S NOW A SIMPLE AMENDMENT AT THIS POINT IN TIME.

SO THE FACT OF THE MATTER IS IT'S NOT A LITTLE ISSUE. THIS IS NOT THE SAME AS A CONSTRUCTION LENDER DISBURSING FUNDS. IN THE CASE OF CONSTRUCTION LENDER DISBURSING FUNDS, THAT MONEY IS THE BORROWER'S MONEY. YOU HAVE GOT THIS CONDUIT, BUT THAT'S THE BORROWER'S MONEY. THIS WAS THE CORPORATION'S MONEY. PERHAPS MR. HUMPHREYS GOT TAXED ON IT IN THE FUTURE, BUT AT THE TIME THE PAYMENTS WERE MADE, THE CORPORATION'S MONEY. SO THIS IS ANOTHER GLITCH IN THEIR CASE. SO FOR ALL THOSE REASONS, 7031 NOT APPLYING. REAL PARTY IN INTEREST. AND -- WELL, FOR THOSE TWO REASONS. THEY FAILED TO ULTIMATELY PROVE, AS THEY HAD TO WITH THEIR

BURDEN, THAT FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION IN THAT CROSS-COMPLAINT.

WE'VE GOT BIGGER ISSUES IN THIS CASE. WE GOT THE COMPLAINT. WE GOT THEIR CROSS-COMPLAINT FOR THE WORK BEING DEFICIENT. WE GOT OTHER ISSUES, BUT THIS IS NOT THE VEHICLE FOR THE HUMPHREYS TO GET WHAT THEY WANT. WE GOT THE REST OF THE CASE TO TRY.

THANK YOU.

THE COURT: THANK YOU, MR. RUSSO.

MR. BEREKI?

MR. BEREKI: NOTHING, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: YOU WILL RELY ON MR. RUSSO'S ARGUMENT?

THE COURT: HE WAS BRILLIANT, YES, SIR. THANK YOU.

THE COURT: I WILL TAKE 15 MINUTES, GO COLLECT MY THOUGHTS, REVIEW MY NOTES. SORRY FOR THE DELAY, BUT IT SEEMS LIKE GOOD IDEA. SO FEEL FREE TO TAKE A WALK ABOUT, RUN UP AND DOWN THE HALLWAYS, SWIM A COUPLE OF LAPS. WE WILL BE BACK.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU.

(RECESS.)

THE COURT: THANK YOU, OFFICER GINO.

MR. RUSSO.

MR. RUSSO: YES, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: ARE YOU BY ANY CHANCE A STUDENT OF ANCIENT GREEK HISTORY?

MR. RUSSO: WELL, IT SO HAPPENS THAT MY FAVORITE

PROFESSOR AT UC DAVIS WAS A GUY NAMED SPYRIDAKIS. HE TAUGHT ANCIENT --

THE COURT: HE DOESN'T SOUND TOO ANCIENT.

MR. RUSSO: HE TAUGHT ANCIENT HISTORY AND I TOOK ALL THREE OF HIS COURSES. GREEK HISTORY IS THE FIRST ONE, AND THEN A COUPLE -- WE DID ANCIENT ROME, MESOPOTAMIA. SO THE ANSWER IS, IT WAS MY FAVORITE COURSE.

THE COURT: EXCELLENT. THEN YOU'RE PROBABLY FAMILIAR WITH THE STORY FROM THE CITY-STATE OF SPARTA IN ANCIENT GREECE IN THE NAME OF THE COMPANY OPERATED BY MR. BEREKI. AS YOU KNOW, SPARTA WAS A VERY WARLIKE CIVILIZATION. THEIR YOUNG MEN WERE TRAINED AT A VERY EARLY AGE TO BASICALLY PREPARE AND FIGHT A NUMBER OF BATTLES BECAUSE IT WAS A WARLIKE CIVILIZATION THAT WENT ON. SO THE LINE FROM THE MOTHERS AND TWO SONS GOING OFF TO BATTLE ON BEHALF OF THE CITY-STATE OF SPARTAN. COME BACK VICTORIOUS OR COME BACK DEAD OVER YOUR SHIELD. LET'S HOPE THAT DOESN'T APPLY TO SOMEBODY HERE TODAY.

MR. RUSSO: ONE ANECDOTE. ONE OF MY FAVORITE THINGS ABOUT THAT -- AND I ALSO TOOK MILITARY HISTORY FOR A YEAR -- WAS THE INVENTION THAT MADE THE GREEKS SUCCESSFUL -- NOT THE SPARTANS BUT THE GREEKS -- WAS LENGTHENING THE PHALANX SO WHEN THEY ALL RAN INTO EACH OTHER, THEIRS WAS A FEW FEET LONGER. I THOUGHT THAT WAS A KIND OF AN INTERESTING DEVELOPMENT.

THE COURT: I THOUGHT YOU WERE GOING TO TELL ME IT WAS THE WHEEL.

MR. RUSSO: NO.

THE COURT: OR THE CATAPULT.

MR. RUSSO: NO, LENGTHENING THE PHALANX.

THE COURT: A LONGER SPEAR. I THINK THE ENGLISH CAME UP WITH ANOTHER LINE CALLED "HOISTED BY THEIR OWN PETARD." WHAT IS A PETARD?

MR. RUSSO: I DON'T RECALL WHAT A PETARD IS.

THE COURT: IT'S ANOTHER VERSION OF A SPEAR. ALL RIGHT. WELL, YOU ALL CAUSED ME TO HAVE A FEW MOMENTS OF CONSIDERATION HERE. MY INITIAL COMMENT, YOU KNOW, FINE LAWYERS AND GOOD LAWYERING, AS WE HAVE SEEN HERE, MAKES THIS DECISIONAL PROCESS ALL THE HARDER. I WANT TO THANK THE LAWYERS, BOTH OF YOU, FOR GOOD WORK, GOOD PRESENTATIONS. STILL, YOU KNOW, I HAVE TO SAY, AT THE BOTTOM, THE FACT IS THE FACTS WIN OR LOSE CASES. PEOPLE THAT THINK, HEY, YOU KNOW, I WANT CLARENCE DARO (PHONETIC) -- A NAME FROM THE PAST -- I WANT THE TOUGHEST LAWYER IN TOWN, SO ON AND SO FORTH. MY EXPERIENCE IS THAT BAD LAWYERING CAN LOSE CASES BECAUSE THE FACTS DON'T GET IN. ULTIMATELY, GOOD LAWYERING, WHICH IS WHAT I HAVE SEEN HERE, ACCOUNTS FOR THE FACT, AGAIN, THAT IT MAKES THE DECISION HARDER. AGAIN, IT'S THE FACTS THAT CONTROL, NOT THE LAWYERS THAT CONTROL. AN INTERESTING EXERCISE FOR ME, FROM THE STANDPOINT OF

JUST REVIEWING AND CONSIDERING WHAT'S REQUIRED UNDER THE CONTRACTOR LICENSE LAW, AND IN SOME WAYS, IT'S A LITTLE BIT OF A TRIP INTO ALICE IN WONDERLAND.

I TURN FIRST TO BUSINESS PROFESSIONS CODE SECTION 7159, WHICH IS ENTITLED "HOME IMPROVEMENT; HOME IMPROVEMENT GOODS OR SERVICES DEFINITIONS." WELL, THIS DEFINES THE -- UNDER -- SUBSECTION B DEFINES THE HOME IMPROVEMENT CONTRACT AS MEANING ANY AGREEMENT, WHETHER ORAL OR WRITTEN, BETWEEN THE CONTRACTOR AND THE OWNER FOR THE PERFORMANCES OF A HOME IMPROVEMENT, AS DEFINED BY SECTION 7151.

SECTION 7551 DEFINES A HOME IMPROVEMENT AS BEING THE REPAIRING, REMODELING, ALTERING, CONVERTING OR MODERNIZING UP OR ADDING TO RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY AND SHALL INCLUDE, BUT NOT BE LIMITED TO, THE CONSTRUCTION, ERECTION, REPLACEMENT, OR IMPROVEMENT OF DRIVEWAYS, SWIMMING POOLS, INCLUDING SPAS, HOT TUBS, TERRACES, PATIOS, AWNINGS, STORM WINDOWS, LANDSCAPING, FENCES, PORCHES, GARAGES, FALLOUT SHELTERS, BASEMENTS, AND OTHER IMPROVEMENTS OF THE STRUCTURE OR LAND WHICH IS ADJACENT TO A DWELLING. HOME IMPROVEMENT SHALL ALSO MEAN THE INSTALLATION OF HOME IMPROVEMENT GOODS OR THE FURNISHING OF HOME IMPROVEMENT SERVICES.

I THINK THAT THAT INCLUDES THE REMODELING PROJECT THAT WAS DONE ON THIS PROPERTY. ALTHOUGH I SUSPECT, AS AN ARGUMENT, THAT IT COULD BE LIMITED TO

THINGS OUTSIDE OF THE STRUCTURE ITSELF. IF THAT WERE THE CASE, THEN I SUSPECT THAT SECTION 7164 WOULD APPLY WITH RESPECT TO THIS.

WHY AM I TALKING ABOUT THIS? BECAUSE IF YOU LOOK AT SECTION 7159(C), IT REQUIRES THAT THE LICENSEE SHALL COMPLY WITH ALL OF THE FOLLOWING. IT SPELLS OUT, IN GREAT DETAIL, THE REQUIRED CONTENTS OF THE CONTRACT BETWEEN THE CONTRACTOR AND THE CONTRACTING PARTIES. AS WE HAVE SEEN NONE OF WHICH ARE PRESENT HERE, BUT JUST SO THAT WE'RE ON THE SAME PAGE, IT REQUIRES, AMONG OTHER THINGS -- AND THIS IS WHERE IT'S CONFUSING BECAUSE IT SAYS, FOR PURPOSES OF THIS SECTION, SUBSECTION B OF 7159, FOR PURPOSES OF THIS SECTION, HOME IMPROVEMENT CONTRACT MEANS AN AGREEMENT, WHETHER ORAL OR WRITTEN, OR CONTAINED IN ONE OR MORE DOCUMENTS, ET CETERA.

SO THERE SEEMS TO BE SOME ACKNOWLEDGMENT THAT IT CAN BE ORAL OR WRITTEN, BUT THEN IT GOES ON IN SUBSECTION C TO SAY, "IN ADDITION TO THE SPECIFIC REQUIREMENTS LISTED UNDER THIS SECTION, EVERY HOME IMPROVEMENT CONTRACT AND ANY PERSON SUBJECT TO LICENSURE UNDER THIS CHAPTER SHALL COMPLY WITH ALL OF THE FOLLOWING:

"ONE, THE WRITING SHALL BE LEGIBLE." THAT DENIES AN ORAL CONTRACT.

"TWO, ANY PRINTED FORM SHALL BE READABLE;

"THREE, BEFORE ANY WORK STARTED, THE

CONTRACTOR SHALL GIVE THE BUYER A COPY OF THE CONTRACT SIGNED AND DATED BY BOTH THE CONTRACTOR AND THE BUYER," WHICH SEEMS TO BELIE THE CONCEPT OF THE EXCHANGE OF E-MAILS AS BEING SOME FORM OF WRITTEN SIGNED AGREEMENTS, AS HAS BEEN ARGUED IN THIS CASE. SO I WON'T GO ON WITH ANY MORE OF THE DETAILS FOR THIS CODE SECTION.

SO NUMBER ONE, I HAVE CONCERNS ABOUT THE NATURE OF THE CONTRACT BETWEEN THE PARTIES;

NUMBER TWO, JUST DEALING WITH AN ISSUE THAT APPEARS TO BE INCIDENTAL TO THIS LITIGATION; THAT IS, WHETHER OR NOT HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, INCORPORATED SHOULD HAVE BEEN, COULD HAVE BEEN, OUGHT TO HAVE BEEN A PARTY TO THIS LAWSUIT, THE EVIDENCE HERE IS HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES IS A SUBCHAPTER S CORPORATION. THAT HAS NOT ONLY TAX SIGNIFICANCE, BUT IT HAS OTHER SIGNIFICANCE WITH RESPECT TO COMPENSATION OF EMPLOYEES TO THE CORPORATION, OF WHICH MR. HUMPHREYS IS BOTH AN OFFICER AND AN EMPLOYEE OF THE CORPORATION, AS I UNDERSTAND FROM THE EVIDENCE. WITH AN S CORPORATION, IT SERVES SIMPLY AS A CONDUIT AND PASSTHROUGH SO THE CORPORATION ITSELF PAYS NO TAXES. INSTEAD, ITS INCOME IS PASSED TO ITS EMPLOYEES AND OFFICERS TO THE EXTENT THAT THEY'RE COMPENSATED AND THEY PAY THE TAXES.

SO THE EVIDENCE SHOWS HERE THE PAYMENTS THAT WERE MADE THROUGH HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, INCORPORATED'S BANK ACCOUNT WERE ESSENTIALLY DEBITED AGAINST

MR. HUMPHREYS' COMPENSATION; EFFECTIVELY MAKING THE PAYMENT DIRECTLY FROM MR. HUMPHREYS TO WHETHER IT'S MR. BEREKI OR SPARTAN AT THIS POINT IS OF NO PARTICULAR MOMENT. IN THE COURT'S OPINION, THE COURT FINDS THAT THE HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, INCORPORATED ENTITY IS NOT A NECESSARY PARTY TO THIS LITIGATION OR EVEN AN APPROPRIATE PARTY GIVEN THESE FACTS.

TURNING TO THE CROSS-DEFENDANTS' ARGUMENT OF -- WITH RESPECT TO WHAT THE HUMPHREYS KNEW OR UNDERSTOOD WHEN THE CHECKS STARTED GOING TO THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, I THINK THAT THE ARGUMENT PRESUPPOSES A CERTAIN LEVEL OF SOPHISTICATION AND EXPERIENCE THAT I CANNOT AND DO NOT ASCRIBE TO MR. HUMPHREYS. SURE, THEY REMODEL OTHER PROPERTIES. THEY OWN OTHER PROPERTIES. BUT NOTHING IN THE EVIDENCE SUGGESTS THAT THEY ARE KNOWLEDGEABLE ABOUT CONTRACTORS, KNOWLEDGEABLE ABOUT CONTRACTING, KNOWLEDGEABLE ABOUT CONTRACTING IN A SENSE OF BUILDING STRUCTURES. MR. HUMPHREYS' EXPERIENCE DEALING AS A CONSULTANT ON LARGE GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS DID NOT STRIKE ME AS FALLING WITHIN BUILDING CONTRACTS, BUT SOMETHING ELSE. AND, AGAIN, I THINK THAT THEY ARE ENTIRELY DIFFERENT DISCIPLINES, WHICH REQUIRE DIFFERENT LEVELS OF UNDERSTANDING AND EXPERIENCE.

THE PROBLEM FOR THE UNINITIATED IN DEALING WITH BILLING CONTRACTORS IS THE USE OF SUBCONTRACTORS, THE USE OF CORPORATE ENTITIES, SOMETIMES, TO REFLECT

PAYMENTS. I DON'T BLAME -- I DON'T FIND THAT MR. HUMPHREYS AND MRS. HUMPHREYS WERE IN SOME FASHION REQUIRED TO EXPLORE IN ANY PARTICULAR DETAIL WHAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INCORPORATED WAS THAT THEY WERE MAKING PAYMENTS TO UNDER THESE CIRCUMSTANCES.

TURNING TO MY OWN RESEARCH, I FOUND TWO CASES THAT I THINK ARE ANALOGOUS TO OUR CASE AND REQUIRE SOME CONSIDERATION. FIRST CASE IS BALL VERSUS STEADFAST-BLK. THIS IS A 2011 CASE RECORDED AT 196 CAL.APP.4TH 694.

HERE, JUST TO GIVE YOU THE SUMMARY, THE TRIAL COURT IN THIS INSTANCE SUSTAINED WITHOUT LEAVE TO AMEND THE PROPERTY OWNER'S DEMURRER TO A CAUSE OF ACTION FOR CLOSURE -- FOR FORECLOSURE OF A MECHANIC'S LIEN IN AN INDIVIDUAL LICENSED CONTRACTOR'S COMPLAINT. THE COURT FOUND THAT THE CONTRACTOR WAS NEVER LICENSED AS A CONTRACTOR TO DO BUSINESS UNDER THE FICTITIOUS BUSINESS NAME HE USED AND THUS WAS PRECLUDED, AS A MATTER OF LAW, UNDER BUSINESS PROFESSIONS CODE SECTION 7031, SUBDIVISION A FROM PURSUING THIS CAUSE OF ACTION.

AND JUST TO BE CLEAR, WHAT WE HAVE IS AN INDIVIDUAL CONTRACTOR, MR. BALL, WHO WAS DOING BUSINESS UNDER A DBA OF CLARK HEATING AND AIR CONDITIONING. AND AS IT HAPPENED, THIS DBA WAS NOT A CORPORATION; IT WAS JUST A DBA. AND SO WHEN BALL SUED, THE HOMEOWNER SAID, WELL, WAIT, WE HAVE THIS CONTRACT WITH CLARK HEATING AND AIR CONDITIONING AND THIS GUY IS NOT CLARK, WE DON'T THINK, AND THE TRIAL COURT AGREED.

THE COURT OF APPEAL REVERSED. THE COURT FOUND THAT THE TRIAL COURT HAD CONFUSED THE INDIVIDUAL OWNER TO WHOM THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE WAS ISSUED WITH THE NAME UNDER WHICH THE INDIVIDUAL CONDUCTED HIS CONTRACTING BUSINESS; I.E., THE FICTITIOUS BUSINESS NAME. THE CONTRACTOR WAS LICENSED AS A, QUOTE, SOLE OWNER, END QUOTE, AND NOT AS A PARTNERSHIP OR CORPORATE ENTITY PURSUANT TO THE CLASSIFICATION SYSTEM OF B&P CODE SECTION 7065. THE FICTITIOUS BUSINESS NAME HE USED WAS NOT AN ENTITY THAT COULD BE LICENSED; RATHER, IT WAS THE BUSINESS NAME UNDER WHICH THE INDIVIDUAL LICENSEE DID BUSINESS. NOT ONLY WAS THE FICTITIOUS BUSINESS NAME NOT A DISTINCT LEGAL ENTITY, IT WAS NOT AMONG THE CATEGORIES OF INDIVIDUALS OR ENTITIES DEFINED BY THE CONTRACTOR'S STATE LICENSE LAW, B&P CODE SECTION 7000, TO WHOM A CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE MAY ISSUE.

ACCORDINGLY, BECAUSE THE CONTRACTOR WAS A LICENSED CONTRACTOR, HE WAS ENTITLED TO PERFORM CONTRACTING WORK UNDER THE FICTITIOUS BUSINESS NAME. HIS FAILURE TO CONTRACT IN THE EXACT SAME NAME SET FORTH IN HIS LICENSE WAS, AT MOST, GROUNDS FOR DISCIPLINARY ACTION, BUT IT DID NOT BAR HIM FROM RECOVERING FOR WORK PERFORMED UNDER THE CONTRACTS.

SO NOW WE CONTRAST THE BALL OPINION WITH THE FACTS OF THIS CASE. AND I THINK OUR CASE HERE IS

DISTINGUISHABLE. FIRST OF ALL, AND FOREMOST, WE HAVE NO LICENSE IN THE NAME OF MR. BEREKI INDIVIDUALLY; INSTEAD, IT APPEARS HE WAS THE QUALIFYING CORPORATE OFFICER FOR THE LEGAL ENTITY, SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INCORPORATED. THAT WAS THE ENTITY TO WHICH THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE WAS ISSUED, AS OPPOSED TO OUR OTHER CASE. YOU KNOW, HERE, AS A MATTER OF LAW, THE CORPORATE ENTITY WAS ENTITLED TO BE LICENSED, WHICH IT WAS. THIS WILL TAKE US TO MORE CONSIDERATION LATER ON.

SO SECONDLY, I TURN TO THE OTHER CASE, 29 PALMS ENTERPRISES CORPORATION VERSUS BARDOS. THIS IS A 2012 CASE RECORDED AT 210 CAL.APP.4TH STARTING AT PAGE 14, 13. THIS CASE ACTUALLY APPEARS TO BE DIRECTLY ON POINT.

AND JUST TO GIVE YOU THE OVERVIEW, HERE WHAT WE HAVE IS A TRIBAL CORPORATION THAT SUED THE CONTRACTOR TO RECOVER MONEY PAID FOR WORK ON TRIBAL LAND ALLEGING B&P CODE SECTION 7031 17200 AND THAT THE CONTRACTOR WAS UNLICENSED AND THAT ITS PERFORMANCE OF WORK WITHOUT A LICENSE WAS UNFAIR COMPETITION.

HERE THE TRIAL COURT GRANTED THE SUMMARY JUDGMENT FOR THE TRIBAL CORPORATION. IN AFFIRMING THAT SUMMARY JUDGMENT, THE COURT OF APPEAL REJECTED THE CONTRACTOR'S ARGUMENT THAT B&P CODE SECTION 7031 WAS NOT ENFORCEABLE IN A CONTRACT MADE WITH THE TRIBAL ENTITY FOR WORK DONE ON TRIBAL LAND.

ALL RIGHT. WE DON'T HAVE A TRIBAL LAND ISSUE. WE ALL UNDERSTAND THAT, SO I WILL SKIP OVER THE CONSIDERATIONS THE DCA MADE WITH RESPECT TO THE TRIBAL LAND ISSUE AND THE TRIBAL CONTRACT AND INSTEAD TURN TO THE ISSUES THAT ARE GERMANE TO US.

THE COURT HELD THAT THE CONTRACT DID NOT CREATE A FACT ISSUE AS TO WHETHER IT SUBSTANTIALLY COMPLIED WITH THE REQUIREMENTS OF 7031 BECAUSE THERE WAS NOTHING INDICATING THAT THE CONTRACTOR ACTED REASONABLY AND IN GOOD FAITH TO MAINTAIN PROPER LICENSURE. AND THE EVIDENCE REFLECTED THAT THE CONTRACTOR KNEW IT WAS UNLICENSED AND DID NOT ACT PROMPTLY TO OBTAIN ITS LICENSE. ALTHOUGH THE OWNER OF THE UNLICENSED SOLE PROPRIETORSHIP WAS ALSO THE RESPONSIBLE MANAGING OFFICER FOR A CORPORATION THAT HAD BEEN LICENSED, THE OWNER DID NOT HOLD THE CORPORATION'S LICENSES AS AN INDIVIDUAL AND, THEREFORE, COULD NOT PERFORM WORK UNDER THAT LICENSE USING THE NAME OF THE SOLE PROPRIETORSHIP. THE CONTRACTOR COULD NOT RELY ON EQUITABLE ESTOPPEL TO CIRCUMVENT SECTION 7031.

AGAIN, I THINK THAT THE ARGUMENT ADVOCATED HERE IS THAT EITHER SPARTAN WAS THE CONTRACTING PARTY OR, ALTERNATIVELY, THAT MR. BEREKI WAS OPERATING UNDER SPARTAN'S LICENSE. THE SECOND PART OF THAT ARGUMENT IS UNDONE BY THE 29 PALMS CASE, WHICH BASICALLY HOLDS THAT AN INDIVIDUAL, SUCH AS MR. BEREKI, CANNOT RELY -- IF

HE'S CONTRACTING ON HIS OWN, CANNOT RELY ON HIS CORPORATION'S LICENSE TO CONTRACT.

SO WE HAVE TO NOW TURN TO THE ULTIMATE FACTUAL ISSUE THAT THE COURT MUST DECIDE. AND SO THAT REALLY TURNS ON JUST WHO WERE THE CONTRACTING PARTIES TO WHATEVER THIS AGREEMENT WAS, HARKENING BACK TO MY INITIAL DISCUSSION ABOUT THE NECESSARY ELEMENTS FOR A CONTRACT.

CLEARLY, THE HUMPHREYS INTENDED TO ENGAGE SOMEONE TO DO THE WORK ON THEIR SINGLE UNIT IN OR ABOUT APRIL OF 2012. I HAVE BEEN TOLD AND THE EVIDENCE IS A LITTLE UNCLEAR HERE, BUT WHAT I UNDERSTAND IS THAT WHAT HAPPENED IS THAT A SECOND UNIT WAS PURCHASED BY MR. AND MRS. HUMPHREYS APPROXIMATELY TWO TO FOUR MONTHS AFTER THIS APRIL 2012 E-MAIL EXCHANGE OCCURRED. AND THAT WHATEVER WORK IN ROLLING THAT SECOND UNIT INTO THE INITIAL UNIT WERE, THAT WAS ALSO SUBJECT TO WHATEVER THE AGREEMENT WAS BETWEEN THE PARTIES.

AND I HAVE TO SAY, IT WAS AT A CERTAIN LEVEL OF CONCERN THAT -- WHEN I SAY "WHATEVER THE AGREEMENT WAS," IT'S BECAUSE ULTIMATELY IT'S STILL, EVEN TO THIS DAY AFTER ALL THE EVIDENCE, STILL NOT CLEAR WHAT THE AGREEMENT WAS. JUST A LESSON IN OR COMMENT ON THE FACT THAT THESE TYPES OF CONTRACTS, PARTICULARLY WE'RE DEALING WITH TENS OF THOUSANDS, ULTIMATELY HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS, NEED TO BE NAILED DOWN IN DETAIL,

IN WRITING. THAT WRITING SUBSCRIBED TO WITH THE SIGNATURES OF THE PARTIES THAT ARE CONTRACTING.

WITH RESPECT TO THE SECOND PROPERTY, I FIND NO WRITING THAT ACTUALLY DETAILS WHAT WAS TO BE DONE ON THE SECOND PROPERTY OR HOW IT WAS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE INITIAL CONTRACT. I SUPPOSE IT COULD BE CONSIDERED AS SOME FORM OF A CHANGE ORDER THAT THE CODE EVEN REQUIRES CHANGE ORDERS BE IN WRITING AND BE ATTACHED TO THE ORIGINAL CONTRACT.

WHAT I DO FIND HERE IS THAT NOTHING IN THE APRIL 2012 E-MAILS OR THE MEETINGS AND DISCUSSIONS REVEALS SPARTAN AS THE CONTRACTING PARTY WITH THE HUMPHREYS. ALL OF THE LANGUAGE RELATES TO MR. BEREKI INDIVIDUALLY.

MY CONCERN HERE -- AND I AM SORRY IF THIS SOUNDS POLITICAL, BUT I WILL BORROW FROM SOMETHING THAT THEN-SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE NANCY PELOSI SAID WITH RESPECT TO THE ACA, THE AFFORDABLE CARE ACT. WE NEED TO PASS IT SO YOU CAN FIND OUT WHAT'S INSIDE OF IT. HERE WE HAVE A SITUATION WHERE, IN HINDSIGHT, IT -- THE CONTRACT, IN SOME FORM OR FASHION, NEEDED TO BE SIGNED BEFORE WE COULD FIND OUT WHO THE CONTRACTING PARTIES WERE. THAT'S SILLY.

THE ULTIMATE FINDING HERE IS THAT, AS WE SEE, ALL THE PAYMENTS INITIALLY OVER SEVERAL MONTHS WERE MADE TO MR. BEREKI INDIVIDUALLY. MR. BEREKI'S ACCOUNTS

PERSONALLY PAID FOR THE WORK ONCE HE WAS COMPENSATED BY THE HUMPHREYS. THE PAYMENTS TO SPARTAN SHOW UP SOME MONTHS LATER AND THEY DO NOT REFLECT ANY SORT OF RETROSPECTIVE MODIFICATION OF THE INITIAL AGREEMENT OR A SUBSTITUTION OF SPARTAN AS THE CONTRACTOR HERE. AGAIN, THIS IS THE PROBLEM WITH TRYING TO DO THINGS ON AN AD HOC BASIS.

THE COURT NOW FINDS THAT THIS CONTRACT WAS BETWEEN MR. HUMPHREYS AND MR. BEREKI INDIVIDUALLY. THERE WAS NO CONTRACT WITH SPARTAN, NOR WAS THERE ANY MECHANISM OR FORM WITHIN WHICH THE HUMPHREYS COULD UNDERSTAND THAT SPARTAN WAS THE ACTUAL CONTRACTING PARTY AS IS ASSERTED BY MR. BEREKI. GIVEN THOSE CIRCUMSTANCES, SINCE WE KNOW MR. BEREKI DID NOT AND DOES NOT POSSESS A CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE -- AND, ULTIMATELY, I WOULD JUST TELL YOU LAWYERS TO TAKE A LOOK AT A CASE ENTITLED MW ERECTORS VERSUS NIEDERHAUSER. IT'S A CASE OF 2005. I DON'T HAVE THE CITE IN FRONT OF ME AT THE MOMENT. I THINK IT'S REPORTED AT 34 CAL. 4.

THE REASON I CITE TO THE CASE, NUMBER ONE, IT'S A CALIFORNIA SUPREME COURT CASE. NUMBER TWO, IT IS CONSIDERED BY MANY TO BE THE BELLWETHER CASE ON THE ISSUE OF CONTRACTOR RESPONSIBILITY OR UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR RESPONSIBILITY. MW ERECTORS DID NOT HAVE A LICENSE AT THE TIME THAT IT WAS TO DO THE HEAVY STEEL CONSTRUCTION FOR A HOTEL OVER BY DISNEYLAND. SPENT

$2 MILLION PUTTING UP HEAVY STEEL. THERE WAS A DISPUTE BETWEEN THE GENERAL CONTRACTOR OR THE CONTRACTING PARTY, NIEDERHAUSER, AND MW ERECTORS, SO NIEDERHAUSER ELECTED NOT TO PAY THE $2 MILLION TO MW ERECTORS. IT TURNED OUT THAT MW ERECTORS LEARNED IN HINDSIGHT THAT THEY DIDN'T HAVE THEIR LICENSE AT THE TIME AND HAD LOST ITS LICENSE OR DROPPED THEIR LICENSE BY EXPIRATION OF TIME, SO THEY WENT AND GOT THE LICENSE. I DON'T THINK THE WORK HAD BEEN ENTIRELY COMPLETED AT THE TIME THAT IT DID RE-OBTAIN THE LICENSE.

THE SUPREME COURT IN REVERSING THE COURT OF APPEAL ON THIS ISSUE FOUND THAT THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE LAW IS DRACONIAN IN ITS EFFECT, BUT THAT'S THE INTENT OF THE LEGISLATURE. THE LEGISLATURE EXPECTS CONTRACTORS TO BE LICENSED AT ALL TIMES DURING THE PERFORMANCE OF WORK ON A PROJECT, AND IN FAILING TO BE SO LICENSED AT ANY POINT IN TIME, SUBJECT TO THE FORFEITURE.

AND SO IN MY OPINION, THE FORFEITURE IS REQUIRED HERE, AND THAT IS DISGORGEMENT. AND I KNOW MR. BISSELL CITED A CASE. I WOULD CITE TO YOU ALATRISTE VERSUS CESAR'S EXTERIOR DESIGNS, INC. THIS IS A CASE AT 183 CAL.APP.4 656, WHICH STANDS FOR THE PROPOSITION UNDER THE STATUTE AUTHORIZING RECOVERY OF ALL COMPENSATION PAID TO AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR. THE UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR WAS REQUIRED TO RETURN ALL COMPENSATION RECEIVED WITHOUT REDUCTIONS OR OFFSETS FOR

THE VALUE OF MATERIALS USED IN THE PROJECT.

THERE ARE PLENTY OF OTHER CASES IN THIS PARTICULAR AREA ALL SAYING ROUGHLY THE SAME THING, WHETHER IT COMES TO PAYMENTS FOR MATERIALS OR PAYMENTS TO SUBCONTRACTORS. AS INDICATED BY EXHIBIT 32, THE DISGORGEMENT AMOUNT IS THE $848,000.

THAT, I THINK, TAKES CARE OF THE CROSS-COMPLAINT, THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION. NOW, I INVITE COUNSEL TO MEET TOGETHER AND SEE WHERE WE GO FROM HERE.

MR. RUSSO: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: COME BACK AND LET ME KNOW IF YOU CAN DO THAT IN THE NEXT 20 MINUTES. I WOULD APPRECIATE THAT.

MR. RUSSO: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

MR. BISSELL: OKAY. THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: OKAY.

MR. RUSSO: BY THE WAY, I USED THAT MW ERECTORS CASE RIGHT AFTER IT WAS DECIDED IN ANOTHER CASE WITH JUDGE JOHNSTON FOR DISGORGEMENT, AND I REMEMBER IT BEING THAT CASE AT THE TIME.

THE COURT: IT'S STILL CITED IN AT LEAST ONE OF THE TWO CASES THAT I JUST READ FROM.

MR. RUSSO: YEAH.

THE COURT: I WAS RELATING THE STORY TO ONE OF OUR OUT-OF-COUNTY ASSIGNED JUDGES YESTERDAY IN THE LUNCH ROOM TO WHICH SHE SAID THANK YOU. SHE HAD ALSO USED

THAT CASE ON A NUMBER OF OCCASIONS.

MR. RUSSO: MINE WAS AFFIRMED ALSO IN THIS COURTROOM.

THE COURT: PARDON ME?

MR. RUSSO: THAT ONE WENT UP ON APPEAL AND IT WAS AFFIRMED ON DISGORGEMENT, BUT I REPRESENTED THE PERSON WANTING THE DISGORGEMENT AT THE TIME.

THE COURT: I UNDERSTAND.

(RECESS.)

THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. WHAT'S THE PLAN?

MR. RUSSO: WELL, WE'RE IN MUTUAL AGREEMENT THAT THE REMAINING CLAIMS SHOULD BE STAYED AS THIS ONE PRETTY MUCH CUTS THE LEGS OUT FROM UNDERNEATH EVERYTHING. THE QUESTION WE HAVE, AND I DON'T KNOW THE ANSWER, BUT WE'RE HOPING THAT MAYBE YOU DO, IS, IS THERE A WAY TO HAVE AN ORDER STAY IN THE REMAINING CLAIMS AND HAVE SOME SORT OF JUDGMENT BE ENTERED ON WHAT WE HAVE SO FAR SO THAT COULD POSSIBLY BE TAKEN UP ON APPEAL AT THIS POINT?

THE COURT: I THINK YOU'RE GOING TO END UP HAVING TO DO IT ALL OR NOTHING.

MR. BISSELL: IT WOULD BE SIMILAR TO I THINK IT'S CCP 637, WHICH ALLOWS FOR STAYING OF THE TRIAL OF THE DEFENSE PENDING THE ENTRY OF FINAL JUDGMENT ON OTHER CAUSES OF ACTION. THERE IS CAUSES OF ACTION, BUT THE THINKING IS IT'S JUST SORT OF THE OTHER SIDE OF THE COIN. TO THINK -- OUR THINKING IS THAT WE COULD SPEND

THE NEXT THREE DAYS PUTTING ON EVIDENCE OF DAMAGES THAT AREN'T GOING TO AMOUNT TO THE AMOUNT OF DISGORGEMENT. SO THERE'S REALLY NO POINT OF THAT, BUT THOSE ARE GOOD CAUSES OF ACTION.

NOW, IF THE COURT'S JUDGMENT ON THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION IS TAKEN UP ON APPEAL, AND SOMEHOW I DON'T BELIEVE IT WOULD BE, BUT IF IT HAPPENED TO BE OVERTURNED, WE DON'T WANT TO HAVE TO COME BACK AND BE LIMITED TO ONLY TRYING THAT ONE CAUSE OF ACTION, HAVING DISMISSED WHAT ARE ALSO, WE BELIEVE, GOOD MERITORIOUS CAUSES OF ACTION. BUT AS WE SIT HERE TODAY, IT JUST MAKES NO SENSE TO GO FORWARD AT THIS TIME ON ANY OF THOSE CAUSES OF ACTION.

MR. RUSSO: FUNDAMENTALLY, YOUR FINDINGS WOULD ALSO BE THE DEFENSE TO THE PLAINTIFFS' CLAIM IN ITS COMPLAINT. BECAUSE YOU FOUND THAT BEREKI WAS THE CONTRACTOR, HE'S UNLICENSED, AND, THEREFORE, THE GOODS AND MATERIALS SUPPLIED BY SPARTAN, WHICH IS THE CLAIM, WE LOSE BASED ON THAT FINDING. BUT WE HAVEN'T TRIED THAT CAUSE OF ACTION. THAT'S ESSENTIALLY WHAT WE GET. WE'RE IN TOTAL AGREEMENT THAT IT DOES NOT MAKE SENSE TO PROCEED.

MR. BISSELL: AND IT DOESN'T MAKE SENSE TO DISMISS PREMATURELY WHILE THERE IS STILL ANY UNCERTAINTY AS TO THE FINALITY OF THE COURT'S RULING IN THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION.

THE COURT: WELL, I'M NOT SURE THAT YOUR APPELLATE PRACTICE IS GOING TO BE SUSCEPTIBLE IN THAT KIND OF PROCEDURE. MY CONCERN IS WHAT THE COURT OF APPEAL EXPECTS IS BASICALLY A JUDGMENT ON ALL OF THE ISSUES. IF THERE'S SOME MECHANISM; I.E., A STAY, I'D LIKE TO KNOW WHAT THE AUTHORITY IS FOR THAT. I AM GOING TO HAVE TO LEAVE THAT TO YOU, BUT IN MY OWN APPELLATE EXPERIENCE, I HAVE, IN ONE CASE, HAD A TRIAL WHERE THE LEAD PLAINTIFF WAS BIFURCATED OUT, CASE TRIED, I LOST. FILED A NOTICE OF APPEAL. MEANWHILE, WE HAD TO COME BACK FOR A SECOND BITE OF THE APPLE WITH RESPECT TO THE BALANCE OF THE CLASS. AND WHAT I DID IS I STIPULATED A JUDGMENT IN FAVOR OF THE CLASS AND AGAINST MY CLIENT, SUBJECT TO REVIEW ON APPEAL OF BOTH HALVES OF THIS CASE. AND THE COURT OF APPEAL, IN THAT PARTICULAR CASE, SUBSCRIBED TO THE APPROACH AND SAID, NO, THIS WAS AN ACCEPTABLE PROCESS. BUT WE HAVE RESOLVED THROUGH THAT PROCESS BOTH THE LEAD PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS AND THE CLASS CLAIMS. SO EVERYTHING WAS THERE READY FOR THE COURT OF APPEAL TO DECIDE. ULTIMATELY, THAT CASE WENT TO THE STATE SUPREME COURT.

YOU GUYS WANT TO CHECK -- DO MORE RESEARCH THIS AFTERNOON AND COME BACK AND TELL ME IN THE MORNING?

MR. RUSSO: I AM ASSUMING WE COULD CRAFT SOME SORT OF STIPULATION THAT ULTIMATELY --

THE COURT: WHAT YOU SAY MAKES PERFECT SENSE.

MR. RUSSO: MAKE FINDINGS SUCH THAT IT IS THAT YOU FOUND FOR THE AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE ON THE COMPLAINT ALSO.

MR. BISSELL: WELL, IF I UNDERSTAND YOUR HONOR CORRECTLY, I THINK THE CONCERN IS THAT THE COURT OF APPEALS IS NOT GOING TO BE INTERESTED IN ANYTHING SHORT OF A FINAL JUDGMENT ON THIS, AND THE FINAL JUDGMENT HAS TO INCLUDE ALL CAUSES OF ACTION. IS THAT CORRECT?

THE COURT: PRECISELY. AND, AGAIN, YOU KNOW, I AM ALL FOR SAVING YOUR CLIENTS ON BOTH SIDES AS MUCH MONEY AS POSSIBLE.

MR. BISSELL: I'M NOT SURE A STIPULATION ON OUR PART, EVEN IF -- IT'S GOING TO DO IT. BECAUSE WE WOULD CERTAINLY STIPULATE --

THE COURT: I GUESS THE QUESTION IS WHAT'S THE WORST THAT COULD HAPPEN. IT GOES TO THE DCA, THEY GO WE'RE NOT GOING TO ACCEPT THE IDEA OF THE BALANCE OF A CASE BEING STAYED, SEND IT BACK TO COMPLETE THE CASE AND THEN WE WILL REVIEW IT ON APPEAL.

MR. BISSELL: YEAH.

THE COURT: FINE. IT COMES BACK IN PROBABLY NINE MONTHS TO A YEAR, AND WE GO ON AND TRY THE BALANCE OF THE CASE. I SUPPOSE THAT'S ONE POSSIBILITY. ON THE OTHER HAND, OF COURSE, THAT SUBJECTS ALL OF US TO SOME CRITICISM FROM OUR FRIENDS ACROSS THE STREET AT THE DCA.

MR. BISSELL: I DON'T WANT TO DO THAT.

THE COURT: WELL, I WOULD LIKE TO THINK THAT THEY

WOULD APPRECIATE THE CONCEPT OF NOT CONSUMING A LOT OF EXTRA COURTROOM TIME THAT COULD BE PUT TO OTHER PURPOSES; NOT CONSUMING ANY MORE OF YOUR CLIENT'S MONEY I GUESS IS THE ULTIMATE ISSUE THAT RESOLVES THE CASE. I DON'T HAVE A GOOD SENSE AS TO WHAT A PANEL OF THE DCA WOULD DO OVER THIS.

MR. BISSELL: FRANKLY, YOUR HONOR, I'M NOT OVERLY CONCERNED ABOUT THE PROSPECT OF APPEAL. I BELIEVE THAT THE COURT'S STATEMENT, THE DECISION IS SOUND. AND I HAVE SPOKEN TO MY CLIENTS ABOUT THAT AND WE TALKED ABOUT THE RISK, YOU KNOW, IF YOU DO DISMISS, WHAT ARE THE RISKS? WE HAVE AGREED THAT THE RISK IS MINIMAL. IF NECESSARY, WE WILL DISMISS. WE WOULD JUST PREFER NOT TO.

THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. LET'S ALL BE PRAGMATIC LAWYERS AROUND HERE. AND PRAGMATISM CALLS FOR TRYING TO KEEP THIS AS INEXPENSIVE AS POSSIBLE. TO DO ANOTHER SEVERAL DAYS OF TRIAL, FOR PARTICULARLY NO GOOD REASON, SEEMS TO ME TO BE THROWING IN GOOD MONEY AFTER BAD AT THIS POINT. IT MAY BE THAT THE DCA WILL TURN IT RIGHT AROUND, AS I SAID. IT MAY BE THAT THEY WILL AFFIRM AND THAT WILL BE EFFECTIVELY THE END OF IT.

I LIKE THE IDEA. MAYBE YOU FOLKS, INSTEAD OF COMING BACK TOMORROW, COULD WORK ON SOMETHING OVER THE NOON HOUR AND SEE WHAT YOU PUT TOGETHER.

MR. RUSSO: I AM THINKING ALONG THE LINES OF AN

OFFER OF PROOF ON THE PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS AND THEN YOU FIND FOR THE DEFENSE ON THAT SO WE WOULD HAVE EFFECTIVELY LAID THAT OUT.

THE COURT: WELL, ON THE PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS, YEAH, IT'S GOING TO BE A LACK OF STANDING --

MR. RUSSO: SURE.

THE COURT: -- AND THE 7031 ISSUE, THE FACTUAL FINDING THAT SPARTAN WAS NOT THE CONTRACTING PARTY AND HAS NO STANDING IN AND OF ITSELF.

MR. RUSSO: YES, THAT'S WHERE I WAS GOING.

THE COURT: ON THE DEFENSE CROSS-COMPLAINANTS' SIDE, THERE ARE OTHER REMAINING ISSUES WITH RESPECT TO THE TERMINATIONS THAT THE CROSS-COMPLAINANT MAY WISH OR MAY NOT WISH TO HAVE ADJUDICATED AT THIS POINT.

MR. BISSELL: IT'S CLEARLY EXPEDIENCY AT THIS POINT. WE HAVE NOTHING TO GAIN BY GOING FORWARD WITH THE CROSS-COMPLAINT. IT'S JUST A MATTER OF BEING CAUTIOUS AND NOT LETTING GOOD CAUSES OF ACTION GO BY THE BOARD IF -- UNTIL THEY BECOME NECESSARY.

THE COURT: EXCUSE ME FOR A SECOND. I HAVE TO GO. IF YOU WOULDN'T MIND COMING BACK AT 1:45 TO FILL ME IN ON WHERE YOU'RE GOING. MAYBE WE WILL GO ON THE RECORD AT THAT POINT IN TIME. MY APOLOGIES.

MR. RUSSO: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: THE TRAIN IS LEAVING THE STATION AT THE MOMENT.

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA; MARCH 28, 2017

AFTERNOON SESSION

(THE FOLLOWING PROCEEDINGS
WERE HELD IN OPEN COURT.)

THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. DO WE HAVE AN ANSWER TO THE GORDIAN KNOT PROBLEM?

MR. BISSELL: WE MIGHT, YOUR HONOR. WE HAVE COME UP WITH SOMETHING THAT'S ACCEPTABLE TO BOTH OF US.

THE COURT: THAT'S HALF THE BATTLE.

MR. BISSELL: IT'S ACCEPTABLE TO THE TWO OF US, BUT THAT DOESN'T NECESSARILY MEAN IT'S GOING TO FLY. WE WILL RUN IT BY YOU.

MR. RUSSO: WE GOT HOUSEKEEPING ON THE COMPLAINT ITSELF, AND WHAT I WOULD LIKE TO DO IS THEN MAKE AN OFFER OF PROOF OF WHAT THE EVIDENCE WOULD BE. THEY ACCEPT THE OFFER OF PROOF, BUT YOU RULE BASED ON THE DEFENSES OF THE LICENSURE AND STANDING AGAINST THE PLAINTIFF ON THAT.

THE COURT: OKAY.

MR. RUSSO: THAT WAY WE HAVE A JUDGMENT ON A COMPLAINT FOR THE SAME REASONS.

THE COURT: OKAY.

MR. RUSSO: AND THEN WE HAVE THE OTHER HOUSEKEEPING.

MR. BISSELL: AS TO THE REMAINING CAUSES OF ACTION ON THE FIRST AMENDED CROSS-COMPLAINT, EVERYBODY IS IN AGREEMENT THAT WE HANDLE IT THIS WAY:

THOSE CAUSES OF ACTION WOULD BE DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE.

IF JUDGMENT ON THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION BECOMES FINAL, THE DISMISSAL WITHOUT PREJUDICE WILL CONVERT TO DISMISSAL WITH PREJUDICE.

PENDING JUDGMENT BECOMING FINAL ON THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION, THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS ON THE RE-FILING OF THE DISMISSED CAUSES OF ACTION IS WAIVED.

IF THE NEW -- IF A NEW ACTION IS FILED ON THE DISMISSED CAUSES OF ACTION, DISCOVERY IS DEEMED COMPLETED AND WILL NOT BE RE-OPENED.

THE NEWLY FILED CASE WILL BE CONSOLIDATED WITH THE REMANDED CASE FOR TRIAL.

THE COURT: I THINK IT MAKES SENSE. DO YOU?

MR. BISSELL: I THINK IT COVERS IT.

THE COURT: I THINK THAT KEEPS THE DOOR FROM BEING SLAMMED IN YOUR FACE SHOULD IT FOR SOME REASON COME BACK, ON ONE HAND. ON THE OTHER HAND, IT SHOULD COME BACK PER STATUS QUO.

MR. BISSELL: THAT WAS THE INTENT.

THE COURT: AS TO -- TO BE SURE OF WHERE I AM GOING, I HAVE PULLED OUT THE PLAINTIFF'S COMPLAINT, THE COMMON COUNT, AND SERVICES RENDERED, AND COMMON ACCOUNT

OPEN BOOK ACCOUNT. AND I HAVE ALSO IN HAND THE FIRST AMENDED CROSS-COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES FOR NEGLIGENCE, FRAUD, ALTER EGO, PENALTY, ATTORNEY'S FEES, DISCOURAGEMENT AND RECOVERY AGAINST CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE BOND. I PRESUME YOU TWO WANT PART OF THAT RECOVERY FROM CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE BOND.

MR. BISSELL: WE WANT TO SAY THAT, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: OKAY. IS THAT NOT SOMETHING WE SHOULD DEAL WITH NOW AS OPPOSED TO LATER, OR IS THAT AN ISSUE THAT MIGHT BE SUBSUMED BY THIS DETERMINATION OF THE LICENSE?

MR. BISSELL: HERE IS MY THINKING, YOUR HONOR. THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE BONDS WERE ISSUED TO SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION.

THE COURT: WHICH I DETERMINED WAS NOT THE CONTRACTING PARTY.

MR. BISSELL: WAS NOT THE CONTRACTOR. NOW SPARTAN DID PERFORM WORK ON THE JOB. AND IF NECESSARY, WE'RE PREPARED TO PUT ON EVIDENCE THAT SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION, ALONG WITH MR. BEREKI, VIOLATED PROVISIONS OF THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE LOG, WHICH WOULD MAKE THOSE BONDS LIABLE. AT THIS POINT, WE'RE PREPARED TO DEFER THAT ALONG WITH THE OTHER CAUSES OF ACTION.

THE COURT: ALL RIGHT.

MR. RUSSO: IT'S KIND OF LIKE I FORGOT THEY EXISTED IN THE BEGINNING. IT'S ANOTHER ISSUE.

THE COURT: WELL, WELCOME TO THE BAR EXAM.

MR. RUSSO: YOUR HONOR, SO I THINK THE FIRST STEP WOULD BE THE OFFER OF PROOF.

THE COURT: PHASE ONE.

MR. RUSSO: YES, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: THE RUSSO PRESENTATION OFFER OF PROOF. SIR, IF YOU PLEASE.

MR. RUSSO: EXCUSE ME, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: IF YOU PLEASE.

MR. RUSSO: IF IT PLEASE THE COURT.

YOUR HONOR, THE PLAINTIFF, SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, WOULD MAKE AN OFFER OF PROOF THAT, IF CALLED, ADAM BEREKI WOULD BE THE WITNESS, AND THE TESTIMONY WOULD BE THAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES HAD RENDERED GOODS AND SERVICES TO THE HUMPHREYS, THE DEFENDANTS, AT THE FAIR MARKET VALUE FOR THE SERVICES AND GOODS OF $82,821.53 TO BE BACKED UP BY INVOICES AND TESTIMONY ABOUT THE REASONABLE VALUE OF THOSE SERVICES. THAT WOULD BE ON THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION, QUANTUM MERUIT.

AND THEN FOR THE SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION, GO HAND IN HAND THAT IT WAS AN OPEN BOOK ACCOUNT. ACCOUNTING WAS RENDERED TO THE HUMPHREYS AS DEFENDANTS THAT -- THEY WERE GIVEN THE ACCOUNTINGS AND THE SUM WAS $82,821.53 THAT WAS STILL DUE. IT WOULD BE CLAIMED ON THE SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION.

THE COURT: AND THOSE CLAIMS, I UNDERSTAND, ARE

BASED UPON THE VIEW OF PLAINTIFF SPARTAN THAT IT WAS THE GENERAL CONTRACTOR ON THE PROJECT?

MR. RUSSO: THAT'S CORRECT, THAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES WAS THE GENERAL CONTRACTOR, AND THAT IT WAS DULY LICENSED AT ALL TIMES TO PERFORM IN THAT WAY.

THE COURT: OKAY. AND SO BASED ON THAT OFFER OF PROOF, AS WE HAVE JUST RECENTLY DISCUSSED, I WOULD FIND THAT SPARTAN DOES NOT HAVE STANDING, AS I DETERMINED EARLIER TODAY THAT MR. BEREKI WAS THE PURPORTED GENERAL CONTRACTOR ON THE CONTRACT. SPARTAN MAY HAVE BEEN APPARENTLY SUBSTITUTED, BUT IT IS CERTAINLY NOT WITH THE PERMISSION OR AGREEMENT OF MR. AND MRS. HUMPHREYS.

SO BASED ON THAT, I WOULD INDICATE JUDGMENT FOR DEFENDANT ON THE COMPLAINT. DEFENDANTS, PLURAL ON THE COMPLAINT.

THEN MR. BISSELL, I GUESS WE NEED YOUR RECORD WITH RESPECT TO WHAT YOU WANT TO DO OFFICIALLY WITH RESPECT TO THE BALANCE OF THE CAUSES OF ACTION.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE PARTIES HAVE DISCUSSED AND HAVE AGREED AND ARE WILLING TO STIPULATE TO HANDLING THE REMAINING CAUSES OF ACTION ON THE FIRST AMENDED CROSS-COMPLAINT AS FOLLOWS:

THE MANY CAUSES OF ACTION IN THE ENTIRETY WILL BE DISMISSED -- ARE BEING DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE. IF JUDGMENT ON THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION BECOMES FINAL,

THE DISMISSAL WITHOUT PREJUDICE WILL BE CONVERTED TO DISMISSAL WITH PREJUDICE. PENDING JUDGMENT ON THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION BECOMING FINAL, THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS ON THE RE-FILING OF AN ACTION ON THE DISMISSED CAUSES OF ACTION IS WAIVED.

THE COURT: OR TOLLED?

MR. BISSELL: WELL, ACTUALLY, WE DISCUSSED THAT. I THINK -- I DON'T KNOW THAT TOLLING HELPS BECAUSE, AT THIS POINT IN TIME, ALL OF THE STATUTES WOULD HAVE RUN. WE COULDN'T -- I THINK TOLLING STOPS IT AS OF NOW, AND NOW WOULD BE TOO LATE TO RE-FILE.

THE COURT: UNDERSTOOD. OKAY.

MR. BISSELL: IF A NEW ACTION IS FILED ON THE DISMISSED CAUSES OF ACTION, DISCOVERY IS DEEMED COMPLETED AND WILL NOT BE RE-OPENED. THE NEWLY FILED CASE WILL BE CONSOLIDATED WITH THE REMANDED CASE FOR TRIAL. AND THAT'S -- THAT IS THE STIPULATION.

THE COURT: DOES THAT COMPORT WITH YOUR UNDERSTANDING, MR. RUSSO?

MR. RUSSO: YES, YOUR HONOR. ON BEHALF OF SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, SO STIPULATED.

THE COURT: MR. BEREKI, HOW ABOUT YOU?

MR. BEREKI: SO STIPULATED.

THE COURT: THE COURT ACCEPTS THE STIPULATION. PURSUANT THEN TO MR. BISSELL'S MOTION, THE COURT WILL ORDER THE REMAINING CAUSES OF ACTION, NEGLIGENCE, FRAUD,

ALTER EGO, PENALTY, ATTORNEY'S FEES, AND RECOVERY AGAINST THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE BOND TO BE DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE. THE JUDGMENT WILL BE ON THE SOLE REMAINING CAUSE OF ACTION FOR DISCOURAGEMENT; CORRECT?

MR. BISSELL: CORRECT.

THE COURT: AND THE COURT UNDERSTANDS AND ADOPTS THE CONDITIONAL WAIVER OF THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS, THAT CONDITION BEING WHETHER OR NOT THE -- TRULY THE DCA RETURNS THIS CASE FOR RE-TRIAL ON A REVERSAL OF THE COURT'S DETERMINATION.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: GOOD WORK.

MR. RUSSO: THANK YOU VERY MUCH, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: SO MR. BISSELL, YOU'RE GOING TO PREPARE THE PROPOSED JUDGMENT. CIRCULATED, OF COURSE, TO MR. RUSSO AND MR. BEREKI.

MR. BISSELL: WILL DO.

THE COURT: SEND IT OVER HERE. I THINK THERE'S AN APPROPRIATE PERIOD OF TIME WE CAN HOLD IT JUST TO MAKE SURE IF THERE'S SOME OBJECTION, THAT THAT OBJECTION CAN BE MADE AND FILED.

AND WE WILL TAKE IT FROM THERE.

MR. BISSELL: I WILL DO SO. THANK YOU. THANK YOU FOR YOUR ATTENTION TO THIS CASE.

THE COURT: I JUST COMMENT -- I DON'T OFTEN SAY THIS. ONE OF THE INTERESTING THINGS USUALLY IN A TRIAL

OF THIS NATURE, THERE'S A, QUOTE, BAD GUY AND A GOOD GUY. I WOULD SAY ALL THREE OF YOU ARE VERY NICE PEOPLE. I'M SORRY IT CAME TO THIS FOR A LOT OF REASONS. AND SO THE JUDGMENT, YOU KNOW, IS WHAT IT IS. IT'S NOT A REFLECTION ON YOUR HUMANITY OR PERSONHOOD. I WISH YOU WELL.

MR. BISSELL: UNDERSTOOD, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: ALL OF YOU.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

MR. HUMPHREYS: THANK YOU.

THE COURT: TAKE CARE. OH, CAN WE STIPULATE TO THE EXHIBITS BEING RETURNED TO YOU ALL FOR SAFEKEEPING?

MR. RUSSO: I THOUGHT THE COURT WANTED TO KEEP THE EXHIBITS.

THE COURT: GUESS AGAIN.

MR. RUSSO: YES, YOUR HONOR.

MR. BISSELL: YES, YOUR HONOR. OFF THE RECORD.

(OFF THE RECORD.)

TO THE COURT, ALL PARTIES, AND THEIR ATTORNEY(S) OF RECORD:

The following Declaration and the Exhibits annexed hereto present additional evidence of the extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court alleged in this case. These Declaratory statements shall overrule those of my previous Declaration incorporated in the Motion.

FIRST-AMENDED DECLARATION OF ADAM BEREKI

I, Adam Bereki, declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that:

1. I have personal knowledge of the facts herein, except where stated on information and belief.
2. This declaration is fully incorporated in the Motion to Vacate (ROA 361).
3. While the Motion is titled "Motion to Vacate" my intent is that it is an Independent Action in Equity and invokes the inherent equity jurisdiction of the Superior Court of California as stated therein.
4. The 2017 judgment was a bill of pains and penalties, procured through extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court, falsely alleging I personally contracted and performed work, with no known evidence I preformed work as required by CACI 4560(3). The $930,000 penalty under § 7031(a) and (b) required me to repay compensation already returned through Spartan's licensed work, constituting a duplicative criminal fine under Cal. Penal Code § 15 for the same offense as § 7028, imposed through extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court. The Humphreys lacked standing and capacity to prosecute a penal action, as no sworn information or indictment was filed and no criminal complaint was served on me. Each constitutional violation listed occurred, causing the summary suspension of my vested right to act as the qualifying individual on a general contractor license under § 7071.17 when I could not afford to pay the judgment. This unlawful suspension, another bill of pains and penalties, resulted in an estimated $3 million in lost earnings. These lost earnings are based on estimated income losses from 2017–2025 and are attributable to earnings that would have flowed through to me as the qualifying individual of a general contractor license whether Spartan's or any other I qualified for. I have incurred additional losses of over $5 million dollars in investigation and defense time to vacate this void judgment, calculated as hours spent at the rate of $300 per hour. This time is partially evidenced by my filings on the dockets of each case included as RJN Ex's 1-12, and the Exhibits attached to the Ex parte Application for Emergency Stay filed on 3/14/25 in this case, (ROA's 306-322). Expenses of approximately $1 million include legal fees, medical bills (emotional, psychological, and physical distress), office and stationary supplies and equipment, gas, court parking, etc. Upon judgment in my favor, or before if time permits, I will file a supplemental declaration with a detailed accounting of all lost rights property, and damages (e.g., ~$1.20 million in home equity), supported by financial records and affidavits.

5. The summary suspension of my contractor's license under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7071.17, ninety days after the April 20, 2017, judgment (ROA 200), deprived me of my liberty to pursue my livelihood as a general contractor without a judicial hearing or appeal process, constituting a bill of pains and penalties (Cal. Const. Art. I, § 9. U.S. Const. Art I. §10); As the Qualifying Individual for The Spartan Associates, Inc. (License #927244), I held a vested right, which was suspended or revoked despite evidence that Spartan was the contractor, as shown by Newport Beach building permits and the Humphreys' payments of $758,000 to Spartan as provided in the citations of evidence in the Memorandum of Points and Authorities of this Motion. I am not aware of any evidence presented by the Humphreys that I personally performed licensed work rendering the judgment and suspension void.
6. I relied on Karen and Gary Humphreys, William Bissell, and Judge Chaffee's representation that the proceedings in the Superior Court of California for the County of Orange, Case No. 30-2015-00805807 were civil as opposed to criminal.
7. I was never told I was being subjected to highly penal/criminal proceedings and that my vested right to act as a qualifying individual would be summarily suspended or revoked as additional punishment, thereby denying my right to occupation in my profession as a general contractor.
8. I was never informed of my right to assistance of counsel prior to trial or appeal to prepare a meaningful and substantive defense and did not receive assistant counsel at trial, on appeal, or anytime after, despite my request (RJN, Ex. 6 [Denial of Request for Counsel, U.S. District Court].
9. At the time of the trial, I was not able to meaningfully and substantively represent myself because I had not received any formal training or education in civil and criminal procedure before trial or on appeal. I had little if any involvement in the criminal aspect of prosecution during my time as a police officer as my duties focused on investigation, apprehension, and reporting, not prosecution/criminal procedure.

10. I waived trial by jury, based on my belief and the representations of Karen and Gary Humphreys, William Bissell, and Judge Chaffee, that I was facing civil proceedings and that the proceedings would have the sanction of law and recognize and honor my inalienable and constitutionally recognized rights to liberty, property, privacy etc.
11. Had I known I was being subjected to highly penal/criminal proceedings including the deprivation of my right to earn a living as a general contractor, I would have objected to any such unlawful proceedings prosecuted by the Humphreys and Bissell without lawful authority and in violation of my due/judicial process rights.
12. I am not aware of any evidence of damages that the Humphreys presented at trial that I or Spartan caused.
13. I am not aware of any evidence presented by the Humphreys at trial that I profited from their project and was thereby enriched, unjustly or otherwise.
14. The fine was excessive as my qualifying net worth (independent of disability pension and the ~$82k owed by the Humphreys to Spartan, some which would have passed through to me) at the time was approx. $23,000. The judgment was more than forty times this amount. This excessiveness resulted in the suspension/revocation my vested right to work as a general contractor under § 7071.17, resulting in an additional ~$3 million dollar penalty due to lost work as I was unable to pay the judgment, obtain a payment bond, or obtain vacatur in any court of California or the United States and ultimately was forced into bankruptcy. I repeatedly asked the Humphreys to come to an agreement so that I could notify the licensing board and have my qualifying individual status reinstated and resume work as a general contractor. They offered to settle for $300,000 which was still more than times my qualifying net worth.
15. The Humphreys terminated Spartan from the project in August 2013. I cannot recall if Spartan received a "Notice of Cessation of Labor". But if not, I believe it was produced by the Humphreys in discovery (Ex. 5). The Notice, dated August 18, 2013, addressed to Spartan (not me individually), orders Spartan to cease all construction activities at the Humphreys Project. I have never received a similar notice and believe this further evidences the Humphreys knew their agreement was with and/or the work was performed by Spartan. See also the Humphreys Motion for Summary Judgment (ROA 66, p.ii) representing to the court that the "undisputed facts" were that "In April of 2012 The Spartan Associates entered into an agreement with the Humphreys for the performance of home improvement work on the Humphreys condominium unit" and that "The home improvement work to be performed by The Spartan Associates, Inc. on the Humphreys condominium unit had a value in excess of $500." I believe the Humphreys and Bissell also knew that they could not support a claim under §7031(b) unless these "undisputed facts" were swept under the rug/altered. When they lost their Motion for Summary Judgment based on these facts, they simply changed them. With a few days more than a month before trial (ROA 127 scheduled for 1/17/17) and after discovery had already been completed, they filed for leave to amend their cross-complaint with a new first cause of action under §7031(b) (ROA 139, 12/9/16) to not only defraud me and the court but also ambush me and Spartan with these surprise accusations.

16. Based on my direct experience at trial and my forensic investigation of this case, I believe the Humphreys conspired with their attorney, William Bissell to use these proceedings disguised as civil with intent to defraud and punish me (and deny Spartan compensation) without lawful authority and destroy me financially over a dispute involving their home remodel. They knew that §7031(b) did not mention or authorize an equitable remedy, "disgorgement", or "damages". Their repeated representation of civil proceedings including their filings in this case, service of judgments and orders upon me, and the trial, were a lawless sham and fraud to steal money and property from me under force of the legislative, executive, and judicial powers of California and color of law without lawful authority. In furtherance of their conspiracy to defraud me and the court, they filed a Proposed Judgment Order for "damages" knowing no damages had been evidenced at trial. Their Memorandum of Points and Authorities in their Motion for Severance (ROA 160) admitted that "since the amount paid by the Humphreys to Mr. Bereki exceeds the amount of damages they are claiming [est.$350,000 [First Amended Cross-Complaint] if they were to prevail on their first cause of action, the trial of the remaining cause of action for damages would be unnecessary." (Id. p.5). Assuming arguendo, their damages were $350k, the judgment they sought and were awarded, was nearly three times this amount and could, under no reasonable interpretation, be considered "damages", when they intentionally severed their claim for damages. (ROA 160). Simply put, the Humphreys wanted something for nothing and thought they could perpetrate fraud on me and the court to get it.

17. Spartan provided $930,000 of custom remodel work including labor and materials to Karen Humphreys and Gary Humphreys that they requested for their home at 436 Via Lido Nord, Newport Beach, California. The Humphreys have not paid the remaining approx. $82,000 for the materials and labor (ROA 2) due at the time of invoice on or about August 1, 2013 and have not paid the interest due thereon through the date of this filing. If the Humphreys had an issue with Spartan or its sub-contractors work, fine, there is a judicial process to remedy those issues. This fraud and corruption of that process is not it!

18. As a result of the actions of the Humphreys, Bissell, Chaffee, Goethals, Aronson, O'Leary, and all other public officials (RJN Ex. 1-12, ROA's 306-322) who have refused to abide their sworn duty to take action to investigate and/or intervene to stop this lawless violence upon me and my family, I have and continue to suffer severe emotional and economic distress as a direct and proximate result. I began disclosing this emotional distress this in my Declaration filed as a First Amended Reply to Opposition of Motion to Compel Bill of Particulars, Motion to Vacate, and Disqualify Judge Chaffee for cause, dated October, 2, 2017 (ROA 267). The Declaration (p.3) stated: "I am experiencing emotional and psychological duress resulting from the domestic terrorism attacks by Plaintiffs, their counsel, and this court acting without lawful authority and in violation of numerous felony criminal codes as evidenced herein. I demand the court, Plaintiffs, and their counsel immediately cease and desist and am requesting an emergency protective order and civil harassment restraining order against William Bissell, and potentially Karen and Gary Humphreys and David Chaffee." Page 13 stated: "The Elements of Psychological and Emotional Distress I have experienced (and continue to to varying degrees) as a result of the continued unlawful actions of the court and William Bissell on behalf of Plaintiffs are: panic and anxiety attacks, severe depression including suicidal thoughts (no, I am not a danger to myself or others), severe headaches, neck and upper back tension, body tremors, loss of appetite, social inactivity, gut/digestion problems and pain, fear of physical and other harm, loss of liberty, and decreased ability to earn an income. My medical records are obviously confidential but will support thousands of dollars in Emergency Room visits to multiple hospitals, and observations, tests, and treatment by specialists including psychologists. I am currently under the care of a doctor whom I see three days per week to mitigate the intensity of stress in my body in an attempt to cope."

19. I declared these facts of distress again in a Declaration attached to the Notice of Motion and Motion to Vacate post remittitur (ROA 294, Exhibit E). In paragraphs 1 and 2, I stated: I have been harmed financially, emotionally, psychologically, and physically by what I believe to be - including but not limited to -: fraud, gross negligence, abuse of process, intentional infliction of emotion distress, deprivations of my Rights and violations of due process by Plaintiffs Karen and Gary Humphreys and their Counsel, William Bissell, as evidenced in the Motion To Vacate Void Judgment filed forthwith on February 19, 2019, as well as previous motions I have filed in this case, such as the First Amended Reply To Opposition and Motion To Disqualify Judge For Cause on October 2, 2017. I have been harmed financially, emotionally, psychologically, and physically by what I believe to be - including but not limited to -; fraud, gross negligence, deprivations of my Rights and violations of due process by David R. Chaffee, Kathleen O'Leary, Richard. M. Aronson, and Thomas M. Goethals, acting coram non judice as evidenced in the Motion to Vacate Void Judgment filed forthwith on February 19, 2019, as well as previous motions I have filed in this case, such as the First Amended Reply To Opposition and Motion To Disqualify Judge For Cause on October 2, 2017.

20. Based on my training and experience in law enforcement, I believe I am the victim of the following crimes, (this is not an exhaust list of crimes or Defendants): robbery (Cal. Penal Code § 211- forcible taking of my rights, liberty and property without lawful authority); grand theft (Penal Code § 187); burglary (Cal. Penal Code § 459- entering the Superior courthouse with intent to commit grand theft); conspiracy to commit the foregoing crimes on me by the Humphreys and Bissell (Cal. Penal Code § 182(a)(1)); conspiracy by the Humphreys and Bissell to falsely move and maintain the lawless proceedings against me under §7031(b) (Cal. Penal Code § 182(a)(3)); and conspiracy by the Humphreys and Bissell to cheat and defraud me of my rights and property, by any means which are in themselves criminal, or to obtain money or property by false pretenses or by false promises with fraudulent intent not to perform those promises (Cal. Penal Code § 182(a)(4)).

21. I continue to be afraid for my safety and that of my family due to these lawless acts of violence that continue to be perpetrated on us, including most recently the theft of our home and approx. $1.2 million dollars in home equity while all officials of State and government refuse to perform a full, fair, impartial and/or independent investigation and/or refuse to intervene to stop this lawless violence.

22. All exhibits are true copies of the documents they purport to be, with exception of any bates numbering or other non-substantive marks I, or someone else may have made.

23. I submit Exhibit 6 (Report by Bryan Nickel, dated December 15, 2013 (contemporaneous with Spartan's termination in August 2013) to further demonstrate that The Spartan Associates, Inc., ("Spartan"), performed the construction work at 436 Via Lido Nord, Newport Beach, and was paid $758,000 by the Humphreys. The report confirms that Spartan was engaged to perform all construction work, including design, demolition, framing, plumbing, and electrical work, with approximately $505,000 in labor and materials and $758,000 in payments.

24. This "Report on Spartan Construction Work in Place and Costs" was prepared by Bryan Nickel and/or his construction company that was hired by the Humphreys to finish the project after Spartan's termination. Prior thereto, Nickel and/or his company was/were directed by the Humphreys and/or Bissell to investigate Spartan's work and prepare this report. In the report, Nickel states "Spartan was engaged to do the work" and "Spartan proceeded to design the new space and start work in April of 2012." "Spartan did purchase finish fixtures and appliances during this period, additionally Spartan engaged an acquaintance who worked at a commercial architecture firm to moonlight and draw up plans to secure a building permit. Building Permit number x2012-2116 was issued on November 14, 2012." (Ex .2 Building Permit). "For the period November 2012 to May 2013 Spartan proceeded to demolish and reframe the entire second floor, except for the street facing wall, and substantial amounts of the first-floor unit as he discovered, attempted to fix and rebuild old, deteriorated and water damaged portions of the structure." "We do know from the Owners banking records that Spartan has been paid $758,000."

25. The Humphreys and Bissell concealed this report in their First Amended Cross-Complaint (ROA 144) and at trial and never called Nickel as an expert witness to testify at trial, which would have defeated their claim. This constitutes extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court (Estate of Sanders, 40 Cal. 3d 607 (1985)).

26. Exhibit 8 (Declaration of William G. Bissell, dated June 1, 2016) and Exhibit 9 (Deposition of Robert Brockway, September 13, 2016) further support the claims of extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court. In Ex. 8, Bissell declared that expert witness Robert Brockway was prepared to testify at trial about "the services which were to be performed and which were performed by Adam Bereki and/or The Spartan Associates" on the Humphreys' project (Ex. 8, ¶ 5). In Brockway's deposition, attended by Bissell and Gary Humphreys (Ex. 9, p. 2, Lines 17–23), Brockway confirmed that The Spartan Associates, Inc. performed the work, stating, "I went over payroll records provided by Spartan, and I went over the W-2s to analyze the number of men, how long they were there, and what tasks they were doing" (Ex. 9, p. 7, Lines 2–10). He further noted, "Spartan was terminated on or about 8-28 of 2013" (Ex. 9, p. 39, Lines 9–10), indicating Spartan was the contractor (see also Ex.2 Notice of Cessation of Labor for Spartan). Brockway created an "invoice matrix" from "documents [receipts] that Spartan provided" (Ex. 9, p. 21, Lines 1–2) to assess expenses, reinforcing Spartan's role. Significantly, Brockway did not state that I personally performed any construction work, focusing instead on Spartan's operations and my work as Spartan's manager. Bissell's decision not to call Brockway, despite designating him as an expert and knowing his testimony would undermine the §7031(b) claim, was a deliberate concealment of evidence. I intend to question Bissell at the June 26, 2025, hearing about his failure to call Brockway, as his testimony is critical to establishing intent to conceal evidence central to the Humphreys' burden under Evidence Code § 500.

27. Non-Hearsay Purpose: Evidence of Defendants' Knowledge and Concealment The deposition testimony of expert witnesses Robert Brockway and Bryan Nickel are offered to demonstrate that the Humphreys and Bissell, were aware of material evidence confirming Spartan performed the work, but intentionally concealed this evidence at trial to defraud the court and me and secure a void judgment under § 7031(a) and (b). The testimony is not offered for the truth of the experts' statements but to show the Humphreys and Bissell's knowledge and fraudulent concealment, making it non-hearsay under California Evidence Code § 1200. Nickel's report confirms Spartan was paid $758,000 for work, and Brockway's deposition verifies Spartan's performance through payroll records and invoices (Ex. 9, p. 7, Lines 2–10). The Humphreys failure to call these experts, despite commissioning their reports, evidences extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court.

28. Supporting Authority: People v. Montes (2014) 58 Cal.4th 809, 863 (out-of-court statements admissible to show knowledge or effect on listener, not for truth); Rufo v. Simpson (2001) 86 Cal.App.4th 573, 591 (statements admissible to show concealment or state of mind); Kulchar v. Kulchar (1969) 1 Cal.3d 467, 471 (concealment of material evidence constitutes extrinsic fraud).

29. Adoptive Admissions: Defendants' Prior Reliance on Expert Findings The deposition testimony Brockway and statement of Nickel in his report are admissible as adoptive admissions under California Evidence Code § 1221 because the Humphreys previously relied on these experts' findings in their Motion for Summary Judgment (ROA 66, p. ii), stating the "undisputed facts" were that Spartan contracted and performed the work. By adopting these facts, which align with the experts' testimony that Spartan was the licensed contractor, the Humphreys admitted their truth. Their subsequent concealment of this evidence at trial, by not calling Nickel or Brockway and amending their cross-complaint to falsely claim Adam Bereki individually performed unlicensed work (ROA 139, 144), does not negate their prior adoption and supports the claim of extrinsic fraud. These adoptive admissions are not hearsay and are admissible to show the defendants' fraudulent intent.

30. Supporting Authority: Jazayeri v. Mao (2009) 174 Cal.App.4th 301, 316 (statements adopted by a party in prior filings are admissible as non-hearsay); Evid. Code § 1221; Estate of Sanders (1985) 40 Cal.3d 607, 618 (concealment of evidence known to party supports fraud on the court).

31. Impeachment: Prior Inconsistent Statements Contradicting Trial Claims The deposition testimony Brockway and report statements by Nickel are admissible under California Evidence Code § 1235 to impeach the defendants' trial position that Adam Bereki individually performed unlicensed work, as it contradicts their prior representations and trial omissions. In their Motion for Summary Judgment, the defendants admitted Spartan contracted and performed the work (ROA 66, p. ii), consistent with Nickel's report (Ex. 7) and Brockway's deposition (Ex. 9, p. 39, Lines 9–10). At trial, they concealed this evidence and failed to call the experts, allowing their attorney, William Bissell, to misrepresent that Bereki was the unlicensed contractor. The experts' testimony, showing Spartan's performance, is offered to demonstrate this inconsistency, not for its truth, and thus is not hearsay. This impeachment evidence further establishes the defendants' intent to defraud me and the court.

32. Supporting Authority: People v. Johnson (2018) 6 Cal.5th 541, 582-3 (prior inconsistent statements admissible for impeachment); Evid. Code § 1235; Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co. (1944) 322 U.S. 238, 246 (concealment of evidence to mislead court constitutes fraud).

33. Bissell misrepresented that I was an unlicensed contractor under BPC § 7031, stating at trial: "SECTION 7026 DEFINES a CONTRACTOR... as INCLUDING ANY PERSON who UNDERTAKES to CONSTRUCT... EXHIBIT 303... is EVIDENCE of such UNDERTAKING" (Ex. 1, p. 5, Lines 20–26). This is legally flawed, as § 7026 defines a "contractor" without imposing liability, whereas § 7031(b) requires proof that I performed unlicensed work: "a person who utilizes the services of an unlicensed contractor may bring an action... to recover all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor for performance of any act or contract" (BPC § 7031(b). CACI 4560(3) mandates evidence that I performed licensed work, yet no evidence shows I performed tasks like framing or plumbing (Ex. 5, 6, 8, 9). Instead, Spartan performed all work, as confirmed by the Notice of Cessation to Spartan (Ex. 5), Nickel's report (Ex. 6), Brockway's deposition (Ex. 9), and the Humphreys' own Motion for Summary Judgment admitting Spartan contracted (ROA 66, p. ii). As Spartan's Responsible Managing Officer (RMO) and Qualifying Individual (Ex. 7), I supervised under Spartan's license, not as an individual (White v. Cridlebaugh, 178 Cal. App. 4th 506, 517 (2009); WSS Industrial Construction, Inc. v. Great West Contractors, Inc., 162 Cal. App. 4th 581, 591 (2008)). The Humphreys and Bissell may argue I "hired" Spartan, but this is irrelevant, as § 7031(b) liability hinges on unlicensed performance, not contracting, and Spartan's licensed work negates their claim (WSS Industrial, 162 Cal. App. 4th at 591). To the extent the emails could be considered an agreement, the work stated thereon was never evidenced to have been performed. Reason being, the email project was abandoned. The court and Court of Appeal's reliance on my initial emails, which omitted Spartan, ignored that these were preliminary negotiations for Spartan, not a personal contract (Civ. Code § 1550; Lewis v. Fletcher, 101 Cal. App. 3d 459, 465 (1980); Donovan v. RRL Corp., 26 Cal. 4th 261, 280–81 (2001)). My intent, as Spartan's RMO since securing its license years before the Humphreys project, was always for Spartan to perform, as shown by the building permit in Spartan's name (Ex. 2) and payments to Spartan (Ex. 6). The Humphreys, family of my friend (Gary's brother), exploited my trust in the informal emails, knowing Spartan was the contractor (ROA 66, p. ii). Bissell's concealment of Spartan's performance (Ex. 6, 8, 9) and misrepresentation that my emails triggered § 7031(b) liability, despite no evidence of my performance, misled the court and exploited my pro se status, constituting extrinsic fraud and denying a fair hearing.

34. The Humphreys and Bissell's fraud was deliberate. The Humphreys' Motion for Summary Judgment admitted Spartan contracted (ROA 66, p. ii), but after losing, they amended their cross-complaint to target me (ROA 144), ambushing me before trial. This aligns with their Notice of Cessation addressed to Spartan (Ex. 5) and Bissell's designation of Brockway, confirming they knew Spartan performed the work.

35. Exhibit 11 (CHP Incident Report, dated September 21, 2024) and Exhibit 12 (Bill of Particulars, filed June 28, 2017) confirm the extrinsic fraud, fraud on the court, and jurisdictional defects in the 2017 judgment through Judge Chaffee's admissions on April 16, 2024. During an interview with the California Highway Patrol, Chaffee acknowledged the case was civil but "turned" with the Humphreys' cross-complaint under Business and Professions Code §7031(b) (Ex. 11, p. 7, Lines 19-21), reinforcing my reliance on his representations that the proceedings were civil, while concealing their punitive nature. Contradictorily, he stated §7031(b) is "not criminal and has 'no penalty attached,' but it is punitive" and "draconian" (Ex. 11, p. 7, Lines 23–24), failing to specify civil remedies and admitting the penal character of the ~$930k penalty, imposed without counsel or jury trial, violating due process. Chaffee ruled I contracted individually, stating, "we have no license in the name of Mr. Bereki individually; instead, it appears he was the qualifying corporate officer for the legal entity, Spartan Associates, incorporated" (Ex. 11, p. 4, Lines 1-3), based on initial emails from my personal account (Ex. 11, p. 2, Lines 17-19). This ignored evidence that The Spartan Associates, Inc. was the contractor, including payments to Spartan after July 2012 (Ex. 11, p. 2, Lines 33-25), the Notice of Cessation to Spartan (Ex. 5), building permits (Ex. 2). Even if I were the contracting party, Spartan, a licensed contractor, performed all work through its employees and subcontractors satisfying CACI 4560(3). Chaffee's reliance on Ball v. Steadfast (2011) (Ex. 11, p. 3, Lines 12–36) was erroneous, as Ball involved a sole proprietor with a personal license, unlike Spartan's corporate license and my RMO and Qualifying Individual Role under BPC §7096. Chaffee denied suspending my license, stating, "Judge Chaffee assumes that any suspension would come from the State Contractor's Board" (Ex. 11, p. 8, Lines 22–23), but the judgment's financial burden directly triggered the mandatory summary suspension under BPC §7071.17, a bill of pains and penalties. Chaffee falsely claimed I did not raise constitutional issues (Ex. 11, p. 8, Lines 1-2), despite my Bill of Particulars challenging jurisdiction and the Humphreys' standing (Ex. 12, Questions 4, 8, 14, 51; ROA's 244, 256, 260, 263), suppressed through fines for abuse of discovery, reflecting my pro se status and Bissell's concealment. Chaffee admitted, "the damages are not offset by the work that was completed" (Ex. 11, p. 8, Lines 32-33), refusing to consider Spartan's $930,000 in value, despite no evidence of damages, enabled by Bissell's fraud.

36. Exhibit 11 is admissible under California Evidence Code § 1280 as a public record, as it was prepared by a CHP officer in the course of official duties, records contemporaneous observations from an April 16, 2024, interview, and is trustworthy. Chaffee's statements are further admissible under Evidence Code § 1200 as non-hearsay, offered not for their truth but to show his representations that the proceedings were civil, which misled me into waiving protections like a jury trial, and his knowledge of the case's punitive nature. Additionally, these statements are admissible under § 1250 to reflect Chaffee's state of mind and judicial reasoning. Chaffee's acknowledgment that the case "turned" with the Humphreys' § 7031(b) cross-complaint and his contradictory claim that the ~$930,000 penalty was "punitive" yet "not criminal" demonstrate he concealed the proceedings' punitive character, enabling the Humphreys and Bissell's extrinsic fraud to secure a void judgment without due process safeguards. His false statement that I did not raise constitutional issues, despite my Bill of Particulars (Ex. 12), further evidences suppression of my jurisdictional challenges, corrupting the judicial process.

37. As Spartan's Responsible Managing Officer (RMO) and Qualifying Individual, I was required to supervise its construction operations under Business and Professions Code § 7068.1(a), as defined in Exhibit 7 (Application for Original Contractor License, CSLB). The qualifying individual "meets the experience and examination requirements for the license and is responsible for exercising supervision and control... to secure compliance with CSLB's laws" (BPC § 7068.1(a)). The CSLB determined I was Spartan's qualifying individual, making me a licensee under BPC § 7096 and inseparable from Spartan's license (White v. Cridlebaugh, 178 Cal. App. 4th 506, 517 (2009)). I performed the functions as RMO of Spartan's license on the Humphreys project.

38. Judge David Chaffee had a duty to ensure all CACI 4560 elements were met for a §7031(b) claim (Thompson v. Louisville, 362 U.S. 199 (1960)): (1) the Humphreys contracted with me, (2) a license was required, and (3) they paid me for work I performed. No known evidence was presented for Element 3. Chaffee's finding that I was unlicensed (ROA 193) without addressing Spartan's performance violated due process, enabling the Humphreys' fraud (Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co., 322 U.S. 238, 246 (1944)).

39. The Humphreys' fraud corrupted the judicial process. Bissell's concealment and § 7026 misuse, exploiting my pro se status, convinced Chaffee to order the ~930,000 penalty without evidence I performed work, actualizing their intent to corrupt the process (Kulchar, 1 Cal. 3d at 471; Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519, 520 (1972)).

40. The judgment is void for lack of jurisdiction. The Humphreys had no standing. Their failure to prove CACI 4560(3) and my licensee status (BPC § 7096) negate their claim (ROA 144). My inalienable right to gainful employment cannot be presumed incompetent without a judicial determination (Estate of Buchman, 123 Cal. App. 2d 546 (1954)), and BPC § 7026 does not define a "person" as a "natural person," exempting me from licensing requirements. Chaffee's false claim that I did not raise standing issues (Ex. 11, p. 8, Lines 1-2) ignores my Bill of Particulars challenging the Humphreys' standing and court jurisdiction (Ex. 12, Questions 4, 8, 14, 51), suppressed through fines, enabled by my pro se status and Bissell's concealment.

41. On September 20, 2017, I had the following email conversation with William Bissell:

1. Email from Adam Bereki to William G. Bissell
   Date: September 20, 2017, 3:14 PM
   Subject: Phone Call
   From: Adam Bereki abereki@gmail.com
   To: wbissell@wgb-law.com

   Hi Bill,

   I hope this finds you well. I called your office today to speak with you about what I believe to be a huge miscarriage of justice happening in this case surrounding the challenge to jurisdiction I filed on 4/18/17 before judgement was ordered in this case. If you have any interest in discussing this matter with me, I'd welcome that.

   If so, please let me know when would be a good time to call you and I'll do so.

   Sincerely,
   Adam Bereki

2. Email from William G. Bissell to Adam Bereki
   Date: September 20, 2017, 3:50 PM
   From: wbissell@wgb-law.com
   To: Adam Bereki abereki@gmail.com

   Mr. Bereki: I reviewed your "Writ of Error" at the time it was filed with the court. I saw nothing in it that would cause me to question the validity of the judgment entered by the court. You have appealed the judgment and presumably you will be giving it your best shot with the Court of Appeal. Because appellate procedure is very deadline sensitive I suggest that your time might be better spent focusing on your argument to be made to the court than discussing your theories with me.

   Sincerely,
   Law Office of William G. Bissell

3. Email from Adam Bereki to William G. Bissell
   Date: September 20, 2017, 4:09 PM
   From: Adam Bereki abereki@gmail.com
   To: wbissell@wgb-law.com

   Thank you Bill, I appreciate your reply. It's just that since the "writ of error" was a direct jurisdictional challenge before the entry of judgement. The judgement is void because you didn't prove the factual sufficiency of subject matter jurisdiction as you were required to do upon direct attack. At that point and until subject matter jurisdiction was proved, the court was want of jurisdiction to issue an order. You'll see the jurisdictional challenge was served two days before the judgement. I don't believe it's in judicial process for the court or other parties to just ignore and/or reject my documents however foreign or out of statutory procedure they may be. While I understand your position that you might think what I'm sharing is a legal "theory" I obviously believe otherwise and we can disagree. If I'm right though, you and the judge could be in a lot of trouble which is why I reached out to you first to see if you wished to speak with me humbly.

Sincerely,
Adam Bereki

4. Email from William G. Bissell to Adam Bereki
Date: September 20, 2017, 4:24 PM
From: wbissell@wgb-law.com
To: Adam Bereki abereki@gmail.com

Mr. Bereki: Thank you for your clarification and the opportunity to avoid the trouble that may befall me as a result of the trial conducted in this matter. As I remain unpersuaded by your position, I suppose I (and I guess Judge Chaffee as well) will just have to take my chances that the court will have the same view of your argument as I do.

42. Exhibit 13, consisting of email correspondence between myself and William G. Bissell dated September 20, 2017, further substantiates the extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court perpetrated by the Humphreys and Bissell. These emails demonstrate that Bissell was aware of my jurisdictional challenge filed on April 18, 2017, two days prior to the entry of judgment on April 20, 2017 (ROA 200). In my initial email, I invited Bissell to discuss the challenge, which asserted the court lacked subject matter jurisdiction. Bissell's dismissive reply, acknowledging he reviewed my "Writ of Error" but refusing to engage and urging me to focus on my appeal, reflects his deliberate avoidance of addressing the unproven jurisdictional foundation of the case (Decl. ¶ 38). His failure to contest the challenge's claims at the time, despite knowing its significance, evidences his intent to conceal jurisdictional defects, thereby corrupting the judicial process to secure a void judgment. These emails are admissible as non-hearsay under California Evidence Code § 1221, as adoptive admissions, and § 1200, as they are offered to show Bissell's knowledge and concealment, not for the truth of the statements contained therein.

43. Exhibits 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 9, and 13 demonstrate the Humphreys and Bissell's efforts to secure a claim against me despite lacking standing, corrupting the judicial process. Their fabrication of a claim that I personally contracted and performed unlicensed work (ROA 144), when they knew Spartan performed the work (Ex. 5; ROA 66, p. ii; Ex. 9), constitutes extrinsic fraud. By fabricating this claim to fraudulently invoke the court's jurisdiction, knowing they had no capacity or standing, they prevented a fair hearing (Kulchar v. Kulchar, 1 Cal. 3d 467, 471 (1969)). This lack of capacity and standing is a jurisdictional defect, rendering the judgment void (Albrecht v. United States, 273 U.S. 1, 8 (1923); People ex rel. Becerra v. Superior Court, 29 Cal. App. 5th 486, 496 (2018)).

44. The Court of Appeal opinion (RJN Ex. 2, Case No. G055075, filed October 31, 2018) supports my claim that no evidence showed I personally performed licensed construction work, as required by CACI 4560(3) (Decl. ¶ 5), by failing to identify substantial evidence for this element. The court found substantial evidence only that (1) I, not Spartan Associates, contracted with the Humphreys, based on their testimony about my initial representations and emails (RJN Ex. 2, pp. 10–11), and (2) payments from Gary Humphreys' corporation were attributable to the Humphreys personally, based on his testimony about income deductions (RJN Ex. 2, p. 12). These findings address the contractual relationship and payment source, not whether I performed licensed work such as framing or plumbing. The opinion's assumption that I "performed all the remodel work" (RJN Ex. 2, p. 4) lacks supporting evidence, as it cites no testimony or documents showing my performance, contrary to my evidence that Spartan performed the work. This gap, enabled by the Humphreys and Bissell's extrinsic fraud in concealing evidence that Spartan was the contractor (Ex. 5, 6, 9; Decl. ¶¶ 15–16, 25–27) and misrepresenting me as an unlicensed contractor (Ex. 1; Decl. ¶ 32), renders the judgment void for lack of jurisdiction, as the Humphreys failed to prove all elements of their § 7031(b) claim (Decl. ¶¶ 33, 37–41).

45. I respectfully request the Court vacate the void judgment (ROA 200) and grant relief as prayed in my motion, filed May 28, 2025.

Signed on June 4, 2025 at Las Vegas, Nevada.

436 Via Lido Nord
Report on Spartan Construction Work in Place and Costs

Overview

The initial scope of the project was to combine two condominium units at 436 Via Lido Nord in Newport Beach, CA on the second floor into one unit on a design build basis. Spartan was engaged to do the work on a verbal agreement to be paid "actual cost of the work plus $500 per day fee for supervision, contractor overhead and profit". Spartan proceeded to design the new space and start work in April of 2012. Spartan did not get a building permit for the work. On or about the first of June 2012 The City of Newport Beach cited (C2012-0143) the project for "Construction without B,E,M,P permits" Actual work on the project slowed for the next four and one half months with only two to three workers on site possibly demolishing some of the existing structure. Spartan did purchase finish fixtures and appliances during this period, additionally Spartan engaged an acquaintance who worked at a commercial architecture firm to moonlight and draw up plans to secure a building permit. Building Permit number x2012-2116 was issued on November 14, 2012. The scope of the permitted work allowed was limited to combining the units and reroofing the building. This scope involved limited access to the lower unit to pour pads for structural columns and reroute some plumbing.

For the period November 2012 to May 2013 Spartan proceeded to demolish and reframe the entire second floor, except for the street facing wall, and substantial amounts of the first floor unit as he discovered, attempted to fix and rebuild old, deteriorated and water damaged portions of the structure. Significant work was done, again, without design drawings and building permits. The plumbing and electrical systems were substantially modified and rebuilt, some of this mechanical work was permitted (P2013-0125, N2013-0061). Spartan was also the subject of three written City of Newport Beach code enforcement violations in February, March and April of 2013.

During this period Spartan never completed, as evidenced by City inspection sign off, any portion of he permitted work, most notably the foundation work.

Spartan seemed unaware of the various City of Newport Beach and Building Code thresholds of remodeling that trigger updating the existing structure to current building codes. In the first week of June 2013 the City of Newport Beach issued and posted a "Stop Work" Notice on the project (Red Tagged) for exceeding the scope of work allowed in the existing building permit. Spartan, however, notwithstanding the City's position, continued to work on the project. Concurrently, Spartan engaged a drafting company in Riverside to prepare plans reflecting the work put in place and the new worked now required to bring the structure current with the building code. This design and engineering work continued until Spartan was excused from the project in September 2013.

Spartan billed the Owner, Gary Humphreys $826,094 in total for work on the project and was paid $758,000 as of the date of this report. Spartan has provided a detail spreadsheet summary of the billed amounts and copies of various invoices and receipts related to the project but not a comprehensive cost and payment backup.

- Spartan Associates Inc. is a licensed California general contractor License # 927244 issued in 2009
- Adam Alan Bereki is listed as the Responsible Managing Officer
- Workman's Compensation coverage through Norguard Insurance Co.
- Limited construction experience, prior to 2009 employed as a policeman

Scope of Review of the Project and Costs.

The project will be reviewed in two parts, Performance/Value delivered and Cost of the Work.

Performance

On so many levels Spartan violated the trust and duty to the Owner to perform work on the property in a professional, knowledgeable and industry standard quality of work manner that this analysis should be used as a starting point to document further legal actions for recovery of damages based on the quality of the work and services performed by Spartan. Unfortunately, the author believes that Spartan, a corporation, and Adam Bereki, the Responsible Managing Officer, are largely uncollectable should a judgment be entered over the amount of the contractors bond ($12,000). A partial listing of the areas that could be further explored are as follows;

- Lost opportunity to improve the structure design
- Defective design and construction work both latent and patent
- Poor Management, Inefficient scheduling and use of the Owners funds
- Breech of fiduciary duty as a licensed contractor to secure permits prior to performing Work
- Damage to First Floor Unit (unpermitted work, loss of occupancy)
- No written Contract for the project
- No Evidence of Liability Insurance protecting the Owner from consequences of Spartan's actions.
- Exposing the building to code upgrade requirements

Cost of the Work Plus Fee

This portion of the project analysis is based on a review of Spartan supplied cost summary Excel spreadsheet and a collection of copies of receipts and invoices. It should be cautioned that the invoice copies are not supported by any banking / check copy information nor any reporting from a cost accounting software system. The information supplied is not sufficient to provide an opinion of an exact cost of the work but is adequate to provide a reasonable estimate of monies spent on items stored or incorporated into the building. Our estimate is that Spartan expended approximately $505,000 on labor and material that the industry would consider "Cost of the Work." The value received as discussed above under Performance is significantly less.

Spartan's billing for other costs include parking tickets, gas for Mr Bereki and his site supervisor, software, a vehicle lease and repairs, rentals on a "shop" and other owned tools, accounting and other contractor overhead, labor for site supervision, and a fee for Mr. Bereki. We estimate that these charges add up to approximately $321,000.

Days worked

Apparently, Spartan is unable to produce copies of a daily log of attendance and activities on the site. Our "days worked" estimate is based on a five day work week less federal holidays for the period April 2012 thru June 6th 2013 (Ordered by City of Newport to stop work.) We estimate 239 working days on the project.

Contractor's Overhead and Fee

At the discussed, but unwritten, $500 per day compensation beyond the cost of the work Spartan would be entitled to bill $119,500 in addition to the Cost of the Work for a total contract value estimated at $624,500 before credits for damages from poor performance. This would represent a fee mark up of approximately 23%. This is at the higher end, but within the industry range, for this type of work.

We do know from the Owners banking records that Spartan has been paid $758,000.

Based on our estimates of the Cost of the Work plus a $500 per day overhead and fee, Spartan has been OVERPAID approximately $133,500.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Dear Applicant:

Enclosed is the application from the Contractors State License Board (CSLB).

Please be aware that nearly half of all applications submitted to CSLB are inaccurate or incomplete and must be returned for correction.

Please complete your application in its entirety to ensure that your application is accepted for processing by CSLB.

After an application has been accepted by CSLB as complete (also known as "posted"), the applicant will be sent instructions on the process for obtaining and submitting fingerprints, as required by law. (Business and Professions Code sections 144 and 7069)

An incomplete application can needlessly delay your license. Delays can last several weeks or even months and possibly result in the application being deemed abandoned and becoming void and the application fee being forfeited. (Business and Professions Code sections 7074 and 7138 and Title 16, California Code of Regulations section 813)

Spending a few extra minutes now may save you weeks or months later!

Before you submit your application, follow these simple directions.

- Sign the form.
- Fill out all applicable information.
- Make sure you submit Certification of Work Experience forms that have been filled out completely, ensuring that you have provided four (4) years of applicable experience in the classification for which you are applying.

Carefully read the General Information and Instructions that immediately precede the application package and follow the specific instructions that are contained throughout the application to help ensure that your application is complete and accurate.

Please be aware that there are no schools or application preparation organizations that are affiliated with or agents of CSLB, although some may have company names that are confusingly similar to CSLB. If you discover that an organization has misrepresented itself as being associated with CSLB, you should submit a complaint to CSLB or the California Department of Consumer Affairs. However, official CSLB examination study guides are available free of charge on CSLB's website.

IMPORTANT NOTICE REGARDING CONVICTIONS PLEASE READ CAREFULLY

As part of the Contractors State License Board (CSLB) application process and as required by law, the applicant must be fingerprinted if they have not been fingerprinted by CSLB before or if the applicant's previous fingerprint record was purged by CSLB due to a voided application; disassociated, revoked, or cancelled license or registration; or for some other reason. After an application is accepted by CSLB as complete (also known as "posted"), the applicant will be sent instructions on the process for obtaining and submitting fingerprints, usually via live scan electronic transmission.

The applicant's fingerprints will be compared to the records of the California Department of Justice and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. If an applicant has ever been convicted of a crime, their criminal record information will be reported to CSLB. This includes DUIs and other Vehicle Code violations resulting in a conviction. Even if you pled "no contest," had the conviction set aside, or judgment deferred pursuant to Penal Code sections 1000 or 1203.4 (commonly understood as "expunged"), the past conviction will still be reported to CSLB.

Under certain circumstances, CSLB may request that an applicant provide mitigating information regarding their criminal history by completing and submitting the Disclosure Statement Regarding Criminal Plea/Conviction form that is available on CSLB's website on the Forms and Applications page. CSLB's Criminal Background Unit will contact the applicant if it is requesting this additional information. If so, the applicant can complete the disclosure and send an email scan of it to CBU@cslb.ca.gov or fax to 916-255-4135. Please note, completing the form or any other disclosure of mitigating evidence is voluntary, and the applicant may choose not to disclose any information. An applicant's choice not to disclose information shall not be a factor in a board's decision to grant or deny an application for licensure. (See Bus. & Prof. Code, § 480(f)(2).

Applicants with criminal convictions are not automatically denied licensure – each applicant is reviewed individually based on the applicable sections of law. When reviewing criminal convictions, CSLB considers factors such as the nature and severity of the crimes, the amount of time that has passed since the convictions, and any evidence of rehabilitation submitted by the applicant. CSLB has several regulations to review criminal convictions, including Title 16 of the California Code of Regulations sections 868, 868.1, and 869. Section 868 guides how to evaluate whether a crime is substantially related to the qualifications, duties, or functions of a licensee or registrant. Section 868.1 guides whether a felony financial crime is directly and adversely related to the fiduciary qualifications, duties, or functions of a licensee or registrant; and Section 869 guides whether an applicant has made a showing of rehabilitation.

For rehabilitation evaluation, in addition to other evidence of rehabilitation, CSLB is generally looking at how much time has passed since the conviction without further violations of law.

General Information and Instructions

GENERAL INFORMATION

Listed below is general information to assist you as you complete the attached application. Detailed instructions are also provided that address the content of the application section by section. Please refer to the Applicants page on the Contractors State License Board's (CSLB) website (www.cslb.ca.gov) for more detailed information about the licensing process.

SECTION 1 – BUSINESS NAME AND ADDRESS

Business Name Styles (Box 1)

In accordance with BPC section 7059.1, the business name for a contractor license must not be misleading in relation to the classification(s) issued to the license and must be compatible with the type of business entity licensed (see Section 2 on next page). For example, it would not be acceptable for ABC123 Tile to apply for a C-10 Electrical contractor license, but it would be acceptable for ABC123 Construction to apply for a B-General Building contractor license or for ABC123 Tile to apply for a C-54 Ceramic and Mosaic Tile contractor license. In addition, it would not be acceptable for a sole ownership or proprietorship to use the words "partners" or "incorporated" in its business name.

Business Addresses, Phone and Email (Boxes 3a – 3c)

- You must provide an address of record (mailing address) for your business that will be made available to the public if you become licensed. This address will be published on CSLB's website and will also be used for all official correspondence, notices, and orders from CSLB, such as renewal notices. P.O. boxes and private mailboxes (PMB) are acceptable for the address of record.
- You must also provide a business street address that will be used only for CSLB's internal administrative purposes – it will not be published on CSLB's website. P.O. boxes and PMBs are not acceptable for the business street address.

APPLICATION FOR ORIGINAL CONTRACTOR LICENSE

Check the "Limited Liability Company" box if the company is a limited liability company. LLCs must be registered with the California SOS, must be in good standing, and have filed their statement of information prior to being issued a contractor license. LLCs must provide a current and active registration number where indicated in Section 2 of the application.

If your business entity is an LLC, before you submit your application, please be aware that the following additional requirements apply to LLC licenses (please refer to CSLB's website for more information):

- $100,000 Surety Bond. LLC licenses are required to file a $100,000 surety bond (in addition to the $25,000 contractor's bond) for the issuance, reissuance, reinstatement, reactivation, and renewal of an LLC license for the benefit of any employee or worker damaged by the LLC's failure to pay wages, interest on wages, or fringe benefits, as well as other contributions. (BPC sections 7071.6 and 7071.6.5)
- $1 Million Liability Insurance Minimum. LLC licenses are required to carry liability insurance with the aggregate limit of $1 million for licensees with five or fewer persons and/or companies listed as personnel of record, plus an additional $100,000 required for each additional personnel, not to exceed $5 million total. - Personnel of Record. Every person and/or company that is an officer, responsible manager, member, or director of an LLC must be listed as personnel of record on LLC applications. All individuals who are members of the personnel of record are subject to fingerprinting. LLC officers and members must be listed on the LLC's record with California SOS. LLCs may also have additional officers who may not be included on the official California SOS record, but who must be listed on this application and who will become part of the contractor license (BPC section 7065).

Tribal Business
Check the "Tribal Business" box if the business is a federally recognized tribe under BPC 7025.1

A tribal business can be verified by submitting any one of the following three documents along with the application.
- A resolution that ratifies the charter for this tribal business under federal law ("IRA Section 17 corporation").
- A resolution authorizing this tribal corporation under tribal laws ("tribally chartered corporation").
- Articles of incorporation or by-laws for this tribal corporation.

SECTION 3 – QUALIFYING INDIVIDUAL FULL LEGAL NAME AND ADDRESS
The terms "qualifying individual" and "qualifier" are used interchangeably. The qualifying individual is the person who meets the experience and examination requirements for the license and who is responsible for exercising supervision and control of their employer's or principal's construction operations to secure compliance with CSLB's laws, rules, and regulations. (BPC section 7068.1 (a)) "Supervision and control" means "direct supervision or control" or monitoring and being available to assist others to whom "direct supervision and control" has been delegated. "Direct supervision or control" means supervising construction, managing construction activities by making technical and administrative decisions, checking jobs for proper workmanship, and/or supervision on construction sites.

A qualifying individual is required for every classification on every license issued by CSLB. The qualifying individual may or may not be the owner of the business.

You must complete the personnel information requested in Sections 3 and 4 of the application for each individual and company that will be listed on the license.

- Line 5a – Full legal names are required. You must provide the full legal name of all personnel. If an individual does not have a middle name, write "None" or "No Middle Name" in the space provided. If an individual has only an initial for their first or middle name, write "(Initial Only)" after the initial.
- Provide qualifier's date of birth where requested.

General Information and Instructions (continued)

- All applicants are required to provide their U.S. Social Security number (SSN) or individual taxpayer identification number (ITIN) if an individual does not have an SSN.
- Box 5b – You must also provide a residence street address for the qualifier that will be used only for CSLB's internal administrative purposes – it will not be published on CSLB's website unless it is also the business address. P.O. boxes and PMBs are not acceptable for the qualifier's residence street address.
- Line 6 – Please enter any previous or current license numbers held by the qualifier in the provided box. Also enter the percentage of the new business owned/held by the qualifier (ranging between zero and 100%), the qualifier's driver's license number, and the qualifier's home phone number.
- Box 7 – Check the appropriate box that identifies the title/position of the qualifying individual. The title/position must be compatible with the business entity type, as entered in Section 2 above. Please be sure your selected title/position complies with the following:
  - Sole owner entity = either Owner or Responsible Managing Employee (RME) – see below
  - Partnership entity = either Qualifying Partner or RME
  - Corporation entity = either Responsible Managing Officer (RMO) or RME
  - LLC entity = any one of RMO, Responsible Managing Manager, Responsible Managing Member, or RME
  - Tribal Business entity = either RMO or RME
- An RME is a bona fide employee who is permanently employed by the applicant and is actively engaged in the operation of the applicant's contracting business for at least 32 hours or 80% of the total hours per week such business is in operation, whichever is less.
- Box 8 – You must print and sign your name and indicate the date below the certification statement at the bottom of Page 1 of the application. Failure to sign your application will result in the application being returned to you for correction.

SECTION 4 – PERSONNEL FULL LEGAL NAMES AND ADDRESSES (Other than Qualifying Individual)

You must complete the personnel information requested in Section 4 of the application for each individual and company that will be listed as personnel on the license, other than the qualifier listed in Section 3. Be sure to include the applicant's business name at the top of the page where requested.

- See Section 3 above for instructions on how to complete the specific fields of this section. If more than four (4) personnel must be reported, please make a copy of the blank form. All personnel must print and sign their names below the certification statement and include the date that the form was signed.
- Every person who is an officer, member, responsible manager, or director of a corporation, tribal business, or limited liability company seeking licensure under this chapter shall be listed on the application as a member of the personnel of record. (BPC 7065 (b) (1)
- LLCs can have managers or members that are corporations or other LLCs, as opposed to individual people. When an LLC has corporate or LLC managers or members, complete Section 4 for those companies, omitting the fields that do not apply (e.g., date of birth, SSN/ITIN, and driver license number). Since corporations and LLCs are incapable of signing documents (e.g., applications, renewals, etc.), you must also report at least one individual person who will be an authorized signer for that company. To do this, you must complete a portion of Section 4 using this individual person's personal information. Identify that person as the "Authorized Signer for _____" (inserting the name of the corporation or LLC on behalf of which the individual person will sign). This individual person will not be part of the official license personnel of record (unless they are also an actual responsible manager, member, or officer of the applicant LLC), but their information will be maintained by CSLB for signing purposes only.

SECTION 5 – REQUIRED APPLICATION QUESTIONS

Be sure to include the applicant's business name at the top of the page where requested. All questions must be answered, unless otherwise indicated, and all requested explanations and documentation must be provided, or the application will be returned for correction. Failure to thoroughly and accurately complete this section of the application can delay the licensure process or result in denial of the application.

Fingerprint Requirement

Please be sure to read the Important Notice Regarding Convictions on the front of this application packet. All applicants for licensure are required to submit a full set of fingerprints for the purpose of conducting a criminal background check. Fingerprints will be compared to the records of the California Department of Justice (DOJ) and the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) to determine whether a criminal history exists. Your license will not be issued until CSLB receives fingerprint results from both DOJ and FBI. Even though you may have been fingerprinted previously for an employer or another regulatory body, you will need to undergo the fingerprinting and criminal history check process again specifically for CSLB. California Penal Code section 11142 prohibits criminal history information from being released to any entity other than the requesting agency that you have authorized to receive it.

After an application has been accepted by CSLB as complete (also known as "posted"), each individual listed on the application who needs to fingerprint will be sent instructions on the process for obtaining and submitting fingerprints. Individuals in California are required to fingerprint by electronic live scan; individuals outside of California can fingerprint either by electronic live scan in California or by submitting hard card fingerprints that are completed in the applicant's location, as explained in the instructions that are sent after the application has been posted. Please note that submitting hard card fingerprints can significantly delay the licensure process due to the extra processing needed at DOJ and FBI. For more information, please visit CSLB's website and view information on the Applicants page.

Translator for Examination (Question 15)

Check the "Yes" box if you have difficulty understanding or reading the English language and you would like to use a translator to read the examination to you. Complete question #15 by listing in what language your translator will read the examination. The translator you choose must be approved in advance by CSLB. If you check the "Yes" box, information will be sent to you regarding the translator process. Some of CSLB's examinations have been translated into Spanish. If the applicant selects "Spanish" as their preferred language and there is an examination available in that language, they will be scheduled for that examination.

SECTION 6 – QUALIFIER EDUCATION, APPRENTICESHIP, LICENSURE, AND MILITARY SERVICE

Education and Apprenticeship (Question 16)

CSLB may grant up to three years of credit toward the four-year experience requirement for completed training in an accredited school and/or apprenticeship program in the construction trade for which the applicant is applying. (T16 CCR section 825). For formal education, request a certified official transcript from the applicant's educational institution. Include the sealed official transcript with the application when submitting. Degrees obtained outside of the United States must be translated, if in a language other than English, and evaluated by an accredited evaluation service in the U.S. before being submitted to CSLB.

For apprenticeship programs, the applicant must submit a copy of their apprenticeship certificate and indicate the dates of the program where requested on the application.

Reciprocity (Question 17)

Applicants who are seeking licensure in California and who are licensed in the same classification in another state may be eligible for the waiver of the trade examination if the qualifier meets the requirements for reciprocity (BPC section 7065.4). Please see CSLB's website (www.cslb.ca.gov) for more information. If you are licensed in a state and classification recognized by the Board, please have the licensing agency from your state complete a "License Verification Request" form and submit it with this application. The California Law and Business Examination will still be required if the applicant has not passed California Law and Business Examination within the last five (5) years. (See CSLB's website for more information on reciprocity on the Applicants page.)

Military Service (Questions 18 and 19)

Expedited Processing and 50% reduction of Initial License fee for Military Personnel
CSLB will expedite the licensure process and reduce the initial licensing fee by 50% for an applicant who is a current active-duty member of the Armed Forces or who was not dishonorably discharged after having served as an active-duty member of the United States Armed Forces or the National Guard or Reserves. Please provide the following documentation: Evidence of your current military duty (copy of your military orders) or your previous military service (copy of your latest DD 214 long form – Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty showing discharge status or a copy of a current and valid driver's license or identification card issued by this state or another state with the word "Veteran" printed on its face) or for National Guard discharge status (copy of your NGB 22 form), or for Reserves discharge status (copy of your DD256 form).

Expedited Licensure Application Processing for Service Members Enrolled in Skillbridge
CSLB will expedite the licensure process for service members who are enrolled in a Skillbridge program. Please provide documentation of enrollment in a Skillbridge program, such as an official letter from a commanding officer, in order to qualify for expedited processing.

Expedited Processing and Fee Waiver for Military Personnel Spouses or Domestic Partners
CSLB will expedite the licensure process and waive the application fee and initial license fee for an applicant who:

- Is married to, or in a domestic partnership or other legal union with, an active-duty member of the Armed Forces of the United States who is assigned to a duty station in California under official active-duty military orders.
  AND
- Holds a current license in another state, district, or territory of the United States in the profession or vocation for which the applicant seeks a license from the board.

If you answer "Yes" to question 19 and you would like to be considered for this expedited processing and waiver of licensure fees, please provide a copy of your current license from the other state, district, or territory of the United States documenting a contractor license, registration, permit, or certificate in the same classification for which you are seeking licensure AND documentation of your marriage or legal union AND your spouse's or partner's active military duty. For example, in addition to the licensure documentation, attach a copy of the marriage certificate or certified declaration/registration of domestic partnership filed with the Secretary of State AND military orders establishing a duty station in California. For other forms of "legal union" not recognized by California, you may submit other documentary evidence of legal union issued by the state that recognizes your legal union for consideration by CSLB in meeting this requirement.

If all of the above-mentioned requirements are met and all the required documentation is submitted with the application, the application fee and the initial license fee will be waived. All other fees will still be required.

Credit for Military Experience and Training
CSLB may grant credit toward licensure requirements for applicable work experience and training received while the applicant was an active-duty member of the Armed Forces of the United States performing duties in the classification for which they are applying. This work experience and training must be reported on a Certification of Work Experience form and must be supported by acceptable documentation. Include a copy of your Joint Service Transcripts (military transcripts) for evaluation. You may also provide evidence of current military duty (copy of applicant's military orders) or previous military service (copy of applicant's DD 214 – Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty). If you are claiming military experience, please be sure to check the "Yes" box for Question 18 on the application, as discussed above.

Immigration Status Expedites (Question 20)

CSLB will expedite the licensure process for an applicant who immigrated to the United States of America in certain circumstances. Please check the "yes" box to question 20 on this application if:

- You were admitted to the United States as a refugee pursuant to section 1157 of title 8 of the United States Code;
- You were granted asylum by the Secretary of Homeland Security or the United States Attorney General pursuant to section 1158 of title 8 of the United States Code; or,
- You have a special immigrant visa and were granted a status pursuant to section 1244 of Public Law 110-181, Public Law 109-163, or section 602(b) of title VI of division F of Public Law 111-8, relating to Iraqi and Afghan translators/interpreters or those who worked for or on behalf of the United States government.

If you selected YES, you must attach evidence of your status as a refugee, asylee, or special immigrant visa holder. Failure to do so may result in application review delays. Acceptable evidence includes:

- Form I-94, Arrival/Departure Record, with an admission class code such as "RE" (Refugee) or "AY" (Asylee) or other information designating the person a refugee or asylee.
- Special immigrant visa that includes "SI" or "SQ."
- Permanent Resident Card (Form I-551), commonly known as a "Green Card," with a category designation indicating that the person was admitted as a refugee or asylee.
- An order from a court of competent jurisdiction or other documentary evidence that provides reasonable assurance that the applicant qualifies for expedited licensure.

MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION

Experience and Examination Information

Applicants for licensure must meet specific experience and examination requirements, as explained below. Waivers of the trade examination may be granted under certain circumstances, as indicated on the next page. If you qualify for examination waiver or exemption, do not use this application – please instead use the Application for Original Contractor License – Waiver (7065) (form 13A-1A).

Experience Requirements

To be eligible for licensure, the qualifying individual must have had, within the last 10 years, at least four (4) years of experience in the classification for which they are applying. The experience must be at no less than a journeyman level, or as a foreman, supervising employee, contractor, or owner-builder. Owner-builder experience can only be used to qualify for a B-General Building classification, and certain requirements must be met. Please see the general information page of the Certification of Work Experience form for more information. A "journeyman" is defined as an experienced worker who is fully qualified (as opposed to a trainee) and is able to perform the trade without supervision, or one who has completed an apprenticeship program. Experience is documented on the Certification of Work Experience form. (T16 CCR section 825)

Examination Eligibility Requirements

The qualifying individual for a contractor license is required to pass the written Law and Business Examination and a specific trade examination if required (BPC section 7065) unless they meet the requirements for a waiver (see next page for information regarding examination waivers). These examinations are administered by an approved testing vendor and fees for the examinations are paid directly to the vendor by the applicant. Information about scheduling examinations will be mailed to you once the application is posted. Official CSLB examination study guides are available free of charge on CSLB's website under the Applicants tab. These study guides are available in English and Spanish.

Re-Examination

If you are required to take an examination, subject to some limitations, you have 18 months after the approval of your application to achieve a passing score on the examinations(s). During that time, you may take the examinations(s) as many times as needed within retesting guidelines. These re-examinations are administered by an approved testing vendor and the fee for the re-examinations are paid directly to the vendor by the applicant each time you reschedule an examination. Scheduling re-examinations will be done through the PSI Exams account. If a candidate fails one or both of their examinations, they must go to their PSI account to select the date, time, and location for their next examination. Candidates must wait 21 days after taking an examination before they may try it again. (See BPC section 7074 for more detailed information on re-examinations).

Please detach this General Information and Instructions portion before submitting the completed application package to CSLB.

Reasonable Accommodation – The Americans with Disabilities Act

In compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), CSLB provides reasonable accommodation for applicants with disabilities that may affect their ability to take the required examinations. Applicants wishing to request reasonable accommodation pursuant to the ADA must complete the Special Accommodation Request for Examination form (available on the Forms and Applications page on CSLB's website) and submit it to CSLB with the appropriate supporting documentation. In order to make the necessary arrangements to accommodate candidate needs, the form and supporting documentation should be submitted as soon as possible. As soon as the reasonable accommodation is approved, candidates may contact PSI Exams to schedule and pay for their examination(s).

Examination Waivers and Exemptions

The examination may be waived if the qualifying individual is currently or has been in the last five (5) years, actively engaged in the construction business and meets specific waiver requirements as mandated by law or has been actively licensed in good standing or has passed the required examinations in the classification for which they are applying. (See BPC sections 7065 – 7065.4 for a complete list.) If you are applying for licensure based on waiver of or exemption from the trade and Law and Business examinations, you should complete the Application for Original Contractor License – Examination Waiver (7065) instead of this application.

In addition, the trade examination may be waived if the qualifier meets the requirements for reciprocity. Please see CSLB's website (www.cslb.ca.gov) for more information. If you are licensed in a state and classification recognized by the Board, have the licensing agency from your state complete a "License Verification Request" form and submit it with this application. The Law and Business Examination will still be required if the applicant has not passed that examination within the last five (5) years. (See CSLB's website for more information on reciprocity on the Applicants page.)

Random Application and Experience Review

By law, CSLB must randomly review three percent (3%) of applications, including the experience claimed on Certifications of Work Experience forms that must be verifiable through payroll records or similar documents. In the event that your application is selected for review, please see CSLB's website for a Summary of Acceptable Documentation (located at CSLB's website on the Applicants page) that may be submitted to CSLB to support claimed experience. In addition, CSLB staff may contact the certifier of experience or other parties to verify experience. (BPC section 7068 and T16 CCR 824)

C-22 Asbestos Abatement Contractor License

The C-22 – Asbestos Abatement contractor performs abatement, including containment, encapsulation, or removal, and disposal of asbestos containing construction materials, as defined in Section 6501.8 of the Labor Code, in and on buildings and structures. All work performed and all documentation prepared by an asbestos abatement contractor shall be done in accordance with DOSH regulations and requirements.

The Board shall not issue an asbestos abatement contractor license unless the applicant or contractor is duly registered with DOSH pursuant to Section 6501.5 of the Labor Code or has an active application for registration in process with DOSH. All holders of the C-22 – Asbestos Abatement classification shall have completed DOSH registration training requirements, as contained in Section 1529 of Title 8 of the California Code of Regulations.

You may wish to contact DOSH prior to applying for the asbestos certification or the C-22 – Asbestos Abatement classification to be sure that you understand their requirements for registration since DOSH registration is required in order to perform asbestos-related work. DOSH's Asbestos Contractors' Registration Unit (ACRU) can be reached at (916) 574-2993 or ACRU@dir.ca.gov, or you can visit their website at http://www.dir.ca.gov/dosh/ACRU/ACRUhome.htm.

C-47 General Manufactured Housing Contractor License

Along with your application, please submit a "Certificate of Completion of Training" from a qualified trainer approved by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The license applicant is responsible for ensuring the training program is approved by HUD. Existing C-47 license holders are exempt from the requirement.

Bond, Insurance, and Other Licensure Requirements

All contractors must meet specified bond, insurance, and other requirements for licensure with CSLB, as indicated below. Failure to maintain a required bond or insurance may result in the suspension of the license. For information on bonds, see A Guide to Contractor License Bonds, available on CSLB website under the Resources tab and then choose CSLB Publications. Bonds may be submitted to CSLB electronically by the issuing surety company.

Contractor's Bond

Bond of Qualifying Individual

An additional $25,000 qualifying individual's bond must be filed for all contractors that are qualified by an RME, or under certain other circumstances for corporate and LLC contractors when the qualifying individual (RMO, responsible managing manager, or responsible managing member) holds less than 10 percent of the voting stock of the corporation or membership interest in the LLC. (BPC section 7071.9). Tribal businesses are exempt from this specific requirement.

LLC Employee/Worker Bond

Contractors that have no employees and are not otherwise required to have workers' compensation insurance must complete the Exemption from Workers' Compensation form, available on CSLB website's Forms and Applications page. (BPC section 7125)

LLC Liability Insurance

All LLC licenses are required to have liability insurance in an amount that is not less than one million dollars ($1,000,000) or more than five million dollars ($5,000,000). The amount is determined based on the number of personnel of record on the license. For five (5) or fewer personnel, the amount is $1 million. For each additional member of personnel, the amount increases by $100,000, up to a maximum of $5 million. For example, an LLC that has eight (8) personnel would be required to carry a $1,300,000 liability insurance policy. (BPC section 7071.19)

Asbestos Open Book Examination

All qualifiers must complete the Asbestos Open Book Examination as part of the licensure process. Information about this examination and the link to take it can be found on CSLB's website at www.cslb.ca.gov. (BPC section 7058.5) Completion of this required open book examination does not authorize the licensee to engage in asbestos-related work.

Reissuance or Reassignment of License Number

If the qualifier has previously been licensed, it may be possible to have the previous license number reissued or reassigned under certain circumstances. Sole owner numbers may be reissued to corporations or LLCs, and corporate license numbers may be reissued to LLCs. To request the reissuance of a license number, the applicant must complete and submit with their application the Request for License Number Reissuance form (13A-1h), available on the Forms and Applications page on CSLB's website. - The Certification of Work Experience form, when filed with an application, becomes the property of CSLB and is kept as a matter of record. Keep a copy of the completed and signed form for your records – you may be asked to provide further documentation or testimony to verify your experience. A random three percent (3%) of applications are subject to review, and experience must be verifiable through payroll records and similar documents. CSLB staff may contact the certifier or other parties to verify experience.
- If you have ever served as a qualifier on a license in the classification for which you are now applying, you may not need to complete this form. However, if you are applying for a waiver of the examination pursuant to Business and Professions Code (BPC) sections 7065.1(b) or 7065.1(c), you do need to complete this form. (Please refer to CSLB's website for more information on examination waivers.) NOTE: If you had a previous application that was denied on the basis of a lack of qualifying work experience, you must complete this form, regardless of whether or not you passed the examination.
- Anyone who knowingly procures or offers false or forged documents to be filed, registered, or recorded in any public office in California is guilty of a felony. (Penal Code section 115)

PART 1 – QUALIFYING INDIVIDUAL (APPLICANT) INFORMATION

Also defined below are "owner-builder" and "self-employed individual."

This form will help CSLB determine whether the qualifier has the experience necessary to become a qualified contractor.
- The certifier must have direct knowledge of the qualifier's experience during the time period listed. "Direct knowledge" means personal knowledge of the experience that does not depend on outside information or hearsay. The certifier must be able to certify that the qualifier demonstrated a level of knowledge and skills expected of a journeyman or higher in the classification for which they are applying.

EXPERIENCE

Mr. Brockway is an expert consultant with over 34 years of experience in construction planning, scheduling, estimating, and project management. He has amassed vast experience in every aspect of a multitude of project delivery systems. From carpenter to contract manager and director of preconstruction, Robert Brockway has personally constructed, planned, scheduled, estimated, coordinated, supervised, and managed over $1.7 billion of in-place construction.

Robert Brockway's professional career in commercial and industrial construction commenced in 1982 with Mr. Brockway filling the role of utility man in the fabrication and installation of industrial iron work, and then progressed through training to carpentry which ultimately led to employment as a journeyman carpenter. By 1987 Mr. Brockway achieved the position of Project Estimator with Delran Builders Company, Inc. in Wyndmoor, Pennsylvania. He advanced to Chief Estimator in 1992, and through 2016 held a senior management position with multiple construction firms nationally. During his time with these firms, he scheduled, managed, and created estimates for various public, private, and negotiated projects, including new and renovated residential, commercial, hospitality, industrial, educational, and institutional facilities.

Mr. Brockway has developed a mastery of the construction, materials, processes, and protocols necessary to plan, bid, and build, various types of structures for a multitude of end-users including high rise, multi-unit residential, mixed-use, retail, malls, site development, infrastructure, rail, airports, laboratory, hospitals, parking structures, sports complexes, mass transit, Federal Aviation, Department of Energy, Department of Defense, Army Corps of Engineers, and historic restorations.

While at Delran Builders Mr. Brockway scheduled and estimated various urban renewal projects in the Mid-Atlantic region which included interface with local, state, and federal contracting entities as well has local historical societies. Projects ranged in price exceeding $12MM.

Robert Brockway continued his career trajectory by accepting positions as Vice President of Estimating and Chief Estimator for J.J. Deluca and Daniel J. Keating Company of Narberth, Pennsylvania. This period included work on educational, institutional, commercial, condominiums, high-rise, mass transit, airports, hospitals, stadiums, and urban construction ranging in value to $45MM.

In 1999 Mr. Brockway expanded his knowledge base by providing specialized consulting services which included providing pre-construction and project management services on a per project basis for several contractors lacking the experience to enter commercial construction projects. Additional endeavors included providing on-site training to construction personnel in the areas of estimating, project management, construction-scheduling, and field supervision.

During this same time period, Mr. Brockway custom tailored, prepared, implemented, administered, and presented comprehensive marketing and business plans to bonding companies and potential investors. Further consultations included providing services to a major bonding company reviewing potential client's business structure and analyzing the potential risks. This led to the opportunity to be engaged to compile and estimate damages caused by a hurricane to an entire school district for use in insurance settlements.

From 2004 through 2011 Mr. Brockway was able to leverage his considerable body of experience into participation in the construction of dozens of significant projects in the Mid-Atlantic region with the area's top firms. While working for Jeffery M. Brown Associates of Huntingdon Valley, Pennsylvania he maintained and nurtured the Class "A" commercial portfolio of a Fortune 500 development company and prepared estimates for, and managed, several Class "A" retail, commercial, and condominium projects. As a construction management department head for IMC Construction, Inc., in Malvern, Pennsylvania, Mr. Brockway was responsible for the total management of all project activities from project inception to closeout including: Pre-Construction, Bid Compilation, Estimating, Scheduling and Planning, and Project Management. He was personally responsible for management and assignment of project managers, estimators, and field personnel, establishment and implementation of project management and estimating procedures, fiscal responsibility for all assigned projects and departmental expenditures, administration of subcontracts (including preparing of same), budget management of projects, schedule preparation and execution, and negotiation of contracts with owners and subcontractors. While at IMC Construction Mr. Brockway was able to successfully lead new market penetration efforts in a stagnant economy, and craft a multi-pronged approach to minimizing risk and increasing profits on zero margin projects. He also established and implemented company-wide project management software protocols and procedures. During his tenure in Pennsylvania, Mr. Brockway worked on projects across the nation that ranged in value to $454 MM.

Mr. Brockway was not only an estimator and manager; beginning in 1988, he took on the role of educator, instructor, and guest lecturer at various colleges and technical schools, including the American Builders and Contractors Association, The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Metropolitan Regional Council, Villanova University, Community College of Philadelphia, and Penn State University. Mr. Brockway's parallel 21 year career teaching in trade schools and colleges included teaching accredited carpenter apprenticeship training for the first year module, journeyman upgrade courses that included scheduling, and core required college level courses including estimating, construction management, and job site management.

In 2011, Mr. Brockway relocated to California and McCormick Construction Company, Inc., in Burbank, and continued to estimate and provide construction management expertise for several commercial projects in excess of $100MM. Work included providing expert level conceptual estimating reports for various end users for use in commercial development proforma and design build proposals including Municipal lease-back developments. He has also worked with a world renowned engineer to prove concept of emerging technologies in high rise residential construction. He continued through 2013 with Tri-Technic, Inc. of Sonora, California estimating and competitively bidding various life critical public utility and industrial projects in excess of $50MM. Projects included power plants, transmission lines, substations and switch yards, solar and wind power generation, HVDC converter stations and, water treatment facilities.

Mr. Brockway became a consultant with Bert L. Howe & Associates, Inc., in Anaheim Hills, California in 2013. He has demonstrated exceptional communication, organizational, and technical writing skills, and can effectively interact with design professionals, owners, attorneys, municipal officials, and tradesmen with full comprehension on any construction-related issue.

Due to his diverse and comprehensive operational background in multiple construction disciplines, Mr. Brockway has been designated for expert testimony over twenty times, and has been deposed multiple times in five States. He has participated in arbitration, mediation, trial preparations, and made presentations for cases that were won or settled successfully.

Robert Brockway,
having been first duly sworn by the
Certified Shorthand Reporter, was called as a witness, examined, and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Mr. Tolman, you've had your deposition taken before, haven't you?

A Mr. Brockway.

Q My mistake. Okay. Mr. Brockway, you and Mr. Tolman, you guys work together?

A Yes.

Q Okay. For this assignment, originally Mr. Tolman was designated. When did you learn that you were going to be a witness in this case?

A Around the exact same time, and it had to do with John's schedule at the time. So, I took it over almost from inception.

Q When did that begin?

A I'm going to estimate that it was in 2014.

Q So, you've been on this project for a couple of years?

A Since its inception, yes.

Q You've given depositions before, haven't you?
A Yes.
Q Many times?
A Enough times.
Q Any reason for me to go over the rules?
A No, I understand them.
Q Any reason why your deposition can't go forward today?
A No.
Q Who were you hired by in this case?
A William Bissell, attorneys.
Q Had you done any work for him before?
A I have not personally, no.
Q Had your firm done work for his firm before?
A I don't know. I don't have knowledge of that.
Q What did he tell you about what your assignment was going to be in this case?
A I was -- we were hired or I was instructed to examine and analyze the performance on the work onsite, how it was performed, means and methods, et cetera about the management and management practices that were appropriate for a job like that, to give an approximation or estimate of the cost of what something like that would have cost, and to opine on what was spent versus what was needed.

Q Okay. So, was any part of your assignment determining whether or not the construction was done appropriately?

A Well, if you consider means and methods, I do. I guess the answer would be yes.

Q How about whether or not the work was substandard or defective?

A Not defective as an architectural opinion, no. It's more or less means and methods, which is how you go about doing something, the standards that you follow, the management, and then the cost. So, as far as code, architectural defects, things like that, no, I will not be opining on that.

Q So, were the items you were looking at is how long it took and the cost?

A And how the means and methods, again how they went about performing the work and management techniques applied to carry out the work.

Q Where did you get your understanding as to what means and methods were actually used and what to help form your opinion?

A In the documents that I turned over to you, there's a series of e-mails that describe things. There is a lot of photographs and some letters that went along the way. In that there was no daily job logs. It's common in a job. I didn't have any day-to-day records. What I had to do was take -- I went over payroll records provided by Spartan, and I went over the W-2s to analyze the number of men, how long they were there, and what tasks they were doing. I would match up the timing of the payroll records with the photographs that Spartan provided, and there was a lot of photographs. So, I got an idea of how long things went. There was some descriptions in e-mails that gave me clues to what means and methods were or were not applied to the job.

Q And by means and methods, what do you mean?

A An example would be, there's several primary areas that jump out to me. No. 1, at the beginning of the project, standard means and methodology for carrying out what I consider a residential renovation of this type at this location. Standard procedures are, you get building permits and you get working drawings. What I was able to determine through -- I'm sorry. I also examined Mr. Bereki's deposition testimony for additional information as far as means and methods go.

An example to me would be, at the beginning of demolition to the property without building permits, the need to demolish, beginning demolition without a set of working drawings, that's abnormal. That's not in the standards of how you do those kinds of things. The other example of means and methods, I saw a multitude from photographs of occurrences of unsafe practices. According to OSHA, things such as lack of shoring when demolishing structural elements, lack of PPE, which is personal protective equipment, inappropriate like that. Those are two examples of that. I was able to discern that largely from the photographs and descriptions in the deposition testimony and e-mail communications.

Q Why did you believe that looking at safety issues and OSHA-type stuff was important to what you were doing?

A Well, it is common in the industry, any builder, anybody who has gotten a license in California or spends any time performing construction work, OSHA goes over it all. You look at a job site and get an idea of how they go about doing work.

I'm going to give you a specific example that concerned me. There's a photograph of somebody sawing a structural element, which is a post, a vertical post, at the very bottom of it, trying to saw it. That's inherently dangerous without protective shoring, meaning if they saw that and it falls down, that person is going to be injured. That gives me an example as far as training goes of somebody on the job site.

I also looked at the progression of the work. In the beginning of the job, for the first several months because there was a stop-work order for lack of permit, there was a whole bunch of demolition that continued to go on. There's a lot of payroll records of a whole bunch of folks there. In my opinion, in examining the project itself, voluminous photographs, and video, that there's way too many men do to too limited amount of work. These gave me clues as to how they were proceeding. Meaning, when you approach a job, when you start a job, means and methods, you get a permit, you get a set of drawings, and you start to work.

The original -- according to the original agreement, which was an e-mail, which is what I'm basing it on, dated April 5th of 2012, the original work was what I'm going to call a cosmetic renovation, which is go in there, update some outlets, do some painting, do some finish-type work with the second part of that being for a future rooftop patio. That's a relatively contained, finite scope of work, pretty easy to get a set of drawings for that.

Standard procedure to get drawings on a renovation project, you go out to the existing building. First of all, you can go to City Hall and try to pull up permit drawings from the past if it is an existing building of what is already built.

Q Do you know whether or not there were any existing plans for this property?

A I do not, and what I was about to say is, there is not. I do that as a builder and somebody who does this all of the time because it help you with field measurements. It gives you a basis to go check the building. If that does not exist, and that's not uncommon, they can't find it or if the building is really old, you go to the building and field measure it. You field measure the building. It's common practice, and you come up with an architectural drawing, something that you can get a permit off of. You can have a licensed professional prepare the drawing, seal the drawing, and get a permit and then you begin. You don't need to perform demolition to prepare the drawings. It's not standard.

Q Does the City issue demolition permits?

A They issue demolition permits for building teardowns.

Q On remodeling, isn't it true that the City of Newport Beach does not issue demolition building permits?

A The selective demolition required for this project falls under the building permit. That is also not uncommon.

Q So, in this case, as I understand it, there were a lot of unknowns about what was going on. How is a contractor supposed to find out what the current state of things are without doing some demolition to figure it out?

A First of all, I don't know what you mean by "unknowns."

Q Structural integrity.

A Well, that could be the case with anything that has ever been built, whether it has an unknown. It's standard practice. You don't demolish a building to find out if it is structurally stable. That is not the right thing to do. It is unsafe. It is not standard practice. You prepare a drawing of what is known, that's existing conditions. You don't do a whole exploratory. I have done innumerable projects, similar renovation-type projects with such unknowns. If you can't visually see it with the eye, you don't see it. You get the permits so you can proceed.

Once you begin to proceed with the set of drawings with no information, No. 1, I'm going to go back to the original scope was not a destructive demolition in phase one. It was a cosmetic job. It was not structural. If during the course of your renovations, you discover something based on your experience or knowledge of residential construction, if something comes to you that you feel is unsafe or just doesn't look right, the common thing, the standard thing to do is, because you get an architect or engineer to examine it, and they will say, "This is good. That's not good." They may come up with a sketch, maybe they won't. They'll address the problem. If there's significant changes that have to be made based on an inspection, you stop the work. The architect prepares a document or writes a letter or describes what you need to do. You inform the City, and you continue working. So, that's kind of a standard process of how that works.

Q So, he should have gotten the general building permit on the project, and then during the progress, done exploratory work and see if things needed to be changed?

A I do know there was originally a plan for a patio on the roof. Ultimately, that work did not happen. During the course -- well, first of all, anybody with a little bit of framing experience, this is basic framing. There is basically three types of framing in California in general. There's post and beam, there's balloon framing, and western platform framing.

Houses built in that era are generally built with one of those standards, one of those type of wood framing. It's relatively simple. You would have an inherent knowledge of what is likely in those walls just by examining it. You can look at the building and probably poke one hole in a piece of drywall if you had a question.

If you had a post and beam, you can see where it is or you can measure off and be able to determine where that is, and if it was balloon framing, which means you frame one stud that passes all floors. Western platform framing, you have a stud wall with a platform floor and another stud wall and a roof. It's going to fall into one of those three categories. You would know that by knowing the era it was done, by looking at the building, you can tell that.

Q What was the state of the construction when you first went there?

A If it would have been -- I did not go there. I sent somebody with videos and photographs which I turned over to you.

Q When you said you reviewed photographs, were those Mr. Bereki's photographs that he turned over in discovery or ones that your own client had?

A I reviewed both. I got Spartan's photographs at a much, much later date. So, the initial -- when Bert L. Howe initiated the project, there was an inspection scheduled. John Tolman was there on that day. I was unavailable. So, he took extensive videos of walking the site, and he took extensive photographs, a lot, and I produced those to you. I had the additional photographs that Spartan provided at a later date.

Q Is that at the end of 2013, beginning of 2014?
A It was what then?
Q When the first photographs were taken.
A I would guess the photographs were dated. Like I said, my recollection is '14.
MR. BISSELL: Are you talking about the Tolman photographs?
MR. RUSSO: Yeah.
THE WITNESS: I would be guessing because I don't remember. It could have been in '14. Could have been in '13. I don't know. I could guess, but the documents will -- the photographs are dated.
BY MR. RUSSO:
Q And you said you reviewed correspondence. Was that between Mr. Humphreys and Mr. Bereki?
A I reviewed limited. There's a couple kinds of correspondence. There's letters from an architect and from the City or whatever. The correspondence I am referring to now is e-mail communication, very few that I had. One was the original agreement, the April 5th, 2012 date. Another was an exchange with Mr. Bereki explaining his point of view on what happened when I guess this matter started to come to a head, and maybe a couple of more. I certainly didn't see anything in the file that was provided to me that there was voluminous e-mails. I was not provided with those.

Q So, one of your thoughts was, there was a lack of communication?

A I didn't say that.

MR. BISSELL: Objection; mischaracterizes his testimony.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Well, do you know how they communicated?

A Well, I wasn't there. I can tell you what Mr. Bereki testified to because I read his deposition. I can tell you how he explained it.

Q Did you feel that Mr. Humphreys' involvement was too limited in this situation?

A That's a difficult question to answer, what too limited means. He could be not involved at all, and the project would still be okay.

Q I believe in his deposition, he testified he only went to the project three or four times.

A That's not unusual.

Q So, you went or you or Mr. Tolman went to get a current state of events when you took on the project; correct?

A I'm sorry?

Q You went or Mr. Tolman went to determine what the current state of the situation was at the beginning?

A Mr. Tolman went to the site and took extensive video and photographs of the site, yes.

Q Was your understanding of what the agreement was as to the scope of work limited to those e-mails or did you do anything else to determine what the scope was?

A First of all, the original agreement I'm going to use that in quotes, "the April 5th e-mail communication," defines what I will call considered very loosely, what the scope of work is, certainly what the intent of Spartan was when they started the project.

Through the scant e-mails that I was able to review, it become apparent that issues came up through somebody's opinion that there's structural work that needed to be done. It also came up that there was a stop-work order because of no permit. It's not unusual and is not surprising. There was a set of architectural drawings that were prepared. Wong is the name of the architect. It is the original drawings, and that showed what the scope of work was, the original scope of work was. When I say original, I'm going to refer to the April 5th e-mail, which is renovation and possible roof patio.

Q Was that when it was just a single unit though?

A Correct, and then drawings were prepared after, and then the project was expanded to include another unit and drawings were prepared, and it has footings on it. It has some supplemental wood framing, et cetera, on it.

So, the scope changed from what the original intent was.

Q And did you believe there was adequate documentation regarding the change in the scope?

A I believe that the architectural documents speak for themselves. When you say "adequate," as any builder or licensed contractor or anybody who does this professionally, we rely on the licensed professionals to tell us what needs to be done. I have a lot of experience, but I always rely on that for liability reasons, No. 1. The licensed architect or engineer is going to tell me what is needed. I'm going to follow that exactly, and I will be safe. That's a standard practice we do.

If you proceed with work that's not shown on the architect's drawings, and let's say there's a structural failure, you're now at fault. That's negligence. You don't do that. I've never done that. It's not standard practice to do that.

Q As a big picture, you haven't found any fault in Mr. Bereki's work or Spartan's work; correct?

A What do you mean by "fault"?

Q Anything wrong with it. It sounds to me you're addressing the costs, the timing, but not whether or not the work was appropriate; is that correct?

A "Appropriate" is a loose term, and when you say I'm just addressing the costs and things like that, what I'm -- by looking at the photographs, an e-mail, and the payroll records and the material purchased, invoices provided by Spartan, you can develop a timeline of what was bought, when, and how long it took to do that.

In my opinion, for example, at the beginning of the project, which started on or about the second week of April, the first week April, on the 9th, I believe -- I'm basing on that the photograph -- until the time they actually got the permit was a very long time, and all of the photographs don't show the work proceeding very quickly. Removing drywall to expose a building, it's quick. It's a relatively small building. Overall, it's about 3200 square feet approximately. That work should take no more than two weeks, especially with the number of men they had on the project.

So, what I'm talking about with Bereki's work or Spartan's work, it took way longer. I can't justify in my mind how it took months and months to peel drywall off and do various pieces of cabinetry. That's what I'm talking about that it took too long.

Q Did you believe that it was appropriate or inappropriate for Spartan to do the exploratory work downstairs?

A It was inappropriate without a permit.

Q Okay. So, you're not saying it didn't need to be done. It's that it should have been permitted first?

A I don't know why they did exploratory renovation. It was cosmetic. I see no documents that tell me why that was done, other than they needed to demolish the building to prepare the drawings, which I already opined on.

Q Do you know what remodel work happened on the first floor shortly before the Humphreys' project started?

A There's not enough detailed information for me to say what happened. I just have brief descriptions of things. I don't know. You talking about the downstairs, Laugharns?

Q It doesn't sound like it's spelled.

MR. BISSELL: Laugharn.

THE WITNESS: If you're talking about that property, there's not enough information in the project file that I saw to make me with certainty know what that was, other than some brief description I got from either Mr. Bereki's testimony or his e-mail communications.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Did you speak with the Laugharns at all?

A No.

Q So, have you reviewed anything for this project of yours in this case outside of the documents exchanged from the parties? Have you gone to any outside sources?

A Yes. What I do in the standard practice, I go and use electronically public information. For example, the California State Licensing Board. I go there. They have public records. So, I can see what the licenses are, when they were obtained, things like that. I went to the Newport Beach City Hall records electronically and pulled out permitting information and everything I could that they had. I also examined their standards of practice. I'm sorry. Each municipality has a little bit differing permitting procedures, which is not unusual. So, I reviewed all of their standards and procedures for doing work in Newport Beach on Lido Island. Also the California State Board, all of the rules and regulations, I do that once in awhile to refresh specifics on a specific project. I also contacted places such as Home Depot for lumber prices to get an idea what the market rate for certain materials are. As far as outside documents, in my recollection right now, that's probably it.

Q Was there anything you felt was overcharged on this project? And I also understand you say it took too long. Was there, whether it be a subcontractor cost or a material cost, anything like that which you felt was far too much?

A Yes, and what I did was, the documents that Spartan provided, I took and made a matrix of all of the receipts. There was a lot. It was very painstaking of everything, made a description of what it was, and I put it in categories, power tools, hand tools, subcontractor, lumber, office supplies, et cetera.

Before I did that, I did an estimate of the Wong drawings. So, I did a take-off. I did a quantity survey, we call it, to count of the materials that's required, and then I developed pricing for that as far as materials. I developed labor pricing for that. I came up with a baseline for me of around what the project like this should cost.

When I finished my analysis, at a later date, because I didn't have the Spartan documents originally, I put all of these together and categorized everything, and I had trouble making the ends meet. By that, there's only so much material that can go into the building. For example, wood. The building is only so big. I got a price which is reasonable. Home Depot was a good enough barometer or any lumber yard. I took the price of materials spent and it was vastly different. So --

Q Because he came in so low?

A No.

Q Okay.

A It was vastly different.

MR. BISSELL: It was a good attempt.

THE WITNESS: Probably 300 percent, 400 percent higher that I couldn't justify where it went or why that was necessary. There's only so much that went into the building. By looking at the photographs, after a point, after Spartan had been terminated from the project, I looked at what was in place, and I can compare that to the drawings to my take-off, my quantity survey and receipts, and I don't want to say it makes no sense to me, but it literally was a 400 percent difference that I don't know where it went.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Well, the receipts are what they are. You're saying too much material was ordered or too high of a price was paid? What is your opinion on that?

A My opinion is when you look at the project and estimate the standard, there's what I refer to as bricks and sticks, lumber, drywall, flooring, cabinets, appliances, electrical outlets. Those are finite items that you can count and put a value on, a market rate value on. I obtain those through getting material prices, using experience and reference guides to put labor to, and you come up with a price, and the price of what was ultimately spent to the date when Spartan was terminated was 400 percent higher than that.

So, when you say were the prices too high, there was what I considered inappropriate charges, unusual, improper charges for a project of this nature on the project.

Q Inappropriate because too much was charged for it?

A Unnecessary. I saw thing like truck leases and shop rentals and power tool purchases and hand tool purchases and furniture and furnishing such as pillows and blankets and things like that.

Q So, there were charges that you felt were not necessary or appropriate; correct?

A Improper.

Q Well, we're talking about materials, and you said the materials came in 400 percent more. Are you throwing in these other costs into materials?

A Let me clarify. When I say the 400 percent, I'm talking about the overall cost, which includes the basic four categories of construction, labor, materials, subcontractor, and equipment. Overhead which are soft costs. Four basic categories. What I'm telling you is what I believe those four categories should have cost and what I examined for the information available to me was approximately 400 percent high.

Q Altogether; correct?
A Yes, all of those.
Q Labor, material, equipment, and what?
A Subcontract.
Q Did you determine that any of the subcontracting was at an unreasonable cost?
A Without having specific details of scope, meaning no written contract with details, it's common to provide a contract, for example, to an air-conditioning HVAC contractor, who will say, "I will put in one unit and all the duct work and thermostats for X," and he gives you a price. I didn't see that. I did it without knowing all of the details. For me to tell you whether that was inappropriate, I don't have enough information to determine that.

I do believe that the amount labor that was used on the project is -- I'm going to use the term wildly inappropriate for the number of man-hours spent on a project of this type, including the revisions that took place, the structural things, extra pieces of wood, things like that that had to take place.
Q As far as equipment, were there equipment charges you felt were unreasonable?
A Yes. Well, I thought they were inappropriate or improper, I should say, for a project of this nature. If this was, I don't believe it was a true time and material cost, in the definition, the licensing board definition, it was kind of not legal how they did this. I'm not an attorney, but my experience tells me it's not legal to proceed like this.

On a labor and material or time and material-type project, when you hire somebody to do this work, it's inherent that they have a car, that they own the power tools. It's much like when I go to Pep Boys. I'm not buying the mechanic's tools. I'm paying for that service. He has all the equipment he needs to do that project.

So, for what appears to me, the quantity of hand tools, power tools, things like that purchased for the project is improper. It's not normal. It's not a standard of practice, standard of care. It is often -- in my experience how this is addressed, if this was a proper time and material cost plus-type contract, which it is not, what is common is, is that because a project when you have unknowns, it's not uncommon for that. You have a baseline to start with.

For example, in the e-mail agreement, Mr. Bereki provided some timeframes and provided dollar values. I have no idea how they were derived at. It's common to estimate what is known and then apply the cost to perform the work, and you start with the baseline. You say, "I believe it's going to be between X and Y, the value of the project." You proceed. What is common is that you keep records. It's very important that you keep records for time and materials.

For example, when you were paying somebody for X-number of hours to do something, it's common at the end of the day, people in construction, you keep daily logs. You have to because OSHA requires that you do it to protect yourself. At the end of the day, you summarize that you worked here for three hours, the agreed upon rate is X, and we used so much material. Here are the receipts for the material. You have a labor and material, whatever agreed upon management fee or other fee. That's the appropriate way to do that.

If you need a specialized piece of equipment, not everybody has a concrete saw. Not everybody has a dump truck. If you feel like you need a specialized tool or equipment for the project, you would rent it for the time period, and you would turn the receipt over to the owner or whoever you're contracted to. It's a common procedure. You wouldn't buy everything that you need for an indefinite period of time.

I saw many instances where there was equipment, in my opinion, on a job site that was not necessary to stay there for months on end. Yes, you need a concrete saw. You rent a concrete saw for a finite amount of time, pass along the rental charges. You need to dump things, you make arrangements with the dumpster to rent or pay for that service. You do it for a finite period of time. If you need something delivered, you don't buy a truck. If you feel you need to have your own truck, you go to U-Haul and rent one for $50 a day or $30 a day and turn it back. That's common. You don't load up everything you may or may not need for the entire duration of the project and charge the owner for something you used for a couple of finite pieces of work.

Q Would you agree that if you can buy a piece of equipment for less than the expected rental rate of that equipment for when that equipment would be on the job, that it's okay to buy the equipment?

A That's depends significantly.

Q On what?

A An example, I saw an example of when -- one that comes to mind is a paint sprayer, over a thousand dollars, somewhere north of a thousand dollars for that. I know that you can rent a paint sprayer for less than $80 a day. I looked at this project, there is certainly no more possible work to be done than a week, the painting would be done in a week. Painting is very quick. It's just labor. Especially if you're spraying, the whole building can be sprayed in two days, detail work done in three or four days.

There's an example I saw where my opinion is to buy even more than one sprayer was inappropriate. If there is a case or the builder wants to make a case that it's cheaper to buy it, you need some sort of analysis. There's nothing on this project that took so long that you needed to buy a piece of equipment. This is residential construction. It's relatively not complex. It's a residential building. There's wood, concrete, drywall, and finishes. It's pretty simple. I saw no need for purchasing specialized equipment.

Q I understand that dumpsters were not allowed due to the confinement on Lido. When you have to haul away stuff on a daily basis, what is the appropriate way to do it and who pays for it?

A Well, there's more than one way to do that. In the photographs, I saw dumpsters. You can -- if they're not allowed, if you can't get a special permit for it, sometimes you can and you have to pay a fee for that, you get a dumpster and haul it off. If that's not appropriate, a way you could do it, let's say you need a dump truck or larger truck to carry debris. How I've done it in the past, how it's common to do it, you do the demolition. You get the rubbish, you get it together.

You rent a truck or you hire a truck, hire a guy that hauls junk or debris to load it and get it out and do that repeatedly if you need to, but that's not unusual to do that. You don't need to buy a truck. Me, I would hire somebody who hauls junk. If I needed a dump truck or a larger truck, I would rent a U-Haul for a day or two or three days.

Q Did you feel it was appropriate or inappropriate for Mr. Bereki to charge for the use of his truck if, in fact, it would have cost more to lease one than what he was charging?

A That's a confusing question. You're trying to say if he bought in lieu of leasing and it's cheaper?

Q He charged Mr. Humphreys part his payment on his truck because it was being used at the project as opposed to him going to rent a truck and charging the whole thing.

A It's wholly improper to put any cost of that truck, to pass it onto Mr. Humphreys.

Q It would have been appropriate for him to rent a truck instead; is that correct?

A No, that's not what I said. It's improper and wholly improper to charge a personal vehicle to Mr. Humphreys. If Spartan had used that truck 24 hours a day for the length of the project at whatever the cost came out to, you don't pass that along on a labor, material, and cost plus job.

Q Is there some definitive place that you could look to determine what the scope of costs are for purposes of a cost plus a fee contract?

A I'm not sure what you're asking.

Q Sure. Is there a definitive place to look to determine what is an appropriate cost of a job for purposes of an agreement such as this?

A You said cost of a job?

Q Yes.

A That's where expertise and experience comes in and building standards. You're talking about an estimate?

Q No, what costs can be passed along to the customer if not otherwise delineated in a written agreement that we all wish we had here?

A The standards in the industry, and I will say, California State Licensing Board and their building codes are very closely in line to AIA documents. What you will find in the AIA documents, it's common. They list, they give you categories of what cost plus items are. It's a pretty specific listing what that is and also a range of markups, what an appropriate markup is. That's one document where I would start with.

Q In this case, Mr. Bereki didn't mark anything up whereas in contracts such as the successor, who did work on this, marked up a percentage on the cost. Why is it acceptable to mark up a percentage on a cost versus making sure every possible cost is included?

A That's a compound, difficult question. I have no idea that Mr. Bereki or Spartan did not mark up their cost. I don't know that. There's not enough evidence to say they did or did not. All I know is what was stated in the April 5th e-mail as far as fees or to cover their costs of labor, management or expertise that you're paying for. There is an enormous difference in what I found in project records dollarwise to what was appropriate to pay for that work.

An example would be the project, taking X-number of days, you multiply that by $500 a day, as I recall in this e-mail for the number of days he's on the project compared with what the record indicates is 200,000 plus dollars that Mr. Bereki received for that work or Spartan received for that work. So, I don't know that he didn't mark it up.

I looked at the payroll records in the agreement. When you look at the payroll records that we have for number of hours worked, you do a simple function of division. You will see that some folks are making $30 an hour when maybe they were going to make a range of 15 to 25. So, I can't say that's not a markup. There's an irregularity that I can't justify.

Q You had prepared a report. Is the one I have right here the right one?

A Yes, it has a print date of 9-12-16.

Q Is this as far as your damage analysis for taking too long or for charges that you thought were excessive or inappropriate, does this accurately summarize your conclusions on this?

A To date, it summarizes my conclusions, yes.

Q Was there something you haven't done that you wish you had done that would change that report?

A No.

Q Okay. You said "to date."

A When I say "to date," because there's always a possibility that new information can become available.

Q Did you look at what the subsequent contractor Mr. Nickel did after he started on the job?

A I would say I looked at the documentation. I did not analyze it. I was not hired to analyze those, but yes, I looked at it.

Q In your conclusions, is there some reliance on what Mr. Nickel did after he started on the job?

A What do you mean by "reliance"? I didn't look at Mr. Nickel's enough to tell you right, wrong, left, right, what it stood for. I didn't rely it on it whatsoever for a couple of reasons. I was not paid or engaged to analyze Nickel's project. The information became available to me. We looked at it real quick.

Q I understand, for instance, he testified earlier today that he had a new set of architectural plans. Did you see the new set of architectural plans?

A I did see those.

Q Did that at all influence your opinion?

A That work is -- my opinion is going from the time of April 5th, 2012 to approximately on or about August 28, 2014, I think was the termination date.

Q Okay.

MR. RUSSO: Was it 2013?

MR. BEREKI: Yeah.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q It sounds like we have a disparity in dates. I think the termination date was actually in 2013.

A I believe you're correct.

Q You're looking at things in the snapshot as of the time of termination; is that correct?

A I'm looking at the timeframe from April 5th of '12 to August 28 of '13. I will say, I did notice in Spartan's records that there was payroll after that date. So, it went into September a little bit.

Q So, anything that happened after August of 2013 didn't weight into the opinions that you're here to testify about; correct?

A No.

Q Okay. We've got your report. We will mark it as Exhibit 1 to your deposition.

(Whereupon Plaintiff's Exhibit 1 was marked for identification.)

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Are there any other reports that summarize your opinions?

A No. This a worksheet that collects all of that. I'm sorry. Maybe I spoke too soon. I did some estimating spreadsheets and additional schedules, if you want to consider that a report.

Q Okay. I see next to your left hand, there seems to be some scheduling.

A Yes. These are just -- what this is, is simply a timeline this plots events and plots payrolls and things of that nature. This is for reference.

Q Okay. You gave me a flash drive with a bunch of documents. Are all of these reports on there?

A It's all on there. These are not reports. They're to help the deposition if we needed it. They've been provided.

Q Let's go through Exhibit 1. The run date is November 12th --

A September 12th.

Q Sorry. September 12th, 2016.

MR. BISSELL: Do you happen to have another copy of it?

MR. RUSSO: I'll get you a copy.

MR. BISSELL: Thanks.

(Recess held.)

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Apparently, the engineering was Wong, and the architect was Overly.

A That's correct. I used the Wong drawings because he's the licensed professional.

Q Okay. Do you know how long into the project it was that the Wong drawings were prepared?

A Yes.

Q When is that?

A Seventy days after the agreement of April 5th.

Q And you're basing what things should have cost in your opinion and how long it took based on the Wong drawings; correct?

A No. I'm basing it on everything. There's four aspects I considered. The two aspects are the original agreement, which was a renovation with the potential roof patio, there was the Wong drawings, and then there was Spartan/Bereki mentioned work at the Laugharns, however you pronounce that, and the soil pipe, and so I take all of those things into consideration. I recognized the project changed from what was conceived until what the Wong drawings illustrated.

Q Did you feel that in those first 70 days before the plans were prepared that things were not moving quick enough?

A Things should not have been moving at all.

Q You're saying because there was no permit?

A For two reasons, yes. A, there's no permit, and so he shouldn't be there, and Wong produced the drawings 70 days later. What are you doing if you don't know what the architectural drawings are going to say? When you found out that you needed a permit or you needed drawings, what were you doing in the meantime? Payroll records indicate work was going on. Photographs tell me a little bit of demolition is all that was done.

So, the proper thing to do, you're not supposed to proceed without a permit. They did. Spartan did. You go there, and you have the stop work order. You should stop until you obtain the permit. He obtained the permit sometime well after the drawings were prepared. No work should have been taking place there.

Q Do you know why it took so long to get the permit?

A I know there were several review cycles, which is not common with any municipality.

Q Do you know whether or not -- do you have an opinion as to whether or not the architectural plans were prepared promptly from when Mr. Overly was engaged?

A Not having specific, rock hard evidence of when specifically Mr. Overly was engaged, just some hearsay on e-mails, to say it's an appropriate amount of time, I can't opine on that without additional information. I only can opine on that 70 days after you started the project, which is slightly over two months, that's a long time to produce drawings.

Q Okay. Let's go through your report. Do you break up what you contend the damages are into components here?

A Yes.

Q Okay. The first one, scheduled delay --

A Yes.

Q -- what are you intending to convey here?

A What I did -- and that's why I brought this visual aid here. I can give you a copy of this. What we did is, the multiple phases of the project, Phase 1, interior renovation, in the April 5th e-mail, Mr. Bereki estimates that's going to take 30 days. Phase 2 in that

April 5th e-mail, Mr. Bereki says it's going to take approximately 45 days. That's approximately a month and a half. For what I call the structural remodeling and all that work with the Wong drawings, there was no schedule provided by Mr. Bereki or Spartan. So, I did one to estimate how long that should take, and I came up with a duration of 154 days or 153 days.

Q So, that's to do the -- if nothing else, just the interior renovations that were originally planned back on April 5th, 2012 and then expanded when the new unit came in?

MR. BISSELL: Objection; mischaracterizes his testimony.

THE WITNESS: No.

MR. BISSELL: It's the Wong drawings.

THE WITNESS: It's the Wong drawings and everything else that occurred, meaning modifications to the Laugharns and mentioning of an underground drain, but that didn't delay the project. That 153 days encompasses all work necessary.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Okay. When the original, somewhat vague scope started to the additional unit to Wong getting involved and deciding what needed to be down below that you included, you believe that the whole project should have taken 153 days?

A Yes.

Q Are those workdays or calendar days?

A Calendar days.

Q So, that includes Saturdays and Sundays?

A Correct.

Q And based on this, you believe it took 157 days too long to get to where he was?

Q And the chart you have to your left, can I see that?

A (Witness complies.)

Q (Counsel peruses document.)

Is this a source that you go to to decide how long these things should have taken or is it just your experience?

A Well, it's a method. As a side, I have decades of experience. I have a lot of experience with this practicality application and instruction. You go through a process, which is a standard to come up with a bar chart that accompanies those 84 days that I went through the process. I also used -- did a takeoff for quantity survey of all of the materials and labor required for the project, and we come up with a number of days. That's another analysis for coming up with workdays. So, I believe I went through a thorough process for developing days.

Q Okay.

A Creating a schedule.

Q Were you aware that the property has never been rented since the completion of construction?

A I don't know whether it's been rented or not.

Q So, why have the rental value if the intent of the owner was never to rent the property?

A I have no idea. The potential to rent the property was lost. I don't know what is in the owner's mind or what events could have occurred or how long they were going to be here or if they could have rented it. If they could have rented it, they lost that opportunity, in my analysis, of 357 days worth of opportunity to rent the property.

Q Do you know how often the Humphreys actually go to the property?

A No.

Q Okay. Did you ever ask Mr. Humphreys if his intent was to actually rent the property out?

A I don't believe I asked him that specifically,

no.

Q Let's look at the next category, Supervision Compensation.

A Yes.

Q Can you tell me how you came up with that?

A Essentially, it's the same mathematics as in the Schedule Delay. What I'm saying here is, it should have taken 153 days to do all of this work. The supervision rate or day rate assuming he worked every single day including weekends, and I'm not saying that's true. I erred on the conservative side, giving the benefit of the doubt that Spartan was there every single day, seven days a week. At $500 a day, an acceptable fee for that would have been 76,500, as I have listed. From the records, I was able to glean right around $201,000. So, my opinion is the delta between that is $124,500 of unnecessary costs.

Q Okay. The next item is Tools.

A Yes. What I did, I will show you visually, this is an Excel worksheet that is part of this, and I took from Spartan's deposit, all of their records, which is all of the invoices, and on this piece of paper, along this column, I listed, these are the vendors, here is the description, and it's dated, and I put in categories. For example, Labor, Material, Subcontract, Equipment, Power Tools, Hand Tools, Administration, Gas, Furniture, Automotive Expenses, Appliances, Architecture, Engineering, City Fees, et cetera. I came up with this matrix, what I'm showing you here, and under the category of Hand Tools is hammers, wrenches, tape measures, common carpentry tools. I came up with a purchase that I have listed here of 20,042 -- I'm sorry -- 2,042.

Q That's each actual item listed on the spreadsheet?

A Yes.

Q Are the items on the spreadsheet based on what Spartan charged or how did you get that number?

A By the receipts provided, receipts or invoices.

Q If I wanted to know what tools you thought he should have owned and not charged Mr. Humphreys for, it's on that spreadsheet?

A It's on here. I color coded it so it's easy to find.

MR. BISSELL: Do you want to mark that as Exhibit 2 since he's talking about this?

MR. RUSSO: Sure. I will mark it as Exhibit 2. Let me take that.

(Whereupon Plaintiff's Exhibit 2 was marked for identification.)

///

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q What would you call the document we just marked as 2, sir?

A Invoice matrix. We will call it that.

Q It specifically has to do with hand tools or is it more general?

A All invoices.

Q Okay. The next item is Power Tools.

A Yes.

Q How did you decide what power tools -- are those power tools purchased and charged for?

A Yes.

Q And is there a standard in the industry when you do have to buy a power tool about who keeps it at the end?

A It's highly unusual who keeps it. What I'm paying for when I hire a tradesman, they come with a hammer, tape measure. They come with hand tools and the basic power tools. In the case of carpentry, they would need a saw, maybe some drills, and possibly some screwdrivers. They come with that. That's what you're buying.

Q Okay. The subsequent contractor, Mr. Nickel, came with nothing. He was more of an administrative general contractor and didn't do any of the labor. Why is it that if he charges for these items for his subcontractors, it's okay, but yet Mr. Bereki who's on the job charging for these things is not okay?

MR. BISSELL: Objection; incomplete and inaccurate hypothetical.

THE WITNESS: And what I was going to say is, it's two completely different scenarios. No. 1, I did not have access to whatever agreement Mr. Nickel came to. I do have access to what the understanding of Mr. Bereki or Spartan was, and I don't know if I should speculate what Mr. Nickel did, but what is not uncommon is if I hire a subcontractor like Mr. Bereki did for $3,000 to do electrical work, this electrician isn't charging back for his wire cutters, his -- whatever he might need, an amp meter or any specialized piece of equipment.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Is there within the AIA guidelines or any guidelines, is there anything that sets forth the industry standard on what power tools can be charged for and what cannot?

A Going off of my memory, they list -- they describe. Power tools are different than equipment. I want to make that distinction. A power tool is a power screwdriver, a drill, a reciprocating saw, something like that. Equipment is something specialized. Equipment is like scaffolding. Equipment is a crane. Equipment is a forklift. I want to make that distinction, first of all.

So, small tools, hand tools, it's all considered by AIA, including power tools like I described, saw, screwdriver, et cetera, that's all considered under tools, and that is a part of the labor rate. Equipment above and beyond that is charged separately.

Q Okay. So, were there particular power tools charged for that you took issue with?

A All of them. Without looking at them, power tools -- when I'm paying for a carpenter, I pay for that. Same thing when I take my car to Pep Boys, I'm not paying for the wrenches. I bought that when I am paying his hourly rate.

Q Where would I look at on what I marked as Exhibit 2 to see where the power tool list is or is it incorporated within everything else?

A When you look across the top of the first page, PT is power tools. It's $118.74, and that's a Ryobi screwdriver, and if you go down there, the next entry is $156, a Dewalt screw gun. Then screwdriver kits, et cetera, et cetera. That's how you'll track it.

Q I got it. Would it have been appropriate for Mr. Bereki to hire a tradesman that had the tools and charged more than Mr. Bereki purchasing these power tools and includes it within his daily rate?

A According to the agreement, Mr. Bereki or Spartan forgive me, if I'm mispronouncing it or Spartan sold the owner that he is the tradesman. So, he should have had the tools. When you say it would have been cheaper or appropriate to hire a tradesman, it's so hypothetical, I don't know how to address it.

Q Next, Equipment.

A Again, on the sheet that I provided you where it says E, that's equipment. So, the first expense is a stylus for an iPad and propane tanks and different types of supplies that you can follow if you go down the column.

Q If these items needed to be rented, would that have been appropriate?

A If they were necessary.

Q Was there any equipment that you determined was not necessary?

A My determination was that the equipment that's listed here, any reasonable contractor would possess those. They would possess a broom and dust pan and things like that.

Q So, would it be fair to summarize your position on the equipment is that Mr. Bereki should have owned this already?

A Any contractor would own those things, a broom, ladder, trash cans, at least some. If there was a whole bunch necessary, a multitude of trash cans or ladders or different things likes that, there would have to be a reason for that.

Q Is it your opinion that the charges themselves were unreasonable outside of the fact you're saying there shouldn't have been a charge at all?

A The receipts speak for themselves. If there's a receipt that came from whatever store, that's what the market rate is.

Q The next item is Vehicle Cost.

A Yes.

Q You're saying categorically, there shouldn't have been any vehicle costs?

A Categorically is a strong term. As I said earlier in my testimony that if there was an absolute necessity for a specialized vehicle to be used on this project and Spartan deemed it appropriate to use it on the project, then you can rent something. You wouldn't outright purchase one. If I needed to dump things or to deliver some stone, if I couldn't hire a driver with a truck, which is common, then I would rent one from U-Haul or Ryder or some other reputable rental outfit for the period of time necessary.

Q Was there a period of time when a truck was necessary for this job for hauling purposes?

A I will say that it's not uncommon at some point that something will have to be hauled. I would add, for material deliveries, the materials are delivered by the suppliers in all cases. There may come a time when something came up and you were short a couple of two-by-fours. You can call them to redeliver that. Everything is else is delivered, you can get delivered to you.

Q It's okay to charge the client to have it delivered, but it's not okay to pick it up and charge him for that?

A That's an interesting question because it's compound.

Q Okay.

A Okay. What the owner is being charged for is Mr. Bereki's time and the time it takes to perform the work. So, if it takes him two hours to go pick that up, that's included in what the negotiated or stated day rate of $500 is. You wouldn't charge above and beyond that.

Q If he needs to use his work truck for that to go get materials, you believe any charge for that use of the truck is inappropriate?

A No. 1, I would have it delivered. All of the supply is delivered. If you made a mistake and you are short and they're going to charge you an extra delivery charge of 50 bucks or something, you can pass that along to the owner.

MR. BISSELL: Even if it's your own mistake?

THE WITNESS: If it's a mistake, no. I'm trying to use the example, let's say it was not a mistake and it's newly discovered that you needed material and you have to have it delivered, it's a short load. That's when it's less than a full load and they charge you for that, that is an example of an equipment charge. It goes with the materials. When you get lumber from the lumber yard, the cost of delivery is sometimes built into the cost. Sometimes they charge extra. It's an expected cost. That type of cost is appropriate to charge.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q For purposes of your analysis, you categorically found that the charges for the use of the automobile and everything associated with it was unreasonable; correct?

A Categorically do I say it's unreasonable? Yes.

Q So, the $22,910.38, that was all of the charges for the automobile; correct?

A I don't know if that was all of the charges. That was all I was able to glean from the documents.

Q You excluded from reasonable every charge associated with the auto you were aware of?

A Repeat that.

Q Sure. You determined that every charge associated with the automobile was unreasonable at least as to the charges you saw; correct?

A Of all the charges I saw, yes.

Q Next is Labor Overpayment.

A Yes.

Q Can you tell me what you're trying to convey here?

A Okay. What I was able to examine is, I had the payroll records and I had W-2 statements, which is a federal form you turn into taxes for the people that worked on this project. I will take the first category. I take Wolf Construction consulting fees. As is described, Wolf Construction is either an associate of Spartan or was somehow was going to be the foreman on the project. Somewhere along the line, it was determined to be around $300 a day to pay him. Assuming he was on the job every single day, 7 days a week, which I do not believe he was, you take that rate and multiply it by the 153 days. You come up with $45,900. That's what was agreed to pay him for what was agreed to. The amount I have there is $63,744.

Q Let me stop you one second. 153 days. If work was not done on the weekends, is it still 153?

A We use calendar days. So, there's -- I don't know what days they work. We have to use calendar days. What I'm saying is, I'm giving everything in this case, Spartan, Wolf Construction, the benefit of the doubt that we're paying you for seven days a week.

Q You're basing the number of days that Spartan or Wolf Construction worked on their charges?

A No, should have done this project in 153 days.

Q What I'm saying is, in determining how long it did take -- I'm trying to figure out -- if they only worked Monday through Friday, then would the project have taken more than 153 calendar days?

A No.

Q Why not?

A Well, I would ask you why.

Q Well, if they worked every Saturday and Sunday, is it still 153 calendar days?

A The answer is yes. I'm going to tell you why. In standard practice for scheduling, we use calendar days for a reason. There's seven days in a week. It's an actuality we can measure. During the calendar days, we are assuming there's nonworking days, holidays, probably a weather day, maybe it rains or something. That's taken into account, which is why when those things happen, and maybe you can do it on Saturday. Saturday is a workday. The 153 days is assuming you have five days a week at the bear minimum to get it done. That's how we're basing the 153 days on. I hope that answered your question.

Q Do you know or conclude whether or not there were any weather days?

A I didn't study that, meaning, how I would study that, I would go the National Weather Service. There's plenty of websites that's acceptable in legal proceedings that I used in the past. They give me that information. The case in this project was an enclosed building. There could have been occasional weather days. It doesn't snow in Newport Beach, at least I've never seen it. They get occasional moisture in the air. That would not have stopped construction.

Q Okay. Wolf Construction, you determined that Wolf Construction should have been paid for 153 labor days. Is that what you're saying?

A Yes.

Q Times 300, that's where you get the 43,900; correct?

A Correct, and the consulting fees, 63,744, I got from the records that were provided by Spartan. I totaled those up. The number could be a little different, but that's the records I could find where he was compensated. It appears he was compensated both for materials and labor. The materials he was compensated for is not included in this figure. This is just labor. These are some things he was reimbursed for like getting lumber. That is not in this number. It is in the material numbers. I want to make that clear.

Q Is it somewhere else in your damage analysis?

A This would be listed in the matrix I provided.

Q Did you find that all of the materials Wolf Construction charged for that were passed along to Mr. Humphreys, was any of that unreasonable?

A I'm glad you asked that because I know in some cases, by that I mean, I'm going pick a number at random, $300, with a description of what it is, not necessarily an invoice backing it up. When I'm doing my analysis, I'm giving Spartan and Wolf the benefit of the doubt that what they said it cost was true. I'm giving them the benefit of the doubt. Meaning, I could not necessarily coordinate an invoice for what Mr. Wolf was compensated for.

Q This payroll, is that based on the invoices from Mr. Bereki? Where does that number come from?

A The 236,842 comes from the payroll records provided by Spartan.

Q Okay.

A If you want, I have another matrix I used for that. I titled this sheet "Cost Worksheet - Payroll" and before I hand it to you, this is the payroll records, this is the W-2 records (indicating).

Q (Counsel peruses document.)

So, were the W-2 records actually from Wolf Construction?

A I'm talking all labor. Wolf Construction is outside of the labor in this payroll. Wolf was paid in addition to this figure.

Q In addition to the -- so, what makes up the 236?

A The payroll you have in your hand, which is the payroll that Spartan provided. I painstakingly went through every single one, listed the person's name, what the compensation was, how it was described, the number of hours, when it was described, the rate of pay, did some math to figure out what the rate of pay was, if it wasn't listed, what it was based on the hours and gross pay and I made that sheet to determine it.

Q Are you questioning whether or not these sums were actually paid to these people?

A When you say questioning, I can only go off evidence. The evidence I have is the W-2 is to me the concrete evidence. It is a federal document. That is the hardest evidence of what was paid to those workmen listed there. In my analysis, I only found 165,386 that went to those guys, not the 236 plus thousand listed on the payroll records. I don't have any evidence to cover that gap.

Q From Spartan's records, you showed 236,000 in payroll not including Wolf Construction fees; correct?

A Correct.

Q And of the 236, you then looked for those individual employees and you found W-2s from Spartan to them only for 165,386; is that correct?

A Correct.

Q So, you believe there was possibly overcharging of roughly $70,000; is that correct?

A That's not what I believe. That's what the evidence shows that I have examined. So, there's a difference that I can't account for.

Q Okay. We have two issues here on the labor overpayment. One, you thought Wolf Construction worked an excessive number of days; correct?

A No. Stay with the delay. 153 days was appropriate. I said an excessive number of days. I'm saying, the project should have taken 153 days, and his compensation should have been 45,900. I'm saying, at the time of Spartan's termination, I could determine he was paid at least $63,000, and that's an overcharge of whatever the delta is of that number, 17,000 or so.

Q That's because he was on the job more days than what you felt was appropriate?

A To complete the work, yes.
Q Aside from that, you have the payroll charge not matching up with W-2s?
A Yes.
Q And the last item is Accounting. Why did you put Accounting down?
A Because it's not for a time and material type of arrangement. You wouldn't -- it's not appropriate or proper. Assuming again, if we have a contract that was legal and proper, you wouldn't charge that to a job of this nature.
Q Why not?
A I would ask back why? It's unusual. I would ask why. Why do you need an accountant?
Q If you're being paid for all costs, why wouldn't the accountant be part of the costs?
A That is an indirect cost.
MR. BISSELL: It's an inappropriate and inaccurate hypothetical.
BY MR. RUSSO:
Q Did the agreement between Spartan and Humphreys differentiate between direct and indirect costs?
MR. BISSELL: It doesn't mention costs.
THE WITNESS: The e-mail which you call an agreement, which I don't, but that's all we have, doesn't get to that specificity. It implies that we're paying, the Humphreys are paying for Bereki's or Spartan's expertise and supervision and management and skill in his daily rate. Some tasks to me are implied, which includes accounting. Accounting on a job like this is pretty much simple. You count how many hours you worked and what the invoices are for the materials you spent. This, agree or not, disagree, it's unusual, it's improper. You don't add an accountant's cost to a time and material project.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Okay. Next item is Material Overpayment. Is this where you did a takeoff on what you thought the material should be and what the charges were?

A Yes. What I did as best I could from the matrix that I previously handed to you --

Q That's in the first matrix?

A Yes.

Q Exhibit No. 2?

A Yes. That's what it appears was spent on total materials. I did a quantity survey, and that's the estimate as I described to you before, how much lumber was required, what the market rate is, and came up with a price, and it's $56,753. You will see the next line, Construction Material Contingency, it's 10 percent of the original 56,000. I am giving the benefit of the doubt for the 10 percent of the materials. So, my opinion in my analysis, the cost of materials is approximately $62,000 based on everything I looked at.

So, I looked at that $62,000. I looked at the $141,000, approximately a hundred percent difference, and I don't know how that is justified.

Q Were the actual materials specified such that you knew what they were supposed to be?

A There's two things I need to add to this. The materials I came up with was for everything on the job. It was to complete the job according to the Wong drawings, Overly may have assisted in preparing them. My material takeoff includes of all of that 100 percent. It's very important to note, on August 28, the work -- I can estimate it was approximately 25 to a third percent complete on those drawings.

So, the reality, that number should be a third of $62,000. Do you follow what I'm trying to say? The project wasn't complete at the time of termination. My estimate of materials is for all the materials required. I'm giving the benefit of the doubt as far as my numbers. If I got down into it, I would probably cut my material price in half.

Q So, the approximately $62,000 was to complete the work under the -- what you called the Wong drawings?

A Correct.
Q Okay. And is that all materials of every kind or more lumber, concrete type stuff?
A All materials.
Q Including all finish materials?
A Yes. All materials, yes.
Q And does that include things like fixtures and everything?
A Correct. Let me clarify that. The subcontract invoices that I saw in here, I let those go, meaning, I didn't reduce those costs any. If he paid an electrician or plumber to do the work because I didn't have the scope of work, if there's any fixtures or materials in those prices, I didn't discount that, if you will.
Q Okay. In coming up with the 141,000 you're saying?
A Right.
Q Okay. So, there might have been other materials built into the contractor's fees?
A There could have been. I don't have enough information to know for sure.
Q Okay. And again, is that in the spreadsheet?
A Yes.
Q Exhibit No. 2?
A The materials, yes.

Q Is that under NT?

A No, under M, the second column from the left. You see 141? You see the matching number there.

Q So, that's ultimately adding up what the actual costs were?

A The materials from what I could determine from the invoices, yes.

Q Is there somewhere within your files where you did the takeoff on what the material costs should have been?

A Yes. This one here is two sheets entitled "Estimate Takeoff," and it's self-explanatory.

Q (Counsel peruses document.)

Did you go out and do some research on the cost of the materials or are they built within a program that you have?

A No, there's no program. What we generally do or I do, I will say, and what I do for a living, literally do, I don't know if hundreds, but it's certainly dozens of cost estimates a year, and we have a historical database. What I always do and what I did in this case, we go look for pricing. Lumber is a -- you go to Home Depot, Lowes or some lumberyard. I would have done that. I didn't pull it out of a program. This is just an Excel spreadsheet. It's not a specialized, proprietary program.

Q Next, Business Equipment.

A What I have here is furniture, shelves, computer, printers, software, things like that. Again, if this was a legally executed contract, you wouldn't have that anyway, but to pass on the price of the computer software, stuff like that to the owner is highly unusual and improper. If I needed -- No. 1, I go back to, we're paying for specialty services from Spartan to do this work. To buy a computer, to buy a bunch of software for design work is inappropriate for this scenario. If I wanted to demonstrate different designs in 3D, things like that, anywhere you buy the stuff, they have the software, and you can tell them what you want and they will print out the sketches for free. You don't need to buy a computer and all of the software. It's highly unusual. It's unnecessary.

Q Again, you're not questioning the actual charge. You're saying it wasn't necessary to begin with?

A Again, my opinion on a charge, if it says it on the invoice, if there's an invoice from a vendor, then I accept it as market rate. If it's just a number listed in a ledger somewhere with no backup, I gave them the benefit of the doubt, but looking at the equipment under that line item, it looks appropriate, and if the invoice backed it up, I put it on there.

Q Overhead. What about Business License and Insurance?

A That's the cost of doing business that Spartan takes care of. That's their business. They don't pass that onto the owner, and the overhead with the excessive stationery and how-to books and things like that, you don't pass it onto the owner. Bottom line is, when it comes to reference books, whatever you come across, we don't go out and buy the book and pass it on. The wonderful thing with the world today is that we have the internet. The information is free on the website. If you need a page, you can print it. If you want to know how to do something, we don't need to buy all of these things to keep around in case something comes up. Plus, I'm assuming that the professional has inherent knowledge on how do those things.

Q Business License.

A That's a cost of why I'm doing business. It's inappropriate to charge the owner for that.

Q Okay. I believe the last item is Shop.

A I have two other categories. Shop/Office Rental and Equipment Rentals. I pulled -- that's for the forklift specifically, and I have probably $300, like 15 months, whatever the amount of months was. The forklift wasn't necessary. It surely wasn't required for 15 months or however long it was kept at the site nor was it required to outfit a shop office to do the project.

Q Why not have the place to, for instance, make the cabinets?

A Why or why not do it in the house?

Q So, your opinion is that it wasn't necessary to have a shop because it should have been done on the premises?

A No, that's not what I said. I would go back to, why did you have to have a shop to do the cabinet, and were the cabinets requested to be custom made or would it have been better to buy them off the shelf? You can get any number of cabinets relatively economic to hand-building them from the store, I mean from a cabinet maker, a cabinet supplier. You don't need a shop to make the cabinets or anything for that matter.

Q If it was cheaper to make the cabinet including the shop rental than buying them, would this be an inappropriate charge?

A That's a loaded question. I will put it like this: I see no evidence in the reports that an analysis was done that we shopped for cabinets, this is what I came up with. I propose to build them for less. That's a hypothetical question we can't answer. There was no -- as far as I can tell, the Humphreys weren't given a choice.

Q Is it unusual for there to be a rental as a staging area to store materials and equipment for a project like this?

A When you go to normal procedure, I'm going to go back to that this is a relatively simple piece of residential construction. Yes, it's on Lido Island, space is at a premium. That is not unusual, like working in any urban center or anywhere else there's no room. What's common practice is, if I need stuff on the project, I have it delivered when I can use it. For example, if I have a whole bunch of lumber, I will have the amount delivered that I can get put up in a reasonable amount of time. In this case, you had a garage that existed at the property or you can store it in the work area. If I had all of these kitchen cabinets and I wanted them, I would bring them to the site when I needed them. I wouldn't get them six months ahead of time and have them sit and pay for rent. That's kind of silly. What we do, we set delivery dates to make sure we are ready to receive them so they're not sitting.

I put forth in my experience, I've done projects with zero staging area, zero delivery area. It comes down to managing your deliveries. If there's an extraordinary circumstance, I would bring it up with the owner. In this case with this type of construction for this building, nothing I've seen in the records would not have fit somewhere on this project if it had to stay for a day or two.

Q What was wrong with the forklift rental?

A I don't know what the forklift was used for. If a forklift was required, he didn't need it for the duration of the project.

MR. RUSSO: Okay. I'm going to ask my client if I have any more questions, and I'll be right back.

(Recess held.)

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Can you tell me what the date of Wong drawings is that you're referring to?

A 6-14-12.

Q Can you tell me on what we marked as Exhibit No. 2, your spreadsheet, can you tell me what the different categories are, for example, S, what is that?

A Subcontract.

Q E, that's equipment?

A Equipment.

Q PT again?

A Power tools.

Q HT?

A Hand tools.

Q Administration?

A That's --

Q Just as it sounds. Gas, that was associated with the car?

A Fuel.

Q Furniture, what's wrong with that?

A I had to have a category for it. Furniture is furnishing. It's not part of the construction. It's part of the category.

Q A&E?

A Architectural and engineering fees.

Q Did you feel any of those fees were inappropriate?

A I saw the receipts of what they cost. That appears to be market rate. That's what he paid for it.

Q Does the customer or contractor pay for building permits?

A Depends on the agreement, but it's not uncommon for the owner to pay for the building permits.

MR. RUSSO: Thank you. I have no further questions. Any questions?

MR. BISSELL: No questions here.

MR. RUSSO: I propose that relieve the reporter of her duties under the Code of Civil Procedure; the original of the transcript can be sent to Defense counsel; a certified copy can be used for all purposes; he will let me know by

SYNOPSIS:

In March 2022, I was assigned to investigate Adam Bereki's complaint against Orange County Superior Court Judge D. Chaffee. Judge Chaffee oversaw a civil case between Adam Bereki and Karen and Gary Humphreys. Adam Bereki alleged grand theft against Judge Chaffee for his judgment and decision on the case.

Subject 1:
Judge David Chaffe [redacted]

Subject 2:
Adam Bereki (CA / B6970543)
818 Spirit
Costa Mesa, CA 92626
(949) 241-6693

INVESTIGATION:

In April 2012, Adam Bereki entered a contract with the Humphreys, Karen and Gary, to complete a remodel of their newly purchased condominium unit in Newport Beach, California. Adam Bereki previously completed work for Gary Humphreys' brother and son. The Humphreys took the recommendations and hired Adam Bereki to complete the remodel. Adam Bereki sent a proposal to the Humphreys through email, and they agreed to the terms of the project. The daily fees for Adam Bereki and his partner, Glenn Overley, along with the prices for parts and labor were also discussed and agreed upon through the emails.

In May 2012, the Humphreys purchased the condominium unit directly above the unit Adam Bereki was hired to remodel. The Humphreys retained Adam Bereki's services for the second unit and ultimately decided to convert it into one unit. Work on the Humphreys' condominium units seized, and the last services were dated August 21, 2013.

Adam Bereki filed a civil suit against the Humphreys on August 21, 2015. He filed the suit after the contract was terminated, and he was not paid the remaining balance of $82,000. On October 13, 2015, the Humphreys filed a cross-complaint against Adam Bereki.

The Humphreys were able to bring a cross-complaint because Business and Professions Code 7031(e) allows for a party who utilizes the services of an unlicensed contractor to may bring an action in ANY court of competent jurisdiction to recover all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor. The Humphreys were the only people to utilize Adam Bereki's services, so they were able to bring forth an action against him. Adam Bereki claimed he is the sole owner and operator of The Spartans and Associates, Incorporated, a construction company, with a valid contractor license.

The two-day case took place between March 27-28, 2017, and was overseen by Orange County Superior Court Judge David Chaffee. Representing the Humphreys was William G. Bissell, Law Offices of William G. Bissell. Adam Bereki represented himself along with J. Scott Russo, Russo & Duckworth LLP. J. Scott Russo was also defending the Suretec Insurance Company, a contractor license bond.

The cross-complaint sought the disgorgement of the funds paid by the Humphreys to Adam Bereki, The Spartan Associates or Spartan Construction, which was $848,000. The cross-complaint alleged that Adam Bereki worked on the Humphreys condominiums without a valid contractor's license.

The first cause of action in the trial was about who the Humphreys contracted with. Based on emails and lack of written contracts, the court decided the contract was between the Humphreys and Adam Bereki, and not Adam Bereki's company, The Spartan Associates.

J. Scott Russo made the argument that Adam Bereki was a "little lax" for accepting the first few payments under his name and not his company but ultimately the majority of the money accepted was done by The Spartan Associates. Additionally, the building permits were obtained by The Spartan Associates. J. Scott Russo argued the work done was done under a B license and was correctly done.

J. Scott Russo argued that although there was not a written contract, the emails exchanged between the Humphreys and Adam Bereki constituted a contract. J. Scott Russo contended that the emails were from Adam Bereki, on behalf of The Spartan Associates, since Adam Bereki was the sole "shareholder" and employee. The emails that began talking of fees and costs began on April 5, 2012. The emails were sent from Adam Bereki's personal email account. The initial emails mentioned Adam Bereki's partner, Glenn Overley, but he didn't mention The Spartan Associates.

After July 2012, Adam Bereki requested the Humphreys make payments to The Spartan Associates and not to Adam Bereki. From April 2012 to July 2012, payments were made to Adam Bereki. From July 2012 forward, the payments were made to either Spartan or Spartan Construction.

The Humphreys and William G. Bissell argued that Adam Bereki was unlicensed at the time of entering the contract. William G. Bissell argued that although Adam Bereki was The Spartan Associates Responsible Management Officer, he was required to have a contractor's license as an individual. Even the partnership between Glenn Overley and Adam Bereki would have needed a joint venture license. Since Glenn Overley was an independent contractor, he was required to have his own contractor's license.

Judge Chaffee ruled that the contract was made between Adam Bereki and the Humphreys, therefore rendering Adam Bereki as an unlicensed contractor. Judge Chaffee ruled that Adam Bereki would return $848,000 to the Humphreys. Judge Chaffee acknowledged that the emails exchanged between Adam Bereki and the Humphreys met the definition of a contract.

Judge Chaffee referenced three cases to make his decision:

- Ball v. Steadfast (2011), 196 Cal.App.4th p. 694.
- 29 Palms Enterprises Corporation v. Bardos (2012), 210 Cal.App.4th p. 14, 13.
- MW Erectors v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Company, Inc. (2005), 36 Cal.4th p. 412.

Ball v. Steadfast (2011), 196 Cal.App.4th p. 694

In Ball v. Steadfast, a licensed contractor was not licensed as a contractor to do business in the name of "Clark Air Conditioning Heating." Ball sued in his own name to a foreclosure on a mechanic's lien. The foreclosure came from a nonpayment under the contracts entered.

The court held that Ball was not licensed as a contractor to do business under the name Clark Heating and Air Conditioning. Ball appeared on the contractor license as the owner of Clark Heating and Air Conditioning. The license was issued to Clark Heating and Air Conditioning.

The court determined that "Ball entered the contracts on behalf of his sole proprietorship, not on behalf of a separate legal entity that could, and should, have obtained its own license." (Ball, supra, 196 Cal.App.4th at p. 703)

Judge Chaffee interpreted that in Ball v. Steadfast, "the contractor was licensed as a "sole owner" and not as a partnership or corporate entity pursuant to the classification system of B&P code section 7065." Furthermore, Judge Chaffee interpreted that because Ball failed to contract work under the wrong business name, and not the name on his license, it was grounds for disciplinary action, but it did not bar him from attempting to recover payment for the work he performed.

Judge Chaffee stated, "First of all, and foremost, we have no license in the name of Mr. Bereki individually; instead, it appears he was the qualifying corporate officer for the legal entity, Spartan Associates, incorporated."

In 29 Palms Enterprises Corporation v. Bardos, 29 Palms Enterprises Corporation filed a complaint against Cadmus Construction Company. The complaint was because Cadmus Construction Company, and indirectly Bardos were not licensed as contractors in California. The court ordered Cadmus Construction Company to disgorge all of the fees 29 Palms Enterprises Corporation had paid.

It was determined Bardos was the Responsible Managing Officer, and he did not have a license in his personal name. Additionally, the court ruled that Bardos' corporation, Bardos Construction, Inc., was a different entity from his dba (doing business as) Cadmus Construction Company. Cadmus Construction Company was licensed, and Bardos Construction Inc. did hold a license. The court ordered the return of all costs to 29 Palms Enterprises Corporation. Bardos believed the judgment was not an equitable result. The court responded by saying, "It has long been settled that the courts may not resort to equitable considerations in defiance of Section 7031."

Judge Chaffee interpreted that Bardos was the Responsible Managing Officer for a licensed corporation, but he did not hold the corporation's licenses as an individual. Bardos could not perform work under that license using the name of the "sole proprietorship."

Judge Chaffee used the case to establish that either Spartan and Associates was the contracting party or, alternatively, Adam Bereki operated under The Spartan and Associates' license. Because of the ruling in 29 Palms Enterprises Corporation, Adam Bereki "cannot rely on his corporation's license to contract."

In MW Erectors v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Company, Inc., MW Erectors, a steel contractor was not licensed at the time the contract was made but obtained a license shortly after. Ultimately, the Supreme Court concluded that licensing is required at all times during the performance of the labor. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Company, Inc. elected not to pay MW Erectors.

Judge Chaffee stated that the California Supreme Court's ruling on the issue of unlicensed contracting is "draconian in its effect" but that was the intent of the legislature. The legislature expects contractors to be licensed at all times during the times they are contracted and failing to do so, opens a person or company to forfeiture.

Adam Bereki's Allegations

1. Business and Professions Code section 7031 action is a criminal prosecution in disguise of a civil action to criminally prosecute and punish an unlicensed contractor for committing the public offense of contracting without a license – a misdemeanor offense as defined by Business and Professions Code section 7028.

   Business and Professions Code section 7028 is defined as:

   (a) Unless exempted from this chapter, it is a misdemeanor for a person to engage in the business of, or act in the capacity of, a contractor within this state under either of the following conditions:

   (1) The person is not licensed in accordance with this chapter.

   (2) The person performs acts covered by this chapter under a license that is under suspension for failure to pay a civil penalty or to comply with an order of correction, pursuant to Section 7090.1, or for failure to resolve all outstanding final liabilities, pursuant to Section 7145.5.

   (b) A first conviction for the offense described in this section is punishable by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars ($5,000) or by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding six months, or by both that fine and imprisonment.

2. That as a result of Allegation #1, private parties cannot commence Business and Professions Code section 7031 actions because the Executive Power of California is vested exclusively in the Governor pursuant to California Constitution Article V, Section 1.

3. That as a result of Allegation 1 and Allegation 2, the Humphreys lacked Constitutional Authority to prosecute Adam Bereki. That should have prevented Judge Chaffee of the ability to hear the case and give a judgment.
4. As a result of Allegation 1, Allegation 2, and Allegation 3, Justices O'Leary, Goethals, and Aronson of the Fourth District Court of Appeal lacked Constitutional Authority to affirm Judge Chaffee's judgment.

5. Based the aforementioned allegations, the State of California lacked the Constitutional authority to summarily suspend The Spartan and Associates/Adam Bereki's general contractor license pursuant to Business and Professions Code section 7071.17.

Judge Chaffee returned all the compensation paid to the Humphreys. Adam Bereki believes he already returned the amount that was paid to him through the work that was completed on the Humphrey's property. The work that was completed added value to the Humphrey's home. Adam Bereki believes the punishment was not authorized by Business and Professions Code section 7031(b) because Adam Bereki and The Spartan and Associates returned the money in the form of value.

Adam Bereki cited, Lewis & Queen v. N. M. Ball Sons (1957), 48 Cal 2d. 141, 152. Adam Bereki interpreted the case to state that "Courts may not resort to equitable considerations in defiance of Business and Professions Code section 7031."

Adam Bereki explained that the case demonstrated that the courts are not allowed to consider the value of materials and labor. Adam Bereki believes his interpretation appears to be exactly what the court intended. He stated that if an unlicensed contractor received money but didn't complete the work, then Business and Professions Code section 7031(b) would apply appropriately. However, if the unlicensed contractor returned the money or compensation as value to the homeowner, then a judge would be relieved of his authority to issue any relief through Business and Professions Code section 7031(b) because it would be an "arbitrary" penalty.

In support of this claim, Adam Bereki cited case, Town of Gilbert Prosecutors Office v. Downie (2008), 218 Arizona 466. In this case the Supreme Court of Arizona found that the full amount of payments returned would constitute economic loss for restitution purposes.

In conclusion, Adam Bereki believes he was unfairly punished by having to pay the Humphreys a total of $930,000. Adam Bereki explained that nowhere in the trial where "damages" mentioned. There was no evidence of improper work or damages to the Humphrey's property due to Adam Bereki's work. Due to Judge Chaffee not recognizing any of the work Adam Bereki performed at the property, he was not authorized to order Adam Bereki to return the compensation under Business and Professions Code section 7031(b).

Adam Bereki believes that the punishment, if there was to be one, should be Business and Professions Code section 7028(b), which authorizes a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding six months, or by both that fine and imprisonment. Adam Bereki does not agree that he was fined a significant amount more than the $5,000 because it is an excessive fine and in violation of the Excessive Fines Clause (Eighth Amendment). The fine should have been proportionate to the offense and he should have the ability to pay it. Because Judge Chaffee did not take those things into consideration, he lacked the authority to fine or punish Adam Bereki.

Adam Bereki believes that the Humphreys and their attorney, William Bissel do not have the executive or constitutional authority to commence Business and Professions Code section 7031(b). Additionally, Adam Bereki believes Judge Chaffee should have dismissed the case against him due to California Penal Code section 1382(a), Dismissal of the Action for Want of Prosecution Otherwise.

Adam Bereki believes that because the action against him was intended to be criminal in nature, he was entitled to protections given in a criminal proceeding, such as; assistance of counsel, confrontation of his accusers, and trial by jury. Adam Bereki was not afforded any of these protections.

Judge Chaffee's Statement

April 16, 2024, at 1000 hours, I spoke with Judge D. Chaffee on the phone. Judge Chaffee remembered presiding over the case, although he had forgotten some of the names and small details.

I informed Judge Chaffee of Adam Bereki's allegations, and he told me he was aware. Judge Chaffee acknowledged the case was a civil case but "turned" when the Humphreys brought forth the cross-complaint.

Judge Chaffee confirmed that Business and Professions Code section 7031 is not criminal and has "no penalty attached," but it is punitive. Judge Chaffee described section 7031(b) as "draconian" but said the legislature intended the law to work in favor of the consumer.

In response to Adam Bereki's claim that he should have been charged with Business and Professions Code section 7028 because it was his first offense, Judge Chaffee stated, "He was not charged with that."

Adam Bereki filed a civil action against the Humphreys for unpaid contractor fees. The Humphreys filed a cross-complaint against Adam Bereki because they realized he was contracting without a license.

The case that Judge Chaffee oversaw was a civil case, not a criminal case. Judge Chaffee does not believe Adam Bereki was charged by the Orange County District Attorney's office. Adam Bereki brought forth the civil case for civil damages, and in turn, the Humphreys filed for civil damages. Judge Chaffee "was not inviting a criminal prosecution of him. We were limited to civil remedies for a civil action that he brought."

Adam Bereki made a claim that his trial was a civil case disguised as a criminal trial. Judge Chaffee confirmed that Adam Bereki did not "raise that issue" at trial, and even if he raised it at his appeal, it would have been barred because it was not raised at trial. Judge Chaffee's judgment was affirmed by the California Court of Appeals, and the review was denied by the California Supreme Court. Ultimately, Adam Bereki's appeal was rejected by the United States Supreme Court.

Judge Chaffee acknowledged he lost any jurisdiction on the case when Adam Bereki filed his Notice of Appeal. Judge Chaffee is retired and has no legal authority to handle the case.

Adam Bereki claimed that Judge Chaffee lacked the Constitutional standing to bring any civil or criminal penalties against him. Since Adam Bereki did not raise the issue at trial, it was waived for the purposes of appeal. Even if Adam Bereki had brought forth the issue at trial, he was "wrong."

Adam Bereki claimed that the Humphreys lacked Constitutional standing to prosecute him, thereby depriving the Orange County Superior Court and Judge Chaffee of Constitutional authority to punish him. Judge Chaffee acknowledged that Adam Bereki's claim is not correct because he was the person who commenced the civil complaint. The Humphreys simply filed a cross-complaint. Since Adam Bereki did not raise the issue at trial, it was not available to him at the appeal.

Adam Bereki claims that the State of California lacked the Constitutional authority to suspend The Spartan and Associates/Adam Bereki's general contractor license. Judge Chaffee confirmed he did not suspend Adam Bereki's license. Judge Chaffee assumes that any suspension would have come from the State Contractor's Board. Judge Chaffee confirmed that the license can only be placed under one name. Adam Bereki chose to place the license with the Spartan and Associates. Adam Bereki chose to contract the job he did for the Humphreys under his name and not the company and, therefore, was found to be contracting without a license.

Judge Chaffee believes that Adam Bereki's mistakes causing this result. Judge Chaffee believes that Adam Bereki's work was not what he promised the Humphreys. Judge Chaffee looked at pictures from the work completed by Adam Bereki and did not complete the work properly.

Adam Bereki stated he should not be forced to pay the fine because he returned the money in the form of work and materials. Judge Chaffee confirmed that the damages are not offset by the work that was completed, and the Humphreys are entitled to receive their money in return for Adam Bereki contracting without a license.

CONCLUSION:

Adam Bereki brought forth a civil case against the Humphreys for an outstanding balance owed from a contracting job. In turn the Humphreys filed a cross-complaint against Adam Bereki for contracting without a valid contractor license. The judgement by Judge Chaffee from civil case was in favor of the Humphreys. The judgement was based on prior cases with similar contractual situations. Adam Bereki appealed the case with the Fourth District Court of Appeal and the judgement was affirmed. Adam Bereki then filed appeals to the California Supreme Court and the United States Supreme Court, but the appeals were denied.

Adam Bereki's appeals were denied because appellate courts do not consider new evidence. An appeal is not considered a new trial. The allegations Adam Bereki brought forth cannot have been disputed in an appellate court because he did not raise those issues at the original trial. Therefore, he could not present his allegations because it would have been considered new evidence in the eyes of the appellate courts. In order Adam Bereki to present his new allegations, Adam Bereki would be required to file a new lawsuit against the Humphreys.

Contracting without a license is a misdemeanor offense, violation of section 7028 of the Business and Professions Code. During the civil case, no criminal charges were filed on Adam Bereki for contracting without a license by the Orange County District Attorney's office.

Based on this investigation, Adam Bereki's claim of grand theft committed against him by Judge Chaffee was not substantiated. Any additional pertinent information presented at a later date, will be added to a supplemental report. At this time, no further follow up will be conducted and I recommend this investigation be closed.

Hi Bill,

I hope this finds you well. I called your office today to speak with you about what I believe to be a huge miscarriage of justice happening in this case surrounding the challenge to jurisdiction I filed on 4/18/17 before judgement was ordered in this case. If you have any interest in discussing this matter with me, I'd welcome that.

If so, please let me know when would be a good time to call you and I'll do so.

Sincerely,

Adam Bereki

Mr. Bereki: I reviewed your "Writ of Error" at the time it was filed with the court. I saw nothing in it that would cause me to question the validity of the judgment entered by the court. You have appealed the judgment and presumably you will be giving it your best shot with the Court of Appeal. Because appellate procedure is very deadline sensitive I suggest that your time might be better spent focusing on your argument to be made to the court than discussing your theories with me.

Sincerely.

Thank you Bill, I appreciate your reply. It's just that since the "writ of error" was a direct jurisdictional challenge before the entry of judgement. The judgement is void because you didn't prove the factual sufficiency of subject matter jurisdiction as you were required to do upon direct attack. At that point and until subject matter jurisdiction was proved, the court was want of jurisdiction to issue an order. You'll see the jurisdictional challenge was served two days before the judgement. I don't believe it's in judicial process for the court or other parties to just ignore and/or reject my documents however foreign or out of statutory procedure they may be. While I understand your position that you might think what I'm sharing is a legal "theory" I obviously believe otherwise and we can disagree. If I'm right though, you and the judge could be in a lot of trouble which is why I reached out to you first to see if you wished to speak with me humbly.

Sincerely,

Adam Bereki

Mr. Bereki: Thank you for your clarification and the opportunity to avoid the trouble that may befall me as a result of the trial conducted in this matter. As I remain unpersuaded by your position, I suppose I (and I guess Judge Chaffee as well) will just have to take my chances that the court will have the same view of your argument as I do.

SECOND-AMENDED DECLARATION OF ADAM BEREKI

I, Adam Bereki, declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California the following is true and correct:

1. I have personal knowledge of the facts stated herein and am competent to testify thereto if called as a witness.
2. After filing my First Amended Declaration on June 4, 2025, I was suddenly moved to review licensing records for The Spartan Associates, Inc. (Spartan) to ensure accuracy in my statements. I discovered that in July 2012, a bonding company cancelled Spartan's license bond, citing unmet underwriting requirements, resulting in an automatic suspension of Spartan's contractor's license (License #927244) by the Contractors State License Board until reinstatement in October 2012.
3. I had no recollection of this suspension likely due to the 13-year gap, and that the fact that at the time it occurred, the litigation in this case wouldn't happen for another ~2.5 years. I disclose this in good faith to correct any prior statements in any official records that could be interpreted to mean that Spartan was licensed throughout the entirety of the Humphreys' project (e.g., First Amended Declaration ¶ 5, 23).
4. Spartan definitely had a valid contractor's license when it began work on the Humphreys project and obtained building permits from the City of Newport Beach (Motion Ex. 2). Whether some statute retroactively annuls this due to a bond issue, resulting in a total penal forfeiture of the value of all the work, is a matter for another day.
5. This suspension is irrelevant to the Humphreys' claim in their First Amended Cross-Complaint (ROA 144), which alleged I personally contracted and performed unlicensed construction work under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(b), not Spartan. No trial evidence shows I performed work requiring a contractor's license, as required by CACI 4560(3) (Motion: Ex. 1 [Reporter's Transcript 3/27/17], p. 125, Lines 2–8; Second Amended Declaration: Ex. 6 [Nickel Report]; Ex. 9 [Brockway Deposition]). The Humphreys' own admissions confirm Spartan was the contractor (ROA 66, p. ii; Motion Ex. 5 [Notice of Cessation]).
6. My core arguments in the Motion to Vacate—that the court lacked personal and subject matter jurisdiction due to the penal nature of § 7031(a) and (b), the Humphreys' lack of standing to prosecute, and the absence of evidence that I performed unlicensed work—remain unaffected by Spartan's suspension. The judgment is void ab initio for these reasons, independent of Spartan's licensed status.

7. To the extent the suspension might seem relevant, I assert all arguments in the Motion, (with exception of the §7028.5 issue which may now be moot), including that the Humphreys' § 7031(b) claim against me, filed in December 2016 (ROA 144), was untimely under the one-year statute of limitations (Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 340(a)), as the project ended in August 2013 (Ex. 5), depriving the court of subject matter jurisdiction (Drink Tank Ventures LLC v. Real Soda in Real Bottles, Ltd., 71 Cal. App. 5th 528, 541 (2021) ("where a party purports to bring a statute-based cause of action that does not satisfy its statutory prerequisites, a trial court lacks subject matter jurisdiction.") Spartan's suspension is irrelevant, as the Humphreys claim targeted me personally, not Spartan, and no evidence shows I performed unlicensed work (CACI 4560(3))."

Dept: C-23

Judgment Entered: April 20, 2017

Judgment Affirmed on Appeal: Oct. 21,2018

Cal. Supreme Court Review Denied: Jan. 30, 2019

Defendants/Cross-Complainants/Judgment Creditors Gary Humphreys and Karen Humphreys in opposition to the motion of Cross-Defendant/Judgment Debtor Adam Bereki to vacate the judgement entered in this matter submits the following memorandum of points and authorities.

I.

INTRODUCTION

This motion is in all substantive respects nothing more than a refiling and rehash of virtually the same motion to vacate judgment brought by Mr. Bereki in February of 2019 in this case and in which the court in denying the motion aptly noted "The arguments presented on this motion were already raised and rejected, and the appellate decision affirming the underlying judgment on the merits is now final. Upon remittitur, the trial court is revested with jurisdiction of the case only to carry out the judgment as ordered by the appellate court. (People v. Dutra (2006) 145 Cal. App.4th 1359, 1365-1366.) Arguments on the merits of the underlying judgment cannot be entertained anew here..."

Despite the trial courts crystal clear admonition to Mr. Bereki advising him that upon the appellate court's affirming the judgment the trial court has no jurisdiction to entertain new arguments attacking the merits of the judgment, Mr. Bereki persists in ignoring both the courts rulings and procedural law and continues to harass the Humphreys, denigrate this Court and waste judicial resources by filing motions patently lacking in merit and seeking public support for the motion through inflammatory emails.

II.

BRIEF HISTORY OF THE CASE

This case , judgment in which has long been final, arose out of a home remodel project which began in April of 2012 in Newport Beach, California. The parties opposing this motion, Gary Humphreys and Karen Humphreys (the Humphreys) were the husband and wife owners of the property to be remodeled and the moving party Adam Bereki (Mr. Bereki) was the contractor, albeit unlicensed, with whom the Humphreys contracted to perform the work.

A dispute arose between the Humphreys and Mr. Bereki over the quality of the work performed by Mr. Bereki and other disturbing aspects of Mr. Bereki's activities and performance on the project resulting in a civil complaint being filed in this matter by Mr. Bereki's corporation and a cross complaint being filed by the Humphreys. On motion of the Humphreys the first cause of action of their first amended cross-complaint for disgorgement under California Business & Professions Code Section 7031, was ordered severed, to be tried separate from and prior to the remaining causes set forth in that pleading.

The trial on the severed first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint commenced on March 27, 2017 before Judge David Chaffee in Department C-20 of this Court and concluded on March 28, 2017. At the conclusion of the presentation of evidence, the Trial Court ruled in favor of the Humphreys on both the complaint and the first cause of action of the first amended cross-complaint and entered judgment accordingly.

Mr. Bereki appealed the trial court's judgement to the Court of Appeal, Fourth District, Division Three. As with the instant motion, both Mr. Bereki's opening brief and his reply brief raised and addressed his claim that the trial court lacked jurisdiction over both him and the subject matter of the action and that he was denied due process protections guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution. Oral argument was heard on October 16, 2018 before a panel comprised of the Honorable Justices O'Leary, Aronson and Goethals at which Mr. Bereki again asserted the trial court's lack of jurisdiction and denial of due process. Following submission of the matter, the Appellate Court, with the concurrence of all three justices, affirmed the judgment of the trial court awarding Respondent's their costs on appeal.

On or about December 10, 2018, Mr. Bereki filed with the California Supreme Court a petition for review of the Court of Appeals decision, once again raising as grounds for review the claimed lack of jurisdiction of the trial court and claimed denial of due process. The petition for review was denied on January 30, 2019 and the case was remitted to this Court for entry of costs on Appeal.

On February 19, 2019 Mr. Bereki filed with this Court the motion to vacate the judgment in this matter mentioned above , which was denied on March 15, 2019.

In October of 2019 Mr. Bereki filed a petition for writ of certiorari with the United States Supreme Court seeking to have the judgment here overturned. That petition was denied.

In addition to the above there have been an assortment of misguided collateral attacks on the judgment brought by Mr. Bereki in both the federal court and again to the U.S. Supreme Court all of which have been summarily denied.

Mr. Bereki, who after repeatedly raising the issues of jurisdiction and due process and having been heard on those issues multiple times in multiple venues is apparently incapable of accepting the fact that in the vast majority of trials there is a loser and in this one that is he. There is no basis, either procedurally or substantively which would allow this court, at this juncture to so much as entertain Mr. Bereki's motion much less grant it.

III.

MOVING PARTY'S CLAIM IS BARRED UNDER THE DOCTRINE OF RES JUDICATA

The doctrines of res judicata and judicial estoppel rest on the ground that a party who has litigated a matter or has had an opportunity to do so should not be permitted to litigate it again to the harassment and vexation of his or her opponent. Public policy and the interests of litigants alike require that there be an end to litigation Busick v. Workmen's Comp. Appeals Bd. (1972) 7 Cal. 3d 967, 972; Rubenstein v. Rubenstein (2000) 81 Cal. App. 4th 1131, 1144. The rule of res judicata is to prevent vexatious litigation and to require the parties to rest on one decision in their controversy; res judicata bars not only the reopening of the original controversy, but also subsequent litigation of all issues that were or could have been raised in the original suit Torrey Pines Bank v. Superior Court (1989) 216 Cal. App. 3d 813, 821. "A final judgment on the merits of an action precludes the parties from relitigating issues that were or could have been raised in the action" Federated Dept. Stores, Inc. v. Moitie 452 U.S. 394, 398 (1981).

The "issues" on which Mr. Bereki is basing his latest motion have either been raised numerous times before or are issues which could have been raised and litigated at the 2017 trial. Mr. Bereki has asserted the same tired and strained arguments in his post judgment motions to the trial court, in his appeal of the trial courts judgment, in his petition for review filed with the State Supreme Court and his petition for writ of certiorari filed with the U.S. Supreme Court .As to those issues which have not already been raised and rejected as ill founded, there is not one that could not have been asserted at the time of trial or in Mr. Bereki's appeal.

IV.

THE JUDGMENT IS NOT VOID

Mr. Bereki argues that the holding in Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co.53 CA 5th 1201 (2020) somehow voids the judgment in this case. It does nothing of the sort. The holding in the Eisenberg v. Suffolk case did not invalidate the disgorgement provisions of Business & Professions Code §7031 which remains unchanged and enforceable today as it was when the judgment in this case was entered. Eisenberg v. Suffolk merely identified the period in which an action under the disgorgement clause of that statute must be brought. Mr. Bereki argues that under the decision in the Eisenberg v, Suffolk supra case the Humphrey's disgorgement cause of action was untimely and the that consequently the judgment is void. In so arguing, Mr. Bereki ignores the fact that the burden of proving a statute of limitations defense lies with the party asserting the defense. Although it was within his power to assert the defense and put on evidence to try to establish it at trial Mr. Bereki failed to do either.

There has been no substantive change in the law under which the judgment in this case was entered and Mr. Bereki has certainly not pointed the court to any such change which would warrant a deviation here from the principals of res judicata.

V.

THE TRIAL COURT HAD BOTH THE REQUISITE SUBJECT MATTER AND PERSONAL JURISDICTION TO RENDER JUDGMENT IN THIS MATTER.

In the event the Court determines that the instant motion warrants consideration, the facts of this case establish that the trial court had both personal jurisdiction over Mr. Bereki and subject matter jurisdiction over the case and that the judgment entered by the trial court and affirmed by the court of Appeal was proper and beyond attack at this level.

As to the question of the trial court's jurisdiction over the subject matter of this case, Cal Const, Art. VI § 10 states in pertinent part "The Supreme Court, courts of appeal, superior courts, and their judges have original jurisdiction in habeas corpus proceedings. Those courts also have original jurisdiction in proceedings for extraordinary relief in the nature of mandamus, certiorari, and prohibition. The appellate division of the superior court has original jurisdiction in proceedings for extraordinary relief in the nature of mandamus, certiorari, and prohibition directed to the superior court in causes subject to its appellate jurisdiction.

Superior courts have original jurisdiction in all other causes*....*"

"The superior court is a court having jurisdiction in all civil actions and proceedings, with stated exceptions, and it is a court of general jurisdiction....". Richardson v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County (Cal. App. 1934), 138 Cal. App. 389,391.

In that this case is not one involving matters reserved for the Supreme Court, courts of appeal or the appellate division of the superior court, the superior court was the appropriate court to adjudicate the issues raised in the matter and had jurisdiction over the subject matter of the action. As for personal jurisdiction over Mr. Bereki, Cal Code Civ Proc § 410.50 states "(a) Except as otherwise provided by statute, the court in which an action is pending has jurisdiction over a party from the time summons is served on him as provided by Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 413.10). A general appearance by a party is equivalent to personal service of summons on such party*.*"

An appearance for any purpose other than to question the jurisdiction of the court is general. Pfeiffer v. Ash (Cal. App. 1949), 92 Cal. App. 2d 102. Mr. Bereki by substituting in as his own attorney in this matter in propria persona, filing his answer to the Humphrey's cross-complaint seeking a determination of the issues and appearing at and presenting his case in defense at the trial of this matter , has made a general appearance and thus has voluntarily submitted to the trial court exercising personal jurisdiction over him.

VI.

SANCTIONS UNDER CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE SECTION 128.5 ARE WARRANTED

A trial court may order a party to pay the reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred by another party as a result of actions or tactics, made in bad faith, that are frivolous or solely intended to cause unnecessary delay. C.C.P §128.5 (a).

For purposes of C.C.P §128.5 (a) "actions or tactics" includes the making of a motion and "frivolous" means totally and completely without merit or for the sole purpose of harassing an opposing party. C.C.P §128.5 (b) (1) & (2).

A request for sanctions under C.C.P §128.5 (a) may be made in a party's responding papers. C.C.P §128.5 (c) . Lesser v. Huntington Harbor Corp. 173 CA3rd 922 (1985).

An action is deemed frivolous or in bad faith if it is prosecuted for improper motive (including harassment or delay) or if it is totally and completely devoid of any merit. Finnie v. Town of Tiburon, 199 Cal. App. 3d 1, 12 (1988).

As set forth above, Mr. Bereki has been informed by this Court in terms which are crystal clear and not subject to interpretation, that the trial court has no jurisdiction to entertain attacks on the judgment entered in this case. In other words, Mr. Bereki has been advised by this Court that any new attempt by him to attack the judgment in this venue is frivolous. Despite being on notice of the frivolousness of this motion Mr. Bereki persists in ignoring the court's admonishment and continues to harass the Humphreys. Worse still, Mr. Bereki in a display of shocking disrespect to the Court attempts to bait this Court by such emails as the following sent on June 4, 2025:

> "Good day, Let us all patiently await the discovery of whether supervising Superior Court Judge, David Hesseltine, will tell the truth, exposing nearly 100 years of legislative, executive, and judicial tyranny in Commiefornia involving Cal. Business and Profession Code §7031 (unlicensed contracting) or will lie to shield his brethren and other officials involved in the corruption...
> Please join us, Thursday, June 26, at 2:00PM in his courtroom or by zoom (visit occourts.org*, click on remote appearance, select civil unlimited, civil unlimited again, and Department C23 Judge Hesseltine) for the 'hearing', where, if my personal experience is any indication, no one will actually be heard. Perhaps the 26th will be a dawn of integrity for the Judge where he will honor his oath of office so that we can rightfully refer to him as "Honorable" (it would my honor to do so)....*
>
> Kindly forward this email to your co-workers, friends, and family in support of me and many others across America who are exposing the fraud, deceit, and treason perpetrated by members public office (and especially bar ASSociations ie Donna Kirkner, William Bissell) upon us under color of law....
> Thank you for listening.
> Sincerely,
> Adam Bereki"

These actions of Mr. Bereki warrant a finding of contempt of court and at a minimum, demand that Mr. Bereki be sanctioned under C.C.P. §128.5 in an amount which will compensate the Humphreys for the costs of defending this motion as set forth in the accompanying declaration and hopefully dissuade Mr. Bereki from further frivolous and bad faith actions.

VII.

CONCLUSION

Although Mr. Bereki couches his motion to vacate the judgment as being grounded in a claimed lack of jurisdiction by both the trial court to have rendered judgment and the court of appeal to have affirmed that judgment, in reality the motion is nothing more than an attempt to relitigate the same issues he has raised in his appeal of the trial court's judgment and in his petition to the State Supreme Court and the United States Supreme court. While Mr. Bereki correctly points out that a motion to challenge a judgment on the basis it is void may be brought at any time, he clearly fails to understand that once that challenge has been brought and has been determined to be without merit, he is barred from reasserting that challenge except to a court of review at a higher level of which in this matter there is now none.

This case may stand as the poster child for why public policy demands that there be an end to litigation and an end to the losing party's harassment of the prevailing parties by continuing to bring spurious motions and proceedings. Mr. Bereki has been heard, reheard and heard again on the same issues and he has lost at every juncture at every possible level of review. Although it has been stressed before by the trial court, Mr. Bereki should be re-admonished in the strongest possible terms that he is pursuing course to which he has no rights and that must end now. Simply put, Mr. Bereki has been heard on this issue at all levels of review and for that reason this motion should be removed from the law and motion calendar as having been improperly filed or alternatively, denied and in either case sanctions assessed against Mr. Bereki and in favor of the Humphreys as set forth in the accompanying declaration.

Respectfully Submitted:

The trial was on the complaint of the plaintiff, The Spartan Associates, Inc. (Spartan) against Gary and Karen Humphreys and on the cross-complaint of the Humphreys against Mr. Bereki and Spartan. Mr. Bereki participated in the trial representing himself , examining and cross-examining witnesses, presenting documentary evidence and giving testimony on his own behalf.

4. At the conclusion of the presentation of evidence consisting of both the testimony of witnesses and the introduction of documentary evidence, and after argument of counsel, the Trial Court ruled in favor of the Humphreys on the first cause of action of their cross complaint for disgorgement and on the complaint of Spartan and judgement was entered accordingly on April 20, 2017. Judgment in this matter and the entry thereof is reflected in the court's file of this matter and is attached to Mr. Bereki's request for judicial notice as Exhibit #1. Judicial Notice thereof the is requested under Evidence Code Section 452 (d).

6. On October 16, 2018, after the submission of briefs in which Mr. Bereki's claims, as they relate to the trial courts jurisdiction over the action and Mr. Bereki's due process arguments, were raised and addressed, oral argument was held before a panel comprised of the Honorable Justices O'Leary, Aronson and Goethals. Following submission of the matter, the Appellate Court, with the concurrence of all three justices, affirmed the judgment of the trial court awarding Respondent's their costs on appeal. The opinion of the Court of Appeal and the Court's denial of Mr. Bereki's petition for rehearing is attached as Exhibit #2 to Mr. Bereki's Request for Judicial Notice filed in this motion.

7. On about December 10, 2018, Mr. Bereki filed with the California Supreme Court a petition for review of the Appellate Court's decision once again raising his claims of lack of jurisdiction as grounds for granting the petition.

8. On January 30, 2019 the California Supreme Court denied the petition for review. Attached to Mr. Bereki's Request for Judicial Notice filed in this motion as Exhibit #4 is notice of California Supreme Court's En Banc denial of Mr. Bereki's petition for review.

Di Cesare. In denying the motion the court noted "... "The arguments presented on this motion were already raised and rejected, and the appellate decision affirming the underlying judgment on the merits is now final. Upon remittitur, the trial court is revested with jurisdiction of the case only to carry out the judgment as ordered by the appellate court. (People v. Dutra (2006) 145 Cal. App.4th 1359, 1365-1366.) Arguments on the merits of the underlying judgment cannot be entertained anew here. The motion is therefore Denied". The Court's minute order on the March 15, 2019 motion to vacate is attached as Exhibit #3 to Mr. Bereki's Request for Judicial Notice filed in this motion..

10. In the fall of of 2019 Mr. Bereki filed a petition for writ of certiorari with the United States Supreme Court seeking to have the judgment in this case overturned. On October 7, 2019 the U.S. Supreme Court denied the petition for certiorari. Attached to Mr. Bereki's Request for Judicial Notice filed in this motion as Exhibit #5 is notice of The U.S. Supreme Court's denial of Mr. Bereki's petition for certiorari.

11. In addition to the above, there have been an assortment of collateral attacks on the judgment in this case brought by Mr. Bereki in both the federal court and again to the U.S. Supreme Court all of which have been summarily denied.

12. In reviewing the onslaught of moving papers notices to appear and subpoenas filed and/or served by Mr. Bereki, the records of the various court proceedings and in preparing the opposition to the pending motion, I have spent 8.5 hours. I anticipate spending an additional 1.5 hour in appearing at the hearing on this motion for a total of 10 hours. My billing rate is $360.00 per hour for a total cost to the Humphreys in defending against this spurious and frivolous motion of $3,600.00.

13. On June 4, 2025 I received the following email from Mr. Bereki:

"Good day, Let us all patiently await the discovery of whether supervising Superior Court Judge, David Hesseltine, will tell the truth, exposing nearly 100 years of legislative, executive, and judicial tyranny in Commiefornia involving Cal. Business and Profession Code §7031

TO THE COURT, ALL PARTIES, AND THEIR ATTORNEY(S) OF RECORD:

Defendant Adam Bereki submits this Reply in support of the Motion to Vacate Void Judgment (Independent Action in Equity) filed May 29, 2025 (ROA 361), addressing the opposition filed by Defendants/Cross-Complainants Gary and Karen Humphreys on or about June 13, 2025. The Opposition fails to refute the Motion's equitable grounds for vacating the April 17, 2017, judgment (ROA 200) and the October 31, 2018, appellate affirmation (Case No. G055075) as void ab initio due to lack of jurisdiction, extrinsic fraud, and constitutional violations. The Humphreys' absurd request for sanctions under CCP § 128.5, accusing Defendant of vexatious litigation, is baseless and deflects from their egregious misconduct. The court is respectfully requested to vacate the void judgment and deny sanctions.

I. INTRODUCTION

The Motion is an independent action in equity invoking the court's inherent equity jurisdiction to vacate a void judgment at any time, pursuant to Olivera v. Grace, 19 Cal. 2d 570, 574 (1942) and Rose v Fuqua, 200 Cal.App.2d 719 (1962). The Opposition misconstrues this equitable action as a statutory motion subject to procedural bars, erroneously relying on People v. Dutra (2006) 145 Cal. App. 4th 1359, 1365–1366. A prior motion to vacate is not a bar to an independent action in equity. Such an action is an entirely distinct and separate proceeding when new facts are raised, and the defendant did not receive a full hearing on the prior motion, including the taking of oral testimony. (Rose v. Fuqua, 200 Cal.App.2d 719, 724 (1962)).

The Humphreys' counsel, William Bissell, deliberately misleads the Court by:

1. Omitting Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71 (2020);
2. Mischaracterizing Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201 (2020);
3. Arguing that this independent action in equity "is in all substantive respects nothing more than a refiling and rehash of virtually the same [previous] motion to vacate," despite it presenting new case law and evidence of extrinsic fraud; and
4. Asserting that the court had personal and subject matter jurisdiction when he knows—or reasonably should know—this is untrue in fact and law.

These actions violate:

a. Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 6068(c), by counseling and maintaining actions, proceedings, or defenses that he knows, or reasonably should know, are not legal or just;

b. Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 6068(d), by employing means inconsistent with truth to mislead the judge through artifice or false statements of fact or law to gain a civil advantage and procure subject matter jurisdiction through fraud;

c. Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 6068(a), by failing to support the Constitution and laws of the United States and California;

d. California Rules of Professional Conduct, Rule 3.3(a)(1), by lacking candor toward the tribunal; and e. Penal Code § 182(a)(1)-(5), by engaging in criminal conspiracy to commit crimes and maintain unlawful causes of action.

The Humphreys' failure to prove standing and capacity, despite Defendant's jurisdictional challenges, violates due process by shifting the burden to Defendant, exacerbating the judgment's voidness due to the penal nature of § 7031(a) and (b) and absence of a criminal complaint.

With over thirty years of legal practice, Bissell either deliberately misleads the court to defraud Defendant and the court through misrepresentations regarding subject matter jurisdiction or lacks a fundamental understanding of how a court derives its authority to act. Bissell's claim that subject matter jurisdiction stems solely from one provision of the California Constitution (Art. VI, § 10) is incorrect. While this article initially vests jurisdiction in a superior court, it is subject to other constitutional provisions governing judicial power. As recognized in Gibbons v. Ogden, 22 U.S. 1, 191 (1824), "the exceptions from a power mark its extent." Simply put, a court lacks authority to act in ways prohibited by the Constitution (Cal. Const. Art I, § 26–constitutional provisions are mandatory and prohibitory). Put bluntly, no court has subject matter jurisdiction to violate constitutional protections.

Subject matter jurisdiction is not established merely by an initial vesting of power but requires pleadings sufficient to invoke the court's authority (Buis v. State, 1990 OK CR 28, p.4 (1990)). A party seeking judicial relief must have standing for each type of relief requested (Associated Builders & Contractors, Inc. v. San Francisco Airports Com., 21 Cal. 4th 352 (1999); Summers v. Earth Island Institute, 555 U.S. 488 (2009)). A lack of standing constitutes a jurisdictional defect (People ex rel. Becerra v. Superior Court, 29 Cal. App. 5th 486, 496 (2018)).

The Opposition declares "the trial court had the requisite subject matter and personal jurisdiction to render judgment in this matter" yet fails to address any of the substantive arguments evidencing the opposite. In this case, Humphreys and Bissell lacked both the capacity and standing to exercise California's executive power to criminally prosecute the Defendant. This power is exclusively vested in the Governor under Art. V, § 1. As noted in

Robertson v. Watson, 560 U.S. 272, 282-83 (2010), citing Locke's Second Treatise, "a basic step in organizing a civilized society is to take that sword out of private hands and turn it over to an organized government, acting on behalf of all the people." Additionally, they lack standing to seek an award that violates the constitutional protections outlined in the Motion.

Finally, the public policy of finality of judgments and/or the doctrine of res judicata cannot overrule Constitutional protections: "[w]here rights secured by the Constitution are involved, there can be no rule making or legislation which would abrogate them" (Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436, 491 (1966); Cal. Const. Art I. § 26). Plaintiff's rights to liberty, property, privacy, and due/judicial process are protected by Cal. Const. Art. §§ 1, 7, 9, 17, U.S. Const. Art. I, § 10, and the Ninth and Tenth Amendments thereto, and clauses 20, 34, 39, 40 of the Magna Carta of 1215, all of which have been violated by the Humphreys, Bissell, and the Judges/Justices ultra vires and coram non judice actions.

II. OPPOSITION ARGUMENTS AND COUNTERARGUMENTS

A. Opposition Argument: The Motion Is a Repetitive Refiling of the 2019 Motion to Vacate, Lacking Merit

Humphreys' Position:

The Opposition contends that the Motion is a rehash of a February 2019 motion denied by Judge Di Cesare, who held that arguments were previously raised and rejected, and the trial court lacks jurisdiction post-remittitur to entertain attacks on the judgment's merits, citing People v. Dutra (2006) 145 Cal. App. 4th 1359, 1365–1366 (Opposition, p. 2).

Counterargument:

1. Nature of the Motion: The Motion is an independent action in equity, not a statutory motion under CCP § 473, invoking the Court's inherent equitable power to vacate void judgments at any time due to lack of jurisdiction or extrinsic fraud (Motion p.2; First Amended Declaration [Decl.] ¶ 3). A prior motion to vacate is not a bar to an independent action in equity which is an entirely distinct separate proceeding when new facts are raised and Defendant never received a full, fair, and impartial hearing in any related proceeding before this court or the court of appeal as evidenced in the 2025 Motion. Additionally, the trial of an issue on a motion must be as comprehensive as the trial of the same issue if the former is to bar the latter. (Rose v Fuqua, 200 Cal.App.2d 719, 724 (1962)). Defendant's 2025 action presents substantial new evidence which was never heard at the prior Motion. More importantly, the prior Motion is no bar to this action because it itself is void as it rests on two void judgments (trial and appeal) and cannot, therefore, be a bar to this action. "A void judgment is, in legal effect, no judgment. By it no rights are divested. From it no rights can be obtained. Being worthless in itself, all proceedings founded upon it are equally worthless. It neither binds nor bars any one" (Bennett v. Wilson, 122 Cal. 509, 513–14 (1898)(Bolded underlined emphasis added); Elliot v. Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828)). Additionally: 1) Dutra applies to valid judgments, not void ones, which are nullities subject to direct and collateral attack (Rochin v. Pat Johnson Mfg. Co., 67 Cal. App. 4th 1228, 1239 (1998)); and 2) the Humphreys failed to meet their burden to sustain the Court's jurisdiction on direct attack at the prior Motion violating due process. In sum, the order denying the Motion to Vacate, like the "judgements" at "trial" and "appeal", is an abomination of justice and utterly void/ "worthless".

2. Legal Authorities:
    - Olivera v. Grace, 19 Cal. 2d 570, 574 (1942): Courts possess inherent equitable jurisdiction to vacate void judgments, independent of statutory limits.
    - Pittman v. Beck Park Apartments Ltd., 20 Cal. App. 5th 1009, 1020 (2018): A judgment void on its face due to jurisdictional defects is subject to attack at any time.
    - Elliot v. Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828): Void judgments "neither bind nor bar any one" and may be challenged prior to reversal.
    - Carr v. Kamins, 151 Cal. App. 4th 929, 933–934 (2007): An independent action in equity is permissible even after prior motions to vacate, particularly with new evidence of fraud.
3. New Evidence and Law: The Motion presents new evidence, including Bryan Nickel's report (Ex. 6), Robert Brockway's deposition (Ex. 9), and Judge Chaffee's CHP interview (Ex. 11) (First Am. Decl. ¶¶ 23-32, 35), which demonstrate extrinsic fraud by the Humphreys and Bissell in concealing The Spartan Associates, Inc.'s role as the licensed contractor. Defendant did not present this evidence at the 2017 trial due to the following:

a. Humphreys' Concealment: Under California Evidence Code § 500, the Humphreys bore the burden to prove all elements of their § 7031(b) claim, including that Defendant personally performed unlicensed work (CACI § 4560(3)) and a was a "person" required to be licensed. Their failure to disclose evidence confirming Spartan's role and their false assertion that Defendant acted individually constituted extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court (see B3, infra), relieving Defendant of any obligation to disprove a negative (People v. Montes, 58 Cal. 4th 809, 863(2014)).

b. Spartan's Counsel's Failure: Counsel for The Spartan Associates, Inc. failed to elicit testimony introducing the Nickel and Brockway reports (Ex. 6, 9), which would have disproved the Humphreys' claim, and failed to raise the Humphreys' Motion for Summary Judgment (ROA 66, p. ii), which admitted Spartan was the contractor (Decl. ¶ 9). Defendant relied on counsel's representation of the corporation, and these omissions prejudiced his defense.

c. Emotional Distress: Defendant's severe anxiety and emotional distress during the trial, documented in prior declarations (ROA 267, p. 3; ROA 294, Ex. E; Decl. ¶¶ 16–19), impaired his ability to form coherent questions or present evidence effectively. The trial record, especially the Clerk's Transcript (Ex.1), reflects this distress, limiting his capacity to mount a defense.

d. Post-Trial Acquisition: Certain evidence, such as the CHP interview with Judge Chaffee dated April 16, 2024 (Ex. 11), was obtained post-trial, rendering it impossible to present in 2017.

These factors negate any procedural bar, including the failure to raise the statute of limitations defense, as addressed below, as independent actions in equity permit new evidence and issues to establish fraud or jurisdictional defects (Carr v. Kamins, 151 Cal. App. 4th 929, 933–934 (2007); Rochin v. Pat Johnson Mfg. Co., 67 Cal. App. 4th 1228, 1239 (1998)). New law, including Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71 (2020) and Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201 (2020), supports the penal nature of § 7031(a) and (b), rendering Dutra inapposite.

Conclusion:

The Motion's equitable basis, supported by new evidence and law, distinguishes it from the 2019 motion, warranting relief. The Opposition's reliance on Dutra misapplies a rule for valid judgments to a void one.

B. Opposition Argument: Res Judicata Bars the Motion

Humphreys' Position:

The Opposition asserts that res judicata and judicial estoppel preclude the Motion, as issues were raised or could have been raised in the 2017 trial, appeal, and subsequent petitions.

Counterargument:

1. Void Judgments Lack Preclusion: Res judicata and collateral estoppel do not apply to void judgments, which lack legal effect due to jurisdictional defects or extrinsic fraud. The Humphreys' unauthorized penal prosecution under § 7031(b) and concealment of its criminal nature constituted extrinsic fraud, preventing a fair hearing (Decl. ¶¶ 2-5,). It is the general rule that a court lacking jurisdiction in its most fundamental sense—that is, jurisdiction over the subject matter or the parties—has no power to hear or determine the case, and any judgment or order it may render is void. Defendant is baffled as to how—as Bissell and the Humphreys assert— a court acting without authority could possibly produce a valid final judgment. "A void judgment is, in legal effect, no judgment. By it no rights are divested. From it no rights can be obtained. Being worthless in itself, all proceedings founded upon it are equally worthless. It neither binds nor bars any one" Bennett v. Wilson, 122 Cal. 509, 513–14 (1898); Elliot v. Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828). Due process of law requires that a court have jurisdiction over the person and the subject matter before it may act, and any action taken without such jurisdiction violates the constitutional guarantee of a fair hearing. There has been no fair hearing before this court or the court of appeal because both courts acted without personal and subject matter jurisdiction (Motion pp.18-23 "Extrinsic Fraud and Fraud on the Court").

2. Legal Authorities:
    - Rochin v. Pat Johnson Mfg. Co., 67 Cal. App. 4th 1228, 1239 (1998): Res judicata is inapplicable to void judgments lacking jurisdiction.
    - Caldwell v. Taylor, 218 Cal. 471 (1933): Preclusion cannot shield fraudulent judgments, as it undermines judicial integrity; Judgments procured by fraud on the court are not entitled to res judicata.
3. New Evidence and Law: The Motion also introduces new evidence (Ex. 6, 9, 11; First Amen. Decl. ¶¶ 23-32, 35) and new law (Liu v. SEC, Eisenberg Village; Motion, pp. 10-11), which also negates res judicata by altering the legal landscape (People v. Boyer, 38 Cal. 4th 412, 442 (2006)). As previously addressed, Defendant did not present this evidence at trial due to: 1) his emotional distress; 2)Spartan's counsel's failure to introduce these critical reports or raise the Humphreys' prior "undisputed" factual admissions; 3) it wasn't his obligation to prove a negative; and, 4) post-trial acquisition, all justifying equitable relief. While some of this evidence could be seen as intrinsic fraud pertaining to adjudication of the merits within the proceedings, Defendant argues that it is actually extrinsic fraud because it was part of Humphreys and Bissell conspiracy to fraudulently procure subject matter jurisdiction and obtain relief by concealing material evidence that would have negated their right to relief by failing to state a claim, assuming arguendo they had the capacity to state the § 7031 claim. The court lacks subject matter jurisdiction to award a party relief when they have failed to state a claim (Drink Tank Ventures LLC v. Real Soda in Real Bottles, Ltd., 71 Cal. App. 5th 528 (2021)). Additionally, Bissell's deliberate misrepresentation of the legal landscape, omitting Liu v. SEC and mischaracterizing Eisenberg Village's punitive holding, as addressed below, further supports vacatur by continuing to perpetuate fraud on the court and conceal evidence of the extrinsic nature of the fraud.
4. Defendant Has Never Been Heard: While proceedings have indeed taken place in buildings called courts, Defendant has never in truth been heard. No judge has ever met Defendants arguments meaningfully and substantively by providing a competent analysis to affirmatively evidence under law that the court had personal and subject matter jurisdiction to allow a criminal prosecution disguised as a civil case to proceed without any of the mandatory heightened protections and then fine him $930,000. Surely if Defendant's arguments to the contrary were so incorrect, it should be relatively easy to provide competent authority he is wrong. Instead, every "judge" has refused to offer this meaningful and substantive response, denying Defendant full, fair, impartial trial (and independent appeal and vacate hearings when sitting in review/appellate capacity). "Due process of law does not mean according to the whim, caprice, or will of a judge, [citation]; it means according to law" In re Buchman's Est., 123 Cal. App. 2d 546, 559–60 (1954).

5. Response to Cited Cases: Busick and Federated Dept. Stores address valid judgments, not void ones. Torrey Pines and Rubenstein do not involve extrinsic fraud or jurisdictional defects, rendering them inapposite.

Conclusion:

The Opposition's preclusion argument fails, as the judgment's voidness and extrinsic fraud exempt it from res judicata. New evidence and law also justify renewed scrutiny.

C. Opposition Argument: The Judgment Is Not Void

Humphreys' Position:

The Opposition argues that Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201 (2020) does not void the judgment, as it only clarified the statute of limitations for § 7031 actions, and Defendant failed to raise this defense at trial. No substantive change in law invalidates § 7031(b).

Counterargument:

1. Penal Nature of § 7031(b): The Motion establishes that the judgment is void because § 7031(b) imposes a penal forfeiture, not equitable disgorgement, as confirmed by Eisenberg Village, 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201, 1212 (2020). Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020) limits equitable disgorgement to net profits, unlike the $848,000 award, which included no offsets, rendering it an unconstitutional bill of pains and penalties.

2. Lack of Evidence and Jurisdiction: The judgment violates due/judicial process, as no evidence demonstrated Defendant personally performed licensed work, as required by CACI 4560(3) (Decl. ¶¶ 12–13, 15) or was a "person" required to be licensed (United States v. Bass, 784 F.2d 1282, 1284 (5th Cir. 1986) (whether person/entity is subject to the statutory requirement is an essential element of the offense).The Humphreys' unauthorized prosecution lacked executive authority and the court had no authority to impose an excessive fine in violation of Art. I. § 7, further voiding the judgment.
3. Legal Authorities:
    - Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201, 1212 (2020): § 7031(b) is a punitive forfeiture, not an equitable remedy.
    - Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020): Disgorgement requires deduction of expenses, unlike § 7031(b)'s total forfeiture.
    - Hale v. Morgan, 22 Cal. 3d 388, 398–401 (1978): Penal statutes impose disproportionate sanctions without proof of harm.
    - Thompson v. Louisville, 362 U.S. 199, 204 (1960): Judgments lacking evidentiary support violate due process.
    - People v. Cowan, 47 Cal. App. 5th 32, 44 (2020), Excessive fines require proportionality and ability to pay analysis, absent here (Decl. ¶ 14).
4. Response to *Eisenberg Village: The Opposition's claim that Eisenberg only addressed the statute of limitations and that Defendant had a duty to raise it at trial is meritless. The Motion relies on Eisenberg's recognition of § 7031(b)'s punitive nature, not its statute of limitations holding, to argue the judgment is void as an unauthorized criminal penalty (Motion, pp. 9-10). As an independent action in equity, the Motion is not subject to procedural bars like waiver of affirmative defenses, as void judgments lack legal effect (Rochin v. Pat Johnson Mfg. Co., 67 Cal. App. 4th 1228, 1239 (1998); Olivera v. Grace, 19 Cal. 2d 570, 574 (1942)). Moreover, Eisenberg was decided in 2020, three years after the 2017 trial, and its clarification of the one-year statute of limitations under CCP § 340(a) was not established law at the time, excusing any failure to plead it (People v. Boyer, 38 Cal. 4th 412, 442 (2006)). The answer to the Humphreys' First Amended Cross-Complaint (ROA 166) was drafted by counsel for The Spartan Associates, Inc., who included Defendant's name, but Defendant had little knowledge of applicable defenses, relying on counsel's expertise (Decl. ¶ 9). This reliance, coupled with counsel's failure to plead the statute of limitations, negates any waiver in an equitable action. The Humphreys' concealment of evidence (Ex. 6, 9; Frist Amen. Decl. ¶¶ 23-26) and misrepresentation of the action as civil (Decl. ¶¶ 4-11) constituted extrinsic fraud, preventing a fair hearing and relieving Defendant of any duty to raise procedural defenses (Estate of Sanders, 40 Cal. 3d 607, 614 (1985). Defendant's severe emotional distress during trial (Decl. ¶¶ 18–19; ROA 267, 294) further impaired his ability to assert defenses, as addressed in Section II.A.3, supra.

5. Liu v. SEC and Bissell's Deliberate Misrepresentation:
    - The Opposition's assertion of "no substantive change in law" (Opposition, p. 7) is a deliberate attempt to mislead the Court, violating Bissell's ethical duties under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 6068 (d), which prohibits misleading the judge by false statements of law, and California Rules of Professional Conduct, Rule 3.3(a)(1), which requires candor regarding material legal authority (Decl. ¶¶ 16, 25–27). First, Bissell entirely omits Liu v. SEC (2020) 591 U.S. 71, which defined disgorgement as limited to net profits after deducting legitimate expenses, directly undermining the appellate court's 2018 ruling (RJN Ex. 2) that § 7031(b) is an equitable remedy. Second, Bissell mischaracterizes Eisenberg Village (2020) 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201 by claiming it only addressed the statute of limitations, ignoring its published holding that § 7031(b) imposes a punitive forfeiture, not an equitable remedy (53 Cal. App. 5th at 1212). These omissions and misrepresentations are not mere errors but a calculated effort to conceal material law supporting Defendant's claim that the $848,000 award is a punitive forfeiture, not disgorgement, rendering the judgment void as an unauthorized criminal penalty. Bissell's conduct, coupled with the concealment of evidence addressed in Section II.A.3, supra, perpetuates the Humphreys' extrinsic fraud in mislabeling a penal action as civil, denying Defendant criminal safeguards (Decl. ¶¶ 4–10). This corrupts the judicial process, mandating vacatur to protect the Court's integrity (Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co. (1944) 322 U.S. 238, 246).

Conclusion:

The judgment is void due to its penal nature, lack of evidentiary support, and unauthorized prosecution. Liu and Eisenberg provide new legal grounds, and Bissell's deliberate misrepresentation exacerbates the fraud.

D. Opposition Argument: The Trial Court Had Subject Matter and Personal Jurisdiction

Humphreys' Position:

The Opposition claims this court had subject matter jurisdiction under Cal. Const. Art. VI, § 10, as a civil action, and personal jurisdiction over Defendant due to his general appearance, per CCP § 410.50 and Pfeiffer v. Ash, 92 Cal. App. 2d 102 (1949) (Opposition, pp. 7–8).

Counterargument:

1. Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction: The trial court lacked subject matter jurisdiction, as the Humphreys' § 7031(b) action was an unauthorized penal prosecution requiring executive authority under Cal. Const. Art. V, § 1. No sworn criminal complaint was filed, rendering the action ultra vires (Motion, p. 12). As held in Drink Tank Ventures LLC v. Real Soda in Real Bottles, Ltd., 71 Cal. App. 5th 528, 543 (1949) "subject matter jurisdiction may not be conferred by consent, waiver, agreement, acquiescence or estoppel" and a lack of subject matter jurisdiction is so fundamental that it may be raised at any time (internal quotations and citations omitted). The court, proceeding under § 7031(b), exercised statutory, not common law general jurisdiction, which must appear on the record. Since § 7031(b) is penal, imposing a "stiff all-or-nothing penalty" (MW Erectors, Inc. v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Co., 36 Cal. 4th 412, 426 (2005)), and no criminal complaint was filed, jurisdiction was absent, rendering the judgment void (Albrecht v. United States, 273 U.S. 1, 8 (1927)). The Humphreys' reliance on Cal. Const. Art. VI, § 10 for general civil jurisdiction fails to address specific defects in this case, including the penal nature, absence of a criminal complaint, and constitutional violations (e.g., due process, excessive fines; Motion, pp. 15-18).

2. Lack of Personal Jurisdiction: Personal jurisdiction was absent due to no service of a criminal complaint and misrepresentation of the action as civil, inducing Defendant's participation without criminal safeguards (Motion, pp. 15–16; Decl. ¶¶ 4–10).
3. Due Process Violation by Burden-Shifting: The Humphreys' failure to prove their standing and capacity to prosecute a § 7031(b) action, despite Defendant's jurisdictional challenges at trial (e.g., ROA 244, Bill of Particulars), on appeal (ROA 300- Ex. A), and in the Motion, constitutes an additional due process violation. The Humphreys bore the burden to establish standing and capacity, including executive authority to seek penal relief under § 7031(b), yet failed to address these issues in their Opposition, on appeal, or at trial (e.g McNutt v. General Motors Acceptance Corp., 298 U.S. 178, 189 (1936)). Their reliance on Cal. Const. Art. VI, § 10 for general civil jurisdiction evades specific defects, such as the penal nature of § 7031(b), absence of a criminal complaint, and constitutional violations, which deprived the court of jurisdiction (Drink Tank Ventures LLC, supra). The California Supreme Court defines standing as the legal right to sue, requiring a plaintiff to show (1) a concrete and particularized injury-in-fact, (2) a causal link to the defendant's conduct, and (3) a likelihood of redress by the court, as articulated in cases like Associated Builders & Contractors, Inc. v. San Francisco Airports Com. (21 Cal. 4th 352, 1999) and California Medical Association v. Aetna Health of California Inc. (14 Cal. 5th 1075, 2023). Unlike the federal Constitution, the California Constitution does not explicitly impose a "case or controversy" requirement; however, these standing elements effectively incorporate similar principles to ensure only parties with a genuine stake—demonstrating actual harm, not hypothetical grievances—may litigate, as clarified in Associated Builders (1999). The Humphreys cross-complaint, the judgment roll itself, and trial evidence, fail to meet a single element of standing. The Humphreys failure to sustain their burden of proof on this issue improperly shifts the burden to Defendant to disprove their authority, violating due process by denying a fair opportunity to contest jurisdiction and forcing Defendant to litigate under an unlawful framework. The Humphreys' silence entrenches the judgment's voidness.

4. Legal Authorities:
   - Albrecht v. United States, 273 U.S. 1, 8 (1927): Lack of a formal criminal accusation voids jurisdiction.
   - People ex rel. Becerra v. Superior Court, 29 Cal. App. 5th 486, 496 (2018): Lack of standing is a jurisdictional defect.
   - In re Enrique G., 140 Cal. App. 4th 676, 685 (2006): Denial of criminal safeguards in punitive actions voids judgments.
5. Response to Cited Cases: Pfeiffer v. Ash assumes a valid civil action, not a covert penal prosecution. Defendant's appearance was induced by extrinsic fraud (Decl. ¶¶ 4–10), negating consent (Kulchar v. Kulchar, 1 Cal. 3d 467, 471 (1969). Cal. Const. Art. VI, § 10 does not authorize adjudication of ultra vires prosecutions. The Humphreys ignore that Art. VI, § 10 is subject to other Constitutional and statutory provisions defining the nature and scope of the Court's jurisdiction, such as Art V, § 1 requiring criminal prosecutions to be brought by and under the authority of the executive. "It is a rule of construction, acknowledged by all, that the exceptions from a power mark its extent" Gibbons v. Ogden, 22 U.S. 1, 191 (1824). The Court's jurisdiction is not unlimited as they fraudulently imply in further attempt to deceive the court.
6. Fraud and Standing: The Humphreys' concealment of evidence (Ex. 6, 9; First Amen. Decl. ¶¶ 23-26) and false claim that Defendant performed unlicensed work (Ex. 5, 6, 9) constitute fraud on the court, stripping jurisdiction (Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. 322 U.S. 238, 246 (1944)).

Conclusion:

The trial court lacked jurisdiction due to the Humphreys' unauthorized prosecution, fraud-induced appearance, and failure to prove standing, violating due process. The Opposition's reliance on general jurisdiction principles is misplaced. The court of appeal also lacked personal and subject matter jurisdiction to affirm this court's judgment.

E. Both this Court and the Court of Appeal Lacked Subject Matter Jurisdiction to Impose an Excessive Fine

The Humphreys failed to provide any authority to sustain their burden of proof that they have standing to receive the ~$930,000 penalty imposed by this Court and affirmed on appeal.

This court lacked subject matter jurisdiction to impose the $930,000 penalty under California Business and Professions Code § 7031(a) and (b), as it constituted an excessive fine in violation of Cal. Const. Art. I, § 17, rendering the judgment void. Under the Kennedy v. Mendoza-Martinez, 372 U.S. 144 (1963), factors adopted in People v. Gonzalez, 241 Cal.App.4th 1103 (2015), § 7031(a) and (b) are criminal due to their punitive intent and effect. Legislative history (RJN Ex. 13, p. 860) reveals a punitive purpose, imposing a "stiff all-or-nothing penalty" (MW Erectors, Inc. v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Co., 36 Cal. 4th 412, 426 (2005)) without offsets, unlike equitable disgorgement (Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020)), as confirmed by Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201, 1212 (2020). The penalty, 186 times § 7028's $5,000 fine and 40 times Defendant's net worth (Decl. ¶ 12), promotes retribution and deterrence (factor 4), targets criminal unlicensed contracting (factor 5), and is historically punitive (factor 2) (Hale v. Morgan, 22 Cal. 3d 388, 398-401 (1978) (statutory penalties that are disproportionate and lack remedial purpose are invalid, reinforcing § 7031's punitive nature), It imposes severe economic restraint via license suspension (factor 1) (Decl. ¶ 2), lacks scienter requirement (factor 3), and is excessive (factor 7) without remedial purpose (factor 6), unjustly enriching claimants with $930,000 in remodel value plus $848,000 (ROA 193; Decl. ¶¶ 10-11). This disproportionate fine, imposed without proportionality or ability-to-pay analysis (People v. Cowan, 47 Cal. App. 5th 32, 44, (2020)), meets Gonzalez's "clearest proof" standard, constituting a criminal penalty. The court, lacking jurisdiction to impose such a fine absent executive authority (Cal. Const. Art. V, § 1) and a criminal complaint (Albrecht v. United States, 273 U.S. 1, 8 (1927)), acted ultra vires, mandating vacatur (Drink Tank Ventures LLC v. Real Soda in Real Bottles, Ltd., 71 Cal. App. 5th 528, 541 (2021)).

F. Opposition Argument: Sanctions Are Warranted Under CCP § 128.5

Humphreys' Position:

The Opposition requests sanctions under CCP § 128.5, alleging the Motion is frivolous, filed in bad faith, and intended to harass, citing Defendant's June 4, 2025, email as disrespectful. The Humphreys seek $3,600 in attorney fees (Opposition, pp. 8–10; Bissell Decl. ¶ 12).

Counterargument:

1. Merit of the Motion: The Motion is not frivolous, as it raises legitimate claims of constitutional violations, extrinsic fraud, and jurisdictional defects, supported by new evidence (Ex. 6, 9, 11; First Amen. Decl. ¶¶ 23-26, 35) and law (Liu, Eisenberg). It is brought in good faith to redress a void judgment.
2. Audacious Sanctions Request: The Humphreys' and Bissell's accusations of vexatious litigation and harassment, coupled with their sanctions request, are audacious given their egregious misconduct in pursuing an unauthorized penal action under § 7031(b), concealing evidence (Ex. 6, 9; First Amen. Decl. ¶¶ 23-26), and misrepresenting the action as civil to deprive Defendant of criminal safeguards (First Amen. Decl. ¶¶ 6–10). Their attempt to sanction Defendant for exposing their fraud deflects from their own bad faith, which corrupted the judicial process and unlawfully deprived Defendant of property (Decl. ¶¶ 4, 14, 16–19). This conduct, not Defendant's Motion, warrants scrutiny (Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co. 322 U.S. 238, 246. (1944)).
3. Protected Speech: The June 4, 2025, email expresses Defendant's belief in systemic judicial corruption based on personal experience and his forensic seven-year investigation thereof (First. Amen. Decl. ¶¶ 16, 20), constituting protected speech under the First Amendment, not harassment.
4. Legal Authorities:
   - NAACP v. Claiborne Hardware Co., 458 U.S. 886, 913–915 (1982): Public advocacy is protected unless it incites imminent lawless action.
   - In re Marriage of Flaherty, 31 Cal. 3d 637, 650 (1982): Sanctions require clear evidence of bad faith; colorable arguments preclude sanctions.

5. Bissell's Misconduct: Bissell's concealment of Liu v. SEC and evidence (Ex. 6, 9; Decl. ¶¶ 25–27), and his deliberate misrepresentation of Eisenberg's punitive holding (Section II.C.5, supra), violate Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 6068(a)(c) and (d) and Rule 3.3(a)(1), undermining his standing to seek sanctions (Shelton, supra).
6. Conclusion: The Motion's merit, protected speech, and the Humphreys' misconduct preclude sanctions. Bissell's audacious request deflects from their fraud, warranting denial.

III. CONCLUSION

The Motion is a meritorious independent action in equity to vacate a void judgment, supported by new evidence and law. The Opposition fails to refute the judgment's voidness due to lack of jurisdiction, extrinsic fraud, and constitutional violations, exacerbated by Bissell's deliberate misrepresentation of Liu v. SEC and Eisenberg Village, and the Humphreys' failure to prove standing, violating due process. The audacious sanctions request is baseless, reflecting the Humphreys' bad faith. The Court is respectfully requested to vacate the void judgment (ROA 200), deny sanctions, and grant all relief prayed in the Motion, including restitution of all rights and property lost as a result of the judgment, licensing suspension, and declaratory relief. Additionally, if the court determines it lacks authority to vacate the void appellate judgment, this would not preclude it from vacating its own judgment as "a court may set aside a void order at any time. An appeal will not prevent the court from at any time lopping off what has been termed a dead limb on the judicial tree—a void order" (MacMillan Petroleum Corp. v. Griffin, 99 Cal. App. 2d 523, 533 (1950)).

Adam Bereki

DECLARATION OF ADAM BEREKI IN SUPPORT OF REPLY TO OPPOSITION TO MOTION TO VACATE VOID JUDGMENT

I, Adam Bereki, declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that:

1. I have personal knowledge of the facts herein, except where stated on information and belief.
2. This declaration supplements my First Amended Declaration filed in support of the Motion to Vacate Void Judgment, addressing why I did not present certain evidence or raise the statute of limitations defense at the 2017 trial, responding to the Opposition's misrepresentations, and addressing the Humphreys' failure to prove standing.
3. Under California Evidence Code § 500, the Humphreys bore the burden to prove all elements of their § 7031(b) claim, including that I personally performed unlicensed work. They failed to disclose evidence like the Nickel and Brockway reports, falsely alleging I acted individually, which was not my duty to disprove.
4. Counsel for The Spartan Associates, Inc., representing the corporation, drafted my answer to the Humphreys' First Amended Cross-Complaint (ROA 166) and included my name on it. At the time, I had little knowledge of the defenses I could assert, relying on counsel's expertise. Counsel failed to plead the statute of limitations under CCP § 340(a) and failed to elicit testimony at trial introducing the Nickel and Brockway reports (Ex. 6, 9), which would have disproved the Humphreys' claim, or raise the Humphreys' Motion for Summary Judgment (ROA 66, p. ii), which admitted Spartan was the contractor. These omissions prejudiced my defense (First Amen Decl. ¶ 9).
5. During the trial, I suffered severe anxiety and emotional distress, as documented in prior declarations (ROA 267, p. 3; ROA 294-Ex. E; First Amen. Decl. ¶¶ 18–19). The trial record reflects my inability to form coherent questions or present evidence effectively, further limiting my defense.
6. The one-year statute of limitations under CCP § 340(a), clarified by Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201 (2020), was not established law in 2017. My reliance on Spartan's counsel, the Humphreys' misrepresentation of the action as civil, and my emotional distress prevented me from raising this defense (Decl. ¶¶ 6–10, 18–19).

7. Bissell's statement in the Opposition that there is "no substantive change in law" is a deliberate misrepresentation, as it omits Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71 (2020), which defined disgorgement, and mischaracterizes Eisenberg Village as addressing only the statute of limitations, ignoring its published holding that § 7031(b) is punitive, not equitable (First Amen. Decl. ¶¶ 16). This misrepresentation misleads the Court and perpetuates the fraud in this case.
8. The Humphreys' accusation of vexatious litigation and request for sanctions are audacious, as they pursued an unauthorized penal action, concealed evidence, and misrepresented the action as civil to deprive me of rights and property, corrupting the judicial process (Decl. ¶¶ 16, 18–20). Their attempt to sanction me for exposing their misconduct is egregious and in bad faith.
9. The Humphreys failed to prove their standing and capacity to prosecute a § 7031(b) action, despite my jurisdictional challenges at trial (ROA 244), on appeal (ROA 300–Ex. A), in the prior Motion to Vacate, and in this Independent Action in Equity. Their reliance on Cal. Const. Art. VI, § 10 for general civil jurisdiction does not address the penal nature of § 7031(b), absence of a criminal complaint, or constitutional violations, improperly shifting the burden to me to disprove their authority, violating due process (Decl. ¶¶ 40–44).
10. Certain evidence, such as the CHP interview with Judge Chaffee dated April 16, 2024 (Ex. 11), was obtained post-trial and could not have been presented in 2017.
11. I do not believe Karen Humphreys, Gary Humphreys, and/or William Bissell were vested with any executive power of the State of California at the time of their complaint under §7031(b) and never have been at any time during this case. I intend to take the testimony of William Bissell at the hearing on this action to establish this belief as fact.
12. As a natural person, I am endowed with inalienable rights to life, liberty, and property as recognized by California Constitution, Article I, § 1. I reject any legal framework that binds me through fraud or duress, asserting my inalienable rights against any unknown summary and arbitrary jurisdiction claiming authority without my informed consent and in violation of the Constitutions of California and the United States.
13. I unequivocally revoke all consent, express or implied, to the California contractor licensing laws (Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7000 et seq.), the proceedings in Case Nos.

30-2015-00805807 and G055075, and the $930,000 judgment entered on April 20, 2017 (ROA 193, 200). My consent was obtained through systemic fraud and duress by the state's statutory framework and the actions of Karen and Gary Humphreys, William Bissell, and David Chaffee, rendering it void under California Civil Code §§ 1566–1568.

14. The state's contractor licensing laws, particularly § 7031(a) and (b), misrepresent penal sanctions as civil remedies (Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201, 1212 (2020)). These laws coerced my participation in the licensing system and court proceedings by concealing their punitive intent, imposing a $930,000 penalty without evidence of harm, profit, or my personal performance of licensed work (Decl. ¶¶ 10, 15; ROA 144). The absence of executive authority for this private prosecution (Cal. Const. Art. V, § 1) and lack of criminal safeguards misled me into waiving my rights to a jury trial and counsel (Decl. ¶¶ 6–8). The U.S. Supreme Court has held that a waiver of rights must be knowing, voluntary, and intelligent (e.g. Johnson v. Zerbst, 304 U.S. 458, 464 (1938). I have not knowingly, voluntarily, or intelligently waived any rights. Any consent procured through systemic statutory deception is void. Civil Code § 1567 confirms that my consent, induced by fraud and duress, is invalid.

15. The Humphreys' cross-complaint (ROA 144) and the court's judgment, labeling a $930,000 penalty as "disgorgement" and "damages" (ROA 193, 200), perpetuated the state's fraud by concealing § 7031(b)'s punitive purpose (RJN Ex. 13, p. 860). I participated in the proceedings, waived my jury trial, and proceeded without counsel under the mistaken belief that this was a civil action, not a penal prosecution (Decl. ¶¶ 6–9). Civil Code § 1568 recognizes my consent is void as I would not have consented had I known the true nature of the action. The state's licensing laws, with threats of license suspension (§ 7071.17) and forfeiture, compelled my participation in this unknown summary and arbitrary jurisdiction, which I reject ab initio.

16. The court's judgment imposed a fraudulent constructive trust, presuming I held $930,000 unjustly, despite no evidence of funds traceable to my possession, a prerequisite for such a remedy (Day v. Greene, 59 Cal. 2d 404, 411 (1963); Heckmann v. Ahmanson, 168 Cal. App. 3d 119, 136 (1985); Communist Party v. 522 Valencia, Inc., 35 Cal. App. 4th 980, 990 (1995)). Moreover, constructive trusts created by fraud, such as the misrepresentation of § 7031(b) as a civil remedy, are void. The absence of traceable funds or proven harm (Decl. ¶¶ 10–11) and the fraudulent imposition of the trust render it void under Civil Code § 1567, further invalidating my coerced consent.

17. I demand that this court vacate the $930,000 judgment as void for lack of jurisdiction, procured through fraud and duress (Pittman v. Beck Park Apartments Ltd., 20 Cal. App. 5th 1009, 1020 (2018)). I assert my non-consent to the California contractor licensing laws and all related proceedings, rescinding my participation pursuant to Civil Code §§ 1566–1568. The court must recognize this revocation, as consent obtained through systemic coercion and fraud is null and void. I seek restoration of my inalienable rights, free from this unknown summary arbitrary jurisdiction imposed by the licensing laws, this court, and the Fourth District Court of Appeal.

Tentative Ruling posted on the Internet.

Hearing held, participants appearing remotely and in person.

The Court hears oral argument.

The Court confirms the tentative ruling as follows:

Before the court is the "Motion to Vacate Void Judgment" filed by cross-defendant Adam Bereki (Bereki) on May 28, 2025. As set forth below, the motion is DENIED.

This is the second "Motion to Vacate Void Judgment" Bereki has filed in this action. Bereki filed the first motion to vacate on February 19, 2019, shortly after the Court of Appeal issued its remittitur on its opinion affirming the judgment Bereki seeks to set aside as void. In denying that prior motion, the court (Judge Di Cesare) ruled, "The arguments presented on this motion were already raised and rejected, and the appellate decision affirming the underlying judgment on the merits is now final. Upon remittitur, the trial court is revested with jurisdiction of the case only to carry out the judgment as ordered by the appellate court. (People v. Dutra (2006) 145 Cal.App.4th 1359, 1365-1366.) Arguments on the merits of the underlying judgment cannot be entertained anew here. The Motion is therefore Denied." (Mar. 15, 2019 Minute Order.)

This prohibition on raising challenges to the trial court judgment and Court of Appeal decision applies not only to challenges or arguments that previously were presented in those proceedings and rejected by the Court of Appeal, but also to any other challenges or arguments that could have been presented at that time. (Torrey Pines Bank v. Superior Court (1989) 216 Cal.App.3d 813, 821, citing Gates v. Superior Court (1986) 178 Cal.App.3d 301, 311 ["Res judicata bars 'not only the reopening of the original

Bereki attempts to avoid that conclusion in a couple ways. First, he argues a void judgment can be challenged at any time, and neither law of the case, res judicata, nor any other doctrine prevents a void judgment from being challenged because its void. Assuming he is correct, there is an important distinction here. The specific reasons he now argues as the basis for the judgment being void were previously considered and rejected by the Court of Appeal. Accordingly, it is not simply that there was a prior appeal in this case that prevents Bereki from raising these challenges now. Rather, these challenges are precluded because the same challenges were previously raised and considered. Indeed, his current claims about the alleged punitive nature of Business and Professions Code section 7031, the lack of evidence, the lack of personal and/or subject matter jurisdiction, etc. were considered by the Court of Appeal and rejected. In the current motion, Bereki acknowledges he raised these issues, and says the Court of Appeal either did not sufficiently consider them or got them wrong. This court cannot find the judgment void based on a ground the Court of Appeal already considered and rejected.

Second, Bereki characterizes this motion, at least in the reply, as an "independent action in equity." This, however, is not an independent action in equity. To the contrary, it is another motion to vacate the judgment in the very same case in which the judgment was entered, and in which a prior motion to vacate already was denied. Nonetheless, he has failed to show an independent action would allow a different result because res judicata bars not only the reopening of the original controversy, but also subsequent litigation of all issues which were or could have been raised in the original action. (Torrey Pines Bank v. Superior Court (1989) 216 Cal.App.3d 813, 821; Gates v. Superior Court (1986) 178 Cal.App.3d 301, 311.) Bereki has failed to show any arguments presented in this motion were not and could not have been presented in the prior proceedings. Bereki's citation to Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Construction Co. (2020) 53 Cal.App.5th 1201, 1212, and Liu v. SEC (2020) 591 U.S. 71, 79, do not change that result.

The court acknowledges Bereki's argument regarding fraud on the court, but the fraud argument is just a repackaging of the arguments the Court of Appeal already has rejected, i.e., his arguments about the punitive nature of section 7031, the lack of evidence, the lack of jurisdiction and the other arguments relating to those assertions.

As Bereki acknowledges, his arguments have not only been rejected by the Court of Appeal on his appeal from the judgment in this case, but also by the California Supreme Court in its denial of his petition for review, the United States Supreme Court in its denial of his petition for certiorari, the United States District Court in his unsuccessful separate lawsuit, and the Ninth Circuit in his appeal from the District Court's ruling.

In conclusion, having reviewed and considered Bereki's papers in connection with the present motion, Bereki has presented nothing to convince the court that it either can set aside the judgment, or assuming it could, that the court should set aside the judgment. Accordingly, the motion is DENIED.

Bereki's Request for Judicial Notice is GRANTED as to the existence of and legal effects of the various court records identified in the request (i.e., Exhibit 1-12), but otherwise DENIED as not relevant in context here.

Bereki's request to offer testimony by calling attorney William G. Bissell, counsel for cross-complainants Karen Humphreys and Gary Humphreys (collectively, Humphreys), at the hearing is DENIED. Law and motion matters such as Bereki's motion to vacate are customarily decided on the papers with evidence being presented through declarations, requests for judicial notice, and other similar means. Trial courts, however, do have discretion to consider oral testimony. (Rosenthal v. Great Western Financial Security Corp. (1996) 14 Cal.4th 394, 414.) Indeed, trial courts have the discretion to receive or not receive oral testimony on law and motion matters based on their determination whether oral testimony would be necessary or helpful in deciding the matter. (Reifler v. Superior Court (1974) 39 Cal.App.3d 479, 485.) Here, the trial court declines to exercise its discretion to receive oral testimony and therefore denies Bereki's request because the court finds it is neither necessary nor helpful based on the foregoing analysis of the issues presented.

Finally, the Humphreys' request for unspecified monetary sanctions is DENIED. That ruling, however, is without prejudice to any future request for sanctions and/or to a motion to deem Bereki a vexatious litigant if Bereki continues to repeatedly assert the same challenges to the judgment.

The Humphreys' counsel is ordered to give notice of this ruling.

After the Court issued its ruling, the moving party made an oral request to disqualify the judicial officer pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 170.1. The Court denied the request as untimely and procedurally improper, without prejudice to the moving party properly filing a written 170.1 motion in the future.

I hereby certify the foregoing instrument consisting of 3 page(s) is a true and correct copy of the original on file in this court.

VERIFIED STATEMENT TO DISQUALIFY JUDGE DAVID HESSELTINE

Dept: C23

TO THE COURT, ALL PARTIES, AND THEIR ATTORNEY(S) OF RECORD:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Adam Bereki, Defendant, in pro per, moves to disqualify Judge David J. Hesseltine under Code of Civil Procedure (CCP) § 170.1(a)(6)(A)(iii) for an appearance of bias, actual bias, violations of due/judicial process under California Constitution, Article I, Section 7, and bills of pains and penalties under California Constitution, Article I, Section 9, and U.S. Constitution, Article I, Section 10, pursuant to CCP § 170.3(c)(1). This motion is based on: (1) Hesseltine's rulings on August 6, 2024, and March 25, 2025, in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon, Case No. 30-2022-01259274 (Ex. 1), creating a pecuniary interest due to potential liability for structural jurisdictional errors depriving him of civil damages immunity; (2) his knowledge of this conflict prior to my Motion to Vacate Void Judgment filed May 28, 2025 (ROA 361, 356, 360, 386) and refusal to recuse himself; (3) his refusal to correct substantive errors in his tentative and final rulings denying my motion (Exs. 2–4); (4) his incorrect claims that my oral disqualification motion was untimely and improper; (5) his prior role as Senior Appellate Attorney at the Fourth District Court of Appeal, Division 3, suggesting professional and likely personal relationships with Justices Aronson, Goethals, and/or O'Leary, whom I allege committed structural jurisdictional errors that would also subject them to liability; (6) his potential relationships with retired Superior Court for the County of Orange Judges Di Cesare and/or Chaffee, also alleged to have committed jurisdictional errors subjecting them to liability; (7) his conduct constituting fraud on the court and perpetuating a conspiracy to procure an unlawful judgment through the unlawful enforcement of § 7031 actions; (8) his false Minute Order statement that my arguments were rejected by higher courts, despite no full, fair, or impartial judicial determination thereof; (9) his refusal to allow testimony from attorney William Bissell, critical to proving extrinsic fraud and conspiracy; (10) his enforcement of a discharged judgment, violating federal bankruptcy law; (11) his denial of my Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay of Unlawful Detainer Action (ROA 306), filed March 14, 2025, on March 18, 2025, and Ex Parte Application for Reconsideration, filed May 21, 2025, despite notice of the bankruptcy discharge, perpetuating the harm of the void judgment and denying me restitution (Exs. 7–9); and, (12) his refusal to provide a court reporter or allow recording of proceedings, obstructing my due/judicial process right to preserve the record for appeal.

Due to systemic unlawful § 7031(b) rulings in the Superior Court of California, County of Orange (and all rulings involving public welfare and/or public regulatory and/or quasi criminal, and/or strict liability offenses where punishment of any kind is imposed in all courts throughout California)[1], I request the Judicial Council assign an impartial judge without prior § 7031(b) or rulings involving public welfare and/or public regulatory and/or quasi-criminal and strict liability offenses where punishment of any kind is imposed to avoid pecuniary conflicts and vacate the judgment due to bias. I have filed a notice of appeal in the event this motion is not granted.

This statement is supported by Exhibits 1–13, the record in Case No. 30-2015-00805807, all § 7031(a) and (b) cases incorporated as if fully set forth herein, and any further evidence at a hearing, if ordered. I request judicial notice of Exhibits 1–13 and all documents in Fourth District Court of Appeal Case No. G055075, and all document in UD Case No. (30-2025-01459684) under Cal. Evid. Code § 452(d). This statement has been served on Judge Hesseltine, Presiding Judge Maria D. Hernandez, the Judicial Council of California by U.S.P.S. first-class mail, and on opposing parties Karen and Gary Humphreys through their attorney, William Bissell, by email (see Proofs of Service).

FACTUAL BASIS FOR DISQUALIFICATION

I, Adam Bereki, have personal knowledge of the facts herein, except where stated on information and belief, and declare them true under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California:

1. On May 28, 2025, I filed a Motion to Vacate Void Judgment, Case No. 30-2015-00805807 (ROA 361) arguing the $930,000 judgment under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(a) and (b) is void due to extrinsic fraud (Humphreys' misrepresentation of § 7031(a) and (b) as civil, causing jury trial waiver), structural jurisdictional defects (no standing, usurpation of executive authority, denial of counsel, and all heightened protections required in criminal proceedings), and unconstitutionality (excessive fine, denial of criminal protections) accord: Albrecht v. United States, 273 U.S. 1, 8 (1927) (no standing for private parties to enforce penal statutes); People v. Cowan, 47 Cal.App.5th 32, 43 (2020) (penalties violate excessive fines clause if disproportionate and ability to pay not considered); Elliot v. Lessee of Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828) (courts lack power to affirm void judgments). My intent was to invoke the court's equitable jurisdiction as an independent action in equity (ROA 361, First Am. Decl. ¶ 3 (ROA 369). Bacon v. Bacon, 150 Cal. 477, 482 (1907) (courts have equitable jurisdiction to vacate judgments for fraud). My restitution claim, including vacatur and damages minimally $5 million, was abandoned to me on December 31, 2024, in bankruptcy

Case No. 8:22-BK-12076-SC (Ex. 6, Abandonment Order and Motion to Compel Abandonment). New evidence and law support my claims: Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201, 1212 (2020) (Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(b) is a penalty); Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020) (disgorgement limited to net profits, not penalties).

2. On June 26, 2025, I orally moved to disqualify Judge Hesseltine, citing his rulings on August 6, 2024, and March 25, 2025, in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon, Case No. 30-2022-01259274 (Ex. 1) applying § 7031(b) as civil and awarding $280,037.49, and his refusal to correct structural jurisdictional errors in the tentative ruling (Ex. 2). He denied the motion as improper and untimely, stating, "The court had already ruled in this matter, so in terms of disqualification for the ruling on this particular motion, that is not appropriate since it was not made until after the ruling was made" (Ex. 3- Minute Order, Ex. 4 Reporter's Transcript). This is incorrect, as it was a good-faith effort to prevent due/judicial process violations, followed by this statement. The Moorefield ruling conflicts with my motion's arguments that § 7031(b) is penal, creating a duty to recuse, CCP § 170.3(a)(1), in addition to the duty not to violation due/ judicial process, Cal. Const; Art. I, §§ 7, 9, 26, U.S. Const. Art. I, § 10.

3. Approximately ten days before the June 26, 2025, hearing, I discovered the Moorefield conflict but allowed Hesseltine the opportunity to abide his sworn duties and to rule honorably and lawfully. Upon receiving his tentative ruling prior to the hearing, I identified structural jurisdictional errors, raised them at the hearing, and moved to disqualify him when he refused to correct them because they deprived him of subject matter jurisdiction to affirm a void judgment pursuant to Elliot v. Lessee of Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 341 (1828)[2] and/or to violate due process World-Wide Volkswagen Corp. v. Woodson, 444 U.S. 286 (1980) (judgments in violation of due process are void); Art. I, §§ 7, 9, 26, U.S. Const.

[2] "Where a court has jurisdiction, it has a right to decide every question which occurs in the cause, and whether its decision be correct or otherwise, its judgment, until reversed, is regarded as binding in every other court. But if it act without authority, its judgments and orders are regarded as nullities. They are not voidable, but simply void, and form no bar to a recovery sought, even prior to a reversal, in opposition to them. They constitute no justification, and all persons concerned in executing such judgments or sentences are considered in law as trespassers."

Art. I, § 10. He denied the motion to disqualify as untimely and improper (Ex. 3), despite my timely raising bias after his ruling showed partiality.

4. Judge Hesseltine was informed of my bankruptcy discharge, Case No. 8:22-BK-12076-SC (Ex. 5) issued March 27, 2023, via my Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay, (ROA 306) filed March 14, 2025, and by opposing counsel William Bissell at the June 26, 2025, hearing (Ex. 4, Transcript pending). He denied my Motion to Vacate, refusing to vacate the discharged and void judgment and denied restitution (Ex. 3), resulting in a bill of pains and penalties (denial of judicial determination of rights (judge acting coram non judice and imposing punishment– denial of rights to liberty and property and ~$5 million dollars in restitution).
5. On March 14, 2025, I filed an Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay of Unlawful Detainer Action (Case No. 30-2025-01459684) (ROA 306), in the instant case, arguing the UD, initiated by Canjian Hou, stemmed from a wrongful foreclosure sale (November 18, 2024) caused by enforcement of the void $930,000 judgment. The moving papers contained a combined Ex Parte Application, a Motion to Vacate the Void Judgment in the instant case, and an answer in the UD case. While I understand this combination is procedurally improper, the papers were filed under duress as the unlawful taking/theft of my home was imminent and I had been denied relief in all branches of state and federal government (ROA 306). The Deputy Clerk gave me the choice to file certain aspects of document (Ex Parte Application/ Motion to Vacate) in the instant case, or the answer to the UD complaint in the UD case, but not both, despite my demand, forcing me to file only in the instant case. On March 17, 2025 (the day of the Ex Parte hearing) Hou's counsel filed a default request without notice. The clerk then prematurely entered default on March 18, 2025 after the request in violation of CCP § 1013.I attempted to file an answer in the UD Case on March 19, 2025, however it was again rejected by the Deputy Clerk on the grounds that a default had already been issued.
6. In the moving papers, I notified Hesseltine of the bankruptcy discharge, judgment lien avoidance, and my restitution claim, and requested a court reporter or permission to record due to financial hardship (ROA 306). At the Ex Parte hearing on March 18, 2025, Judge Hesseltine denied my Application for a stay of the unlawful detainer action with a one-word minute order ("denied"), stating my arguments, including the claim that the 2015 judgment was void, were rejected by higher courts and barred by the law of the case doctrine (Ex. 7, Transcript, p. 4, ll. 10–20). He minimally addressed the merits, dismissing my voidness argument as unsupported by the record (Ex. 7, Transcript, p. 4, ll. 15–25 – p. 5 ll. 1-4; p. 9, ll. 18–23), and did not engage with my citations of new case law evidencing the voidness, Eisenberg and Liu v. SEC (Ex. 7, Transcript, p. 8, ll. 15–21; p. 9, ll. 1–5). Despite my claims of exhausted remedies and requests for a forum for relief, he offered no specific guidance, citing his inability to provide legal advice (Ex. 7, Transcript, p. 5, ll. 15–25; p. 7, l. 18 to p. 8, l. 14; p. 10, ll. 12–18).

7. On May 21, 2025, I filed an Ex Parte Application for Reconsideration (ROA 341) to vacate the March 18, 2025, order, stay the UD action, and restore possession, arguing the March 18th order was void for due/judicial process violations (one-word denial, failure to address harm, lack of court reporter, misleading statements) and that the UD default was unlawful due to lack of notice premature entry and lack of standing. On June 22,2025, Judge Hesseltine denied the motion (Ex. 9), again refusing to address the merits of the stay, such as irreparable harm, and deferring judgment challenges to a later hearing, while mischaracterizing the March 18 ruling as substantive when it focused on procedural issues (Ex. 8[3], Transcript, p. 3, ll. 15–25; p. 4, ll. 1–4; p. 5, ll. 4–8; p. 8, ll. 12–14). He provided no guidance on alternative forums for relief despite my claims of due process violations, including the March 18 default and rejected answer on March 19, 2025, directing UD issues to the UD department (Ex. 8, Transcript, p. 5, ll. 15–25; p. 6, ll. 1–20; p. 6, l. 21 to p. 7, l. 5) despite the fact that I continued to be denied a full, fair, and impartial hearing on these issues in the UD case. He reiterated that recording is not allowed in unlimited civil matters, citing statutory limits and resource constraints, despite my fee waiver and Cal. Rules of Court, Rule 1.150(d). Ex. 8, Transcript, p. 1, ll. 10–25; p. 2, ll. 1–19; p. 3, ll. 1–2.

[3] Despite Judge Hesseltine's denials of a court reporter and/or to allow me to create an audio recording of the ex parte proceedings, I recorded them anyway to prevent spoliation of evidence for appeal and/or other relevant proceedings, such as this, and to ensure my rights to due/judicial process would be fully protected. See especially Jameson v. Desta, 5 Cal. 5th 594, 608–09, (2018) ("Under current California law, in most civil proceedings the presence of a court reporter is required in order to obtain a verbatim record of trial court proceedings and, ultimately, the preparation of an officially recognized reporter's transcript for use on appeal. The inclusion of court reporter fees in the original court rules setting forth the categories of costs and fees to which an economically needy litigant is entitled to a waiver, as well as the explicit legislative codification of such entitlement in section 68086(b) in 2013, reflect the realistic, crucial importance that the presence of a court reporter currently plays in the actual protection of a civil litigant's legal rights and in providing such a litigant equal access to appellate justice in California. As the Court of Appeal decision in the present case aptly demonstrates, the absence of a court reporter at trial court proceedings and the resulting lack of a verbatim record of such proceedings will frequently be fatal to a litigant's ability to have his or her claims of trial court error resolved on the merits by an appellate court. This is so because it is a fundamental principle of appellate procedure that a trial court judgment is ordinarily presumed to be correct and the burden is on an appellant to demonstrate, on the basis of the record presented to the appellate court, that the trial court committed an error

8. At the Motion to Vacate hearing on June 26, 2025, Judge Hesseltine refused to correct errors in his tentative ruling, including misapplication of res judicata, ignoring fraud and conspiracy by the Humphreys and Bissell,and failing to address § 7031(a) and (b)'s penal nature and new case law: Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201, 1212 (2020); Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020). He dismissed Eisenberg as a statute of limitations case (even though it held § 7031(b) imposed a penal forfeiture), stating, "I'm positive that I would never be able to convince you of anything." Shortly thereafter he closed the Zoom proceeding, refusing to engage in these substantive issues either at the hearing on in the tentative (Ex.'s 2, 3, 4).
9. Judge Hesseltine's refusal to recognize my Motion to Vacate as an independent action in equity, despite my intent (ROA 361, First Amen. Decl. ¶ 3), denied my right to invoke equitable jurisdiction. Bacon v. Bacon, 150 Cal. 477, 482 (1907);

that justifies reversal of the judgment."). (Footnote and citations omitted.). Based on over 25 years of experience in civil and criminal investigations as former police officer and expert forensic investigator, my experience has shown that people who desire to tell the truth ordinarily have nothing to hide, exhibit a strong desire to be heard and to answer questions, and have no problem being recorded. On the other hand, those who seek to hide and/or conceal the truth and/or their unlawful behavior, do the opposite. I'm unable to conceive any reason why Judge Hesseltine would deny me the right to personally record the proceedings or to a court reporter other than to conceal his egregiously unconstitutional and criminal behavior.

Olivera v. Grace, 19 Cal.2d 570, 576 (1942); Rose v. Fuqua, 200 Cal.App.2d 719, 724 (1962); Bloniarz v. Roloson, 70 Cal.2d 143, 147 (1969).

10. Judge Hesseltine's stay, reconsideration, and Motion denials perpetuate the harm of the void judgment, enabling an unlawful default, eviction, ~$60,000 in property damage/loss, and continued involuntary servitude where I am forced to perform forensic investigation and reporting services without pay to expose the fraud and corruption that continues to be perpetrated on me to defend my rights and property.
11. To further evidence my allegations of extrinsic fraud, fraud on the court, and conspiracy between cross-complainants and their counsel, I subpoenaed their attorney, William Bissell, to appear at the Motion to Vacate/ Independent Action hearing and produce documents, but Hesseltine refused, denying critical evidence. Rosenthal v. Great Western Fin. Sec. Corp., 14 Cal.4th 394, 414 (1996) (testimony required to resolve fraud).
12. Judge Hesseltine's prior role as Senior Appellate Attorney (2010–2017, per Orange County Bar Association online records) suggests relationships with Justices Aronson, Goethals, O'Leary, and retired Judges Di Cesare and Chaffee, whom I allege committed structural jurisdictional errors. I requested Judicial Council records to evidence his relationships with the Court of Appeal Justices, but they were deemed non-disclosable.
13. Judge Hesseltine's Minute Order (Ex. 3) falsely stated my arguments were rejected by the Court of Appeal, California Supreme Court, U.S. Supreme Court, U.S. District Court, and Ninth Circuit, when no full, fair, or impartial determination occurred. His conduct constitutes fraud on the court, perpetuating the Humphreys' and Bissell's conspiracy to misrepresent § 7031(a) and (b) as civil.
14. All § 7031(a) and (b) cases are incorporated as if fully set forth herein.
15. Exhibits 1–13 are true copies, except for non-substantive marks. Ex. 4 is pending from the court reporter.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

I, Adam Bereki, move to disqualify Judge David J. Hesseltine under CCP § 170.1(a)(6)(A)(iii) for an appearance of bias, actual bias, violations of due/judicial process under California Constitution, Article I, Section 7, and bills of pains and penalties under California Constitution, Article I, Section 9, and U.S. Constitution, Article I, Section 10. Hesseltine's rulings on August 6, 2024, and March 25, 2025, in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon, Case No. 30-2022-01259274 (Ex. 1) applying Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(b) as civil and awarding $280,037.49, conflict with my Motion to Vacate Void Judgment, filed May 28, 2025 (ROA 361) which argues § 7031(a) and (b) are penal and unconstitutional, creating a pecuniary interest due to potential liability. Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006).

Judge Hesseltine's refusal to correct errors in his tentative and final rulings (Exs. 2–4), false Minute Order statements, denial of Bissell's testimony, enforcement of a discharged judgment despite notice of my bankruptcy (Exs. 5–6), denial of my Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay and Ex Parte Application for Reconsideration (ROA 306; Exs. 7–8), and refusal to provide a court reporter or allow recording demonstrate bias and violations of due/judicial process.

Judge Hesseltine's prior role as Senior Appellate Attorney (2010–2017) suggests personal and/or professional relationships with Justices Aronson, Goethals, O'Leary, and with retired Superior Court Judges Di Cesare and Chaffee who served in the same Superior Court, whom I allege are a part of the conspiracy to commit extrinsic fraud, fraud on the court, and perpetuate an unlawful judgment with structural jurisdictional errors, exacerbating the appearance of bias. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009).

Judge Hesseltine's conduct perpetuates a conspiracy to procure an unlawful judgment. Due to systemic unlawful § 7031(b) rulings in the Superior Court of California, County of Orange (and all rulings involving public welfare and/or public regulatory and/or quasi criminal, and/or strict liability offenses where punishment of any kind is imposed in all courts throughout California), I request the Judicial Council assign an impartial judge without prior § 7031(b) or rulings involving public welfare and/or public regulatory and/or quasi-criminal and strict liability offenses where punishment of any kind is imposed to avoid pecuniary conflicts and vacate the judgment due to bias. I have filed a notice of appeal in the event this motion is not granted.

I have filed a notice of appeal in the event this motion is not granted.

A complaint is separately filed with the Commission on Judicial Performance, but this motion independently seeks disqualification.

II. LEGAL STANDARD

CCP § 170.1(a)(6)(A)(iii) requires disqualification if a person aware of the facts might reasonably entertain a doubt that the judge would be able to be impartial. United Farm Workers of America v. Superior Court, 170 Cal.App.3d 97, 103-104 (1985).

Actual bias or egregious conduct violating due/judicial process, Cal. Const. Art. I, § 7, or imposing bills of pains and penalties, Cal. Const. Art. I, § 9; U.S. Const. Art. I, § 10, mandates disqualification. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009); People v. Freeman, 47 Cal.4th 993, 1000 (2010).

A judge's unconstitutional application of a penal statute as civil is ultra vires. Elliot v. Lessee of Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828) (courts lack power to affirm void judgments). Fraud on the court or pecuniary interests from prior rulings creates an appearance of bias. Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006).

Res judicata does not apply to void judgments lacking subject matter jurisdiction, as this would elevate a judge above the Constitution. Vanhorne's Lessee v. Dorrance, 2 U.S. 304, 317 (1795). Ex parte Giambonini, 177 Cal. 573, 576 (1897) (judges must act within conferred power).

CCP § 170.3(a)(1) mandates recusal upon determining disqualification, and § 170.3(c)(1) allows a written verified statement after refusal, filed at the earliest practicable opportunity. Oral motions are permissible to raise disqualification sua sponte to prevent due/judicial process violations, followed by a written statement.

III. ARGUMENT

A. Pecuniary Interest from Moorefield Conflict

Judge Hesseltine's rulings on August 6, 2024, and March 25, 2025, in Moorefield, Ex. 1, applying § 7031(b) as civil and awarding $280,037.49, conflict with my Motion to Vacate, which argues § 7031(b) is penal and criminal, imposing a fine. Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201, 1212 (2020); Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020); People v. Estes, 218 Cal.App.4th Supp. 14 (2013); Ex parte Clark, 24 Cal.App. 389, 393 (1914) (penal statutes require criminal safeguards). His knowledge of this conflict imposed a duty to recuse under CCP § 170.3(a)(1), Cal. Const. Art.'s 1 and 9 and U.S. Const. Art. I, § 10. His failure to do so, risking liability for jurisdictional errors in the Moorefield case (and potentially others not yet known), creates an appearance of bias. Rankin v. Howard, 633 F.2d 844, 849 (1980) (judicial liability for jurisdictional errors); Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009); Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006).

Judge Hesseltine faced a dilemma: ruling in my favor risked exposing himself and other judicial officers to civil liability for acting without subject matter jurisdiction, while ruling against me exposed him to similar liability for jurisdictional errors. This conflict created a duty to recuse under CCP § 170.3(a)(1). His failure to do so raises concerns about bias and impartiality. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009); Rankin v. Howard, 633 F.2d 844, 849 (1980).

Judge Hesseltine's enforcement of a discharged judgment, denial of the UD stay and reconsideration to determine the judgment's validity prior to forced eviction and irreparable harm, and refusal to allow recording further risk liability for violating federal bankruptcy law and due/judicial process, exacerbating this interest (see Section III.F).

B. Bias from Relationships with Judicial Officers

Judge Hesseltine's service as Senior Appellate Attorney at the Fourth District Court of Appeal, Division 3 (2010–2017, per Orange County Bar Association records), suggests professional and personal relationships with Justices Aronson, Goethals, and O'Leary, whom I allege committed structural jurisdictional errors in affirming the void judgment. I requested public records from the Judicial Council to evidence these relationships, but they were deemed non-disclosable. His likely relationships with retired Superior Court Judges Di Cesare and Chaffee, also alleged to have committed jurisdictional errors, and his role as a supervising judge create an appearance of bias. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009); Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006).

C. Fraud on the Court

Judge Hesseltine's conduct constitutes unequivocal fraud on the court, perpetuating the Humphreys' and Bissell's conspiracy to misrepresent § 7031(a) and (b) as civil, despite their penal nature, and upholding a judgment lacking personal and subject matter jurisdiction due to no criminal complaint being filed and structural jurisdictional errors. My Motion to Vacate and Ex Parte Application, argued that § 7031(b) imposes a punitive forfeiture, requiring executive authority and criminal safeguards. Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201, 1212 (2020). Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020). Ex parte Clark, 24 Cal.App. 389, 393 (1914); People v. Estes, 218 Cal.App.4th Supp. 14 (2013). Hesseltine's refusal to engage with these authorities, dismissal of Eisenberg as a statute of limitations case, false Minute Order statements that my arguments were rejected by the Court of Appeal, California Supreme Court, U.S. Supreme Court, U.S. District Court, and Ninth Circuit (Ex. 3), denial of the UD stay and Ex Parte Application for Reconsideration despite notice of the void judgment's connection to the foreclosure (Exs. 7–9), and refusal to address UD due process violations (e.g., lack of notice for default request, premature entry, lack of standing) entrenched this fraud, undermining judicial integrity. His actions shielded the Humphreys' and Bissell's conspiracy to procure the judgment through a civil action for a criminal offense.

D. Misapplication of Res Judicata

Judge Hesseltine's tentative, final rulings, stay denial, and reconsideration denial misapplied res judicata and law of the case to shield a void judgment, ignoring new evidence and law demonstrating extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court by the Humphreys, their attorney William Bissell, Judges David Chaffee and James Di Cesare, and Appellate Justices Aronson, Goethals, and O'Leary, which arose during the court proceedings and were not part of the original complaint or litigated in the prior action. Allied Fire Protection v. Diede Constr., Inc., 127 Cal. App. 4th 150, 155 (2005) (res judicata does not bar claims arising after the initial complaint; such rights may be asserted in a subsequent action); Yager v. Yager, 7 Cal.2d 213, 217 (1936) (rights acquired pendente lite, not raised by supplemental pleading, are not foreclosed in later actions); Kettelle v. Kettelle, 110 Cal.App. 310, 312 (1930) (res judicata inapplicable to new rights acquired during action not required to be litigated). These fraud claims, involving misrepresentations of the penal nature of Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(a) and (b), denying me criminal safeguards and a fair hearing, are supported by new evidence and law. Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201, 1212 (2020) (§ 7031(b) imposes a punitive forfeiture, not equitable relief); Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020) (disgorgement limited to net profits, unlike § 7031(b)'s total forfeiture); Trackman v. Kenney, 187 Cal.App.4th 175, 184 (2010) (extrinsic evidence supports voidness claims); Estate of Sanders, 40 Cal.3d 607, 614 (1985) (extrinsic fraud denies a fair hearing); Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co., 322 U.S. 238, 246 (1944) (fraud on the court undermines judicial integrity).

Res judicata also does not apply to void judgments lacking subject matter jurisdiction, as this would elevate a judge above the Constitution. Vanhorne's Lessee v. Dorrance, 2 U.S. 304 (1795); Bennett v. Wilson, 122 Cal. 509, 513-14 (1898); Nelson, 35 San Diego L. Rev. 555, 559 (1998). Hesseltine's reliance on Torrey Pines Bank v. Superior Court, 216 Cal.App.3d 813 (1989), is misplaced, as it involved a voluntary dismissal, not structural jurisdictional defects or fraud. His claim that voidness must appear "on the face of the record" under CCP § 473(d) (Ex. 7) is erroneous, as void judgments can be attacked at any time, including via the Thompson exception. Thompson v. Cook, 20 Cal.2d 564, 569 (1942) (voidness need not appear on the record if jurisdictional defects exist). His refusal to recognize my Motion to Vacate as an independent action in equity, despite my intent (ROA 361, First Amen. Decl. ¶ 3), denied my right to invoke equitable jurisdiction. Bacon v. Bacon, 150 Cal. 477, 482 (1907); Olivera v. Grace, 19 Cal.2d 570, 576 (1942); Rose v. Fuqua, 200 Cal.App.2d 719, 724 (1962); Bloniarz v. Roloson, 70 Cal.2d 143, 147 (1969). His refusal to address fraud, conspiracy, and structural errors demonstrates bias. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009).

E. Denial of Witness Testimony

Judge Hesseltine's refusal to allow testimony from Bissell, despite my subpoena and supplementary brief, prevented me from proving extrinsic fraud and conspiracy critical to my Motion to Vacate. Rosenthal v. Great Western Fin. Sec. Corp., 14 Cal.4th 394, 414 (1996) (testimony required to resolve fraud). Bissell's testimony was necessary to reveal his intent in misrepresenting § 7031(b) as civil and conspiring with the Humphreys to procure an unlawful judgment, constituting extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court. This denial suggests prejudgment of my claims and denial of the due process right to present evidence of my claims, further evidencing bias. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009). People v. Freeman, 47 Cal.4th 993, 1000 (2010).

F. Violation of Bankruptcy Discharge Order

Judge Hesseltine's denial of my Motion to Vacate/Independent Action on June 26, 2025, Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay on March 18, 2025, and Ex Parte Application for Reconsideration effectively enforced a $930,000 judgment discharged in bankruptcy, violating 11 U.S.C. § 524(a) and demonstrating actual bias under CCP § 170.1(a)(6)(A)(iii). On March 27, 2023, the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California issued a discharge order in Case No. 8:22-BK-12076-SC, voiding the judgment as a personal liability under 11 U.S.C. § 524(a)(1) and enjoining enforcement under § 524(a)(2) (Ex. 5, Discharge Order). The judgment lien was avoided under 11 U.S.C. § 522(f) on June 15, 2023 (Ex. 6, Motion to Compel, ¶ 15). My restitution claim—vacatur and damages minimally $5 million—is a property interest among "unprosecuted lawsuit claims" abandoned to me on December 31, 2024, under 11 U.S.C. § 554(b). In re DeVore, 223 B.R. 193, 198 (1998) (B.A.P. 9th Cir.) (abandoned claims revert to debtor).

Hesseltine was informed of the discharge via my Ex Parte Application, ROA 306, and by Bissell at the June 26, 2025, hearing (Ex. 4, pending). Despite this, he denied my motion, stay, and reconsideration (Exs. 3, 7–9), refusing to vacate the judgment and denying restitution, effectively enforcing a void judgment in violation of 11 U.S.C. § 524(a)(2). Taggart v. Lorenzen, 139 S. Ct. 1795, 1801 (2019) (willful violation of discharge injunction incurs liability). In re Kuehn, 563 F.3d 289, 292 (2009) (7th Cir.) (actions based on discharged debts are void). The stay and reconsideration denials allowed the UD action, Case No. 30-2025-01459684, stemming from a wrongful foreclosure caused by the void judgment, to proceed, enabling an unlawful default, eviction, ~$1.18 million equity loss, $50,000 property damage, and $10,000 lost property. This favored the Humphreys by preserving an improper advantage—the judgment's unvacated status, which avoids restitution and maintains a false appearance of validity—and Canjian Hou, whose UD relies on a defective title, over my property interest, suggesting bias, potentially to protect his Moorefield ruling (Ex. 1) and the liability of his friends and/or colleagues. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009). Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006). Dr. Leevil, LLC v. Westlake Health Care Center, 6 Cal.5th 474, 483 (2018) (UD requires valid title). This violation risks liability for disregarding federal law. Rankin v. Howard, 633 F.2d 844, 849 (1980). It perpetuates the Humphreys' and Bissell's conspiracy. Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co., 322 U.S. 238 (1944).

G. Procedural Propriety of Oral Motion and Ex Parte Application and Due Process Violation by Denial of Stay

Judge Hesseltine's rulings violated due/judicial process by incorrectly deeming my oral disqualification motion untimely and improper and by denying my Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay of Unlawful Detainer Action (ROA 306, filed March 14, 2025) and Ex Parte Application for Reconsideration (filed May 21, 2025), prioritizing form over substance and causing irreparable harm, thus evidencing bias under CCP § 170.1(a)(6)(A)(iii).

While CCP § 170.3(c)(1) requires a written verified statement, my oral motion on June 26, 2025, was a good-faith effort to prevent due/judicial process violations, followed by this verified statement, and was timely raised after bias emerged at the hearing. Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006).

Similarly, Hesseltine's denial of my Ex Parte Application and Reconsideration for filing in the 2015 case (Case No. 30-2015-00805807) and combining documents ignored their substantive connection to the void $930,000 judgment, which caused the wrongful foreclosure (November 18, 2024; see ROA 306) and UD action (Case No. 30-2025-01459684). These denials prevented me from defending against eviction based on fraud and structural jurisdictional defects, violating due/judicial process by undermining the fairness of the judicial process. Asuncion v. Superior Court, 108 Cal.App.3d 141, 146 (1980) (due process requires homeowners be permitted to raise fraud defenses in eviction actions tied to title disputes); Mehr v. Superior Court, 139 Cal.App.3d 1044, 1050 (1983) (denial of stay in UD action pending appeal is abuse of discretion when substantial title issues exist and eviction causes irreparable harm). My applications sought to stay the UD action, which stemmed from a foreclosure enabled by the void judgment, to preserve my home and ~$1.2 million in equity. Hesseltine's one-word denial of the stay ("denied," Ex. 7) and cursory denial of reconsideration (Ex. 8, p. 3, ll. 15–25; p. 4, ll. 1–4), without addressing irreparable harm or the bankruptcy discharge (Exs. 5–6), allowed an unlawful default and forced sheriff eviction, despite my showing of substantial issues (e.g., fraud, lack of jurisdiction supported by new case law (Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201 (2020); Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71 (2020)) and minimal prejudice to the UD plaintiff, Canjian Hou, who holds defective title (Dr. Leevil, LLC v. Westlake Health Care Center, 6 Cal.5th 474, 483 (2018)). These denials, favoring the Humphreys and Hou by preserving the void judgment's effect, demonstrate bias, potentially to protect Hesseltine's ruling in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon (Ex. 1) and his colleagues from liability. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009); Asuncion, 108 Cal.App.3d at 146 (courts must evaluate harm in ex parte contexts to ensure due process).

H. Judge Hesseltine's Failure to Declare the Judgment Void Despite Uncontroverted Evidence of Jurisdictional Defects and the Humphreys' Failure to Sustain Their Burden of Proof on Standing

Judge Hesseltine had a mandatory, non-discretionary, ministerial duty to declare the April 20, 2017, judgment in Case No. 30-2015-00805807 void due to the Humphreys' failure to sustain their burden of proof of standing in response to my direct jurisdictional challenges, their failure to counter my evidence in the Motion to Vacate/Independent Action in Equity (ROA 361, 369) and prior proceedings, and the prior courts' lack of subject matter jurisdiction, rendering his refusal to do so evidence of bias under CCP § 170.1(a)(6)(A)(iii). In Thompson v. Cook, 20 Cal.2d 564, 569–73 (1942), the California Supreme Court held that when a party challenges a judgment as void with uncontroverted evidence of jurisdictional defects and the opposing party fails to offer proof to sustain jurisdiction, the court must declare the judgment void as a matter of law. My Motion to Vacate (ROA 361, 369), prior Writ of Error (April 18, 2017, ROA 244), and Bill of Particulars (ROA 256, 263) constituted direct attacks, presenting uncontroverted evidence that the Humphreys lacked standing to prosecute a penal action under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(b) without executive authority (Cal. Const. Art. V, § 1; Albrecht v. United States, 273 U.S. 1, 8 (1923)), that no sworn information or criminal complaint was filed to vest jurisdiction (Buis v. State, 1990 OK CR 28, p.4; Cal. Gov't Code 100), and that no evidence showed I personally performed licensed work as required by CACI 4560(3) and § 7031(a) and (b). The Humphreys' opposition to my 2019 Motion to Vacate (Ex. 11 (exhibits B, C, D omitted- not relevant), ROA 300), their Respondent's Brief on appeal (Ex. 10), and their 2025 opposition (ROA 381, Ex. 13) failed to rebut these claims or provide evidence of their standing, executive authority, or my performance of licensed work, relying solely on res judicata, general jurisdictional assertions, and procedural bars. Specifically, they did not address the absence of a criminal complaint, their lack of prosecutorial authority, or my evidence that The Spartan Associates, Inc. (my company) performed all work instead citing my emails and testimony about contracting (Ex. 10) without evidence of performance. Their mischaracterization of Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201, 1212 (2020), as addressing only the statute of limitations (ROA 381, Ex 13) ignored its holding that § 7031(b) imposes a punitive forfeiture requiring criminal safeguards, and they failed to engage with Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020), which limits disgorgement to net profits, not the ~$930,000 penalty awarded. The trial and appellate courts' failure to establish subject matter jurisdiction, due to the unauthorized penal prosecution and lack of evidence, rendered the judgment void ab initio as a result of structural jurisdictional errors (e.g. violation of separation of powers, usurpation of executive authority, no criminal complaint filed, no counsel appointed, all heightened protections required in criminal proceedings denied). Elliot v. Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828); Bennett v. Wilson, 122 Cal. 509, 513–14 (1898).

Judge Hesseltine's refusal to vacate the judgment, despite the Humphreys' failure to counter my evidence or prove standing, as reflected in their deficient briefs (Exs. 10, 11, 13) and the prior court's similar error (Ex. 12– Minute Order– prior Motion to Vacate), demonstrates bias by shielding a jurisdictionally defective judgment, potentially to protect his rulings in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon (Ex. 1) or to align with the alleged judicial conspiracy involving Justices Aronson, Goethals, O'Leary, and Judges Chaffee and Di Cesare to protect them from civil liability for damages. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009); Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006). This failure to fulfill his mandatory duty under Thompson v. Cook constitutes a structural error, violating due/judicial process and necessitating disqualification to ensure an impartial hearing. Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306, 314 (1950).

I. Grounds for Commission on Judicial Performance Complaint

Judge Hesseltine's conduct violates the California Code of Judicial Ethics, warranting a complaint to the Commission on Judicial Performance:

1. Bias or Prejudice (Canon 3B(5)): His refusal to engage with controlling authorities (e.g., Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201 (2020); Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71 (2020)), denial of attorney William Bissell's testimony critical to proving extrinsic fraud (Rosenthal v. Great Western Fin. Sec. Corp., 14 Cal.4th 394, 414 (1996)), enforcement of a judgment discharged in bankruptcy (Case No. 8:22-BK-12076-SC, Ex. 5), denial of my Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay (ROA 306) and Reconsideration (Exs. 7–8), and refusal to provide a court reporter or allow recording despite my fee waiver and Cal. Rules of Court, Rule 1.150(d), suggest bias, potentially to protect his prior ruling in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon (Ex. 1) and colleagues involved in this conspiracy. CJEO Formal Opinion 2021-016 (p. 8) notes that actions undermining impartiality violate Canon 3B(5). Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009).
2. Failure to Uphold the Law (Canon 3B(2)): Hesseltine misapplied res judicata and law of the case to shield a void judgment, ignored Eisenberg and Liu establishing § 7031(a) and (b)'s penal nature, and failed to address the bankruptcy discharge (11 U.S.C. § 524(a)) and unlawful detainer (UD) due process violations (e.g., lack of notice, premature default, CCP § 1013). These actions violate constitutional and federal law. Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306, 314 (1950) (due process requires notice and opportunity to be heard).
3. Fraud on the Court (Canon 3B(1)): False Minute Order statements claiming my arguments were rejected by higher courts (Ex. 3), despite no full, fair, or impartial determination, perpetuation of a conspiracy to misrepresent § 7031(a) and (b) as civil, and dismissal of UD issues without addressing merits undermine judicial integrity. Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co., 322 U.S. 238, 246 (1944) (fraud on the court undermines judicial integrity).

4. Improper Denial of Disqualification (Canon 3C(1)): Denying my oral disqualification motion as untimely (Exs. 3–4) violates his duty to recuse under CCP § 170.3(a)(1), given his pecuniary interest from Moorefield and potential relationships with Justices Aronson, Goethals, O'Leary, and Judges Di Cesare and Chaffee. CJEO Oral Advice Summary 2015-015 (p. 2) confirms judges must decide their own disqualification. Caperton, 556 U.S. 868.
5. Abuse of Authority (Canon 2A): Affirming a void judgment, denying the UD stay and reconsideration despite notice of the bankruptcy discharge (Exs. 5–6), and obstructing record preservation erode public confidence in the judiciary. CJEO Formal Opinion 2021-016 (p. 8) notes that actions undermining impartiality violate Canon 2A. Jameson v. Desta, 5 Cal.5th 594, 608 (2018) (denial of court reporter for indigent litigant violates due process).
6. Failure to Provide Forum Guidance: Refusing to identify a forum for relief despite my exhaustion of remedies (Exs. 7–9) and pro se status exacerbates systemic bias, denying due process. Mullane, 339 U.S. 306, 314. Canon 3B(8) Commentary encourages reasonable steps to enable self-represented litigants to be heard.
7. Obstruction of Record Preservation: Denying a court reporter or recording permission, despite my fee waiver and Rule 1.150(d) discretion, limits my appeal rights, suggesting bias. Jameson v. Desta, 5 Cal.5th 594, 608 (2018); CJEO Formal Opinion 2013-002 (pp. 7–8) (judges must ensure accurate record documentation).

IV. CONCLUSION

I request disqualification of Judge Hesseltine for appearance of bias, actual bias, violations of due/judicial process under California Constitution, Article I, Section 7, and bills of pains and penalties under California Constitution, Article I, Section 9, and U.S. Constitution, Article I, Section 10, that the Judicial Council assign an impartial judge under CCP § 170.3(c)(5) to rehear the Motion to Vacate, and that the judgment be vacated due to bias and structural jurisdictional defects. Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006). Systemic unlawful rulings on § 7031(b) claims by Superior Court judges, including in the Orange County Superior Court, exacerbate this bias, as evidenced by pervasive misapplication of § 7031(b) as civil rather than penal. See e.g. MW Erectors, Inc. v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Co., 36 Cal.4th 412, 426 (2005) (misapplied § 7031 as civil); all § 7031(a) and (b) cases are incorporated as if fully set forth herein. A particularly egregious example is Judicial Council of California v. Jacobs Facilities, Inc., 239 Cal.App.4th 882, 895 (2015), where the Judicial Council pursued a $22.7 million forfeiture against a contractor for an unintentional licensing issue during corporate reorganization, despite satisfactory performance, and incurred over $3.3 million in legal costs debited from the public treasury, demonstrating systemic misuse of § 7031(b) to impose disproportionate penalties without regard for fairness or harm caused. This pattern of systemic bias necessitates Judicial Council intervention to assign a judge without prior § 7031(b) rulings to ensure impartiality.

The Court, having taken the Court Trial under submission on 7-18-24 makes its ruling following Court Trial as follows:

Ruling Following Court Trial
. (Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Steve Pantalemon, etc., et al., Case No. 2022-01259274)

After completing various pretrial proceedings, including ruling on a motion in limine, the court conducted a two-day bench trial on July 2 and 3, 2024. At the conclusion of the proceedings on July 3, 2024, the court set a briefing schedule for the parties to submit their closing arguments in writing. The court received the parties' briefs on July 17, 2024, and took this matter under submission at that time. Having now considered all testimony and exhibits admitted at trial, any judicially noticed matters, the credibility of all witnesses and other evidence, the arguments of counsel, and the governing law, the court now rules as set forth below.

The complaint of plaintiff Moorefield Construction, Inc. (Plaintiff) alleges the following two causes of action against defendant Steve Pantalemon, individually and doing business as Custom Wine Cellar (Defendant): (1) intentional misrepresentation, and (2) violation of contractor's state licensing law. Both causes of action implicate the requirements of the Contractors' State License Law (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 7000, et seq.; CSLL), including whether the CSLL required Defendant to have a license and whether Defendant is entitled to retain any of the deposit Plaintiff paid to Defendant. Accordingly, a brief discussion of the CSLL is an appropriate starting point.

Contractors' State License Law (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 7000, et seq.)

"The CSLL provides 'a comprehensive scheme which governs contractors doing business in California.' [Citation.] 'The purpose of the licensing law is to protect the public from incompetence and dishonesty in those who provide building and construction services. [Citation.] The licensing requirements provide minimal assurance that all persons offering such services in California have the requisite skill and

For purposes of the CSLL, "a contractor is any person who undertakes to or offers to undertake to, or purports to have the capacity to undertake to, or submits a bid to, or does himself or herself or by or through others, construct, alter, . . . add to, . . . improve, move, . . . any building, . . . or other structure, project, development or improvement, or to do any part thereof . . . and whether or not the performance of work herein described involves the addition to, or fabrication into, any structure, project, development or improvement herein described of any material or article of merchandise. 'Contractor' includes subcontractor and specialty contractor." (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 7026.) "'Person' . . . includes an individual, a firm, partnership, corporation, limited liability company, association or other organization, or any combination thereof." (Id. at § 7025, subd. (b).)

"[Business and Professions Code s]ection 7026 plainly states that both the person who provides construction services himself and one who does so 'through others' qualifies as a 'contractor.' The California courts have also long held that those who enter into construction contracts must be licensed, even when they themselves do not do the actual work under the contract. [Citations.]" (Vallejo Development Co. v. Beck Development Co. (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 929, 941 (Vallejo Development).) Moreover, "[t]he mere execution of such a contract is an act 'in the capacity of a contractor,'" and makes an unlicensed person subject to the provisions of Business and Professions Code section 7031 discussed below. (Vallejo Development, supra, 24 Cal.App.4th at p. 940.)

"The two provisions of the CSLL of concern here are designed to enforce compliance with the CSLL's licensing requirements. [Business and Professions Code s]ection 7031, subdivision (a) provides that no person 'engaged in the business or acting in the capacity of a contractor' can bring an action for compensation for work requiring a contractor's license if the person was not properly licensed at all times during the performance of the work. [Business and Professions Code s]ection 7031, subdivision (b) goes further, permitting a person 'who utilizes the services of an unlicensed contractor' to bring an action for disgorgement of 'all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor.' Although the language of the two provisions is somewhat different, they are interpreted 'in a consistent manner, resulting in the same remedy regardless of whether the unlicensed contractor is the plaintiff or the defendant.' [Citation.]" (Judicial Council, supra, 239 Cal.App.4th at p. 895, fns. omitted.)

"The statutory intent behind [Business and Professions Code] section 7031, subdivisions (a) and (b) is 'to discourage persons who have failed to comply with the licensing law from offering or providing their unlicensed services for pay.' [Citation.]" (Judicial Council, supra, 239 Cal.App.4th at p. 895.) "Because it denies all compensation for a contractor's work, regardless of the quality of the work or the reasons for the failure of licensure, section 7031 can have harsh and seemingly unfair effects." (Ibid.)

"Courts have taken their cue from the Legislature in enforcing the letter of the law, consoled by the Legislature's ""determination that the importance of deterring unlicensed persons from engaging in the contracting business outweighs any harshness between the parties."" [Citation.] Accordingly, if a contractor is unlicensed for any period of time while delivering construction services, the contractor forfeits all compensation for the work, not merely compensation for the period when the contractor was unlicensed. [Citation.] Although construction contractors often make substantial payments to others for materials and labor, an unlicensed contractor forfeits all money paid, without offsets for such payments to third parties. [Citation.] Because [Business and Professions Code] section 7031 is held to apply '" [r]egardless of the equities"' [citation], unlicensed contractors are prohibited from asserting equitable defenses, such as estoppel, to forfeiture. [Citation.] On the contrary, ""[c]ourts may not resort to equitable considerations in defiance of [Business and Professions Code] section 7031."" [Citation.] As a result, an unlicensed contractor is subject to forfeiture even if the other contracting party was aware of the contractor's lack of a license, and the other party's bad faith or unjust enrichment cannot be asserted

by the contractor as a defense to forfeiture. [Citation.] For a contractor failing to qualify under the statutory safe harbor of subdivision (e), [Business and Professions Code] section 7031 is truly a strict liability statute." (Judicial Council, supra, 239 Cal.App.4th at pp. 896-897.)

"Nothing in [Business and Professions Code] section 7031 either limits its application to a particular class of homeowners or excludes protection of 'sophisticated' persons. Reading that limitation into the statute would be inconsistent with its purpose of '"deterring unlicensed persons from engaging in the contracting business."' [Citation.] Indeed, in Hydrotech [Systems, Ltd. v. Oasis Waterpark (1991) 52 Cal.3d 988], the court rejected the argument that [Business and Professions Code] section 7031 should not be applied to a lawsuit by a subcontractor against a contractor because the subcontractor 'did not hold itself out to the public.' [Citation.] The court applied [Business and Professions Code] section 7031 even though the suit was against a general contractor for a large commercial construction project who allegedly was aware of the subcontractor's unlicensed status. [Citation.]" (Phoenix Mechanical Pipeline, Inc. v. Space Exploration Technologies Corp. (2017) 12 Cal.App.5th 842, 849-850 (Phoenix Mechanical).)

Second Cause of Action (Violation of CSLL)

Plaintiff's second cause of action is brought under Business and Professions Code section 7031, subdivision (b), and seeks to recover all sums Plaintiff paid to Defendant on the ground Defendant at no time was a licensed contractor and both the CSLL and the parties' contract required Defendant to be licensed.

The elements of this claim are set forth in CACI jury instruction no. 4560 as follows: "1. That [name of plaintiff] [[engaged/hired]/ [or] contracted with] [name of defendant] to perform services for [name of plaintiff]; [¶] 2. That a valid contractor's license was required to perform these services; and [¶] 3. That [name of plaintiff] paid [name of defendant] for services that [name of defendant] performed." CACI no. 4561 further provides: "A person who pays money to an unlicensed contractor may recover all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor. [¶] If you decide that [name of plaintiff] has proved that [he/she/nonbinary pronoun/it] paid money to [name of defendant] for services and that [name of defendant] has failed to prove that [he/she/nonbinary pronoun/it] was licensed at all times during performance, then [name of plaintiff] is entitled to the return of all amounts paid, not just the amounts paid while [name of defendant] was unlicensed. The fact that [name of plaintiff] may have received some or all of the benefits of [name of defendant]'s performance does not affect [his/her/nonbinary pronoun/its] right to the return of all amounts paid."

Here, there is no dispute the parties entered into the "Sub Contract" (Exhibit 7) in January 2022. The parties to the contract are "Moorefield Construction, Inc." and "Custom Wine Cellar." Hal Moorefield signed the contract on Plaintiff's behalf of January 28, 2022. Steve Pantalemon signed the contract on behalf of Custom Wine Cellar, as its CEO, on January 20, 2022.

The description of the work Defendant contracted to perform is described as follows in paragraph 2: "ALL FURNISH/INSTALL WINE DISPLAY PER PLANS, SPECIFICATIONS & HELL'S KITCHEN REQUIREMENTS, CLIMATE CONTROLLED CUSTOM BUILT UNITS WITH MULTIPLE DOORS, WINE RACKS, GLASS WALL, REFRIGERATION/HUMIDTY UNITS, CHEF'S TABLE CELLAR & SEISMIC REQUIREMENTS TO INCLUDE ENGINEERING & PERMITTED PLANS FOR THESE UNITS INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO ALL LABOR, MATERIALS, AND EQUIPMENT TO COMPLETE. This is to be done in strict accordance with the contract documents as listed in Exhibit 'B'." Exhibit "D" to the contract further elaborated upon the scope of work Defendant contracted to perform.

The court finds this is a contract subject to the CSLL, and Defendant was required to have a contractor's state license to enter into this contract and perform the work it required, because the work described in the contract falls within the scope of Business and Professions Code section 7026. Mr. Pantalemon testified the contract does not accurately describe the work to be performed because Plaintiff did not understand how Defendant provides its product and services. That contention will be more fully addressed below in connection with Defendant's argument its work is exempt from Business and Professions Code section 7031 under section 7045. At this point, however, it is sufficient to note the contract Defendant undisputably signed controls and dictates whether a contractor's license was required. Moreover, the court credits the testimony of Hal Moorefield over Mr. Pantalemon as to what Plaintiff was contracting to obtain from Defendant.

The undisputed evidence also established Custom Wine Cellar at no time held a contractor's license (Exhibit 20), Steve Pantalemon at no time held a contractor's license (Exhibit 21), and Steven Pantalemon, dba Custom Wine Cellar, at no time held a contractor's license (Exhibit 22). Finally, the undisputed evidence established Plaintiff paid Defendant $230,400 on January 28, 2022, as a deposit on the work to be performed under the contract. (Exhibits 8, 9, 10.) Accordingly, the court finds the evidence establishes all the necessary elements for Plaintiff's claim for disgorgement under Business and Professions Code section 7031, subdivision (b), and Plaintiff is entitled to recover the full amount it paid to Defendant—i.e., $230,400.

Defendant makes several arguments as to why Business and Professions Code section 7031 does not apply in this case, but each of them lacks merit. First, Defendant contends Plaintiff made a mistake in preparing the contract and identifying with whom it was contracting, and therefore the contract should be reformed to state it is with the person or entity who holds the contractor's license identified in the contract, or at least the contract should be construed against Plaintiff. Specifically, Defendant contends the contract should have been with William Tassie dba Wine Cellar Designers Construction—i.e., the holder of license number 894458—rather than Custom Wine Cellar, and that Plaintiff cannot benefit from this error because it is the one who prepared the contract. Neither the evidence nor the law supports this argument.

Defendant's proposal for the project at issue was submitted to Plaintiff by Custom Wine Cellar. (Exhibit 3.) The proposal makes no mention of Wine Cellar Designers Construction or William Tassie. Based on Defendant's proposal, Plaintiff prepared the letter of intent with the name Custom Wine Cellar. Mr. Pantalemon signed the letter of intent as CEO without making any changes to the name of the entity with whom Plaintiff would contract. (Exhibit 4, p. 1.) Plaintiff then prepared the contract using the same name that was used on the proposal and letter of intent without any objection from Defendant, and indeed Mr. Pantalemon signed the contract on behalf of Custom Wine Cellar.

Defendant points to the certificates of insurance and W-9 forms Defendant submitted to Plaintiff after the letter of intent but before the contract (Exhibits 37, 39, 40) as evidence Plaintiff should have realized Custom Wine Cellar was not the proper entity. Specially, Defendant contends Plaintiff should have realized these documents did not identify Custom Wine Cellar, but rather, Wine Cellar Designers Group, LLC, and Wine Cellar Designers Construction, LLC, and therefore Plaintiff should have prepared the contract in the name of one of those entities. According to Defendant, Plaintiff's "compliance team" at least should have realized there was confusion about the party with whom Plaintiff was about to contract and they should have clarified things.

Defendant, however, fails to acknowledge that he never brought any of this to Plaintiff's attention. Defendant submitted the proposal under the name Custom Wine Cellar and that is the name Plaintiff used. Indeed, Plaintiff acknowledges it prepared the contract in the name of Custom Wine Cellar, but Defendant fails to acknowledge he signed the contract as the CEO of Custom Wine Cellar without raising any issue about the identity of the person or entity with whom Plaintiff was contracting. Mr. Pantalemon testified he has been in the business for over 20 years and has taken care over the course of his career to make sure he only submits bids and bills for products and services that do not require a contractor's license, and has a licensed contractor submit separate bids and bills for any installation work that requires a license. Moreover, Mr. Pantalemon certainly was aware of the significance of having a contractor's license as demonstrated by the citation he acknowledged receiving from the California Contractors State License Board in 2021 (i.e., before the events of this case) for contracting without a license. (Exhibit 53.) It was Defendant who should have brought it to Plaintiff's attention if the contract named the wrong person or entity; the obligation did not fall on what Defendant characterizes as Plaintiff's compliance team on the facts presented.

The court finds there was no mistake in the contract's preparation and there is no basis for construing the contract as anything other than what it says—i.e., the contract is between Plaintiff and Custom Wine Cellar. Mr. Pantalemon knew the importance of the contract being in the name of a licensed contractor, but nonetheless signed the contract on behalf of Custom Wine Cellar, a non-licensed entity.

Along a similar line, Defendant argues the use of a fictitious business name that slightly varies from the name of the contractor's license does not preclude the licensee's recovery under the contract. To support this argument, Defendant cites Ball v. Steadfast-BLK (2011) 196 Cal.App.4th 694 (Ball). Ball, however, is distinguishable and does not apply to the facts of this case.

In Ball, the plaintiff David E. Ball was licensed as the sole owner who did business under the fictitious name Clark Heating and Air Conditioning, but he sought to recover for work under a contract he entered into under the name Clark Air Conditioning & Heating. The trial court sustained a demurrer to the plaintiff's complaint seeking to recover on the contract because the party that contracted was not licensed. The Court of Appeal reversed, explaining as follows: "The trial court has confused the individual owner to whom the contractor's license was issued with the name under which the individual conducted his contracting business. Ball was licensed as a 'Sole Owner,' and not as a partnership or corporate entity, pursuant to the classification system of [Business and Professions Code] section 7065. The 'doing business as' name 'Clark Heating and Air Conditioning' was not an entity that could be licensed; rather it was the business name under which the individual licensee did business. Not only is Clark Heating and Air Conditioning not a distinct legal entity, it is not among the categories of individuals or entities defined by the Contractors' State License Law (CSLL), section 7000 et seq., to whom a contractor's license may issue. [Citations.]" (Ball, supra, 196 Cal.App.4th at p. 697.)

The Ball court further elaborated as follows: "The CSLB licenses 'individual owners, copartnerships, and corporations.' [Citation.] Ball received a license under the 'License Type' as a 'Sole Owner,' i.e., an individual owner. A sole owner is a sole proprietorship and a sole proprietorship is not a legal entity separate from its individual owner. [Citation.] As a sole proprietorship, Clark Heating and Air Conditioning does not, and cannot, hold a contractor's license independent from Ball. Not only is Clark Heating and Air Conditioning not a distinct legal entity, it is not among the categories of 'persons' defined by the CSLL to whom a contractor's license may issue. [Citations.] Thus, although the name 'Clark Heating and Air Conditioning' appears on the license, it is David Edward Ball, an individual, who is the licensee as the owner of Clark Heating and Air Conditioning. That license entitles him, as the owner of Clark Heating and Air Conditioning, to perform contracting work under the name Clark Heating and Air Conditioning. [Citation.] [¶] . . . 'Use of a fictitious business name does not create a separate legal entity' distinct from the person operating the business. [Citation.] '"The business name is a fiction, and so too is any implication that the business is a legal entity separate from its owner."' [Citation.] Thus, like Clark Heating and Air Conditioning, Clark Air Conditioning & Heating is legally indistinguishable from Ball. [Citation.] While Ball entered into the contracts as 'David E. Ball, dba Clark Air Conditioning & Heating,' Ball was the contracting party, and it is Ball who is entitled to pursue an action to collect for the work done pursuant to the contract." (Ball, supra, 196 Cal.App.4th at p. 701.)

Ball potentially would apply in this case if Mr. Pantalemon was licensed as the sole owner who did business under the name Wine Cellar Designers Construction, and he contracted using his license but contracted as Mr. Pantalemon doing business and Custom Wine Cellar. Those, however, are not the facts of this case. The contract is in the name of Custom Wine Cellar, and it is executed by Mr. Pantalemon—no dba or fictitious parties are identified. The evidence shows neither Mr. Pantalemon nor Custom Wine Cellar nor Mr. Pantalemon dba Custom Wine Cellar is a licensed contractor. (Exhibits 20, 21, 22.) The license number Mr. Pantalemon inserted on the contract—i.e., 894458—is in the name of William Tassie dba Wine Cellar Designers Construction and it is listed as a sole ownership type of license. (Exhibit 23.) There is no credible evidence Mr. Tassie, however, had any involvement in the matter. He clearly did not sign the contract, and only the licensee can sign. Moreover, although Mr. Pantalemon testified Mr. Tassie had some involvement in this matter, Mr. Moorefield testified he had no contact with Mr. Tassie and never even heard of him until this lawsuit. Mr. Tassie's name appears nowhere in any of the documents regarding this project. Mr. Pantalemon's testimony to the contrary is not credible and nonetheless is not relevant because Mr. Tassie did not contract with Plaintiff. As such, Ball does not apply here and provides Defendant no assistance.

Defendant next argues Mr. Pantalemon and Mr. Tassie formed an LLC named Wine Cellar Designers Construction, LLC of which they were both members, and so Mr. Pantalemon had the authority to contract on behalf of that LLC. This argument too does not help Defendant. The license is in the name of William Tassie dba Wine Cellar Designers Construction as a sole ownership license; it is not a license in the name of Wine Cellar Designers Construction, LLC. Mr. Pantalemon sought to testify the LLC applied to obtain a license, but he did not testify, and did not present any evidence showing, the LLC ever obtained a license or that he thought the LLC obtained a license. More importantly, the contract in this case is not in any form of the name Wine Cellar Designers Construction. Rather, as explained above, it is in the name of Custom Wine Cellar. To avoid Business and Professions Code section 7031, the contract must be in the name of the entity or person who holds the license. (Opp v. St. Paul Fire & Marine Ins. Co. (2007) 154 Cal.App.4th 71 (Opp).)

In Opp, the individual plaintiff, William Opp, held a California contractor's license. He also was president of Mountain Connection, Inc., a Montana corporation, that did not hold a California contractor's license. Mr. Opp, as president of Mountain Connection, Inc., entered into a building contract and inserted his individual contractor's license number on the contract. He later sued to enforce the contract, but the trial court granted summary judgment against him because the contract was entered into by Mountain Connection, Inc., and that corporation was not licensed. (Opp, supra, 154 Cal.App.4th at pp. 72-73.) The court of appeal affirmed that decision, explaining it did not matter Mr. Opp as an individual held a valid contractor's license because he did not contract as an individual. Rather, the contracting party was Mountain Connection, Inc.—an unlicensed corporation—and therefore Business and Professions Code section 7031 prevented the corporation from recovering on the contract, and Mr. Opp could not recover because he did not contract in his individual capacity. (Id. at pp. 74-76.)

Defendant also argues a license was not required because the contract at issue was exempt from the contractor license requirement under Business and Professions Code 7045, which states "This chapter does not apply to the sale or installation of any finished products, materials, or articles of merchandise that do not become a fixed part of the structure, nor shall it apply to a material supplier or manufacturer furnishing finished products, materials, or articles of merchandise who does not install or contract for the installation of those items." Defendant contends this case is analogous to Walker v. Thornsberry (1979) 97 Cal.App.3d 842 (Walker).)

In Walker, the plaintiff was a manufacturer of metal prefabricated restrooms that did not hold a contractor's license. The plaintiff contracted to furnish, assemble, and install one of its units upon a concrete foundation the defendant prepared. When the defendant did not pay, the plaintiff sued, and the defendant asserted plaintiff's claim was barred under Business and Professions Code section 7031. The trial court ruled a contractor's license was not required based on Business and Professions Code section 7045, and the appellate court agreed. (Walker, supra, 97 Cal.App.3d at pp. 843-844.)

The Walker court explained, implicit in the trial court's decision was a determination the prefabricated unit did not become a fixed part of the structure, and whether the goods installed become a fixed part of the structure is a question of fact. (Walker, supra, 97 Cal.App.3d at p. 847.) The Walker court determined the record supported the application of Business and Professions Code section 7045's exemption because "[t]he contract between [plaintiff] and defendant did not require [plaintiff] to undertake the installation of concrete foundation, rough plumbing, or installation of plumbing fixtures, stalls, wood roofing, and painting upon which to place the prefabricated restroom. [Plaintiff's] employees merely assembled the pieces and bolted the structure to the foundation. Their contribution of labor to the finished restroom was at most minor and incidental." (Id. at p. 848.)

Walker was distinguished and found inapplicable by the court in Banis Restaurant Design, Inc. v. Serrano (2005) 134 Cal.App.4th 1035, 1046 (Banis): "Here, in contrast, plaintiff's services involved more than incidental labor. The contract called for plaintiff to provide drawings for electrical, plumbing, and ceiling plans. Plaintiff was also to coordinate work with architects as well as structural, mechanical, and electrical engineers. The work plaintiff was hired to do cannot be compared with that in Walker."

Here, the court finds this case to be much more analogous to Banis than Walker, and Business and Professions Code section 7045 does not apply so as to exempt Defendant from the requirement of having a contractor's license. The contract in this case did not simply require Defendant to show up with a prefabricated unit, do some assembly, bolt it in place, and be done. Indeed, unlike in Walker, the evidence shows the parties' contract called for the wine coolers, especially the red wine cooler, to become a fixed part of the structure. As noted, that is a question of fact for this court to determine. (Walker, supra, 97 Cal.App.3d at p. 847.) Among other things, the evidence showed the contract required Defendant to specifically design the concept the project architect developed. Defendant had to do the design and engineering work to come up with functioning coolers. The contract called for Defendant to install glass walls, doors, climate controls, refrigeration and humidity units, and much more. Defendant had to comply with seismic requirement and many other things. Mr. Pantalemon's testimony that it would be a plug-and-play unit is not consistent with the contract. Indeed, he acknowledged as much by testifying the contract did not accurately describe his work, but the contract is what Defendant contracted to do. Moreover, the photos of the final product, which Mr. Pantalemon testified used a lot of his work, are not consistent with a plug-and-play unit that did not become a fixed part of the structure. Again, the court finds Business and Professions Code section 7045 does not exempt Defendant from the requirement of having a contractor's license.

Defendant also argues it substantially complied with the licensing requirements under Business and Professions Code section 7031, subdivision (e). Originally, in an effort to mitigate the harsh consequences of Business and Professions Code section 7031, subdivisions (a) and (b), the courts developed a substantial compliance doctrine to create exceptions to those provisions. The Legislature, however, amended section 7031 to override those decisions and strictly limit when a claim of substantial compliance may be asserted to avoid the forfeiture otherwise compelled by section 7031, subdivisions (a) and (b). Compliance with section 7031, subdivision (e), is now the exclusive means of avoiding forfeiture based on substantial compliance. (Judicial Council, supra, 239 Cal.App.4th at p. 896.)

Professions Code section 7031, subdivision (e), states as follows: "The judicial doctrine of substantial compliance shall not apply under this section where the person who engaged in the business or acted in the capacity of a contractor has never been a duly licensed contractor in this state. However, notwithstanding subdivision (b) of Section 143, the court may determine that there has been substantial compliance with licensure requirements under this section if it is shown at an evidentiary hearing that the person who engaged in the business or acted in the capacity of a contractor (1) had been duly licensed as a contractor in this state prior to the performance of the act or contract, (2) acted reasonably and in good faith to maintain proper licensure, and (3) acted promptly and in good faith to remedy the failure to comply with the licensure requirements upon learning of the failure."

Defendant does not meet these requirements. As stated above, the contracting party was Custom Wine Cellar, and it never has been licensed. Likewise, Mr. Pantalemon individually or doing business as Custom Wine Cellar never has been licensed. As such, the substantial compliance doctrine does not apply. Defendant may not rely on Mr. Tassie's license for all the reasons set forth above.

Finally, Defendant asserts a host of arguments as to why he should be able to retain at least a portion of the amount paid, including, but not limited to, Plaintiff terminated the contract for convenience, not for cause; Plaintiff did not raise any licensing issue until well after it terminated the contract; and Defendant performed work under the contract worth at least $98,000. All these arguments, however, are irrelevant under the authorities discussed above. Business and Professions Code section 7031, subdivision (b), is a strict liability statute that prevents an unlicensed contractor, such as Defendant, from retaining any of the money it received regardless of any equities that otherwise may come into play. (See, e.g., Judicial Council, supra, 239 Cal.App.4th at pp. 895-897.)

Based on the foregoing, the court finds for Plaintiff and against Defendant on the second cause of action for violation of CSLL and awards Plaintiff $230,400, i.e., the full amount Plaintiff paid to Defendant.

First Cause of Action (Intentional Misrepresentation)

On this cause of action, Plaintiff contends Defendant committed fraud by misrepresenting Defendant was licensed under license no. 894458, and thereby inducing Plaintiff to enter into the contract and pay Defendant the $230,400 deposit that Defendant had no right to keep (regardless of what work was performed) because Defendant was not licensed.

The elements of a claim for fraud based on intentional misrepresentation are set forth in CACI no. 1900: "1. That [name of defendant] represented to [name of plaintiff] that a fact was true; [¶] 2. That [name of defendant]'s representation was false; [¶] 3. That [name of defendant] knew that the representation was false when [he/she/nonbinary pronoun] made it, or that [he/she/nonbinary pronoun] made the representation recklessly and without regard for its truth; [¶] 4. That [name of defendant] intended that [name of plaintiff] rely on the representation; [¶] 5. That [name of plaintiff] reasonably relied on [name of defendant]'s representation; [¶] 6. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and [¶] 7. That [name of plaintiff]'s reliance on [name of defendant]'s representation was a substantial factor in causing [his/her/nonbinary pronoun/its] harm."

As explained, Defendant contracted with Plaintiff under the name Custom Wine Cellar. When signing the contract as Custom Wine Cellar's CEO, Mr. Pantalemon inserted in the signature block the contractor's state license number 894458. By inserting that license number in the contract, Mr. Pantalemon represented Custom Wine Cellar (or at least Mr. Pantalemon) was/were the contractor licensed under that number and entitled to do contractor work under that number. Defendant argues Mr. Pantalemon never told Mr. Moorefield or anyone else that either he or Custom Wine Cellar were licensed. That argument assumes the only way Defendant could have represented it was licensed was if Mr. Pantalemon orally made that statement to someone. That is incorrect. Inserting the number into the contract he executed as Custom Wine Cellar's CEO is a representation Custom Wine Cellar and/or Mr. Pantalemon are licensed under that license. Defendant also argues the certificates of insurance and other documents Defendant submitted to Plaintiff bearing names other than Custom Wine Cellar show Defendant did not represent Custom Wine Cellar and/or Pantalemon were licensed. Again, the court disagrees. Those documents do not change the facts, as the court finds them, that Mr. Pantalemon signed the contract as Custom Wine Cellar's CEO without changing the name or otherwise raising any issue, and in doing so he inserted this license number.

Defendant's representation about licensure was false. As explained above, license number 894458 was in the name of William Tassie dba Wine Cellar Designers Construction. That license is a Sole Owner license authorizing Mr. Tassie, and Mr. Tassie alone, to contract using that license. There is nothing showing Custom Wine Cellar was a fictitious name used by Mr. Tassie, and more importantly, Mr. Tassie is not the one who signed the contract. Defendant's arguments about Mr. Pantalemon forming Wine Cellar Designers Construction, LLC with Mr. Tassie do not change that Defendant represented either Custom Wine Cellar or Mr. Pantalemon were licensed under license no. 894458, and that representation was false.

The evidence also showed Defendant knew the representation was false when it was made. Indeed, Mr. Pantalemon testified about his practice for conducting business over the more than 20 years he has been in the industry. He explained he acted as the designer for the wine rooms and racks, he took care to design the products in a way that they could be installed by a separate contractor, he took care to submit bids and invoices for his services and products separate from the bids and services of any contractor, and he took care to ensure a contractor submitted the bids and bills for all work requiring a contractor's state license. Mr. Pantalemon testified he works with a large number of contractors who would sell and install his products. This testimony shows Mr. Pantalemon was aware of the requirement to have a contractor's license to bid, contract, bill, and collect for installing his wine rooms and racks, and that he did not have such a license. Why else would he allegedly structure his business this way?

Moreover, Mr. Pantalemon acknowledged he was cited and fined by the California State Contractor's Licensing Board in August 2021, for contracting without a license. (Exhibit 53.) He sought to explain the circumstances surrounding that incident and how it was an unusual circumstance for how he conducts his business. The significance of that citation, however, is not whether it arose from a unique set of circumstance. Rather, the significance of the citation is it shows he was well aware of the requirement and obligation to have a contractor's license when Defendant contracted with Plaintiff just a few months after the citation, and that Defendant did not have a license. Plaintiff seeks to emphasize this point by citing to a citation from the Nevada State Contractor's Board and the testimony by Mr. Lemore. Those events, however, postdate the contract between Plaintiff and Defendant, and the court has not found them to be significant.

Next, the evidence shows, or at least supports the inference, Defendant intended Plaintiff rely on the representation about licensure. The contract itself required Defendant to be licensed. (Exhibit 7, ¶22.) Moreover, as described above, the evidence shows Defendant was aware of the requirement to be licensed to contract for and perform the work described in the contract. The contract had blanks in the signature block for Defendant to insert the license number and its expiration date, and Mr. Pantalemon inserted that information. If he did not intend for Plaintiff to rely on the contractor's license number, why did Mr. Pantalemon insert it? He could have just left it blank.

The evidence also shows Plaintiff reasonably relied on Defendant's representation. Indeed, Mr. Moorefield testified he would never have signed the contract with Defendant if Defendant had not provided a contractor's license number and expiration date showing the contract was current. Plaintiff prepared the contract with the blanks for this information and included those blanks, not buried somewhere in the contract, but right at the signature block. In a perfect world, would Plaintiff have investigated to confirm the validity and the holder of that license? Yes. But no one presented any evidence or authority that required Plaintiff to do so, and the court finds it was reasonable for Plaintiff to rely on the representation of what it thought to be a fellow contractor. In reliance on the representation, not only did Plaintiff sign the contract with Defendant, Plaintiff also paid Defendant the $230,400 deposit.

Next, the evidence shows Plaintiff was harmed by its reliance on Defendant's false representation. As stated, Plaintiff paid Defendant the deposit. Under the governing law, Defendant had no right to collect, let alone retain the deposit. Nonetheless, over two and one-half years later, Defendant still retains the entire deposit Plaintiff paid. Defendant's argument it performed about $98,000 in services before Plaintiff terminated the contract, and that Plaintiff did not mention any licensure issue when terminating the contract, does not eliminate or reduce the harm. Defendant had no right to receive or retain any of the deposit. As explained above, Business and Professions Code section 7031 denies Defendant, as an unlicensed contractor, the right to receive or keep any payment.

Finally, the evidence shows Plaintiff's reliance on Defendant representation was a substantial factor in causing Plaintiff's harm. Again, Mr. Moorefield testified he never would have signed the contract and authorized the payment to Defendant if Mr. Pantalemon had not provided a contractor's license number on the contract or if he knew Defendant was unlicensed.

Based on the foregoing, the court finds the evidence presented establishes all the essential elements of Plaintiff's fraud claim, and Plaintiff is entitled to judgment against Defendant on the fraud claim. The evidence shows Plaintiff's damages are the full amount of the deposit—i.e., $230,000. No evidence was presented as to any other damages Plaintiff may have suffered based on Defendant's misrepresentations.

Punitive Damages

Plaintiff seeks punitive damages on both causes of action based on Plaintiff's claim Defendant engaged in the foregoing conduct with fraud. Plaintiff seeks $50,000 in punitive damages and presented Mr. Pantalemon's bankruptcy petition as evidence of his financial condition.

CACI no. 3940 explains the law on punitive damages to juries. In relevant part, it provides as follows:

"If you decide that [name of defendant]'s conduct caused [name of plaintiff] harm, you must decide whether that conduct justifies an award of punitive damages. The purposes of punitive damages are to punish a wrongdoer for the conduct that harmed the plaintiff and to discourage similar conduct in the future.

"You may award punitive damages only if [name of plaintiff] proves by clear and convincing evidence that [name of defendant] engaged in that conduct with malice, oppression, or fraud.

"'Fraud' means that [name of defendant] intentionally misrepresented or concealed a material fact and did so intending to harm [name of plaintiff].

"There is no fixed formula for determining the amount of punitive damages, and you are not required to award any punitive damages. . . ."

Although the court finds Defendant committed fraud as described above, the court does not find Plaintiff has shown by clear and convincing evidence Defendant committed that fraud with the intent to harm Plaintiff.

Moreover, our Supreme Court has long held a plaintiff has no entitlement to punitive damages even after establishing they would be permissible. The decision whether to grant or withhold punitive damages is wholly within the control of the fact finder. Indeed, as the Supreme Court explained in Ferguson v. Lieff, Cabraser, Heimann & Bernstein (2003) 30 Cal.4th 1037, "a jury's 'imposition of punitive damages is an expression of its moral condemnation.' [Citation.] . . . [A] plaintiff is not '"entitled, as of right"' to an award of punitive damages [citation], even if the jury finds the defendant 'guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice' [citation]." (Id. at pp. 1048-1049; see Brewer v. Second Baptist Church of Los Angeles (1948) 32 Cal.2d 791, 801 ["a plaintiff is never entitled as a matter of right to exemplary damages. [Citations.] . . . 'A plaintiff, upon establishing his case, is always entitled of right to compensatory damages. But even after establishing a case where punitive damages are permissible, he is never entitled to them. The granting or withholding of the award of punitive damages is wholly within the control of the jury . . . . Upon the clearest proof of malice in fact, it is still the exclusive province of the jury to say whether or not punitive damages shall be awarded. A plaintiff is entitled to such damages only after the jury, in the exercise of its untrammeled discretion, has made the award.'"].)

Accordingly, the court declines to award Plaintiff any punitive damages.

Conclusion

Based on the foregoing, the court finds Plaintiff is entitled to judgment against Defendant on both the first cause of action for intentional misrepresentation and the second cause of action for violation of contractor's state licensing law. Plaintiff is entitled to judgment in the total principal amount of $230,400. Any request for prejudgment interest, costs, or attorney fees shall be made by separate motion or memorandum to the extent appropriate. Plaintiff is ordered to serve and submit a proposed judgment.

The clerk is directed to serve a copy of this ruling on all parties and counsel of record.

If a party desires a record of a law and motion proceeding, it is that party's responsibility to provide a court reporter, unless the party has a fee waiver and timely requests a court reporter in advance of the hearing (see link at end of this paragraph for further information). Parties must comply with the Court's policy on the use of privately retained court reporters, which may be found at the following link: Civil Court Reporter Pooling. For additional information regarding court reporter availability, please visit the court's website at Court Reporter Interpreter Services.

Tentative rulings will be posted case by case on a rolling basis as they become available. Jury trials and other ongoing proceedings, however, may prevent the timely posting of tentative rulings, and a tentative ruling may not be posted in every case. Please do not call the department for tentative rulings if one has not been posted in your case. The court will not entertain a request to continue a hearing or any document filed after the court has posted a tentative ruling.

Submitting on Tentative Rulings: If all counsel intend to submit on the tentative ruling and do not desire oral argument, please advise the courtroom clerk or courtroom attendant by calling (657) 622-5223. Please do not call the department unless ALL parties submit on the tentative ruling. Non-Appearances: If no one appears for the hearing and the court has not been notified that all parties submit on the tentative ruling, the court shall determine whether the matter is taken off calendar or the tentative ruling becomes the final ruling. The court also may make a different order at the hearing. (Lewis v. Fletcher Jones Motor Cars, Inc. (2012) 205 Cal.App.4th 436, 442, fn. 1.)

The specific reasons he now argues as the basis for the judgment being void were previously considered and rejected by the Court of Appeal. Accordingly, it is not simply that there was a prior appeal in this case that prevents Bereki from raising these challenges now. Rather, these challenges are precluded because the same challenges were previously raised and considered. Indeed, his current claims about the alleged punitive nature of Business and Professions Code section 7031, the lack of evidence, the lack of personal and/or subject matter jurisdiction, etc. were considered by the Court of Appeal and rejected. Nonetheless, he has failed to show an independent action would allow a different result because res judicata bars not only the reopening of the original controversy, but also subsequent litigation of all issues which were or could have been raised in the original action. Tentative Ruling posted on the Internet.

Hearing held, participants appearing remotely and in person.

The Court hears oral argument.

The Court confirms the tentative ruling as follows:

Before the court is the "Motion to Vacate Void Judgment" filed by cross-defendant Adam Bereki (Bereki) on May 28, 2025. As set forth below, the motion is DENIED.

This is the second "Motion to Vacate Void Judgment" Bereki has filed in this action. Bereki filed the first motion to vacate on February 19, 2019, shortly after the Court of Appeal issued its remittitur on its opinion affirming the judgment Bereki seeks to set aside as void. In denying that prior motion, the court (Judge Di Cesare) ruled, "The arguments presented on this motion were already raised and rejected, and the appellate decision affirming the underlying judgment on the merits is now final. Upon remittitur, the trial court is revested with jurisdiction of the case only to carry out the judgment as ordered by the appellate court. (People v. Dutra (2006) 145 Cal.App.4th 1359, 1365-1366.) Arguments on the merits of the underlying judgment cannot be entertained anew here. The Motion is therefore Denied." (Mar. 15, 2019 Minute Order.)

This prohibition on raising challenges to the trial court judgment and Court of Appeal decision applies not only to challenges or arguments that previously were presented in those proceedings and rejected by the Court of Appeal, but also to any other challenges or arguments that could have been presented at that time. (Torrey Pines Bank v. Superior Court (1989) 216 Cal.App.3d 813, 821, citing Gates v. Superior Court (1986) 178 Cal.App.3d 301, 311 ["Res judicata bars 'not only the reopening of the original

Bereki attempts to avoid that conclusion in a couple ways. First, he argues a void judgment can be challenged at any time, and neither law of the case, res judicata, nor any other doctrine prevents a void judgment from being challenged because its void. Assuming he is correct, there is an important distinction here. The specific reasons he now argues as the basis for the judgment being void were previously considered and rejected by the Court of Appeal. Accordingly, it is not simply that there was a prior appeal in this case that prevents Bereki from raising these challenges now. Rather, these challenges are precluded because the same challenges were previously raised and considered. Indeed, his current claims about the alleged punitive nature of Business and Professions Code section 7031, the lack of evidence, the lack of personal and/or subject matter jurisdiction, etc. were considered by the Court of Appeal and rejected. In the current motion, Bereki acknowledges he raised these issues, and says the Court of Appeal either did not sufficiently consider them or got them wrong. This court cannot find the judgment void based on a ground the Court of Appeal already considered and rejected.

Second, Bereki characterizes this motion, at least in the reply, as an "independent action in equity." This, however, is not an independent action in equity. To the contrary, it is another motion to vacate the judgment in the very same case in which the judgment was entered, and in which a prior motion to vacate already was denied. Nonetheless, he has failed to show an independent action would allow a different result because res judicata bars not only the reopening of the original controversy, but also subsequent litigation of all issues which were or could have been raised in the original action. (Torrey Pines Bank v. Superior Court (1989) 216 Cal.App.3d 813, 821; Gates v. Superior Court (1986) 178 Cal.App.3d 301, 311.) Bereki has failed to show any arguments presented in this motion were not and could not have been presented in the prior proceedings. Bereki's citation to Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Construction Co. (2020) 53 Cal.App.5th 1201, 1212, and Liu v. SEC (2020) 591 U.S. 71, 79, do not change that result.

The court acknowledges Bereki's argument regarding fraud on the court, but the fraud argument is just a repackaging of the arguments the Court of Appeal already has rejected, i.e., his arguments about the punitive nature of section 7031, the lack of evidence, the lack of jurisdiction and the other arguments relating to those assertions.

As Bereki acknowledges, his arguments have not only been rejected by the Court of Appeal on his appeal from the judgment in this case, but also by the California Supreme Court in its denial of his petition for review, the United States Supreme Court in its denial of his petition for certiorari, the United States District Court in his unsuccessful separate lawsuit, and the Ninth Circuit in his appeal from the District Court's ruling.

In conclusion, having reviewed and considered Bereki's papers in connection with the present motion, Bereki has presented nothing to convince the court that it either can set aside the judgment, or assuming it could, that the court should set aside the judgment. Accordingly, the motion is DENIED.

Bereki's Request for Judicial Notice is GRANTED as to the existence of and legal effects of the various court records identified in the request (i.e., Exhibit 1-12), but otherwise DENIED as not relevant in context here.

Bereki's request to offer testimony by calling attorney William G. Bissell, counsel for cross-complainants Karen Humphreys and Gary Humphreys (collectively, Humphreys), at the hearing is DENIED. Law and motion matters such as Bereki's motion to vacate are customarily decided on the papers with evidence being presented through declarations, requests for judicial notice, and other similar means. Trial courts, however, do have discretion to consider oral testimony. (Rosenthal v. Great Western Financial Security Corp. (1996) 14 Cal.4th 394, 414.) Indeed, trial courts have the discretion to receive or not receive oral testimony on law and motion matters based on their determination whether oral testimony would be necessary or helpful in deciding the matter. (Reifler v. Superior Court (1974) 39 Cal.App.3d 479, 485.) Here, the trial court declines to exercise its discretion to receive oral testimony and therefore denies Bereki's request because the court finds it is neither necessary nor helpful based on the foregoing analysis of the issues presented.

Finally, the Humphreys' request for unspecified monetary sanctions is DENIED. That ruling, however, is without prejudice to any future request for sanctions and/or to a motion to deem Bereki a vexatious litigant if Bereki continues to repeatedly assert the same challenges to the judgment.

The Humphreys' counsel is ordered to give notice of this ruling.

After the Court issued its ruling, the moving party made an oral request to disqualify the judicial officer pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 170.1. The Court denied the request as untimely and procedurally improper, without prejudice to the moving party properly filing a written 170.1 motion in the future.

Order of Discharge – Chapter 7

IT IS ORDERED: A discharge under 11 U.S.C. § 727 is granted to:

Adam Alan Bereki

[include all names used by each debtor, including trade names, within the 8 years prior to the filing of the petition]

Debtor 1 Discharge Date: 3/27/23

Dated: 3/27/23

By the court: Scott C Clarkson
United States Bankruptcy Judge

Explanation of Bankruptcy Discharge in a Chapter 7 Case

This order does not close or dismiss the case, and it does not determine how much money, if any, the trustee will pay creditors.

Creditors cannot collect discharged debts
This order means that no one may make any attempt to collect a discharged debt from the debtors personally. For example, creditors cannot sue, garnish wages, assert a deficiency, or otherwise try to collect from the debtors personally on discharged debts. Creditors cannot contact the debtors by mail, phone, or otherwise in any attempt to collect the debt personally. Creditors who violate this order can be required to pay debtors damages and attorney's fees.

However, a creditor with a lien may enforce a claim against the debtors' property subject to that lien unless the lien was avoided or eliminated. For example, a creditor may have the right to foreclose a home mortgage or repossess an automobile.

This order does not prevent debtors from paying any debt voluntarily or from paying reaffirmed debts according to the reaffirmation agreement. 11 U.S.C. § 524(c), (f).

Most debts are discharged
Most debts are covered by the discharge, but not all. Generally, a discharge removes the debtors' personal liability for debts owed before the debtors' bankruptcy case was filed.

Also, if this case began under a different chapter of the Bankruptcy Code and was later converted to chapter 7, debts owed before the conversion are discharged.

In a case involving community property: Special rules protect certain community property owned by the debtor's spouse, even if that spouse did not file a bankruptcy case.

32/AUTU

For more information, see page 2 >

Some debts are not discharged
Examples of debts that are not discharged are:

- debts that are domestic support obligations;
- debts for most student loans;
- debts for most taxes;
- debts that the bankruptcy court has decided or will decide are not discharged in this bankruptcy case;
- debts for most fines, penalties, forfeitures, or criminal restitution obligations;
- some debts which the debtors did not properly list;
- debts for certain types of loans owed to pension, profit sharing, stock bonus, or retirement plans; and
- debts for death or personal injury caused by operating a vehicle while intoxicated.

Also, debts covered by a valid reaffirmation agreement are not discharged.

In addition, this discharge does not stop creditors from collecting from anyone else who is also liable on the debt, such as an insurance company or a person who cosigned or guaranteed a loan.

This information is only a general summary of the bankruptcy discharge; some exceptions exist. Because the law is complicated, you should consult an attorney to determine the exact effect of the discharge in this case.

The Court has considered the Motion to Compel Trustee to Abandon Property of the Estate filed by Debtor on October 18, 2024 [Dk. 105] ("Motion"), the docket as a whole, and noting that no objection was filed and that the Chapter 7 Trustee filed a "Report of No Distribution" on January 18, 2023, finds good cause to GRANT the Motion. The Estate's interest in following property is hereby deemed abandoned:

1. 818 Spirit, Costa Mesa, California; and,
2. Unprosecuted lawsuit claims, as described in the Motion.

MOTION TO COMPEL TRUSTEE TO ABANDON PROPERTY

INCORPORATED DECLARATION OF ADAM BEREKI IN SUPPORT

Date: December. ,2024
Hearing: 11:00 AM
Courtroom: 5C/ ZOOM

To Scott C. Clarkson, United States Bankruptcy Judge, the Office of the United States Trustee, Bankruptcy Trustee Karen Sue Naylor, and all interested parties:

1. Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §554(b) and FRBP Rules 6007 and 9014, Adam Bereki, ("Petitioner"), in the above-captioned matter requests this Court compel the Bankruptcy Trustee to abandon: a) all interests pertaining to the real property located at 818 Spirit, Costa Mesa, California; and, 2) all interests in the prepetition lawsuit claims because they are of inconsequential value and inconsequential benefit to the estate.

Incorporated Declaration of Adam Bereki

2. I, Adam Bereki, declare under penalty of perjury of the laws of the United States of America, that the following statements of fact are true and correct, with exception of any conclusions of law or other statements made on information and belief.

MOTION TO COMPEL TRUSTEE TO ABANDON PROPERTY

Background

3. This Chapter 7 case was filed on December 8, 2022. (Dkt. 1). Karen Sue Naylor was appointed as the Bankruptcy Trustee. The Meeting of Creditors was conducted on January 18, 2023.

4. The Bankruptcy Trustee filed a "Report of No Distribution" on January 18, 2023, and declared that she "made a diligent inquiry into the financial affairs of the debtor(s) and the location of the property belonging to the estate; and that there is no property available for distribution from the estate over and above that exempted by law." The Trustee also made a subsequent Certification of Services Rendered declaring the same quoted statements on or about May 19, 2023.

5. A discharge was ordered on March 27, 2023. (Dkt. 32).

Memorandum of Law

6. Property of the estate may be abandoned under §554 of the Bankruptcy Code if property of the estate is "burdensome to the estate or of inconsequential value and benefit to the estate." See 11 U.S.C. § 554(a)–(b); FRBP Rule 6007(b).

7. Upon request of a party in interest, the court may issue an order that the trustee abandon property of the estate if the statutory standards for abandonment are fulfilled. The movant bears the burden of proof. In re Pilz Compact Disc., Inc., 229 B.R. 630 (Bankr. E.D. Pa. 1999).

8. "In order to approve a motion to abandon property, the bankruptcy court must find either that (1) the property is burdensome to the estate or (2) of inconsequential value and inconsequential benefit to the estate." In re Viet Vu, 245 B.R. 644, 647 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2000) (citing 11 U.S.C. § 554(b) and Morgan v. K.C. Mach. & Tool Co. (In re K.C. Mach. & Tool Co.), 816 F.2d 238, 245 (6th Cir.1987)). Further, inconsequential value and inconsequential benefit are two separate elements that must both be satisfied. In re K.C. Mach. & Tool Co. 816 F.2d at 245. "Of inconsequential value and inconsequential benefit to the estate" refers to assets not likely to be liquidated for the benefit of creditors. 11 U.S.C. § 704(a)(1). Of inconsequential value and benefit to the estate includes assets that (1) have no equity (including post-petition appreciation), In re Viet Vu, 245 B.R. 644 (9th Cir. BAP 2000); and (2) assets with equity, which has been wholly and properly exempted by the debtor. In re Montanaro, 307 B.R. 194 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2004).

1. Abandonment of Interest in Real Property

9. Petitioner is a Party in Interest. On the date this case was filed, he claimed a legal interest in the real property located at the at 818 Spirit, Costa Mesa, California ("property" or "Spirit Property"). Dkt. 1, Dkt. 15. The value of the property was declared to be $1,142,000 while his equitable interest was declared to be $0. (Dkt. 1). Petitioner also claimed a $600,000 exemption pursuant to Cal. Code of Civil Proc. §704.730. Dkt.1.

10. Initially, Petitioner listed the following three claims against the Spirit property as secured, albeit with certain exceptions stated in his Declaration, (Dkt. 15): 1) 1st Mortgage, Citibank N.A, $457,693.71; 2) Line of Credit, Citizens Bank N.A., $36,396.75; and 3) Judgment Lien, $848,000. For reasons stated in his pleadings and Declarations, each of these claims was subsequently changed to unsecured and disputed. See e.g. Dkt's. 18 and 99 and Declaration of Adam Bereki. (Petitioner's categorization of these claims as "unsecured" was, and continues to be, based on the definition of unsecured being that either the claim does not exist, or if it does, is not secured by property. As a result, there would also not be a secured claim the bankruptcy context of the term "secured" as defined by 11 U.S.C. §506).

11. As of the time of the filing of this Motion, the Trustee has taken no known action to determinate the nature, extent, or validity of any of these disputed claims, or any other claims Petitioner requests be abandoned herein.

12. Neither the Trustee nor any purported creditor or other party has made an objections to any of Petitioners Schedules, including the Third Amended Schedules filed on 11/3/23.

13. No purported creditor in the case has filed a Proof of Claim.

14. To the extent these claims are valid, their value is estimated to be: $1,309,390.46. This amount is $167,390.46 beyond the declared value of the property (excluding any allowable post-judgment interest for Claim 3 for at least seven years, estimated to be in excess of $800,000).

15. On or about 4/24/23, Petitioner filed a Motion to Avoid Lien under 11 U.S.C. 522(f)– to avoid the purported Judgement lien (Claim 3 above). Judge Clarkson granted Petitioner's Motion on 6/15/23 because the lien impaired his claimed $600,000 exemption. Dkt. 89.

16. Based on the foregoing, Petitioner asserts the property is "of inconsequential value and benefit to the estate" because there is no equity in the property. (Of inconsequential value and benefit to the estate includes assets that have no equity. In re Viet Vu, 245 B.R. 644 (9th Cir. BAP 2000)). Additionally, Petitioner only holds legal title to the property and therefore no equity became property of the estate. See 11 U.S.C. §541(d) "Property in which the debtor holds, as of the commencement of the case, only legal title and not an equitable interest, such as a mortgage secured by real property, [...] becomes property of the estate under subsection (a)(1) or (2) of this section only to the extent of the debtor's legal title to such property, but not to the extent of any equitable interest in such property that the debtor does not hold." To the extent any equity in the property is considered property of the estate, Petitioner disputes this summary and arbitrary finding.

17. To the extent Claim 1 is invalid and not secured by the property, the amount of Claim 1 could be property of the estate as equity in the Spirit property. However, absent substantial litigation and a judicial determination of the rights of the parties with respect to this disputed claim, there is no way to truthfully determine its validity and whether it became property of the estate or not. As previously alleged, the Bankruptcy Trustee has not taken any action to determine the validity or extent of this disputed claim. Petitioner attempted to do so by commencing an adversary proceeding and was told he lacked standing. His case was dismissed with prejudice. See case no. 8:23-AP-01075-SC.

18. Petitioner therefore requests Judge Clarkson issue an Order compelling the Bankruptcy Trustee to abandon all interest in the Spirit property because it is of inconsequential value and inconsequential benefit to the estate.

2. Abandonment of Property in Complex Lawsuit Claims

19. Petitioner is a party in interest. On Schedule A/B, he listed his interest in lawsuit claims that had yet to be commenced, amounting to more than $50 million dollars. Dkt's. 1 (Original Sched.) 18 (1st Amend. Sched.); 95 (2nd Amend. Sched.); 99 (3rd Amend. Sched.), 4th Amend. Sched. filed on or about 10/18/24. See especially the Declarations of Adam Bereki attached as a continuation of Sch.A/B to the 1st-4th Amend. Sched. itemizing the lawsuit claims.

20. The relevant portion of the most recent Declaration states "Paragraph 33 of Schedule A/B includes the expected compensation and/or all other forms of legal, equitable, or lawful relief from a lawsuit of all conceivable legal and equitable claims for deprivations of my rights to life, liberty, property, privacy, and security (and all other Constitutionally protected rights not listed) based upon the deprivation of these rights as described in U.S. Supreme Court case 22A426. In an effort to be more specific about the claims listed in ¶33, the following is a list of causes of action currently known but not limited to: deprivation of all protected rights secured by the California and U.S.

Constitutions including any claims which could be made pursuant to 42 U.S.C. §1983, §1985, §1986, §1994; malicious prosecution; false imprisonment; trespass, denial of a judicial determination of rights; intentional infliction of emotional distress; negligence; fraud; violation of public official duties; wrongful foreclosure; excessive, cruel, and unusual punishment; involuntary servitude; invasion of privacy, damage to reputation and business, deprivation of a representative form of State and National government; theft; robbery; extortion; obstruction of justice; treason; Civil RICO; violations of due process; any conceivably related claims under the Cal. Gov't Tort Claims Act and Federal Tort Claims Act; deprivation of a republican form of State and National government (ie with required checks and balances and separation of powers); denial of the inalienable rights to life, liberty, property, and privacy; conspiracy; conspiracy to violate rights; [...]. These claims include all conceivable forms of legal and equitable relief as allowed by law including compensatory damages, damages for personal injury and/or emotional distress, damages to business and reputation and punitive damages and also include interest, attorney's fees and expert fees and fees for my time and labor in the forensic investigation and prosecution of these claims."

21. To realize the value of this assets there would likely be extensive costly litigation. The estate does not possess any assets to pay any creditors, let alone to commence highly complex litigation.

22. In her Report of No Distribution, the Bankruptcy Trustee declared that she had "made a diligent inquiry into the financial affairs of the debtor(s) and the location of the property belonging to the estate; and that there is no property available for distribution from the estate over and above that exempted by law." She has also taken no known action to commence prosecution of these claims.

23. Based on the foregoing, Petitioner asserts the lawsuit claims are "of inconsequential value and benefit to the estate" and requests Judge Clarkson issue an Order compelling the Bankruptcy Trustee to abandon all interests therein.

Judge: -- versus (ph) Humphries (ph) case number 2015. It's 00805807. Could we please have the appearances?

Bereki: Uh, Adam Bereki, Your Honor, on behalf of myself. Adam Bereki, Your Honor, on behalf of myself.

Judge: And one other appearance?

Bereki: If you're think- -- looking at the, uh, the Pringa (ph), Your Honor, that's -- that's someone with me. He's just here as a, uh, observer.

Judge: All right. Then, uh, if -- if we have no other, uh, appearances at this time, so -- now this application was, uh, filed by, uh, you, Mr. Bereki and it has an entirely new, uh, caption, uh, that our case that it, again, was filed in is the Spartan Associates, Inc. vs. Humphries case, which is the 2015. Uh, the caption states, "This application is, uh, related to the unlawful detainer action that was recently filed, which is case number 2025-01459684, and the title of, uh, unlawful detainer action is -- I believe it's Hou, H-O-U, vs., uh, Bereki. And, again, although it states that it's, uh, related there has been no determination of relatedness and no notice of related case had, uh, (inaudible - 0:01:41). Uh, now this application is, uh, 189 pages long and purports to combine a number of different, uh, documents, uh, into one, uh, document and, uh, some of them apply to, uh - uh, sale, uh, foreclosure process that recently, uh, completed, and then it also, uh, uh, attacks, uh, the constitutionality of, uh, multiple, uh, statutes. Uh, so the minutes from today will reflect that this document is not being treated as an answer in the UD (ph) action. It was not filed in a case. It's not being treated as a complaint to start a new case. So it will need to be filed as a separate, independent document, and in the proper case, not in this 2015 case. Any answer, any sort of response in pleading, any sort of re- -- response to the complaint in the UD (ph) action has to file in that action, not in this case, and any new claims, uh, any new lawsuit, uh, any collateral attack on the 2015 judgment, that needs to be filed as a, um, separate lawsuit, getting the summons paid and additional fees, or getting the fee waiver and going through all that process for initiating a, uh, new, uh, lawsuit. So, again, this will not be -- this application should not be construed and treated as either, uh, the, uh, answer to the UD action or the, uh, uh, new complaint. What this is being treated as and, uh, ruled upon as, is the ex parte application can stay, the unlawful detainer action, and the related -- I guess we'll call it motion to vacate the judgment in the 2015 case.

Uh, now treated as such, uh, the, uh, application will be denied. The underlying argument is that, uh, or -- and everything being sought is that the underlying judgment is void for a number of reasons, including that it was, uh, entered in, uh, based upon, or an action that was essentially criminal or penal in nature imposing punishment against you, Mr. Bereki, without providing the constitutional protections that, uh, are, uh, applicable in, uh, criminal proceedings. That, uh, same basic argument has been, uh, made multiple times, uh, and rejected in a number of different courts, including the court of appeal case in this, uh, the Ledruh (ph) called the objection (ph) in the 2015, uh, case. Uh, indeed the court of appeal rejected these, uh, challenges and I am, uh, bound by those determinations at law of the case. Now I understand the contention that a void judgment, uh, can be challenged at any time, but that doesn't allow me to ignore specific rulings that the court of appeal made in this case. Moreover, uh, the 473(d) voidness argument requires a, um, the voidness, uh, to appear on the face of record. I don't think that appears in this case. Uh, there are a number of other, uh, problems with the argument. And then there's also not a sufficient showing for the, uh, granting (ph) the ex parte relief, setting aside any judgment at this, uh, point in time. Uh, regarding (ph) a -- a hearing earlier set (ph) in the UD action yet, uh, so there is not, uh, that, uh, justification for ex parte relief. So for those and, uh, uh, uh, other reasons, uh, the Court is going to deny the present ex parte application, uh, to the U -- (inaudible - 0:07:07) file the UD action, filing a new lawsuit, filing a notice motion, uh, with, uh, proper, uh, notice and service on it (inaudible - 0:07:15). Uh, so that is, uh, where the Court stands, uh, at this point in time, sir.

Bereki: Okay. Can I speak?

Judge: Yes, you may.

Bereki: Uh, my question for you is, having exhausted all of the -- the remedies that I have in the case that I've presented to the Court, where does the Court recommend that I go now to obtain, uh, uh -- if I can't basically challenge this judgment as, uh, you're saying, where do I go to overrule this, to overrule it? Because it's -- it's completely void.

Judge: Well, two things. First of all, I can't provide you with legal advice, I can't for any party, (inaudible - 0:07:54) with, uh, legal advice in that regard. But, uh, if you're -- there is truly some due basis you can make your collateral attack, or file your motion, and that will be ruled on the merits. I can't guarantee the outcome of that. But at some point there is finality to matters as well. I understand you're, uh, vehement, and are in disagreement with the many different rulings that have been made. I under- -- uh, I -- I fully understand, uh, your position on that. But, uh, at some point in time thing do become final. But -- and then you have the -- the -- the unlawful detainer action to, uh -- you have every right to participate in that one and see wherever -- whether you can assert whatever claims defense (ph) in that case. Uh, they're -- the Court is, uh, not able to pre- -- you know, bar you from filing a, uh, properly noted (ph) motion or another, uh, lawsuit if that's the -- the pathway that you, uh, wish to follow. Um, but in terms of granting any of this on an ex parte relief I don't, uh, see that being a basis that I -- I have -- I -- I -- I'm not yet convinced, uh, of the merits, uh, even if it was on a notice -- but that doesn't (ph) prevent a notice motion. Uh -- uh, that's --

Bereki: Okay, so did I --

Judge: -- (inaudible - 0:09:07).

Bereki: I'm sorry -- did I understand you to say that basically the Court's ruling is going to be the same if I, uh -- I know you said that they're being treated differently, but, uh, what will be the difference, so to speak, if I file that motion to vacate in the, so to speak, proper procedure that -- that you're saying, versus, uh, this -- the ex parte action?

Judge: Well, it may well be the same. I can't (inaudible - 0:09:32), you know, it depends. I have to see that, see if they comply with everything and what they're showing but I -- I have serious concerns and doubts that, uh, it, uh, would be successful, but I can't give an advisory (inaudible - 0:09:44), you know, I can't rule on something that isn't properly before me at this point in time. So, uh, it would -- I can't say it with 110 percent certainty, but I can say that there is very strong likelihood the outcome would be the same.

Bereki: Okay, thank you for that. So my earlier question was where do I go, because, uh, I've tried collateral attacks, I've tried direct attacks, I've tried habeas petitions and absolutely there is no remedy that I have, if -- if -- if what I am saying is taken to be true, wha- -- and -- and you said, uh, that you can't give me legal advice. Well, there has to be some forum, in California or the United States, to -- to, uh, actually be heard. And if the court lacked jurisdiction and it was a void judgment in the first instance and on appeal, um, I -- like I said, I've exhausted every known remedy that I have. Wh- -- where is the fair forum to be actually heard?

Judge: Well, uh, I -- you've been provided with one. Y- -- you disagree with the forum but you've been provided with the forum on multiple -- at multiple levels. So I don't understand your -- like I said, I understand that you vehemently disagree with the rulings that have been made in the case. But that does not mean that you were not provided with a forum. It's just that, you know, you, uh, disagree with the outcomes in those forums.

Bereki: Well, and ap- -- apparently so does, um, our own courts of appeal here, with their recent ruling in the Eisenberg (ph) cases, saying it's a penalty. The U.S. Supreme Court in Lou v. SEC saying that disgorgement only applies to profits, and there were no profits in my case. I mean this isn't just me coming up with a -- with a hypothetical about why I think something's wrong. This is -- this is evidence from -- from other courts and, I mean our entire constitutional history shows that -- that everything I'm saying here is legit.

Judge: I -- again, I understand and, like I said, I -- you -- I cannot say 100 percent what any ruling would be on a future request, uh, and it will -- everything will be considered on its merits. But there -- again, I cannot tell you exactly what to file or how to file or where to file, but, uh --

Bereki: So in -- in essence, what I understand -- and you can correct me, of course, if I'm wrong, is that, um, I -- I filed several different things on the same, uh, document. I indicated that there was a related case, that it was, uh -- that this ex parte hearing was related to, and that essentially, because those procedural, uh, requirements weren't, uh, followed, um, that the -- the Court is putting, uh, form over substance in not recognizing any of those.

Judge: That's not -- listen, I said -- I just pointed out there are a number of problems with the forum, but I've also said that there is not a sufficient showing to justify ex parte relief, setting aside those s- -- uh, procedural, uh, circumstances. And on the current papers I have not been (inaudible - 0:12:36) on the merits of the argument. So it's not just simply form over substance, sir.

Bereki: Okay, I didn't hear you say that putting those things aside that that was the case. So your ruling -- you're saying that the law of case doctrine, essentially, is what it -- you're using to, um, basically deny relief here?

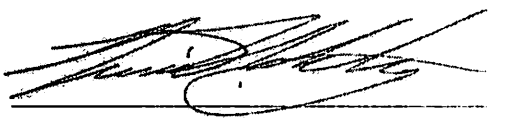
Judge: Well I -- I've explained everything as much as I can here today at this point, sir. So, uh, the -- the Court has (inaudible - 0:12:59) ruling. You can (inaudible - 0:13:00) whatever filings you deem appropriate in the UD action or an independent one. But I've (inaudible - 0:13:05) --

Bereki: Okay.

Judge: -- today.

Bereki: My -- my ultimate question is wh- -- where do I go for relief?

Judge: Well, again, I cannot provide you with any further, uh, uh, uh -- any legal advisement. I can't provide any further guidance than I already have (inaudible - 0:13:18). I'm sorry.



Bereki: Okay. All right.

Judge: Thank you. Best of luck to you.

Judge: All right, then, good morning. It looks like we're all connected up. We will, uh, the matter for ex parte calendar here this morning in the matter of The Spartan Associates, Inc. vs. Karen Humphries, et al. If we could have the appearances, please?

Bereki: Uh, uh, Judge it's Adam Bereki appearing on behalf of myself. And then there's a friend of mine, Pier Prenga, he's the other person that's here. And, um, before we get started I'd like to ask if the Court can, uh, re- -- record the proceedings, or allow me to, so that I can preserve this, uh, record on appeal.

Judge: Um, no, the Court cannot do a recording of the matter, and it is, uh, not permissible to record court proceedings, uh, online like this. So they're -- uh, in connection with this there is -- you may, uh, with a fee waiver you may request a court reporter but it, uh -- you need to request that in advance and there is a form that must be filed with the court to request, uh, a, uh, court reporter. So, um, that is something that you may have and obtain but, uh, it needs to be properly and timely requested, uh, for, uh, there to be. But uh, y- -- I, uh -- a party with a fee waiver may request a court reporter. There's a -- a -- a court form to fill out that needs to be filed in advance, uh, and it needs to be, uh -- the request needs to be made in connection with each hearing. There can't be a blanket one that -- for all -- for in perpetuity, uh, have a court reporter. And just like p- -- re- -- parties with a fee waiver in a, uh, unlimited civil matter is on th- -- they're to have a certified court reporter, uh, to the extent that they would like a court exporter. That's, uh, you know, the unfortunate reality of the, uh, resources, uh, that, uh, the court is lacking, uh, at this time. So that's where we --

Bereki: I understand.

Judge: -- stand on that.

Bereki: Um, it's -- from what I understand, other departments, uh, just make a recording of the Zoom proceedings and that those can used on appeal. Is that incorrect?

Judge: Uh, in certain -- in, um, certain limited matters and certain case types, uh, it is statutorily authorized. It is not authorized and permitted in, uh, this type of proceeding.

Bereki: Okay. Thank you for clarifying that.

Judge: Uh, it's not a -- it's a -- yeah, it depends on the case type.

Bereki: Okay.

Judge: And the -- and it's unfortunately some of the statutes are out -- out of date with current reality, but the statutes are the statutes, w- -- uh, (inaudible - 0:07:11).

Bereki: Okay. So the statute says it's not allowed in -- in ex parte proceeding for this?

Judge: In -- in civil, uh -- in -- in unlimited civil matters, yeah, the -- the audio recording is not permitted.

Bereki: Okay. Thank you.

Judge: Uh, so yes, we do have the ex parte to, uh, uh, vacate the, uh, Court's ruling on a ex parte from a couple months ago and to set aside the, uh, judgment, uh, in this case and make other orders relating to the unlawful detainer, uh, matter as well. Uh, this application, uh, will be denied. Uh, the, uh, challenges to the judgment will be, uh, heard on their merits in connection with the hearing that we sent yesterday, that it will be your opportunity to, uh, provide your briefing and have, uh, the ruling on those matters. Um, there's -- first of all, I think there's a number of inaccuracies in these, uh, papers. There was not simply a one-word, uh, ruling on your ex parte back in the -- March. There was a discussion about that, and indeed, you, uh, purport to paraphrase or quote various things that were made. The minutes are not a verbatim record of the proceedings, they are a summary of the proceedings to document, uh, the actions and outcomes. They are not a verbatim, uh, record of that. So I don't think that that is an accurate thing. As I indicated, the process for obtaining a court reporter, there is a request that needs to be, uh, provided, uh, but there was, uh, a -- a number of, uh, explanations that were provided. Uh, I understand you may disagree with some of them and think our -- things are inaccurate and we'll get to the merits of those at the, uh, hearing that we scheduled, uh, yesterday. Uh, but I guess I'll also note for the record that statutorily many, uh, ex partes may be decided, uh, in chambers, uh, uh, that, for many things, that -- that a court hearing is not required on an ex parte matter. But the Court is, uh, endeavored to, uh, provide, uh, the explanation, uh, back in March with that. Uh, so this -- I don't see that there's a adequate showing to, uh, justify this, and we'll decide it in that hearing that we scheduled yesterday.

Bereki: Okay. May I respond?

Judge: You may.

Bereki: Okay. Um, I do understand your point about addressing the issues about whether the judgment is void, and I understand that we can address that at the hearing.

But, um, neither the ruling on the 18th, nor anything today, addresses the substantive issues pertaining to, um, staying the UD proceedings, uh, pending resolution of those issues because there I did demonstrate, uh, irreparable harm and imminent injury, and the Court has not, uh, addressed those substantive issues, either at the last hearing or this hearing. And, um, I also have additional, um, information. I don't know if you reviewed the, um, the ex parte that I filed in the UD case as well as the motion to vacate. Did you review that?

Judge: The ex parte that you filed the U- -- that's a separate case, assigned to a separate judge. So I have not seen an ex parte in a UD -- in the UD case.

Bereki: Okay, so are you aware of the issues, um, that I presented in this ex parte, pertaining to the, uh, the -- the, um, attorney in the UD case, he failed to notify me of the default judgment, the request for default. Uh, I believe the Court violated due process by, uh, uh -- awarding the default the next day, even though the attorney served it by mail and I did not get five days. Um, and I -- I was required to have five days' notice and I didn't get that. And then I appeared at the court the next day, after the ex parte, on March 19th to file an answer, based on the corrections that you gave me in the hearing. And the clerk rejected it because it claimed, um, that the default had already been filed, that I was never given notice of. So essentially I've never, um, been allowed to answer. So I filed a, uh, UD, or a -- a ex parte application for a TRO stay and a motion to vacate in the, uh, UD case yesterday, and the judge, uh, de- -- uh, denied it basically, uh, again, refusing to address any of my substantive issues pertaining to, uh, the void -- the potential void judgment in this case. The, uh, uh, forthcoming imminent adversary proceeding of -- of the judgment violating the discharge order and being a fraudulent transfer. Um, and so, I -- I -- the due process just continues to be denied and -- and I'm trying to do my best to resolve this and to do so within court procedures by, you know, dotting every I and crossing every T to the best of my ability, and it just seems like at every turn, um, there's just another violation of due process that I'm not being heard.

Judge: All right, well I'm -- I'm sorry that you feel that way. In -- in terms of the UD, that -- it all needs to be addressed in the UD department. That is -- I can't order another judge at the trial court level to make a decision or, uh, take a -- a specific action.

That's -- the UD action that is pending in that case. What I can rule upon is the -- your challenges to the judgment. In this case we have set the hearing for that and it'll be addressed at that time.

Bereki: I -- I appreciate that. But what I'm -- I'm -- I'm reporting to you is that there's ongoing due process violations by the court itself, and those -- I'm not asking you to give me an appeal of that judge's orders. What I'm saying is that there's -- there's further irreparable harm, an injury continuing, and that -- that's what I'm --

Judge: Yes, (inaudible - 0:12:50) --

Bereki: -- hear right now for.

Judge: -- yes, well that's not the -- in the -- the analysis, sir. It's a much great- -- uh, the -- much greater, uh -- there's, uh, multi-fa- -- multiple factors that go into granting an ex parte relief. That, in and of itself, is not the sole, uh, factor. So, uh --

Bereki: Oh, okay.

Judge: -- again, the Court's made its ruling here today, uh -

Bereki: Can -- can you give me the --

Judge: -- and so --

Bereki: -- substantive reasons of why?

Judge: Okay, sir, I -- I -- the Court has made its ruling

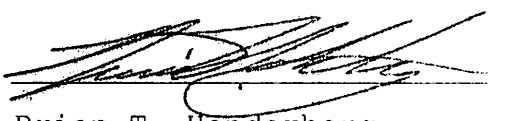
here today. S- -- so we will have that hearing for you on the date that we set yesterday on the merits of your challenge to the judgment.

Bereki: Okay, may I ask one more question?

Judge: Y- -- you may ask one more question, yes, sir.

Bereki: Okay. Um, I hear you, what you're saying, but again, I -- I had not heard any substantive, um, reasoning for you on addressing the issues of irreparable harm and imminent injury, and I need to have those issues addressed so that I can raise them on appeal.

Judge: Yeah, as I just indicated, there are multiple factors. Just, uh, showing what you believe to be irreparable harm does not justify ex parte relief. That is one of many considerations that go into ex parte relief. So thank you very much --



Bereki: Can --

Judge: -- sir, that wi- -- we will conclude the hearing here for today and we will speak again with the next filing. Thank you very much. Have a good day, sir.

INTRODUCTION

This action arises out of a home remodel project which began in April of 2012 on two units of a three unit condominium located in the Lido Isle community of Newport Beach, California. The project consisted of combining what at the time, were two separate small adjoining units into a single unit. The respondents Gary Humphreys and Karen Humphreys (the Humphreys) were the husband and wife owners of the two units and appellant Adam Bereki (Mr. Bereki) was the contractor with whom the Humphreys contracted to perform the work.

From the beginning, work on the project did not progress smoothly and was shut down on at least two separate occasions by the City of Newport Beach for lack of having the required building permits for the work that was being performed. In August of 2013, a year and a half into the project, with the work once again at a city ordered standstill and the project far from completed, the Humphreys terminated Mr. Bereki and hired another contractor to finish their project.

This action was initiated by The Spartan Associates, Inc. (Spartan), a corporation wholly owned by Mr. Bereki and the alleged general contractor on the project, to recover from the Humphreys amounts Spartan claimed it was owed on an open book account and for work, labor and/or materials provided to the project.

The Humphreys cross-complained against Mr. Bereki, for disgorgement under California Business & Professions Code §7031(b) of the compensation paid by them; against Mr. Bereki and Spartan for damages for negligence and fraud and against the sureties on Spartan's contractor's license bonds for recovery on the bonds. The basis of the cross-complaint was the alleged unlicensed status of Mr. Bereki at the time the work was performed, negligence on the part of Mr. Bereki in the manner in which he performed the work and fraud in surreptitiously charging the Humphreys over $100,000 for personal expenses and other items which the Humphreys alleged were not chargeable to them under their agreement with Mr. Bereki.

On motion of the Humphreys, which was unopposed, and was heard by the Trial Court on March 24,2017, the first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint, for disgorgement of compensation paid, was ordered severed, to be tried separate from and prior to the remaining causes set forth in that pleading. The trial on the severed first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint commenced on March 27, 2017 and concluded on March 28, 2017. At the conclusion of the presentation of evidence which consisted of both the testimony of witnesses and the introduction of documents, the Trial Court found that Mr. Bereki was the party who had contracted with the Humphreys, that the work performed by and under Mr. Bereki required that he possess a license issued by the California State Contractor's License Board and that at no time, either at the time the contract was entered into or when the work was performed, did Mr. Bereki possess such a license. The Trial Court ruled that the Humphreys were the prevailing party on the first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint and as such were entitled to recover from Mr. Bereki all compensation paid by the Humphreys during Mr. Bereki's involvement on the project.

Attempting to comprehend and distill the many, and varied arguments raised by Mr. Bereki in his opening brief, it appears that the gist of his position can be found in the brief's conclusion where he contends the Trial Court committed reversible error in applying section 7031 of the Business and Professions Code to him and ordering disgorgement of the compensation paid by the Humphreys.

Because the Trial Court's actions were necessary, proper and in accordance with the law, Respondents request that the Trial Court's judgement be affirmed.

II.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The chronology of this case relevant to the pending appeal of the Trial Court's judgment is as follows:

On August 21, 2015 The Spartan Associates Inc. filed its complaint in this matter against the Humphreys alleging the common counts of goods sold and services rendered and open book account, [Clerks Transcript -Vol. 1–Pg. 49-52]. The Clerks Transcript is hereafter referred to as "CT".

On October 13, 2015 the Humphreys filed their answer to the complaint generally denying the material allegations of that pleading and alleging twenty separate affirmative defenses [CT- Vol. 1 Pg. 64-72]. At the same time, the Humphreys filed their cross-complaint in the action against Adam Bereki, The Spartan Associates, Inc. and Suretec Insurance Company alleging causes of action for negligence, fraud, alter ego, penalty for violation of Business & Professions Code §7160 and recovery against contractor's license bond [CT- Vol. 1- Pg. 73-93].

On November 16, 2015 The Spartan Associates, Inc. and Mr. Bereki filed their joint answer to the Humphreys cross-complaint, generally denying all of the material allegations in that pleading and alleging twenty separate affirmative defenses [CT- Vol. 1 Pg. 99-105].

On December 14, 2016, a substitution of attorney was filed in the matter whereby attorney J. Scott Russo, who had been representing both The Spartan Associates, Inc. and Mr. Bereki, substituted out as Mr. Bereki's attorney and remained as attorney of record for The Spartan Associates, Inc. Mr. Bereki at that point undertook his own representation. [CT- Vol. 3- Pg 738]

On February 2, 2016, the Humphreys filed an amendment to their cross-complaint naming Old Republic Surety Company to reflect the true name of the cross-defendant sued under the fictitious name Roe 16 as a cross-defendant in the Humphreys cause of action for recovery against contractor's license bond. [CT- Vol. 1- Pg. 206-207].

By motion filed on December 5, 2016 [CT- Vol. 3 – Pg. 704-736] the Humphreys sought leave of the Trial Court to amend their cross-complaint to add an additional cause of action against Mr. Bereki for disgorgement of funds pursuant to Business & Professions Code §7130. The motion for leave to amend was unopposed and the Trial Court, at the hearing on the motion held on January 6, 2017, granted the Humphreys leave to file their amended cross-complaint [CT- Vol. 3- Pg742-743]. The amended cross-complaint was filed on January 6, 2017 [CT- Vol. 3- Pg. 744-764] and was responded to jointly by The Spartan Associates, Inc. and Mr. Bereki on February 10, 2017, again by way of a general denial and the reassertion of the same previously plead affirmative defenses [CT- Vol. 3- Pg. 822-829].

On motion of the Humphreys, which was unopposed, and heard by the Trial Court on March 24,2017, the first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint, for disgorgement of compensation paid, was ordered severed, to be tried separate from and prior to the remaining causes set forth in that pleading [CT- Vol. 4- Pg. 904-905].

The trial on the amended cross-complaint's severed first cause of action for disgorgement commenced on March 27, 2017 in Department C-20 of the Orange County Superior Court before the Honorable David Chaffee, all parties being present and having waived a jury [CT-Vol. 4 -Pg. 929-931], and was concluded on March 28, 2017 [CT- Vol. 4 – Pg. 950-952]. At the conclusion of the presentation of evidence consisting of both the testimony of witnesses and the introduction of documentary evidence, and after argument of counsel, the Trial Court ruled as follows:

> "Having fully considered the arguments of all parties, both written and oral, as well as the evidence presented, the Court finds and determines that Mr. Adam Bereki is the contractor and he does not possess contractor's license. The Court finds judgment for the Cross Complainants Gary and Karen Humphreys (First Cause of Action, for disgorgement of funds paid) and against cross-defendant Adam Bereki." [CT- Vol. 4-Pg 950-951].

The Trial Court, after an offer of proof by plaintiff's counsel on plaintiff's complaint, further found judgment for the Humphreys on the complaint of The Spartan Associates, Inc. [CT- Vol. 4- Pg. 950-951]

With the Trial Court having ruled in their favor on both the complaint and the first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint, and pursuant to an oral stipulation of the parties placed on the record, the Humphreys dismissed the remaining causes of action in their cross-action, without prejudice and subject to a stipulated waiver of the statute of limitations should it become necessary to re-file an action on the dismissed causes of action [CT- Vol. 4 – Pg. 950-951].

Judgment on the complaint and on the amended cross-complaint was entered by the Trial Court on April 20, 2017 [CT- Vol. 4- Pg. 1005-1006], and notice of entry of judgment was served by the Humphreys on The Spartan Associates, Inc. and on all cross-defendants including Appellant on April 24, 2017 [CT-Vol. 4- Pg. 1017-1021].

On June 13, 2017 appellant Adam Bereki filed his notice of appeal from the judgment of the court [CT- Vol. 4- Pg. 1074] and notice thereof was given by the clerk of the Trial Court on the same date [CT- Vol. 4- Pg. 1075].

On June 30, 2017, Mr. Bereki filed his Appellant's Notice Designating Record on Appeal designating the Trial Court's file in this action in its entirety to comprise the Clerk's Transcript on appeal and electing to proceed without a reporter's transcript [CT- Vol. 4 – Pg. 1127-1135].

On December 13, 2017, Mr. Bereki filed a motion to augment the Record on Appeal by adding to the previously filed Clerk's Transcript, an additional 382 pages of post-trial filings in the Trial Court [CT- Vol. 4- Pg. 1151-1533] and the Reporter's Transcript of the trial of this matter on March 27 and March 28, 2017. The Reporter's Transcript is hereafter referred to as "RT".

On January 3, 2018 the Court of Appeal ruled on Appellant's motion to augment the record by granting the motion as it pertained to the inclusion of the Reporter's Transcript of the trial proceedings and denying the motion as it pertained to the attempt to include in the Clerk's Transcript the 385 pages of post-trial proceedings.

III.

STATEMENT OF APPEALABILITY

To the extent this appeal is from the judgment of the Orange County Superior Court entered in this matter, it is authorized by the Code of Civil Procedure Section 904.1 subdivision (a) (1). As to other matters, such as post trial proceedings, which Appellant has attempted to include in this appeal, no notice of appeal of such has been filed [CT Vol 4 -Pg. 1074] and therefore such matters are not an appropriate subject of this appeal.

IV.

ARGUMENT

1. NO FALSE OR MISLEADING STATEMENT WAS MADE TO THE TRIAL COURT

A. New Issues Generally Will Not Be Considered

Appellate courts generally will not consider new issues or theories of law that a party raises for the first time on appeal. Bikkina v. Mahadevan (2015) 241 Cal. App. 4th 70, 92–93. To do so would unfairly deprive the trial court and the opposing parties of their opportunity to decide the issue, Bermudez v. Ciolek (2015) 237 Cal. App. 4th 1311, 1323. When a case is on appeal the parties are bound to the evidence produced in the trial court, and parties opposing or responding to the appeal cannot fairly be expected to disprove factual contentions that were not presented at trial, Strasberg v. Odessey Group, Inc. (1996) 51 Cal. App. 4th 906, 920. Both Mr. Bereki and the attorney for The Spartan Associates sat through the trial of this matter and both had the opportunity to cross-examine the Humphreys regarding any statement made by them in any prior pleadings or papers filed with the court. The Humphreys would have then had the opportunity to give their testimony on such examination and the Trial Court would have had the opportunity to weigh any conflicting evidence or testimony. Neither Mr. Bereki nor counsel for the Spartan Associates however chose to bring up or question the Humphreys regarding their motion for summary judgment. To allow Mr. Bereki to raise these issues for the first time now would unfairly deprive the trial court and the Humphreys of the opportunity to address the issue and offer evidence to refute Mr. Bereki's claim.

B. Standard of Review

Determining whether statements made during trial were misleading is a factual determination to which the substantial evidence standard is applied. Under this standard great deference is given either to the trier of fact and will generally affirm a factual conclusion made by the trier of fact so long as it is supported by substantial evidence in the record, Nestle v. City of Santa Monica (1972) 6 Cal. 3d 920,925.

C. The Record Proves Appellant's Argument to be False

If the Court were nonetheless inclined to take Mr. Bereki's argument of false and misleading statements made at trial under consideration, the record puts a lie to that argument. Mr. Bereki argues that facts asserted by the Humphreys in their motion for summary judgment filed in this matter [CT -Vol. 1- Pg. 231-300] contradict facts to which they testified at trial and as a consequence a fraud was perpetrated on the court. Specifically, Mr. Bereki claims that the Humphreys asserted in their motion that they had contracted with The Spartan Associates, Inc. while testifying at trial that they had contracted with Mr. Bereki individually. In so arguing, Mr. Bereki misrepresents to this Court what in fact the Humphreys stated in their motion.

As opposed to Mr. Bereki's representation that the Humphreys, in their motion for summary judgment, acknowledged that they had contracted with The Spartan Associates and not Adam Bereki, the moving papers filed by the Humphreys actually state:

"In April of 2012, my wife and I entered into an oral agreement with Adam Bereki for remodeling work to be performed by Mr. Bereki on our 436 Via Lido Nord Newport Beach condominium unit. Although I was initially under the impression that our agreement was with Mr. Bereki individually, we were later requested by Mr. Bereki to make our checks for progress payments payable to the The Spartan Associates, Inc." Declaration of Gary Humphreys [CT - Vol.1 – Pg. 251 Line 15 -19]

"In April of 2012, my husband and I entered into an oral agreement with Adam Bereki for remodeling work to be performed by Mr. Bereki on our 436 Via Lido Nord Newport Beach condominium unit. Although I was initially under the impression that our agreement was with Mr. Bereki individually, we were later requested by Mr. Bereki to make our checks for progress payments payable to the The Spartan Associates, Inc." Declaration of Karen Humphreys [CT - Vol.1 – Pg. 273 Line 15 -19].

Clearly, the above declarations of fact of the Humphreys in support of their motion for summary judgment are consistent with the position adopted and the testimony given by the Humphreys at trial to the effect that they believed they were contracting with Mr. Bereki and his partner individually to perform the work on their condominium [RT-Vol-1-Pg 33, L-18 to Pg. 34, L- 2] [RT-Vol-1 – Pg. 84, L6-8].

2. THE TRIAL COURT'S APPLICATION OF BUSINESS & PROFESSIONS CODE §7031 TO THE FACTS OF THIS CASE WAS CORRECT.

A. Appellant has Waived His Right to Attack the Judgment on Constitutional Grounds.

Mr. Bereki attacks the both the validity and the trial court's application of Business & Professions Code §7031 in this matter, on various misapplied legal grounds, relying primarily on foreign and inapplicable authority. In doing so, Mr. Bereki is again raising issues for the first time on appeal that were neither brought up nor mentioned at the time of trial. Taking this issue under consideration at this stage would unfairly deprive the trial court and the Humphreys of the opportunity to address the issue and offer evidence to refute Mr. Bereki's claim and under the authority of Bikkina v. Mahadevan Supra at 241 Cal. App. 4th pg. 92–93 and Bermudez v. Ciolek Supra at 237 Cal. App. 4th 1323 this Court should decline to undertake the consideration of this issue.

Further, as a general rule, as with most other issues, a constitutional issue in a civil case must be raised at the earliest opportunity or it will be deemed waived. Needelman v. DeWolf Realty Co., Inc. (2015) 239 Cal. App. 4th 750, 763. As the court stated in, People v. Harrison (2013) 57 Cal. 4th 1211, 1229 "No procedural principle is more familiar to this Court than that a constitutional right,' or a right of any other sort, 'may be forfeited in criminal as well as civil cases by the failure to make timely assertion of the right before a tribunal having jurisdiction to determine it."

Beyond the policy of fairness expressed in Bikkina v. Mahadevan Supra and Bermudez v. Ciolek Supra, Mr. Bereki's failure to have raised, at the trial of this matter, the issues he now argues concerning the validity and application of Business & Professions Code §7031 amounts to a waiver of those issues.

B. Standard of Review

In the event the Court determines that the issue of the validity and application of Business & Professions Code §7031 by the trial court in this matter has not been waived by Mr. Bereki's failure to raise the issue at trial and is appropriate for its review in this matter, determining whether Business & Professions Code §7031 was a constitutionally valid law is a matter for de novo review. Determining whether there was a sufficient showing made at trial for the trial court to base its judgment on that code section is a factual determination to which the substantial evidence standard is applied, requiring that deference be given to the trial court and the factual conclusions made by the trier of fact so long as they are supported by substantial evidence in the record, Nestle v. City of Santa Monica Supra at 6 Cal. 3d 925.

C. Business & Professions Code §7031 (b) is an Appropriate and Valid Exercise of the State's Police Powers.

The U.S. Constitution, Amend. X reads as follows: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people." These are referred to as the states police powers. The police power is an exercise of the sovereign right of the government to protect the lives, health, morals, comfort, and general welfare of the people Keystone Bituminous Coal Ass'n v. DeBenedictis (1987) 480 U.S. 470, 503. In the civil context, the police power is the power of sovereignty or power to govern, i.e., the inherent reserved power of the state to subject individual rights to reasonable regulation for the general welfare, Sinclair Paint Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1997) 15 Cal. 4th 866, 878 (superseded by statute on other grounds).

The validity of Business & Professions Code §7031 (b) as a proper exercise of the State's inherent police power to regulate the contracting industry for the benefit of the public, has been upheld by the California Supreme Court in Hydrotech Systems, Ltd. v. Oasis Waterpark, 52 Cal. 3d 988, 995 (1991) in which it was held;

"Section 7031 represents a legislative determination that the importance of deterring unlicensed persons from engaging in the contracting business outweighs any harshness

between the parties, and that such deterrence can best be realized by denying violators the right to maintain any action for compensation in the courts of this state. [Citations Omitted]."

The 2001 amendment to Business and Professions Code §7031 (b) adding the "sword" element to subsection (b) of the statute was addressed by this Court's District One in Alatriste v. Cesar's Exterior Designs, Inc. (2010, 4th Dist.) 183 Cal App 4th 656, 665-666 in which the Court stated;

". .In 2001, the Legislature amended section 7031 to add a sword remedy to the hiring party's litigation arsenal. This sword remedy, contained in section 7031(b), currently reads: 'Except as provided in subdivision (e), a person who utilizes the services of an unlicensed contractor may bring an action in any court of competent jurisdiction in this state to recover all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor for performance of any act or contract.' By adding this remedy, the Legislature sought to further section 7031(a)'s policy of deterring violations of licensing requirements by 'allow[ing] persons who utilize unlicensed contractors to recover compensation paid to the contractor for performing unlicensed work...This measure is intended to clearly state that those using the services of unlicensed contractors are entitled to bring an action for recovery of compensation paid...

7031(b) was designed to treat persons who have utilized unlicensed contractors consistently, regardless of whether they have paid the contractor for the unlicensed work. In short, those who have not paid are protected from being sued for payment and those who have paid may recover all compensation delivered..."

D. The Elements of the Action

The elements of an action for disgorgement of compensation paid, brought under Business & Professions Code §7031 are:

1. A person engaged in the business or acting in the capacity of a contractor performing a contract where a license is required - Business & Professions Code §7031 (a);

2. Failure by that person to be duly licensed at all times during the performance of that contract - Business & Professions Code §7031 (a); and

3. Compensation paid to the contractor by the person utilizing the contractor's services - Business & Professions Code §7031 (b).

E. Evidence Supporting Judgment.

Each of the elements of a claim for disgorgement under Business & Professions Code §7031 were established at trial.

1. Appellant was Acting in the Capacity of a Contractor in Both Contracting to Perform and in Performing the Work on the Respondent's Condominium Unit.

Business & Professions Code §7026 defines "Contractor" for the purpose of division 3, chapter 9 of the code as "... any person who undertakes to or offers to undertake to, or purports to have the capacity to undertake to, or submits a bid to, or does himself or herself or by or through others, construct, alter, repair, add to, subtract from, improve, move, wreck or demolish any building... other structure, project, development or improvement, or to do any part thereof..."

Business & Professions Code §7025(b) defines "Person", as the term is used in division 3, chapter 9 of the code, as including "an individual, a firm, partnership, corporation, limited liability company, association or other organization, or any combination thereof."

Despite Mr Bereki's contorted and strained argument to the contrary, there is simply no rational or logical basis for the proposition that Business & Professions Code §7031 does not apply to individuals.

There was ample uncontroverted evidence, both testimony and documentary, at trial establishing that the work undertaken by Mr. Bereki for the Humphreys involved alteration, repair and improvement of their condominium unit. Exhibit 303, the April 5, 2012 emails between Mr. Bereki and the Humphreys describes the scope of the project at the time the agreement was entered into. [RT- Vol-1-Pg 33, L-18 to Pg. 34, L- 2]; [RT- Vol-1-Pg 82, L-6 to Pg. 83, L-19]. Mr. Bereki's own testimony establishes that the work involved in the Humphreys project fell within the scope of Business & Professions Code §7026 [RT- Vol-1-Pg 113, L-5-22] [RT-Vol-1-Pg 141, L-8-16], [RT-Vol-1-Pg 146. L-1-10].

Without citing to anything in the record to support it, Mr. Bereki argues that the trial court erred in finding that it was he and not Spartan Associates, Inc. who contracted with the Humphreys and therefore wrongfully applied the disgorgement provision of Business & Professions Code §7031 to him personally. In making this assertion Mr. Bereki ignores the nearly overwhelming evidence which came in at trial on that issue and which supported the trial court's finding that the contract in issue was entered into between the Humphreys and Mr. Bereki individually. [RT-Vol-2-Pg. 28, L-8-13].

Examples of the evidence in support of the trial court's finding are:

Both Mr. and Mrs Humphreys testified that they believed (based on Exhibit 303) that they were hiring Mr. Bereki and his partner to perform the work described in the exhibit- [RT-Vol-1-Pg. 33, L-18 to Pg 34, L- 2], [RT-Vol-1-Pg. 84, L-3- 8];

Before the April 5, 2012 agreement, Exhibit 303, was entered into, Mr. Bereki never mentioned The Spartan Associates, Inc. to the Humphreys and the Humphreys had never heard of The Spartan Associates, Inc. [RT-Vol-1—Pg. 39, L-13-23], [RT-Vol-1-Pg. 84, L-3- 8].

There is no mention of The Spartan Associates, Inc. in the April 5, 2012 agreement between the parties Exhibit 303 [RT-Vol-1-Pg. 39, L-24-26];

Mr. Bereki initially requested that the Humphreys checks in payment for the work on the project be made payable to him personally Exhibit 305 [RT Vol-1- Pg. 41, L-11 to Pg. 42, L- 2].

The Humphreys first heard of Spartan Associates only after several months into the project when Mr. Bereki asked that they start making payments to Spartan Associates [RT-Vol-1- Pg. 42, L-7-25]; [RT-Vol-I-Pg. 85, L-25 to PG 86. L-17].

The Humphreys were never presented with any proposal or contract from The Spartan Associates [RT-Vol-1-Pg 86, L- 18-21.]

Job correspondence from Mr. Bereki to the Humphreys, was without exception, sent on his personal email account even though The Spartan Associates had its own email account [RT-Vol-1- Pg. 110, L- 9-18].

Mr, Bereki paid job costs and expenses from his personal account [RT-Vol-1-Pg 122, L-12 to Pg. 123, L-6] Exhibit 355.

In contrast to the above, there is virtually nothing in the record other than Mr. Bereki's unsubstantiated testimony that it was the Spartan Associates and not he that entered into the April 5, 2012 agreement with the Humphreys.

2. Appellant was Unlicensed Both at the Time He Contracted with the Respondents and at the Time He Performed Work Under that Contract.

That Mr. Bereki was not licensed either at the time the April 5, 2012 agreement with the Humphreys was entered into or at the time he performed work on the project is evidenced by his own express admission of lack of holding a license. [RT-Pg. 123, L-7-14]. Although admitting that he had no license issued to him in his name, Mr. Bereki argues that because he was allegedly the qualifying individual for The Spartan Associates contractor's license (an alleged fact not established at trial) his failure to hold a license in his own name is a matter of no harm no foul. This argument finds no support however in Business & Professions Code §7028.5, which holds "It is unlawful for a person who is or has been a partner, officer, director, manager, responsible managing employee, responsible managing member, responsible managing manager, or responsible managing officer of, or an individual who is listed in the personnel of record of, a licensed partnership, corporation, limited liability company, firm, association or other organization to individually engage in the business or individually act in the capacity of a contractor within this state without having a license in good standing to so engage or act."

The Humphreys paid Mr. Bereki a total of $848,000.00 for the work he ostensibly performed on their project. Exhibit 32-4to17, [RT-Pg. 85, L-7-21], [RT-Pg. 89, L-20 to Pg. 90, L-26], [Appellants Opening Brief Pg. 22].

Mr. Bereki, while conceding that the compensation was paid, argues that a portion of that compensation were checks from Mr. Humphreys corporation and that therefore the Humphreys had no standing to pursue recovery of those payments. The trial court in its findings held: "So the evidence shows here the payments that were made through Humphreys & Associates

Incorporated's bank account were essentially debited against Mr. Humphrey's compensation, effectively making the payments directly from Mr. Humphreys..." [RT-Vol-2-Pg, 24 to Pg. 21, L-2]

The evidence to which the trial court was referring above is the testimony given by Mr. Humphreys to the effect that all payments made to Mr. Bereki on Humphreys & Associates, Inc. checks were debited against his compensation and was nothing more than an accommodation to him by his employer for times when Mr. Bereki stated that he needed a payment to keep the job moving and Mr. Humphreys was physically unavailable to make the payment personally. [ RT-Vol-1-Pg, 158, L-16 to Pg. 162, L- 15]. There was no evidence or testimony which controverted Mr. Humphreys testimony in this regard.

And lastly on this point, Mr. Bereki argues that he should be entitled to a credit for or offset against any disgorgement, the value of any materials or equipment he provided to the Humphreys. This argument however was put to rest in Alatriste v. Cesar's Exterior Designs, Inc. Supra 183 Cal App 4th at 672 in which the Court citing White v. Cridlebaugh (2009) 178 Cal.App.4th 506, 517 held "...the authorization of recovery of 'all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor for performance of any act or contract' [citation] means that unlicensed contractors are required to return all compensation received without reductions or offsets for the value of material or services provided.' (citation) The court reasoned that this 'interpretation ... is consistent with the usual meaning of the word 'all,' which signifies the whole number and does not admit of an exception or exclusion not specified. [Citation.] In short, 'all compensation paid' does not mean all compensation less reductions for offsets."

3. APPELLANT HAS FAILED TO PERFECT RIGHTS TO APPEAL MATTER OCCURRING POST JUDGMENT.

Included in Mr. Bereki's opening brief are arguments to overturn the results of a number of various and sundry post trial proceedings he had filed in the trial court. Specifically, Mr. Bereki seeks to compel different results to the trial court's ruling on his post-trial Writ of Error, Demand for Bill of Particulars, Motion to Compel Bill of Particulars and Request for Statement of Decision. [AOB- Pg. 59]. Mr. Bereki has however failed identify in his notice of appeal [CT - Vol-4 Pg. 1074] any of the above post judgment orders as being the subject of his appeal. California Rule of Court 8.100 (a) (2) provides that the notice of appeal "...is sufficient if it identifies the particular judgment or order being appealed." The notice submitted by Mr. Bereki makes no such identification and therefore is insufficient as to the post judgment matters Mr. Bereki now seeks to have determined.

The one exception to the bar prohibiting Mr. Bereki from raising, in this appeal, post judgment orders not identified in his notice of appeal, is the question of the trial court's jurisdiction over the matter. While lack of subject matter jurisdiction can be raised at any time, even for the first time on appeal DeTomaso v. Pan American World Airways, Inc. (1987) 43 Cal. 3d 517, 520 there is simply no basis in fact which in any supports Mr. Bereki's claim of lack of jurisdiction.

As to the question of the trial court's jurisdiction over the subject matter of this case, Cal Const., Art. VI § 10 states in pertinent part "The Supreme Court, courts of appeal, superior courts, and their judges have original jurisdiction in habeas corpus proceedings. Those courts also have original jurisdiction in proceedings for extraordinary relief in the nature of mandamus, certiorari, and prohibition. The appellate division of the superior court has original jurisdiction in proceedings for extraordinary relief in the nature of mandamus, certiorari, and prohibition directed to the superior court in causes subject to its appellate jurisdiction.

Superior courts have original jurisdiction in all other causes...."

"The superior court is a court having jurisdiction in all civil actions and proceedings, with stated exceptions, and it is a court of general jurisdiction....". Richardson v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County (Cal. App. 1934), 138 Cal. App. 389,391.

In that this case is not one involving matters reserved for the Supreme Court, courts of appeal or the appellate division of the superior court, the superior court was the appropriate court to adjudicate the issues raised in the matter and had jurisdiction over the subject matter of the case.

As for personal jurisdiction over Mr. Bereki, Cal Code Civ. Proc § 410.50 states "(a) Except as otherwise provided by statute, the court in which an action is pending has jurisdiction over a party from the time summons is served on him as provided by Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 413.10). A general appearance by a party is equivalent to personal service of summons on such party."

An appearance for any purpose other than to question the jurisdiction of the court is general. Pfeiffer v. Ash (Cal. App. 1949), 92 Cal. App. 2d 102, 104. Mr. Bereki by substituting in as his own attorney in this matter in propria persona [CT-Vol 3- Pg. 738], filing his answer to the Humphrey's cross-complaint seeking a determination of the issues [CT-Vol 3- Pg. 822-829] and appearing at and presenting his case in defense at the trial of this matter [CT-Vol 4- Pg. 929], made a general appearance giving the trial court personal jurisdiction over him

V.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth above it is contended that Appellant's appeal is without merit and it is therefore respectfully requested that the judgement of the Trial Court be affirmed and that Respondents be awarded their costs on appeal, the amount of which to be determined by the Trial Court upon application made after remand of this case.

INTRODUCTION

This action arises out of a home remodel project which began in April of 2012 in Newport Beach, California. The parties opposing this motion, Gary Humphreys and Karen Humphreys (the Humphreys) were the husband and wife owners of the property to be remodeled and the moving party Adam Bereki (Mr. Bereki) was the contractor with whom the Humphreys contracted to perform the work.

From the beginning, work on the project did not progress smoothly and was "red tagged" i.e. shut down on at least two separate occasions by the City of Newport Beach. In August of 2013, a year and a half into the project, with the work once again at a city ordered standstill and the project far from completed, the Humphreys terminated Mr. Bereki and hired another contractor to finish their project.

This action was initiated by The Spartan Associates, Inc. (Spartan), a corporation wholly owned by Mr. Bereki and the alleged general contractor on the project, to recover from the Humphreys amounts Spartan claimed it was owed by the Humphreys.

The Humphreys filed an amended cross-complaint, the first cause of action of which was against Mr. Bereki, under California Business & Professions Code §7031(b) for disgorgement of the compensation paid by them to Mr. Bereki. The basis of the first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint was the alleged unlicensed status of Mr. Bereki at the time the contract was entered into and at the time the work was performed.

On motion of the Humphreys, which was unopposed, the first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint, was ordered severed, to be tried separate from and prior to the remaining causes set forth in that pleading. The trial on the severed first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint commenced on March 27, 2017 before Judge David Chaffee in Department C-20 of this Court and concluded on March 28, 2017. Mr. Bereki appeared, testified and examined witnesses at that trial. At the conclusion of the presentation of evidence which consisted of both the testimony of witnesses on direct and cross examination and the introduction of documents, the Trial Court found that Mr. Bereki was the party who had contracted with the Humphreys, that the work performed by and under Mr. Bereki required that he possess a license issued by the California State Contractor's License Board and that at no time, either at the time the contract was entered into or when the work was performed, did Mr. Bereki possess such a license. The Trial Court ruled that the Humphreys were the prevailing party on both the complaint and the first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint and as such were entitled to recover from Mr. Bereki all compensation paid by the Humphreys during Mr. Bereki's involvement on the project.

Mr. Bereki appealed the trial court's judgement to the Court of Appeal, Fourth District, Division Three. Both Mr. Bereki's opening brief and his reply brief raised and addressed his claim that the trial court lacked jurisdiction over both him and the subject matter of the action and that he was denied due process protections guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution. Oral argument was heard on October 16, 2018 before a panel comprised of the Honorable Justices O'Leary, Aronson and Goethals at which Mr. Bereki again asserted the trial court's lack of jurisdiction and denial of due process. Following submission of the matter, the Appellate Court, with the concurrence of all three justices, affirmed the judgment of the trial court awarding Respondent's their costs on appeal.

On or about December 10, 2018, Mr. Bereki filed with the California Supreme Court a petition for review of the Court of Appeals decision, once again raising as grounds for review the claimed lack of jurisdiction of the trial court and claimed denial of due process. The petition for review was denied on January 30, 2019 and the case was remitted to this Court for entry of costs on Appeal.

Mr. Bereki, who clearly lacks a sufficiently developed understanding of jurisdictional and constitutional law, has repeatedly raised the issues of jurisdiction and due process and has been heard on those issues multiple times and apparently is unable to accept the fact that his position has no basis in law. There is no basis, either procedurally or substantively which would allow this court, at this juncture of the litigation to so much as entertain Mr. Bereki's motion much less grant it.

II.

CHRONOLOGY OF THE CASE AS IT PERTAINS TO THIS MOTION

The chronology of this case relevant to the pending motion is as follows:

On March 27, 2017 trial in this matter commenced in Department C-20 of the Orange County Superior Court before the Honorable David Chaffee, the parties having waived jury. The trial was on the complaint of the plaintiff The Spartan Associates, Inc. (Spartan) against the Humphreys and on the cross-complaint of the Humphreys against Mr. Bereki and Spartan. Mr. Bereki participated in the trial representing himself , examining and cross-examining witnesses, presenting documentary evidence and giving testimony on his own behalf.

At the conclusion of the presentation of evidence consisting of both the testimony of witnesses and the introduction of documentary evidence, and after argument of counsel, the Trial Court ruled in favor of the Humphreys on the first cause of action of their cross complaint for disgorgement and on the complaint of Spartan and judgement was entered accordingly on April 20, 2017.

On June 13, 2017 Mr. Bereki filed his notice of appeal from the judgment of the court with the California Court of Appeal, Fourth District, Division Three.

On October 16, 2018, after the submission of briefs in which Mr. Bereki's claims as they relate to the trial courts jurisdiction over the action and Mr. Bereki were raised and addressed, oral argument was held before a panel comprised of the Honorable Justices O'Leary, Aronson and Goethals. Following submission of the matter, the Appellate Court, with the concurrence of all three justices, affirmed the judgment of the trial court awarding Respondent's their costs on appeal.

On about December 10, 2018, Mr. Bereki filed with the California Supreme Court a petition for review of the Appellate Court's decision once again raising his claims of lack of jurisdiction as grounds for granting the petition.

On January 30, 2019 the California Supreme Court denied the petition for review and on January 31, 2019 the Appellate Court issued its Remittitur of the case back to the trial court for entry of costs on appeal .

III.

MOVING PARTY'S CLAIM IS BARRED UNDER

THE DOCTRINE OF RES JUDICATA

The doctrines of res judicata and judicial estoppel rest on the ground that a party who has litigated a matter or has had an opportunity to do so should not be permitted to litigate it again to the harassment and vexation of his or her opponent. Public policy and the interests of litigants alike require that there be an end to litigation Busick v. Workmen's Comp. Appeals Bd. (1972) 7 Cal. 3d 967, 972; Rubenstein v. Rubenstein (2000) 81 Cal. App. 4th 1131, 1144. The rule of res judicata is to prevent vexatious litigation and to require the parties to rest on one decision in their controversy; res judicata bars not only the reopening of the original controversy, but also subsequent litigation of all issues that were or could have been raised in the original suit Torrey Pines Bank v. Superior Court (1989) 216 Cal. App. 3d 813, 821.

None of the "issues" on which Mr. Bereki is basing his motion are being raised here for the first time. Mr. Bereki has asserted the same tired and strained arguments in his post judgment motions to the trial court, in his appeal of the trial courts judgment and in his petition for review filed with the State Supreme Court. Further, even if these issues had not already been raised and rejected as ill founded, there is not a single issue raised here that could not have been asserted at the time of trial or in Mr. Bereki's appeal. This case may stand as the poster case for why public policy demands that there be an end to litigation. Mr. Bereki has been heard on these issues and he has lost, not only at trial but at the appellate level. That should be the end of it.

IV.

THE TRIAL COURT HAD BOTH THE REQUISITE SUBJECT MATTER AND PERSONAL JURISDICTION TO RENDER JUDGMENT IN THIS MATTER.

In the event the Court determines that the instant motion warrants consideration, the facts of this case establish that the trial court had both personal jurisdiction over Mr. Bereki and subject matter jurisdiction over the case and that the judgment entered by the trial court and affirmed by the court of Appeal was proper and beyond attack at this level.

As to the question of the trial court's jurisdiction over the subject matter of this case, Cal Const, Art. VI § 10 states in pertinent part "The Supreme Court, courts of appeal, superior courts, and their judges have original jurisdiction in habeas corpus proceedings. Those courts also have original jurisdiction in proceedings for extraordinary relief in the nature of mandamus, certiorari, and prohibition. The appellate division of the superior court has original jurisdiction in proceedings for extraordinary relief in the nature of mandamus, certiorari, and prohibition directed to the superior court in causes subject to its appellate jurisdiction.

Superior courts have original jurisdiction in all other causes...."

"The superior court is a court having jurisdiction in all civil actions and proceedings, with stated exceptions, and it is a court of general jurisdiction....". Richardson v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County (Cal. App. 1934), 138 Cal. App. 389,391.

In that this case is not one involving matters reserved for the Supreme Court, courts of appeal or the appellate division of the superior court, the superior court was the appropriate court to adjudicate the issues raised in the matter and had jurisdiction over the subject matter of the action. As for personal jurisdiction over Mr. Bereki, Cal Code Civ

Proc § 410.50 states "(a) Except as otherwise provided by statute, the court in which an action is pending has jurisdiction over a party from the time summons is served on him as provided by Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 413.10). A general appearance by a party is equivalent to personal service of summons on such party."

An appearance for any purpose other than to question the jurisdiction of the court is general. Pfeiffer v. Ash (Cal. App. 1949), 92 Cal. App. 2d 102. Mr. Bereki by substituting in as his own attorney in this matter in propria persona, filing his answer to the Humphrey's cross-complaint seeking a determination of the issues and appearing at and presenting his case in defense at the trial of this matter , has made a general appearance and thus has voluntarily submitted to the trial court exercising personal jurisdiction over him..

V.

CONCLUSION

Although Mr. Bereki couches his motion to vacate the judgment as being grounded in a claimed lack of jurisdiction by both the trial court to have rendered judgment and the court of appeal to have affirmed that judgment, in reality the motion is nothing more than an attempt to relitigate the same issues he has raised in his appeal of the trial court's judgment and in his petition to the State Supreme Court. While Mr. Bereki correctly points out that a motion to challenge a judgment on the basis it is void may be brought at any time, he clearly fails to understand that once that challenge has been brought and has been determined to be without merit, he is barred from reasserting that challenge except to a court of review at a higher level. Simply put, Mr. Bereki has shot his wad on this issue at all levels of review with the exception of the United States Supreme Court and for that reason this motion should be removed from the law and motion calendar as having been improperly filed or alternatively, denied.

For the reasons set forth above it is requested that the court refuse to hear the pending motion as having been improperly filed or alternatively deny the motion.

7031 IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL AS APPLIED

Business & Professions Code §7031(b) is unconstitutional as applied by the court to Adam Bereki because it:

1) violates the Constitutional provisions of punitive damage awards;

2) does not meet the requirements of justiciability (See Section );

3) violates due process;

4) is void for vagueness as to the term compensation in "return all compensation paid".

5) Is purely punitive and requires Rights guaranteed to a criminal defendant California authorizes four penalties for "engaging in the business of, or acting in the capacity of, a "contractor" without a license – a criminal penalty, a civil penalty, a shield penalty and a sword penalty:

1) The first offense criminal penalty can be a misdemeanor conviction with a fine up to $5,000, plus restitution for any actual economic loss. The fine is payable to the government, the economic loss to the customer.

2) The civil penalty is a citation by the Registrar of Contractors, an administrative hearing, and a penalty up to $5,000, except for certain named violations. The civil penalty is payable to the government.

3) The shield penalty bars the unlicensed contractor from using the courts to collect money owed for work performed. This penalty vindicates the judicial system by preventing use of the court to enforce unlicensed work performed in violation of law.

4) The sword penalty is disgorgement. It allows the customer to recover all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor. Disgorgement, like compensatory damages, is payable to a private party, not the government.

Disgorgement is a form of damages assessed against the unlicensed contractor and paid to its customer for the violation of the license law.

Disgorgement is a monetary award to a private party, not the government.

Punitive damages are defined as being independent from, and not in any way compensation for, any actual damages suffered. Regardless of whether disgorgement is a legal or equitable remedy, and regardless of what it is labeled, disgorgement is clearly a penalty, unrelated to actual damages as it has been applied by the courts in the form of punitive damages paid to a private party.

California courts have repeatedly held disgorgement to be lawful – on its face – despite the potential harshness or draconian nature of the remedy. However, even though the Legislature allows juries to assess punitive damages under a statute that is clearly constitutional on its face (Civil Code § 3294), the courts routinely determine whether punitive damages assessed by a jury in a particular case exceed constitutional bounds. The same must be true for disgorgement.

7031 VIOLATES THE PROVISIONS OF PUNITIVE DAMAGE AWARDS

The U.S. Supreme Court has established a three part test for evaluating the validity of punitive damages in civil cases. See State Farm Mutual Auto Insurance Co. v Campbell, 538 US 408 (2003):

1) the reprehensibility of the conduct being punished;

2) the reasonableness of the relationship between the harm and the award; and

3) the difference between the award and the civil penalties authorized in comparable cases.

Under this test, use of the disgorgement sword to hypothetically take anything more than nominal damages from Adam and give them to Respondents fails every element of the test for the following reasons:

REASONABLENESS

First, the relationship between the "harm" and disgorgement of $848,000 is grossly disproportionate. At "trial", Respondents presented no evidence of any damages proximately cause by Adam's alleged failure to be licensed.

Compensatory damages are intended to redress the concrete loss the 'victim' has suffered by reason of the 'perpetrators' wrongful conduct. By contrast, punitive damages serve a broader function; they are aimed at deterrence and retribution. Id 416

California and federal courts have constrained awards of punitive damages to a reasonable relationship to the actual damages suffered.

In the instant case, disgorgement of anything would be an infinite multiple of the non-existent damages.

COMPARABLE CASE AWARDS

Second, the difference between the $848k disgorgement award and both the criminal and civil penalties authorized in comparable cases is astronomic. As previously noted, the maximum criminal penalty is $5,000 plus restitution of actual economic loss.

Again, Respondents presented no witnesses or evidence at "trial" of any actual loss whatsoever.

The maximum civil penalty that could be assessed by the CSLB is also $5,000. Thus, a "disgorgement" of $848k would be 169 TIMES the comparable criminal or civil penalty.

The judgment in this case is more than three times the financial penalty for treason, – the highest crime of our country– which is $250,000. Furthermore, it forces Adam into elements of financial ruin and bankruptcy.

Punitive damages in excess of $5000 therefore do not pass Constitutional muster.

REPREHENSIBLE

Third, the conduct is not reprehensible. Not only was there no evidence of any damages whatsoever, had there been, they would have been purely economic. No one was hurt or injured. There was no evidence of fraud, oppression, or malice.

No evidence was presented the compensation by Spartan or Adam had not been returned.

Respondents interacted exclusively with Adam Bereki who had the work experience and passed the competency exam to qualify for Spartan's contractors license. It is unknown how Respondents could therefore be deprived of the CSLL protections.

Prior to hiring Adam Bereki or Spartan, Respondent Gary Humphreys was intimately aware of Adam's competency by the previous projects he had done at Respondents business and for other family members (RT 93–10).

Furthermore, as mentioned, Mr. Humphreys is a nationally recognized expert in project management and government contractor who teaches project management around the world including to the construction industry. He is not a member of the public who needs protection from incompetence and dishonesty from those who provide building and construction services. In fact he has decades more training and experience than Adam Bereki who doesn't even possess a college degree.

While Mr. Humphreys claims he does not have specific experience in building construction itself, the project management principles he teaches most definitely are fundamental to every project. The preface of his near eight hundred page book on project management states: "Please do not conclude that a sample does not apply to those of you in the construction, software, or other industries." (CT 400-401, RT 97)

7031 VIOLATES DUE PROCESS

A de novo standard of review should be applied to the court's ruling.

THE TRIAL COURT LACKED SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION TO RENDER ANY JUDGMENT DUE TO FRAUD, DUE PROCESS VIOLATIONS, AND RESPONDENTS FAILURE TO PROVE THE FACTUAL SUFFICIENCY OF THEIR CLAIM

A court of California does not have jurisdiction to render a judgment that violates the California Constitution or the Constitution of the United States.
County of Ventura v Tillett, 133 Cal. App. 3d 105

While a court has jurisdiction to hear and decide cases, it does not have jurisdiction adjudicate a case upon the commission of a crime such as fraud or violations of due process such as those evidenced above that occurred in this case.

A court only has subject matter jurisdiction to adjudicate a claim upon substantial proof of the factual sufficiency of each element of that claim by competent sworn testimony regarding authenticated evidence.

In the case of a violation of statute, jurisdiction only extends once the factual sufficiency of each element of the offense has been met.

In this way, subject matter jurisdiction is a two sided coin.

One side of the subject matter jurisdiction coin involves the common law, statutory authority, or contract upon which there was a duty to do or not do something and the court's empowerment to deal with that subject matter as authorized by Constitution or Statute.

> The first prong of the jurisdiction analysis is to determine which state courts have subject matter jurisdiction. The court in which the action is filed must be competent under California law to render a judgment; i.e., the state constitution or statutes must empower it to adjudicate the type of lawsuit involved and to render a judgment for the amount in controversy. [See Marriage of Jensen (2003) 114 CA4th 587, 593, 7 CR3d 701, 705 (citing text)]

"The principle of 'subject matter jurisdiction' relates to the inherent authority of the court involved to deal with the case or matter before it." [Varian Med. Systems, Inc. v. Delfino (2005) 35 C4th 180, 196, 25 CR3d 298, 311]

The other side of the coin (or second prong) rests on the factual sufficiency of the claim. Without the factual sufficiency of the claim there would be no proven violation of law for the court to render judgment/verdict. The court would not have jurisdiction over the subject matter because a law has not been proven to have been violated – there is no proof of a claim for it to adjudicate. At that point the court has a non-discretionary duty to dismiss the case for want of subject matter jurisdiction. See FRCP 12(b)(6)

The factual sufficiency of the claim must establish there was a known duty the breach of which was the causation of damages as attested to by at least one competent fact witness testifying under oath and subject to cross examination regarding authenticated evidence.

See also Buis v State, 1990 OK CR 28.

Respondents:

1) failed to offer any competent sworn testimony Adam Bereki was a person to whom §7028 and §7031 applied

2) failed to offer any competent sworn testimony as to what work Adam Bereki did on their project that was required to be licensed and the amount he was compensated for that work required to be licensed as differentiated from work done NOT required to be licensed or the work done by Spartan.

3) failed to controvert Spartans testimony and evidence of obtaining the permits, doing the work, and receiving $758,000 in compensation.

4) committed fraud on the court by making false or misleading statements to gain a civil advantage.

5) failed to prove they had paid personally $495,000 that was paid by Humphreys & Associates, Inc. and therefore had no standing to collect on its damages.

6) Failed to respond to multiple challenges to jursidiction violating due process

7) Failed to state a justiciable cause of action and subjected Adam to an unknown jurisdiction of law foreign to our Constitutions.

The trial court did not have cognizance of a case pursuant to §7028 or §7031 B&P against Adam Bereki because these causes of action do not meet the requirements for a justiciable controversy as evidenced.

The proper parties were NOT present because there were none who could be pursuant to the first requirement. See Reynolds v Stockton, 140 US 254, 268 (1891)

INTRODUCTION

This motion is in all substantive respects nothing more than a refiling and rehash of virtually the same motion to vacate judgment brought by Mr. Bereki in February of 2019 in this case and in which the court in denying the motion aptly noted "The arguments presented on this motion were already raised and rejected, and the appellate decision affirming the underlying judgment on the merits is now final. Upon remittitur, the trial court is revested with jurisdiction of the case only to carry out the judgment as ordered by the appellate court. (People v. Dutra (2006) 145 Cal. App.4th 1359, 1365-1366.) Arguments on the merits of the underlying judgment cannot be entertained anew here..."

Despite the trial courts crystal clear admonition to Mr. Bereki advising him that upon the appellate court's affirming the judgment the trial court has no jurisdiction to entertain new arguments attacking the merits of the judgment, Mr. Bereki persists in ignoring both the courts rulings and procedural law and continues to harass the Humphreys, denigrate this Court and waste judicial resources by filing motions patently lacking in merit and seeking public support for the motion through inflammatory emails.

II.

BRIEF HISTORY OF THE CASE

This case , judgment in which has long been final, arose out of a home remodel project which began in April of 2012 in Newport Beach, California. The parties opposing this motion, Gary Humphreys and Karen Humphreys (the Humphreys) were the husband and wife owners of the property to be remodeled and the moving party Adam Bereki (Mr. Bereki) was the contractor, albeit unlicensed, with whom the Humphreys contracted to perform the work.

A dispute arose between the Humphreys and Mr. Bereki over the quality of the work performed by Mr. Bereki and other disturbing aspects of Mr. Bereki's activities and performance on the project resulting in a civil complaint being filed in this matter by Mr. Bereki's corporation and a cross complaint being filed by the Humphreys. On motion of the Humphreys the first cause of action of their first amended cross-complaint for disgorgement under California Business & Professions Code Section 7031, was ordered severed, to be tried separate from and prior to the remaining causes set forth in that pleading.

The trial on the severed first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint commenced on March 27, 2017 before Judge David Chaffee in Department C-20 of this Court and concluded on March 28, 2017. At the conclusion of the presentation of evidence, the Trial Court ruled in favor of the Humphreys on both the complaint and the first cause of action of the first amended cross-complaint and entered judgment accordingly.

Mr. Bereki appealed the trial court's judgement to the Court of Appeal, Fourth District, Division Three. As with the instant motion, both Mr. Bereki's opening brief and his reply brief raised and addressed his claim that the trial court lacked jurisdiction over both him and the subject matter of the action and that he was denied due process protections guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution. Oral argument was heard on October 16, 2018 before a panel comprised of the Honorable Justices O'Leary, Aronson and Goethals at which Mr. Bereki again asserted the trial court's lack of jurisdiction and denial of due process. Following submission of the matter, the Appellate Court, with the concurrence of all three justices, affirmed the judgment of the trial court awarding Respondent's their costs on appeal.

On or about December 10, 2018, Mr. Bereki filed with the California Supreme Court a petition for review of the Court of Appeals decision, once again raising as grounds for review the claimed lack of jurisdiction of the trial court and claimed denial of due process. The petition for review was denied on January 30, 2019 and the case was remitted to this Court for entry of costs on Appeal.

On February 19, 2019 Mr. Bereki filed with this Court the motion to vacate the judgment in this matter mentioned above , which was denied on March 15, 2019.

In October of 2019 Mr. Bereki filed a petition for writ of certiorari with the United States Supreme Court seeking to have the judgment here overturned. That petition was denied.

In addition to the above there have been an assortment of misguided collateral attacks on the judgment brought by Mr. Bereki in both the federal court and again to the U.S. Supreme Court all of which have been summarily denied.

Mr. Bereki, who after repeatedly raising the issues of jurisdiction and due process and having been heard on those issues multiple times in multiple venues is apparently incapable of accepting the fact that in the vast majority of trials there is a loser and in this one that is he. There is no basis, either procedurally or substantively which would allow this court, at this juncture to so much as entertain Mr. Bereki's motion much less grant it.

III.

MOVING PARTY'S CLAIM IS BARRED UNDER THE DOCTRINE OF RES JUDICATA

The doctrines of res judicata and judicial estoppel rest on the ground that a party who has litigated a matter or has had an opportunity to do so should not be permitted to litigate it again to the harassment and vexation of his or her opponent. Public policy and the interests of litigants alike require that there be an end to litigation Busick v. Workmen's Comp. Appeals Bd. (1972) 7 Cal. 3d 967, 972; Rubenstein v. Rubenstein (2000) 81 Cal. App. 4th 1131, 1144. The rule of res judicata is to prevent vexatious litigation and to require the parties to rest on one decision in their controversy; res judicata bars not only the reopening of the original controversy, but also subsequent litigation of all issues that were or could have been raised in the original suit Torrey Pines Bank v. Superior Court (1989) 216 Cal. App. 3d 813, 821. "A final judgment on the merits of an action precludes the parties from relitigating issues that were or could have been raised in the action" Federated Dept. Stores, Inc. v. Moitie 452 U.S. 394, 398 (1981).

The "issues" on which Mr. Bereki is basing his latest motion have either been raised numerous times before or are issues which could have been raised and litigated at the 2017 trial. Mr. Bereki has asserted the same tired and strained arguments in his post judgment motions to the trial court, in his appeal of the trial courts judgment, in his petition for review filed with the State Supreme Court and his petition for writ of certiorari filed with the U.S. Supreme Court .As to those issues which have not already been raised and rejected as ill founded, there is not one that could not have been asserted at the time of trial or in Mr. Bereki's appeal.

IV.

THE JUDGMENT IS NOT VOID

Mr. Bereki argues that the holding in Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co.53 CA 5th 1201 (2020) somehow voids the judgment in this case. It does nothing of the sort. The holding in the Eisenberg v. Suffolk case did not invalidate the disgorgement provisions of Business & Professions Code §7031 which remains unchanged and enforceable today as it was when the judgment in this case was entered. Eisenberg v. Suffolk merely identified the period in which an action under the disgorgement clause of that statute must be brought. Mr. Bereki argues that under the decision in the Eisenberg v, Suffolk supra case the Humphrey's disgorgement cause of action was untimely and the that consequently the judgment is void. In so arguing, Mr. Bereki ignores the fact that the burden of proving a statute of limitations defense lies with the party asserting the defense. Although it was within his power to assert the defense and put on evidence to try to establish it at trial Mr. Bereki failed to do either.

There has been no substantive change in the law under which the judgment in this case was entered and Mr. Bereki has certainly not pointed the court to any such change which would warrant a deviation here from the principals of res judicata.

V.

THE TRIAL COURT HAD BOTH THE REQUISITE SUBJECT MATTER AND PERSONAL JURISDICTION TO RENDER JUDGMENT IN THIS MATTER.

In the event the Court determines that the instant motion warrants consideration, the facts of this case establish that the trial court had both personal jurisdiction over Mr. Bereki and subject matter jurisdiction over the case and that the judgment entered by the trial court and affirmed by the court of Appeal was proper and beyond attack at this level.

As to the question of the trial court's jurisdiction over the subject matter of this case, Cal Const, Art. VI § 10 states in pertinent part "The Supreme Court, courts of appeal, superior courts, and their judges have original jurisdiction in habeas corpus proceedings. Those courts also have original jurisdiction in proceedings for extraordinary relief in the nature of mandamus, certiorari, and prohibition. The appellate division of the superior court has original jurisdiction in proceedings for extraordinary relief in the nature of mandamus, certiorari, and prohibition directed to the superior court in causes subject to its appellate jurisdiction.

Superior courts have original jurisdiction in all other causes...."

"The superior court is a court having jurisdiction in all civil actions and proceedings, with stated exceptions, and it is a court of general jurisdiction....". Richardson v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County (Cal. App. 1934), 138 Cal. App. 389,391.

In that this case is not one involving matters reserved for the Supreme Court, courts of appeal or the appellate division of the superior court, the superior court was the appropriate court to adjudicate the issues raised in the matter and had jurisdiction over the subject matter of the action. As for personal jurisdiction over Mr. Bereki, Cal Code Civ Proc § 410.50 states "*(a) Except as otherwise provided by statute, the court in which an action is pending has jurisdiction over a party from the time summons is served on him as provided by Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 413.10). A general appearance by a party is equivalent to personal service of summons on such party."

An appearance for any purpose other than to question the jurisdiction of the court is general. Pfeiffer v. Ash (Cal. App. 1949), 92 Cal. App. 2d 102. Mr. Bereki by substituting in as his own attorney in this matter in propria persona, filing his answer to the Humphrey's cross-complaint seeking a determination of the issues and appearing at and presenting his case in defense at the trial of this matter , has made a general appearance and thus has voluntarily submitted to the trial court exercising personal jurisdiction over him.

VI.

SANCTIONS UNDER CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE SECTION 128.5 ARE WARRANTED

A trial court may order a party to pay the reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred by another party as a result of actions or tactics, made in bad faith, that are frivolous or solely intended to cause unnecessary delay. C.C.P §128.5 (a).

For purposes of C.C.P §128.5 (a) "actions or tactics" includes the making of a motion and "frivolous" means totally and completely without merit or for the sole purpose of harassing an opposing party. C.C.P §128.5 (b) (1) & (2).

A request for sanctions under C.C.P §128.5 (a) may be made in a party's responding papers. C.C.P §128.5 (c) . Lesser v. Huntington Harbor Corp. 173 CA3rd 922 (1985).

An action is deemed frivolous or in bad faith if it is prosecuted for improper motive (including harassment or delay) or if it is totally and completely devoid of any merit. Finnie v. Town of Tiburon, 199 Cal. App. 3d 1, 12 (1988).

As set forth above, Mr. Bereki has been informed by this Court in terms which are crystal clear and not subject to interpretation, that the trial court has no jurisdiction to entertain attacks on the judgment entered in this case. In other words, Mr. Bereki has been advised by this Court that any new attempt by him to attack the judgment in this venue is frivolous. Despite being on notice of the frivolousness of this motion Mr. Bereki persists in ignoring the court's admonishment and continues to harass the Humphreys. Worse still, Mr. Bereki in a display of shocking disrespect to the Court attempts to bait this Court by such emails as the following sent on June 4, 2025:

> "Good day, Let us all patiently await the discovery of whether supervising Superior Court Judge, David Hesseltine, will tell the truth, exposing nearly 100 years of legislative, executive, and judicial tyranny in Commiefornia involving Cal. Business and Profession Code §7031 (unlicensed contracting) or will lie to shield his brethren and other officials involved in the corruption...
> Please join us, Thursday, June 26, at 2:00PM in his courtroom or by zoom (visit occourts.org*, click on remote appearance, select civil unlimited, civil unlimited again, and Department C23 Judge Hesseltine) for the 'hearing', where, if my personal experience is any indication, no one will actually be heard. Perhaps the 26th will be a dawn of integrity for the Judge where he will honor his oath of office so that we can rightfully refer to him as "Honorable" (it would my honor to do so)....*
>
> Kindly forward this email to your co-workers, friends, and family in support of me and many others across America who are exposing the fraud, deceit, and treason perpetrated by members public office (and especially bar ASSociations ie Donna Kirkner, William Bissell) upon us under color of law....
> Thank you for listening.
> Sincerely,
> Adam Bereki"

These actions of Mr. Bereki warrant a finding of contempt of court and at a minimum, demand that Mr. Bereki be sanctioned under C.C.P. §128.5 in an amount which will compensate the Humphreys for the costs of defending this motion as set forth in the accompanying declaration and hopefully dissuade Mr. Bereki from further frivolous and bad faith actions.

VII.

CONCLUSION

Although Mr. Bereki couches his motion to vacate the judgment as being grounded in a claimed lack of jurisdiction by both the trial court to have rendered judgment and the court of appeal to have affirmed that judgment, in reality the motion is nothing more than an attempt to relitigate the same issues he has raised in his appeal of the trial court's judgment and in his petition to the State Supreme Court and the United States Supreme court. While Mr. Bereki correctly points out that a motion to challenge a judgment on the basis it is void may be brought at any time, he clearly fails to understand that once that challenge has been brought and has been determined to be without merit, he is barred from reasserting that challenge except to a court of review at a higher level of which in this matter there is now none.

This case may stand as the poster child for why public policy demands that there be an end to litigation and an end to the losing party's harassment of the prevailing parties by continuing to bring spurious motions and proceedings. Mr. Bereki has been heard, reheard and heard again on the same issues and he has lost at every juncture at every possible level of review. Although it has been stressed before by the trial court, Mr. Bereki should be re-admonished in the strongest possible terms that he is pursuing course to which he has no rights and that must end now. Simply put, Mr. Bereki has been heard on this issue at all levels of review and for that reason this motion should be removed from the law and motion calendar as having been improperly filed or alternatively, denied and in either case sanctions assessed against Mr. Bereki and in favor of the Humphreys as set forth in the accompanying declaration.

The trial was on the complaint of the plaintiff, The Spartan Associates, Inc. (Spartan) against Gary and Karen Humphreys and on the cross-complaint of the Humphreys against Mr. Bereki and Spartan. Mr. Bereki participated in the trial representing himself , examining and cross-examining witnesses, presenting documentary evidence and giving testimony on his own behalf.

4. At the conclusion of the presentation of evidence consisting of both the testimony of witnesses and the introduction of documentary evidence, and after argument of counsel, the Trial Court ruled in favor of the Humphreys on the first cause of action of their cross complaint for disgorgement and on the complaint of Spartan and judgement was entered accordingly on April 20, 2017. 6. On October 16, 2018, after the submission of briefs in which Mr. Bereki's claims, as they relate to the trial courts jurisdiction over the action and Mr. Bereki's due process arguments, were raised and addressed, oral argument was held before a panel comprised of the Honorable Justices O'Leary, Aronson and Goethals. Following submission of the matter, the Appellate Court, with the concurrence of all three justices, affirmed the judgment of the trial court awarding Respondent's their costs on appeal. The opinion of the Court of Appeal and the Court's denial of Mr. Bereki's petition for rehearing is attached as Exhibit #2 to Mr. Bereki's Request for Judicial Notice filed in this motion.

7. On about December 10, 2018, Mr. Bereki filed with the California Supreme Court a petition for review of the Appellate Court's decision once again raising his claims of lack of jurisdiction as grounds for granting the petition.

8. On January 30, 2019 the California Supreme Court denied the petition for review. Attached to Mr. Bereki's Request for Judicial Notice filed in this motion as Exhibit #4 is notice of California Supreme Court's En Banc denial of Mr. Bereki's petition for review.

On February 19, 2019 Mr. Bereki filed with this Court a motion to vacate the judgment in this matter, the hearing on which was held on March 15, 2019 in Department C16 before the Honorable James J. Di Cesare. In denying the motion the court noted "... "The arguments presented on this motion were already raised and rejected, and the appellate decision affirming the underlying judgment on the merits is now final. Upon remittitur, the trial court is revested with jurisdiction of the case only to carry out the judgment as ordered by the appellate court. (People v. Dutra (2006) 145 Cal. App.4th 1359, 1365-1366.) Arguments on the merits of the underlying judgment cannot be entertained anew here. The motion is therefore Denied". The Court's minute order on the March 15, 2019 motion to vacate is attached as Exhibit #3 to Mr. Bereki's Request for Judicial Notice filed in this motion..

10. In the fall of of 2019 Mr. Bereki filed a petition for writ of certiorari with the United States Supreme Court seeking to have the judgment in this case overturned. On October 7, 2019 the U.S. Supreme Court denied the petition for certiorari. Attached to Mr. Bereki's Request for Judicial Notice filed in this motion as Exhibit #5 is notice of The U.S. Supreme Court's denial of Mr. Bereki's petition for certiorari.

11. In addition to the above, there have been an assortment of collateral attacks on the judgment in this case brought by Mr. Bereki in both the federal court and again to the U.S. Supreme Court all of which have been summarily denied.

12. In reviewing the onslaught of moving papers notices to appear and subpoenas filed and/or served by Mr. Bereki, the records of the various court proceedings and in preparing the opposition to the pending motion, I have spent 8.5 hours. I anticipate spending an additional 1.5 hour in appearing at the hearing on this motion for a total of 10 hours. My billing rate is $360.00 per hour for a total cost to the Humphreys in defending against this spurious and frivolous motion of $3,600.00.

13. On June 4, 2025 I received the following email from Mr. Bereki:

CASE NO. 30-2015-00805807

ORDER STRIKING STATEMENT OF DISQUALIFICATION AND, IN THE ALTERNATIVE, VERIFIED ANSWER OF JUDGE DAVID HESSELTINE

This action commenced on August 21, 2015, judgment was entered against cross-defendant Adam Bereki (Cross-Defendant) on April 20, 2017, and that judgment was affirmed on appeal on October 31, 2018. Since March 18, 2025, this Court has presided over the post-judgment proceedings in this case. On July 3, 2025, Cross-Defendant filed a document entitled "Verified Statement to Disqualify Judge David Hesseltine" (Statement of Disqualification).

The Statement of Disqualification asserts the Court is biased and prejudiced against Cross-Defendant for the following reasons: "(1) Hesseltine's rulings on August 6, 2024, and March 25, 2025, in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon, Case No. 30-2022-

01259274 (Ex. 1), creating a pecuniary interest due to potential liability for structural jurisdictional errors depriving him of civil damages immunity; (2) his knowledge of this conflict prior to my Motion to Vacate Void Judgment filed May 28, 2005 (ROA 361, 356, 360, 386) and refusal to recuse himself; (3) his refusal to correct substantive errors in his tentative and final rulings denying my motion (Exs. 2-4); (4) his incorrect claims that my oral disqualification motion was untimely and improper; (5) his prior role as Senior Appellate Attorney at the Fourth District Court of Appeal, Division 3, suggesting professional and likely personal relationships with Justices Aronson, Goethals, and/or O'Leary, whom I allege committed structural jurisdictional errors that would also subject them to liability; (6) his potential relationships with retired Superior Court for the County of Orange Judges Di Cesare and/or Chaffee, also alleged to have committed jurisdictional errors subjecting them to liability; (7) his conduct constituting fraud on the court and perpetuating a conspiracy to procure an unlawful judgment through the unlawful enforcement of § 7031 actions; (8) his false Minute Order statement that my arguments were rejected by higher courts, despite no full, fair, or impartial judicial determination thereof; (9) his refusal to allow testimony from attorney William Bissell, critical to proving extrinsic fraud and conspiracy; (10) his enforcement of a discharged judgment, violating federal bankruptcy law; (11) his denial of my Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay of Unlawful Detainer Action (ROA 306), filed March 14, 2025, on March 18, 2025, and Ex Parte Application for Reconsideration, filed May 21, 2025, despite notice of the bankruptcy discharge, perpetuating the harm of the void judgment and denying me restitution (Exs. 7-9); and, (12) his refusal to provide a court reporter or allow recording of proceedings, obstructing my due/judicial process right to preserve the record for appeal." (ROA 415.)

The Court finds the Statement of Disqualification on its face fails to disclose any legal grounds for disqualification, and it is untimely. Accordingly, the Statement of Disqualification is hereby stricken. (Code Civ. Proc., § 170.4, subd. (b) ["Notwithstanding paragraph (5) of subdivision (c) of Section 170.3, if a statement of disqualification is untimely filed or if on its face it discloses no legal grounds for disqualification, the trial judge against whom it was filed may order it stricken"]; PBA, LLC v. KPOD, Ltd. (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 965, 972 (PBA, LLC) ["the authority to strike a declaration exists 'notwithstanding' section 170.3 subdivision (c)(5) which precludes judges from ruling on their own disqualifications"].)

The Statement of Disqualification Fails to State Grounds for Disqualification

A statement of disqualification must set forth "the facts constituting the grounds" for disqualification. (Code Civ. Proc., § 170.3, subd. (c)(1).) "The law does not assume prejudice on the part of the trial judge." (Gimble v. Laramie (1960) 181 Cal.App.2d 77, 84.) The party seeking disqualification bears the heavy burden to show the judge is clearly biased or prejudiced. (Wechsler v. Superior Court (2014) 224 Cal.App.4th 384, 391 (Wechsler).)

The applicable standard is an objective one: the judge should only be disqualified "if a fully informed, reasonable member of the public would fairly entertain doubts that the judge is impartial." (Wechsler, supra, 224 Cal.App.4th at p. 391.) "The 'reasonable person' is not someone who is 'hypersensitive or unduly suspicious,' but rather is a 'well-informed, thoughtful observer.' . . . '[T]he partisan litigant emotionally involved in the controversy underlying the lawsuit is not the disinterested objective observer whose doubts concerning the judge's impartiality provide the governing standard.'" (Haworth v. Superior Court (2010) 50 Cal.4th 372, 389 (Haworth).)

Moreover, mere conclusions are insufficient. (In re Morelli (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 819, 843.) An unsubstantiated suggestion of personal bias or prejudice also is insufficient. (Bassett Unified School Dist. v. Superior Court (2023) 89 Cal.App.5th 273, 286.) A statement of disqualification cannot be based on information and belief, hearsay, or other inadmissible evidence. (United Farm Workers of America v. Superior Court (1985) 170 Cal.App.3d 97, 106, fn. 6 (United Farm Workers).) "Rumor, speculation, beliefs, conclusions, innuendo, suspicion, opinion, and similar nonfactual matters" are not ordinarily sufficient to require recusal. (Nichols v. Alley (10th Cir. 1993) 71 F.3d 347, 351.[1])

Here, the Statement of Disqualification relies on speculation and conclusions without providing any concrete evidentiary facts establishing a ground for disqualification. It also is based on criticism and erroneous legal conclusions about the Court's rulings and case management in this case and in a separate, unrelated case. Such speculation, conclusions, and criticism are the sort of subjective and partisan assertions that consistently have been held to fail to establish the requisite objectively reasonable appearance of bias. (See, e.g., Haworth, supra, 50 Cal.4th at p. 389.)

The Court's Rulings and Courtroom Management Form No Basis for Disqualification

The Statement of Disqualification is based, in large part, on the Court's rulings and exercise of its adjudicatory authority in this case, including its rulings on Cross-Defendant's ex parte applications and motion to vacate. It also is based on the Court's rulings in a separate, unrelated case in which none of the instant parties are involved. Such rulings are insufficient to support a claim of bias as a matter of law, as a party's disagreement with the Court's decisions is not grounds for disqualification. (See Yolo County Dept. of Child Support Services v. Myers (2016) 248 Cal.App.4th 42, 51.) It is well established that "a trial court's numerous rulings against a party – even when erroneous – do not establish a charge of judicial bias . . . ." (People v. Nieves (2021) 11 Cal.5th 404, 485.) A party's remedy for an erroneous ruling is not a motion to disqualify, but rather to seek review by appeal or writ. (See Ryan v. Welte (1948) 87 Cal.App.2d 888, 893; People v. Farley (2009) 46 Cal.4th 1053, 1110.) Thus, the Court's decisions and rulings in this case – including the denial of Cross-Defendant's ex parte applications and motion to vacate – as well as the Court's rulings in a separate, unrelated case, fail to support a claim of bias as a matter of law.

1. California courts may rely on federal cases interpreting a comparable provision of federal law. (See United Farm Workers, supra, 170 Cal.App.3d at p. 104; Haworth, supra, 50 Cal.4th at p. 389.)

The Statement of Disqualification also is based, in part, on Cross-Defendant's disagreement with the way the Court has managed this proceeding, when the Court would receive evidence and argument, and what the Court deemed relevant or important. This is insufficient to support a claim of bias as well. A court has the power and duty to ensure the orderly and expeditious conduct of court proceedings. (Walker v. Superior Court (1991) 53 Cal.3d 257, 266-267; Code Civ. Proc., § 128, subd. (a)(3).) This includes decisions such as the scheduling of court proceedings, whether to hear oral argument, and whether and in what form evidence may be received. (See Wilburn v. Oakland Hospital (1989) 213 Cal.App.3d 1107, 1111; Diaz-Barba v. Superior Court (2015) 236 Cal.App.4th 1470, 1490-91.)

Accordingly, the Court's rulings and case management fail to support a claim of bias as a matter of law.

Prior Employment as a Research Attorney Is Not Disqualifying

The Statement of Disqualification appears to assert the Court is disqualified because the Court served as a research attorney before being appointed to the bench. Nothing in the Statement of Disqualification establishes any reason why the Court should be disqualified from this case based on the Court's prior employment. Code of Civil Procedure section 170.1, subdivision (a)(2), specifies the grounds on which a judge's prior service could be grounds for disqualification, but that subdivision only requires disqualification when the judge served or is deemed to have served as a lawyer in the proceeding or another proceeding involving the same issues and client. No evidence was presented to show section 170.1, subdivision (a)(2) applies here, and the Statement of Disqualification simply assumes disqualifying relationships arising from that prior employment.

The Statement of Disqualification Is Untimely

A party seeking to disqualify a judge must do so "at the earliest practicable opportunity after discovery of the facts constituting the ground for disqualification." (Code Civ. Proc., § 170.3, subd. (c)(1).) "This strict promptness requirement is not to be taken lightly, as a failure to comply constitutes forfeiture or an implied waiver of the disqualification." (Tri Counties Bank v. Superior Court (2008) 167 Cal.App.4th 1332, 1337.)

Here, Cross-Defendant's challenge is based, in part, on the Court's ruling in a separate, unrelated case. In the Statement of Disqualification, Cross-Defendant admits he learned of those rulings approximately 10 days before the June 26, 2025 hearing on Cross-Defendant's motion to vacate. Nonetheless, Cross-Defendant asserted no claim of bias or disqualification until after he received the Court's tentative ruling prior to the hearing, he participated in the hearing and oral argument on his motion to vacate, and the Court made its final ruling denying that motion. Only at that time did Cross-Defendant seek to make an oral statement of disqualification. Neither this written Statement of Disqualification filed on July 3, 2025, nor the procedurally improper oral statement Cross-Defendant sought to make after the Court made its final ruling on June 26, 2025, can be said to have been made at the earliest practicable opportunity.

Moreover, Cross-Defendant's challenge also is based in part on the Court's earlier rulings in this case on Cross-Defendant's ex parte applications in March and May 2025. As to those such rulings, the Statement of Disqualification was not filed at the earliest practicable opportunity either.

Accordingly, the Statement of Disqualification is ordered stricken as untimely. (Code Civ. Proc., § 170.4, subd. (b).)

A Judge Has a Duty to Rule When Not Disqualified

A judge has both an ethical and statutory duty to decide cases where, as here, there are no legal grounds for disqualification. (Code Civ. Proc., § 170; Code Jud. Ethics, canon 3B(1).) The duty to decide cases if there are no legal grounds for disqualification is as strong as the duty to recuse if there are grounds. (United Farm Workers, supra, 170 Cal.App.3d at p. 100.)

The Pleading Was Not Properly Served

A statement of disqualification must be personally served on the judge or upon the judge's clerk provided the judge is present in the courthouse or in chambers. (Code Civ. Proc., § 170.3, subd. (c)(1).) Here, the Statement of Disqualification has not been personally served on the Court or the clerk. Cross-Defendant filed proof of service stating the Statement of Disqualification was e-served and served by mail. That fails to comply with the Code.

Conclusion

Because the Statement of Disqualification on its face discloses no legal grounds for disqualification and is untimely, it is stricken and denied. This determination is not an appealable order and may be reviewed only by a writ of mandate from the appropriate court of appeal sought within 10 days of notice to the parties of the decision. (Code Civ. Proc., § 170.3, subd. (d).) In the event a timely writ is sought, and an appellate court determines an answer should have been timely filed, an alternative answer is filed herewith. (See PBA, LLC, supra, 112 Cal.App.4th at p. 972.)

GOOD CAUSE APPEARING THEREFORE, it is so ordered.

Judge David Hesseltine

VERIFIED ANSWER OF JUDGE DAVID HESSELTINE

I, David Hesseltine, declare as follows:

1. I am a judge of the Superior Court of California, County of Orange, and have been assigned to preside over the instant matter. Except to the extent otherwise indicated, I have personal knowledge of the facts stated in this declaration. If called upon as a witness, I could and would competently testify to the matters stated herein.

2. The judicially noticeable court file reflects the complaint in this action was filed on August 18, 2015, judgment was entered against cross-defendant Adam Bereki (Cross-Defendant) on April 20, 2017, and that judgment was affirmed on appeal on October 31, 2018. Since March 18, 2025, I have presided over the post-judgment proceedings in this case.

3. On July 3, 2025, Cross-Defendant filed a document entitled "Verified Statement to Disqualify Judge David Hesseltine" (Statement of Disqualification). To my understanding, Cross-Defendant contends I am biased and prejudiced against him.

4. I specifically deny that I am biased or prejudiced for or against any party or attorney in this action. I further deny that I am unable to act fairly and impartially in this proceeding. I am not prejudiced or biased against or in favor of any party or attorney, nor am I unable to act impartially in this case. I have no personal interest in this proceeding and know of no reason why I cannot be fair and impartial.

5. I specifically deny that I have acted improperly in this action. All statements made, all actions taken, and all my rulings in this proceeding have been based on my understanding of the facts and law, and they have been in furtherance of what I believe to be my judicial duties. I have considered all relevant evidence and argument before making my rulings.

6. My statements and rulings are set forth in the court records and court files, which are the best evidence of the proceedings. To the extent moving party's account of those rulings and statements is inconsistent with the court records and court files, it is denied.

7. For example, Cross-Defendant's assertion I denied him a court reporter is not accurate or supported by the record. Cross-Defendant did not timely or properly request a court reporter in advance of either the March 18 or May 21, 2025 ex parte hearings. In the Statement of Disqualification, Cross-Defendant admits to recording these ex parte proceedings in violation of, inter alia, California Rules of Court, rule 1.150. Cross-Defendant, however, did properly request a court reporter for the June 26, 2025 hearing on the motion to vacate, and I made sure one was provided consistent with Cross-Defendant's fee waiver. Similarly, I deny I have made any rulings or orders enforcing the judgment in the case. Rather, I have merely denied Cross-Defendant's efforts to set aside the judgment that was affirmed on appeal.

8. I do not believe my recusal would serve the interests of justice.

9. I know of no facts or circumstances that would require my disqualification or recusal in this case.

10. Cross-Defendant did not personally serve either me or my clerk with the Statement of Disqualification as required by Code of Civil Procedure section 170.3, subdivision (c)(1). His proofs of service state he e-served and mail served the Statement of Disqualification.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed on July 11, 2025 at Santa Ana, California.

INTRODUCTION

This petition seeks a writ of mandate pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure (CCP) § 170.3(d) to compel Respondent Superior Court to vacate Judge David J. Hesseltine's order dated July 11, 2025, (Ex. B), striking Petitioner's Verified Statement ("VS") to Disqualify Judge David Hesseltine (the "Statement") filed on July 3, 2025 (Ex. A), both incorporated as if fully set forth herein. Please note that the Reporters' Transcript for the June 26, 2025 hearing (Ex. D), is pending and will be filed upon receipt, approximately three weeks from July 21, 2025, as confirmed by the court-appointed stenographer. Additionally, some of the due process allegations herein will also be addressed on appeal in Case No. G065695. If the court prefers to consolidate these cases, Petitioner has no objection.

STATEMENT OF FACTS AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This action stems from a 2015 construction dispute in Orange County Superior Court, Case No. 30-2015-00805807, where Real Parties in Interest (Karen Humphreys and Gary Humphreys, hereafter "the Humphreys") obtained a ~$930,000 judgment against Petitioner under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(a) and (b) for unlicensed contracting. Petitioner, the qualifying individual for a licensed contractor (Lic. #927244) under The Spartan Associates, Inc., ("Spartan") (§ 7096), contends the judgment is void due to extrinsic fraud, structural jurisdictional defects, and unconstitutionality as a penal statute enforced civilly without criminal safeguards, such as a jury trial and counsel. The judgment, affirmed by the Fourth District Court of Appeal (Case No. G055075) as an "equitable remedy" and denied review by the California and U.S. Supreme Courts, was dismissed in federal court under the Rooker-Feldman doctrine (Case No. 8:19-CV-02050; Request for Judicial Notice ("RJN") to be concurrently filed on or about July 22, 2025.) This denial of federal judicial review continues to violate Petitioner's right under Article III, § 2 of the U.S. Constitution to invoke federal judicial power as a check on unlawful state action (U.S. Const., Art. I, § 10; The Federalist Papers, No. 28 (general government checks state usurpations)), and contravenes the maxim that no one, including a state, should judge their own cause. Petitioner continues to be denied the right to invoke the judicial power of the United States in an Article III court to be heard on these issues pertaining to the void judgment, constituting additional grounds the judgment is void per Windsor v. McVeigh, 93 U.S. 274 (1876).

In addition to the aforementioned challenges to jurisdiction, Petitioner also filed a Motion to Vacate the Void judgment in the Superior Court case on February 22, 2019, alleging fraud and jurisdictional defects. The Motion was summarily dismissed (ROA 304; Ex. C), affirming the court of appeal judgement without addressing the jurisdictional issues presented that deprived the court of subject matter jurisdiction to affirm a void the judgment (Elliot v. Lessee of Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828)), denying Petitioner, a full, fair, impartial and independent hearing per Windsor, supra, and perpetuating the harm as described below.

The void judgment led to the summary suspension of Petitioner's vested right to act as a qualifying individual for a contractor license under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7071.17 and included the summary suspension of Spartan's license, impairing Petitioner's private contracts, including a ~$62,523.24 home equity line with Citizens Bank N.A., and forcing bankruptcy (Case No. 8:22-BK-12076-SC, filed Dec. 8, 2022) after he was denied relief in all courts of California and the United States (RJN). The judgment was discharged on March 27, 2023 (VS Ex.5), and a restitution claim (minimally $5 million) was abandoned to Petitioner on December 31, 2024 (VS Ex. 6). The judgment's effects caused a wrongful foreclosure of Petitioner's home at 818 Spirit, Costa Mesa, CA, on November 18, 2024, for $371,688—approximately $1.2 million below market value—despite Citizens Bank's notice of the judgment's fraud, jurisdictional defects, and discharge. This foreclosure was void for lack of authority, as Citizens exploited state-imposed harm/constructive custody (summary license suspension and financial devastation of judgment more than 40 times Petitioner's qualifying net worth in violation of Cal. Const. Art. I, §§ 7, 9, 17; U.S. Const. Art I, § 10) to declare a default, violating Civil Code § 1708 and the covenant of good faith (Orcilla v. Big Sur, Inc., 244 Cal. App. 4th 982, 996 (2016) (misuse of contract voids action); Yvanova v. New Century Mortgage Corp., 62 Cal. 4th 919, 935 (2016) (void foreclosure lacks authority)).

On February 11, 2025, the Buyer at the foreclosure sale filed an unlawful detainer (UD) complaint (Superior Court of California for the County of Orange, Case No. 30-2025-01459684) served on Petitioner on March 1, 2025. On March 14, 2025, Petitioner attempted to file an answer in Case No. 30-2015-00805807, including UD defenses challenging jurisdiction and standing, an ex parte stay request of the UD proceeding, and a motion to vacate the void judgment (ROA 306). The clerk rejected the answer for combining filings, despite lacking authority to assess sufficiency. Stevens v. Superior Court, 180 Cal. App. 4th 110, 112-113 (2009). The Buyer and their Attorney were notified of the ex parte hearing and emailed the pleading.

On March 17, 2025, the Attorney filed a default request via USPS mail (UD ROA 17) without warning, despite knowing Petitioner's intent to defend, breaching ethical duties under CCP § 583.130 and Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 6068 (Lasalle v. Vogel, 36 Cal. App. 5th 127, 135-136 (2019) (attorney must warn of default)). At the Ex parte hearing on March 18, 2025, Judge Hesseltine denied the UD stay and motion with a one-word ruling, "denied," refusing to recognize the answer or address substantive issues including irreparable harm resulting the void judgment, negating jurisdiction. Windsor v. McVeigh, 93 U.S. 274, 277-278 (1876) (no jurisdiction without full, fair, and impartial hearing). Minutes after the hearing, the clerk unlawfully entered default in the UD despite possessing the answer, violating CCP § 1013(a) and due process. Baske v. Burke, 125 Cal. App. 3d 38, 45 (1981) (clerk cannot enter default with responsive pleading). On March 19, 2025, Petitioner's returned to the court to file a corrected answer but was rejected due to the default entry.

On March 22, 2025, a writ of possession issued (UD ROA 23), and on March 27, 2025, OC Deputy Sheriff Murillo served an eviction notice. Petitioner vacated his home under duress on or about April 2, 2025. Commissioner Snuggs-Spraggins's May 21 and 23, 2025, orders denying Petitioner's ex parte and reconsideration motions (UD ROA 51, 60) were void for lack of jurisdiction due to improper default entry and failure to hear substantive issues. Windsor v. McVeigh, 93 U.S. 274, 277-278 (1876) (no jurisdiction without hearing); Elliot v. Lessee of Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828) (void judgments render executors trespassers). These actions further constituted bills of pains and penalties, depriving property and substantive rights without a judicial hearing. Cal. Const., Art. I, §§ 7, 9; U.S. Const., Art. I, § 10. The UD case is currently on appeal in the appellate jurisdiction of the Superior Court, the record not yet transmitted.

Judge Hesseltine has presided over post-judgment proceedings in the original Superior Court case since at least March 14, 2025. On May 18, 2025, Petitioner again moved to vacate the 2017 judgment as void (ROA 361; Ex. E, F), citing new law like Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201 (2020) (holding § 7031(b) imposes a penal forfeiture) and Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71 (2020) (disgorgement limited to profits with offsets and reductions for expenses) and alleging new claims of extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court that were never made or adjudicated in the original proceedings. These cases evidence that there was no evidence in the Superior Court case to support an award of "damages" or "disgorgement", the judgment imposed a penalty (not damages or disgorgement) and that this court's judgment on appeal classifying relief under § 7031(b) as an "equitable remedy" and "disgorgement" while simultaneously denying offsets for value conferred is void because §7031(a) and (b) impose penal forfeitures minimally requiring executive authority/prosecution. The evidence further established that certain substantive issues raised on appeal (lack of evidence Petitioner performed work to meet the elements of a § 7031(b) claim) were also never addressed.

Approximately ten days before the June 26, 2025 ex parte hearing, Petitioner learned of Judge Hesseltine's rulings in another case, Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon (Case No. 30-2022-01259274, VS Ex. 1), where he allegedly fined Steve Pantalemon ~$230k for violating § 7031(b) without applying any excessive fines clause protections despite recognizing its punitive nature (ie labeling judgment as a "forfeiture"). This judgment created a pecuniary interest in Petitioner's case because, as evidenced by the penal nature of § 7031(b), Judge Hesseltine lacked personal and subject matter jurisdiction to award the judgment in Moorefield. Ruling in Petitioner's favor on his Motion to Vacate which raised these jurisdictional issues would likely subject Hesseltine to civil damages liability in the Moorefield case.

Petitioner did not raise the pecuniary bias issue before the June 26th ex parte hearing, as he sought to interact with Judge Hesseltine and give him an opportunity to correct jurisdictional errors in the tentative ruling and act impartially. At the hearing, Petitioner first argued the substantive errors in the tentative ruling, including its failure to address new case law and evidence supporting the voidness of the judgment (VS Ex. 2-Tentative and Ex.D- Transcipt). Judge Hesseltine, without meaningfully or substantively addressing these arguments and all those in the Motion, suddenly declared the tentative ruling final, revealing his personal bias toward Petitioner and inability to be fair and impartial, violating due process denying a full, fair, and impartial hearing (Windsor, 93 U.S. at 277-278), continuing to deny Petitioner rights and property, resulting in a bill of pains of penalties. In re Buchman's Est., 123 Cal. App. 2d 546, 559 (1954) (condemnation requires notice and hearing); Elliot v. Lessee of Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828) (void judgments neither bind nor bar anyone and all persons concerned in executing are trespassers); Rochin v. Pat Johnson Manufacturing Co., 67 Cal. App. 4th 1228, 1239 (1998) (res judicata inapplicable to void judgments).

Petitioner then orally moved to disqualify Judge Hesseltine, citing the pecuniary interest from Moorefield and other biases, which Hesseltine denied as untimely and improper. VS Ex.'s 2 and 3– Minute Order; Ex. D. Petitioner contends whether he moved to disqualify or not, Hesseltine had a duty pursuant to CCP § 170.3(a)(1) to disqualify himself.

Judge Hesseltine's refusal to recuse sua sponte, despite knowing his Moorefield rulings conflicted with Petitioner's allegations in his Motion, constitutes an arbitrary exercise of jurisdiction without authority, further evidencing bias and rendering the July 11, 2025, striking order void ab initio. Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 404 (1821) ("We have no more right to decline the exercise of jurisdiction which is given, than to usurp that which is not given. The one or the other would be treason to the constitution."); Windsor v. McVeigh, 93 U.S. 274, 282-283 (1876).

On July 3, 2025, Petitioner filed and served the Verified Statement (Ex. A), detailing 12 grounds for disqualification under CCP § 170.1(a)(6)(A)(iii) whereby "[a] person aware of the facts might reasonably entertain a doubt that the judge would be able to be impartial", supported by exhibits and requesting Judicial Council assignment of an impartial judge. Service was by U.S. mail to Judge Hesseltine (as Petitioner resides in Las Vegas, NV) and email to parties, with proofs of service filed.

On July 3, 2025, Petitioner discovered another case, American Building Innovation, LP v. Balfour Beatty Construction, LLC (Superior Court of California for the County of Orange, Case No. 30-2019-01072989), in which Judge Hesseltine issued rulings under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(a), applying it as civil and affirming a $1,918,797.98 judgment (including $96,924 in appellate fees on May 21, 2025) against American Building Innov., LP ("ABI"), despite its penal nature (Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201 (2020)). This creates an additional pecuniary interest, as these rulings risk liability for jurisdictional violations similar to those in Moorefield and Petitioner's case, where § 7031(a) and (b) were applied without executive authority, criminal safeguards and Excessive Fines Clause analysis (People v. Cowan, 47 Cal. App. 5th 32 (2020)) resulting in structural jurisdictional defects (violation of separation of powers to confer executive authority vested exclusively in the governor on private parties; private parties exercising executive authority without capacity and standing; no criminal complaint filed to vest the court with subject matter jurisdiction, denial of all heightened protections required in criminal proceedings, including counsel and criminal jury trial, all affecting the structure of the trial mechanism). Hesseltine still hasn't recused in Petitioner's case or American Building, (court records checked as of today, July 21, 2025), and there may be other cases not yet known. A Verified Statement to Disqualify Judge Hesseltine for perceived and actual bias was filed in the ABI case today by intervenor and owner of ABI, Tin Vo.

On July 11, 2025, Judge Hesseltine issued an order striking the Statement as untimely, facially insufficient, and improperly served, without addressing specific allegations (Ex. B). The order includes a verified answer summarily denying bias but fails to engage with facts like the Moorefield conflict or bankruptcy violations. This petition follows timely under CCP § 170.3(d).

ARGUMENT

A writ of mandate lies to compel performance of a ministerial duty or correct violations of mandatory duties. CCP § 1085. Judge Hesseltine had inherent authority to address the Verified Statement as a preliminary threshold to confirm his power to act, but his summary striking without substantive review violates CCP § 170.3(c)(3) and due process, rendering the order void as an ultra vires act, as he was disqualified due to his pecuniary interest in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon (VS Ex. 1). Rankin v. Howard, 633 F.2d 844, 849 (9th Cir. 1980) (disqualified judge's actions void); Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009). Separately, the Superior Court lacked subject matter jurisdiction to do anything but vacate the void 2017 judgment and order restitution due to its structural jurisdictional defects, and Hesseltine's reliance on res judicata to affirm it (VS Ex.'s 2, 3) constitutes an arbitrary exercise of unauthorized jurisdiction, evidencing actual bias and violating due process. Cal. Const. Art. I, §§ 7, 9; U.S. Const. Art. I, § 10 (bill of pains and penalties); Elliot v. Lessee of Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828) (void judgments neither bind nor bar anyone and render executors trespassers);

1. The Underlying Judgment is Void Ab Initio Due to Structural Jurisdictional Defects

The 2017 judgment is void due to extrinsic fraud by the Humphreys in misrepresenting Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(a) and (b) as civil remedies rather than penal statutes, leading to the denial of criminal safeguards such as a jury trial, counsel, and Excessive Fines Clause analysis (Albrecht v. United States, 273 U.S. 1, 8 (1927); People v. Cowan, 47 Cal. App. 5th 32, 43 (2020)). New case law reinforces this: Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201 (2020) (holding § 7031(b) imposes a penal forfeiture requiring executive prosecution), and Liu v. SEC, 140 S. Ct. 1936 (2020) (limiting disgorgement to net profits with offsets for expenses). The judgment lacked evidence for "damages" or "disgorgement," imposed a penalty without offsets for value conferred, and was classified on appeal as an "equitable remedy" despite its highly penal nature, violating separation of powers by conferring executive authority on private parties without standing or a criminal complaint to vest subject matter jurisdiction. These defects deprived the court of personal and/or subject matter jurisdiction (depending on the violation), rendering the judgment void ab initio and limiting the Superior Court's authority to vacating it and ordering restitution. Cal. Penal Code § 1382; Elliot v. Lessee of Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828) (void judgments "neither bind nor bar anyone"); Drink Tank Ventures LLC v. Real Soda in Real Bottles, Ltd., 71 Cal. App. 5th 528, 540-543 (2021) (lack of jurisdiction over invalid claims voids judgments). Any action beyond this exceeds jurisdiction and is void. Windsor v. McVeigh, 93 U.S. 274, 282-283 (1876) (deviations from procedural modes strip jurisdiction); Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 404 (1821) (usurping jurisdiction is "treason to the constitution")).

2. Fundamental Nature of Subject Matter Jurisdiction and Its Continuous Application

Subject matter jurisdiction ("SMJ") is not a static entitlement based solely on the type of a case, but a continuous, issue-specific trust conferred upon judges by their fidelity to constitutional principles. It is the right to hear and determine, limited by procedural modes and the scope of judgments on every issue in the case. Windsor v. McVeigh, 93 U.S. 274, 282 (1876). Jurisdiction extends beyond the initial class of case to every act, requiring adherence to "established modes" and constitutional mandates, such as due/judicial process (Cal. Const. Art. I, § 7) and prohibitions on bills of pains and penalties (Cal. Const. Art. I, §9; U.S. Const. Art. I, §10). Drink Tank Ventures LLC v. Real Soda in Real Bottles, Ltd., 71 Cal. App. 5th 528, 540–543 (2021). Violations, like denying hearings or imposing disproportionate penalties without safeguards, strip jurisdiction, rendering acts void as arbitrary edicts lacking legitimacy. Windsor, at 277–78. Courts lack authority to violate constitutional provisions (Cal. Const. Art. I, §26: provisions "mandatory and prohibitory", U.S. Const. Art. VI, § 2), making SMJ a test of whether each act carries the sanction of law. In this case, the 2017 judgment's structural defects—private enforcement of penal § 7031 without executive authority or criminal protections—deprived the court of SMJ from inception, limiting it to vacatur and restitution. Hesseltine's refusal to address these defects perpetuated the voidness, violating his ministerial duty and rendering his orders ultra vires.

3. Objective Bias Arising from Pecuniary Interests in Related Cases (Moorefield and American Building)

Judge Hesseltine's rulings in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon (Case No. 30-2022-01259274, VS Ex. 1) and American Building Innovation, LP v. Balfour Beatty Construction, LLC (Case No. 30-2019-01072989) create a direct pecuniary interest under CCP § 170.1(a)(3)(A), as they applied § 7031(a) and (b) as civil despite their penal nature, lacking executive authority, criminal safeguards, and jurisdiction—mirroring the defects in Petitioner's case. In Moorefield, Hesseltine fined ~$230k as a "forfeiture" without excessive fines protections; in American Building, he affirmed a ~$1.9 million judgment (including appellate fees) without similar safeguards. Ruling in Petitioner's favor on the Motion to Vacate would expose Hesseltine to civil damages liability for these jurisdictional errors, as judicial immunity does not protect acts without jurisdiction. This interest was evident upon Petitioner's discovery ~10 days before the June 26, 2025 hearing and triggered Hesseltine's mandatory sua sponte duty to recuse under CCP § 170.3(a)(1), regardless of when raised by Petitioner. North American Title Co. v. Superior Court, 17 Cal. 5th 155, 169 (2024) (non-waiver for self-disqualification). Failure to recuse voids the striking order ab initio as an ultra vires act by a disqualified judge. Rankin v. Howard, 633 F.2d 844, 849 (9th Cir. 1980); Windsor v. McVeigh, 93 U.S. 274, 283-284 (1876). The pattern in these cases reinforces an objective appearance of bias under CCP § 170.1(a)(6)(A)(iii), as a reasonable person would doubt impartiality where rulings protect prior decisions from scrutiny and expose damages liability. Wechsler v. Superior Court, 224 Cal. App. 4th 384, 391 (2014).

4. Proof that Application of § 7031 in Related Cases Lacks Jurisdiction and Creates Pecuniary Bias

Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(a) and/or (b), as applied in Moorefield, American Building, and Petitioner's case operate as criminal penalties for the public offense of contracting without a license (§ 7028; Cal. Penal Code § 15), lacking personal and/or subject matter jurisdiction without executive prosecution and criminal safeguards, exposing Hesseltine to liability. Substance, not form, determines a proceeding's nature: civil actions enforce private rights, while criminal actions punish public offenses. Code Civ. Proc. §§ 22, 24; United States v. Shapleigh, 54 F. 126, 129 (8th Cir. 1893). Section 7031 punishes unlicensed contracting (§ 7028, a misdemeanor), yet courts treat it as civil, denying protections.

Section 7028 criminalizes unlicensed contracting with fines up to $5,000 and/or jail. Section 7031(a) bars recovery for unlicensed work; § 7031(b) requires repayment of all compensation without offsets. When value is provided (e.g., $1 million work for $1 million paid), § 7031(b) imposes a penalty, not restitution, creating windfalls. Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201, 1212 (2020) ("disgorgement provided in section 7031(b) is a penalty"). Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020) (disgorgement limited to net profits).

Hale v. Morgan, 22 Cal. 3d 388, 398–401 (1978): Sanctions are penal if punitive, requiring no harm proof, and disproportionate. § 7031(b) deters unlicensed contracting (White v. Cridlebaugh, 178 Cal. App. 4th 506, 519 (2009)), needs no injury (Eisenberg, at 1212), and is excessive (e.g., ~$930,000 in Humphreys; ~$1.9 million in ABI). No discretion makes it punitive.

Town of Gilbert v. Downie, 218 Ariz. 466, 471 (2008): Restitution reflects actual loss, subtracting value; § 7031(b) denies offsets, confirming penalty.

Kennedy v. Mendoza-Martinez, 372 U.S. 144, 168–69 (1963) factors affirm: imposes restraint (financial ruin), historically punitive, strict liability, retributive/deterrent, applies to crime (§ 7028), non-remedial when value returned, excessive (186x § 7028 max $5k fine).

Ex parte Clark, 24 Cal.App. 389, 395 (1914): No quasi-criminal actions; penalties require state prosecution. § 7031(b): 1) usurps executive power (Cal. Const. Art. V, §1), violating separation of powers (Art. III, §3). Robertson v. United States ex rel. Watson, 560 U.S. 272, 282–83 (2010); 2) lacks substantive offense, acting as enhancement without jurisdiction (People v. Vasilyan, 174 Cal.App.4th 443, 449 (2009)); 3) Violates due process Cal Const. Art. I, §§7,9; U.S. Const. Art. I, § 10); 4) excessive fines (Cal Const. Art I, §17); and 5) criminal jury trials (Cal. Const. Art. I, §16). See also People v. Estes, 218 Cal. App. 4th Supp. 14 (2013).

In Moorefield/American Building, applying § 7031 without safeguards created void judgments, risking Hesseltine's liability (Rankin, 633 F.2d at 849), substantiating pecuniary bias.

5. Due Process Violations and Constitutional Infractions Stemming from Bias and Arbitrary Acts

Hesseltine's actions, including summary denials without substantive engagement, violate due process by denying a full, fair, and impartial hearing, transforming proceedings into a "sham and deceptive" process. Windsor v. McVeigh, 93 U.S. 274, 277-278, 282 (1876); Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306, 314 (1950). These include refusing to address jurisdictional defects in the tentative ruling, declaring it final without response, and issuing the striking order with misrepresentations (e.g., claiming allegations are "speculation" despite evidence like VS Exs. 1, 5-6). Such arbitrary exercises of unauthorized jurisdiction constitute bills of pains and penalties, depriving property without judicial hearing. Cal. Const., Art. I, §§ 7, 9; U.S. Const., Art. I, § 10; In re Buchman's Est., 123 Cal. App. 2d 546, 559-560 (1954) ("Due process... excludes all arbitrary dealings... according to established principles of justice"). The striking order's bad faith (e.g., false claims of no legal grounds, ignoring Moorefield's relevance) violates CCP § 170.3(c)(3) (requiring a verified answer admitting/denying allegations with new facts), judicial ethics (Canons 2A, 3B(5), 3C(1)), and ministerial duties, rendering it void. Rochin v. Pat Johnson Manufacturing Co., 67 Cal. App. 4th 1228, 1239 (1998) (reliance on res judicata is invalid for void judgments; Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436, 491 (1966).

6. Procedural Objections to the Striking Order (Timeliness and Service)

Even assuming arguendo untimeliness (disputed), procedural bars cannot override the sua sponte recusal duty where bias is evident, especially with limited jurisdiction to vacate the void judgment (CCP § 170.3(a)(1); Canon 3E(1); North American

Title Co. v. Superior Court, 17 Cal. 5th 155, 169 (2024); Gibbons v. Ogden, 22 U.S. 1, 197 (1824)(exemptions from a power mark its extent). Petitioner's ~10-day delay before raising Moorefield orally was good-faith, allowing Hesseltine to demonstrate impartiality; bias crystallized at the hearing when he summarily finalized the tentative without addressing arguments, making it the "earliest practicable opportunity." CCP § 170.3(c)(1). The July 3 Statement followed promptly, distinguishing from longer delays; new grounds like American Building allow supplemental challenges. Bassett Unified School Dist. v. Superior Court, 89 Cal. App. 5th 273, 286 (2023). As an aside, should also be noted that had Hesseltine addressed the March 14, 2025 ex parte substantively, the Moorefield ruling (March 25, 2025) might have been avoided as Petitioners Motion to Vacate (ROA 306) provided competent authority evidencing the unconstitutionality of §7031. Finally, CCP § 170.4(b) allows striking only for facial insufficiency, not where grounds are stated with evidence; summary striking violates duties and voids the order. Service by mail was adequate given distance and actual notice.

7. The Order Erroneously Dismissed Valid Grounds for Disqualification Without Substantive Engagement

The order ignores the 12 evidence-based grounds in the Statement (Ex. A, ROA 415), violating § 170.3(c)(3) and due process. Below are the key grounds, evidence, and why they create bias:

1. Ground for Disqualification: Pecuniary Interest from Moorefield and American Building Supporting Evidence/Citation: VS Ex. 1 (Moorefield rulings); Ex. M (American Building judgment); Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201; Liu v. SEC, 140 S. Ct. 1936. Why It Creates Bias/Disqualification: Risk of liability for jurisdictional errors in similar §7031 cases; pattern protects prior rulings (Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal. App. 4th 767 (2006); Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009).
2. Ground for Disqualification: Prior Professional Relationships with Appellate Justices Supporting Evidence/Citation: 2010-2017 Senior Appellate Attorney role with Justices Aronson, Goethals, O'Leary (Orange County Bar Assoc. records); public records request denial; Potential relationships with retired Judges Di Cesare and Chaffee, alleged to have committed jurisdictional errors in related proceedings Why It Creates Bias/Disqualification: Appearance of protecting colleagues from liability for affirming void judgment; reasonable doubt of impartiality (Caperton, 556 U.S. at 884; Wechsler v. Superior Court, 224 Cal. App. 4th at 391); Hesseltine's reliance on CCP § 170.1(a)(2) (Ex. B, p.5) is misplaced, as § 170.1(a)(6)(A)(iii) disqualifies for relationships creating reasonable doubt of impartiality

3. Ground for Disqualification: Enforcement of Discharged Judgment Violating Federal Law Supporting Evidence/Citation: Bankruptcy discharge (VS Ex. 5); claim abandonment (VS Ex. 6). Why It Creates Bias/Disqualification: Refusal to vacate effectively enforces discharged void judgment, denying restitution claims; shows bias to protect Moorefield rulings (11 U.S.C. § 524(a); Taggart v. Lorenzen, 587 U.S. 554 (2019); Drink Tank Ventures LLC v. Real Soda in Real Bottles, Ltd., 71 Cal. App. 5th at 540-541). Note: Argument is not direct violation but effective enforcement via refusal to address voidness. Hesseltine's claim of not enforcing the judgment (Ex. B, ¶7) ignores that his denials effectively preserved its harm (foreclosure, UD), violating 11 U.S.C. § 524(a)(2).
4. Ground for Disqualification: Fraud on the Court Supporting Evidence/Citation: False minute order claiming no higher court review (VS Ex. 3); Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co., 322 U.S. 238 (1944). Why It Creates Bias/Disqualification: Misrepresentations undermine integrity, evidencing actual bias (Serri v. Santa Clara University, 226 Cal. App. 4th 830, 848 (2014).
5. Ground for Disqualification: Misapplication of Res Judicata Supporting Evidence/Citation: Reliance on res judicata for void judgment (VS Ex. 2, 3); Elliot v. Lessee of Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828); Rochin v. Pat Johnson Manufacturing Co., 67 Cal. App. 4th 1228, 1239 (1998). Why It Creates Bias/Disqualification: Invalid for void judgments; shows prejudice (Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. at 491)
6. Ground for Disqualification: Denial of Witness Testimony Supporting Evidence/Citation: Denial of Bissell testimony. Why It Creates

Bias/Disqualification: Limits defense, indicating partiality (Windsor v. McVeigh, 93 U.S. at 279-280).

7. Ground for Disqualification: Denial of Court Reporter/Recording Supporting Evidence/Citation: Jameson v. Desta, 5 Cal. 5th 594 (2018). Why It Creates Bias/Disqualification: Prevents accurate record, facilitating bias; Despite Hesseltine's claim of untimely requests (Ex. B, ¶7), ROA 306 requested a reporter, and Rule 1.150(d) allows discretion, especially with a fee waiver, making denial a due process violation.
8. Ground for Disqualification: Other Procedural Rulings (e.g., Summary denials without hearing) Supporting Evidence/Citation: Various ex partes, one-word rulings (ROA 306, 361); Windsor v. McVeigh, 93 U.S. at 277. Why It Creates Bias/Disqualification: Arbitrary acts deny meaningful hearing, violating due process (Hayward v. Superior Court, 2 Cal. App. 5th 10, 26 (2016)).

This failure to rebut specifics (e.g., relationships, bankruptcy) evades statutory duty, undermining integrity (Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. at 886; Hayward v. Superior Court, 2 Cal. App. 5th at 26 (failure to respond deems true)). While Hesseltine had inherent authority to address disqualification as a preliminary threshold to confirm his power to act (even on vacating the void judgment), his biased summary striking without substantive engagement voids the order as an ultra vires act, given the court's limited jurisdiction over the underlying void judgment (Elliot v. Lessee of Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828)).

VERIFIED STATEMENT TO DISQUALIFY JUDGE DAVID HESSELTINE

Dept: C23

TO THE COURT, ALL PARTIES, AND THEIR ATTORNEY(S) OF RECORD:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Adam Bereki, Defendant, in pro per, moves to disqualify Judge David J. Hesseltine under Code of Civil Procedure (CCP) § 170.1(a)(6)(A)(iii) for an appearance of bias, actual bias, violations of due/judicial process under California Constitution, Article I, Section 7, and bills of pains and penalties under California Constitution, Article I, Section 9, and U.S. Constitution, Article I, Section 10, pursuant to CCP § 170.3(c)(1). This motion is based on: (1) Hesseltine's rulings on August 6, 2024, and March 25, 2025, in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon, Case No. 30-2022-01259274 (Ex. 1), creating a pecuniary interest due to potential liability for structural jurisdictional errors depriving him of civil damages immunity; (2) his knowledge of this conflict prior to my Motion to Vacate Void Judgment filed May 28, 2025 (ROA 361, 356, 360, 386) and refusal to recuse himself; (3) his refusal to correct substantive errors in his tentative and final rulings denying my motion (Exs. 2–4); (4) his incorrect claims that my oral disqualification motion was untimely and improper; (5) his prior role as Senior Appellate Attorney at the Fourth District Court of Appeal, Division 3, suggesting professional and likely personal relationships with Justices Aronson, Goethals, and/or O'Leary, whom I allege committed structural jurisdictional errors that would also subject them to liability; (6) his potential relationships with retired Superior Court for the County of Orange Judges Di Cesare and/or Chaffee, also alleged to have committed jurisdictional errors subjecting them to liability; (7) his conduct constituting fraud on the court and perpetuating a conspiracy to procure an unlawful judgment through the unlawful enforcement of § 7031 actions; (8) his false Minute Order statement that my arguments were rejected by higher courts, despite no full, fair, or impartial judicial determination thereof; (9) his refusal to allow testimony from attorney William Bissell, critical to proving extrinsic fraud and conspiracy; (10) his enforcement of a discharged judgment, violating federal bankruptcy law; (11) his denial of my Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay of Unlawful Detainer Action (ROA 306), filed March 14, 2025, on March 18, 2025, and Ex Parte Application for Reconsideration, filed May 21, 2025, despite notice of the bankruptcy discharge, perpetuating the harm of the void judgment and denying me restitution (Exs. 7–9); and, (12) his refusal to provide a court reporter or allow recording of proceedings, obstructing my due/judicial process right to preserve the record for appeal.

Due to systemic unlawful § 7031(b) rulings in the Superior Court of California, County of Orange (and all rulings involving public welfare and/or public regulatory and/or quasi criminal, and/or strict liability offenses where punishment of any kind is imposed in all courts throughout California)[1], I request the Judicial Council assign an impartial judge without prior § 7031(b) or rulings involving public welfare and/or public regulatory and/or quasi-criminal and strict liability offenses where punishment of any kind is imposed to avoid pecuniary conflicts and vacate the judgment due to bias. I have filed a notice of appeal in the event this motion is not granted.

This statement is supported by Exhibits 1–13, the record in Case No. 30-2015-00805807, all § 7031(a) and (b) cases incorporated as if fully set forth herein, and any further evidence at a hearing, if ordered. I request judicial notice of Exhibits 1–13 and all documents in Fourth District Court of Appeal Case No. G055075, and all document in UD Case No. (30-2025-01459684) under Cal. Evid. Code § 452(d). This statement has been served on Judge Hesseltine, Presiding Judge Maria D. Hernandez, the Judicial Council of California by U.S.P.S. first-class mail, and on opposing parties Karen and Gary Humphreys through their attorney, William Bissell, by email (see Proofs of Service).

FACTUAL BASIS FOR DISQUALIFICATION

I, Adam Bereki, have personal knowledge of the facts herein, except where stated on information and belief, and declare them true under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California:

1. On May 28, 2025, I filed a Motion to Vacate Void Judgment, Case No. 30-2015-00805807 (ROA 361) arguing the $930,000 judgment under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(a) and (b) is void due to extrinsic fraud (Humphreys' misrepresentation of § 7031(a) and (b) as civil, causing jury trial waiver), structural jurisdictional defects (no standing, usurpation of executive authority, denial of counsel, and all heightened protections required in criminal proceedings), and unconstitutionality (excessive fine, denial of criminal protections) accord: Albrecht v. United States, 273 U.S. 1, 8 (1927) (no standing for private parties to enforce penal statutes); People v. Cowan, 47 Cal.App.5th 32, 43 (2020) (penalties violate excessive fines clause if disproportionate and ability to pay not considered); Elliot v. Lessee of Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828) (courts lack power to affirm void judgments). My intent was to invoke the court's equitable jurisdiction as an independent action in equity (ROA 361, First Am. Decl. ¶ 3 (ROA 369). Bacon v. Bacon, 150 Cal. 477, 482 (1907) (courts have equitable jurisdiction to vacate judgments for fraud). My restitution claim, including vacatur and damages minimally $5 million, was abandoned to me on December 31, 2024, in bankruptcy

Case No. 8:22-BK-12076-SC (Ex. 6, Abandonment Order and Motion to Compel Abandonment). New evidence and law support my claims: Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201, 1212 (2020) (Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(b) is a penalty); Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020) (disgorgement limited to net profits, not penalties).

2. On June 26, 2025, I orally moved to disqualify Judge Hesseltine, citing his rulings on August 6, 2024, and March 25, 2025, in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon, Case No. 30-2022-01259274 (Ex. 1) applying § 7031(b) as civil and awarding $280,037.49, and his refusal to correct structural jurisdictional errors in the tentative ruling (Ex. 2). He denied the motion as improper and untimely, stating, "The court had already ruled in this matter, so in terms of disqualification for the ruling on this particular motion, that is not appropriate since it was not made until after the ruling was made" (Ex. 3- Minute Order, Ex. 4 Reporter's Transcript). This is incorrect, as it was a good-faith effort to prevent due/judicial process violations, followed by this statement. The Moorefield ruling conflicts with my motion's arguments that § 7031(b) is penal, creating a duty to recuse, CCP § 170.3(a)(1), in addition to the duty not to violation due/ judicial process, Cal. Const; Art. I, §§ 7, 9, 26, U.S. Const. Art. I, § 10.

3. Approximately ten days before the June 26, 2025, hearing, I discovered the Moorefield conflict but allowed Hesseltine the opportunity to abide his sworn duties and to rule honorably and lawfully. Upon receiving his tentative ruling prior to the hearing, I identified structural jurisdictional errors, raised them at the hearing, and moved to disqualify him when he refused to correct them because they deprived him of subject matter jurisdiction to affirm a void judgment pursuant to Elliot v. Lessee of Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 341 (1828)[2] and/or to violate due process World-Wide Volkswagen Corp. v. Woodson, 444 U.S. 286 (1980) (judgments in violation of due process are void); Art. I, §§ 7, 9, 26, U.S. Const.

[2] "Where a court has jurisdiction, it has a right to decide every question which occurs in the cause, and whether its decision be correct or otherwise, its judgment, until reversed, is regarded as binding in every other court. But if it act without authority, its judgments and orders are regarded as nullities. They are not voidable, but simply void, and form no bar to a recovery sought, even prior to a reversal, in opposition to them. They constitute no justification, and all persons concerned in executing such judgments or sentences are considered in law as trespassers."

Art. I, § 10. He denied the motion to disqualify as untimely and improper (Ex. 3), despite my timely raising bias after his ruling showed partiality.

4. Judge Hesseltine was informed of my bankruptcy discharge, Case No. 8:22-BK-12076-SC (Ex. 5) issued March 27, 2023, via my Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay, (ROA 306) filed March 14, 2025, and by opposing counsel William Bissell at the June 26, 2025, hearing (Ex. 4, Transcript pending). He denied my Motion to Vacate, refusing to vacate the discharged and void judgment and denied restitution (Ex. 3), resulting in a bill of pains and penalties (denial of judicial determination of rights (judge acting coram non judice and imposing punishment– denial of rights to liberty and property and ~$5 million dollars in restitution).
5. On March 14, 2025, I filed an Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay of Unlawful Detainer Action (Case No. 30-2025-01459684) (ROA 306), in the instant case, arguing the UD, initiated by Canjian Hou, stemmed from a wrongful foreclosure sale (November 18, 2024) caused by enforcement of the void $930,000 judgment. The moving papers contained a combined Ex Parte Application, a Motion to Vacate the Void Judgment in the instant case, and an answer in the UD case. While I understand this combination is procedurally improper, the papers were filed under duress as the unlawful taking/theft of my home was imminent and I had been denied relief in all branches of state and federal government (ROA 306). The Deputy Clerk gave me the choice to file certain aspects of document (Ex Parte Application/ Motion to Vacate) in the instant case, or the answer to the UD complaint in the UD case, but not both, despite my demand, forcing me to file only in the instant case. On March 17, 2025 (the day of the Ex Parte hearing) Hou's counsel filed a default request without notice. The clerk then prematurely entered default on March 18, 2025 after the request in violation of CCP § 1013.I attempted to file an answer in the UD Case on March 19, 2025, however it was again rejected by the Deputy Clerk on the grounds that a default had already been issued.
6. In the moving papers, I notified Hesseltine of the bankruptcy discharge, judgment lien avoidance, and my restitution claim, and requested a court reporter or permission to record due to financial hardship (ROA 306). At the Ex Parte hearing on March 18, 2025, Judge Hesseltine denied my Application for a stay of the unlawful detainer action with a one-word minute order ("denied"), stating my arguments, including the claim that the 2015 judgment was void, were rejected by higher courts and barred by the law of the case doctrine (Ex. 7, Transcript, p. 4, ll. 10–20). He minimally addressed the merits, dismissing my voidness argument as unsupported by the record (Ex. 7, Transcript, p. 4, ll. 15–25 – p. 5 ll. 1-4; p. 9, ll. 18–23), and did not engage with my citations of new case law evidencing the voidness, Eisenberg and Liu v. SEC (Ex. 7, Transcript, p. 8, ll. 15–21; p. 9, ll. 1–5). Despite my claims of exhausted remedies and requests for a forum for relief, he offered no specific guidance, citing his inability to provide legal advice (Ex. 7, Transcript, p. 5, ll. 15–25; p. 7, l. 18 to p. 8, l. 14; p. 10, ll. 12–18).

7. On May 21, 2025, I filed an Ex Parte Application for Reconsideration (ROA 341) to vacate the March 18, 2025, order, stay the UD action, and restore possession, arguing the March 18th order was void for due/judicial process violations (one-word denial, failure to address harm, lack of court reporter, misleading statements) and that the UD default was unlawful due to lack of notice premature entry and lack of standing. On June 22,2025, Judge Hesseltine denied the motion (Ex. 9), again refusing to address the merits of the stay, such as irreparable harm, and deferring judgment challenges to a later hearing, while mischaracterizing the March 18 ruling as substantive when it focused on procedural issues (Ex. 8[3], Transcript, p. 3, ll. 15–25; p. 4, ll. 1–4; p. 5, ll. 4–8; p. 8, ll. 12–14). He provided no guidance on alternative forums for relief despite my claims of due process violations, including the March 18 default and rejected answer on March 19, 2025, directing UD issues to the UD department (Ex. 8, Transcript, p. 5, ll. 15–25; p. 6, ll. 1–20; p. 6, l. 21 to p. 7, l. 5) despite the fact that I continued to be denied a full, fair, and impartial hearing on these issues in the UD case. He reiterated that recording is not allowed in unlimited civil matters, citing statutory limits and resource constraints, despite my fee waiver and Cal. Rules of Court, Rule 1.150(d). Ex. 8, Transcript, p. 1, ll. 10–25; p. 2, ll. 1–19; p. 3, ll. 1–2.

[3] Despite Judge Hesseltine's denials of a court reporter and/or to allow me to create an audio recording of the ex parte proceedings, I recorded them anyway to prevent spoliation of evidence for appeal and/or other relevant proceedings, such as this, and to ensure my rights to due/judicial process would be fully protected. See especially Jameson v. Desta, 5 Cal. 5th 594, 608–09, (2018) ("Under current California law, in most civil proceedings the presence of a court reporter is required in order to obtain a verbatim record of trial court proceedings and, ultimately, the preparation of an officially recognized reporter's transcript for use on appeal. The inclusion of court reporter fees in the original court rules setting forth the categories of costs and fees to which an economically needy litigant is entitled to a waiver, as well as the explicit legislative codification of such entitlement in section 68086(b) in 2013, reflect the realistic, crucial importance that the presence of a court reporter currently plays in the actual protection of a civil litigant's legal rights and in providing such a litigant equal access to appellate justice in California. As the Court of Appeal decision in the present case aptly demonstrates, the absence of a court reporter at trial court proceedings and the resulting lack of a verbatim record of such proceedings will frequently be fatal to a litigant's ability to have his or her claims of trial court error resolved on the merits by an appellate court. This is so because it is a fundamental principle of appellate procedure that a trial court judgment is ordinarily presumed to be correct and the burden is on an appellant to demonstrate, on the basis of the record presented to the appellate court, that the trial court committed an error

8. At the Motion to Vacate hearing on June 26, 2025, Judge Hesseltine refused to correct errors in his tentative ruling, including misapplication of res judicata, ignoring fraud and conspiracy by the Humphreys and Bissell,and failing to address § 7031(a) and (b)'s penal nature and new case law: Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201, 1212 (2020); Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020). He dismissed Eisenberg as a statute of limitations case (even though it held § 7031(b) imposed a penal forfeiture), stating, "I'm positive that I would never be able to convince you of anything." Shortly thereafter he closed the Zoom proceeding, refusing to engage in these substantive issues either at the hearing on in the tentative (Ex.'s 2, 3, 4).
9. Judge Hesseltine's refusal to recognize my Motion to Vacate as an independent action in equity, despite my intent (ROA 361, First Amen. Decl. ¶ 3), denied my right to invoke equitable jurisdiction. Bacon v. Bacon, 150 Cal. 477, 482 (1907);

that justifies reversal of the judgment."). (Footnote and citations omitted.). Based on over 25 years of experience in civil and criminal investigations as former police officer and expert forensic investigator, my experience has shown that people who desire to tell the truth ordinarily have nothing to hide, exhibit a strong desire to be heard and to answer questions, and have no problem being recorded. On the other hand, those who seek to hide and/or conceal the truth and/or their unlawful behavior, do the opposite. I'm unable to conceive any reason why Judge Hesseltine would deny me the right to personally record the proceedings or to a court reporter other than to conceal his egregiously unconstitutional and criminal behavior.

10. Judge Hesseltine's stay, reconsideration, and Motion denials perpetuate the harm of the void judgment, enabling an unlawful default, eviction, ~$60,000 in property damage/loss, and continued involuntary servitude where I am forced to perform forensic investigation and reporting services without pay to expose the fraud and corruption that continues to be perpetrated on me to defend my rights and property.
11. To further evidence my allegations of extrinsic fraud, fraud on the court, and conspiracy between cross-complainants and their counsel, I subpoenaed their attorney, William Bissell, to appear at the Motion to Vacate/ Independent Action hearing and produce documents, but Hesseltine refused, denying critical evidence. Rosenthal v. Great Western Fin. Sec. Corp., 14 Cal.4th 394, 414 (1996) (testimony required to resolve fraud).
12. Judge Hesseltine's prior role as Senior Appellate Attorney (2010–2017, per Orange County Bar Association online records) suggests relationships with Justices Aronson, Goethals, O'Leary, and retired Judges Di Cesare and Chaffee, whom I allege committed structural jurisdictional errors. I requested Judicial Council records to evidence his relationships with the Court of Appeal Justices, but they were deemed non-disclosable.
13. Judge Hesseltine's Minute Order (Ex. 3) falsely stated my arguments were rejected by the Court of Appeal, California Supreme Court, U.S. Supreme Court, U.S. District Court, and Ninth Circuit, when no full, fair, or impartial determination occurred. His conduct constitutes fraud on the court, perpetuating the Humphreys' and Bissell's conspiracy to misrepresent § 7031(a) and (b) as civil.
14. All § 7031(a) and (b) cases are incorporated as if fully set forth herein.
15. Exhibits 1–13 are true copies, except for non-substantive marks. Ex. 4 is pending from the court reporter.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

I, Adam Bereki, move to disqualify Judge David J. Hesseltine under CCP § 170.1(a)(6)(A)(iii) for an appearance of bias, actual bias, violations of due/judicial process under California Constitution, Article I, Section 7, and bills of pains and penalties under California Constitution, Article I, Section 9, and U.S. Constitution, Article I, Section 10. Hesseltine's rulings on August 6, 2024, and March 25, 2025, in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon, Case No. 30-2022-01259274 (Ex. 1) applying Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(b) as civil and awarding $280,037.49, conflict with my Motion to Vacate Void Judgment, filed May 28, 2025 (ROA 361) which argues § 7031(a) and (b) are penal and unconstitutional, creating a pecuniary interest due to potential liability. Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006).

Judge Hesseltine's refusal to correct errors in his tentative and final rulings (Exs. 2–4), false Minute Order statements, denial of Bissell's testimony, enforcement of a discharged judgment despite notice of my bankruptcy (Exs. 5–6), denial of my Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay and Ex Parte Application for Reconsideration (ROA 306; Exs. 7–8), and refusal to provide a court reporter or allow recording demonstrate bias and violations of due/judicial process.

Judge Hesseltine's prior role as Senior Appellate Attorney (2010–2017) suggests personal and/or professional relationships with Justices Aronson, Goethals, O'Leary, and with retired Superior Court Judges Di Cesare and Chaffee who served in the same Superior Court, whom I allege are a part of the conspiracy to commit extrinsic fraud, fraud on the court, and perpetuate an unlawful judgment with structural jurisdictional errors, exacerbating the appearance of bias. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009).

Judge Hesseltine's conduct perpetuates a conspiracy to procure an unlawful judgment. Due to systemic unlawful § 7031(b) rulings in the Superior Court of California, County of Orange (and all rulings involving public welfare and/or public regulatory and/or quasi criminal, and/or strict liability offenses where punishment of any kind is imposed in all courts throughout California), I request the Judicial Council assign an impartial judge without prior § 7031(b) or rulings involving public welfare and/or public regulatory and/or quasi-criminal and strict liability offenses where punishment of any kind is imposed to avoid pecuniary conflicts and vacate the judgment due to bias. I have filed a notice of appeal in the event this motion is not granted.

I have filed a notice of appeal in the event this motion is not granted.

A complaint is separately filed with the Commission on Judicial Performance, but this motion independently seeks disqualification.

II. LEGAL STANDARD

CCP § 170.1(a)(6)(A)(iii) requires disqualification if a person aware of the facts might reasonably entertain a doubt that the judge would be able to be impartial. United Farm Workers of America v. Superior Court, 170 Cal.App.3d 97, 103-104 (1985).

Actual bias or egregious conduct violating due/judicial process, Cal. Const. Art. I, § 7, or imposing bills of pains and penalties, Cal. Const. Art. I, § 9; U.S. Const. Art. I, § 10, mandates disqualification. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009); People v. Freeman, 47 Cal.4th 993, 1000 (2010).

A judge's unconstitutional application of a penal statute as civil is ultra vires. Elliot v. Lessee of Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828) (courts lack power to affirm void judgments). Fraud on the court or pecuniary interests from prior rulings creates an appearance of bias. Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006).

Res judicata does not apply to void judgments lacking subject matter jurisdiction, as this would elevate a judge above the Constitution. Vanhorne's Lessee v. Dorrance, 2 U.S. 304, 317 (1795). Ex parte Giambonini, 177 Cal. 573, 576 (1897) (judges must act within conferred power).

CCP § 170.3(a)(1) mandates recusal upon determining disqualification, and § 170.3(c)(1) allows a written verified statement after refusal, filed at the earliest practicable opportunity. Oral motions are permissible to raise disqualification sua sponte to prevent due/judicial process violations, followed by a written statement.

III. ARGUMENT

A. Pecuniary Interest from Moorefield Conflict

Judge Hesseltine's rulings on August 6, 2024, and March 25, 2025, in Moorefield, Ex. 1, applying § 7031(b) as civil and awarding $280,037.49, conflict with my Motion to Vacate, which argues § 7031(b) is penal and criminal, imposing a fine. Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201, 1212 (2020); Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020); People v. Estes, 218 Cal.App.4th Supp. 14 (2013); Ex parte Clark, 24 Cal.App. 389, 393 (1914) (penal statutes require criminal safeguards). His knowledge of this conflict imposed a duty to recuse under CCP § 170.3(a)(1), Cal. Const. Art.'s 1 and 9 and U.S. Const. Art. I, § 10. His failure to do so, risking liability for jurisdictional errors in the Moorefield case (and potentially others not yet known), creates an appearance of bias. Rankin v. Howard, 633 F.2d 844, 849 (1980) (judicial liability for jurisdictional errors); Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009); Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006).

Judge Hesseltine faced a dilemma: ruling in my favor risked exposing himself and other judicial officers to civil liability for acting without subject matter jurisdiction, while ruling against me exposed him to similar liability for jurisdictional errors. This conflict created a duty to recuse under CCP § 170.3(a)(1). His failure to do so raises concerns about bias and impartiality. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009); Rankin v. Howard, 633 F.2d 844, 849 (1980).

Judge Hesseltine's enforcement of a discharged judgment, denial of the UD stay and reconsideration to determine the judgment's validity prior to forced eviction and irreparable harm, and refusal to allow recording further risk liability for violating federal bankruptcy law and due/judicial process, exacerbating this interest (see Section III.F).

B. Bias from Relationships with Judicial Officers

Judge Hesseltine's service as Senior Appellate Attorney at the Fourth District Court of Appeal, Division 3 (2010–2017, per Orange County Bar Association records), suggests professional and personal relationships with Justices Aronson, Goethals, and O'Leary, whom I allege committed structural jurisdictional errors in affirming the void judgment. I requested public records from the Judicial Council to evidence these relationships, but they were deemed non-disclosable. His likely relationships with retired Superior Court Judges Di Cesare and Chaffee, also alleged to have committed jurisdictional errors, and his role as a supervising judge create an appearance of bias. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009); Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006).

C. Fraud on the Court

Judge Hesseltine's conduct constitutes unequivocal fraud on the court, perpetuating the Humphreys' and Bissell's conspiracy to misrepresent § 7031(a) and (b) as civil, despite their penal nature, and upholding a judgment lacking personal and subject matter jurisdiction due to no criminal complaint being filed and structural jurisdictional errors. My Motion to Vacate and Ex Parte Application, argued that § 7031(b) imposes a punitive forfeiture, requiring executive authority and criminal safeguards. Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201, 1212 (2020). Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020). Ex parte Clark, 24 Cal.App. 389, 393 (1914); People v. Estes, 218 Cal.App.4th Supp. 14 (2013). Hesseltine's refusal to engage with these authorities, dismissal of Eisenberg as a statute of limitations case, false Minute Order statements that my arguments were rejected by the Court of Appeal, California Supreme Court, U.S. Supreme Court, U.S. District Court, and Ninth Circuit (Ex. 3), denial of the UD stay and Ex Parte Application for Reconsideration despite notice of the void judgment's connection to the foreclosure (Exs. 7–9), and refusal to address UD due process violations (e.g., lack of notice for default request, premature entry, lack of standing) entrenched this fraud, undermining judicial integrity. His actions shielded the Humphreys' and Bissell's conspiracy to procure the judgment through a civil action for a criminal offense.

Judge Hesseltine's tentative, final rulings, stay denial, and reconsideration denial misapplied res judicata and law of the case to shield a void judgment, ignoring new evidence and law demonstrating extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court by the Humphreys, their attorney William Bissell, Judges David Chaffee and James Di Cesare, and Appellate Justices Aronson, Goethals, and O'Leary, which arose during the court proceedings and were not part of the original complaint or litigated in the prior action. Allied Fire Protection v. Diede Constr., Inc., 127 Cal. App. 4th 150, 155 (2005) (res judicata does not bar claims arising after the initial complaint; such rights may be asserted in a subsequent action); Yager v. Yager, 7 Cal.2d 213, 217 (1936) (rights acquired pendente lite, not raised by supplemental pleading, are not foreclosed in later actions); Kettelle v. Kettelle, 110 Cal.App. 310, 312 (1930) (res judicata inapplicable to new rights acquired during action not required to be litigated). These fraud claims, involving misrepresentations of the penal nature of Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(a) and (b), denying me criminal safeguards and a fair hearing, are supported by new evidence and law. Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201, 1212 (2020) (§ 7031(b) imposes a punitive forfeiture, not equitable relief); Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020) (disgorgement limited to net profits, unlike § 7031(b)'s total forfeiture); Trackman v. Kenney, 187 Cal.App.4th 175, 184 (2010) (extrinsic evidence supports voidness claims); Estate of Sanders, 40 Cal.3d 607, 614 (1985) (extrinsic fraud denies a fair hearing); Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co., 322 U.S. 238, 246 (1944) (fraud on the court undermines judicial integrity).

Res judicata also does not apply to void judgments lacking subject matter jurisdiction, as this would elevate a judge above the Constitution. Vanhorne's Lessee v. Dorrance, 2 U.S. 304 (1795); Bennett v. Wilson, 122 Cal. 509, 513-14 (1898); Nelson, 35 San Diego L. Rev. 555, 559 (1998). Hesseltine's reliance on Torrey Pines Bank v. Superior Court, 216 Cal.App.3d 813 (1989), is misplaced, as it involved a voluntary dismissal, not structural jurisdictional defects or fraud. His claim that voidness must appear "on the face of the record" under CCP § 473(d) (Ex. 7) is erroneous, as void judgments can be attacked at any time, including via the Thompson exception. Thompson v. Cook, 20 Cal.2d 564, 569 (1942) (voidness need not appear on the record if jurisdictional defects exist). His refusal to recognize my Motion to Vacate as an independent action in equity, despite my intent (ROA 361, First Amen. Decl. ¶ 3), denied my right to invoke equitable jurisdiction. Bacon v. Bacon, 150 Cal. 477, 482 (1907); Olivera v. Grace, 19 Cal.2d 570, 576 (1942); Rose v. Fuqua, 200 Cal.App.2d 719, 724 (1962); Bloniarz v. Roloson, 70 Cal.2d 143, 147 (1969). His refusal to address fraud, conspiracy, and structural errors demonstrates bias. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009).

E. Denial of Witness Testimony

Judge Hesseltine's refusal to allow testimony from Bissell, despite my subpoena and supplementary brief, prevented me from proving extrinsic fraud and conspiracy critical to my Motion to Vacate. Rosenthal v. Great Western Fin. Sec. Corp., 14 Cal.4th 394, 414 (1996) (testimony required to resolve fraud). Bissell's testimony was necessary to reveal his intent in misrepresenting § 7031(b) as civil and conspiring with the Humphreys to procure an unlawful judgment, constituting extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court. This denial suggests prejudgment of my claims and denial of the due process right to present evidence of my claims, further evidencing bias. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009). People v. Freeman, 47 Cal.4th 993, 1000 (2010).

F. Violation of Bankruptcy Discharge Order

Judge Hesseltine's denial of my Motion to Vacate/Independent Action on June 26, 2025, Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay on March 18, 2025, and Ex Parte Application for Reconsideration effectively enforced a $930,000 judgment discharged in bankruptcy, violating 11 U.S.C. § 524(a) and demonstrating actual bias under CCP § 170.1(a)(6)(A)(iii). On March 27, 2023, the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Central District of California issued a discharge order in Case No. 8:22-BK-12076-SC, voiding the judgment as a personal liability under 11 U.S.C. § 524(a)(1) and enjoining enforcement under § 524(a)(2) (Ex. 5, Discharge Order). The judgment lien was avoided under 11 U.S.C. § 522(f) on June 15, 2023 (Ex. 6, Motion to Compel, ¶ 15). My restitution claim—vacatur and damages minimally $5 million—is a property interest among "unprosecuted lawsuit claims" abandoned to me on December 31, 2024, under 11 U.S.C. § 554(b). In re DeVore, 223 B.R. 193, 198 (1998) (B.A.P. 9th Cir.) (abandoned claims revert to debtor).

Hesseltine was informed of the discharge via my Ex Parte Application, ROA 306, and by Bissell at the June 26, 2025, hearing (Ex. 4, pending). Despite this, he denied my motion, stay, and reconsideration (Exs. 3, 7–9), refusing to vacate the judgment and denying restitution, effectively enforcing a void judgment in violation of 11 U.S.C. § 524(a)(2). Taggart v. Lorenzen, 139 S. Ct. 1795, 1801 (2019) (willful violation of discharge injunction incurs liability). In re Kuehn, 563 F.3d 289, 292 (2009) (7th Cir.) (actions based on discharged debts are void). The stay and reconsideration denials allowed the UD action, Case No. 30-2025-01459684, stemming from a wrongful foreclosure caused by the void judgment, to proceed, enabling an unlawful default, eviction, ~$1.18 million equity loss, $50,000 property damage, and $10,000 lost property. This favored the Humphreys by preserving an improper advantage—the judgment's unvacated status, which avoids restitution and maintains a false appearance of validity—and Canjian Hou, whose UD relies on a defective title, over my property interest, suggesting bias, potentially to protect his Moorefield ruling (Ex. 1) and the liability of his friends and/or colleagues. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009). Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006). Dr. Leevil, LLC v. Westlake Health Care Center, 6 Cal.5th 474, 483 (2018) (UD requires valid title). This violation risks liability for disregarding federal law. Rankin v. Howard, 633 F.2d 844, 849 (1980). It perpetuates the Humphreys' and Bissell's conspiracy. Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co., 322 U.S. 238 (1944).

G. Procedural Propriety of Oral Motion and Ex Parte Application and Due Process Violation by Denial of Stay

Judge Hesseltine's rulings violated due/judicial process by incorrectly deeming my oral disqualification motion untimely and improper and by denying my Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay of Unlawful Detainer Action (ROA 306, filed March 14, 2025) and Ex Parte Application for Reconsideration (filed May 21, 2025), prioritizing form over substance and causing irreparable harm, thus evidencing bias under CCP § 170.1(a)(6)(A)(iii).

While CCP § 170.3(c)(1) requires a written verified statement, my oral motion on June 26, 2025, was a good-faith effort to prevent due/judicial process violations, followed by this verified statement, and was timely raised after bias emerged at the hearing. Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006).

Similarly, Hesseltine's denial of my Ex Parte Application and Reconsideration for filing in the 2015 case (Case No. 30-2015-00805807) and combining documents ignored their substantive connection to the void $930,000 judgment, which caused the wrongful foreclosure (November 18, 2024; see ROA 306) and UD action (Case No. 30-2025-01459684). These denials prevented me from defending against eviction based on fraud and structural jurisdictional defects, violating due/judicial process by undermining the fairness of the judicial process. Asuncion v. Superior Court, 108 Cal.App.3d 141, 146 (1980) (due process requires homeowners be permitted to raise fraud defenses in eviction actions tied to title disputes); Mehr v. Superior Court, 139 Cal.App.3d 1044, 1050 (1983) (denial of stay in UD action pending appeal is abuse of discretion when substantial title issues exist and eviction causes irreparable harm). My applications sought to stay the UD action, which stemmed from a foreclosure enabled by the void judgment, to preserve my home and ~$1.2 million in equity. Hesseltine's one-word denial of the stay ("denied," Ex. 7) and cursory denial of reconsideration (Ex. 8, p. 3, ll. 15–25; p. 4, ll. 1–4), without addressing irreparable harm or the bankruptcy discharge (Exs. 5–6), allowed an unlawful default and forced sheriff eviction, despite my showing of substantial issues (e.g., fraud, lack of jurisdiction supported by new case law (Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201 (2020); Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71 (2020)) and minimal prejudice to the UD plaintiff, Canjian Hou, who holds defective title (Dr. Leevil, LLC v. Westlake Health Care Center, 6 Cal.5th 474, 483 (2018)). These denials, favoring the Humphreys and Hou by preserving the void judgment's effect, demonstrate bias, potentially to protect Hesseltine's ruling in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon (Ex. 1) and his colleagues from liability. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009); Asuncion, 108 Cal.App.3d at 146 (courts must evaluate harm in ex parte contexts to ensure due process).

H. Judge Hesseltine's Failure to Declare the Judgment Void Despite Uncontroverted Evidence of Jurisdictional Defects and the Humphreys' Failure to Sustain Their Burden of Proof on Standing

Judge Hesseltine had a mandatory, non-discretionary, ministerial duty to declare the April 20, 2017, judgment in Case No. 30-2015-00805807 void due to the Humphreys' failure to sustain their burden of proof of standing in response to my direct jurisdictional challenges, their failure to counter my evidence in the Motion to Vacate/Independent Action in Equity (ROA 361, 369) and prior proceedings, and the prior courts' lack of subject matter jurisdiction, rendering his refusal to do so evidence of bias under CCP § 170.1(a)(6)(A)(iii). In Thompson v. Cook, 20 Cal.2d 564, 569–73 (1942), the California Supreme Court held that when a party challenges a judgment as void with uncontroverted evidence of jurisdictional defects and the opposing party fails to offer proof to sustain jurisdiction, the court must declare the judgment void as a matter of law. My Motion to Vacate (ROA 361, 369), prior Writ of Error (April 18, 2017, ROA 244), and Bill of Particulars (ROA 256, 263) constituted direct attacks, presenting uncontroverted evidence that the Humphreys lacked standing to prosecute a penal action under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(b) without executive authority (Cal. Const. Art. V, § 1; Albrecht v. United States, 273 U.S. 1, 8 (1923)), that no sworn information or criminal complaint was filed to vest jurisdiction (Buis v. State, 1990 OK CR 28, p.4; Cal. Gov't Code 100), and that no evidence showed I personally performed licensed work as required by CACI 4560(3) and § 7031(a) and (b). The Humphreys' opposition to my 2019 Motion to Vacate (Ex. 11 (exhibits B, C, D omitted- not relevant), ROA 300), their Respondent's Brief on appeal (Ex. 10), and their 2025 opposition (ROA 381, Ex. 13) failed to rebut these claims or provide evidence of their standing, executive authority, or my performance of licensed work, relying solely on res judicata, general jurisdictional assertions, and procedural bars. Specifically, they did not address the absence of a criminal complaint, their lack of prosecutorial authority, or my evidence that The Spartan Associates, Inc. (my company) performed all work instead citing my emails and testimony about contracting (Ex. 10) without evidence of performance. Their mischaracterization of Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201, 1212 (2020), as addressing only the statute of limitations (ROA 381, Ex 13) ignored its holding that § 7031(b) imposes a punitive forfeiture requiring criminal safeguards, and they failed to engage with Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020), which limits disgorgement to net profits, not the ~$930,000 penalty awarded. The trial and appellate courts' failure to establish subject matter jurisdiction, due to the unauthorized penal prosecution and lack of evidence, rendered the judgment void ab initio as a result of structural jurisdictional errors (e.g. violation of separation of powers, usurpation of executive authority, no criminal complaint filed, no counsel appointed, all heightened protections required in criminal proceedings denied). Elliot v. Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828); Bennett v. Wilson, 122 Cal. 509, 513–14 (1898).

Judge Hesseltine's refusal to vacate the judgment, despite the Humphreys' failure to counter my evidence or prove standing, as reflected in their deficient briefs (Exs. 10, 11, 13) and the prior court's similar error (Ex. 12– Minute Order– prior Motion to Vacate), demonstrates bias by shielding a jurisdictionally defective judgment, potentially to protect his rulings in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon (Ex. 1) or to align with the alleged judicial conspiracy involving Justices Aronson, Goethals, O'Leary, and Judges Chaffee and Di Cesare to protect them from civil liability for damages. Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009); Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006). This failure to fulfill his mandatory duty under Thompson v. Cook constitutes a structural error, violating due/judicial process and necessitating disqualification to ensure an impartial hearing. Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306, 314 (1950).

I. Grounds for Commission on Judicial Performance Complaint

Judge Hesseltine's conduct violates the California Code of Judicial Ethics, warranting a complaint to the Commission on Judicial Performance:

1. Bias or Prejudice (Canon 3B(5)): His refusal to engage with controlling authorities (e.g., Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal.App.5th 1201 (2020); Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71 (2020)), denial of attorney William Bissell's testimony critical to proving extrinsic fraud (Rosenthal v. Great Western Fin. Sec. Corp., 14 Cal.4th 394, 414 (1996)), enforcement of a judgment discharged in bankruptcy (Case No. 8:22-BK-12076-SC, Ex. 5), denial of my Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay (ROA 306) and Reconsideration (Exs. 7–8), and refusal to provide a court reporter or allow recording despite my fee waiver and Cal. Rules of Court, Rule 1.150(d), suggest bias, potentially to protect his prior ruling in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon (Ex. 1) and colleagues involved in this conspiracy. CJEO Formal Opinion 2021-016 (p. 8) notes that actions undermining impartiality violate Canon 3B(5). Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., 556 U.S. 868 (2009).
2. Failure to Uphold the Law (Canon 3B(2)): Hesseltine misapplied res judicata and law of the case to shield a void judgment, ignored Eisenberg and Liu establishing § 7031(a) and (b)'s penal nature, and failed to address the bankruptcy discharge (11 U.S.C. § 524(a)) and unlawful detainer (UD) due process violations (e.g., lack of notice, premature default, CCP § 1013). These actions violate constitutional and federal law. Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306, 314 (1950) (due process requires notice and opportunity to be heard).
3. Fraud on the Court (Canon 3B(1)): False Minute Order statements claiming my arguments were rejected by higher courts (Ex. 3), despite no full, fair, or impartial determination, perpetuation of a conspiracy to misrepresent § 7031(a) and (b) as civil, and dismissal of UD issues without addressing merits undermine judicial integrity. Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co., 322 U.S. 238, 246 (1944) (fraud on the court undermines judicial integrity).

4. Improper Denial of Disqualification (Canon 3C(1)): Denying my oral disqualification motion as untimely (Exs. 3–4) violates his duty to recuse under CCP § 170.3(a)(1), given his pecuniary interest from Moorefield and potential relationships with Justices Aronson, Goethals, O'Leary, and Judges Di Cesare and Chaffee. CJEO Oral Advice Summary 2015-015 (p. 2) confirms judges must decide their own disqualification. Caperton, 556 U.S. 868.
5. Abuse of Authority (Canon 2A): Affirming a void judgment, denying the UD stay and reconsideration despite notice of the bankruptcy discharge (Exs. 5–6), and obstructing record preservation erode public confidence in the judiciary. CJEO Formal Opinion 2021-016 (p. 8) notes that actions undermining impartiality violate Canon 2A. Jameson v. Desta, 5 Cal.5th 594, 608 (2018) (denial of court reporter for indigent litigant violates due process).
6. Failure to Provide Forum Guidance: Refusing to identify a forum for relief despite my exhaustion of remedies (Exs. 7–9) and pro se status exacerbates systemic bias, denying due process. Mullane, 339 U.S. 306, 314. Canon 3B(8) Commentary encourages reasonable steps to enable self-represented litigants to be heard.
7. Obstruction of Record Preservation: Denying a court reporter or recording permission, despite my fee waiver and Rule 1.150(d) discretion, limits my appeal rights, suggesting bias. Jameson v. Desta, 5 Cal.5th 594, 608 (2018); CJEO Formal Opinion 2013-002 (pp. 7–8) (judges must ensure accurate record documentation).

IV. CONCLUSION

I request disqualification of Judge Hesseltine for appearance of bias, actual bias, violations of due/judicial process under California Constitution, Article I, Section 7, and bills of pains and penalties under California Constitution, Article I, Section 9, and U.S. Constitution, Article I, Section 10, that the Judicial Council assign an impartial judge under CCP § 170.3(c)(5) to rehear the Motion to Vacate, and that the judgment be vacated due to bias and structural jurisdictional defects. Christie v. City of El Centro, 135 Cal.App.4th 767, 776 (2006). Systemic unlawful rulings on § 7031(b) claims by Superior Court judges, including in the Orange County Superior Court, exacerbate this bias, as evidenced by pervasive misapplication of § 7031(b) as civil rather than penal. See e.g. MW Erectors, Inc. v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Co., 36 Cal.4th 412, 426 (2005) (misapplied § 7031 as civil); all § 7031(a) and (b) cases are incorporated as if fully set forth herein. A particularly egregious example is Judicial Council of California v. Jacobs Facilities, Inc., 239 Cal.App.4th 882, 895 (2015), where the Judicial Council pursued a $22.7 million forfeiture against a contractor for an unintentional licensing issue during corporate reorganization, despite satisfactory performance, and incurred over $3.3 million in legal costs debited from the public treasury, demonstrating systemic misuse of § 7031(b) to impose disproportionate penalties without regard for fairness or harm caused. This pattern of systemic bias necessitates Judicial Council intervention to assign a judge without prior § 7031(b) rulings to ensure impartiality.

The Court, having taken the Court Trial under submission on 7-18-24 makes its ruling following Court Trial as follows:

Ruling Following Court Trial
. (Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Steve Pantalemon, etc., et al., Case No. 2022-01259274)

After completing various pretrial proceedings, including ruling on a motion in limine, the court conducted a two-day bench trial on July 2 and 3, 2024. At the conclusion of the proceedings on July 3, 2024, the court set a briefing schedule for the parties to submit their closing arguments in writing. The court received the parties' briefs on July 17, 2024, and took this matter under submission at that time. Having now considered all testimony and exhibits admitted at trial, any judicially noticed matters, the credibility of all witnesses and other evidence, the arguments of counsel, and the governing law, the court now rules as set forth below.

The complaint of plaintiff Moorefield Construction, Inc. (Plaintiff) alleges the following two causes of action against defendant Steve Pantalemon, individually and doing business as Custom Wine Cellar (Defendant): (1) intentional misrepresentation, and (2) violation of contractor's state licensing law. Both causes of action implicate the requirements of the Contractors' State License Law (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 7000, et seq.; CSLL), including whether the CSLL required Defendant to have a license and whether Defendant is entitled to retain any of the deposit Plaintiff paid to Defendant. Accordingly, a brief discussion of the CSLL is an appropriate starting point.

Contractors' State License Law (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 7000, et seq.)

"The CSLL provides 'a comprehensive scheme which governs contractors doing business in California.' [Citation.] 'The purpose of the licensing law is to protect the public from incompetence and dishonesty in those who provide building and construction services. [Citation.] The licensing requirements provide minimal assurance that all persons offering such services in California have the requisite skill and

For purposes of the CSLL, "a contractor is any person who undertakes to or offers to undertake to, or purports to have the capacity to undertake to, or submits a bid to, or does himself or herself or by or through others, construct, alter, . . . add to, . . . improve, move, . . . any building, . . . or other structure, project, development or improvement, or to do any part thereof . . . and whether or not the performance of work herein described involves the addition to, or fabrication into, any structure, project, development or improvement herein described of any material or article of merchandise. 'Contractor' includes subcontractor and specialty contractor." (Bus. & Prof. Code, § 7026.) "'Person' . . . includes an individual, a firm, partnership, corporation, limited liability company, association or other organization, or any combination thereof." (Id. at § 7025, subd. (b).)

"[Business and Professions Code s]ection 7026 plainly states that both the person who provides construction services himself and one who does so 'through others' qualifies as a 'contractor.' The California courts have also long held that those who enter into construction contracts must be licensed, even when they themselves do not do the actual work under the contract. [Citations.]" (Vallejo Development Co. v. Beck Development Co. (1994) 24 Cal.App.4th 929, 941 (Vallejo Development).) Moreover, "[t]he mere execution of such a contract is an act 'in the capacity of a contractor,'" and makes an unlicensed person subject to the provisions of Business and Professions Code section 7031 discussed below. (Vallejo Development, supra, 24 Cal.App.4th at p. 940.)

"The two provisions of the CSLL of concern here are designed to enforce compliance with the CSLL's licensing requirements. [Business and Professions Code s]ection 7031, subdivision (a) provides that no person 'engaged in the business or acting in the capacity of a contractor' can bring an action for compensation for work requiring a contractor's license if the person was not properly licensed at all times during the performance of the work. [Business and Professions Code s]ection 7031, subdivision (b) goes further, permitting a person 'who utilizes the services of an unlicensed contractor' to bring an action for disgorgement of 'all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor.' Although the language of the two provisions is somewhat different, they are interpreted 'in a consistent manner, resulting in the same remedy regardless of whether the unlicensed contractor is the plaintiff or the defendant.' [Citation.]" (Judicial Council, supra, 239 Cal.App.4th at p. 895, fns. omitted.)

"The statutory intent behind [Business and Professions Code] section 7031, subdivisions (a) and (b) is 'to discourage persons who have failed to comply with the licensing law from offering or providing their unlicensed services for pay.' [Citation.]" (Judicial Council, supra, 239 Cal.App.4th at p. 895.) "Because it denies all compensation for a contractor's work, regardless of the quality of the work or the reasons for the failure of licensure, section 7031 can have harsh and seemingly unfair effects." (Ibid.)

"Courts have taken their cue from the Legislature in enforcing the letter of the law, consoled by the Legislature's ""determination that the importance of deterring unlicensed persons from engaging in the contracting business outweighs any harshness between the parties."" [Citation.] Accordingly, if a contractor is unlicensed for any period of time while delivering construction services, the contractor forfeits all compensation for the work, not merely compensation for the period when the contractor was unlicensed. [Citation.] Although construction contractors often make substantial payments to others for materials and labor, an unlicensed contractor forfeits all money paid, without offsets for such payments to third parties. [Citation.] Because [Business and Professions Code] section 7031 is held to apply '" [r]egardless of the equities"' [citation], unlicensed contractors are prohibited from asserting equitable defenses, such as estoppel, to forfeiture. [Citation.] On the contrary, ""[c]ourts may not resort to equitable considerations in defiance of [Business and Professions Code] section 7031."" [Citation.] As a result, an unlicensed contractor is subject to forfeiture even if the other contracting party was aware of the contractor's lack of a license, and the other party's bad faith or unjust enrichment cannot be asserted

by the contractor as a defense to forfeiture. [Citation.] For a contractor failing to qualify under the statutory safe harbor of subdivision (e), [Business and Professions Code] section 7031 is truly a strict liability statute." (Judicial Council, supra, 239 Cal.App.4th at pp. 896-897.)

"Nothing in [Business and Professions Code] section 7031 either limits its application to a particular class of homeowners or excludes protection of 'sophisticated' persons. Reading that limitation into the statute would be inconsistent with its purpose of '"deterring unlicensed persons from engaging in the contracting business."' [Citation.] Indeed, in Hydrotech [Systems, Ltd. v. Oasis Waterpark (1991) 52 Cal.3d 988], the court rejected the argument that [Business and Professions Code] section 7031 should not be applied to a lawsuit by a subcontractor against a contractor because the subcontractor 'did not hold itself out to the public.' [Citation.] The court applied [Business and Professions Code] section 7031 even though the suit was against a general contractor for a large commercial construction project who allegedly was aware of the subcontractor's unlicensed status. [Citation.]" (Phoenix Mechanical Pipeline, Inc. v. Space Exploration Technologies Corp. (2017) 12 Cal.App.5th 842, 849-850 (Phoenix Mechanical).)

Plaintiff's second cause of action is brought under Business and Professions Code section 7031, subdivision (b), and seeks to recover all sums Plaintiff paid to Defendant on the ground Defendant at no time was a licensed contractor and both the CSLL and the parties' contract required Defendant to be licensed.

The elements of this claim are set forth in CACI jury instruction no. 4560 as follows: "1. That [name of plaintiff] [[engaged/hired]/ [or] contracted with] [name of defendant] to perform services for [name of plaintiff]; [¶] 2. That a valid contractor's license was required to perform these services; and [¶] 3. That [name of plaintiff] paid [name of defendant] for services that [name of defendant] performed." CACI no. 4561 further provides: "A person who pays money to an unlicensed contractor may recover all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor. [¶] If you decide that [name of plaintiff] has proved that [he/she/nonbinary pronoun/it] paid money to [name of defendant] for services and that [name of defendant] has failed to prove that [he/she/nonbinary pronoun/it] was licensed at all times during performance, then [name of plaintiff] is entitled to the return of all amounts paid, not just the amounts paid while [name of defendant] was unlicensed. The fact that [name of plaintiff] may have received some or all of the benefits of [name of defendant]'s performance does not affect [his/her/nonbinary pronoun/its] right to the return of all amounts paid."

Here, there is no dispute the parties entered into the "Sub Contract" (Exhibit 7) in January 2022. The parties to the contract are "Moorefield Construction, Inc." and "Custom Wine Cellar." Hal Moorefield signed the contract on Plaintiff's behalf of January 28, 2022. Steve Pantalemon signed the contract on behalf of Custom Wine Cellar, as its CEO, on January 20, 2022.

The description of the work Defendant contracted to perform is described as follows in paragraph 2: "ALL FURNISH/INSTALL WINE DISPLAY PER PLANS, SPECIFICATIONS & HELL'S KITCHEN REQUIREMENTS, CLIMATE CONTROLLED CUSTOM BUILT UNITS WITH MULTIPLE DOORS, WINE RACKS, GLASS WALL, REFRIGERATION/HUMIDTY UNITS, CHEF'S TABLE CELLAR & SEISMIC REQUIREMENTS TO INCLUDE ENGINEERING & PERMITTED PLANS FOR THESE UNITS INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO ALL LABOR, MATERIALS, AND EQUIPMENT TO COMPLETE. This is to be done in strict accordance with the contract documents as listed in Exhibit 'B'." Exhibit "D" to the contract further elaborated upon the scope of work Defendant contracted to perform.

The court finds this is a contract subject to the CSLL, and Defendant was required to have a contractor's state license to enter into this contract and perform the work it required, because the work described in the contract falls within the scope of Business and Professions Code section 7026. Mr. Pantalemon testified the contract does not accurately describe the work to be performed because Plaintiff did not understand how Defendant provides its product and services. That contention will be more fully addressed below in connection with Defendant's argument its work is exempt from Business and Professions Code section 7031 under section 7045. At this point, however, it is sufficient to note the contract Defendant undisputably signed controls and dictates whether a contractor's license was required. Moreover, the court credits the testimony of Hal Moorefield over Mr. Pantalemon as to what Plaintiff was contracting to obtain from Defendant.

The undisputed evidence also established Custom Wine Cellar at no time held a contractor's license (Exhibit 20), Steve Pantalemon at no time held a contractor's license (Exhibit 21), and Steven Pantalemon, dba Custom Wine Cellar, at no time held a contractor's license (Exhibit 22). Finally, the undisputed evidence established Plaintiff paid Defendant $230,400 on January 28, 2022, as a deposit on the work to be performed under the contract. (Exhibits 8, 9, 10.) Accordingly, the court finds the evidence establishes all the necessary elements for Plaintiff's claim for disgorgement under Business and Professions Code section 7031, subdivision (b), and Plaintiff is entitled to recover the full amount it paid to Defendant—i.e., $230,400.

Defendant makes several arguments as to why Business and Professions Code section 7031 does not apply in this case, but each of them lacks merit. First, Defendant contends Plaintiff made a mistake in preparing the contract and identifying with whom it was contracting, and therefore the contract should be reformed to state it is with the person or entity who holds the contractor's license identified in the contract, or at least the contract should be construed against Plaintiff. Specifically, Defendant contends the contract should have been with William Tassie dba Wine Cellar Designers Construction—i.e., the holder of license number 894458—rather than Custom Wine Cellar, and that Plaintiff cannot benefit from this error because it is the one who prepared the contract. Neither the evidence nor the law supports this argument.

Defendant's proposal for the project at issue was submitted to Plaintiff by Custom Wine Cellar. (Exhibit 3.) The proposal makes no mention of Wine Cellar Designers Construction or William Tassie. Based on Defendant's proposal, Plaintiff prepared the letter of intent with the name Custom Wine Cellar. Mr. Pantalemon signed the letter of intent as CEO without making any changes to the name of the entity with whom Plaintiff would contract. (Exhibit 4, p. 1.) Plaintiff then prepared the contract using the same name that was used on the proposal and letter of intent without any objection from Defendant, and indeed Mr. Pantalemon signed the contract on behalf of Custom Wine Cellar.

Defendant points to the certificates of insurance and W-9 forms Defendant submitted to Plaintiff after the letter of intent but before the contract (Exhibits 37, 39, 40) as evidence Plaintiff should have realized Custom Wine Cellar was not the proper entity. Specially, Defendant contends Plaintiff should have realized these documents did not identify Custom Wine Cellar, but rather, Wine Cellar Designers Group, LLC, and Wine Cellar Designers Construction, LLC, and therefore Plaintiff should have prepared the contract in the name of one of those entities. According to Defendant, Plaintiff's "compliance team" at least should have realized there was confusion about the party with whom Plaintiff was about to contract and they should have clarified things.

Defendant, however, fails to acknowledge that he never brought any of this to Plaintiff's attention. Defendant submitted the proposal under the name Custom Wine Cellar and that is the name Plaintiff used. Indeed, Plaintiff acknowledges it prepared the contract in the name of Custom Wine Cellar, but Defendant fails to acknowledge he signed the contract as the CEO of Custom Wine Cellar without raising any issue about the identity of the person or entity with whom Plaintiff was contracting. Mr. Pantalemon testified he has been in the business for over 20 years and has taken care over the course of his career to make sure he only submits bids and bills for products and services that do not require a contractor's license, and has a licensed contractor submit separate bids and bills for any installation work that requires a license. Moreover, Mr. Pantalemon certainly was aware of the significance of having a contractor's license as demonstrated by the citation he acknowledged receiving from the California Contractors State License Board in 2021 (i.e., before the events of this case) for contracting without a license. (Exhibit 53.) It was Defendant who should have brought it to Plaintiff's attention if the contract named the wrong person or entity; the obligation did not fall on what Defendant characterizes as Plaintiff's compliance team on the facts presented.

The court finds there was no mistake in the contract's preparation and there is no basis for construing the contract as anything other than what it says—i.e., the contract is between Plaintiff and Custom Wine Cellar. Mr. Pantalemon knew the importance of the contract being in the name of a licensed contractor, but nonetheless signed the contract on behalf of Custom Wine Cellar, a non-licensed entity.

Along a similar line, Defendant argues the use of a fictitious business name that slightly varies from the name of the contractor's license does not preclude the licensee's recovery under the contract. To support this argument, Defendant cites Ball v. Steadfast-BLK (2011) 196 Cal.App.4th 694 (Ball). Ball, however, is distinguishable and does not apply to the facts of this case.

In Ball, the plaintiff David E. Ball was licensed as the sole owner who did business under the fictitious name Clark Heating and Air Conditioning, but he sought to recover for work under a contract he entered into under the name Clark Air Conditioning & Heating. The trial court sustained a demurrer to the plaintiff's complaint seeking to recover on the contract because the party that contracted was not licensed. The Court of Appeal reversed, explaining as follows: "The trial court has confused the individual owner to whom the contractor's license was issued with the name under which the individual conducted his contracting business. Ball was licensed as a 'Sole Owner,' and not as a partnership or corporate entity, pursuant to the classification system of [Business and Professions Code] section 7065. The 'doing business as' name 'Clark Heating and Air Conditioning' was not an entity that could be licensed; rather it was the business name under which the individual licensee did business. Not only is Clark Heating and Air Conditioning not a distinct legal entity, it is not among the categories of individuals or entities defined by the Contractors' State License Law (CSLL), section 7000 et seq., to whom a contractor's license may issue. [Citations.]" (Ball, supra, 196 Cal.App.4th at p. 697.)

The Ball court further elaborated as follows: "The CSLB licenses 'individual owners, copartnerships, and corporations.' [Citation.] Ball received a license under the 'License Type' as a 'Sole Owner,' i.e., an individual owner. A sole owner is a sole proprietorship and a sole proprietorship is not a legal entity separate from its individual owner. [Citation.] As a sole proprietorship, Clark Heating and Air Conditioning does not, and cannot, hold a contractor's license independent from Ball. Not only is Clark Heating and Air Conditioning not a distinct legal entity, it is not among the categories of 'persons' defined by the CSLL to whom a contractor's license may issue. [Citations.] Thus, although the name 'Clark Heating and Air Conditioning' appears on the license, it is David Edward Ball, an individual, who is the licensee as the owner of Clark Heating and Air Conditioning. That license entitles him, as the owner of Clark Heating and Air Conditioning, to perform contracting work under the name Clark Heating and Air Conditioning. [Citation.] [¶] . . . 'Use of a fictitious business name does not create a separate legal entity' distinct from the person operating the business. [Citation.] '"The business name is a fiction, and so too is any implication that the business is a legal entity separate from its owner."' [Citation.] Thus, like Clark Heating and Air Conditioning, Clark Air Conditioning & Heating is legally indistinguishable from Ball. [Citation.] While Ball entered into the contracts as 'David E. Ball, dba Clark Air Conditioning & Heating,' Ball was the contracting party, and it is Ball who is entitled to pursue an action to collect for the work done pursuant to the contract." (Ball, supra, 196 Cal.App.4th at p. 701.)

Ball potentially would apply in this case if Mr. Pantalemon was licensed as the sole owner who did business under the name Wine Cellar Designers Construction, and he contracted using his license but contracted as Mr. Pantalemon doing business and Custom Wine Cellar. Those, however, are not the facts of this case. The contract is in the name of Custom Wine Cellar, and it is executed by Mr. Pantalemon—no dba or fictitious parties are identified. The evidence shows neither Mr. Pantalemon nor Custom Wine Cellar nor Mr. Pantalemon dba Custom Wine Cellar is a licensed contractor. (Exhibits 20, 21, 22.) The license number Mr. Pantalemon inserted on the contract—i.e., 894458—is in the name of William Tassie dba Wine Cellar Designers Construction and it is listed as a sole ownership type of license. (Exhibit 23.) There is no credible evidence Mr. Tassie, however, had any involvement in the matter. He clearly did not sign the contract, and only the licensee can sign. Moreover, although Mr. Pantalemon testified Mr. Tassie had some involvement in this matter, Mr. Moorefield testified he had no contact with Mr. Tassie and never even heard of him until this lawsuit. Mr. Tassie's name appears nowhere in any of the documents regarding this project. Mr. Pantalemon's testimony to the contrary is not credible and nonetheless is not relevant because Mr. Tassie did not contract with Plaintiff. As such, Ball does not apply here and provides Defendant no assistance.

Defendant next argues Mr. Pantalemon and Mr. Tassie formed an LLC named Wine Cellar Designers Construction, LLC of which they were both members, and so Mr. Pantalemon had the authority to contract on behalf of that LLC. This argument too does not help Defendant. The license is in the name of William Tassie dba Wine Cellar Designers Construction as a sole ownership license; it is not a license in the name of Wine Cellar Designers Construction, LLC. Mr. Pantalemon sought to testify the LLC applied to obtain a license, but he did not testify, and did not present any evidence showing, the LLC ever obtained a license or that he thought the LLC obtained a license. More importantly, the contract in this case is not in any form of the name Wine Cellar Designers Construction. Rather, as explained above, it is in the name of Custom Wine Cellar. To avoid Business and Professions Code section 7031, the contract must be in the name of the entity or person who holds the license. (Opp v. St. Paul Fire & Marine Ins. Co. (2007) 154 Cal.App.4th 71 (Opp).)

In Opp, the individual plaintiff, William Opp, held a California contractor's license. He also was president of Mountain Connection, Inc., a Montana corporation, that did not hold a California contractor's license. Mr. Opp, as president of Mountain Connection, Inc., entered into a building contract and inserted his individual contractor's license number on the contract. He later sued to enforce the contract, but the trial court granted summary judgment against him because the contract was entered into by Mountain Connection, Inc., and that corporation was not licensed. (Opp, supra, 154 Cal.App.4th at pp. 72-73.) The court of appeal affirmed that decision, explaining it did not matter Mr. Opp as an individual held a valid contractor's license because he did not contract as an individual. Rather, the contracting party was Mountain Connection, Inc.—an unlicensed corporation—and therefore Business and Professions Code section 7031 prevented the corporation from recovering on the contract, and Mr. Opp could not recover because he did not contract in his individual capacity. (Id. at pp. 74-76.)

Defendant also argues a license was not required because the contract at issue was exempt from the contractor license requirement under Business and Professions Code 7045, which states "This chapter does not apply to the sale or installation of any finished products, materials, or articles of merchandise that do not become a fixed part of the structure, nor shall it apply to a material supplier or manufacturer furnishing finished products, materials, or articles of merchandise who does not install or contract for the installation of those items." Defendant contends this case is analogous to Walker v. Thornsberry (1979) 97 Cal.App.3d 842 (Walker).)

In Walker, the plaintiff was a manufacturer of metal prefabricated restrooms that did not hold a contractor's license. The plaintiff contracted to furnish, assemble, and install one of its units upon a concrete foundation the defendant prepared. When the defendant did not pay, the plaintiff sued, and the defendant asserted plaintiff's claim was barred under Business and Professions Code section 7031. The trial court ruled a contractor's license was not required based on Business and Professions Code section 7045, and the appellate court agreed. (Walker, supra, 97 Cal.App.3d at pp. 843-844.)

The Walker court explained, implicit in the trial court's decision was a determination the prefabricated unit did not become a fixed part of the structure, and whether the goods installed become a fixed part of the structure is a question of fact. (Walker, supra, 97 Cal.App.3d at p. 847.) The Walker court determined the record supported the application of Business and Professions Code section 7045's exemption because "[t]he contract between [plaintiff] and defendant did not require [plaintiff] to undertake the installation of concrete foundation, rough plumbing, or installation of plumbing fixtures, stalls, wood roofing, and painting upon which to place the prefabricated restroom. [Plaintiff's] employees merely assembled the pieces and bolted the structure to the foundation. Their contribution of labor to the finished restroom was at most minor and incidental." (Id. at p. 848.)

Walker was distinguished and found inapplicable by the court in Banis Restaurant Design, Inc. v. Serrano (2005) 134 Cal.App.4th 1035, 1046 (Banis): "Here, in contrast, plaintiff's services involved more than incidental labor. The contract called for plaintiff to provide drawings for electrical, plumbing, and ceiling plans. Plaintiff was also to coordinate work with architects as well as structural, mechanical, and electrical engineers. The work plaintiff was hired to do cannot be compared with that in Walker."

Here, the court finds this case to be much more analogous to Banis than Walker, and Business and Professions Code section 7045 does not apply so as to exempt Defendant from the requirement of having a contractor's license. The contract in this case did not simply require Defendant to show up with a prefabricated unit, do some assembly, bolt it in place, and be done. Indeed, unlike in Walker, the evidence shows the parties' contract called for the wine coolers, especially the red wine cooler, to become a fixed part of the structure. As noted, that is a question of fact for this court to determine. (Walker, supra, 97 Cal.App.3d at p. 847.) Among other things, the evidence showed the contract required Defendant to specifically design the concept the project architect developed. Defendant had to do the design and engineering work to come up with functioning coolers. The contract called for Defendant to install glass walls, doors, climate controls, refrigeration and humidity units, and much more. Defendant had to comply with seismic requirement and many other things. Mr. Pantalemon's testimony that it would be a plug-and-play unit is not consistent with the contract. Indeed, he acknowledged as much by testifying the contract did not accurately describe his work, but the contract is what Defendant contracted to do. Moreover, the photos of the final product, which Mr. Pantalemon testified used a lot of his work, are not consistent with a plug-and-play unit that did not become a fixed part of the structure. Again, the court finds Business and Professions Code section 7045 does not exempt Defendant from the requirement of having a contractor's license.

Defendant also argues it substantially complied with the licensing requirements under Business and Professions Code section 7031, subdivision (e). Originally, in an effort to mitigate the harsh consequences of Business and Professions Code section 7031, subdivisions (a) and (b), the courts developed a substantial compliance doctrine to create exceptions to those provisions. The Legislature, however, amended section 7031 to override those decisions and strictly limit when a claim of substantial compliance may be asserted to avoid the forfeiture otherwise compelled by section 7031, subdivisions (a) and (b). Compliance with section 7031, subdivision (e), is now the exclusive means of avoiding forfeiture based on substantial compliance. (Judicial Council, supra, 239 Cal.App.4th at p. 896.)

Professions Code section 7031, subdivision (e), states as follows: "The judicial doctrine of substantial compliance shall not apply under this section where the person who engaged in the business or acted in the capacity of a contractor has never been a duly licensed contractor in this state. However, notwithstanding subdivision (b) of Section 143, the court may determine that there has been substantial compliance with licensure requirements under this section if it is shown at an evidentiary hearing that the person who engaged in the business or acted in the capacity of a contractor (1) had been duly licensed as a contractor in this state prior to the performance of the act or contract, (2) acted reasonably and in good faith to maintain proper licensure, and (3) acted promptly and in good faith to remedy the failure to comply with the licensure requirements upon learning of the failure."

Defendant does not meet these requirements. As stated above, the contracting party was Custom Wine Cellar, and it never has been licensed. Likewise, Mr. Pantalemon individually or doing business as Custom Wine Cellar never has been licensed. As such, the substantial compliance doctrine does not apply. Defendant may not rely on Mr. Tassie's license for all the reasons set forth above.

Finally, Defendant asserts a host of arguments as to why he should be able to retain at least a portion of the amount paid, including, but not limited to, Plaintiff terminated the contract for convenience, not for cause; Plaintiff did not raise any licensing issue until well after it terminated the contract; and Defendant performed work under the contract worth at least $98,000. All these arguments, however, are irrelevant under the authorities discussed above. Business and Professions Code section 7031, subdivision (b), is a strict liability statute that prevents an unlicensed contractor, such as Defendant, from retaining any of the money it received regardless of any equities that otherwise may come into play. (See, e.g., Judicial Council, supra, 239 Cal.App.4th at pp. 895-897.)

Based on the foregoing, the court finds for Plaintiff and against Defendant on the second cause of action for violation of CSLL and awards Plaintiff $230,400, i.e., the full amount Plaintiff paid to Defendant.

First Cause of Action (Intentional Misrepresentation)

On this cause of action, Plaintiff contends Defendant committed fraud by misrepresenting Defendant was licensed under license no. 894458, and thereby inducing Plaintiff to enter into the contract and pay Defendant the $230,400 deposit that Defendant had no right to keep (regardless of what work was performed) because Defendant was not licensed.

The elements of a claim for fraud based on intentional misrepresentation are set forth in CACI no. 1900: "1. That [name of defendant] represented to [name of plaintiff] that a fact was true; [¶] 2. That [name of defendant]'s representation was false; [¶] 3. That [name of defendant] knew that the representation was false when [he/she/nonbinary pronoun] made it, or that [he/she/nonbinary pronoun] made the representation recklessly and without regard for its truth; [¶] 4. That [name of defendant] intended that [name of plaintiff] rely on the representation; [¶] 5. That [name of plaintiff] reasonably relied on [name of defendant]'s representation; [¶] 6. That [name of plaintiff] was harmed; and [¶] 7. That [name of plaintiff]'s reliance on [name of defendant]'s representation was a substantial factor in causing [his/her/nonbinary pronoun/its] harm."

As explained, Defendant contracted with Plaintiff under the name Custom Wine Cellar. When signing the contract as Custom Wine Cellar's CEO, Mr. Pantalemon inserted in the signature block the contractor's state license number 894458. By inserting that license number in the contract, Mr. Pantalemon represented Custom Wine Cellar (or at least Mr. Pantalemon) was/were the contractor licensed under that number and entitled to do contractor work under that number. Defendant argues Mr. Pantalemon never told Mr. Moorefield or anyone else that either he or Custom Wine Cellar were licensed. That argument assumes the only way Defendant could have represented it was licensed was if Mr. Pantalemon orally made that statement to someone. That is incorrect. Inserting the number into the contract he executed as Custom Wine Cellar's CEO is a representation Custom Wine Cellar and/or Mr. Pantalemon are licensed under that license. Defendant also argues the certificates of insurance and other documents Defendant submitted to Plaintiff bearing names other than Custom Wine Cellar show Defendant did not represent Custom Wine Cellar and/or Pantalemon were licensed. Again, the court disagrees. Those documents do not change the facts, as the court finds them, that Mr. Pantalemon signed the contract as Custom Wine Cellar's CEO without changing the name or otherwise raising any issue, and in doing so he inserted this license number.

Defendant's representation about licensure was false. As explained above, license number 894458 was in the name of William Tassie dba Wine Cellar Designers Construction. That license is a Sole Owner license authorizing Mr. Tassie, and Mr. Tassie alone, to contract using that license. There is nothing showing Custom Wine Cellar was a fictitious name used by Mr. Tassie, and more importantly, Mr. Tassie is not the one who signed the contract. Defendant's arguments about Mr. Pantalemon forming Wine Cellar Designers Construction, LLC with Mr. Tassie do not change that Defendant represented either Custom Wine Cellar or Mr. Pantalemon were licensed under license no. 894458, and that representation was false.

The evidence also showed Defendant knew the representation was false when it was made. Indeed, Mr. Pantalemon testified about his practice for conducting business over the more than 20 years he has been in the industry. He explained he acted as the designer for the wine rooms and racks, he took care to design the products in a way that they could be installed by a separate contractor, he took care to submit bids and invoices for his services and products separate from the bids and services of any contractor, and he took care to ensure a contractor submitted the bids and bills for all work requiring a contractor's state license. Mr. Pantalemon testified he works with a large number of contractors who would sell and install his products. This testimony shows Mr. Pantalemon was aware of the requirement to have a contractor's license to bid, contract, bill, and collect for installing his wine rooms and racks, and that he did not have such a license. Why else would he allegedly structure his business this way?

Moreover, Mr. Pantalemon acknowledged he was cited and fined by the California State Contractor's Licensing Board in August 2021, for contracting without a license. (Exhibit 53.) He sought to explain the circumstances surrounding that incident and how it was an unusual circumstance for how he conducts his business. The significance of that citation, however, is not whether it arose from a unique set of circumstance. Rather, the significance of the citation is it shows he was well aware of the requirement and obligation to have a contractor's license when Defendant contracted with Plaintiff just a few months after the citation, and that Defendant did not have a license. Plaintiff seeks to emphasize this point by citing to a citation from the Nevada State Contractor's Board and the testimony by Mr. Lemore. Those events, however, postdate the contract between Plaintiff and Defendant, and the court has not found them to be significant.

Next, the evidence shows, or at least supports the inference, Defendant intended Plaintiff rely on the representation about licensure. The contract itself required Defendant to be licensed. (Exhibit 7, ¶22.) Moreover, as described above, the evidence shows Defendant was aware of the requirement to be licensed to contract for and perform the work described in the contract. The contract had blanks in the signature block for Defendant to insert the license number and its expiration date, and Mr. Pantalemon inserted that information. If he did not intend for Plaintiff to rely on the contractor's license number, why did Mr. Pantalemon insert it? He could have just left it blank.

The evidence also shows Plaintiff reasonably relied on Defendant's representation. Indeed, Mr. Moorefield testified he would never have signed the contract with Defendant if Defendant had not provided a contractor's license number and expiration date showing the contract was current. Plaintiff prepared the contract with the blanks for this information and included those blanks, not buried somewhere in the contract, but right at the signature block. In a perfect world, would Plaintiff have investigated to confirm the validity and the holder of that license? Yes. But no one presented any evidence or authority that required Plaintiff to do so, and the court finds it was reasonable for Plaintiff to rely on the representation of what it thought to be a fellow contractor. In reliance on the representation, not only did Plaintiff sign the contract with Defendant, Plaintiff also paid Defendant the $230,400 deposit.

Next, the evidence shows Plaintiff was harmed by its reliance on Defendant's false representation. As stated, Plaintiff paid Defendant the deposit. Under the governing law, Defendant had no right to collect, let alone retain the deposit. Nonetheless, over two and one-half years later, Defendant still retains the entire deposit Plaintiff paid. Defendant's argument it performed about $98,000 in services before Plaintiff terminated the contract, and that Plaintiff did not mention any licensure issue when terminating the contract, does not eliminate or reduce the harm. Defendant had no right to receive or retain any of the deposit. As explained above, Business and Professions Code section 7031 denies Defendant, as an unlicensed contractor, the right to receive or keep any payment.

Finally, the evidence shows Plaintiff's reliance on Defendant representation was a substantial factor in causing Plaintiff's harm. Again, Mr. Moorefield testified he never would have signed the contract and authorized the payment to Defendant if Mr. Pantalemon had not provided a contractor's license number on the contract or if he knew Defendant was unlicensed.

Based on the foregoing, the court finds the evidence presented establishes all the essential elements of Plaintiff's fraud claim, and Plaintiff is entitled to judgment against Defendant on the fraud claim. The evidence shows Plaintiff's damages are the full amount of the deposit—i.e., $230,000. No evidence was presented as to any other damages Plaintiff may have suffered based on Defendant's misrepresentations.

Punitive Damages

Plaintiff seeks punitive damages on both causes of action based on Plaintiff's claim Defendant engaged in the foregoing conduct with fraud. Plaintiff seeks $50,000 in punitive damages and presented Mr. Pantalemon's bankruptcy petition as evidence of his financial condition.

CACI no. 3940 explains the law on punitive damages to juries. In relevant part, it provides as follows:

"If you decide that [name of defendant]'s conduct caused [name of plaintiff] harm, you must decide whether that conduct justifies an award of punitive damages. The purposes of punitive damages are to punish a wrongdoer for the conduct that harmed the plaintiff and to discourage similar conduct in the future.

"You may award punitive damages only if [name of plaintiff] proves by clear and convincing evidence that [name of defendant] engaged in that conduct with malice, oppression, or fraud.

"'Fraud' means that [name of defendant] intentionally misrepresented or concealed a material fact and did so intending to harm [name of plaintiff].

"There is no fixed formula for determining the amount of punitive damages, and you are not required to award any punitive damages. . . ."

Although the court finds Defendant committed fraud as described above, the court does not find Plaintiff has shown by clear and convincing evidence Defendant committed that fraud with the intent to harm Plaintiff.

Moreover, our Supreme Court has long held a plaintiff has no entitlement to punitive damages even after establishing they would be permissible. The decision whether to grant or withhold punitive damages is wholly within the control of the fact finder. Indeed, as the Supreme Court explained in Ferguson v. Lieff, Cabraser, Heimann & Bernstein (2003) 30 Cal.4th 1037, "a jury's 'imposition of punitive damages is an expression of its moral condemnation.' [Citation.] . . . [A] plaintiff is not '"entitled, as of right"' to an award of punitive damages [citation], even if the jury finds the defendant 'guilty of oppression, fraud, or malice' [citation]." (Id. at pp. 1048-1049; see Brewer v. Second Baptist Church of Los Angeles (1948) 32 Cal.2d 791, 801 ["a plaintiff is never entitled as a matter of right to exemplary damages. [Citations.] . . . 'A plaintiff, upon establishing his case, is always entitled of right to compensatory damages. But even after establishing a case where punitive damages are permissible, he is never entitled to them. The granting or withholding of the award of punitive damages is wholly within the control of the jury . . . . Upon the clearest proof of malice in fact, it is still the exclusive province of the jury to say whether or not punitive damages shall be awarded. A plaintiff is entitled to such damages only after the jury, in the exercise of its untrammeled discretion, has made the award.'"].)

Accordingly, the court declines to award Plaintiff any punitive damages.

Conclusion

Based on the foregoing, the court finds Plaintiff is entitled to judgment against Defendant on both the first cause of action for intentional misrepresentation and the second cause of action for violation of contractor's state licensing law. Plaintiff is entitled to judgment in the total principal amount of $230,400. Any request for prejudgment interest, costs, or attorney fees shall be made by separate motion or memorandum to the extent appropriate. Plaintiff is ordered to serve and submit a proposed judgment.

The clerk is directed to serve a copy of this ruling on all parties and counsel of record.

Court Reporters: Official court reporters (i.e., court reporters employed by the court) are NOT typically provided for law and motion matters in this department. If a party desires a record of a law and motion proceeding, it is that party's responsibility to provide a court reporter, unless the party has a fee waiver and timely requests a court reporter in advance of the hearing (see link at end of this paragraph for further information). Parties must comply with the Court's policy on the use of privately retained court reporters, which may be found at the following link: Civil Court Reporter Pooling. For additional information regarding court reporter availability, please visit the court's website at Court Reporter Interpreter Services.

Tentative Rulings: The court endeavors to post tentative rulings on the court's website no later than 12:00 noon on the date of the afternoon hearing. Tentative rulings will be posted case by case on a rolling basis as they become available. Jury trials and other ongoing proceedings, however, may prevent the timely posting of tentative rulings, and a tentative ruling may not be posted in every case. Please do not call the department for tentative rulings if one has not been posted in your case. The court will not entertain a request to continue a hearing or any document filed after the court has posted a tentative ruling.

Submitting on Tentative Rulings: If all counsel intend to submit on the tentative ruling and do not desire oral argument, please advise the courtroom clerk or courtroom attendant by calling (657) 622-5223. Please do not call the department unless ALL parties submit on the tentative ruling. If all sides submit on the tentative ruling and advise the court, the tentative ruling shall become the court's final ruling and the prevailing party shall give notice of the ruling and prepare an order for the court's signature if appropriate under California Rules of Court, rule 3.1312.

Non-Appearances: If no one appears for the hearing and the court has not been notified that all parties submit on the tentative ruling, the court shall determine whether the matter is taken off calendar or the tentative ruling becomes the final ruling. The court also may make a different order at the hearing. (Lewis v. Fletcher Jones Motor Cars, Inc. (2012) 205 Cal.App.4th 436, 442, fn. 1.)

Appearances: Department C23 conducts non-evidentiary proceedings, such as law and motion hearings, remotely by Zoom videoconference pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 367.75 and Orange County Local Rule 375. Any party or attorney, however, may appear in person by coming to Department C23 at the Central Justice Center, located at 700 Civic Center Drive West in Santa Ana, California. All counsel and self-represented parties appearing in-person must check in with the courtroom clerk or courtroom attendant before the designated hearing time.

All counsel and self-represented parties appearing remotely must check-in online through the court's civil video appearance website at https://www.occourts.org/media-relations/civil.html before the designated hearing time. Once the online check-in is completed, participants will be prompted to join the courtroom's Zoom hearing session. Participants will initially be directed to a virtual waiting room pending the start of their specific video hearing. Check-in instructions and instructional video are available at https://www.occourts.org/media-relations/aci.html. The Court's "Appearance Procedures and Information--Civil Unlimited and Complex" and "Guidelines for Remote Appearances" also are available at https://www.occourts.org/media-relations/aci.html. Those procedures and guidelines will be strictly enforced.

Public Access: The courtroom remains open for all evidentiary and non-evidentiary proceedings. Members of the media or public may obtain access to law and motion hearings in this department by either coming to the department at the designated hearing time or contacting the courtroom clerk at (657) 622-5223 to obtain login information. For remote appearances by the media or public, please contact the courtroom clerk 24 hours in advance so as not to interrupt the hearings.

The specific reasons he now argues as the basis for the judgment being void were previously considered and rejected by the Court of Appeal. Accordingly, it is not simply that there was a prior appeal in this case that prevents Bereki from raising these challenges now. Rather, these challenges are precluded because the same challenges were previously raised and considered. Indeed, his current claims about the alleged punitive nature of Business and Professions Code section 7031, the lack of evidence, the lack of personal and/or subject matter jurisdiction, etc. were considered by the Court of Appeal and rejected. To the contrary, it is another motion to vacate the judgment in the very same case in which the judgment was entered, and in which a prior motion to vacate already was denied. Nonetheless, he has failed to show an independent action would allow a different result because res judicata bars not only the reopening of the original controversy, but also subsequent litigation of all issues which were or could have been raised in the original action. (Torrey Pines Bank v. Superior Court (1989) 216 Cal.App.3d 813, 821; Gates v. Superior Court (1986) 178 Cal.App.3d 301, 311.) Tentative Ruling posted on the Internet.

Hearing held, participants appearing remotely and in person.

The Court hears oral argument.

The Court confirms the tentative ruling as follows:

Before the court is the "Motion to Vacate Void Judgment" filed by cross-defendant Adam Bereki (Bereki) on May 28, 2025. As set forth below, the motion is DENIED.

This is the second "Motion to Vacate Void Judgment" Bereki has filed in this action. Bereki filed the first motion to vacate on February 19, 2019, shortly after the Court of Appeal issued its remittitur on its opinion affirming the judgment Bereki seeks to set aside as void. In denying that prior motion, the court (Judge Di Cesare) ruled, "The arguments presented on this motion were already raised and rejected, and the appellate decision affirming the underlying judgment on the merits is now final. Upon remittitur, the trial court is revested with jurisdiction of the case only to carry out the judgment as ordered by the appellate court. (People v. Dutra (2006) 145 Cal.App.4th 1359, 1365-1366.) Arguments on the merits of the underlying judgment cannot be entertained anew here. The Motion is therefore Denied." (Mar. 15, 2019 Minute Order.)

This prohibition on raising challenges to the trial court judgment and Court of Appeal decision applies not only to challenges or arguments that previously were presented in those proceedings and rejected by the Court of Appeal, but also to any other challenges or arguments that could have been presented at that time. (Torrey Pines Bank v. Superior Court (1989) 216 Cal.App.3d 813, 821, citing Gates v. Superior Court (1986) 178 Cal.App.3d 301, 311 ["Res judicata bars 'not only the reopening of the original

Bereki attempts to avoid that conclusion in a couple ways. First, he argues a void judgment can be challenged at any time, and neither law of the case, res judicata, nor any other doctrine prevents a void judgment from being challenged because its void. Assuming he is correct, there is an important distinction here. The specific reasons he now argues as the basis for the judgment being void were previously considered and rejected by the Court of Appeal. Accordingly, it is not simply that there was a prior appeal in this case that prevents Bereki from raising these challenges now. Rather, these challenges are precluded because the same challenges were previously raised and considered. Indeed, his current claims about the alleged punitive nature of Business and Professions Code section 7031, the lack of evidence, the lack of personal and/or subject matter jurisdiction, etc. were considered by the Court of Appeal and rejected. In the current motion, Bereki acknowledges he raised these issues, and says the Court of Appeal either did not sufficiently consider them or got them wrong. This court cannot find the judgment void based on a ground the Court of Appeal already considered and rejected.

Second, Bereki characterizes this motion, at least in the reply, as an "independent action in equity." This, however, is not an independent action in equity. To the contrary, it is another motion to vacate the judgment in the very same case in which the judgment was entered, and in which a prior motion to vacate already was denied. Nonetheless, he has failed to show an independent action would allow a different result because res judicata bars not only the reopening of the original controversy, but also subsequent litigation of all issues which were or could have been raised in the original action. (Torrey Pines Bank v. Superior Court (1989) 216 Cal.App.3d 813, 821; Gates v. Superior Court (1986) 178 Cal.App.3d 301, 311.) Bereki has failed to show any arguments presented in this motion were not and could not have been presented in the prior proceedings. Bereki's citation to Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Construction Co. (2020) 53 Cal.App.5th 1201, 1212, and Liu v. SEC (2020) 591 U.S. 71, 79, do not change that result.

The court acknowledges Bereki's argument regarding fraud on the court, but the fraud argument is just a repackaging of the arguments the Court of Appeal already has rejected, i.e., his arguments about the punitive nature of section 7031, the lack of evidence, the lack of jurisdiction and the other arguments relating to those assertions.

As Bereki acknowledges, his arguments have not only been rejected by the Court of Appeal on his appeal from the judgment in this case, but also by the California Supreme Court in its denial of his petition for review, the United States Supreme Court in its denial of his petition for certiorari, the United States District Court in his unsuccessful separate lawsuit, and the Ninth Circuit in his appeal from the District Court's ruling.

In conclusion, having reviewed and considered Bereki's papers in connection with the present motion, Bereki has presented nothing to convince the court that it either can set aside the judgment, or assuming it could, that the court should set aside the judgment. Accordingly, the motion is DENIED.

Bereki's Request for Judicial Notice is GRANTED as to the existence of and legal effects of the various court records identified in the request (i.e., Exhibit 1-12), but otherwise DENIED as not relevant in context here.

Bereki's request to offer testimony by calling attorney William G. Bissell, counsel for cross-complainants Karen Humphreys and Gary Humphreys (collectively, Humphreys), at the hearing is DENIED. Law and motion matters such as Bereki's motion to vacate are customarily decided on the papers with evidence being presented through declarations, requests for judicial notice, and other similar means. Trial courts, however, do have discretion to consider oral testimony. (Rosenthal v. Great Western Financial Security Corp. (1996) 14 Cal.4th 394, 414.) Indeed, trial courts have the discretion to receive or not receive oral testimony on law and motion matters based on their determination whether oral testimony would be necessary or helpful in deciding the matter. (Reifler v. Superior Court (1974) 39 Cal.App.3d 479, 485.) Here, the trial court declines to exercise its discretion to receive oral testimony and therefore denies Bereki's request because the court finds it is neither necessary nor helpful based on the foregoing analysis of the issues presented.

Finally, the Humphreys' request for unspecified monetary sanctions is DENIED. That ruling, however, is without prejudice to any future request for sanctions and/or to a motion to deem Bereki a vexatious litigant if Bereki continues to repeatedly assert the same challenges to the judgment.

The Humphreys' counsel is ordered to give notice of this ruling.

After the Court issued its ruling, the moving party made an oral request to disqualify the judicial officer pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 170.1. The Court denied the request as untimely and procedurally improper, without prejudice to the moving party properly filing a written 170.1 motion in the future.

IT IS ORDERED: A discharge under 11 U.S.C. § 727 is granted to:

Adam Alan Bereki

[include all names used by each debtor, including trade names, within the 8 years prior to the filing of the petition]

Debtor 1 Discharge Date: 3/27/23

Dated: 3/27/23

By the court: Scott C Clarkson
United States Bankruptcy Judge

Explanation of Bankruptcy Discharge in a Chapter 7 Case

This order does not close or dismiss the case, and it does not determine how much money, if any, the trustee will pay creditors.

Creditors cannot collect discharged debts
This order means that no one may make any attempt to collect a discharged debt from the debtors personally. For example, creditors cannot sue, garnish wages, assert a deficiency, or otherwise try to collect from the debtors personally on discharged debts. Creditors cannot contact the debtors by mail, phone, or otherwise in any attempt to collect the debt personally. Creditors who violate this order can be required to pay debtors damages and attorney's fees.

However, a creditor with a lien may enforce a claim against the debtors' property subject to that lien unless the lien was avoided or eliminated. For example, a creditor may have the right to foreclose a home mortgage or repossess an automobile.

This order does not prevent debtors from paying any debt voluntarily or from paying reaffirmed debts according to the reaffirmation agreement. 11 U.S.C. § 524(c), (f).

Most debts are discharged
Most debts are covered by the discharge, but not all. Generally, a discharge removes the debtors' personal liability for debts owed before the debtors' bankruptcy case was filed.

Also, if this case began under a different chapter of the Bankruptcy Code and was later converted to chapter 7, debts owed before the conversion are discharged.

In a case involving community property: Special rules protect certain community property owned by the debtor's spouse, even if that spouse did not file a bankruptcy case.

32/AUTU

For more information, see page 2 >

Some debts are not discharged
Examples of debts that are not discharged are:

- ♦ debts that are domestic support obligations;
- ♦ debts for most student loans;
- ♦ debts for most taxes;
- ♦ debts that the bankruptcy court has decided or will decide are not discharged in this bankruptcy case;
- ♦ debts for most fines, penalties, forfeitures, or criminal restitution obligations;
- ♦ some debts which the debtors did not properly list;
- ♦ debts for certain types of loans owed to pension, profit sharing, stock bonus, or retirement plans; and
- ♦ debts for death or personal injury caused by operating a vehicle while intoxicated.

Also, debts covered by a valid reaffirmation agreement are not discharged.

In addition, this discharge does not stop creditors from collecting from anyone else who is also liable on the debt, such as an insurance company or a person who cosigned or guaranteed a loan.

This information is only a general summary of the bankruptcy discharge; some exceptions exist. Because the law is complicated, you should consult an attorney to determine the exact effect of the discharge in this case.

5. A discharge was ordered on March 27, 2023. (Dkt. 32).

Memorandum of Law

6. Property of the estate may be abandoned under §554 of the Bankruptcy Code if property of the estate is "burdensome to the estate or of inconsequential value and benefit to the estate." See 11 U.S.C. § 554(a)–(b); FRBP Rule 6007(b).

7. Upon request of a party in interest, the court may issue an order that the trustee abandon property of the estate if the statutory standards for abandonment are fulfilled. The movant bears the burden of proof. In re Pilz Compact Disc., Inc., 229 B.R. 630 (Bankr. E.D. Pa. 1999).

8. "In order to approve a motion to abandon property, the bankruptcy court must find either that (1) the property is burdensome to the estate or (2) of inconsequential value and inconsequential benefit to the estate." In re Viet Vu, 245 B.R. 644, 647 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2000) (citing 11 U.S.C. § 554(b) and Morgan v. K.C. Mach. & Tool Co. (In re K.C. Mach. & Tool Co.), 816 F.2d 238, 245 (6th Cir.1987)). Further, inconsequential value and inconsequential benefit are two separate elements that must both be satisfied. In re K.C. Mach. & Tool Co. 816 F.2d at 245. "Of inconsequential value and inconsequential benefit to the estate" refers to assets not likely to be liquidated for the benefit of creditors. 11 U.S.C. § 704(a)(1). Of inconsequential value and benefit to the estate includes assets that (1) have no equity (including post-petition appreciation), In re Viet Vu, 245 B.R. 644 (9th Cir. BAP 2000); and (2) assets with equity, which has been wholly and properly exempted by the debtor. In re Montanaro, 307 B.R. 194 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2004).

1. Abandonment of Interest in Real Property

9. Petitioner is a Party in Interest. On the date this case was filed, he claimed a legal interest in the real property located at the at 818 Spirit, Costa Mesa, California ("property" or "Spirit Property"). Dkt. 1, Dkt. 15. The value of the property was declared to be $1,142,000 while his equitable interest was declared to be $0. (Dkt. 1). Petitioner also claimed a $600,000 exemption pursuant to Cal. Code of Civil Proc. §704.730. Dkt.1.

10. Initially, Petitioner listed the following three claims against the Spirit property as secured, albeit with certain exceptions stated in his Declaration, (Dkt. 15): 1) 1st Mortgage, Citibank N.A, $457,693.71; 2) Line of Credit, Citizens Bank N.A., $36,396.75; and 3) Judgment Lien, $848,000. For reasons stated in his pleadings and Declarations, each of these claims was subsequently changed to unsecured and disputed. See e.g. Dkt's. 18 and 99 and Declaration of Adam Bereki. (Petitioner's categorization of these claims as "unsecured" was, and continues to be, based on the definition of unsecured being that either the claim does not exist, or if it does, is not secured by property. As a result, there would also not be a secured claim the bankruptcy context of the term "secured" as defined by 11 U.S.C. §506).

11. As of the time of the filing of this Motion, the Trustee has taken no known action to determinate the nature, extent, or validity of any of these disputed claims, or any other claims Petitioner requests be abandoned herein.

12. Neither the Trustee nor any purported creditor or other party has made an objections to any of Petitioners Schedules, including the Third Amended Schedules filed on 11/3/23.

13. No purported creditor in the case has filed a Proof of Claim.

14. To the extent these claims are valid, their value is estimated to be: $1,309,390.46. This amount is $167,390.46 beyond the declared value of the property (excluding any allowable post-judgment interest for Claim 3 for at least seven years, estimated to be in excess of $800,000).

15. On or about 4/24/23, Petitioner filed a Motion to Avoid Lien under 11 U.S.C. 522(f)– to avoid the purported Judgement lien (Claim 3 above). Judge Clarkson granted Petitioner's Motion on 6/15/23 because the lien impaired his claimed $600,000 exemption. Dkt. 89.

16. Based on the foregoing, Petitioner asserts the property is "of inconsequential value and benefit to the estate" because there is no equity in the property. (Of inconsequential value and benefit to the estate includes assets that have no equity. In re Viet Vu, 245 B.R. 644 (9th Cir. BAP 2000)). Additionally, Petitioner only holds legal title to the property and therefore no equity became property of the estate. See 11 U.S.C. §541(d) "Property in which the debtor holds, as of the commencement of the case, only legal title and not an equitable interest, such as a mortgage secured by real property, [...] becomes property of the estate under subsection (a)(1) or (2) of this section only to the extent of the debtor's legal title to such property, but not to the extent of any equitable interest in such property that the debtor does not hold." To the extent any equity in the property is considered property of the estate, Petitioner disputes this summary and arbitrary finding.

17. To the extent Claim 1 is invalid and not secured by the property, the amount of Claim 1 could be property of the estate as equity in the Spirit property. However, absent substantial litigation and a judicial determination of the rights of the parties with respect to this disputed claim, there is no way to truthfully determine its validity and whether it became property of the estate or not. As previously alleged, the Bankruptcy Trustee has not taken any action to determine the validity or extent of this disputed claim. Petitioner attempted to do so by commencing an adversary proceeding and was told he lacked standing. His case was dismissed with prejudice. See case no. 8:23-AP-01075-SC.

18. Petitioner therefore requests Judge Clarkson issue an Order compelling the Bankruptcy Trustee to abandon all interest in the Spirit property because it is of inconsequential value and inconsequential benefit to the estate.

2. Abandonment of Property in Complex Lawsuit Claims

19. Petitioner is a party in interest. On Schedule A/B, he listed his interest in lawsuit claims that had yet to be commenced, amounting to more than $50 million dollars. Dkt's. 1 (Original Sched.) 18 (1st Amend. Sched.); 95 (2nd Amend. Sched.); 99 (3rd Amend. Sched.), 4th Amend. Sched. filed on or about 10/18/24. See especially the Declarations of Adam Bereki attached as a continuation of Sch.A/B to the 1st-4th Amend. Sched. itemizing the lawsuit claims.

20. The relevant portion of the most recent Declaration states "Paragraph 33 of Schedule A/B includes the expected compensation and/or all other forms of legal, equitable, or lawful relief from a lawsuit of all conceivable legal and equitable claims for deprivations of my rights to life, liberty, property, privacy, and security (and all other Constitutionally protected rights not listed) based upon the deprivation of these rights as described in U.S. Supreme Court case 22A426. In an effort to be more specific about the claims listed in ¶33, the following is a list of causes of action currently known but not limited to: deprivation of all protected rights secured by the California and U.S.

Constitutions including any claims which could be made pursuant to 42 U.S.C. §1983, §1985, §1986, §1994; malicious prosecution; false imprisonment; trespass, denial of a judicial determination of rights; intentional infliction of emotional distress; negligence; fraud; violation of public official duties; wrongful foreclosure; excessive, cruel, and unusual punishment; involuntary servitude; invasion of privacy, damage to reputation and business, deprivation of a representative form of State and National government; theft; robbery; extortion; obstruction of justice; treason; Civil RICO; violations of due process; any conceivably related claims under the Cal. Gov't Tort Claims Act and Federal Tort Claims Act; deprivation of a republican form of State and National government (ie with required checks and balances and separation of powers); denial of the inalienable rights to life, liberty, property, and privacy; conspiracy; conspiracy to violate rights; [...]. These claims include all conceivable forms of legal and equitable relief as allowed by law including compensatory damages, damages for personal injury and/or emotional distress, damages to business and reputation and punitive damages and also include interest, attorney's fees and expert fees and fees for my time and labor in the forensic investigation and prosecution of these claims."

21. To realize the value of this assets there would likely be extensive costly litigation. The estate does not possess any assets to pay any creditors, let alone to commence highly complex litigation.

22. In her Report of No Distribution, the Bankruptcy Trustee declared that she had "made a diligent inquiry into the financial affairs of the debtor(s) and the location of the property belonging to the estate; and that there is no property available for distribution from the estate over and above that exempted by law." She has also taken no known action to commence prosecution of these claims.

23. Based on the foregoing, Petitioner asserts the lawsuit claims are "of inconsequential value and benefit to the estate" and requests Judge Clarkson issue an Order compelling the Bankruptcy Trustee to abandon all interests therein.

Judge: -- versus (ph) Humphries (ph) case number 2015. It's 00805807. Could we please have the appearances?

Bereki: Uh, Adam Bereki, Your Honor, on behalf of myself. Adam Bereki, Your Honor, on behalf of myself.

Judge: And one other appearance?

Bereki: If you're think- -- looking at the, uh, the Pringa (ph), Your Honor, that's -- that's someone with me. He's just here as a, uh, observer.

Judge: All right. Then, uh, if -- if we have no other, uh, appearances at this time, so -- now this application was, uh, filed by, uh, you, Mr. Bereki and it has an entirely new, uh, caption, uh, that our case that it, again, was filed in is the Spartan Associates, Inc. vs. Humphries case, which is the 2015. Uh, the caption states, "This application is, uh, related to the unlawful detainer action that was recently filed, which is case number 2025-01459684, and the title of, uh, unlawful detainer action is -- I believe it's Hou, H-O-U, vs., uh, Bereki. And, again, although it states that it's, uh, related there has been no determination of relatedness and no notice of related case had, uh, (inaudible - 0:01:41). Uh, now this application is, uh, 189 pages long and purports to combine a number of different, uh, documents, uh, into one, uh, document and, uh, some of them apply to, uh - uh, sale, uh, foreclosure process that recently, uh, completed, and then it also, uh, uh, attacks, uh, the constitutionality of, uh, multiple, uh, statutes. Uh, so the minutes from today will reflect that this document is not being treated as an answer in the UD (ph) action. It was not filed in a case. It's not being treated as a complaint to start a new case. So it will need to be filed as a separate, independent document, and in the proper case, not in this 2015 case. Any answer, any sort of response in pleading, any sort of re- -- response to the complaint in the UD (ph) action has to file in that action, not in this case, and any new claims, uh, any new lawsuit, uh, any collateral attack on the 2015 judgment, that needs to be filed as a, um, separate lawsuit, getting the summons paid and additional fees, or getting the fee waiver and going through all that process for initiating a, uh, new, uh, lawsuit. So, again, this will not be -- this application should not be construed and treated as either, uh, the, uh, answer to the UD action or the, uh, uh, new complaint. What this is being treated as and, uh, ruled upon as, is the ex parte application can stay, the unlawful detainer action, and the related -- I guess we'll call it motion to vacate the judgment in the 2015 case.

Uh, now treated as such, uh, the, uh, application will be denied. The underlying argument is that, uh, or -- and everything being sought is that the underlying judgment is void for a number of reasons, including that it was, uh, entered in, uh, based upon, or an action that was essentially criminal or penal in nature imposing punishment against you, Mr. Bereki, without providing the constitutional protections that, uh, are, uh, applicable in, uh, criminal proceedings. That, uh, same basic argument has been, uh, made multiple times, uh, and rejected in a number of different courts, including the court of appeal case in this, uh, the Ledruh (ph) called the objection (ph) in the 2015, uh, case. Uh, indeed the court of appeal rejected these, uh, challenges and I am, uh, bound by those determinations at law of the case. Now I understand the contention that a void judgment, uh, can be challenged at any time, but that doesn't allow me to ignore specific rulings that the court of appeal made in this case. Moreover, uh, the 473(d) voidness argument requires a, um, the voidness, uh, to appear on the face of record. I don't think that appears in this case. Uh, there are a number of other, uh, problems with the argument. And then there's also not a sufficient showing for the, uh, granting (ph) the ex parte relief, setting aside any judgment at this, uh, point in time. Uh, regarding (ph) a -- a hearing earlier set (ph) in the UD action yet, uh, so there is not, uh, that, uh, justification for ex parte relief. So for those and, uh, uh, uh, other reasons, uh, the Court is going to deny the present ex parte application, uh, to the U -- (inaudible - 0:07:07) file the UD action, filing a new lawsuit, filing a notice motion, uh, with, uh, proper, uh, notice and service on it (inaudible - 0:07:15). Uh, so that is, uh, where the Court stands, uh, at this point in time, sir.

Bereki: Okay. Can I speak?

Judge: Yes, you may.

Bereki: Uh, my question for you is, having exhausted all of the -- the remedies that I have in the case that I've presented to the Court, where does the Court recommend that I go now to obtain, uh, uh -- if I can't basically challenge this judgment as, uh, you're saying, where do I go to overrule this, to overrule it? Because it's -- it's completely void.

Judge: Well, two things. First of all, I can't provide you with legal advice, I can't for any party, (inaudible - 0:07:54) with, uh, legal advice in that regard. But, uh, if you're -- there is truly some due basis you can make your collateral attack, or file your motion, and that will be ruled on the merits. I can't guarantee the outcome of that. But at some point there is finality to matters as well. I understand you're, uh, vehement, and are in disagreement with the many different rulings that have been made. I under- -- uh, I -- I fully understand, uh, your position on that. But, uh, at some point in time thing do become final. But -- and then you have the -- the -- the unlawful detainer action to, uh -- you have every right to participate in that one and see wherever -- whether you can assert whatever claims defense (ph) in that case. Uh, they're -- the Court is, uh, not able to pre- -- you know, bar you from filing a, uh, properly noted (ph) motion or another, uh, lawsuit if that's the -- the pathway that you, uh, wish to follow. Um, but in terms of granting any of this on an ex parte relief I don't, uh, see that being a basis that I -- I have -- I -- I -- I'm not yet convinced, uh, of the merits, uh, even if it was on a notice -- but that doesn't (ph) prevent a notice motion. Uh -- uh, that's --

Bereki: Okay, so did I --

Judge: -- (inaudible - 0:09:07).

Bereki: I'm sorry -- did I understand you to say that basically the Court's ruling is going to be the same if I, uh -- I know you said that they're being treated differently, but, uh, what will be the difference, so to speak, if I file that motion to vacate in the, so to speak, proper procedure that -- that you're saying, versus, uh, this -- the ex parte action?

Judge: Well, it may well be the same. I can't (inaudible - 0:09:32), you know, it depends. I have to see that, see if they comply with everything and what they're showing but I -- I have serious concerns and doubts that, uh, it, uh, would be successful, but I can't give an advisory (inaudible - 0:09:44), you know, I can't rule on something that isn't properly before me at this point in time. So, uh, it would -- I can't say it with 110 percent certainty, but I can say that there is very strong likelihood the outcome would be the same.

Bereki: Okay, thank you for that. So my earlier question was where do I go, because, uh, I've tried collateral attacks, I've tried direct attacks, I've tried habeas petitions and absolutely there is no remedy that I have, if -- if -- if what I am saying is taken to be true, wha- -- and -- and you said, uh, that you can't give me legal advice. Well, there has to be some forum, in California or the United States, to -- to, uh, actually be heard. And if the court lacked jurisdiction and it was a void judgment in the first instance and on appeal, um, I -- like I said, I've exhausted every known remedy that I have. Wh- -- where is the fair forum to be actually heard?

Judge: Well, uh, I -- you've been provided with one. Y- -- you disagree with the forum but you've been provided with the forum on multiple -- at multiple levels. So I don't understand your -- like I said, I understand that you vehemently disagree with the rulings that have been made in the case. But that does not mean that you were not provided with a forum. It's just that, you know, you, uh, disagree with the outcomes in those forums.

Bereki: Well, and ap- -- apparently so does, um, our own courts of appeal here, with their recent ruling in the Eisenberg (ph) cases, saying it's a penalty. The U.S. Supreme Court in Lou v. SEC saying that disgorgement only applies to profits, and there were no profits in my case. I mean this isn't just me coming up with a -- with a hypothetical about why I think something's wrong. This is -- this is evidence from -- from other courts and, I mean our entire constitutional history shows that -- that everything I'm saying here is legit.

Judge: I -- again, I understand and, like I said, I -- you -- I cannot say 100 percent what any ruling would be on a future request, uh, and it will -- everything will be considered on its merits. But there -- again, I cannot tell you exactly what to file or how to file or where to file, but, uh --

Bereki: So in -- in essence, what I understand -- and you can correct me, of course, if I'm wrong, is that, um, I -- I filed several different things on the same, uh, document. I indicated that there was a related case, that it was, uh -- that this ex parte hearing was related to, and that essentially, because those procedural, uh, requirements weren't, uh, followed, um, that the -- the Court is putting, uh, form over substance in not recognizing any of those.

Judge: That's not -- listen, I said -- I just pointed out there are a number of problems with the forum, but I've also said that there is not a sufficient showing to justify ex parte relief, setting aside those s- -- uh, procedural, uh, circumstances. And on the current papers I have not been (inaudible - 0:12:36) on the merits of the argument. So it's not just simply form over substance, sir.

Bereki: Okay, I didn't hear you say that putting those things aside that that was the case. So your ruling -- you're saying that the law of case doctrine, essentially, is what it -- you're using to, um, basically deny relief here?

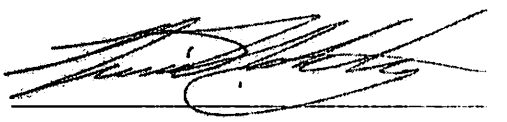
Judge: Well I -- I've explained everything as much as I can here today at this point, sir. So, uh, the -- the Court has (inaudible - 0:12:59) ruling. You can (inaudible - 0:13:00) whatever filings you deem appropriate in the UD action or an independent one. But I've (inaudible - 0:13:05) --

Bereki: Okay.

Judge: -- today.

Bereki: My -- my ultimate question is wh- -- where do I go for relief?

Judge: Well, again, I cannot provide you with any further, uh, uh, uh -- any legal advisement. I can't provide any further guidance than I already have (inaudible - 0:13:18). I'm sorry.



Bereki: Okay. All right.

Judge: Thank you. Best of luck to you.

Judge: All right, then, good morning. It looks like we're all connected up. We will, uh, the matter for ex parte calendar here this morning in the matter of The Spartan Associates, Inc. vs. Karen Humphries, et al. If we could have the appearances, please?

Bereki: Uh, uh, Judge it's Adam Bereki appearing on behalf of myself. And then there's a friend of mine, Pier Prenga, he's the other person that's here. And, um, before we get started I'd like to ask if the Court can, uh, re- -- record the proceedings, or allow me to, so that I can preserve this, uh, record on appeal.

Judge: Um, no, the Court cannot do a recording of the matter, and it is, uh, not permissible to record court proceedings, uh, online like this. So they're -- uh, in connection with this there is -- you may, uh, with a fee waiver you may request a court reporter but it, uh -- you need to request that in advance and there is a form that must be filed with the court to request, uh, a, uh, court reporter. So, um, that is something that you may have and obtain but, uh, it needs to be properly and timely requested, uh, for, uh, there to be. But uh, y- -- I, uh -- a party with a fee waiver may request a court reporter. There's a -- a -- a court form to fill out that needs to be filed in advance, uh, and it needs to be, uh -- the request needs to be made in connection with each hearing. There can't be a blanket one that -- for all -- for in perpetuity, uh, have a court reporter. And just like p- -- re- -- parties with a fee waiver in a, uh, unlimited civil matter is on th- -- they're to have a certified court reporter, uh, to the extent that they would like a court exporter. That's, uh, you know, the unfortunate reality of the, uh, resources, uh, that, uh, the court is lacking, uh, at this time. So that's where we --

Bereki: I understand.

Judge: -- stand on that.

Bereki: Um, it's -- from what I understand, other departments, uh, just make a recording of the Zoom proceedings and that those can used on appeal. Is that incorrect?

Judge: Uh, in certain -- in, um, certain limited matters and certain case types, uh, it is statutorily authorized. It is not authorized and permitted in, uh, this type of proceeding.

Bereki: Okay. Thank you for clarifying that.

Judge: Uh, it's not a -- it's a -- yeah, it depends on the case type.

Bereki: Okay.

Judge: And the -- and it's unfortunately some of the statutes are out -- out of date with current reality, but the statutes are the statutes, w- -- uh, (inaudible - 0:07:11).

Bereki: Okay. So the statute says it's not allowed in -- in ex parte proceeding for this?

Judge: In -- in civil, uh -- in -- in unlimited civil matters, yeah, the -- the audio recording is not permitted.

Bereki: Okay. Thank you.

Judge: Uh, so yes, we do have the ex parte to, uh, uh, vacate the, uh, Court's ruling on a ex parte from a couple months ago and to set aside the, uh, judgment, uh, in this case and make other orders relating to the unlawful detainer, uh, matter as well. Uh, this application, uh, will be denied. Uh, the, uh, challenges to the judgment will be, uh, heard on their merits in connection with the hearing that we sent yesterday, that it will be your opportunity to, uh, provide your briefing and have, uh, the ruling on those matters. Um, there's -- first of all, I think there's a number of inaccuracies in these, uh, papers. There was not simply a one-word, uh, ruling on your ex parte back in the -- March. There was a discussion about that, and indeed, you, uh, purport to paraphrase or quote various things that were made. The minutes are not a verbatim record of the proceedings, they are a summary of the proceedings to document, uh, the actions and outcomes. They are not a verbatim, uh, record of that. So I don't think that that is an accurate thing. As I indicated, the process for obtaining a court reporter, there is a request that needs to be, uh, provided, uh, but there was, uh, a -- a number of, uh, explanations that were provided. Uh, I understand you may disagree with some of them and think our -- things are inaccurate and we'll get to the merits of those at the, uh, hearing that we scheduled, uh, yesterday. Uh, but I guess I'll also note for the record that statutorily many, uh, ex partes may be decided, uh, in chambers, uh, uh, that, for many things, that -- that a court hearing is not required on an ex parte matter. But the Court is, uh, endeavored to, uh, provide, uh, the explanation, uh, back in March with that. Uh, so this -- I don't see that there's a adequate showing to, uh, justify this, and we'll decide it in that hearing that we scheduled yesterday.

Bereki: Okay. May I respond?

Judge: You may.

Bereki: Okay. Um, I do understand your point about addressing the issues about whether the judgment is void, and I understand that we can address that at the hearing.

But, um, neither the ruling on the 18th, nor anything today, addresses the substantive issues pertaining to, um, staying the UD proceedings, uh, pending resolution of those issues because there I did demonstrate, uh, irreparable harm and imminent injury, and the Court has not, uh, addressed those substantive issues, either at the last hearing or this hearing. And, um, I also have additional, um, information. I don't know if you reviewed the, um, the ex parte that I filed in the UD case as well as the motion to vacate. Did you review that?

Judge: The ex parte that you filed the U- -- that's a separate case, assigned to a separate judge. So I have not seen an ex parte in a UD -- in the UD case.

Bereki: Okay, so are you aware of the issues, um, that I presented in this ex parte, pertaining to the, uh, the -- the, um, attorney in the UD case, he failed to notify me of the default judgment, the request for default. Uh, I believe the Court violated due process by, uh, uh -- awarding the default the next day, even though the attorney served it by mail and I did not get five days. Um, and I -- I was required to have five days' notice and I didn't get that. And then I appeared at the court the next day, after the ex parte, on March 19th to file an answer, based on the corrections that you gave me in the hearing. And the clerk rejected it because it claimed, um, that the default had already been filed, that I was never given notice of. So essentially I've never, um, been allowed to answer. So I filed a, uh, UD, or a -- a ex parte application for a TRO stay and a motion to vacate in the, uh, UD case yesterday, and the judge, uh, de- -- uh, denied it basically, uh, again, refusing to address any of my substantive issues pertaining to, uh, the void -- the potential void judgment in this case. The, uh, uh, forthcoming imminent adversary proceeding of -- of the judgment violating the discharge order and being a fraudulent transfer. Um, and so, I -- I -- the due process just continues to be denied and -- and I'm trying to do my best to resolve this and to do so within court procedures by, you know, dotting every I and crossing every T to the best of my ability, and it just seems like at every turn, um, there's just another violation of due process that I'm not being heard.

Judge: All right, well I'm -- I'm sorry that you feel that way. In -- in terms of the UD, that -- it all needs to be addressed in the UD department. That is -- I can't order another judge at the trial court level to make a decision or, uh, take a -- a specific action.

That's -- the UD action that is pending in that case. What I can rule upon is the -- your challenges to the judgment. In this case we have set the hearing for that and it'll be addressed at that time.

Bereki: I -- I appreciate that. But what I'm -- I'm -- I'm reporting to you is that there's ongoing due process violations by the court itself, and those -- I'm not asking you to give me an appeal of that judge's orders. What I'm saying is that there's -- there's further irreparable harm, an injury continuing, and that -- that's what I'm --

Judge: Yes, (inaudible - 0:12:50) --

Bereki: -- hear right now for.

Judge: -- yes, well that's not the -- in the -- the analysis, sir. It's a much great- -- uh, the -- much greater, uh -- there's, uh, multi-fa- -- multiple factors that go into granting an ex parte relief. That, in and of itself, is not the sole, uh, factor. So, uh --

Bereki: Oh, okay.

Judge: -- again, the Court's made its ruling here today, uh - -

Bereki: Can -- can you give me the --

Judge: -- and so --

Bereki: -- substantive reasons of why?

Judge: Okay, sir, I -- I -- the Court has made its ruling

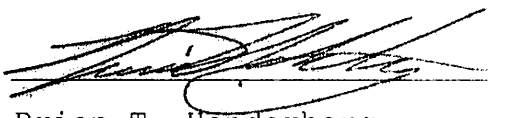
here today. S- -- so we will have that hearing for you on the date that we set yesterday on the merits of your challenge to the judgment.

Bereki: Okay, may I ask one more question?

Judge: Y- -- you may ask one more question, yes, sir.

Bereki: Okay. Um, I hear you, what you're saying, but again, I -- I had not heard any substantive, um, reasoning for you on addressing the issues of irreparable harm and imminent injury, and I need to have those issues addressed so that I can raise them on appeal.

Judge: Yeah, as I just indicated, there are multiple factors. Just, uh, showing what you believe to be irreparable harm does not justify ex parte relief. That is one of many considerations that go into ex parte relief. So thank you very much --



Bereki: Can --

Judge: -- sir, that wi- -- we will conclude the hearing here for today and we will speak again with the next filing. Thank you very much. Have a good day, sir.

INTRODUCTION

This action arises out of a home remodel project which began in April of 2012 on two units of a three unit condominium located in the Lido Isle community of Newport Beach, California. The project consisted of combining what at the time, were two separate small adjoining units into a single unit. The respondents Gary Humphreys and Karen Humphreys (the Humphreys) were the husband and wife owners of the two units and appellant Adam Bereki (Mr. Bereki) was the contractor with whom the Humphreys contracted to perform the work.

From the beginning, work on the project did not progress smoothly and was shut down on at least two separate occasions by the City of Newport Beach for lack of having the required building permits for the work that was being performed. In August of 2013, a year and a half into the project, with the work once again at a city ordered standstill and the project far from completed, the Humphreys terminated Mr. Bereki and hired another contractor to finish their project.

This action was initiated by The Spartan Associates, Inc. (Spartan), a corporation wholly owned by Mr. Bereki and the alleged general contractor on the project, to recover from the Humphreys amounts Spartan claimed it was owed on an open book account and for work, labor and/or materials provided to the project.

The Humphreys cross-complained against Mr. Bereki, for disgorgement under California Business & Professions Code §7031(b) of the compensation paid by them; against Mr. Bereki and Spartan for damages for negligence and fraud and against the sureties on Spartan's contractor's license bonds for recovery on the bonds. The basis of the cross-complaint was the alleged unlicensed status of Mr. Bereki at the time the work was performed, negligence on the part of Mr. Bereki in the manner in which he performed the work and fraud in surreptitiously charging the Humphreys over $100,000 for personal expenses and other items which the Humphreys alleged were not chargeable to them under their agreement with Mr. Bereki.

On motion of the Humphreys, which was unopposed, and was heard by the Trial Court on March 24,2017, the first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint, for disgorgement of compensation paid, was ordered severed, to be tried separate from and prior to the remaining causes set forth in that pleading. The trial on the severed first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint commenced on March 27, 2017 and concluded on March 28, 2017. At the conclusion of the presentation of evidence which consisted of both the testimony of witnesses and the introduction of documents, the Trial Court found that Mr. Bereki was the party who had contracted with the Humphreys, that the work performed by and under Mr. Bereki required that he possess a license issued by the California State Contractor's License Board and that at no time, either at the time the contract was entered into or when the work was performed, did Mr. Bereki possess such a license. The Trial Court ruled that the Humphreys were the prevailing party on the first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint and as such were entitled to recover from Mr. Bereki all compensation paid by the Humphreys during Mr. Bereki's involvement on the project.

Attempting to comprehend and distill the many, and varied arguments raised by Mr. Bereki in his opening brief, it appears that the gist of his position can be found in the brief's conclusion where he contends the Trial Court committed reversible error in applying section 7031 of the Business and Professions Code to him and ordering disgorgement of the compensation paid by the Humphreys.

Because the Trial Court's actions were necessary, proper and in accordance with the law, Respondents request that the Trial Court's judgement be affirmed.

II.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The chronology of this case relevant to the pending appeal of the Trial Court's judgment is as follows:

On August 21, 2015 The Spartan Associates Inc. filed its complaint in this matter against the Humphreys alleging the common counts of goods sold and services rendered and open book account, [Clerks Transcript -Vol. 1–Pg. 49-52]. The Clerks Transcript is hereafter referred to as "CT".

On October 13, 2015 the Humphreys filed their answer to the complaint generally denying the material allegations of that pleading and alleging twenty separate affirmative defenses [CT- Vol. 1 Pg. 64-72]. At the same time, the Humphreys filed their cross-complaint in the action against Adam Bereki, The Spartan Associates, Inc. and Suretec Insurance Company alleging causes of action for negligence, fraud, alter ego, penalty for violation of Business & Professions Code §7160 and recovery against contractor's license bond [CT- Vol. 1- Pg. 73-93].

On November 16, 2015 The Spartan Associates, Inc. and Mr. Bereki filed their joint answer to the Humphreys cross-complaint, generally denying all of the material allegations in that pleading and alleging twenty separate affirmative defenses [CT- Vol. 1 Pg. 99-105].

On December 14, 2016, a substitution of attorney was filed in the matter whereby attorney J. Scott Russo, who had been representing both The Spartan Associates, Inc. and Mr. Bereki, substituted out as Mr. Bereki's attorney and remained as attorney of record for The Spartan Associates, Inc. Mr. Bereki at that point undertook his own representation. [CT- Vol. 3- Pg 738]

On February 2, 2016, the Humphreys filed an amendment to their cross-complaint naming Old Republic Surety Company to reflect the true name of the cross-defendant sued under the fictitious name Roe 16 as a cross-defendant in the Humphreys cause of action for recovery against contractor's license bond. [CT- Vol. 1- Pg. 206-207].

By motion filed on December 5, 2016 [CT- Vol. 3 – Pg. 704-736] the Humphreys sought leave of the Trial Court to amend their cross-complaint to add an additional cause of action against Mr. Bereki for disgorgement of funds pursuant to Business & Professions Code §7130. The motion for leave to amend was unopposed and the Trial Court, at the hearing on the motion held on January 6, 2017, granted the Humphreys leave to file their amended cross-complaint [CT- Vol. 3- Pg742-743]. The amended cross-complaint was filed on January 6, 2017 [CT- Vol. 3- Pg. 744-764] and was responded to jointly by The Spartan Associates, Inc. and Mr. Bereki on February 10, 2017, again by way of a general denial and the reassertion of the same previously plead affirmative defenses [CT- Vol. 3- Pg. 822-829].

On motion of the Humphreys, which was unopposed, and heard by the Trial Court on March 24,2017, the first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint, for disgorgement of compensation paid, was ordered severed, to be tried separate from and prior to the remaining causes set forth in that pleading [CT- Vol. 4- Pg. 904-905].

The trial on the amended cross-complaint's severed first cause of action for disgorgement commenced on March 27, 2017 in Department C-20 of the Orange County Superior Court before the Honorable David Chaffee, all parties being present and having waived a jury [CT-Vol. 4 -Pg. 929-931], and was concluded on March 28, 2017 [CT- Vol. 4 – Pg. 950-952]. At the conclusion of the presentation of evidence consisting of both the testimony of witnesses and the introduction of documentary evidence, and after argument of counsel, the Trial Court ruled as follows:

> "Having fully considered the arguments of all parties, both written and oral, as well as the evidence presented, the Court finds and determines that Mr. Adam Bereki is the contractor and he does not possess contractor's license. The Court finds judgment for the Cross Complainants Gary and Karen Humphreys (First Cause of Action, for disgorgement of funds paid) and against cross-defendant Adam Bereki." [CT- Vol. 4-Pg 950-951].

The Trial Court, after an offer of proof by plaintiff's counsel on plaintiff's complaint, further found judgment for the Humphreys on the complaint of The Spartan Associates, Inc. [CT- Vol. 4- Pg. 950-951]

With the Trial Court having ruled in their favor on both the complaint and the first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint, and pursuant to an oral stipulation of the parties placed on the record, the Humphreys dismissed the remaining causes of action in their cross-action, without prejudice and subject to a stipulated waiver of the statute of limitations should it become necessary to re-file an action on the dismissed causes of action [CT- Vol. 4 – Pg. 950-951].

Judgment on the complaint and on the amended cross-complaint was entered by the Trial Court on April 20, 2017 [CT- Vol. 4- Pg. 1005-1006], and notice of entry of judgment was served by the Humphreys on The Spartan Associates, Inc. and on all cross-defendants including Appellant on April 24, 2017 [CT-Vol. 4- Pg. 1017-1021].

On June 13, 2017 appellant Adam Bereki filed his notice of appeal from the judgment of the court [CT- Vol. 4- Pg. 1074] and notice thereof was given by the clerk of the Trial Court on the same date [CT- Vol. 4- Pg. 1075].

On June 30, 2017, Mr. Bereki filed his Appellant's Notice Designating Record on Appeal designating the Trial Court's file in this action in its entirety to comprise the Clerk's Transcript on appeal and electing to proceed without a reporter's transcript [CT- Vol. 4 – Pg. 1127-1135].

On December 13, 2017, Mr. Bereki filed a motion to augment the Record on Appeal by adding to the previously filed Clerk's Transcript, an additional 382 pages of post-trial filings in the Trial Court [CT- Vol. 4- Pg. 1151-1533] and the Reporter's Transcript of the trial of this matter on March 27 and March 28, 2017. The Reporter's Transcript is hereafter referred to as "RT".

On January 3, 2018 the Court of Appeal ruled on Appellant's motion to augment the record by granting the motion as it pertained to the inclusion of the Reporter's Transcript of the trial proceedings and denying the motion as it pertained to the attempt to include in the Clerk's Transcript the 385 pages of post-trial proceedings.

STATEMENT OF APPEALABILITY

To the extent this appeal is from the judgment of the Orange County Superior Court entered in this matter, it is authorized by the Code of Civil Procedure Section 904.1 subdivision (a) (1). As to other matters, such as post trial proceedings, which Appellant has attempted to include in this appeal, no notice of appeal of such has been filed [CT Vol 4 -Pg. 1074] and therefore such matters are not an appropriate subject of this appeal.

IV.

ARGUMENT

1. NO FALSE OR MISLEADING STATEMENT WAS MADE TO THE TRIAL COURT

A. New Issues Generally Will Not Be Considered

Appellate courts generally will not consider new issues or theories of law that a party raises for the first time on appeal. Bikkina v. Mahadevan (2015) 241 Cal. App. 4th 70, 92–93. To do so would unfairly deprive the trial court and the opposing parties of their opportunity to decide the issue, Bermudez v. Ciolek (2015) 237 Cal. App. 4th 1311, 1323. When a case is on appeal the parties are bound to the evidence produced in the trial court, and parties opposing or responding to the appeal cannot fairly be expected to disprove factual contentions that were not presented at trial, Strasberg v. Odessey Group, Inc. (1996) 51 Cal. App. 4th 906, 920. Both Mr. Bereki and the attorney for The Spartan Associates sat through the trial of this matter and both had the opportunity to cross-examine the Humphreys regarding any statement made by them in any prior pleadings or papers filed with the court. The Humphreys would have then had the opportunity to give their testimony on such examination and the Trial Court would have had the opportunity to weigh any conflicting evidence or testimony. Neither Mr. Bereki nor counsel for the Spartan Associates however chose to bring up or question the Humphreys regarding their motion for summary judgment. To allow Mr. Bereki to raise these issues for the first time now would unfairly deprive the trial court and the Humphreys of the opportunity to address the issue and offer evidence to refute Mr. Bereki's claim.

B. Standard of Review

Determining whether statements made during trial were misleading is a factual determination to which the substantial evidence standard is applied. Under this standard great deference is given either to the trier of fact and will generally affirm a factual conclusion made by the trier of fact so long as it is supported by substantial evidence in the record, Nestle v. City of Santa Monica (1972) 6 Cal. 3d 920,925.

C. The Record Proves Appellant's Argument to be False

If the Court were nonetheless inclined to take Mr. Bereki's argument of false and misleading statements made at trial under consideration, the record puts a lie to that argument. Mr. Bereki argues that facts asserted by the Humphreys in their motion for summary judgment filed in this matter [CT -Vol. 1- Pg. 231-300] contradict facts to which they testified at trial and as a consequence a fraud was perpetrated on the court. Specifically, Mr. Bereki claims that the Humphreys asserted in their motion that they had contracted with The Spartan Associates, Inc. while testifying at trial that they had contracted with Mr. Bereki individually. In so arguing, Mr. Bereki misrepresents to this Court what in fact the Humphreys stated in their motion.

As opposed to Mr. Bereki's representation that the Humphreys, in their motion for summary judgment, acknowledged that they had contracted with The Spartan Associates and not Adam Bereki, the moving papers filed by the Humphreys actually state:

"In April of 2012, my wife and I entered into an oral agreement with Adam Bereki for remodeling work to be performed by Mr. Bereki on our 436 Via Lido Nord Newport Beach condominium unit. Although I was initially under the impression that our agreement was with Mr. Bereki individually, we were later requested by Mr. Bereki to make our checks for progress payments payable to the The Spartan Associates, Inc." Declaration of Gary Humphreys [CT - Vol.1 – Pg. 251 Line 15 -19]

"In April of 2012, my husband and I entered into an oral agreement with Adam Bereki for remodeling work to be performed by Mr. Bereki on our 436 Via Lido Nord Newport Beach condominium unit. Although I was initially under the impression that our agreement was with Mr. Bereki individually, we were later requested by Mr. Bereki to make our checks for progress payments payable to the The Spartan Associates, Inc." Declaration of Karen Humphreys [CT - Vol.1 – Pg. 273 Line 15 -19].

Clearly, the above declarations of fact of the Humphreys in support of their motion for summary judgment are consistent with the position adopted and the testimony given by the Humphreys at trial to the effect that they believed they were contracting with Mr. Bereki and his partner individually to perform the work on their condominium [RT-Vol-1-Pg 33, L-18 to Pg. 34, L- 2] [RT-Vol-1 – Pg. 84, L6-8].

2. THE TRIAL COURT'S APPLICATION OF BUSINESS & PROFESSIONS CODE §7031 TO THE FACTS OF THIS CASE WAS CORRECT.

A. Appellant has Waived His Right to Attack the Judgment on Constitutional Grounds.

Mr. Bereki attacks the both the validity and the trial court's application of Business & Professions Code §7031 in this matter, on various misapplied legal grounds, relying primarily on foreign and inapplicable authority. In doing so, Mr. Bereki is again raising issues for the first time on appeal that were neither brought up nor mentioned at the time of trial. Taking this issue under consideration at this stage would unfairly deprive the trial court and the Humphreys of the opportunity to address the issue and offer evidence to refute Mr. Bereki's claim and under the authority of Bikkina v. Mahadevan Supra at 241 Cal. App. 4th pg. 92–93 and Bermudez v. Ciolek Supra at 237 Cal. App. 4th 1323 this Court should decline to undertake the consideration of this issue.

Further, as a general rule, as with most other issues, a constitutional issue in a civil case must be raised at the earliest opportunity or it will be deemed waived. Needelman v. DeWolf Realty Co., Inc. (2015) 239 Cal. App. 4th 750, 763. As the court stated in, People v. Harrison (2013) 57 Cal. 4th 1211, 1229 "No procedural principle is more familiar to this Court than that a constitutional right,' or a right of any other sort, 'may be forfeited in criminal as well as civil cases by the failure to make timely assertion of the right before a tribunal having jurisdiction to determine it."

Beyond the policy of fairness expressed in Bikkina v. Mahadevan Supra and Bermudez v. Ciolek Supra, Mr. Bereki's failure to have raised, at the trial of this matter, the issues he now argues concerning the validity and application of Business & Professions Code §7031 amounts to a waiver of those issues.

B. Standard of Review

In the event the Court determines that the issue of the validity and application of Business & Professions Code §7031 by the trial court in this matter has not been waived by Mr. Bereki's failure to raise the issue at trial and is appropriate for its review in this matter, determining whether Business & Professions Code §7031 was a constitutionally valid law is a matter for de novo review. Determining whether there was a sufficient showing made at trial for the trial court to base its judgment on that code section is a factual determination to which the substantial evidence standard is applied, requiring that deference be given to the trial court and the factual conclusions made by the trier of fact so long as they are supported by substantial evidence in the record, Nestle v. City of Santa Monica Supra at 6 Cal. 3d 925.

C. Business & Professions Code §7031 (b) is an Appropriate and Valid Exercise of the State's Police Powers.

The U.S. Constitution, Amend. X reads as follows: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people." These are referred to as the states police powers. The police power is an exercise of the sovereign right of the government to protect the lives, health, morals, comfort, and general welfare of the people Keystone Bituminous Coal Ass'n v. DeBenedictis (1987) 480 U.S. 470, 503. In the civil context, the police power is the power of sovereignty or power to govern, i.e., the inherent reserved power of the state to subject individual rights to reasonable regulation for the general welfare, Sinclair Paint Co. v. State Bd. of Equalization (1997) 15 Cal. 4th 866, 878 (superseded by statute on other grounds).

The validity of Business & Professions Code §7031 (b) as a proper exercise of the State's inherent police power to regulate the contracting industry for the benefit of the public, has been upheld by the California Supreme Court in Hydrotech Systems, Ltd. v. Oasis Waterpark, 52 Cal. 3d 988, 995 (1991) in which it was held;

"Section 7031 represents a legislative determination that the importance of deterring unlicensed persons from engaging in the contracting business outweighs any harshness

between the parties, and that such deterrence can best be realized by denying violators the right to maintain any action for compensation in the courts of this state. [Citations Omitted]."

The 2001 amendment to Business and Professions Code §7031 (b) adding the "sword" element to subsection (b) of the statute was addressed by this Court's District One in Alatriste v. Cesar's Exterior Designs, Inc. (2010, 4th Dist.) 183 Cal App 4th 656, 665-666 in which the Court stated;

". .In 2001, the Legislature amended section 7031 to add a sword remedy to the hiring party's litigation arsenal. This sword remedy, contained in section 7031(b), currently reads: 'Except as provided in subdivision (e), a person who utilizes the services of an unlicensed contractor may bring an action in any court of competent jurisdiction in this state to recover all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor for performance of any act or contract.' By adding this remedy, the Legislature sought to further section 7031(a)'s policy of deterring violations of licensing requirements by 'allow[ing] persons who utilize unlicensed contractors to recover compensation paid to the contractor for performing unlicensed work...This measure is intended to clearly state that those using the services of unlicensed contractors are entitled to bring an action for recovery of compensation paid...

7031(b) was designed to treat persons who have utilized unlicensed contractors consistently, regardless of whether they have paid the contractor for the unlicensed work. In short, those who have not paid are protected from being sued for payment and those who have paid may recover all compensation delivered..."

D. The Elements of the Action

The elements of an action for disgorgement of compensation paid, brought under Business & Professions Code §7031 are:

1. A person engaged in the business or acting in the capacity of a contractor performing a contract where a license is required - Business & Professions Code §7031 (a);

2. Failure by that person to be duly licensed at all times during the performance of that contract - Business & Professions Code §7031 (a); and

3. Compensation paid to the contractor by the person utilizing the contractor's services - Business & Professions Code §7031 (b).

E. Evidence Supporting Judgment.

Each of the elements of a claim for disgorgement under Business & Professions Code §7031 were established at trial.

1. Appellant was Acting in the Capacity of a Contractor in Both Contracting to Perform and in Performing the Work on the Respondent's Condominium Unit.

Business & Professions Code §7026 defines "Contractor" for the purpose of division 3, chapter 9 of the code as "... any person who undertakes to or offers to undertake to, or purports to have the capacity to undertake to, or submits a bid to, or does himself or herself or by or through others, construct, alter, repair, add to, subtract from, improve, move, wreck or demolish any building... other structure, project, development or improvement, or to do any part thereof..."

Business & Professions Code §7025(b) defines "Person", as the term is used in division 3, chapter 9 of the code, as including "an individual, a firm, partnership, corporation, limited liability company, association or other organization, or any combination thereof."

Despite Mr Bereki's contorted and strained argument to the contrary, there is simply no rational or logical basis for the proposition that Business & Professions Code §7031 does not apply to individuals.

There was ample uncontroverted evidence, both testimony and documentary, at trial establishing that the work undertaken by Mr. Bereki for the Humphreys involved alteration, repair and improvement of their condominium unit. Exhibit 303, the April 5, 2012 emails between Mr. Bereki and the Humphreys describes the scope of the project at the time the agreement was entered into. [RT- Vol-1-Pg 33, L-18 to Pg. 34, L- 2]; [RT- Vol-1-Pg 82, L-6 to Pg. 83, L-19]. Mr. Bereki's own testimony establishes that the work involved in the Humphreys project fell within the scope of Business & Professions Code §7026 [RT- Vol-1-Pg 113, L-5-22] [RT-Vol-1-Pg 141, L-8-16], [RT-Vol-1-Pg 146. L-1-10].

Without citing to anything in the record to support it, Mr. Bereki argues that the trial court erred in finding that it was he and not Spartan Associates, Inc. who contracted with the Humphreys and therefore wrongfully applied the disgorgement provision of Business & Professions Code §7031 to him personally. In making this assertion Mr. Bereki ignores the nearly overwhelming evidence which came in at trial on that issue and which supported the trial court's finding that the contract in issue was entered into between the Humphreys and Mr. Bereki individually. [RT-Vol-2-Pg. 28, L-8-13].

Examples of the evidence in support of the trial court's finding are:

Both Mr. and Mrs Humphreys testified that they believed (based on Exhibit 303) that they were hiring Mr. Bereki and his partner to perform the work described in the exhibit- [RT-Vol-1-Pg. 33, L-18 to Pg 34, L- 2], [RT-Vol-1-Pg. 84, L-3- 8];

Before the April 5, 2012 agreement, Exhibit 303, was entered into, Mr. Bereki never mentioned The Spartan Associates, Inc. to the Humphreys and the Humphreys had never heard of The Spartan Associates, Inc. [RT-Vol-1—Pg. 39, L-13-23], [RT-Vol-1-Pg. 84, L-3- 8].

There is no mention of The Spartan Associates, Inc. in the April 5, 2012 agreement between the parties Exhibit 303 [RT-Vol-1-Pg. 39, L-24-26];

Mr. Bereki initially requested that the Humphreys checks in payment for the work on the project be made payable to him personally Exhibit 305 [RT Vol-1- Pg. 41, L-11 to Pg. 42, L- 2].

The Humphreys first heard of Spartan Associates only after several months into the project when Mr. Bereki asked that they start making payments to Spartan Associates [RT-Vol-1- Pg. 42, L-7-25]; [RT-Vol-I-Pg. 85, L-25 to PG 86. L-17].

The Humphreys were never presented with any proposal or contract from The Spartan Associates [RT-Vol-1-Pg 86, L- 18-21.]

Job correspondence from Mr. Bereki to the Humphreys, was without exception, sent on his personal email account even though The Spartan Associates had its own email account [RT-Vol-1- Pg. 110, L- 9-18].

Mr, Bereki paid job costs and expenses from his personal account [RT-Vol-1-Pg 122, L-12 to Pg. 123, L-6] Exhibit 355.

In contrast to the above, there is virtually nothing in the record other than Mr. Bereki's unsubstantiated testimony that it was the Spartan Associates and not he that entered into the April 5, 2012 agreement with the Humphreys.

2. Appellant was Unlicensed Both at the Time He Contracted with the Respondents and at the Time He Performed Work Under that Contract.

That Mr. Bereki was not licensed either at the time the April 5, 2012 agreement with the Humphreys was entered into or at the time he performed work on the project is evidenced by his own express admission of lack of holding a license. [RT-Pg. 123, L-7-14]. Although admitting that he had no license issued to him in his name, Mr. Bereki argues that because he was allegedly the qualifying individual for The Spartan Associates contractor's license (an alleged fact not established at trial) his failure to hold a license in his own name is a matter of no harm no foul. This argument finds no support however in Business & Professions Code §7028.5, which holds "It is unlawful for a person who is or has been a partner, officer, director, manager, responsible managing employee, responsible managing member, responsible managing manager, or responsible managing officer of, or an individual who is listed in the personnel of record of, a licensed partnership, corporation, limited liability company, firm, association or other organization to individually engage in the business or individually act in the capacity of a contractor within this state without having a license in good standing to so engage or act."

The Humphreys paid Mr. Bereki a total of $848,000.00 for the work he ostensibly performed on their project. Exhibit 32-4to17, [RT-Pg. 85, L-7-21], [RT-Pg. 89, L-20 to Pg. 90, L-26], [Appellants Opening Brief Pg. 22].

Mr. Bereki, while conceding that the compensation was paid, argues that a portion of that compensation were checks from Mr. Humphreys corporation and that therefore the Humphreys had no standing to pursue recovery of those payments. The trial court in its findings held: "So the evidence shows here the payments that were made through Humphreys & Associates

Incorporated's bank account were essentially debited against Mr. Humphrey's compensation, effectively making the payments directly from Mr. Humphreys..." [RT-Vol-2-Pg, 24 to Pg. 21, L-2]

The evidence to which the trial court was referring above is the testimony given by Mr. Humphreys to the effect that all payments made to Mr. Bereki on Humphreys & Associates, Inc. checks were debited against his compensation and was nothing more than an accommodation to him by his employer for times when Mr. Bereki stated that he needed a payment to keep the job moving and Mr. Humphreys was physically unavailable to make the payment personally. [ RT-Vol-1-Pg, 158, L-16 to Pg. 162, L- 15]. There was no evidence or testimony which controverted Mr. Humphreys testimony in this regard.

And lastly on this point, Mr. Bereki argues that he should be entitled to a credit for or offset against any disgorgement, the value of any materials or equipment he provided to the Humphreys. This argument however was put to rest in Alatriste v. Cesar's Exterior Designs, Inc. Supra 183 Cal App 4th at 672 in which the Court citing White v. Cridlebaugh (2009) 178 Cal.App.4th 506, 517 held "...the authorization of recovery of 'all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor for performance of any act or contract' [citation] means that unlicensed contractors are required to return all compensation received without reductions or offsets for the value of material or services provided.' (citation) The court reasoned that this 'interpretation ... is consistent with the usual meaning of the word 'all,' which signifies the whole number and does not admit of an exception or exclusion not specified. [Citation.] In short, 'all compensation paid' does not mean all compensation less reductions for offsets."

3. APPELLANT HAS FAILED TO PERFECT RIGHTS TO APPEAL MATTER OCCURRING POST JUDGMENT.

Included in Mr. Bereki's opening brief are arguments to overturn the results of a number of various and sundry post trial proceedings he had filed in the trial court. Specifically, Mr. Bereki seeks to compel different results to the trial court's ruling on his post-trial Writ of Error, Demand for Bill of Particulars, Motion to Compel Bill of Particulars and Request for Statement of Decision. [AOB- Pg. 59]. Mr. Bereki has however failed identify in his notice of appeal [CT - Vol-4 Pg. 1074] any of the above post judgment orders as being the subject of his appeal. California Rule of Court 8.100 (a) (2) provides that the notice of appeal "...is sufficient if it identifies the particular judgment or order being appealed." The notice submitted by Mr. Bereki makes no such identification and therefore is insufficient as to the post judgment matters Mr. Bereki now seeks to have determined.

The one exception to the bar prohibiting Mr. Bereki from raising, in this appeal, post judgment orders not identified in his notice of appeal, is the question of the trial court's jurisdiction over the matter. While lack of subject matter jurisdiction can be raised at any time, even for the first time on appeal DeTomaso v. Pan American World Airways, Inc. (1987) 43 Cal. 3d 517, 520 there is simply no basis in fact which in any supports Mr. Bereki's claim of lack of jurisdiction.

As to the question of the trial court's jurisdiction over the subject matter of this case, Cal Const., Art. VI § 10 states in pertinent part "The Supreme Court, courts of appeal, superior courts, and their judges have original jurisdiction in habeas corpus proceedings. Those courts also have original jurisdiction in proceedings for extraordinary relief in the nature of mandamus, certiorari, and prohibition. The appellate division of the superior court has original jurisdiction in proceedings for extraordinary relief in the nature of mandamus, certiorari, and prohibition directed to the superior court in causes subject to its appellate jurisdiction.

Superior courts have original jurisdiction in all other causes...."

"The superior court is a court having jurisdiction in all civil actions and proceedings, with stated exceptions, and it is a court of general jurisdiction....". Richardson v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County (Cal. App. 1934), 138 Cal. App. 389,391.

In that this case is not one involving matters reserved for the Supreme Court, courts of appeal or the appellate division of the superior court, the superior court was the appropriate court to adjudicate the issues raised in the matter and had jurisdiction over the subject matter of the case.

As for personal jurisdiction over Mr. Bereki, Cal Code Civ. Proc § 410.50 states "(a) Except as otherwise provided by statute, the court in which an action is pending has jurisdiction over a party from the time summons is served on him as provided by Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 413.10). A general appearance by a party is equivalent to personal service of summons on such party."

An appearance for any purpose other than to question the jurisdiction of the court is general. Pfeiffer v. Ash (Cal. App. 1949), 92 Cal. App. 2d 102, 104. Mr. Bereki by substituting in as his own attorney in this matter in propria persona [CT-Vol 3- Pg. 738], filing his answer to the Humphrey's cross-complaint seeking a determination of the issues [CT-Vol 3- Pg. 822-829] and appearing at and presenting his case in defense at the trial of this matter [CT-Vol 4- Pg. 929], made a general appearance giving the trial court personal jurisdiction over him

V.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth above it is contended that Appellant's appeal is without merit and it is therefore respectfully requested that the judgement of the Trial Court be affirmed and that Respondents be awarded their costs on appeal, the amount of which to be determined by the Trial Court upon application made after remand of this case.

Defendants/Cross-Complainants/Judgment Creditors Gary Humphreys and Karen Humphreys in opposition to the motion of Cross-Defendant/Judgment Debtor Adam Bereki to vacate the judgement entered in this matter submits the following memorandum of points and authorities.

I.

INTRODUCTION

This action arises out of a home remodel project which began in April of 2012 in Newport Beach, California. The parties opposing this motion, Gary Humphreys and Karen Humphreys (the Humphreys) were the husband and wife owners of the property to be remodeled and the moving party Adam Bereki (Mr. Bereki) was the contractor with whom the Humphreys contracted to perform the work.

From the beginning, work on the project did not progress smoothly and was "red tagged" i.e. shut down on at least two separate occasions by the City of Newport Beach. In August of 2013, a year and a half into the project, with the work once again at a city ordered standstill and the project far from completed, the Humphreys terminated Mr. Bereki and hired another contractor to finish their project.

This action was initiated by The Spartan Associates, Inc. (Spartan), a corporation wholly owned by Mr. Bereki and the alleged general contractor on the project, to recover from the Humphreys amounts Spartan claimed it was owed by the Humphreys.

The Humphreys filed an amended cross-complaint, the first cause of action of which was against Mr. Bereki, under California Business & Professions Code §7031(b) for disgorgement of the compensation paid by them to Mr. Bereki. The basis of the first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint was the alleged unlicensed status of Mr. Bereki at the time the contract was entered into and at the time the work was performed.

On motion of the Humphreys, which was unopposed, the first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint, was ordered severed, to be tried separate from and prior to the remaining causes set forth in that pleading. The trial on the severed first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint commenced on March 27, 2017 before Judge David Chaffee in Department C-20 of this Court and concluded on March 28, 2017. Mr. Bereki appeared, testified and examined witnesses at that trial. At the conclusion of the presentation of evidence which consisted of both the testimony of witnesses on direct and cross examination and the introduction of documents, the Trial Court found that Mr. Bereki was the party who had contracted with the Humphreys, that the work performed by and under Mr. Bereki required that he possess a license issued by the California State Contractor's License Board and that at no time, either at the time the contract was entered into or when the work was performed, did Mr. Bereki possess such a license. The Trial Court ruled that the Humphreys were the prevailing party on both the complaint and the first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint and as such were entitled to recover from Mr. Bereki all compensation paid by the Humphreys during Mr. Bereki's involvement on the project.

Mr. Bereki appealed the trial court's judgement to the Court of Appeal, Fourth District, Division Three. Both Mr. Bereki's opening brief and his reply brief raised and addressed his claim that the trial court lacked jurisdiction over both him and the subject matter of the action and that he was denied due process protections guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution. Oral argument was heard on October 16, 2018 before a panel comprised of the Honorable Justices O'Leary, Aronson and Goethals at which Mr. Bereki again asserted the trial court's lack of jurisdiction and denial of due process. Following submission of the matter, the Appellate Court, with the concurrence of all three justices, affirmed the judgment of the trial court awarding Respondent's their costs on appeal.

On or about December 10, 2018, Mr. Bereki filed with the California Supreme Court a petition for review of the Court of Appeals decision, once again raising as grounds for review the claimed lack of jurisdiction of the trial court and claimed denial of due process. The petition for review was denied on January 30, 2019 and the case was remitted to this Court for entry of costs on Appeal.

Mr. Bereki, who clearly lacks a sufficiently developed understanding of jurisdictional and constitutional law, has repeatedly raised the issues of jurisdiction and due process and has been heard on those issues multiple times and apparently is unable to accept the fact that his position has no basis in law. There is no basis, either procedurally or substantively which would allow this court, at this juncture of the litigation to so much as entertain Mr. Bereki's motion much less grant it.

II.

CHRONOLOGY OF THE CASE AS IT PERTAINS TO THIS MOTION

The chronology of this case relevant to the pending motion is as follows:

On March 27, 2017 trial in this matter commenced in Department C-20 of the Orange County Superior Court before the Honorable David Chaffee, the parties having waived jury. The trial was on the complaint of the plaintiff The Spartan Associates, Inc. (Spartan) against the Humphreys and on the cross-complaint of the Humphreys against Mr. Bereki and Spartan. Mr. Bereki participated in the trial representing himself , examining and cross-examining witnesses, presenting documentary evidence and giving testimony on his own behalf.

At the conclusion of the presentation of evidence consisting of both the testimony of witnesses and the introduction of documentary evidence, and after argument of counsel, the Trial Court ruled in favor of the Humphreys on the first cause of action of their cross complaint for disgorgement and on the complaint of Spartan and judgement was entered accordingly on April 20, 2017.

On June 13, 2017 Mr. Bereki filed his notice of appeal from the judgment of the court with the California Court of Appeal, Fourth District, Division Three.

On October 16, 2018, after the submission of briefs in which Mr. Bereki's claims as they relate to the trial courts jurisdiction over the action and Mr. Bereki were raised and addressed, oral argument was held before a panel comprised of the Honorable Justices O'Leary, Aronson and Goethals. Following submission of the matter, the Appellate Court, with the concurrence of all three justices, affirmed the judgment of the trial court awarding Respondent's their costs on appeal.

On about December 10, 2018, Mr. Bereki filed with the California Supreme Court a petition for review of the Appellate Court's decision once again raising his claims of lack of jurisdiction as grounds for granting the petition.

On January 30, 2019 the California Supreme Court denied the petition for review and on January 31, 2019 the Appellate Court issued its Remittitur of the case back to the trial court for entry of costs on appeal .

MOVING PARTY'S CLAIM IS BARRED UNDER

THE DOCTRINE OF RES JUDICATA

The doctrines of res judicata and judicial estoppel rest on the ground that a party who has litigated a matter or has had an opportunity to do so should not be permitted to litigate it again to the harassment and vexation of his or her opponent. Public policy and the interests of litigants alike require that there be an end to litigation Busick v. Workmen's Comp. Appeals Bd. (1972) 7 Cal. 3d 967, 972; Rubenstein v. Rubenstein (2000) 81 Cal. App. 4th 1131, 1144. The rule of res judicata is to prevent vexatious litigation and to require the parties to rest on one decision in their controversy; res judicata bars not only the reopening of the original controversy, but also subsequent litigation of all issues that were or could have been raised in the original suit Torrey Pines Bank v. Superior Court (1989) 216 Cal. App. 3d 813, 821.

None of the "issues" on which Mr. Bereki is basing his motion are being raised here for the first time. Mr. Bereki has asserted the same tired and strained arguments in his post judgment motions to the trial court, in his appeal of the trial courts judgment and in his petition for review filed with the State Supreme Court. Further, even if these issues had not already been raised and rejected as ill founded, there is not a single issue raised here that could not have been asserted at the time of trial or in Mr. Bereki's appeal. This case may stand as the poster case for why public policy demands that there be an end to litigation. Mr. Bereki has been heard on these issues and he has lost, not only at trial but at the appellate level. That should be the end of it.

IV.

THE TRIAL COURT HAD BOTH THE REQUISITE SUBJECT MATTER AND PERSONAL JURISDICTION TO RENDER JUDGMENT IN THIS MATTER.

In the event the Court determines that the instant motion warrants consideration, the facts of this case establish that the trial court had both personal jurisdiction over Mr. Bereki and subject matter jurisdiction over the case and that the judgment entered by the trial court and affirmed by the court of Appeal was proper and beyond attack at this level.

As to the question of the trial court's jurisdiction over the subject matter of this case, Cal Const, Art. VI § 10 states in pertinent part "The Supreme Court, courts of appeal, superior courts, and their judges have original jurisdiction in habeas corpus proceedings. Those courts also have original jurisdiction in proceedings for extraordinary relief in the nature of mandamus, certiorari, and prohibition. The appellate division of the superior court has original jurisdiction in proceedings for extraordinary relief in the nature of mandamus, certiorari, and prohibition directed to the superior court in causes subject to its appellate jurisdiction.

Superior courts have original jurisdiction in all other causes...."

"The superior court is a court having jurisdiction in all civil actions and proceedings, with stated exceptions, and it is a court of general jurisdiction....". Richardson v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County (Cal. App. 1934), 138 Cal. App. 389,391.

In that this case is not one involving matters reserved for the Supreme Court, courts of appeal or the appellate division of the superior court, the superior court was the appropriate court to adjudicate the issues raised in the matter and had jurisdiction over the subject matter of the action. As for personal jurisdiction over Mr. Bereki, Cal Code Civ

Proc § 410.50 states "(a) Except as otherwise provided by statute, the court in which an action is pending has jurisdiction over a party from the time summons is served on him as provided by Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 413.10). A general appearance by a party is equivalent to personal service of summons on such party."

An appearance for any purpose other than to question the jurisdiction of the court is general. Pfeiffer v. Ash (Cal. App. 1949), 92 Cal. App. 2d 102. Mr. Bereki by substituting in as his own attorney in this matter in propria persona, filing his answer to the Humphrey's cross-complaint seeking a determination of the issues and appearing at and presenting his case in defense at the trial of this matter , has made a general appearance and thus has voluntarily submitted to the trial court exercising personal jurisdiction over him..

V.

CONCLUSION

Although Mr. Bereki couches his motion to vacate the judgment as being grounded in a claimed lack of jurisdiction by both the trial court to have rendered judgment and the court of appeal to have affirmed that judgment, in reality the motion is nothing more than an attempt to relitigate the same issues he has raised in his appeal of the trial court's judgment and in his petition to the State Supreme Court. While Mr. Bereki correctly points out that a motion to challenge a judgment on the basis it is void may be brought at any time, he clearly fails to understand that once that challenge has been brought and has been determined to be without merit, he is barred from reasserting that challenge except to a court of review at a higher level. Simply put, Mr. Bereki has shot his wad on this issue at all levels of review with the exception of the United States Supreme Court and for that reason this motion should be removed from the law and motion calendar as having been improperly filed or alternatively, denied.

For the reasons set forth above it is requested that the court refuse to hear the pending motion as having been improperly filed or alternatively deny the motion.

Respectfully Submitted

7031 IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL AS APPLIED

Business & Professions Code §7031(b) is unconstitutional as applied by the court to Adam Bereki because it:

1) violates the Constitutional provisions of punitive damage awards;

2) does not meet the requirements of justiciability (See Section );

3) violates due process;

4) is void for vagueness as to the term compensation in "return all compensation paid".

5) Is purely punitive and requires Rights guaranteed to a criminal defendant California authorizes four penalties for "engaging in the business of, or acting in the capacity of, a "contractor" without a license – a criminal penalty, a civil penalty, a shield penalty and a sword penalty:

1) The first offense criminal penalty can be a misdemeanor conviction with a fine up to $5,000, plus restitution for any actual economic loss. The fine is payable to the government, the economic loss to the customer.

2) The civil penalty is a citation by the Registrar of Contractors, an administrative hearing, and a penalty up to $5,000, except for certain named violations. The civil penalty is payable to the government.

3) The shield penalty bars the unlicensed contractor from using the courts to collect money owed for work performed. This penalty vindicates the judicial system by preventing use of the court to enforce unlicensed work performed in violation of law.

4) The sword penalty is disgorgement. It allows the customer to recover all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor. Disgorgement, like compensatory damages, is payable to a private party, not the government.

Disgorgement is a form of damages assessed against the unlicensed contractor and paid to its customer for the violation of the license law.

Disgorgement is a monetary award to a private party, not the government.

Punitive damages are defined as being independent from, and not in any way compensation for, any actual damages suffered. Regardless of whether disgorgement is a legal or equitable remedy, and regardless of what it is labeled, disgorgement is clearly a penalty, unrelated to actual damages as it has been applied by the courts in the form of punitive damages paid to a private party.

California courts have repeatedly held disgorgement to be lawful – on its face – despite the potential harshness or draconian nature of the remedy. However, even though the Legislature allows juries to assess punitive damages under a statute that is clearly constitutional on its face (Civil Code § 3294), the courts routinely determine whether punitive damages assessed by a jury in a particular case exceed constitutional bounds. The same must be true for disgorgement.

7031 VIOLATES THE PROVISIONS OF PUNITIVE DAMAGE AWARDS

The U.S. Supreme Court has established a three part test for evaluating the validity of punitive damages in civil cases. See State Farm Mutual Auto Insurance Co. v Campbell, 538 US 408 (2003):

1) the reprehensibility of the conduct being punished;

2) the reasonableness of the relationship between the harm and the award; and

3) the difference between the award and the civil penalties authorized in comparable cases.

Under this test, use of the disgorgement sword to hypothetically take anything more than nominal damages from Adam and give them to Respondents fails every element of the test for the following reasons:

REASONABLENESS

First, the relationship between the "harm" and disgorgement of $848,000 is grossly disproportionate. At "trial", Respondents presented no evidence of any damages proximately cause by Adam's alleged failure to be licensed.

Compensatory damages are intended to redress the concrete loss the 'victim' has suffered by reason of the 'perpetrators' wrongful conduct. By contrast, punitive damages serve a broader function; they are aimed at deterrence and retribution. Id 416

California and federal courts have constrained awards of punitive damages to a reasonable relationship to the actual damages suffered.

In the instant case, disgorgement of anything would be an infinite multiple of the non-existent damages.

COMPARABLE CASE AWARDS

Second, the difference between the $848k disgorgement award and both the criminal and civil penalties authorized in comparable cases is astronomic. As previously noted, the maximum criminal penalty is $5,000 plus restitution of actual economic loss.

Again, Respondents presented no witnesses or evidence at "trial" of any actual loss whatsoever.

The maximum civil penalty that could be assessed by the CSLB is also $5,000. Thus, a "disgorgement" of $848k would be 169 TIMES the comparable criminal or civil penalty.

The judgment in this case is more than three times the financial penalty for treason, – the highest crime of our country– which is $250,000. Furthermore, it forces Adam into elements of financial ruin and bankruptcy.

Punitive damages in excess of $5000 therefore do not pass Constitutional muster.

REPREHENSIBLE

Third, the conduct is not reprehensible. Not only was there no evidence of any damages whatsoever, had there been, they would have been purely economic. No one was hurt or injured. There was no evidence of fraud, oppression, or malice.

No evidence was presented the compensation by Spartan or Adam had not been returned.

Respondents interacted exclusively with Adam Bereki who had the work experience and passed the competency exam to qualify for Spartan's contractors license. It is unknown how Respondents could therefore be deprived of the CSLL protections.

Prior to hiring Adam Bereki or Spartan, Respondent Gary Humphreys was intimately aware of Adam's competency by the previous projects he had done at Respondents business and for other family members (RT 93–10).

Furthermore, as mentioned, Mr. Humphreys is a nationally recognized expert in project management and government contractor who teaches project management around the world including to the construction industry. He is not a member of the public who needs protection from incompetence and dishonesty from those who provide building and construction services. In fact he has decades more training and experience than Adam Bereki who doesn't even possess a college degree.

While Mr. Humphreys claims he does not have specific experience in building construction itself, the project management principles he teaches most definitely are fundamental to every project. The preface of his near eight hundred page book on project management states: "Please do not conclude that a sample does not apply to those of you in the construction, software, or other industries." (CT 400-401, RT 97)

THE TRIAL COURT LACKED SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION TO RENDER ANY JUDGMENT DUE TO FRAUD, DUE PROCESS VIOLATIONS, AND RESPONDENTS FAILURE TO PROVE THE FACTUAL SUFFICIENCY OF THEIR CLAIM

A court of California does not have jurisdiction to render a judgment that violates the California Constitution or the Constitution of the United States.
County of Ventura v Tillett, 133 Cal. App. 3d 105

While a court has jurisdiction to hear and decide cases, it does not have jurisdiction adjudicate a case upon the commission of a crime such as fraud or violations of due process such as those evidenced above that occurred in this case.

A court only has subject matter jurisdiction to adjudicate a claim upon substantial proof of the factual sufficiency of each element of that claim by competent sworn testimony regarding authenticated evidence.

In the case of a violation of statute, jurisdiction only extends once the factual sufficiency of each element of the offense has been met.

In this way, subject matter jurisdiction is a two sided coin.

One side of the subject matter jurisdiction coin involves the common law, statutory authority, or contract upon which there was a duty to do or not do something and the court's empowerment to deal with that subject matter as authorized by Constitution or Statute.

> The first prong of the jurisdiction analysis is to determine which state courts have subject matter jurisdiction. The court in which the action is filed must be competent under California law to render a judgment; i.e., the state constitution or statutes must empower it to adjudicate the type of lawsuit involved and to render a judgment for the amount in controversy. [See Marriage of Jensen (2003) 114 CA4th 587, 593, 7 CR3d 701, 705 (citing text)]

"The principle of 'subject matter jurisdiction' relates to the inherent authority of the court involved to deal with the case or matter before it." [Varian Med. Systems, Inc. v. Delfino (2005) 35 C4th 180, 196, 25 CR3d 298, 311]

The other side of the coin (or second prong) rests on the factual sufficiency of the claim. Without the factual sufficiency of the claim there would be no proven violation of law for the court to render judgment/verdict. The court would not have jurisdiction over the subject matter because a law has not been proven to have been violated – there is no proof of a claim for it to adjudicate. At that point the court has a non-discretionary duty to dismiss the case for want of subject matter jurisdiction. See FRCP 12(b)(6)

The factual sufficiency of the claim must establish there was a known duty the breach of which was the causation of damages as attested to by at least one competent fact witness testifying under oath and subject to cross examination regarding authenticated evidence.

See also Buis v State, 1990 OK CR 28.

Respondents:

1) failed to offer any competent sworn testimony Adam Bereki was a person to whom §7028 and §7031 applied

2) failed to offer any competent sworn testimony as to what work Adam Bereki did on their project that was required to be licensed and the amount he was compensated for that work required to be licensed as differentiated from work done NOT required to be licensed or the work done by Spartan.

3) failed to controvert Spartans testimony and evidence of obtaining the permits, doing the work, and receiving $758,000 in compensation.

4) committed fraud on the court by making false or misleading statements to gain a civil advantage.

5) failed to prove they had paid personally $495,000 that was paid by Humphreys & Associates, Inc. and therefore had no standing to collect on its damages.

6) Failed to respond to multiple challenges to jursidiction violating due process

7) Failed to state a justiciable cause of action and subjected Adam to an unknown jurisdiction of law foreign to our Constitutions.

The trial court did not have cognizance of a case pursuant to §7028 or §7031 B&P against Adam Bereki because these causes of action do not meet the requirements for a justiciable controversy as evidenced.

The proper parties were NOT present because there were none who could be pursuant to the first requirement. See Reynolds v Stockton, 140 US 254, 268 (1891)

Defendants/Cross-Complainants/Judgment Creditors Gary Humphreys and Karen Humphreys in opposition to the motion of Cross-Defendant/Judgment Debtor Adam Bereki to vacate the judgement entered in this matter submits the following memorandum of points and authorities.

I.

INTRODUCTION

This motion is in all substantive respects nothing more than a refiling and rehash of virtually the same motion to vacate judgment brought by Mr. Bereki in February of 2019 in this case and in which the court in denying the motion aptly noted "The arguments presented on this motion were already raised and rejected, and the appellate decision affirming the underlying judgment on the merits is now final. Upon remittitur, the trial court is revested with jurisdiction of the case only to carry out the judgment as ordered by the appellate court. (People v. Dutra (2006) 145 Cal. App.4th 1359, 1365-1366.) Arguments on the merits of the underlying judgment cannot be entertained anew here..."

Despite the trial courts crystal clear admonition to Mr. Bereki advising him that upon the appellate court's affirming the judgment the trial court has no jurisdiction to entertain new arguments attacking the merits of the judgment, Mr. Bereki persists in ignoring both the courts rulings and procedural law and continues to harass the Humphreys, denigrate this Court and waste judicial resources by filing motions patently lacking in merit and seeking public support for the motion through inflammatory emails.

II.

BRIEF HISTORY OF THE CASE

This case , judgment in which has long been final, arose out of a home remodel project which began in April of 2012 in Newport Beach, California. The parties opposing this motion, Gary Humphreys and Karen Humphreys (the Humphreys) were the husband and wife owners of the property to be remodeled and the moving party Adam Bereki (Mr. Bereki) was the contractor, albeit unlicensed, with whom the Humphreys contracted to perform the work.

A dispute arose between the Humphreys and Mr. Bereki over the quality of the work performed by Mr. Bereki and other disturbing aspects of Mr. Bereki's activities and performance on the project resulting in a civil complaint being filed in this matter by Mr. Bereki's corporation and a cross complaint being filed by the Humphreys. On motion of the Humphreys the first cause of action of their first amended cross-complaint for disgorgement under California Business & Professions Code Section 7031, was ordered severed, to be tried separate from and prior to the remaining causes set forth in that pleading.

The trial on the severed first cause of action of the amended cross-complaint commenced on March 27, 2017 before Judge David Chaffee in Department C-20 of this Court and concluded on March 28, 2017. At the conclusion of the presentation of evidence, the Trial Court ruled in favor of the Humphreys on both the complaint and the first cause of action of the first amended cross-complaint and entered judgment accordingly.

Mr. Bereki appealed the trial court's judgement to the Court of Appeal, Fourth District, Division Three. As with the instant motion, both Mr. Bereki's opening brief and his reply brief raised and addressed his claim that the trial court lacked jurisdiction over both him and the subject matter of the action and that he was denied due process protections guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution. Oral argument was heard on October 16, 2018 before a panel comprised of the Honorable Justices O'Leary, Aronson and Goethals at which Mr. Bereki again asserted the trial court's lack of jurisdiction and denial of due process. Following submission of the matter, the Appellate Court, with the concurrence of all three justices, affirmed the judgment of the trial court awarding Respondent's their costs on appeal.

On or about December 10, 2018, Mr. Bereki filed with the California Supreme Court a petition for review of the Court of Appeals decision, once again raising as grounds for review the claimed lack of jurisdiction of the trial court and claimed denial of due process. The petition for review was denied on January 30, 2019 and the case was remitted to this Court for entry of costs on Appeal.

On February 19, 2019 Mr. Bereki filed with this Court the motion to vacate the judgment in this matter mentioned above , which was denied on March 15, 2019.

In October of 2019 Mr. Bereki filed a petition for writ of certiorari with the United States Supreme Court seeking to have the judgment here overturned. That petition was denied.

In addition to the above there have been an assortment of misguided collateral attacks on the judgment brought by Mr. Bereki in both the federal court and again to the U.S. Supreme Court all of which have been summarily denied.

Mr. Bereki, who after repeatedly raising the issues of jurisdiction and due process and having been heard on those issues multiple times in multiple venues is apparently incapable of accepting the fact that in the vast majority of trials there is a loser and in this one that is he. There is no basis, either procedurally or substantively which would allow this court, at this juncture to so much as entertain Mr. Bereki's motion much less grant it.

III.

MOVING PARTY'S CLAIM IS BARRED UNDER THE DOCTRINE OF RES JUDICATA

The doctrines of res judicata and judicial estoppel rest on the ground that a party who has litigated a matter or has had an opportunity to do so should not be permitted to litigate it again to the harassment and vexation of his or her opponent. Public policy and the interests of litigants alike require that there be an end to litigation Busick v. Workmen's Comp. Appeals Bd. (1972) 7 Cal. 3d 967, 972; Rubenstein v. Rubenstein (2000) 81 Cal. App. 4th 1131, 1144. The rule of res judicata is to prevent vexatious litigation and to require the parties to rest on one decision in their controversy; res judicata bars not only the reopening of the original controversy, but also subsequent litigation of all issues that were or could have been raised in the original suit Torrey Pines Bank v. Superior Court (1989) 216 Cal. App. 3d 813, 821. "A final judgment on the merits of an action precludes the parties from relitigating issues that were or could have been raised in the action" Federated Dept. Stores, Inc. v. Moitie 452 U.S. 394, 398 (1981).

The "issues" on which Mr. Bereki is basing his latest motion have either been raised numerous times before or are issues which could have been raised and litigated at the 2017 trial. Mr. Bereki has asserted the same tired and strained arguments in his post judgment motions to the trial court, in his appeal of the trial courts judgment, in his petition for review filed with the State Supreme Court and his petition for writ of certiorari filed with the U.S. Supreme Court .As to those issues which have not already been raised and rejected as ill founded, there is not one that could not have been asserted at the time of trial or in Mr. Bereki's appeal.

IV.

THE JUDGMENT IS NOT VOID

Mr. Bereki argues that the holding in Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co.53 CA 5th 1201 (2020) somehow voids the judgment in this case. It does nothing of the sort. The holding in the Eisenberg v. Suffolk case did not invalidate the disgorgement provisions of Business & Professions Code §7031 which remains unchanged and enforceable today as it was when the judgment in this case was entered. Eisenberg v. Suffolk merely identified the period in which an action under the disgorgement clause of that statute must be brought. Mr. Bereki argues that under the decision in the Eisenberg v, Suffolk supra case the Humphrey's disgorgement cause of action was untimely and the that consequently the judgment is void. In so arguing, Mr. Bereki ignores the fact that the burden of proving a statute of limitations defense lies with the party asserting the defense. Although it was within his power to assert the defense and put on evidence to try to establish it at trial Mr. Bereki failed to do either.

There has been no substantive change in the law under which the judgment in this case was entered and Mr. Bereki has certainly not pointed the court to any such change which would warrant a deviation here from the principals of res judicata.

V.

THE TRIAL COURT HAD BOTH THE REQUISITE SUBJECT MATTER AND PERSONAL JURISDICTION TO RENDER JUDGMENT IN THIS MATTER.

In the event the Court determines that the instant motion warrants consideration, the facts of this case establish that the trial court had both personal jurisdiction over Mr. Bereki and subject matter jurisdiction over the case and that the judgment entered by the trial court and affirmed by the court of Appeal was proper and beyond attack at this level.

As to the question of the trial court's jurisdiction over the subject matter of this case, Cal Const, Art. VI § 10 states in pertinent part "The Supreme Court, courts of appeal, superior courts, and their judges have original jurisdiction in habeas corpus proceedings. Those courts also have original jurisdiction in proceedings for extraordinary relief in the nature of mandamus, certiorari, and prohibition. The appellate division of the superior court has original jurisdiction in proceedings for extraordinary relief in the nature of mandamus, certiorari, and prohibition directed to the superior court in causes subject to its appellate jurisdiction.

Superior courts have original jurisdiction in all other causes...."

"The superior court is a court having jurisdiction in all civil actions and proceedings, with stated exceptions, and it is a court of general jurisdiction....". Richardson v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County (Cal. App. 1934), 138 Cal. App. 389,391.

In that this case is not one involving matters reserved for the Supreme Court, courts of appeal or the appellate division of the superior court, the superior court was the appropriate court to adjudicate the issues raised in the matter and had jurisdiction over the subject matter of the action. As for personal jurisdiction over Mr. Bereki, Cal Code Civ Proc § 410.50 states "*(a) Except as otherwise provided by statute, the court in which an action is pending has jurisdiction over a party from the time summons is served on him as provided by Chapter 4 (commencing with Section 413.10). A general appearance by a party is equivalent to personal service of summons on such party."

An appearance for any purpose other than to question the jurisdiction of the court is general. Pfeiffer v. Ash (Cal. App. 1949), 92 Cal. App. 2d 102. Mr. Bereki by substituting in as his own attorney in this matter in propria persona, filing his answer to the Humphrey's cross-complaint seeking a determination of the issues and appearing at and presenting his case in defense at the trial of this matter , has made a general appearance and thus has voluntarily submitted to the trial court exercising personal jurisdiction over him.

VI.

SANCTIONS UNDER CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE SECTION 128.5 ARE WARRANTED

A trial court may order a party to pay the reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred by another party as a result of actions or tactics, made in bad faith, that are frivolous or solely intended to cause unnecessary delay. C.C.P §128.5 (a).

For purposes of C.C.P §128.5 (a) "actions or tactics" includes the making of a motion and "frivolous" means totally and completely without merit or for the sole purpose of harassing an opposing party. C.C.P §128.5 (b) (1) & (2).

A request for sanctions under C.C.P §128.5 (a) may be made in a party's responding papers. C.C.P §128.5 (c) . Lesser v. Huntington Harbor Corp. 173 CA3rd 922 (1985).

An action is deemed frivolous or in bad faith if it is prosecuted for improper motive (including harassment or delay) or if it is totally and completely devoid of any merit. Finnie v. Town of Tiburon, 199 Cal. App. 3d 1, 12 (1988).

As set forth above, Mr. Bereki has been informed by this Court in terms which are crystal clear and not subject to interpretation, that the trial court has no jurisdiction to entertain attacks on the judgment entered in this case. In other words, Mr. Bereki has been advised by this Court that any new attempt by him to attack the judgment in this venue is frivolous. Despite being on notice of the frivolousness of this motion Mr. Bereki persists in ignoring the court's admonishment and continues to harass the Humphreys. Worse still, Mr. Bereki in a display of shocking disrespect to the Court attempts to bait this Court by such emails as the following sent on June 4, 2025:

> "Good day, Let us all patiently await the discovery of whether supervising Superior Court Judge, David Hesseltine, will tell the truth, exposing nearly 100 years of legislative, executive, and judicial tyranny in Commiefornia involving Cal. Business and Profession Code §7031 (unlicensed contracting) or will lie to shield his brethren and other officials involved in the corruption...
> Please join us, Thursday, June 26, at 2:00PM in his courtroom or by zoom (visit occourts.org*, click on remote appearance, select civil unlimited, civil unlimited again, and Department C23 Judge Hesseltine) for the 'hearing', where, if my personal experience is any indication, no one will actually be heard. Perhaps the 26th will be a dawn of integrity for the Judge where he will honor his oath of office so that we can rightfully refer to him as "Honorable" (it would my honor to do so)....*
>
> Kindly forward this email to your co-workers, friends, and family in support of me and many others across America who are exposing the fraud, deceit, and treason perpetrated by members public office (and especially bar ASSociations ie Donna Kirkner, William Bissell) upon us under color of law....
> Thank you for listening.
> Sincerely,
> Adam Bereki"

These actions of Mr. Bereki warrant a finding of contempt of court and at a minimum, demand that Mr. Bereki be sanctioned under C.C.P. §128.5 in an amount which will compensate the Humphreys for the costs of defending this motion as set forth in the accompanying declaration and hopefully dissuade Mr. Bereki from further frivolous and bad faith actions.

VII.

CONCLUSION

Although Mr. Bereki couches his motion to vacate the judgment as being grounded in a claimed lack of jurisdiction by both the trial court to have rendered judgment and the court of appeal to have affirmed that judgment, in reality the motion is nothing more than an attempt to relitigate the same issues he has raised in his appeal of the trial court's judgment and in his petition to the State Supreme Court and the United States Supreme court. While Mr. Bereki correctly points out that a motion to challenge a judgment on the basis it is void may be brought at any time, he clearly fails to understand that once that challenge has been brought and has been determined to be without merit, he is barred from reasserting that challenge except to a court of review at a higher level of which in this matter there is now none.

This case may stand as the poster child for why public policy demands that there be an end to litigation and an end to the losing party's harassment of the prevailing parties by continuing to bring spurious motions and proceedings. Mr. Bereki has been heard, reheard and heard again on the same issues and he has lost at every juncture at every possible level of review. Although it has been stressed before by the trial court, Mr. Bereki should be re-admonished in the strongest possible terms that he is pursuing course to which he has no rights and that must end now. Simply put, Mr. Bereki has been heard on this issue at all levels of review and for that reason this motion should be removed from the law and motion calendar as having been improperly filed or alternatively, denied and in either case sanctions assessed against Mr. Bereki and in favor of the Humphreys as set forth in the accompanying declaration.

I William Bissell declare as follows:

1. I am over the age of eighteen and have personal knowledge of the matters set forth in this declaration and could competently testify to the same.

2. I am presently and have been from the initial stages of this case the attorney of record for Karen and Gary Humphreys, the defendants/cross-complaints/judgment creditors in this matter and have acted as such in both the trial and post trial proceedings referred to in this declaration.

3. On March 27, 2017 trial in this matter commenced in Department C-20 of the Orange County Superior Court before the Honorable David Chaffee, the parties having waived jury. The trial was on the complaint of the plaintiff, The Spartan Associates, Inc. (Spartan) against Gary and Karen Humphreys and on the cross-complaint of the Humphreys against Mr. Bereki and Spartan. Mr. Bereki participated in the trial representing himself , examining and cross-examining witnesses, presenting documentary evidence and giving testimony on his own behalf.

4. At the conclusion of the presentation of evidence consisting of both the testimony of witnesses and the introduction of documentary evidence, and after argument of counsel, the Trial Court ruled in favor of the Humphreys on the first cause of action of their cross complaint for disgorgement and on the complaint of Spartan and judgement was entered accordingly on April 20, 2017. Judgment in this matter and the entry thereof is reflected in the court's file of this matter and is attached to Mr. Bereki's request for judicial notice as Exhibit #1. Judicial Notice thereof the is requested under Evidence Code Section 452 (d).

5. On June 13, 2017 Mr. Bereki filed his notice of appeal from the judgment of the court with the California Court of Appeal, Fourth District, Division Three. The notice of appeal is contained in the court's file of this matter and Judicial Notice thereof the is requested under Evidence Code Section 452 (d)

6. On October 16, 2018, after the submission of briefs in which Mr. Bereki's claims, as they relate to the trial courts jurisdiction over the action and Mr. Bereki's due process arguments, were raised and addressed, oral argument was held before a panel comprised of the Honorable Justices O'Leary, Aronson and Goethals. Following submission of the matter, the Appellate Court, with the concurrence of all three justices, affirmed the judgment of the trial court awarding Respondent's their costs on appeal. The opinion of the Court of Appeal and the Court's denial of Mr. Bereki's petition for rehearing is attached as Exhibit #2 to Mr. Bereki's Request for Judicial Notice filed in this motion.

7. On about December 10, 2018, Mr. Bereki filed with the California Supreme Court a petition for review of the Appellate Court's decision once again raising his claims of lack of jurisdiction as grounds for granting the petition.

8. On January 30, 2019 the California Supreme Court denied the petition for review. Attached to Mr. Bereki's Request for Judicial Notice filed in this motion as Exhibit #4 is notice of California Supreme Court's En Banc denial of Mr. Bereki's petition for review.

9. On February 19, 2019 Mr. Bereki filed with this Court a motion to vacate the judgment in this matter, the hearing on which was held on March 15, 2019 in Department C16 before the Honorable James J. Di Cesare. In denying the motion the court noted "... "The arguments presented on this motion were already raised and rejected, and the appellate decision affirming the underlying judgment on the merits is now final. Upon remittitur, the trial court is revested with jurisdiction of the case only to carry out the judgment as ordered by the appellate court. (People v. Dutra (2006) 145 Cal. App.4th 1359, 1365-1366.) Arguments on the merits of the underlying judgment cannot be entertained anew here. The motion is therefore Denied". The Court's minute order on the March 15, 2019 motion to vacate is attached as Exhibit #3 to Mr. Bereki's Request for Judicial Notice filed in this motion..

10. In the fall of of 2019 Mr. Bereki filed a petition for writ of certiorari with the United States Supreme Court seeking to have the judgment in this case overturned. On October 7, 2019 the U.S. Supreme Court denied the petition for certiorari. Attached to Mr. Bereki's Request for Judicial Notice filed in this motion as Exhibit #5 is notice of The U.S. Supreme Court's denial of Mr. Bereki's petition for certiorari.

11. In addition to the above, there have been an assortment of collateral attacks on the judgment in this case brought by Mr. Bereki in both the federal court and again to the U.S. Supreme Court all of which have been summarily denied.

12. In reviewing the onslaught of moving papers notices to appear and subpoenas filed and/or served by Mr. Bereki, the records of the various court proceedings and in preparing the opposition to the pending motion, I have spent 8.5 hours. I anticipate spending an additional 1.5 hour in appearing at the hearing on this motion for a total of 10 hours. My billing rate is $360.00 per hour for a total cost to the Humphreys in defending against this spurious and frivolous motion of $3,600.00.

13. On June 4, 2025 I received the following email from Mr. Bereki:

"Good day, Let us all patiently await the discovery of whether supervising Superior Court Judge, David Hesseltine, will tell the truth, exposing nearly 100 years of legislative, executive, and judicial tyranny in Commiefornia involving Cal. Business and Profession Code §7031

CASE NO. 30-2015-00805807

ORDER STRIKING STATEMENT OF DISQUALIFICATION AND, IN THE ALTERNATIVE, VERIFIED ANSWER OF JUDGE DAVID HESSELTINE

This action commenced on August 21, 2015, judgment was entered against cross-defendant Adam Bereki (Cross-Defendant) on April 20, 2017, and that judgment was affirmed on appeal on October 31, 2018. Since March 18, 2025, this Court has presided over the post-judgment proceedings in this case. On July 3, 2025, Cross-Defendant filed a document entitled "Verified Statement to Disqualify Judge David Hesseltine" (Statement of Disqualification).

The Statement of Disqualification asserts the Court is biased and prejudiced against Cross-Defendant for the following reasons: "(1) Hesseltine's rulings on August 6, 2024, and March 25, 2025, in Moorefield Construction, Inc. v. Pantalemon, Case No. 30-2022-

01259274 (Ex. 1), creating a pecuniary interest due to potential liability for structural jurisdictional errors depriving him of civil damages immunity; (2) his knowledge of this conflict prior to my Motion to Vacate Void Judgment filed May 28, 2005 (ROA 361, 356, 360, 386) and refusal to recuse himself; (3) his refusal to correct substantive errors in his tentative and final rulings denying my motion (Exs. 2-4); (4) his incorrect claims that my oral disqualification motion was untimely and improper; (5) his prior role as Senior Appellate Attorney at the Fourth District Court of Appeal, Division 3, suggesting professional and likely personal relationships with Justices Aronson, Goethals, and/or O'Leary, whom I allege committed structural jurisdictional errors that would also subject them to liability; (6) his potential relationships with retired Superior Court for the County of Orange Judges Di Cesare and/or Chaffee, also alleged to have committed jurisdictional errors subjecting them to liability; (7) his conduct constituting fraud on the court and perpetuating a conspiracy to procure an unlawful judgment through the unlawful enforcement of § 7031 actions; (8) his false Minute Order statement that my arguments were rejected by higher courts, despite no full, fair, or impartial judicial determination thereof; (9) his refusal to allow testimony from attorney William Bissell, critical to proving extrinsic fraud and conspiracy; (10) his enforcement of a discharged judgment, violating federal bankruptcy law; (11) his denial of my Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay of Unlawful Detainer Action (ROA 306), filed March 14, 2025, on March 18, 2025, and Ex Parte Application for Reconsideration, filed May 21, 2025, despite notice of the bankruptcy discharge, perpetuating the harm of the void judgment and denying me restitution (Exs. 7-9); and, (12) his refusal to provide a court reporter or allow recording of proceedings, obstructing my due/judicial process right to preserve the record for appeal." (ROA 415.)

The Court finds the Statement of Disqualification on its face fails to disclose any legal grounds for disqualification, and it is untimely. Accordingly, the Statement of Disqualification is hereby stricken. (Code Civ. Proc., § 170.4, subd. (b) ["Notwithstanding paragraph (5) of subdivision (c) of Section 170.3, if a statement of disqualification is untimely filed or if on its face it discloses no legal grounds for disqualification, the trial judge against whom it was filed may order it stricken"]; PBA, LLC v. KPOD, Ltd. (2003) 112 Cal.App.4th 965, 972 (PBA, LLC) ["the authority to strike a declaration exists 'notwithstanding' section 170.3 subdivision (c)(5) which precludes judges from ruling on their own disqualifications"].)

The Statement of Disqualification Fails to State Grounds for Disqualification

A statement of disqualification must set forth "the facts constituting the grounds" for disqualification. (Code Civ. Proc., § 170.3, subd. (c)(1).) "The law does not assume prejudice on the part of the trial judge." (Gimble v. Laramie (1960) 181 Cal.App.2d 77, 84.) The party seeking disqualification bears the heavy burden to show the judge is clearly biased or prejudiced. (Wechsler v. Superior Court (2014) 224 Cal.App.4th 384, 391 (Wechsler).)

The applicable standard is an objective one: the judge should only be disqualified "if a fully informed, reasonable member of the public would fairly entertain doubts that the judge is impartial." (Wechsler, supra, 224 Cal.App.4th at p. 391.) "The 'reasonable person' is not someone who is 'hypersensitive or unduly suspicious,' but rather is a 'well-informed, thoughtful observer.' . . . '[T]he partisan litigant emotionally involved in the controversy underlying the lawsuit is not the disinterested objective observer whose doubts concerning the judge's impartiality provide the governing standard.'" (Haworth v. Superior Court (2010) 50 Cal.4th 372, 389 (Haworth).)

Moreover, mere conclusions are insufficient. (In re Morelli (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 819, 843.) An unsubstantiated suggestion of personal bias or prejudice also is insufficient. (Bassett Unified School Dist. v. Superior Court (2023) 89 Cal.App.5th 273, 286.) A statement of disqualification cannot be based on information and belief, hearsay, or other inadmissible evidence. (United Farm Workers of America v. Superior Court (1985) 170 Cal.App.3d 97, 106, fn. 6 (United Farm Workers).) "Rumor, speculation, beliefs, conclusions, innuendo, suspicion, opinion, and similar nonfactual matters" are not ordinarily sufficient to require recusal. (Nichols v. Alley (10th Cir. 1993) 71 F.3d 347, 351.[1])

Here, the Statement of Disqualification relies on speculation and conclusions without providing any concrete evidentiary facts establishing a ground for disqualification. It also is based on criticism and erroneous legal conclusions about the Court's rulings and case management in this case and in a separate, unrelated case. Such speculation, conclusions, and criticism are the sort of subjective and partisan assertions that consistently have been held to fail to establish the requisite objectively reasonable appearance of bias. (See, e.g., Haworth, supra, 50 Cal.4th at p. 389.)

The Court's Rulings and Courtroom Management Form No Basis for Disqualification

The Statement of Disqualification is based, in large part, on the Court's rulings and exercise of its adjudicatory authority in this case, including its rulings on Cross-Defendant's ex parte applications and motion to vacate. It also is based on the Court's rulings in a separate, unrelated case in which none of the instant parties are involved. Such rulings are insufficient to support a claim of bias as a matter of law, as a party's disagreement with the Court's decisions is not grounds for disqualification. (See Yolo County Dept. of Child Support Services v. Myers (2016) 248 Cal.App.4th 42, 51.) It is well established that "a trial court's numerous rulings against a party – even when erroneous – do not establish a charge of judicial bias . . . ." (People v. Nieves (2021) 11 Cal.5th 404, 485.) A party's remedy for an erroneous ruling is not a motion to disqualify, but rather to seek review by appeal or writ. (See Ryan v. Welte (1948) 87 Cal.App.2d 888, 893; People v. Farley (2009) 46 Cal.4th 1053, 1110.) Thus, the Court's decisions and rulings in this case – including the denial of Cross-Defendant's ex parte applications and motion to vacate – as well as the Court's rulings in a separate, unrelated case, fail to support a claim of bias as a matter of law.

1. California courts may rely on federal cases interpreting a comparable provision of federal law. (See United Farm Workers, supra, 170 Cal.App.3d at p. 104; Haworth, supra, 50 Cal.4th at p. 389.)

The Statement of Disqualification also is based, in part, on Cross-Defendant's disagreement with the way the Court has managed this proceeding, when the Court would receive evidence and argument, and what the Court deemed relevant or important. This is insufficient to support a claim of bias as well. A court has the power and duty to ensure the orderly and expeditious conduct of court proceedings. (Walker v. Superior Court (1991) 53 Cal.3d 257, 266-267; Code Civ. Proc., § 128, subd. (a)(3).) This includes decisions such as the scheduling of court proceedings, whether to hear oral argument, and whether and in what form evidence may be received. (See Wilbum v. Oakland Hospital (1989) 213 Cal.App.3d 1107, 1111; Diaz-Barba v. Superior Court (2015) 236 Cal.App.4th 1470, 1490-91.)

Accordingly, the Court's rulings and case management fail to support a claim of bias as a matter of law.

Prior Employment as a Research Attorney Is Not Disqualifying

The Statement of Disqualification appears to assert the Court is disqualified because the Court served as a research attorney before being appointed to the bench. Nothing in the Statement of Disqualification establishes any reason why the Court should be disqualified from this case based on the Court's prior employment. Code of Civil Procedure section 170.1, subdivision (a)(2), specifies the grounds on which a judge's prior service could be grounds for disqualification, but that subdivision only requires disqualification when the judge served or is deemed to have served as a lawyer in the proceeding or another proceeding involving the same issues and client. No evidence was presented to show section 170.1, subdivision (a)(2) applies here, and the Statement of Disqualification simply assumes disqualifying relationships arising from that prior employment.

The Statement of Disqualification Is Untimely

A party seeking to disqualify a judge must do so "at the earliest practicable opportunity after discovery of the facts constituting the ground for disqualification." (Code Civ. Proc., § 170.3, subd. (c)(1).) "This strict promptness requirement is not to be taken lightly, as a failure to comply constitutes forfeiture or an implied waiver of the disqualification." (Tri Counties Bank v. Superior Court (2008) 167 Cal.App.4th 1332, 1337.)

Here, Cross-Defendant's challenge is based, in part, on the Court's ruling in a separate, unrelated case. In the Statement of Disqualification, Cross-Defendant admits he learned of those rulings approximately 10 days before the June 26, 2025 hearing on Cross-Defendant's motion to vacate. Nonetheless, Cross-Defendant asserted no claim of bias or disqualification until after he received the Court's tentative ruling prior to the hearing, he participated in the hearing and oral argument on his motion to vacate, and the Court made its final ruling denying that motion. Only at that time did Cross-Defendant seek to make an oral statement of disqualification. Neither this written Statement of Disqualification filed on July 3, 2025, nor the procedurally improper oral statement Cross-Defendant sought to make after the Court made its final ruling on June 26, 2025, can be said to have been made at the earliest practicable opportunity.

Moreover, Cross-Defendant's challenge also is based in part on the Court's earlier rulings in this case on Cross-Defendant's ex parte applications in March and May 2025. As to those such rulings, the Statement of Disqualification was not filed at the earliest practicable opportunity either.

Accordingly, the Statement of Disqualification is ordered stricken as untimely. (Code Civ. Proc., § 170.4, subd. (b).)

A Judge Has a Duty to Rule When Not Disqualified

A judge has both an ethical and statutory duty to decide cases where, as here, there are no legal grounds for disqualification. (Code Civ. Proc., § 170; Code Jud. Ethics, canon 3B(1).) The duty to decide cases if there are no legal grounds for disqualification is as strong as the duty to recuse if there are grounds. (United Farm Workers, supra, 170 Cal.App.3d at p. 100.)

The Pleading Was Not Properly Served

A statement of disqualification must be personally served on the judge or upon the judge's clerk provided the judge is present in the courthouse or in chambers. (Code Civ. Proc., § 170.3, subd. (c)(1).) Here, the Statement of Disqualification has not been personally served on the Court or the clerk. Cross-Defendant filed proof of service stating the Statement of Disqualification was e-served and served by mail. That fails to comply with the Code.

Conclusion

Because the Statement of Disqualification on its face discloses no legal grounds for disqualification and is untimely, it is stricken and denied. This determination is not an appealable order and may be reviewed only by a writ of mandate from the appropriate court of appeal sought within 10 days of notice to the parties of the decision. (Code Civ. Proc., § 170.3, subd. (d).) In the event a timely writ is sought, and an appellate court determines an answer should have been timely filed, an alternative answer is filed herewith. (See PBA, LLC, supra, 112 Cal.App.4th at p. 972.)

GOOD CAUSE APPEARING THEREFORE, it is so ordered.

Judge David Hesseltine

VERIFIED ANSWER OF JUDGE DAVID HESSELTINE

I, David Hesseltine, declare as follows:

1. I am a judge of the Superior Court of California, County of Orange, and have been assigned to preside over the instant matter. Except to the extent otherwise indicated, I have personal knowledge of the facts stated in this declaration. If called upon as a witness, I could and would competently testify to the matters stated herein.

2. The judicially noticeable court file reflects the complaint in this action was filed on August 18, 2015, judgment was entered against cross-defendant Adam Bereki (Cross-Defendant) on April 20, 2017, and that judgment was affirmed on appeal on October 31, 2018. Since March 18, 2025, I have presided over the post-judgment proceedings in this case.

3. On July 3, 2025, Cross-Defendant filed a document entitled "Verified Statement to Disqualify Judge David Hesseltine" (Statement of Disqualification). To my understanding, Cross-Defendant contends I am biased and prejudiced against him.

4. I specifically deny that I am biased or prejudiced for or against any party or attorney in this action. I further deny that I am unable to act fairly and impartially in this proceeding. I am not prejudiced or biased against or in favor of any party or attorney, nor am I unable to act impartially in this case. I have no personal interest in this proceeding and know of no reason why I cannot be fair and impartial.

5. I specifically deny that I have acted improperly in this action. All statements made, all actions taken, and all my rulings in this proceeding have been based on my understanding of the facts and law, and they have been in furtherance of what I believe to be my judicial duties. I have considered all relevant evidence and argument before making my rulings.

6. My statements and rulings are set forth in the court records and court files, which are the best evidence of the proceedings. To the extent moving party's account of those rulings and statements is inconsistent with the court records and court files, it is denied.

7. For example, Cross-Defendant's assertion I denied him a court reporter is not accurate or supported by the record. Cross-Defendant did not timely or properly request a court reporter in advance of either the March 18 or May 21, 2025 ex parte hearings. In the Statement of Disqualification, Cross-Defendant admits to recording these ex parte proceedings in violation of, inter alia, California Rules of Court, rule 1.150. Cross-Defendant, however, did properly request a court reporter for the June 26, 2025 hearing on the motion to vacate, and I made sure one was provided consistent with Cross-Defendant's fee waiver. Similarly, I deny I have made any rulings or orders enforcing the judgment in the case. Rather, I have merely denied Cross-Defendant's efforts to set aside the judgment that was affirmed on appeal.

8. I do not believe my recusal would serve the interests of justice.

9. I know of no facts or circumstances that would require my disqualification or recusal in this case.

10. Cross-Defendant did not personally serve either me or my clerk with the Statement of Disqualification as required by Code of Civil Procedure section 170.3, subdivision (c)(1). His proofs of service state he e-served and mail served the Statement of Disqualification.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed on July 11, 2025 at Santa Ana, California.

Tentative Ruling posted on the Internet and posted in the public hallway.

The Court having fully considered the arguments of all parties, both written and oral, as well as the evidence presented, now makes the tentative ruling final as follows:

MOTION TO VACATE

The Motion "to Vacate Void Judgment" filed by Mr. Adam Bereki is Denied. The arguments presented on this motion were already raised and rejected, and the appellate decision affirming the underlying judgment on the merits is now final. Upon remittitur, the trial court is revested with jurisdiction of the case only to carry out the judgment as ordered by the appellate court. (People v. Dutra (2006) 145 Cal.App.4th 1359, 1365-1366.) Arguments on the merits of the underlying judgment cannot be entertained anew here. The Motion is therefore Denied.

Counsel for the Humphreys to give notice.

MORNING SESSION

(PROCEEDINGS IN OPEN COURT:)

* * *

THE COURT: Thank you. Is there an appearance on court call, please.

Someone on court call, please.

THE CLERK: Mr. Bereki?

MR. BEREKI: Your Honor, can you hear me?

THE COURT: We can now. Please state your name.

MR. BEREKI: Adam Bereki in propria persona.

THE COURT: Thank you. Welcome.

MR. BEREKI: Thank you.

THE COURT: And then counsel for the plaintiff.

MR. BISSELL: William Bissell, Your Honor, for the opposing parties, Karen and Gary Humphreys.

THE COURT: Thank you very much. Okay. So we do have a court reporter here. I do want to find out how much time that you wanted to take to argue the matter, then I'll put that into my consideration as to when I'll call the case.

So, Mr. Bissell, did you have a time estimate, if any?

MR. BISSELL: Your Honor, we would submit on the tentative.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Bereki, do you have a time estimate at all?

MR. BEREKI: 10 -- 10 minutes, Your Honor. I just have some questions to ask of you for clarity because my next step is obviously to go to the US Supreme Court, so I just want some clarity on your tentative.

THE COURT: Okay. Do you have -- do you have the tentative? Have you been able to pull it off the internet?

MR. BEREKI: Yes. I'm looking at it, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right.

Okay. Very good. So I'll come back to you then.

MR. BEREKI: Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you for your patience.

(Recess.)

THE COURT: Okay. The matter is Spartan Associates versus Humphreys.

MR. BISSELL: Good morning, Your Honor. William Bissell for Respondents, the Humphreys.

THE COURT: Thank you.

Mr. Bereki, would you make your experience.

MR. BEREKI: Yes, Your Honor. Adam Bereki in

propria persona. Your Honor, this case hinges upon whether federal constitutional protections were denied and whether the trial in appellate court had jurisdiction to deny these protections. The matter goes to the jurisdiction of the Court, not the merit as was cited in the tentative.

While the rule that Your Honor cited may be applicable, it cannot be used to overrule the federal constitutional protections that I'm contending were denied here. This is held in Miranda v. Arizona at 384 US 436 at 491. The US Supreme Court stated there: Where rights secured by the Constitution are involved, there shall be no rule-making or legislation that would abrogate them.

The law of case doctrine that was cited in the tentative authority, which is People v. Dutra, does not apply here. It states: Because the rule is merely one of procedure and does not go to the jurisdiction of the Court, the doctrine will not be adhered to where its application will result in an unjust decision. For example, where there has been a manifest misapplication of existing principles resulting in substantial injustice.

That is exactly what I'm claiming here, Your Honor, that there's been a substantial injustice. And so, because this is a motion to vacate a void judgment, I'm challenging the jurisdiction of the court to issue the Humphreys costs, and they have not substantiated the jurisdiction of the court to violate the Constitution and award the costs or even to have judgment awarded in their favor.

THE COURT: Thank you very much. Thank you.

Counsel, did you want to say something?

MR. BISSELL: I'm not sure how to respond to that, Your Honor. It's clear that the question of jurisdiction has been determined not once but twice: Once at the trial court level, once at the appellate court level, and presented to the California Supreme Court and rejected as a -- as grounds for review at that level. The -- you know, the Superior Court is a court of general jurisdiction; it has jurisdiction over all matters not exclusively reserved to the Courts of Appeal or the California Supreme Court. It had subject matter jurisdiction over this action.

Mr. Bereki appeared at the trial in this matter, he presented his case, he presented evidence, he questioned witnesses, he cross-examined witnesses. So, clearly, he had submitted to personal jurisdiction in this case. So the jurisdiction question is, to me, put to rest. If he wants to raise it, he has to raise it at another level.

Now, Mr. Bereki here is -- he's unhappy with the Court's ruling, with the Court's decision. He thinks it's in error. Well, that's not a void judgment. That's a judgment you take up on appeal. He's done that. He's lost on appeal. If he's still unhappy, he has another level to go. That's where he has to go. He has no business being in this court today to present this motion.

THE COURT: Thank you.

Mr. Bereki?

MR. BEREKI: Yes, Your Honor. This is not just a matter of me being unhappy with the judgment. The Supreme Court in Kokesh v. SEC recently heard this matter regarding disgorgement. And what the Court -- what the matter was before that court was, I believe, Mr. Kokesh -- there was a judgment awarded, a disgorgement judgment awarded against him for about $40 million. And there was a statute in this case -- the determination was to whether that disgorgement penalty was -- was a penalty or not, because, if it was, then the statute of limitations would apply and he would not be liable for that disgorgement.

So the court heard the matter and determined that the disgorgement in that case was a penalty.

So, in this case, there's been a near-million-dollar disgorgement judgment awarded against me. And I'm claiming that that judgment, based upon the Kokesh decision by the Supreme Court, is a penalty. And if you apply the same holdings that they did in Kokesh to this case, it clearly evidences that the holding in this case is punitive as well.

So here's where the constitutional protections apply and why I'm challenging the jurisdiction of the court: Because a court does not have jurisdiction to violate either the California Constitution or the Constitution of the United States.

So if the trial in Appellate Court found that this award was not punitive, in spite of the fact that the US Supreme Court held that it was, I'm contending that the 14th Amendment protections for excessive punitive damage awards have to apply here and that essentially due process was violated because the court did not recognize that the judgment was punitive in nature.

So, in my mind, if the constitution's been violated, that's not a judicial act and the court doesn't have jurisdiction to do that, which is why I keep challenging jurisdiction. And, on appeal and in the trial court, I have not yet seen one authority presented by the Humphreys or by the courts that overrule the Supreme Court's authority in Kokesh or the more than 100 years' authority case cited in that case that discuss exactly what a punitive judgment is. And the judgment in this case, disgorgement, strictly to be nonpunitive under the laws of restitution -- nonpunitive restitutionary disgorgement can only apply to the profits that I made acting as the, quote/unquote, unlicensed contractor in this case. Can't order disgorgement of all the moneys were paid whatsoever, because, once you go beyond profits, as the Court held in Kokesh, it becomes punitive.

So the Humphreys have to be able to substantiate how they got a near-million-dollar award that wasn't punitive. And nowhere in this case and nowhere in any of the decisions of the Appellate Court or anywhere else do they do that. So it's very clear to me that this award that goes beyond any compensation that I received is punitive.

And if you look at the Exhibit B, which is the order for judgment in this case, it lists damages at $848,000. Well, my contention is these are punitive damages. Well, if they are, then the 14th Amendment's protections for excessive punitive damages apply. And if you apply those protections in this case, the maximum award that they could have got is $5,000; not a million.

So, I mean, this is hugely, hugely significant, and the jurisdictional issue is not just me being upset with the Court's judgment. I'm happy to take a lick and keep going on with life, but I want to

1. Vacate the Void Judgment in Case No. 30-2015-00805807, entered on April 20, 2017, and appeal entered on October 31, 2018, Case No. G055075, as a bill of pains and penalties in violation of Cal. Const. Art. I, § 9 and U.S. Const. Art. I, § 10, and excessive fine in violation of Cal. Const. Art. I, § 17, along with other Constitutional violations (listed below) based on new evidence of extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court pursuant to the Court's inherent equitable jurisdiction, Cal. Const. U.S. Const. Art. VI, § 2. The new evidence includes a U.S. Supreme Court case, Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71 (2020) defining the nature and scope of the equitable remedy "disgorgement" used to conceal the penal forfeiture in this case and Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. 4. Grant Declaratory Relief identifying each constitutional violation raised herein rendering the judgment void, including the unconstitutionality of Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(a) and (b) as applied.
5. Provide other relief in accordance with law or equity as the Court deems reasonable and just.

This motion is based on the Court's inherent equitable authority, Cal. Const. Art. I, § 26, U.S. Const. Art. ## MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

Defendant Adam Bereki moves to vacate the April 20, 2017, judgment in Case No. 30-2015-00805807 and the judgment in Court of Appeal Case No. G055075 issued October 31, 2018, a bill of pains and penalties imposing a ~$930,000 penalty ($848,000 under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(b) and ~$82,000 denied under § 7031(a)) for alleged unlicensed contracting, in violation of Cal. Const. Art. I, § 9, U.S. Const. Art. I, § 10, and other due/judicial process violations. The judgment is void ab initio, due to lack of personal and subject matter jurisdiction, extrinsic fraud, fraud on the court, and due/judicial process violations, including no evidence Defendant personally performed construction work, as required by CACI 4560(3), and misapplication of § 7031(a) and (b) when, assuming Defendant violated the licensing laws which he disputes, § 7028.5 would have been the correct statute. Section 7031(b), as applied, is a penal action, not a civil equitable remedy under the law of unjust enrichment referred to as "disgorgement", imposing punishment without executive authority or criminal safeguards as confirmed by new evidence: Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201, 1212 (2020) (§ 7031(b) imposes a punitive forfeiture, not equitable relief) and Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020) (disgorgement as an equitable remedy limited to net profits, unlike § 7031(b)'s total forfeiture penalty when value is returned but not offset). As applied, § 7031(b) is unconstitutional, violates due/judicial process, the Excessive Fines Clause, and the prohibition on bills of pains and penalties. The Court has a mandatory, non-discretionary ministerial duty to vacate this facially void judgment pursuant to Cal. Const. Art. I, § 26 and U.S. Const. Art. VI, § 2, as both the letter and spirit of the law require immediate vacatur of judgments lacking jurisdiction (Katzberg v. Regents of Univ. of Cal., 29 Cal. 4th 300, 306–07 (2002) (unconstitutional acts are void under Cal. Const.); Courts cannot affirm void judgments, which are nullities subject to direct and collateral attack at any time (Bennett v. Wilson, 122 Cal. 509, 513–14 (1898) ("[a] void judgment is, in legal effect, no judgment. By it no rights are divested. From it no rights can be obtained. Being worthless in itself, all proceedings founded upon it are equally worthless. It neither binds nor bars any one"; Elliot v. Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828). The Court must grant restitution of all rights and property lost and damages caused by the effects of the void judgment and the automatic summary penal license suspension under § 7071.17.

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

In 2012, Defendant's company, The Spartan Associates, Inc. (General Contractor License #927244), for which Defendant was the Qualifying Individual and Responsible Managing Officer, contracted with the Humphreys for a condominium remodel in Newport Beach (Ex. 1 [Reporter's Transcript 3/27/17] p.131, Lines 22-24 [Defendant is Qualifying Individual for Spartan's License]). All work on the project was by Spartan and its licensed subcontractors (Ex. 1: p. 125, Lines 2-8; p.140, Line 10 – p.143 Line 9 [Spartan and sub-contractors performed all work]; p. 129, Lines 12-15 [Spartan obtained building permits]; p.131, Line 25 – p.133, Line 8 [building permits admitted into evidence]; Ex. 2 [Building Permits]). The Humphreys paid Spartan and Defendant $848,000 but disputed ~$82,000 in money Spartan claimed it was owed. Spartan sued (ROA 2), and the Humphreys cross-complained under § 7031(b), alleging Defendant personally contracted without a license (ROA 144 [First Amended Cross-Complaint]). On March 28, 2017, Judge David Chaffee (Ret.) ruled Defendant was the unlicensed contractor, awarding $848,000 for "disgorgement" and denying ~$82,000 (ROA 193 [Minute Order 3/28/17]; RJN Ex. 1), despite no known evidence Defendant performed any work that required a license, as required by CACI 4560(3) (Decl. ¶ 15). The judgment was entered April 20, 2017 for "damages" (ROA 200; RJN Ex.1) despite no known evidence of "damages" presented at trial (Decl. ¶ 10). Defendant, self-represented, was misled about the action's penal nature, waiving jury trial (Decl. ¶'s 6, 7, 8). He was also denied counsel and all other heightened protections required in criminal proceedings (Id.). The ~$930,000 penalty, estimated 40 times his qualifying net worth (Decl. ¶ 12), triggered automatic summary license suspension under § 7071.17 (Decl. ¶'s 3, 12) causing an estimated $3 million in lost earnings. (Decl. ¶'s 2, 12). The Fourth District Court of Appeal (Case No. G055075) affirmed, and relief was denied by the California Supreme Court (Case No. S252954), U.S. Supreme Court (Case No. 18-1416), and U.S. District Court for the Central District of California (Case No. 8:19-CV-02050). (Decl. ¶ 19; RJN Ex.'s 1-12).

III. LEGAL STANDARD

A. Definition of a Facially Void Judgment

A judgment is void on its face when the defect rendering it invalid—specifically a lack of personal or subject matter jurisdiction or a fundamental due/judicial process violation—is apparent from the judgment roll or the court's record without requiring extrinsic evidence (Pittman v. Beck Park Apartments Ltd., 20 Cal. App. 5th 1009, 1020 (2018)). The judgment roll, per CCP § 670, includes the complaint, cross-complaint, judgment, and any documents referred to in the judgment, such as the trial record. Rochin v. Pat Johnson Mfg. Co., 67 Cal. App. 4th 1228, 1239 (1998) defines this standard: "A judgment void on its face because rendered when the court lacked personal or subject matter jurisdiction or exceeded its jurisdiction in granting relief which the court had no power to grant, is subject to collateral attack at any time. An attack on a void judgment may also be direct, since a court has inherent power, apart from statute, to correct its records by vacating a judgment which is void on its face, for such a judgment is a nullity and may be ignored." (Citations omitted). Voidness arises from: • Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction: The court lacked authority, such as by applying an incorrect statute and/or Plaintiff's failure to state a claim under a statute (Drink Tank Ventures LLC v. Real Soda in Real Bottles, Ltd., 71 Cal. App. 5th 528, 541 (2021) • Lack of Personal Jurisdiction: The court lacked authority over the defendant due to improper service of a criminal complaint (Albrecht v. United States, 273 U.S. 1, 8 (1923) (lack of proper service voids judgment)). • Due Process Violations: Fundamental procedural errors, such as imposing a judgment without evidentiary support or criminal safeguards, evident from the record (Pittman v. Beck Park Apartments Ltd., 20 Cal. App. 5th 1009, 1020 (2018), Thompson v. Louisville, 362 U.S. 199 (1960)). The court has a mandatory, non-discretionary ministerial duty to vacate a facially void judgment under Cal. Const. Art. I, § 26 and U.S. Const. Art. VI, § 2, as unconstitutional acts are without authority and void ab initio (Katzberg v. Regents of Univ. of Cal., 29 Cal. 4th 300, 306–07 (2002); Courts cannot affirm void judgments, which lack legal effect and are subject to collateral attack at any time (Bennett, Piersol, supra); Ware v. Stafford, 206 Cal. App. 2d 232, 239 (1962) (uncontroverted evidence of invalidity mandates vacatur)).

B. Equitable Jurisdiction to Vacate Void Judgments

Independent of statutory limits (which are intentionally not cited or relied on as statutes such as CCP § 473 cannot shield void and/or fraudulent judgments), the court's inherent equitable jurisdiction mandates vacatur of void judgments at any time, especially for extrinsic fraud or fraud on the court, without requiring facial voidness (Olivera v. Grace, 19 Cal. 2d 570, 574 (1942) (equity requires vacatur for fraud)). It is well established that equity will not permit a statute [such as § 7031(a) and/or (b) and/or CCP § 473] to be used as a cloak for fraud as statutes cannot shield fraudulent judgments and equity will not suffer a wrong to be without a remedy. Extrinsic fraud, such as preventing a fair hearing, requires vacatur (Estate of Sanders, 40 Cal. 3d 607, 614 (1985)). This is a mandatory non-discretionary ministerial duty as void judgments are nullities (Thompson v. Cook, 20 Cal. 2d at 569–73).

C. The Laws of Finality and of Case Do Not Apply to Void Judgments

The law of the case doctrine does not apply to void judgments or when new law alters the legal landscape. People v. Boyer, 38 Cal. 4th 412, 442 (2006). Additionally, "the doctrine is one of procedure, not jurisdiction, and it will not be applied where its application will result in an unjust decision, e.g., where there has been a manifest misapplication of existing principles resulting in substantial injustice" (Id. at p.441; citations and internal quotations omitted). New authorities (Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71 (2020); Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201 (2020)) and evidence of fraud and constitutional violations negate its application.

The rule of finality of judgments promotes judicial economy by treating a final judgment as conclusive, but this principle does not shield void judgments, which lack legal sanction due to jurisdictional or procedural defects. The U.S. Supreme Court in Elliot v. Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828), California Supreme Court in Rochin v. Pat Johnson Manufacturing Co., 67 Cal. App. 4th 1228, 1239 (1998), hold that a judgment issued by a court without jurisdiction is void. It "neither binds nor bars any one" (Rochin at p.1240) "and form[s] no bar to a remedy sought in opposition [...], even prior to a reversal" (Piersol at p.329) and cannot, therefore, support execution or preclude direct or collateral attack.

E. The Doctrines of Res Judicata and Collateral Estoppel Do Not Apply

The doctrines of res judicata and collateral estoppel also do not apply, as the judgment was procured by extrinsic fraud through the Humphreys' and Bissell's conspiracy to usurp executive power under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(a) and (b), with judicial acquiescence, rendering the court without subject matter and personal jurisdiction (Rochin v. Pat Johnson Manufacturing Co., 67 Cal. App. 4th at 1239 (res judicata inapplicable to void judgments). Defendant contends that because the Superior Court lacked personal and subject matter jurisdiction and the appellate Court to affirm, there was no "actual litigation" that occurred and no "issues" were lawfully "decided". As a result, no order, "final and on the merits", was ever made. Applying preclusion would undermine judicial integrity, contrary to Lucido v. Superior Court, 51 Cal. 3d 335, 342–43 (1990) (preclusion cannot shield fraud). People v. Dutra, 145 Cal. App. 4th 1359, 1365 (2006) limits post-remittitur jurisdiction to valid judgments, not void ones (Olivera v. Grace, 19 Cal. 2d 570, 574 (1942)). The judgment's facial voidness (Pittman v. Beck Park Apartments Ltd., 20 Cal. App. 5th 1009, 1020 (2018)) and prior affirmances do not bar relief.

IV. THIS COURT HAS A MANDATORY NON-DISCRETIONARY MINISTERIAL DUTY TO GRANT RELIEF

This Court has a mandatory, non-discretionary ministerial duty to grant Defendant's Motion to Vacate the void judgment in Case No. 30-2015-00805807 and appeal in Case No. G055075, as they were procured through extrinsic fraud, lack of subject matter and personal jurisdiction, and violations of fundamental constitutional protections, resulting in irreparable harm. The California Constitution, Article I, Section 26, declares its provisions "mandatory and prohibitory," rendering any action in violation thereof void (Katzberg v. Regents of Univ. of Cal., 29 Cal. 4th 300, 306–07 (2002)). Vanhorne's Lessee v. Dorrance, 2 U.S. 304, 308 (1795), reinforces that judicial acts contravening constitutional mandates are "absolutely void," leaving courts no discretion to uphold them.

The judgment's defects constitute structural jurisdictional errors, as defined in Johnson v. Zerbst, 304 U.S. 458, 467–68 (1938), where the U.S. Supreme Court held that denial of the Sixth Amendment right to counsel deprives a court of jurisdiction, rendering the proceeding void. Here, the Humphreys' unauthorized criminal prosecution under Business and Professions Code § 7031(a) and (b), lacking executive authority (Cal. Const. Art. V, § 1), and the fraudulent concealment of the action's penal nature denied Defendant criminal safeguards, including counsel, jury trial, and proof beyond a reasonable doubt, tainting the entire framework of the trial (Weaver v. Massachusetts, 582 U.S. 286, 295–96 (2017). These structural jurisdictional errors, compounded by extrinsic fraud, render the judgment void ab initio, mandating automatic reversal without discretion (Johnson v. Zerbst, 304 U.S. at 467–68; In re Enrique G., 140 Cal. App. 4th 676, 685 (2006)).

The Humphreys' prosecution, misrepresenting a criminal action as civil, constituted extrinsic fraud, denying Defendant a fair hearing (Olivera v. Grace, 19 Cal. 2d 570, 575 (1942)). This fraud, compounded by judicial acquiescence, corrupted the judicial process, stripping jurisdiction (County of Ventura v. Tillett, 133 Cal. App. 3d 105, 110 (1982); Albrecht v. United States, 273 U.S. 1, 8 (1923)). The court's authority to vacate this void judgment is unaffected by prior appeals, as MacMillan Petroleum Corp. v. Griffin held: a court may set aside a void order at any time. An appeal will not prevent the court from at any time lopping off what has been termed a dead limb on the judicial tree—a void order. 99 Cal. App. 2d 523, 533 (1950). A void judgment "neither binds nor bars any one" (Rochin at p.1240) "and form[s] no bar to a remedy sought in opposition [...], even prior to a reversal" (Piersol at p.329).

People v. Dutra clarifies that post-remittitur jurisdiction rests on the law of case doctrine, which is limited to valid judgments. As a void judgment, the judgments in the instant case and appeal are outside this limitation, allowing vacatur at any time (Olivera v. Grace, 19 Cal. 2d at 574).

The Court's inherent equitable powers obligate it to set aside this void judgment at any time (Olivera v. Grace, 19 Cal. 2d 570, 574 (1942)). The ongoing irreparable harm—foreclosure of Defendant's home, loss of ~$1.2 million in equity, and destruction of his livelihood—underscores the urgency of this duty. Equity demands that this Court grant the motion to vacate, declare the judgment void, and restore Defendant's rights, as any discretion to uphold a void judgment would contravene the Constitution's supremacy as previously evidenced.

V. ARGUMENT

A. Section 7031(b) Is a Penal Action, Not a Civil Remedy

Legislative History Confirms Punitive Intent: The Legislative History of § 7031(b) (RJN Ex. 13) and specifically bates number page 860 thereof, explicitly confirms its punitive intent: "Under the bill, individuals may bring such an action even if the contractor has fully performed. In that case, those using the unlicensed contractor have not been harmed in any way, but are nevertheless authorized to sue to recover compensation paid. As a result, those using unlicensed contractors are arguably unjustly enriched because they are able to reap the benefits of the work done by the unlicensed contractor and are then authorized by statute to sue to recover from the contractor all compensation paid". See also MW Erectors, Inc. v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Co., 36 Cal. 4th 412, 426 (2005) (confirming Legislative intent to "impose a stiff all-or-nothing penalty"); (Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201, 1212 (2020); Smith v. Doe, 538 U.S. 84, 92 (2003) (punitive intent indicates penal action)). This legislative intent to punish, rather than compensate, underscores the penal nature of § 7031(a) and (b) as applied.

Punitive Nature Voids Judgment: The judgment under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Codes § 7031(a) and (b) is void because it imposes a penal sanction without criminal safeguards, as evidenced in Hale v. Morgan, 22 Cal. 3d 388, 398–401 (1978). Hale holds that a statute is penal if it serves a punitive rather than remedial purpose, requires no proof of harm, and imposes disproportionate sanctions. Section 7031(a) and (b) as applied meet this criteria: they enforce a "stiff all-or-nothing penalty" to deter unlicensed contracting (MW Erectors, Inc. v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Co., 36 Cal. 4th 412, 426 (2005)), require no evidence of harm (Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201, 1212 (2020); see also e.g. Grand Prospect Partners, L.P. v. Ross Dress for Less, Inc., 232 Cal. App. 4th 1332, 1357, (2015) ("[a]ny provision by which money or property is to be forfeited without regard to the actual damage suffered calls for a penalty and is therefore void")) are intended as deterrents (White v. Cridlebraugh, 178. Cal.App. 4th 506, 519 (2009) ("[t]he statute's harsh results are justified by the importance of deterring violations of the licensing requirements" [Citation]), are not remedial/ do not restore the status quo as the Humphreys were unjustly enriched by receiving both the benefit of $930,000 in custom remodel work and a ~$848,000 refund—approximately 40 times Defendant's qualifying net worth and 186 times the maximum $5,000 fine for the same offense under § 7028 (criminal statute)—without proportionality or ability to pay analysis. § 7031(a) and (b) as applied also bypass any judicial discretion evidencing that it functions as a Legislative penalty. By applying this penal statute without executive authority, criminal protections (e.g., jury trial, counsel), or excessive fines safeguards, the court lacked jurisdiction, rendering the judgment facially void.

Not Equitable Disgorgement: Equitable disgorgement is limited to "net profits from wrongdoing" after deducting legitimate expenses (ie value conferred) (Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020)). Offsets were denied and no evidence showed profits or harm (ROA 193 [Minute Order for "disgorgement of funds paid" not profits]; Ex. 1 [Reporter's Transcript); ROA 144- First Cause of Action demanding "all sums paid" without reductions or offsets for expenses; Defendants claim for set off (ROA 166), was ignored making the ~$930,000 award a punitive forfeiture, not equitable disgorgement.

Private Prosecution Lacks Executive Authority: Sections 7031(a) and (b) target unlicensed contracting, a misdemeanor under § 7028 (maximum $5,000 fine), but allows private parties to impose penalties 186 times higher without executive authority for the same offense. Criminal prosecutions are exclusively reserved to the executive under Cal. Const. Art. V, § 1. The Humphreys' action was ultra vires, stripping jurisdiction.

Lack of Criminal Safeguards: By mislabeling § 7031(a) and (b) as civil, the court denied notice of penal consequences, jury trial, counsel, and proof beyond a reasonable doubt, which are required for punitive actions (In re Enrique G., 140 Cal. App. 4th 676, 685 (2006); Johnson v. Zerbst, 304 U.S. 458, 467–68 (1938) (right to counsel in punitive actions)).

B. The Duplicative Penalty Under § 7031(b) Constitutes Extrinsic Fraud and a Criminal Penalty

The judgment's imposition of a ~$930,000 penalty ($848,000 awarded under § 7031(b) and ~$82,000 denied under § 7031(a)) is facially void because it fraudulently requires Defendant to return compensation twice, covertly imposing a criminal fine within the definition of a public offense under Cal. Penal Code § 15, with the same elements as § 7028, through extrinsic fraud and without criminal safeguards. This duplicative penalty, misrepresented as a civil remedy (through 'civil' proceedings), denied Defendant a fair hearing and corrupted the judicial process (Estate of Sanders, 40 Cal. 3d 607, 614 (1985); Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co., 322 U.S. 238, 246 (1944)).

Defendant's company, The Spartan Associates, Inc. (License #927244), for which Defendant was the Qualifying Individual and Responsible Managing Officer, contracted with the Humphreys for a condominium remodel, performing all work through Spartan or its licensed subcontractors sub-contractors (Ex. 1 [Reporter's Transcript 3/27/17] p. 125, Lines 2-8; p.140, Line 10 – p.143 Line 9 [Spartan and subcontractors performed all work]; p. 129, Lines 12-15 [Spartan obtained permit]; p.131, Line 25 – p.133, Line 8 [building permits admitted into evidence]; Ex. 2 [Building Permits]). The Humphreys paid Spartan and Defendant $848,000, receiving equivalent value (Decl. ¶ 15), as no evidence in the judgment roll shows defective work or harm (ROA 144 [First Amended Cross-Complaint First Cause of Action for § 7031(b) alleging no evidence of harm or damages]; ROA 193 [Minute Order]-finding no evidence of harm or damages; (Decl. ¶ 10)). The Humphreys' First Amended Cross-Complaint under § 7031(b) (ROA 144) alleged Defendant personally contracted without a license, seeking "disgorgement" of all compensation paid. The court ordered Defendant to repay $848,000 (ROA 193 [Minute Order] awarding "Disgorgement of funds paid"), requiring him to return the same compensation twice—once through Spartan's licensed work and again through the judgment—without offsets for value provided. Defendants claim for set off (ROA 166), was ignored. This duplicative penalty is not equitable disgorgement, which requires deducting legitimate expenses to limit recovery to "net profits from wrongdoing" (Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71, 79 (2020)), but a punitive forfeiture, as the Humphreys retained ~$930,000 in remodel value yet received an $848,000 windfall (Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th 1201, 1212 (2020)). No evidence of Defendant's profits was admitted (Decl ¶11); Ex.1 Reporters Transcript]. Section 7031(b) mirrors § 7028, which criminalizes unlicensed contracting as a misdemeanor (max $5,000 fine), by targeting the same offense: performing or contracting for construction work without a license. Both statutes require identical elements—acting as a contractor without licensure—yet § 7031(b) imposes a penalty 186 times higher (~$930,000 vs. $5,000) without executive authority or criminal safeguards. Cal. Penal Code § 15 defines a crime or public offense as an act punishable by, inter alia, a fine, and Ex parte Clark, 24 Cal. App. 389, 394 (1914), holds that "punishment of any kind inflicted by law" is "essentially criminal." The ~$930,000 penalty, labeled "damages" (ROA 200; RJN Ex. 1 [Judgment Order]), is a fine for unlicensed contracting, rendering § 7031(a) and (b) covert criminal actions requiring criminal protections (In re Enrique G., 140 Cal. App. 4th 676, 685 (2006)). The Humphreys and their counsel, William Bissell, committed extrinsic fraud by misrepresenting this penal action as civil, inducing Defendant to waive his jury trial and forgo protections like counsel and proof beyond a reasonable doubt (Kulchar v. Kulchar, 1 Cal. 3d 467, 471 (1969)). No sworn information or criminal complaint was filed, required to vest the court with subject matter jurisdiction (Cal. Gov't Code § 100; Albrecht v. United States, 273 U.S. 1, 8 (1923)). Judge Chaffee's acquiescence, despite knowing § 7031's "draconian" effect (MW Erectors, Inc. v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Co., 36 Cal. 4th 412, 426 (2005); (Ex. 1 [Reporter's Transcript 3/28/17], p. 29, lines 13-15) entrenched this fraud, denying a fair hearing (Estate of Sanders, 40 Cal. 3d 607, 614 (1985)). The term "draconian" means excessively harsh or severe (Merriam-Webster Dictionary, https://www.merriam-webster.com/dictionary/draconian, accessed May 17, 2025). Section 7031(a) and (b)'s structure enables this fraud by transferring executive power to private parties, violating separation of powers (Cal. Const. Art. III, § 3; Art. V § 1; e.g. Linda R.S. v. Richard D., 410 U.S. 614, 619 (1973)). The ~$930,000 penalty, approximately 40 times Defendant's qualifying net worth, is grossly disproportionate, imposed without proportionality analysis, and failed to account for his inability to pay it (Art. I, § 17; People v. Cowan, 47 Cal. App. 5th 32, 44 (2020). This constitutes a bill of pains and penalties, punishing without judicial process (Cal. Const. Art. I, § 9; U.S. Const. Art. I, § 10). The judgment roll confirms these defects: the First Amended Cross-Complaint First Cause of Action (ROA 144) targets the same offense as § 7028, and the judgment (ROA 193 [Minute Order) imposes a fine (total forfeiture) without evidence of harm, Defendant's personal work, profits, or offsets for value conferred. The court lacked subject matter and personal jurisdiction due to this unauthorized prosecution, rendering the judgment facially void.

C. The Judgment Is Facially Void Under Pittman and *Rochin

The 2017 judgment is void on its face, as the judgment roll demonstrates lack of subject matter and personal jurisdiction and due process violations. The Court has a mandatory, non-discretionary ministerial duty to vacate this fascial void judgment pursuant to Pittman and Rochman, supported by Cal. Const. Art. I, § 26 and U.S. Const. Art. VI, § 2, as unconstitutional acts are void (Katzberg, Dorrance, Bennett, Piersol) for the following reasons:

Due Process Violation (Penal Nature Without Criminal Safeguards): The ~$930,000 penalty imposed under § 7031(a) and (b) by a court lacking personal and subject matter jurisdiction (imposed without criminal safeguards) is a bill of pains and penalties, violating due/judicial process. The judgment roll shows: 1) First-Amended Cross-Complaint First Cause of Action (ROA 144): seeks a total forfeiture under § 7031(b) of "all sums paid" (Id. p.4) without offsets for benefits conferred, profits, or allegations of damages, admitting intent to punish Defendant for violating § 7028 in a civil action. See also First Amended Trial Brief ROA 168 ("[Defendant] [...] was unlicensed as a contractor in violation of [...] § 7028. As a consequence, [Plaintiff's are entitled to recover all sums [...]"; 2) Judgment: ([Minute Order] ROA 193; RJN Ex. 1) imposes a $848,000 penalty (and denies ~$82,000 under § 7031(a), totaling ~$930,000) labeled as for "Disgorgement of Funds Paid" and "damages" ([Judgment Order] ROA 200, RJN Ex. 1) without jury trial or counsel. § 7031(b) does not mention or authorize "disgorgement" an equitable remedy (Liu v. SEC, 591 U.S. 71 (2020)) or "damages". It imposes a "stiff all-or-nothing penalty" (MW Erectors, Inc. v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Co., 36 Cal. 4th 412, 426 (2005); Legislative History, p.860. RJN Ex. 13 [intending punishment]). Pleadings show: 1) Defendant's self-represented status (ROA 141); 2) Imposition of a duplicative penalty requiring Defendant to repay $930,000 already returned or provided through Spartan's licensed work, covertly imposing a criminal fine under Cal. Penal Code § 15 for the same offense as § 7028, without criminal safeguards (ROA 193; Eisenberg Village v. Suffolk Constr. Co., 53 Cal. App. 5th at 1212; Hale v. Morgan, 22 Cal. 3d 388, 398–401 (1978); Ex parte Clark, 24 Cal. App. 389, 394 (1914) (punitive fines are criminal)). This punitive penalty without safeguards is facially void under Pittman and Rochin.

Due Process Violation (No Evidence Defendant Performed Work): The judgment violates due process because no known evidence showed Defendant personally performed work, as required by CACI 4560(3) (Thompson v City of Louisville, 362 U.S 199, 204 (1960) (judgment without evidence violates due process)). CACI 4560(3) instructs that to establish a violation of § 7031(b) the claimant must prove the defendant "performed work requiring a contractor's license." The judgment roll shows: 1) First-Amended Cross-Complaint First Cause of Action (ROA 144): Focuses on Plaintiff's agreement(s) not Defendant's performance, relying on emails showing communication, not work performed; The Cross-Complaint alleges Defendant orally agreed to perform home improvement work and "performed services" until August 31, 2013, but also claims he "substitute[d] his corporation [Spartan] as the contractor on the project." This vague "services" allegation lacks specificity about licensed work as required by CACI 4560(3), is unsupported by trial evidence, and contradicted by the proceeding allegation that "[Spartan] [w]as the contractor on the project". The Humphreys' trial strategy, adopted by the court, relied on emails suggesting Defendant contracted, potentially satisfying only CACI 4560(1)(contracting), not CACI 4560(3) (performing licensed work). Previously, the Humphreys also represented in their Motion for Summary Judgment (ROA 66, p. ii) that the "undisputed facts" were that Spartan, a "licensed building contractor," entered the agreement. Their later claim that Defendant acted independently lacks evidence, as the record is void of any work in the emails being performed by Defendant or anyone for that matter because it never was (the project in the emails was abandoned when the Humphreys bought a second unit); 2) Minute Order (ROA 193): Labels Defendant an "unlicensed contractor" without evidence of work performed. 3) Trial Record (Ex. 1 [Reporter's Transcript]): Shows only Spartan and its sub-contractors performed the work (Ex. 1 [Reporter's Transcript 3/27/17] p. 125, Lines 2-8; p.140, Line 10 – p.143 Line 9 [Spartan and sub-contractors performed all work]; p. 129, Lines 12-15 [Spartan obtained permit]; p.131, Line 25 – p.133, Line 8 [building permits admitted into evidence]; Ex. 2 [Building Permits]); Defendant admittedly received checks payable in his name and did issue some checks payable for work from his named bank account in which these checks were deposited. Banking deposits or withdrawals do not directly evidence work performance (Defendant was the sole owner of Spartan whose profits (and losses) as a subchapter S elected corporation flowed through to him); 4) The Humphreys' failure to present direct evidence that Defendant personally performed work required to be licensed, despite Spartan being listed on the Newport Beach building permits as the contractor (Id.); Spartan's sign posted on the property (Ex. 1 [Reporter's Transcript 3/27/17] p.148 Lines 19 – p.149, Line 15; p. 154, Lines 9-10 Exhibit 30-1 received; Ex.3 (annexed hereto)) and Spartan receiving $758,000 in payments from the Humphreys (Ex. 1 [Reporter's Transcript 3/27/17] p.141 Line 17 – p.143, Line 9) confirms the judgment's lack of evidentiary support (under both the preponderance and beyond reasonable doubt standards) rendering it void. (Thompson, supra). This absence of evidence is facially void under Pittman and Rochin. Furthermore, Defendant, as the Qualifying Individual (the being who possessed the experience and met the exam requirements; Ex. 1 [Reporter's Transcript 3/27/17] p.131, Lines 13-24)) for The Spartan Associates, Inc. (License #927244), deemed a "licensee" under § 7096, was competent as a general contractor as determined by the Contractors State License Board and acted under his and Spartan's license. Spartan's license cannot survive without a qualifying individual.

Lack of Subject Matter and Personal Jurisdiction (Misapplication of § 7031(a) and (b) and Unauthorized Prosecution): The court lacked subject matter and personal jurisdiction by applying Cal. Bus. & Prof. Codes § 7031(a) and (b), penal statutes imposing a "stiff all-or-nothing penalty" to deter unlicensed contracting (MW Erectors, supra). The Humphreys lacked constitutional standing and the capacity to prosecute a penal action under § 7031(b), which requires executive authority (Cal. Const. Art. V, § 1). The judgment roll confirms these defects: 1) No sworn information, indictment, or criminal complaint was served, rendering the prosecution ultra vires (Buis v State, 1990 OK CR 28, p.4 (1990) ("jurisdiction of all justiciable matters can only be exercised [...] through the filing of pleadings which are sufficient to invoke the power of the court to act" (internal quotations omitted); Albrecht v. United States, 273 U.S. 1, 8 (1923) ("[a] person may not be punished for a crime without a formal and sufficient accusation even if he voluntarily submits to the jurisdiction of the court"; Cal. Penal Codes § 949, § 959 § 1382 (mandating dismissal). 2) Cross-Complaint (ROA 144) fails to allege specific licensed work by Defendant; 3) Judgment (ROA 193, 200) applies § 7031(b), awarding $848,000 and denying ~$82,000 under § 7031(a) (totaling ~$930,000), without addressing Defendant's licensee status (e.g Ex. 1 [Reporter's Transcript 3/27/17] p.131, Lines 13-24) (RJN, Ex. 1 [Minute Orders and Judgement Order]), orders relief without a criminal complaint filed on behalf of the People or under Executive authority per Cal Const. Art. V, § 1; 3) Trial Record (Ex. 1 [Reporter's Transcript 3/27/17] p. 125, Lines 2-8; p.140, Line 10 – p.143 Line 9 [Spartan and sub-contractors performed all work]; p. 129, Lines 12-15 [Spartan obtained permit]; p.131, Line 25 – p.133, Line 8 [building permits admitted into evidence]; Ex. 2 [Building Permits]) shows Spartan performed the work and was paid for the work. A Plaintiff must have standing for each type of relief sought (e.g. Summers v. Earth Island Institute, 555 U.S. 488 (2009)) and a lack of standing is a jurisdictional defect (People ex rel. Becerra v. Superior Court, 29 Cal. App. 5th 486, 496 (2018)). Plaintiffs lack the capacity or standing to any relief awarded and never stated (and lawfully cannot) state a claim as § 7031(a) and (b) were applied in this case. These jurisdictional errors, combined with the unauthorized prosecution, render the judgment facially void (Pittman, Rochin).

Applicability of § 7028.5 (Exemption for Individuals Under Licensed Contractor's Supervision): Assuming arguendo Defendant violated the licensing laws, which he contests, the court erred by applying § 7031(b) instead of § 7028.5, which exempts individuals acting under a licensed contractor's supervision from such penalties (§ 7028.5(a)). Defendant, as the Qualifying Individual for The Spartan Associates, Inc. (License #927244), deemed a "licensee" under § 7096, was competent as a general contractor as determined by the Contractors State License Board and acted under Spartan's and his license (the license cannot survive without his qualifying it). The trial record and unrebutted testimony confirm all work requiring a license was performed by Spartan or its licensed subcontractors, rendering § 7031(b) inapplicable. To the extent §7028.5 could have applied, the court violated due process by applying the wrong statute (Drink Tank Ventures LLC v. Real Soda in Real Bottles, Ltd., 71 Cal. App. 5th 528, 541 (2021)). However, like § 7031(a) and (b) as applied, civil courts lack jurisdiction to adjudicate § 7028.5 claims, which are enforced by the Contractors State License Board (administrative fines) or criminal courts (misdemeanor prosecution).

D. Constitutional Violations Rendering the Judgment Void

Each violation below mandates vacatur under Cal. Const. Art. I, § 26: Due Process Violations (Cal. Const. Art. I, § 7): • Misrepresentation of the action as civil (ROA 144, seeking § 7028 punishment as "disgorgement" and judgment as "damages") (Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306, 314 (1950) (due process requires fair notice)). • Denial of jury trial due to reliance on misrepresentation (In re Enrique G., 140 Cal. App. 4th 676, 685 (2006); • Denial of counsel (Art. I, § 15; Johnson v. Zerbst, 304 U.S. 458, 467–68 (1938) (right to counsel in punitive actions; • Lack of personal jurisdiction: No criminal complaint filed • Unaddressed statute of limitations and set off defenses (ROA 166). • No evidence Defendant performed work (Thompson v. Louisville, 362 U.S. 199 (1960) • No evidence Defendant was a "person" required to be licensed (Thompson v. Louisville, 362 U.S. 199 (1960)• No evidence of harm or profits, with "damages" award (Thompson v. Louisville, 362 U.S. 199 (1960); ROA 193, 200; RJN Ex. 1) (Decl. ¶ 10)) • Excessive Fines (Cal. Const. Art. I, § 17;): The ~$930,000 penalty, ~40 times Defendant's qualifying net worth and 186 times § 7028's $5,000 cap, is grossly disproportionate, imposed without proportionality and Defendants ability to pay analysis (People v. Cowan, 47 Cal. App. 5th 32, 44 (2020). This bill of pains and penalties, imposed by a court acting coram non judice due to lack of jurisdiction, violates constitutional limits. Bill of Pains and Penalties (Cal. Const. Art. I, § 9; U.S. Const. Art. I, § 10): The penalty punished without judicial process, as the court lacked jurisdiction. Separation of Powers (Cal. Const. Art. III, § 3): The Humphreys' penal prosecution violated executive authority (Art. V, § 1, e.g Linda R.S. v. Richard D., 410 U.S. 614, 619 (1973)). Right to Contract and Liberty (Cal. Const. Art. I, § 1, U.S. Const. Art I, §10): The mandatory summary penal license suspension imposed pursuant to the judgment and §7071.17 when Defendant was unable to pay the judgment (Decl. ¶ 12)) impaired Spartan's contracts with other clients, violating Defendant's right to contract and liberty and vested right to licensure and resulted in another bill of pains and penalties. Inalienable Rights (Cal. Const. Art. I, § 1): The judgment and license suspension, individually and/or collectively violated Defendant's inalienable rights to liberty (right to lawful court access; to pursue employment in an ordinary vocation of life; to a judicial determination of rights in the first instance), property (to pursue employment and earn a living; vested property right in contractor's license), privacy (to not be harassed by lawless claims and ultra vires action/punishment sanctioned by state authorities but without authority), and the pursuit of happiness (to not be harassed by lawless claims and ultra vires state action/punishment). Petition for Redress (Cal. Const. Art. I, § 3): The imposition of appellate cost awards (Case No. G055075, RJN Ex. 2) retaliated against Defendant's attempts to seek redress, violating petition rights; additionally, these rights were further violated by refusal of the Cal. Supreme Court, U.S. Supreme Court, and U.S. District Court to exercise jurisdiction to vacate the void judgment (Elliot v. Piersol, 26 U.S. 328, 340 (1828) (enforcement of void judgment is trespass).

E. Due Process Violations in Appeal as Final Judgment

The appellate judgment in Case No. G055075, issued October 31, 2018, constitutes a further due process violation, rendering it void. Justices Aronson, Goethals, and O'Leary denied Defendant a full, fair, and impartial appeal by affirming a facially void judgment without addressing the Humphreys' lack of prosecutorial authority, the penal nature of §

7031(b), or the absence of evidence supporting the penalty. The trial court's lack of subject matter and personal jurisdiction due to the Humphreys' unauthorized prosecution deprived the appellate court of authority to affirm, mandating dismissal or remand (Elliot, Barrett). Their opinion relied on inapposite cases (S.E.C. v. Huffman, 996 F.2d 800 (5th Cir. 1993); U.S. v. Philip Morris USA, 310 F.Supp.2d 62 (D.D.C. 2004)) irrelevant to state contractor statutes and to support 7031(b) imposes an "equitable remedy" or "disgorgement". This failure to engage with Defendant's arguments (ROA 300 [Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Opposition to Motion to Vacate]- Ex. A- Appellant Adam Bereki's Opening Brief on Appeal) coupled with the imposition of appellate costs, constituted a structural error denying due process (In re Enrique G., 140 Cal. App. 4th 676, 685 (2006)). The appellate court lacked subject matter jurisdiction to affirm an unconstitutional judgment (Piersol, Bennett, Rochin), making the appeal a bill of pains and penalties. The court must vacate both the trial and appellate judgments as courts cannot affirm void judgments, which are nullities (Piersol, Bennett, Rochin, Thompson, Hill, Ware)

F. Denial of Judicial Remedy & Lack of Forum for Relief

Defendant's exhaustive efforts to vacate this void judgment in state and federal courts have been denied (RJN Ex.'s 1-12) leaving this Court as the sole forum.

VI. EXTRINSIC FRAUD AND FRAUD ON THE COURT

The Humphreys, their attorney William Bissell, Judge David Chaffee (Ret.), and Appellate Justices Richard Aronson, Thomas Goethals, and Kathleen O'Leary committed extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court by misrepresenting a penal action as civil, preventing a fair hearing and undermining the judicial process. Additionally, Judge James Di Cesare's post-appeal conduct further entrenched this fraud. These actions are cited to demonstrate the judgment's voidness, not to seek personal liability against judicial officers in this Motion.

A. Legal Standards for Extrinsic Fraud and Fraud on the Court

Extrinsic Fraud Under California law encompasses "almost any set of extrinsic circumstances which deprive a party of a fair adversary hearing" (Estate of Sanders, 40 Cal. 3d 607, 614 (1985) (Citations omitted)). It occurs when a party is prevented from presenting their claim or defense, such as through concealment of material facts, failure to provide proper notice, or misrepresentation of the action's nature (City and County of San Francisco v. Cartagena, 35 Cal. App. 4th 1061, 1067 (1995) (concealment of facts constitutes fraud); (Decl ¶'s 5, 13)). Examples include inducing a party to forgo legal representation or misleading them about the proceedings' true character (Kulchar v. Kulchar, 1 Cal. 3d 467, 471 (1969) (misrepresentation of action's nature is fraud)). Relief from a judgment procured by extrinsic fraud is an equitable remedy, requiring vacatur to restore fairness (Olivera v. Grace, 19 Cal. 2d 570, 574 (1942)).

Fraud on the court involves conduct that undermines the integrity of the judicial process, such as presenting a false claim or deceiving the court about the proceedings' nature. It includes willful misrepresentations by parties, counsel, or judicial officers that mislead the court into acting without lawful authority (Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co., 322 U.S. 238, 246 (1944) When established, fraud on the court renders the judgment void and mandates vacatur to protect judicial integrity (Id.).

B. Evidence of Extrinsic Fraud

Misrepresentations by the Humphreys and Bissell: The Humphreys, through their attorney William Bissell, filed a cross-complaint under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(b) (ROA 144), presenting it as a civil action for "disgorgement." By misrepresenting the action as civil, they concealed its penal nature, denying Defendant criminal safeguards such as a jury trial, counsel, and proof beyond a reasonable doubt. This deception prevented Defendant from challenging the Humphreys' standing or invoking procedural protections, constituting extrinsic fraud (Estate of Sanders, 40 Cal. 3d 607, 614 (1985)). Defendant, self-represented and not trained in civil or criminal procedure (Decl. ¶7), relied on these misrepresentations (Decl. ¶'s 4, 9), appearing at the proceedings, participating, and waiving his jury trial, believing the action was a legitimate civil dispute. The Humphreys further concealed the penal nature by filing a proposed judgment order in favor of their first cause of action (for "disgorgement" ROA 197) and "damages" (ROA 199) and later serving it on Defendant. See signed order ROA 200; RJN Ex. 1) when they failed to present any known evidence of damages at trial, as required California Civil Code § 3281 and Chaparkas v. Webb (178 Cal. App. 2d 257, 259 (1960)) (requiring evidence of harm for damages) and failed to present any evidence Plaintiff profited. This misrepresentation concealed § 7031(b)'s criminal nature, imposing a duplicative fine under Cal. Penal Code § 15 for the same offense as § 7028 (the criminal statute for unlicensed contracting), fraudulently requiring Defendant to repay $848,000 already returned through Spartan's work, denying him a fair and impartial hearing (Estate of Sanders, 40 Cal. 3d at 614). When Defendant challenged jurisdiction— through pleadings evidencing his lack of knowledge of procedure and practice—the Humphreys sought and were awarded sanctions with the obvious intent of silencing and/or further punishing him in his attempts to tell truth and expose the fraud: ([Writ of Error], electronically received 4/18/17 (Not Entered on Docket) yet recognized as Motion to Vacate and Denied (Notice of Rejection, 4/18/17), ignored by Humphreys; ROA 244 [Bill of Particulars] challenging jurisdiction, filed on the docket as "Notice-Other" by the Clerk, ignored by Humphreys; ROA 256 [Motion to Compel Production of Bill of Particulars]; ROA 260 [Opposition to Compel and Request for Sanctions] filed by the Humphreys; ROA 263 [Reply to Opposition; Motion to Disqualify Judge]; ROA 269 [Sanctions Award] for abuse of discovery.

Judicial Complicity by Judge Chaffee: Judge Chaffee's failure to address the Humphreys' lack of executive authority under Cal. Const. Art. V, § 1 or the statute of limitations under CCP § 340 (ROA 166), despite his knowledge of § 7031(b)'s penal nature (MW Erectors, supra), denied Defendant a fair and impartial hearing, constituting a structural error rendering the judgment void. Chaffee, who presided over MW Erectors, knew § 7031imposes a "stiff all-or-nothing penalty" and admitted imposing a forfeiture, referring to the statute as the "bellwether case" (Ex. 1 [Reporter's Transcript 3/28/17] p.28, Lines 20-24). He also signed a judgment order for "damages" of $848,000 (ROA 200; RJN Ex. 1) without the Humphreys stating a claim for damages (ROA 144, 160) and despite no evidence of harm, contradicting California Civil Code § 3281 and Chaparkas v. Webb (178 Cal. App. 2d 257, 259 (1960)) (requiring evidence of harm for damages). Judge Chaffee acknowledged § 7031(b)'s punitive nature, stating, "The Supreme Court... found that the contractor's license law is draconian in its effect" (Ex. 1 [Reporter's Transcript 3/28/17], p. 29, lines 13-15). He went on to also identify the judgement as a "forfeiture". Id. Line 17. The term "forfeit" has, since the beginning of America, been used to refer to a fine and punishment. Austin v. United States, 509 U.S. 602, 613-614 (1993). These admissions, yet failure to apply criminal safeguards including denying Defendant counsel, further misrepresented the action as civil, constituting extrinsic fraud (Kulchar v. Kulchar, 1 Cal. 3d 467, 471 (1969)).

Appellate Justices' Affirmation of Fraud: Justices Aronson, Goethals, and O'Leary's affirmance of a void judgment in Case No. G055075, despite Defendant's appellate briefs explicitly raising the Humphreys' lack of standing, the action's penal nature, and due process violations, (ROA 300 Ex. A [Opening Brief]; RJN Ex.2 [Appellate Opinion] p.8 "Bereki contends the disgorgement remedy is penal in nature and, therefore, a contractor defending against such claim must be afforded all criminal rights and protects. Not so. Disgorgement is a civil consequence") denied a fair and impartial appellate hearing, constituting a systemic error (Estate of Sanders, 40 Cal. 3d 607, 614 (1985)). Their opinion mischaracterized § 7031(b) as an "equitable remedy", relying on inapposite cases like S.E.C. v. Huffman, 996 F.2d 800 (5th Cir. 1993) (federal securities case irrelevant to state contractor law and § 7031(b)'s penal nature), and U.S. v. Philip Morris USA, 310 F.Supp.2d 62 (D.D.C. 2004) irrelevant to state contractor statutes and to support 7031(b) imposes an "equitable remedy" or "disgorgement", and also directly evaded Cal. Supreme Court precedent: courts may not resort to equitable considerations in defiance of section 7031 Lewis & Queen v. N. M. Ball Sons, 48 Cal 2d. 141, 152 (Cal. Supreme Ct. 1957); MW Erectors, supra (confirming Legislative intent to "impose a stiff all-or-nothing penalty"). Equally troubling, neither § 7031 nor its legislative history mentions anything about "disgorgement" or an "equitable remedy". The Appellate Justices' refusal to engage with Defendant's arguments (ROA 300 Ex. A), including his citation of Town of Gilbert Prosecutor's Office v. Downie, 218 Ariz. 466 (2008) (addressing the penal nature of "disgorgement" and limitations of prosecutorial authority), and their dismissal of all his claims as "meritless" (RJN Ex.2 [Opinion], p.2) without meaningful and substantive analysis, denied a full, fair, impartial and independent appellate review and a fair hearing, corrupting the judicial process, perpetuating the extrinsic fraud and jurisdictional defects.

Judge Di Cesare's Post-Appeal Misconduct: Judge Di Cesare's refusal to vacate the void judgment, despite Defendant's February 19, 2019, motion citing fraud and lack of jurisdiction (ROA 294), denied a fair and impartial opportunity to challenge the jurisdictional defects, constituting a systemic error. Di Cesare misapplied People v. Dutra, 145 Cal. App. 4th 1359 (2006), which limits trial court jurisdiction post-remittitur to valid judgments, not void ones (Olivera v. Grace, 19 Cal. 2d 570, 574 (1942)). By shielding the fraudulent judgment, Di Cesare perpetuated the extrinsic fraud (Kulchar v. Kulchar, 1 Cal. 3d 467, 471 (1969)). Di Cesare's misapplication of Dutra, irrelevant to void judgments, denied Defendant a fair and impartial hearing, as it shielded a jurisdictionally defective judgment and prevented meaningful and substantive review of Defendant's fraud and jurisdictional claims perpetuating the enforcement of a void judgment (Elliot, supra).

C. Evidence of Fraud on the Court

False Claim and Judicial Acquiescence: The Humphreys and Bissell deceived the court by presenting a penal prosecution as a civil action, leading Judge Chaffee to apply civil procedures and impose a ~$930,000 penalty without criminal safeguards. Chaffee's failure to question their authority or the action's nature corrupted the judicial process. The Appellate Justices' affirmance, despite clear evidence of fraud, further undermined judicial integrity by ratifying an unauthorized prosecution (Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co., 322 U.S. 238, 246 (1944)). Di Cesare's refusal to vacate post-appeal entrenched this deception, allowing a void judgment to persist (Id.).

Ongoing Harm and Judicial Failure: The fraud's impact continues through the foreclosure of Defendant's home on November 18, 2024, loss of ~$1.2 million in equity, and eviction under threat of forceful removal by the County Sheriff rooted in the fraudulent judgment. This ongoing harm underscores the court's duty to vacate to protect its integrity (Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co., 322 U.S. 238, 246 (1944)),restore Defendants rights and property, and compensate him for damages as a result of this egregious miscarriage of justice.

D. Meritorious Defense

Defendant has a meritorious defense: had the action been properly identified as criminal, he could have challenged the Humphreys' standing, invoked criminal protections, and sought dismissal based on the statute of limitations. The absence of evidence that Defendant performed work or was a person required to be licensed, and the misapplication of § 7031(b) instead of § 7028.5 further support his defense (executive branch enforces § 7028.5)).

E. Conclusion

As applied, § 7031(a) and (b) are unconstitutional, enabling private penal prosecutions without due process, violating Cal. Const. Art. I, § 7, and the Excessive Fines Clause Art. I, §17. This is facially void, requiring the court to vacate the judgment.

The extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court denied Defendant a fair hearing and corrupted the judicial process, harming Defendant and others in similar cases. Merely providing a building called a court and characters purporting to play official roles does not constitute a full, fair, impartial and/or independent hearing, trial, or appeal. The appearance of procedurally proper proceedings was a sham, as Defendant's issues and evidence have never been meaningfully addressed, denying him a trial, appeal, and access to judicial proceedings altogether (In re Enrique G., 140 Cal. App. 4th 676, 685 (2006)).

The extrinsic fraud and constitutional violations reflect systemic issues with Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031(a) and (b)'s penal application. See e.g. Judicial Council of California v. Jacobs Facilities, Inc., 239 Cal. App. 4th 882 (2015), an ~$22.7 million forfeiture was sought against a competent contractor for a licensing error, costing taxpayers $3.3 million according to a public records request received by Defendant. Similarly, Twenty-Nine Palms v. Bardos, 210 Cal. App. 4th 1435 (2012), imposed a ~$917,043 forfeiture, leading to bankruptcy (In re Bardos, Bankr. No. 10-41455-DS. Other cases include MW Erectors, Inc. v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Co., 36 Cal. 4th 412 (2005) (~$1,322,247 forfeiture); Banis Restaurant Design, Inc. v. Serrano, 134 Cal. App. 4th 1035 (2005) (~$212,821 forfeiture); Hydrotech Systems, Ltd. v. Oasis Waterpark, 52 Cal. 3d 988 (1991) (~$110,000 forfeiture); White v. Cridlebraugh, 178 Cal. App. 4th 506 (2009) (~$84,621 forfeiture); and Davis Moreno Constr., Inc. v. Frontier Steel Bldgs. Corp., 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 116566 ($168,025 forfeiture). The preliminary analysis of these judgement orders may require further study for accuracy. These cases evidence systemic issues, as courts consistently impose penal forfeitures without criminal safeguards or jurisdictional scrutiny, necessitating vacatur to prevent further harm. Equity demands vacatur of the void judgment to restore Defendant's rights and prevent further harm to him and others. Defendant requests all relief requested in the Notice and Memorandum of this Motion.

DECLARATION OF ADAM BEREKI

I, Adam Bereki, declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that:

1. I have personal knowledge of the facts herein, except where stated on information and belief.
2. The 2017 judgment was a bill of pains and penalties, procured through extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court, falsely alleging I personally contracted and performed work, with no known evidence I preformed work as required by CACI 4560(3). The $848,000 penalty under § 7031(b) required me to repay compensation already returned through Spartan's licensed work, constituting a duplicative criminal fine under Cal. Penal Code § 15 for the same offense as § 7028, imposed through extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court. The Humphreys lacked standing and capacity to prosecute a penal action, as no sworn information or indictment was filed and no criminal complaint was served on me. Each constitutional violation listed occurred, causing the summary suspension of my vested right to act as the qualifying individual on a general contractor license under § 7071.17 when I could not afford to pay the judgment. This unlawful suspension, another bill of pains and penalties, resulted in an estimated $3 million in lost earnings. These lost earnings are based on estimated income losses from 2017–2025 and are attributable to earnings that would have flowed through to me as the qualifying individual of a general contractor license whether Spartan's or any other I qualified for. I have incurred additional losses of over $5 million dollars in investigation and defense time to vacate this void judgment, calculated as hours spent at the rate of $300 per hour. This time is partially evidenced by my filings on the dockets of each case included as RJN Ex's 1-12, and the Exhibits attached to the Ex parte Application for Emergency Stay filed on 3/14/25 in this case, (ROA's 306-322). Expenses of approximately $1 million include legal fees, medical bills (emotional, psychological, and physical distress), office and stationary supplies and equipment, gas, court parking, etc. Upon judgment in my favor, or before if time permits, I will file a supplemental declaration with a detailed accounting of all lost rights property, and damages (e.g., ~$1.20 million in home equity), supported by financial records and affidavits.

3. The summary suspension of my contractor's license under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7071.17, ninety days after the April 20, 2017, judgment (ROA 200), deprived me of my liberty to pursue my livelihood as a general contractor without a judicial hearing or appeal process, constituting a bill of pains and penalties (Cal. Const. Art. I, § 9. U.S. Const. Art I. §10); As the Qualifying Individual for The Spartan Associates, Inc. (License #927244), I held a vested right, which was suspended or revoked despite evidence that Spartan was the contractor, as shown by Newport Beach building permits and the Humphreys' payments of $758,000 to Spartan as provided in the citations of evidence in the Memorandum of Points and Authorities of this Motion. I am not aware of any evidence presented by the Humphreys that I personally performed licensed work rendering the judgment and suspension void.
4. I relied on Karen and Gary Humphreys, William Bissell, and Judge Chaffee's representation that the proceeding in the Superior Court of California for the County of Orange, Case No. 30-2015-00805807 were civil.
5. I was never told I was being subjected to highly penal/criminal proceedings and that my vested right to act as a qualifying individual would be summarily suspended or revoked as additional punishment, thereby denying my right to occupation in my profession as a general contractor.
6. I was never informed of my right to assistance of counsel prior to trial or appeal to prepare a meaningful and substantive defense and did not receive assistant counsel at trial, on appeal, or anytime after, despite my request (RJN, Ex. 6 [Denial of Request for Counsel, U.S. District Court].
7. At the time of the trial I was not able to meaningfully and substantively represent myself because I had not received any formal training or education in civil and criminal procedure before trial or on appeal. I had little if any involved in the criminal aspect of prosecution during my time as a police officer as my duties focused on investigation, apprehension, and reporting, not prosecution.
8. I waived trial by jury, based on my belief and the representations of Karen and Gary Humphreys, William Bissell, and Judge Chaffee, that I was facing civil proceedings and that the proceedings would have the sanction of law and recognize and honor my inalienable and constitutional rights and property.

9. Had I known I was being subjected to highly penal/criminal proceedings include deprivation of my right to earn a living as a general contractor, I would have objected to any such unlawful proceedings prosecuted by the Humphreys and Bissell without lawful authority and in violation of my due/judicial process rights.
10. I am not aware of any evidence of damages that the Humphreys presented at trial that I or Spartan caused.
11. I am not aware of any evidence presented by the Humphreys at trial that I profited from their project and was thereby enriched, unjustly or otherwise.
12. The fine was excessive as my qualifying net worth (independent of disability pension and the ~$82k owed by the Humphreys to Spartan, some which would have passed through to me) at the time was approx. $23,000. The judgment was more than forty times this amount. This excessiveness resulted in the suspended/revoked my vested right to work as a general contractor under § 7071.17, resulting in an additional ~$3 million dollar penalty due to lost work as I was unable to pay the judgment, obtain a payment bond, or obtain vacatur in any court of California or the United States and ultimately was forced into bankruptcy. I repeatedly asked the Humphreys to come to an agreement so that I could notify the licensing board and have my qualifying individual status reinstated and resume work as a general contractor. They offered to settle for $300,000 which was still more than times my qualifying net worth.
13. The Humphreys terminated the project in August 2013. I cannot recall if Spartan received a "Notice of Cessation of Labor", but if not, believe it was produced by the Humphreys in discovery. The Notice, dated August 18, 2013, (Ex.5) addressed to Spartan (not me individually), orders Spartan to cease all construction activities at the Humphreys Project. I have never received a similar notice and believe this further evidences that the Humphreys knew their agreement was with and/or the work was performed by Spartan. See also the Humphreys Motion for Summary Judgment (ROA 66, p.ii) representing to the court that the "undisputed facts" were that "In April of 2012 The Spartan Associates entered into an agreement with the Humphreys for the performance of home improvement work on the Humphreys condominium unit" and that "The home improvement work to be performed by The Spartan Associates, Inc. on the Humphreys condominium unit had a value in excess of $500." I believe the Humphreys and Bissell also knew that they could not support a claim under §7031(b) unless these "undisputed facts" were swept under the rug. When they lost their Motion for Summary Judgment based on these facts, they simply changed them, with a few days more than a month before trial (ROA 127 scheduled for 1/17/17) they filed for leave to amend their cross-complaint with the new first cause of action under §7031(b) (ROA 139, 12/9/16) to not only defraud me but also ambush me and Spartan.

14. Based on my direct experience at trial and my forensic investigation of this case, I believe the Humphreys conspired with their attorney, William Bissell to use these proceedings disguised as civil with intent to defraud and punish me without lawful authority and destroy me financially over a dispute involving their home remodel. They knew that §7031(b) did not mention or authorize an equitable remedy, disgorgement, or damages. Their repeated representation of civil proceedings including their filings in this case, service of judgments and orders upon me, and the trial, were a lawless sham and fraud to steal money and property from me under force of the legislative, executive, and judicial powers of California and color of law that lack lawful authority. In furtherance of their conspiracy to defraud me and commit fraud and fraud on the court, they filed a Proposed Judgment Order for "damages" knowing no damages had been evidenced at trial. Their Memorandum of Points and Authorities in their Motion for Severance (ROA 160) admitted that "since the amount paid by the Humphreys to Mr. Bereki exceeds the amount of damages they are claiming [est.$350,000 [First Amended Cross-Complaint] if they were to prevail on their first cause of action, the trial of the remaining cause of action for damages would be unnecessary." (Id. p.5). Assuming arguendo, their allegations damages were $350k, the judgment they sought and were awarded, was nearly three times this amount and could, under no reasonable interpretation be considered "damages" when they intentionally severed their claim for damages. (ROA 160). Simply put, the Humphreys wanted something for nothing and thought they could perpetrate fraud on me and the court to get it.

15. Spartan provided $930,000 of custom remodel work including labor and materials to Karen Humphreys and Gary Humphreys that they requested for their home at 436 Via Lido Nord, Newport Beach, California. The Humphreys have not paid the remaining approx. $82,000 for the materials and labor (ROA 2) due at the time of invoice on or about August 1, 2013 and have not paid the interest due thereon through the date of this filing. If the Humphreys had an issue with Spartan or its sub-contractors work–fine–there is a judicial process to remedy those issues. This fraud and corruption of that process is not it!

16. As a result of the actions of the Humphreys, Bissell, Chaffee, Goethals, Aronson, O'Leary, and all other public officials (RJN Ex. 1-12, ROA's 306-322) who have refused to abide their sworn duty to take action to investigate and/or intervene to stop this lawless violences upon me and my family, I have and continue to suffer severe emotional distress and duress as a direct and proximate result. I began disclosing this emotional distress this in my Declaration filed as a First Amended Reply to Opposition of Motion to Compel Bill of Particulars, Motion to Vacate, and Disqualify Judge Chaffee for cause, dated October, 2, 2017 (ROA 267). The Declaration (p.3) stated:

> "I am experiencing emotional and psychological duress resulting from the domestic terrorism attacks by Plaintiffs, their counsel, and this court acting without lawful authority and in violation of numerous felony criminal codes as evidenced herein. I demand the court, Plaintiffs, and their counsel immediately cease and desist and am requesting an emergency protective order and civil harassment restraining order against William Bissell, and potentially Karen and Gary Humphreys and David Chaffee."
>
> Page 13 stated: "The Elements of Psychological and Emotional Distress I have experienced (and continue to to varying degrees) as a result of the continued unlawful actions of the court and William Bissell on behalf of Plaintiffs are: panic and anxiety attacks, severe depression including suicidal thoughts (no, I am not a danger to myself or others), severe headaches, neck and upper back tension, body tremors, loss of appetite, social inactivity, gut/digestion problems and pain, fear of physical and other harm, loss of liberty, and decreased ability to earn an income. My medical records are obviously confidential but will support thousands of dollars in Emergency Room visits to multiple hospitals, and observations, tests, and treatment by specialists including psychologists. I am currently under the care of a doctor whom I see three days per week to mitigate the intensity of stress in my body in an attempt to cope."

17. I declared these facts of distress again in a Declaration attached to the Notice of Motion and Motion to Vacate post remittitur (ROA 294, Exhibit E). In paragraphs 1 and 2, I stated:

> 1. I have been harmed financially, emotionally, psychologically, and physically by what I believe to be - including but not limited to -: fraud, gross negligence, abuse of process, intentional infliction of emotion distress, deprivations of my Rights and violations of due process by Plaintiffs Karen and Gary Humphreys and their Counsel, William Bissell, as evidenced in the Motion To Vacate Void Judgment filed forthwith on February 19, 2019, as well as previous motions I have filed in this case, such as the First Amended Reply To Opposition and Motion To Disqualify Judge For Cause on October 2, 2017.
> 2. I have been harmed financially, emotionally, psychologically, and physically by what I believe to be - including but not limited to -; fraud, gross negligence, deprivations of my Rights and violations of due process by David R. Chaffee, Kathleen O'Leary, Richard. M. Aronson, and Thomas M. Goethals, acting coram non judice as evidenced in the Motion To Vacate Void Judgment filed forthwith on February 19, 2019, as well as previous motions I have filed in this case, such as the First Amended Reply To Opposition and Motion To Disqualify Judge For Cause on October 2, 2017."

18. Based on my training and experience in law enforcement, I believe I am the victim of the following crimes, (this is not an exhaust list of crimes of Defendants): robbery (Cal. Penal Code § 211- forcible taking of my rights, liberty and property without lawful authority); grand theft (Penal Code § 187); burglary (Cal. Penal Code § 459- entering the Superior courthouse with intent to commit grand theft); conspiracy to commit the foregoing crimes on me by the Humphreys and Bissell (Cal. Penal Code § 182(a)(1)); conspiracy by the Humphreys and Bissell to falsely move and maintain the lawless proceedings against me under § 7031(b) (Cal. Penal Code § 182(a)(3)); and conspiracy by the Humphreys and Bissell to cheat and defraud me of my rights and property property, by any means which are in themselves criminal, or to obtain money or property by false pretenses or by false promises with fraudulent intent not to perform those promises (Cal. Penal Code § 182(a)(4)).

19. I continue to be afraid for my safety and that of my family due to these lawless acts of violence that continue to be perpetrated on us, including most recently the theft of our home and approx. $1.2 million dollars in home equity while all officials of State and government refuse to perform a full, fair, impartial and/or independent investigation and/or refuse to intervene to stop this lawless violence.

20. All exhibits are true copies of the documents they purport to be, with exception of nay bates numbering or other non-substantive marks I, or someone else may have made.

*****

WERE HELD IN OPEN COURT.)

THE COURT: GOOD MORNING, EVERYBODY. THIS IS THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INC. VERSUS HUMPHREYS.

AND FOR THE RECORD, YOU ARE?

MR. RUSSO: GOOD MORNING, YOUR HONOR. SCOTT RUSSO ON BEHALF OF SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INC.

THE COURT: MR. RUSSO, WITH YOU IS?

MR. BEREKI: ADAM BEREKI, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: MR. BEREKI, SPELL YOUR LAST NAME FOR ME, PLEASE.

MR. BEREKI: B-E-R-E-K-I.

THE COURT: AND YOU PRONOUNCE IT BEREKI?

MR. BEREKI: BEREKI. THE SECOND E IS SILENT.

THE COURT: GIVE ME A COUPLE WEEKS, I WILL GET IT THEN.

MR. BEREKI: SOUNDS GREAT.

MR. BISSELL: GOOD MORNING, YOUR HONOR. WILLIAM BISSELL FOR THE DEFENDANT/CROSS-COMPLAINANTS GARY HUMPHREYS AND KAREN HUMPHREYS.

THE COURT: GOOD MORNING.

MR. BISSELL: YOUR HONOR, I HAVE BEEN REFERRING TO

MR. BEREKI AS "MR. BEREKI" FOR OVER TWO YEARS NOW. SO IF I SAY "MR. BEREKI," IT'S NOT INTENDED TO SLIGHT.

MR. BEREKI: I WON'T BE OFFENDED.

THE COURT: I AM PRETTY SURE I HAVE BEEN SAYING "BEREKI" AS WELL FOR THE LAST COUPLE OF YEARS.

OKAY. SO SINCE REVIEWING, MY UNDERSTANDING IS -- THIS IS A COURT TRIAL OF HOW MANY DAYS?

MR. BISSELL: I WOULD THINK FOUR.

MR. RUSSO: IT WOULD BE FAIR.

THE COURT: AND WHAT HAPPENED TO OLD REPUBLIC SURETY ACCOUNT?

MR. RUSSO: I GUESS I HAVEN'T EVEN THOUGHT ABOUT THAT, YOUR HONOR. I AM ALSO DEFENDING THE SURETIES IN THIS.

THE COURT: I SEE YOU DOWN FOR SURETEC INSURANCE COMPANY, BUT I SEE THE LAW OFFICES OF HAUSMAN & SOSA REPRESENTING OLD REPUBLIC.

MR. BEREKI: YOUR HONOR, WE HAVE HAD DISCUSSIONS WITH BOTH THE SURETIES. THEY FELT I WAS COMPETENT TO HANDLE THE DEFENSE AND THEY DIDN'T WANT TO SPEND THE COST TO SEND AN ATTORNEY HERE. I DON'T HAVE A GREAT ANSWER FOR THAT, BUT THAT'S JUST WHAT HAPPENED.

MR. BISSELL: YOUR HONOR, I WOULD LIKE TO SHED SOME LIGHT ON THAT. THERE WAS A STIPULATION, I BELIEVE, SIGNED BY THE COURT WHERE OLD REPUBLIC -- OLD REPUBLIC ONLY, NOT SURETEC, WE ALL STIPULATED THAT THEY WOULDN'T

HAVE TO APPEAR, THAT THEY WOULD ABIDE BY WHATEVER RULING THE COURT HAD AS FAR AS THE LIABILITY OF THE BOND, THAT THE BOND WAS GOOD. THEY STIPULATED THE BOND HAD BEEN ISSUED, THE BOND WAS GOOD. THERE'S NO ISSUE THERE. AND THEY JUST FELT THAT TO COME IN HERE AND SIT -- AND WE ALL AGREED -- THROUGH FOUR, FIVE DAYS OF TRIAL, WHEN THEIR ISSUE REALLY WASN'T AT ISSUE, OTHER THAN THE LIABILITY, EVERYBODY STIPULATED THAT THEY WOULD GO WITH WHICHEVER WAY THE COURT RULED ON THE LIABILITY ISSUE.

THE COURT: SOUNDS FAMILIAR. HOPE I CAN FIND IT WITHIN THE FILE.

MR. BISSELL: THAT'S TO THE BEST OF MY RECOLLECTION.

MR. RUSSO: YOUR HONOR, THAT'S SURETEC'S POSITION ALSO.

THE COURT: BUT, AGAIN, I SEE YOU AS OF RECORD.

MR. RUSSO: FRANKLY, YOUR HONOR, THAT WAS SO LONG AGO, I FORGOT THERE WERE TWO. BUT THE ANSWER IS YES, I AM COUNSEL FOR SURETEC.

THE COURT: AND IT LOOKS LIKE WE HAVE A RETURN FROM THE CITY OF NEWPORT BEACH COMMUNITY PLANNING DEPARTMENT ON THE SUBPOENA YOU ISSUED.

MR. BISSELL: THERE SHOULD ALSO BE ONE FROM THE LIDO ISLE COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: SO THERE IS. HAVE YOU SEEN THE CONTENTS OF THESE?

MR. BISSELL: I HAVE NOT.

THE COURT: DO YOU WANT TO?

MR. BISSELL: I KNOW WHAT THEY ARE. THERE WERE COPIES OF DOCUMENTS OF WHICH WE HAD, SO, I ASSUME THAT'S ALL THEY'RE PRODUCING ALONG WITH THEIR DECLARATION AS TO BEING A BUSINESS RECORD.

THE COURT: LET'S LET MR. BISSELL AND MR. RUSSO HAVE A LOOK AT THE CONTENTS TO MAKE SURE EVERYTHING IS THERE. AND MR. BEREKI, OF COURSE.

MR. BISSELL: THAT'S WHAT WE ASKED FOR.

THE COURT: OKAY. WELL, WE WILL JUST LEAVE IT ON THE CLERK'S CALENDAR, AND WHEN YOU NEED IT, YOU WILL FILL US IN.

AND SO WITH REFERENCE TO THAT WHICH MR. BISSELL INDICATED, I HAVE IN MY HAND THE DOCUMENT ENTITLED "STIPULATION BETWEEN DEFENDANTS AND CROSS-COMPLAINANTS GARY HUMPHREYS, AN INDIVIDUAL, KAREN HUMPHREYS, AN INDIVIDUAL, PLAINTIFF AND CROSS-DEFENDANT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INC., A CALIFORNIA CORPORATION, AND CROSS-DEFENDANT OLD REPUBLIC SURETY COMPANY, A CORPORATION, RE: LIABILITY AND DAMAGES" -- AND THE ORDER THEREON. IT WAS FILED ON FEBRUARY 1, 2017. IT WAS -- SUBSTANTIALLY REFLECTS THAT WHICH MR. BISSELL INDICATED. I GUESS WE WON'T WORRY ABOUT OLD REPUBLIC -- SURE TO PAY IF THEY NEED TO.

ALL RIGHT. AND SO LET'S TALK FOR A SECOND

ABOUT EXHIBITS. MY UNDERSTANDING IS YOU ALL HAVE COME HERE TODAY WITH EXHIBITS, THE PLAINTIFFS' EXHIBITS NUMBERED 1 THROUGH 60 AND THE DEFENDANTS' EXHIBITS NUMBERED 1 THROUGH 60, OR SOMETHING ALONG THOSE LINES.

MR. RUSSO: IT'S ACTUALLY PLAINTIFFS' 1 THROUGH 137 AND DEFENDANTS' 1 THROUGH 62.

THE COURT: HOW DO WE FIX THIS PROBLEM?

MR. BISSELL: YOUR HONOR, WE HAD AN AGREEMENT BETWEEN COUNSEL -- AND THIS WAS BEFORE MR. BEREKI SUBSTITUTED OUT -- THAT WE WOULD TAKE NUMBERS 1 THROUGH 100 AND THEY WOULD TAKE NUMBERS 100 ON TO WHATEVER. WE HAVE OUR EXHIBITS KIND OF FINALIZED. WE KNEW THE EXTENT OF THE EXHIBITS. THEY WERE STILL WORKING PUTTING THEIRS TOGETHER. THEY DIDN'T KNOW HOW MANY THEY HAD SO THEY OPTED TO START WITH 100 ON INTO HOWEVER MANY THEY NEEDED.

THE COURT: TO INFINITY AND BEYOND.

MR. BISSELL: TO INFINITY AND BEYOND, YOUR HONOR.

MR. RUSSO: IT'S SIMPLY FIXED BY ADDING A TWO IN THE DEFENDANTS' EXHIBITS AND WE CAN GO FROM THERE. OR 200.

THE COURT: WELL, IF WE PUT A ONE IN FRONT OF YOUR NUMBER 1, I GUESS IT WOULD BE TEN RIGHT.

MR. RUSSO: WELL, WE HAVE 137.

THE COURT: PARDON?

MR. RUSSO: WE HAVE 137. I AM SUGGESTING IF WE STARTED WITH 200 ON THEIRS, WE WOULD BE FINE.

THE CLERK: I THINK IT'S EASIER IF WE PUT A FIVE OR THREE ON THE DEFENDANTS'.

THE COURT: SO 301 AND SO ON?

THE CLERK: BECAUSE MR. RUSSO HAS MORE THAN 100 AND DEFENSE IS ONLY 75.

THE COURT: SEEMS LIKE A GREAT IDEA.

OKAY. SO THE TWO OF YOU GET TO COLLECTIVELY MARK THOSE EXHIBITS, THE DEFENSE EXHIBITS. SO IT'S GOING TO BE 301 AND FOLLOWING.

MR. BISSELL: SHOULD I DO THAT NOW?

THE COURT: WELL, YOU MIGHT AS WELL BECAUSE I THINK I HAVE NOT HAD A CHANCE TO READ THE TRIAL BRIEFS YOU SUBMITTED. WE WILL TAKE 30 MINUTES, COME BACK AT 10:00 AND RE-JOIN AFTER I READ THAT, AND WE WILL GET ROLLING.

MR. RUSSO: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR. AS FAR AS THE READING OF THE BRIEFS, DO YOU RECALL THAT WE HAVE --

THE COURT: WE BIFURCATED.

MR. BISSELL: BIFURCATED. THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION WE TRIED FIRST. WE SUBMITTED A SEPARATE BRIEF ON THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION ALONE. I DON'T KNOW IF YOU WANT TO JUST FOCUS ON THAT AND WAIT --

MR. RUSSO: YOUR HONOR, MY UNDERSTANDING IS WE'RE NOT NECESSARILY TRYING THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION FIRST. WHAT WE'RE TRYING IS THE LICENSING ISSUES AND WHO THE CONTRACT WAS WITH, AS BETWEEN THE CORPORATION AND MR. BEREKI. THAT WAS MY UNDERSTANDING OF THE BIFURCATION.

MR. BISSELL: THAT IS, IN ESSENCE, THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION.

MR. RUSSO: WELL, IF WE GO INTO THE WHOLE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION, WE ARE TRYING -- THE WHOLE POINT TO NARROW THE CLAIM, AND THAT'S THE WHOLE CASE, WHICH IS SUBSTANTIALLY LONGER THAN THE BIFURCATION OF WHO THE CONTRACTORS WERE.

MR. BISSELL: NOT TRUE, YOUR HONOR. THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION ONLY GOES TO THE ISSUE OF WHO THE CONTRACTING PARTIES WERE AND THE LICENSING STATUS OF THOSE PARTIES. THERE'S NO ISSUES INVOLVING QUALITY OF WORKMANSHIP, NEGLIGENCE, FRAUD, NONE OF THE OTHER CAUSES OF ACTION APPEAR OR ARE A PART OF THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION. IT'S A DISTINCT SEPARATE CAUSE OF ACTION.

THE COURT: WELL, OKAY. LET ME GO REFRESH MY RECOLLECTION AS I READ THROUGH YOUR BRIEFS.

MR. RUSSO: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: SEE YOU IN ABOUT 30.

(RECESS.)

THE COURT: JUST TO CONFIRM, I DID NOT FIND PLAINTIFFS' TRIAL BRIEF IN MY STACK.

MR. RUSSO, DID I MISS IT?

MR. RUSSO: IT GOT FILED LAST NIGHT.
THE CLERK: LAST NIGHT?
MR. RUSSO: THAT'S WHEN I GAVE IT TO MY SECRETARY.
THE COURT: WHAT TIME? MIDNIGHT?
MR. RUSSO: PRETTY LATE, YOUR HONOR.
MR. BEREKI: I HAVE AN E-MAIL I COULD SEND OR I COULD READ IT.
THE COURT: MAYBE MR. RUSSO HAS A SPARE COPY OF HIS OWN.
MR. RUSSO: I DON'T, YOUR HONOR.
THE COURT: WE USUALLY LIKE TO GET COURTESY COPIES. IT'S PROBABLY OUT THERE IN THE BOWELS OF THE COMPUTER. DID YOU KNOW COMPUTERS HAVE BOWELS?
MR. RUSSO: I CAN ORALLY TELL YOU WHAT IT WOULD SAY, YOUR HONOR, IF YOU LIKE.
THE COURT: I WOULD RATHER READ IT. IN THE MEANTIME, JUST A QUICK DISCUSSION. I'M NOT SURE THERE'S A WHOLE LOT OF SUBSTANTIAL DIFFERENCE BETWEEN YOUR RESPECTIVE POSITIONS ON THIS BIFURCATION ISSUE. AT THE END OF THE DAY, MR. BISSELL'S POINT IS THE THRESHOLD ISSUE OF WHETHER OR NOT LICENSURE EXISTED. I HAVE NOT LOOKED AT ANY OF THE DOCUMENTS IN YOUR EXHIBITS YET. WITH RESPECT TO EITHER THE CONTRACT, I SEE REPRESENTATIONS IN MR. BISSELL'S PAPERS OF AN ORAL CONTRACT THAT CAUSES ME TO HAVE SOME CONCERN ALREADY. AND THEN I SEE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES AS A POSSIBLE PLAYER

LURKING ON THE HORIZON.

SO I DON'T THINK THAT WE'RE TRYING THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION IN THE SENSE OF DAMAGES SO MUCH AS WE'RE TRYING TO ASCERTAIN THE LICENSURE.

MR. RUSSO: I DON'T THINK THERE'S ANY DISPUTE THAT THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INC. WAS LICENSED. THE QUESTION WAS WHETHER OR NOT THE HUMPHREYS AGREEMENT WAS WITH SPARTAN ASSOCIATES OR MR. BEREKI PERSONALLY.

THE COURT: IS THERE WRITTEN CONTRACT BETWEEN SPARTAN ASSOCIATES AND THE HUMPHREYS?

MR. RUSSO: NO. WE HAVE E-MAILS THAT FORM THE CONTRACT. IT'S FROM MR. BEREKI, AND HE WOULD CONTEND THAT WAS ON BEHALF OF SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

IS THERE SOMETHING IN THE LETTERHEAD THAT SAYS SPARTAN ASSOCIATES AND HUMPHREYS ENTER INTO ANY AGREEMENT? NO, THERE IS NOT.

THE COURT: OKAY. WE'RE FOLLOWING UP ON THAT BRIEF OF YOURS.

MR. RUSSO: OH, GOOD.

THE CLERK: IT WILL TAKE A COUPLE OF MINUTES.

THE COURT: OKAY. SO ALL RIGHT. I TRIED TO FOCUS ON THE FIRST AMENDED CROSS-COMPLAINT FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION. THIS IS AGAINST CROSS-DEFENDANT MR. BEREKI -- MR. BEREKI.

MR. BEREKI: IT'S FINE.

MR. RUSSO: I HAD IT WRONG FOR TWO YEARS.

MR. BEREKI: IT'S FINE.

MR. BISSELL: LET'S JUST GO WITH "BEREKI."

THE COURT: THE CAUSE OF ACTION SEEKS DISGORGEMENT OF THE FUNDS PAID TO THE TUNE OF $848,000. THE INDICATION IN THE CROSS-COMPLAINT IN APRIL 2012 ORAL CONTRACT WITH LAST SERVICES, AUGUST 21, 2013, THERE IS INDICATED IN THAT CAUSE OF ACTION SOME EFFORTS TO SUBSTITUTE THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INC. AS THE CONTRACTING PARTY, BUT IT'S UNCLEAR AS TO HOW OR WHAT THAT WAS OR HOW IT WOULD WORK. I'M SURE THAT'S WHAT THIS TRIAL WILL CLARIFY FOR ME.

I ALSO SAY, MR. BISSELL, YOUR FILED REQUEST FOR STATEMENT OF DECISION AND WE WILL HAVE TO SEE. IF THIS IS A ONE DAY OR LESS TRIAL, WHICH SEEMS UNLIKELY IN THESE CIRCUMSTANCES, THEN IT WOULD BE TIMELY. IF IT IS MORE THAN A DAY, THEN IT IS PREMATURE.

MR. BISSELL: UNDERSTOOD, YOUR HONOR. I JUST WANTED TO COVER THE BASES.

THE COURT: COVER THE BASES. GOOD MAN, GOOD LAWYER. SO RATHER THAN WAIT FOR THE COMPUTER TO SPEW OUT SOMETHING SOME DAY, THERE PROBABLY ISN'T ANY REASON WHY WE CAN'T GET STARTED SINCE THE PRESENTATION FALLS TO THE CROSS-COMPLAINANTS TO START.

MR. RUSSO: PERFECT. WE CAN START WITH THE CROSS-COMPLAINANTS THEN.

THE COURT: DO YOU ALL FEEL CONSTRAINED TO GIVE ME

AN OPENING STATEMENT, OR DO YOU WANT TO JUST PUT ON YOUR EVIDENCE?

MR. BISSELL: THE OPENING STATEMENT MAY FLUSH OUT SLIGHTLY A BIT MORE THAN WHAT WAS IN THE BRIEF, AS FAR AS BACKGROUND AND FACTS.

THE COURT: IN THAT CASE, RIGHT SIDE, BEGIN.

MR. BISSELL: VERY WELL, YOUR HONOR. THANK YOU.

ONCE AGAIN, YOUR HONOR, WILLIAM BISSELL, REPRESENTING THE HUMPHREYS WHO ARE THE DEFENDANTS, CROSS-COMPLAINANTS IN THIS ACTION.

THIS OPENING STATEMENT IS JUST ADDRESSING, AS THE COURT HAS INDICATED, THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION PLED IN THE FIRST AMENDED.

THE COURT: CORRECT. WE WILL HOLD OFF ON THE GENERAL RUN OPENING STATEMENT UNTIL LATER.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR. THANK YOU.

FACTUALLY, THE WAY THIS CASE PLAYS OUT IN EARLY -- ACTUALLY, IN APRIL OF 2012, THE HUMPHREYS HAD PURCHASED A SMALL VACATION CONDOMINIUM UNIT IN NEWPORT BEACH. THEY LIVE UP IN CONTRA COSTA COUNTY, BAY AREA. THEY HAVE FAMILY AND FRIENDS DOWN HERE. BOTH HAVE CHILDREN DOWN HERE. THEY WANTED A PLACE WHERE THE FAMILIES COULD GET TOGETHER, KIDS COULD GO AND USE IT, FRIENDS COULD USE IT.

THE PROBLEM WAS THAT IT WAS A BUILDING THAT HAD BEEN BUILT IN 1955. IT WAS A RENTAL UNIT. IT WAS PROBABLY -- THERE WASN'T A WHOLE LOT THAT HAD BEEN DONE TO IT SINCE 1955. IT WAS OLD.

THE COURT: POSITIVELY ANTIQUE. IT'S ALMOST AS OLD AS I AM.

MR. BISSELL: STILL YOUNGER THAN I AM, YOUR HONOR.

IT NEEDED AN OVERHAUL. GARY HUMPHREYS HAD KNOWN MR. BEREKI THROUGH HIS BROTHER AND SON. MR. BEREKI HAD DONE SOME CONSTRUCTION WORK FOR BOTH OF THEM. AND IN FACT, MR. HUMPHREYS HAD MET MR. BEREKI AT HIS HOUSE WHERE MR. BEREKI WAS INSTALLING AN ENTERTAINMENT SYSTEM IN THE HOME.

THE HUMPHREYS, BEING FROM THE BAY AREA, DIDN'T KNOW ANY OTHER CONTRACTORS IN THE AREA.

THE COURT: ARE WE TALKING ELECTRONICS OR ARE WE TALKING ABOUT STRUCTURE?

MR. RUSSO: ELECTRONICS. WIRING. MAYBE STRUCTURAL TO THE EXTENT THAT YOU'RE INSTALLING A SUPPORT FOR A TV SCREEN, SOMETHING LIKE THAT, AS FAR AS MR. HUMPHREYS UNDERSTOOD. IT WASN'T HIS PROJECT. HE WASN'T VIABLY INVOLVED OR PAYING ATTENTION, BUT THAT WAS HIS UNDERSTANDING.

AGAIN, THE HUMPHREYS DIDN'T KNOW ANY OTHER CONTRACTORS IN THIS AREA. HIS BROTHER SAID, "HEY, WHY DON'T YOU GIVE ADAM BEREKI A CALL. HE DOES GOOD WORK FOR ME."

THE HUMPHREYS CONTACTED MR. BEREKI. THEY

SAID, "HEY, WE BOUGHT THIS CONDOMINIUM UNIT. IT'S SHABBY, IT NEEDS AN OVERHAUL. WOULD YOU BE INTERESTED IN LOOKING AT IT WITH US AND MAYBE DOING THE WORK ON THE PROJECT?

THEY WALKED THE PROJECT. MR. BEREKI COULDN'T BE MORE ENTHUSIASTIC. "AS A LICENSED CONTRACTOR, I HAVE DONE SEVERAL OF THESE TYPES OF JOBS. THIS IS WHAT I DO. I HAVE DONE WORK IN THE CITY OF NEWPORT BEACH. I KNOW THE CITY'S REGULATIONS. THIS IS RIGHT IN MY WHEELHOUSE. THIS IS SOMETHING WE WOULD BE VERY INTERESTED IN DOING. AND I ASSURE YOU YOU WILL BE MORE THAN HAPPY WITH THE RESULTS."

MR. BEREKI, A FEW DAYS LATER, I THINK IT WAS WITHIN THREE OR FOUR DAYS AFTER THEY WALKED THE PREMISES, MR. BEREKI SENT THE HUMPHREYS A PROPOSAL VIA E-MAIL. THIS PROPOSAL WAS ON MR. BEREKI'S PERSONAL ACCOUNT. THE PROPOSAL BASICALLY OUTLINED WHAT MR. BEREKI UNDERSTOOD THAT THE HUMPHREYS WANTED WITH REGARD TO THEIR RENOVATION OF THEIR CONDOMINIUM UNIT.

AND THE HUMPHREYS WENT THROUGH THAT AND THEY RESPONDED BACK VIA E-MAIL TO MR. BEREKI, IN WHICH THEY AGREED TO MANY OF THE ITEMS. AND THERE WAS MANY ITEMS THAT MR. BEREKI PROPOSED, AND NO, WE DON'T WANT TO DO THAT, MAYBE DO THIS INSTEAD. IN OTHER WORDS, HERE'S WHAT I PROPOSE, THE HUMPHREYS LOOKED AT IT AND SAYS "YES, THAT'S FINE. HERE'S THE CHANGES WE WANTED TO MAKE."

MR. BEREKI'S PROPOSAL, AS FAR AS FEES, WERE $500 A DAY FOR MYSELF AND $500 A DAY FOR MY PARTNER, MR. OVERLEY. MATERIALS WILL BE BILLED TO YOU AT THEIR COST, NO MARK UP, AND OTHER LABOR, AS NECESSARY, WILL BE BILLED AT COST. THE PROJECT WILL TAKE APPROXIMATELY TWO AND A HALF MONTHS AND SHOULD COST AROUND $143,000.

THIS WAS ALL MEMORIALIZED IN THE E-MAIL. WHEN I SAY THERE WAS AN ORAL AGREEMENT, THERE WAS AN ORAL AGREEMENT BUT IT WAS MEMORIALIZED IN THIS E-MAIL, THIS BACK AND FORTH BETWEEN THE HUMPHREYS AND MR. BEREKI. AND THAT IS DATED APRIL 5, 2012.

THE E-MAIL, AGAIN, WAS SENT ON MR. BEREKI'S PERSONAL E-MAIL ACCOUNT. IT WAS SIGNED OFF BY ADAM BEREKI. IT WAS -- IT MENTIONED MR. BEREKI ONLY AND HIS PARTNER, GLENN OVERLEY. THERE WAS ABSOLUTELY NO MENTION OF SPARTAN ASSOCIATES OR SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION IN THAT E-MAIL.

THE HUMPHREYS WILL TESTIFY THAT THERE IS NO MENTION OF SPARTAN ASSOCIATES OR SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION IN ANY OF THEIR CONVERSATIONS LEADING UP TO THE E-MAIL. THERE WAS NO MENTION OF SPARTAN ASSOCIATES WHEN THEY WALKED THE PROJECT. THERE WAS NO MENTION OF SPARTAN PERIOD.

NOW, THIS GOES A LITTLE BIT BEYOND OPENING, BUT UNDER THE LAW, CONTRACTS ARE INTERPRETED AT THE TIME

THEY ARE ENTERED INTO, AND THEY ARE INTERPRETED BY THEIR OBJECTIVE INTENT, NOT SOMEBODY'S UNEXPRESSED INTENT. SO IF THERE WAS AN INTENT TO, HEY, I AM REALLY SPARTAN, WHERE YOU'RE REALLY ENTERING INTO A CONTRACT WITH SPARTAN, THERE WAS INDICATION OF THAT. THE HUMPHREYS HAD ABSOLUTELY NO INDICATION. THEY HAD NEVER HEARD OF SPARTAN AT THIS POINT IN TIME.

NOW, ONCE THE PROJECT STARTED -- AND I SHOULD SAY THAT THE PROJECT INITIALLY WAS ONE SMALL -- I THINK IT WAS A 900 SQUARE FOOT CONDOMINIUM UNIT, AND THE ORIGINAL QUOTE OF $143,000, TWO AND A HALF MONTHS IS BASED ON REFURBISHING THAT ONE UNIT.

WELL, SHORTLY AFTER THAT, THE HUMPHREYS BOUGHT THE ADJACENT UNIT. SO IT'S AN UPSTAIRS UNIT, IF YOU CAN PICTURE IT.

THE COURT: WHEN DID THAT PURCHASE TAKE PLACE? WHAT WAS THE DATE OF THAT PURCHASE?

MR. BISSELL: MAY, I BELIEVE. MAY OF 2012.

THE COURT: THAT WAS THE DATE OF THE PURCHASE WHEN THE ESCROW CLOSED?

MR. BISSELL: OF THE SECOND UNIT, YES, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: WHEN DID ESCROW CLOSE ON THAT SECOND UNIT?

MR. BISSELL: MAY OF 2012.

THE COURT: THANK YOU.

MR. BISSELL: SO THE PROJECT BECAME LARGER THAN

ORIGINALLY ESTIMATED. IT WAS GOING TO BE ROUGHLY DOUBLE BECAUSE YOU HAD TWO UNITS OF THE SAME SIZE AND THEY WERE BOTH IN SIMILAR SHAPE, THEY BOTH NEEDED THE SAME STUFF DONE.

FOR THE FIRST THREE MONTHS ON THIS PROJECT, UNTIL JULY OF 2012 -- I SHOULD PREFACE THIS. SHORTLY AFTER THE APRIL 5 AGREEMENT, E-MAIL AGREEMENT, IF WE COULD CALL THAT THE AGREEMENT, MR. BEREKI'S ACKNOWLEDGED THAT WAS THE AGREEMENT, AND THERE WAS NO OTHER AGREEMENT. THAT WAS THE ONLY AGREEMENT.

WITHIN TWO OR THREE DAYS AFTER THAT, MR. BEREKI CONTACTED THE HUMPHREYS. IT COULD HAVE BEEN WITHIN A WEEK AFTER THAT. CONTACTED THE HUMPHREYS AND SAID I AM REALLY EXCITED ABOUT THIS, AND WE'RE GOING FORWARD. I NEED $15,000 AS A DOWN PAYMENT TO PAY -- I'VE GOT A LITTLE BIT OF LABOR ALREADY INVOLVED IN THIS THING AND THIS WILL SEE ME THROUGH FOR ANOTHER WEEK OR TWO. WOULD YOU SEND ME $15,000.

MS. HUMPHREYS E-MAILS BACK AND SAYS FINE. WHO DO YOU WANT IT MADE PAYABLE TO? SHE DIDN'T KNOW WHETHER OR NOT IT SHOULD BE PAYABLE TO MR. BEREKI, MR. BEREKI AND MR. OVERLEY, HIS PARTNER, A COMBINATION OF THE TWO? SHE DIDN'T KNOW. MR. BEREKI RESPONDS BACK, HEY, TO ADAM BEREKI.

SO FOR THE FIRST THREE MONTHS ON THIS PROJECT, UNTIL JULY OF 2012, THE HUMPHREYS PAID MR. BEREKI

PERSONALLY $100,000.

AFTER THE $100,000 IN JULY OF 2012, MR. BEREKI, I THINK THE LIGHTBULB WENT ON IN HIS HEAD THAT I THINK I SHOULD BE RUNNING THIS JOB THROUGH MY CORPORATION. HE HAD A CORPORATION APPARENTLY. IT WAS SPARTAN. HE SENT THE HUMPHREYS AN E-MAIL SAYING WOULD YOU PLEASE MAKE PAYMENTS TO SPARTAN.

NOW, AT THAT SAME TIME, UP UNTIL THAT TIME, MR. BEREKI WAS NOT ONLY REQUESTING AND ACCEPTING PAYMENTS TO HIM PERSONALLY, HE WAS PAYING ALL LABOR AND MATERIAL ON THE JOB IN HIS OWN ACCOUNT, AND ACTUALLY IT WAS SOMEONE'S MOTHER'S ACCOUNT. NOTHING ON THE SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION ACCOUNT. SPARTAN DIDN'T EXIST ON THIS JOB UNTIL JULY WHEN MR. BEREKI SAYS PLEASE START MAKING PAYMENTS TO SPARTAN.

THE HUMPHREYS DIDN'T KNOW WHO SPARTAN WAS OR WHAT SPARTAN WAS. THEY FIGURED IT WAS AN ACCOUNT MR. BEREKI WANTED TO RUN PAYMENTS THROUGH, A DBA, WHATEVER. IT REALLY DIDN'T REGISTER WITH THEM. IT WASN'T EXPLAINED TO THEM, CERTAINLY, WHAT SPARTAN WAS, JUST PLEASE COULD YOU MAKE PAYMENTS TO SPARTAN.

IT WAS IN JULY OF 2012, WHEN MR. BEREKI MADE THIS REQUEST, THAT HE APPLIED TO THE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA FOR SPARTAN TO BE AN EMPLOYER. IT WAS IN JULY OF 2012 WHEN MR. BEREKI APPLIED AS SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION FOR WORKERS'

COMPENSATION INSURANCE ON THIS JOB. SO SPARTAN DIDN'T EVEN EXIST ON THIS JOB UNTIL JULY OF 2012 AFTER THE HUMPHREYS HAD ALREADY ENTERED INTO THE AGREEMENT, AFTER THE HUMPHREYS HAD PAID MR. BEREKI $100,000 PERSONALLY.

AND THEN FROM THAT POINT FORWARD, PAYMENTS WERE MADE BOTH TO MR. BEREKI AND SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION. $188,000 WAS PAID PERSONALLY TO MR. BEREKI AND THE BALANCE OF $848,000 MINUS $184,000 WAS PAID TO SOME COMBINATION OF SPARTAN OR SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION AT MR. BEREKI'S REQUEST.

AGAIN, THE HUMPHREYS THINKING THIS WAS SOME ACCOUNT OR SOME BUSINESS DBA THAT ADAM WANTED TO USE, AND THAT WAS FINE WITH THEM.

BUT THE POINT IS, CONTRACTS ARE INTERPRETED AT THE TIME THEY ARE ENTERED INTO. AT THE TIME THIS CONTRACT WAS ENTERED INTO, AND FOR THE FIRST THREE MONTHS, SPARTAN DIDN'T EXIST ON THIS JOB.

MR. BEREKI, AFTER THE FACT, TRIED TO APPARENTLY -- IT APPEARS THAT HE TRIED TO INSERT SPARTAN INTO THE JOB. IT WAS TOO LATE AT THAT POINT. THERE WAS NO CONTRACT THAT WAS ENTERED INTO BETWEEN SPARTAN AND HUMPHREYS. IT JUST DIDN'T EXIST, THERE ISN'T ONE.

THE CONSEQUENCES, OF COURSE, WERE BRIEF, AND THAT'S THAT MR. BEREKI WASN'T LICENSED. HE HAD NO LICENSE TO ACT AS A CONTRACTOR. MR. BEREKI WAS AN RMO FOR HIS CORPORATION, SPARTAN. THE LAW SAYS WE COULD BE AN RMO, YOU CAN BE A RESPONSIBLE MANAGEMENT OFFICER, YOU CAN BE A RESPONSIBLE MANAGING EMPLOYEE, YOU CAN BE THE MANAGER, YOU CAN BE WHATEVER OF A PARTNERSHIP, CORPORATION, JOINT VENTURE, WHATEVER, BUT THAT DOESN'T GIVE YOU THE RIGHT TO GO OUT AND CONTRACT AS AN INDIVIDUAL. YOU HAVE TO HAVE A LICENSE AS AN INDIVIDUAL.

THE OTHER KEY HERE IS THAT MR. BEREKI -- MR. OVERLEY. MR. BEREKI REFERRED TO MR. OVERLEY IN THE AGREEMENT AS MY PARTNER, MY PARTNER MR. OVERLEY. MR. OVERLEY WORKED ON THE JOB. HE WAS PAID ON THE JOB FOR AT LEAST THE FIRST THREE MONTHS. THEN WHAT HAPPENED TO MR. OVERLEY, WE DON'T KNOW. THE HUMPHREYS FRANKLY NEVER MET MR. OVERLEY, NEVER SEEN HIM BEFORE. BUT HE WAS REPRESENTED TO BE MR. BEREKI'S PARTNER.

SO, AS HIS PARTNER, THERE WOULD HAVE TO BE, BY LAW, A LICENSE ISSUED TO THE TWO OF THEM AS A JOINT VENTURE OR PARTNERSHIP. EVEN IF BOTH WERE INDIVIDUALLY LICENSED, WHICH THEY WERE NOT, THEY WOULD STILL HAVE TO HAVE A JOINT VENTURE LICENSE. EVEN IF YOU COULD ARGUE THAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES WAS SOMEHOW INVOLVED IN THIS JOB, OR IF THE HUMPHREYS HAD CONTRACTED WITH SPARTAN -- AND THAT'S THE KEY, IS WHO THEY CONTRACTED WITH, NOT WHETHER OR NOT SPARTAN WAS INVOLVED. SPARTAN COULD BE INVOLVED AS MUCH AS IT WANTS. IT COULD BE A SUBCONTRACTOR OF MR. BEREKI, IT COULD BE A CO-VENTURE

WITH MR. BEREKI AND MR. OVERLEY. IT CAN BE WHATEVER IT WANTS, BUT IT DIDN'T CONTRACT WITH THE HUMPHREYS.

AND IF IT COULD BE ARGUED THAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES WAS SOMEHOW -- HAD SOMEHOW CONTRACTED WITH THE HUMPHREYS, IT WOULD STILL NEED TO BE A JOINT VENTURE LICENSE BETWEEN SPARTAN AND MR. OVERLEY, MR. BEREKI'S PARTNER. SO BEREKI HAS TESTIFIED UNDER OATH THAT MR. OVERLEY WAS AN INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR. THAT WAS HIS POSITION ON THIS JOB, INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR. SO ANY COMBINATION, ANY COMBINATION OF SPARTAN AND MR. OVERLEY, ANY COMBINATION OF MR. BEREKI AND MR. OVERLEY, ANY COMBINATION -- ANY COMBINATION YOU CAN COME UP WITH HAD TO HAVE A LICENSE ISSUED TO IT AS A JOINT VENTURE.

AND THE EVIDENCE WILL SHOW WE HAVE ASKED FOR THE PRODUCTION. THE BURDEN WILL SHIFT -- ONCE THE LICENSURE ISSUE BECOMES IN ISSUE, THE BURDEN SHIFTS TO THE CONTRACTOR TO PROVE LICENSURE. WE HAVE ASKED FOR PRODUCTION TODAY IN THIS TRIAL OF LICENSES ISSUED TO MR. BEREKI, INDIVIDUALLY, MR. OVERLEY, INDIVIDUALLY, OR TO THE TWO OF THEM AS A JOINT VENTURE, OR BETWEEN ANY COMBINATION OF THEM AND SPARTAN AS A JOINT VENTURE. AND I -- I STRONGLY SUSPECT THAT WE'RE NOT GOING TO SEE THAT LICENSE.

THE CONSEQUENCE OF THAT, YOUR HONOR, IS THAT, UNDER THE LAW -- AND IT'S A HARSH REMEDY AND -- THE COURT SHOULD UNDERSTAND THAT THE HUMPHREYS ARE PREPARED,

IF NECESSARY, TO -- YOU KNOW, WE CAN PUT ON EVIDENCE OF 18 MONTHS OF MALFEASANCE BY MR. BEREKI ON THIS JOB. NOT ONLY NEGLIGENCE, BUT OUTRIGHT FRAUD.

SO WE FEEL THAT THE DISGORGEMENT STATUTE, ALTHOUGH HARSH IN SOME INSTANCES, AND IN THIS INSTANCE IT'S NOT THAT HARSH, UNDER THE LAW, THE LAW IS VERY CLEAR THAT HARSH OR NOT, THE HUMPHREYS ARE ENTITLED TO RECOVER FROM MR. BEREKI ALL AMOUNTS PAID BY THEM ON THIS JOB. AND THAT AMOUNT TOTALS $848,000.

THANK YOU.

THE COURT: TURN TO MR. RUSSO.

MR. RUSSO: IF ONLY IT WAS SO SIMPLE, YOUR HONOR.

THERE'S NOT A DISPUTE HERE THAT THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INC. IS LICENSED TO BE A CONTRACTOR WITH THE CONTRACTOR STATE LICENSE BOARD. MR. BEREKI IS -- MR. BEREKI IS THE RMO OF THAT COMPANY. HE'S THE SOLE SHAREHOLDER OF THAT COMPANY.

SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, THIS WAS NOT THEIR FIRST -- IT'S -- IT WAS NOT ITS FIRST WORK WITH THE HUMPHREYS FAMILY. THE HUMPHREYS HAVE FAMILY MEMBERS THAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES DID PRIOR PROJECTS ON. THERE WERE TWO HOMES THAT WENT THROUGH SOME REMODEL WORK. THERE WAS A COMMERCIAL OFFICE BUILDING THAT MR. HUMPHREYS' BUSINESS IS IN WHERE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES DID THE TENANT IMPROVEMENT WORK ON THAT PRIOR TO THIS PROJECT. SPARTAN ASSOCIATES WAS AN ENTITY KNOWN BY THE

HUMPHREYS PRIOR TO THE HUMPHREYS ENGAGING SPARTAN ASSOCIATES FOR THIS PROJECT.

WAS MR. BEREKI A LITTLE LAX ON THE FIRST COUPLE OF CHECKS GOING TO HIM PERSONALLY? YES. BUT AT ALL TIMES THIS WAS A SPARTAN ASSOCIATES PROJECT. YOU WILL SEE -- THE EVIDENCE WILL SHOW THAT OVER $500,000 OF THE PAYMENTS FOR THIS REMODEL PROJECT FOR THE TWO WATERFRONT HOMES WERE PAYABLE TO THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

WHAT'S BEEN REFERRED TO HERE IN THIS CROSS-COMPLAINT IS THE DISGORGEMENT STATUTE FOR UNLICENSED CONTRACTING. THAT'S WHEN A PERSON WHO DOESN'T HAVE A LICENSE ACCEPTS MONEY FOR WORK WHERE A LICENSE WAS REQUIRED. SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, THE RECIPIENT OF MOST OF THAT MONEY, THE VAST MAJORITY, WAS A LICENSED CONTRACTOR SO THE STATUTE DOESN'T APPLY. IT IS NOT A QUESTION IN MY MIND OF WHO WE ARE CONTRACTED WITH, IT'S WAS THIS UNLICENSED WORK? CERTAINLY IT WAS NOT.

THE BUILDING PERMITS PULLED ON THIS PROJECT WERE PULLED BY SPARTAN ASSOCIATES. THE HUMPHREYS WERE WELL AWARE THAT THE BUILDING PERMITS WERE PULLED BY SPARTAN ASSOCIATES. EVERY SUBCONTRACT ENTERED INTO ON THIS PROJECT WAS ENTERED INTO BY THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INC., NOT MR. BEREKI PERSONALLY. SO WE WILL HAVE THOSE IN EVIDENCE.

AT THE END OF THE DAY, THIS IS NOT TOO DISSIMILAR TO THE FACT THAT OFTEN CLIENTS WILL WRITE TO

AN ATTORNEY -- EVEN THOUGH THEY WANT THE CHECKS WRITTEN TO THE LAW FIRM, THEY WILL WRITE IT TO THE ATTORNEY AND THEY DEPOSIT IT INTO THE LAW FIRM'S ACCOUNT. AT THE END OF THE DAY, THE DISGORGEMENT STATUTE DOES NOT APPLY BECAUSE WE DO HAVE LICENSURE HERE, THE PROPER B LICENSE.

WE WILL GET INTO THE OTHER ISSUES, THE QUALITY OF THE WORK AND WHETHER OR NOT THERE WAS ANY OVERCHARGING AND ALL THAT, BUT THERE WAS A LICENSE. THERE WAS A B LICENSE. THE VAST MAJORITY OF THE MONEY WENT THERE. ALL THE PERMITS, ALL THE ENGAGEMENTS IN THIS WERE WITH THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INC. THE HUMPHREYS WERE WELL AWARE OF THAT THE WHOLE TIME.

THE COURT: MR. BEREKI, TO YOU.

MR. BEREKI: JUST A FEW MINOR THINGS. I JUST WANTED TO TOUCH ON THE WORDS "ORAL AGREEMENT" THAT KEEP COMING UP. THAT BOX DOWN THERE WITH THE 4-INCH BINDERS ARE THE E-MAILS. THERE WAS OVER A THOUSAND OF THEM THAT HAPPENED BETWEEN MYSELF AND THE HUMPHREYS FAMILY, KAREN AND GARY, AND THE ARCHITECTS, ENGINEERS, PEOPLE INVOLVED WITH THE PROJECT. THERE'S HUNDREDS OF PAGES IN THOSE E-MAILS OF AGREEMENTS WHERE SOMETHING HAPPENED ON THE PROJECT AND I SAID, "HEY, WE GOT THIS PROBLEM, WHAT DO YOU WANT TO DO ABOUT IT?" THEY WOULD SAY, "YES, GO AHEAD AND SPEND THIS," OR "NO, DON'T DO THAT." TO ME, THAT WAS EITHER PERMISSION TO DO OR NOT TO DO SOMETHING, AND THAT, IN ITSELF, WAS AN AGREEMENT. SO THERE'S COUNTLESS OTHER FORMS OF AGREEMENT THAT WENT ON IN ADDITION TO THAT INITIAL ORAL AGREEMENT THAT YOU HAD.

THE COURT: LET ME ASK YOU, DID YOU PREPARE A FINAL TRIAL BRIEF HERE, SIR?

MR. BEREKI: I DID NOT, SIR.

THE COURT: OKAY. HOPEFULLY SOMEBODY ON YOUR SIDE OF THE TABLE, AT SOME POINT, WILL BE ABLE TO GIVE ME SOME LAW WITH RESPECT TO THE ISSUE OF E-MAILS VIS-A-VIS WRITTEN CONTRACTS AND WHETHER AN E-MAIL IN AND OF ITSELF CONSTITUTES A WRITTEN CONTRACT.

MR. BEREKI: YES, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: MR. RUSSO IS MAKING NOTES.

MR. RUSSO: YES, I AM, YOUR HONOR.

MR. BEREKI: JUST A NOTE ABOUT THE RESPONSIBLE MANAGING OFFICER ON THE LICENSE. I WASN'T, TO MY KNOWLEDGE, THE RMO. I WAS THE QUALIFIED INDIVIDUAL. I AM THE ONE THAT HAD THE WORK EXPERIENCE AND THE ONE THAT TOOK THE TEST TO OBTAIN THE LICENSE.

AND AS FAR AS GLENN OVERLEY AND MY REFERENCE TO BEING A PARTNER, HE'S A PARTNER THAT I WORK WITH. HE'S A FELLOW RETIRED POLICE OFFICER, LIKE I AM. AND JUST LIKE IN POLICE WORK I REFER TO PEOPLE AS MY PARTNER, HE'S MY PARTNER. HE'S MY MAIN GUY. WE WORK TOGETHER.

IT DOESN'T MEAN THAT I HAVE A LICENSE ISSUE WITH HIM OR A BUSINESS WITH HIM. IN FACT, WE RENTED

SOME SHOP SPACE. HE HAS A DIFFERENT COMPANY, AND I HAVE A DIFFERENT COMPANY. BUT TOGETHER ON THIS PROJECT, WE CAME TOGETHER AND PARTNERED TO DO THE WORK.

THAT'S ALL I HAVE, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: THANK YOU. SO LET'S START WITH MR. BISSELL. YOUR FIRST WITNESS, PLEASE.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR. THE CROSS-COMPLAINANTS CALL KAREN HUMPHREYS.

THE COURT: MS. HUMPHREYS, IF YOU WILL STOP RIGHT THERE, FACE THE CLERK, AND RAISE YOUR RIGHT HAND. SHE IS GOING TO SWEAR YOU IN.

THE CLERK: DO YOU SOLEMNLY STATE THAT THE EVIDENCE YOU'RE ABOUT TO GIVE IN THE CASE NOW PENDING BEFORE THIS COURT SHALL BE THE TRUTH, THE WHOLE TRUTH, AND NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH, SO HELP YOU GOD?

THE WITNESS: I DO.

THE CLERK: CAN YOU PLEASE STATE YOUR FULL NAME FOR THE RECORD AND SPELL IT.

THE WITNESS: KAREN, K-A-R-E-N, MOE, M-O-E, HUMPHREYS, H-U-M-P-H-R-E-Y-S.

THE COURT: GOOD MORNING, MS. HUMPHREYS. HAVE A SEAT RIGHT HERE, PLEASE.

THE WITNESS: THANK YOU.

THE COURT: HOW ARE YOU?

THE WITNESS: I AM OKAY.

THE COURT: LET'S TALK ABOUT THE CLARITY OF THE RECORD FOR A SECOND. THIS IS FOR EVERYBODY'S BENEFIT HERE. COUPLE THINGS. NUMBER ONE, SPEAK UP. EVERYBODY IN THE COURTROOM NEEDS TO HEAR WHAT YOU SAY. FEEL FREE TO PULL DOWN THE MICROPHONE. I DON'T GUARANTEE IT WORKS VERY WELL. USUALLY, IF YOU'RE CLOSER THAN ABOUT 4 INCHES, WE GET A LOT OF FEEDBACK AND TYPICALLY YOU BLOW EVERYBODY OUT OF THE ROOM. IF YOU'RE FURTHER THAN ABOUT 12 INCHES, IT DOESN'T PICK UP VERY WELL. SO THERE'S A SWEET SPOT IN THERE SOMEWHERE IF YOU NEED IT. I'M NOT SURE YOU REALLY DO. YOU HAVE A GOOD VOICE.

NEXT, IF YOU ARE ASKED A QUESTION THAT CALLS FOR A "YES" OR "NO" ANSWER, IF YOU WOULD USE THE WORD APPROPRIATE, YES OR NO. SOME PEOPLE LIKE TO SAY, "UH-HUH" OR "HUH-HUH." I'M NOT ACCUSING YOU, I DON'T KNOW YOU. I AM JUST LETTING YOU KNOW "UH-HUH" AND "HUH-HUH" LOOK BOTH -- BOTH LOOK THE SAME IN THE TRANSCRIPT FOR THIS TRIAL. THAT LEADS TO CONFUSION, WHICH IS SOMETHING WE CANNOT AFFORD.

THE WITNESS: ALL RIGHT. YES.

THE COURT: GOOD ANSWER. THE COURT REPORTER WHO IS SITTING RIGHT IN FRONT OF YOU, HIS JOB IS TO TAKE DOWN EVERY WORD SPOKEN IN THE COURTROOM. AND SO IT'S IMPORTANT TO KEEP IN MIND THAT EVEN A GOOD COURT REPORTER LIKE THE GENTLEMAN SITTING HERE, MR. DO, CANNOT TAKE DOWN TWO PEOPLE TALKING AT THE SAME TIME. WHAT THIS MEANS IS THAT, WELL, I KNOW YOU CAN ANTICIPATE THE

QUESTIONS, AND LIKE MOST OF US IN LIFE, YOU WOULD LIKE TO GET THIS OVER WITH, LET THE QUESTION BE FULLY POSED BEFORE YOU START RESPONDING TO IT. SIMILARLY, I WILL TRY TO NOT LET THE LAWYERS CUT YOU OFF MIDSTREAM. THAT WAY THE RECORD CAN BE CLEAR AND CLEAN, AND IF ANY REVIEWING COURT NEEDS TO LOOK AT IT, THEY WILL BE ABLE TO UNDERSTAND WHAT HAPPENED HERE.

READY TO GO?

THE WITNESS: I AM.

THE COURT: MR. BISSELL, TO YOU, PLEASE.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q GOOD MORNING, MS. HUMPHREYS.

A GOOD MORNING.

Q ARE YOU AND YOUR HUSBAND CURRENTLY THE OWNERS OF THE UPSTAIRS UNIT AT 436 VIA LIDO NORD?

A YES, WE ARE.

Q AND DID THAT PARTICULAR UNIT USED TO BE TWO SEPARATE UNITS?

A YES.

Q DID YOU AND YOUR HUSBAND BUY BOTH OF THOSE UNITS SEPARATELY?

A YES, WE DID.

Q AND WHEN DID YOU BUY EACH OF THOSE UNITS?

A WE BOUGHT THE FIRST UNIT IN NOVEMBER/DECEMBER OF 2011, AND WE BOUGHT THE SECOND ONE IN MAY OF 2012.

Q AND WHAT WAS YOUR PURPOSE FOR BUYING THOSE TWO UNITS?

A WE WANTED TO ESTABLISH A PLACE WHERE WE COULD HAVE SOME VACATION TIME AND SPEND MORE TIME IN OUR RETIREMENT WHERE WE WOULD BE CLOSE TO OUR FAMILY AND FRIENDS IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA. MY PERSONAL HOPE WAS THERE WOULD BE GRANDCHILDREN COMING SOON. WITH THE FIELD OF DREAMS IDEA OF BUILD IT AND THEY WILL COME.

THE COURT: HOW DID THAT WORK OUT?

THE WITNESS: NOT YET.

THE COURT: OKAY.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q AND TO EXPAND ON THE FIELD OF DREAMS CONCEPT, WHERE IS THIS CONDOMINIUM SITUATED?

A IT'S ON LIDO ISLE, AN UPSTAIRS OF A TWO -- NOW A TWO-UNIT DUPLEX. IT HAS THE BEACH RIGHT IN FRONT OF IT.

Q AND AN UNOBSTRUCTED VIEW OF THE BAY?

A YES, IT IS ON THE BAY FRONT FACING BALBOA BAY BEACH CLUB, ACROSS THAT DIRECTION.

Q ARE YOU FAMILIAR WITH ADAM BEREKI?

A YES, I AM.

Q WHEN DID YOU FIRST MEET MR. BEREKI?

A I MET HIM ON APRIL 1ST, 2012.
Q AND WHAT WAS THE OCCASION OF YOUR FIRST MEETING WITH MR. BEREKI?
A GARY AND I MET WITH HIM AT THE SITE OF THE CONDO, INSIDE THE CONDO TO DO A WALK-THROUGH TO TALK ABOUT THE POSSIBILITIES OF UPGRADING IT WITH HIM.
Q AND YOU NEVER MET MR. BEREKI BEFORE THAT?
A I HAD NOT MET HIM BEFORE THAT DAY.
Q HAD YOU EVER SPOKEN TO MR. BEREKI BEFORE THAT DAY?
A I HAD NOT SPOKEN WITH HIM BEFORE THAT DAY.
Q AT THE TIME THAT YOU PURCHASED THE TWO CONDOMINIUM UNITS, HAD MR. BEREKI DONE ANY CONSTRUCTION WORK FOR YOU OR YOUR HUSBAND?
A NO, HE HAD NOT.
Q SO AFTER BUYING UNIT -- THE FIRST OF THE TWO UNITS, YOU HAD A WALK-THROUGH WITH MR. BEREKI ON THE PREMISES?
A YES.
Q AND DID YOU COMMUNICATE WITH MR. BEREKI AND WHAT YOU WERE THINKING OF HAVING HIM DO?
A YES. AS WE WALKED THROUGH, WE POINTED OUT THINGS WE THOUGHT NEEDED TO BE FIXED AND TALKED ABOUT IDEAS FOR UPGRADING IT.
Q CAN YOU DESCRIBE IN GENERAL WHAT YOUR THINKING WAS? WHAT DID YOU WANT TO HAVE DONE TO THE UNIT AT THAT TIME?

A YES, I CAN. THE UNIT HAD A GREAT LOCATION, BUT IT HAD BEEN USED PRIMARILY FOR A LONG PERIOD OF TIME AS A RENTAL UNIT. SO IT WAS IN BAD REPAIR WITH DIRTY CARPET AND DINGS AND MARKS ON THE WALLS, THAT SORT OF THING, AND IT WASN'T IN SHAPE FOR US TO ENJOY AS A FAMILY HOME YET. SO WE WANTED TO CHANGE OUT THE WINDOWS, WE WANTED TO GET THE ELECTRICAL UP TO CODE. IT WAS STILL IN THE ORIGINAL 1950S CODE ON THAT. AND, BASICALLY, FRESHEN IT UP, MAKE IT FEEL MORE WELCOMING.

Q DID YOU COMMUNICATE THAT TO MR. BEREKI?

A YES.

Q AT THE TIME OF THE WALK-THROUGH?

A YES.

Q DID MR. BEREKI INDICATE TO YOU THAT HE WAS INTERESTED IN DOING THE PROJECT?

A YES, HE DID. HE WAS VERY EXCITED ABOUT THE OPPORTUNITY, AND HE HAD A LOT OF IDEAS OF WHAT HE COULD DO TO HELP US CREATE THAT KIND OF A SPACE.

Q MS. HUMPHREYS, YOU MIGHT HAVE A FEW EXHIBIT BOOKS IN FRONT OF YOU -- I'M NOT SURE -- OR BEHIND YOU. THERE'S ONE THAT INDICATES IT IS DEFENDANTS' TRIAL EXHIBITS.

A YEAH, THIS ONE?

Q YEAH. COULD YOU PUT THAT IN FRONT OF YOU.

A YES.

THE COURT: ALL EXHIBIT BOOKS ARE SIZED AND DESIGNED TO INDUCE HERNIAS, SO BE CAREFUL.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q IF YOU WILL TURN TO -- IT'S TAB NO. 4 IN YOUR EXHIBIT BOOK, BUT ACTUALLY EXHIBIT 304.

A I CAN. BUT IT'S BLANK.

Q I'M SORRY. LET ME BACKTRACK. IF YOU -- WHAT HAPPENED TO IT?

THE COURT: POINT IT AT ME.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q WHAT ARE YOU SAYING?

THE COURT: IT IS MISSING AN EXHIBIT.

MR. BISSELL: I HAVE EXTRAS.

THE WITNESS: YOUR HONOR, I FORGOT MY READING GLASSES.

THE COURT: STEP ON OVER AND GET THEM, OR PERHAPS MR. HUMPHREYS CAN HELP YOU OUT.

MR. HUMPHREYS: OH, IS THIS IT?

THE WITNESS: YEAH.

MR. BISSELL: IS ANYBODY ELSE'S EXHIBIT BOOK MISSING NUMBER 4?

MR. RUSSO: MINE IS. THANK YOU.

THE COURT: I HAVE IT.

MR. BISSELL: ALL RIGHT.

THE COURT: LOOKS TO BE A GMAIL OF APRIL 6, 2012.

MR. BISSELL: THAT'S CORRECT.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q ALTHOUGH I'M GOING TO ASK YOU, INSTEAD OF FLIPPING FIRST TO NUMBER 4, IF YOU WOULD FLIP TO EXHIBIT NUMBER 303, TABBED 3 IN YOUR BOOK.

A YES.

Q HAVE YOU SEEN THIS DOCUMENT BEFORE?

A YES.

Q CAN YOU TELL US WHAT THAT IS?

A THIS IS A COPY OF E-MAILS THAT WERE SENT ON APRIL 5, 2012 FROM ME TO ADAM BEREKI AT HIS PERSONAL GMAIL ACCOUNT, AND IT ALSO INCLUDES THE TEXT OF THE E-MAIL HE HAD SENT TO ME EARLIER IN THE DAY.

Q SO THIS WAS A RESPONSE TO MR. BEREKI'S E-MAIL EARLIER THE SAME DAY?

A YES.

Q AND THIS EXHIBIT NUMBER 303 CONTAINS BOTH MR. BEREKI'S ORIGINAL E-MAIL TO YOU AND YOUR RESPONSE TO HIM?

A YES.

Q AND CAN YOU TELL ME IN GENERAL THE GIST OF WHAT MR. BEREKI'S COMMUNICATION WAS TO YOU IN THIS E-MAIL?

A HE HAD MEMORIALIZED A LOT OF THE CONVERSATION THAT WE HAD AND HE ALSO -- IT WAS HIS PROPOSAL FOR THE SCOPE OF WORK, BASICALLY, AND TALKING ABOUT THINGS THAT HE THOUGHT WE TALKED ABOUT.

Q OKAY. AND DID YOU READ -- DID YOU GO OVER HIS E-MAIL EARLIER IN THE DAY WITH MR. HUMPHREYS?

A YES, I DID.

Q DID THE TWO OF YOU DISCUSS THAT?

A YES, WE DID.

Q AND DID YOU UNDERSTAND IT TO BE MR. BEREKI'S PROPOSAL FOR THE WORK HE WANTED TO DO?

A YES, WE DID.

Q AND DID YOU TALK ABOUT THAT PROPOSAL WITH MR. HUMPHREYS?

A YES, WE TALKED ABOUT IT TOGETHER.

Q DID YOU COME UP WITH A RESPONSE TO MR. BEREKI'S PROPOSAL?

A YES, WE CREATED THIS RESPONSE TOGETHER.

Q IS THAT RESPONSE ALSO INCLUDED IN THIS APRIL 5, 2012, E-MAIL, EXHIBIT 303?

A YES.

Q DOES THE EXHIBIT YOU'RE REFERRING TO NOW, THE EXHIBIT 303, DOES THAT ACCURATELY DESCRIBE WHAT YOUR UNDERSTANDING WAS AS TO WHAT THE PROJECT WOULD ENTAIL AS OF APRIL 5, 2012?

A YES, IT DID.

Q AND IN GENERAL TERMS, WHAT WAS THAT UNDERSTANDING?

A MY UNDERSTANDING IS THAT WE WERE HIRING ADAM AND HIS PARTNER GLENN OVERLEY TO FRESHEN UP THE UNIT BY UPGRADING THE ELECTRICAL, DOING SOME CABINETRY WORK, REPLACING WINDOWS, PAINTING, THAT SORT OF THING.

Q AND DID MR. BEREKI INDICATE WHO IT WAS THAT HE WAS PROPOSING WOULD DO THIS WORK?

A YES.

Q AND WHO DID HE -- CAN YOU POINT OUT IN THIS EXHIBIT 303 WHERE MR. BEREKI IS INDICATING WHO HE'S PROPOSING TO HAVE -- TO DO THE WORK?

A YES, I CAN. ON PAGE 5, SECOND-TO-THE-LAST PARAGRAPH.

Q COULD YOU READ THAT PARAGRAPH, PLEASE?

A "AS I SHARED WITH YOU ON SUNDAY MY PARTNER GLENN AND I CHARGE $75" --

THE REPORTER: SLOW DOWN.

THE COURT: SLOW DOWN FOR THE COURT REPORTER. WHEN YOU ARE READING YOUR CADENCE PICKED UP BY A FACTOR OF ABOUT 50 PERCENT. HAVE YOU SEEN THAT COMMERCIAL YEARS AGO WITH THE GUY TALKING ABOUT 3,000 MILES AN HOUR ADVERTISING A PRODUCT THAT NOBODY TODAY REMEMBERS? WE WANT TO BE ABLE TO PAY ATTENTION, SO READ SLOWLY.

THE WITNESS: THANKS FOR THE REMINDER.

"AS I SHARED WITH YOU ON SUNDAY, MY PARTNER GLENN AND I CHARGE $75 PER HOUR FOR LABOR (EACH). DUE TO THE NIGHTMARE OF KEEPING TIMECARDS, ET CETERA, WE ALSO HAVE A REDUCED DAILY RATE OF $500 EACH. OUR WORKDAYS ARE USUALLY TEN TO 12 HOURS. WHERE POSSIBLE WE USE LABORERS TO HANDLE DEMOLITION, CLEAN UP, AND OTHER NON-SKILLED WORK SO WE CAN FOCUS ON THE SKILLED PORTIONS. THE LABORERS MAKE 15 TO $25 PER HOUR AND WE DO NOT MARK UP THEIR PAY. MATERIALS ARE PAID FOR SEPARATELY AND ARE ALSO NOT MARKED UP."

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q BY THE WAY, DID YOU ASK MR. BEREKI AT THIS TIME WHETHER OR NOT THERE SHOULD BE A WRITTEN CONTRACT BETWEEN THE TWO OF YOU?

A YES, I DID.

Q IS THAT IN THIS E-MAIL ALSO?

A YES. IT'S THE LAST PARAGRAPH.

Q AND CAN YOU READ THAT, PLEASE?

A "WE ARE LOOKING FORWARD TO WORKING WITH YOU TOO. DO WE NEED TO SIGN A CONTRACT BEFORE YOU GO AHEAD AND GET STARTED? YOUR DAILY RATE SOUNDS FINE."

Q DID MR. BEREKI RESPOND TO YOUR INQUIRY AS TO WHETHER THERE SHOULD BE ANY FORM OF WRITTEN CONTRACT BETWEEN THE TWO OF YOU?

A YES, HE DID.

THE COURT: EXCUSE ME FOR A SECOND, COUNSEL, I AM A LITTLE CONFUSED. I MUST BE MISSING SOMETHING. THE WAY I AM LOOKING AT THIS E-MAIL STRING, THE FIRST AT THE TOP DATED APRIL 5, 2012, SENT AT 5:41 P.M., SUBJECT, 436 VIA LIDO NORD. AND THIS IS AN E-MAIL FROM MS. HUMPHREYS TO MR. BEREKI, AND IT APPEARS TO BASICALLY BE THREE SENTENCES LONG.

FOLLOWING THAT, ON APRIL 5, 2012, AT 8:41 A.M., MR. BEREKI WROTE.

AND THEN ALL THE FOLLOWING PAGES GOING TO PAGE 6 APPEAR TO BE ALL PART OF THE E-MAIL MR. BEREKI SENT TO THE HUMPHREYS.

AND SO I WOULD UNDERSTAND THIS LAST PARAGRAPH TO BE MR. BEREKI INQUIRING AS TO WHETHER, QUOTE, WE NEED TO SIGN A CONTRACT BEFORE YOU GO AHEAD AND GET STARTED. THEN IT CLOSES WITH "BEST, ADAM BEREKI." PERHAPS THINGS HAVE BEEN MIXED TOGETHER IN SOME WAY. HELP ME OUT WITH THIS.

MR. BISSELL: IT'S VERY DIFFICULT, YOUR HONOR, AND I UNDERSTAND -- I UNDERSTAND HOW THE COURT SEES THIS BECAUSE A GOOD DEAL OF THE CORRESPONDENCE THAT WENT BACK AND FORTH BETWEEN MR. BEREKI AND THE HUMPHREYS ON THIS WAS ALL OF THIS NATURE. IT WAS MESSAGE SENT AND THEN INSERTED IN THAT MESSAGE WAS A RESPONSE. SOMETIMES IT WAS ALL IN CAPS, WHICH MAKES IT A LITTLE BIT EASIER. SOMETIMES IT WASN'T. BUT THAT WAS THE NATURE OF THE CORRESPONDENCE. I CAN PROBABLY CLEAR THIS UP BY SIMPLY ASKING MS. HUMPHREYS WHETHER OR NOT THAT LAST PARAGRAPH --

THE COURT: GO AHEAD, FIRE AWAY.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q WHETHER THAT LAST PARAGRAPH -- DID YOU DRAFT

THAT LAST PARAGRAPH, THE PARAGRAPH YOU JUST READ --

A YES.

Q -- OF EXHIBIT 303?

A YES.

MR. BISSELL: DOES THAT HELP, YOUR HONOR?

THE COURT: UNTIL SOMEBODY COMES ALONG WITH FURTHER CLARIFICATION.

MR. BEREKI: I AM HAPPY TO SAY --

THE COURT: YOU'RE NOT TESTIFYING YET.

MR. BEREKI: OKAY.

THE COURT: JUST HOLD YOUR PEACE.

MR. BEREKI: OKAY.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q YOU HAVE HEARD THE COURT'S CONCERN THAT IT'S DIFFICULT TO TELL WHO'S WRITING WHAT IN THIS E-MAIL, WHICH IS UNDERSTANDABLE.

IS THERE A WAY THAT -- IS THERE A WAY TO DIFFERENTIATE WHAT YOU WROTE VERSUS WHAT HE WROTE, WITHOUT GOING THROUGH EACH LINE AND IDENTIFYING THAT IS YOURS OR HIS?

A I BELIEVE SO.

Q OKAY.

A WHAT I DID WAS INSERT MY ANSWERS AFTER EACH SUGGESTION THAT HE MADE. SO IF WE JUST LOOK AT THE FIRST PAGE OF IT, THE "YES, FOR SURE" WAS MY RESPONSE TO HIS PROPOSAL TO REPLACE THE ELECTRICAL.

THE COURT: NOW IT COMES CLEAR. THANK YOU, MS. HUMPHREYS. NOW I UNDERSTAND.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q ACTUALLY, I THINK THE FOLLOWING EXHIBIT MIGHT FURTHER CLARIFY AS TO WHO OR WHAT.

WOULD YOU FLIP TO EXHIBIT NO. 4 ON YOUR TAB, WHICH IS 304.

A THAT'S --

Q HAVE YOU SEEN THIS DOCUMENT BEFORE?

A THAT'S THE EXHIBIT MISSING FROM THIS BINDER.

Q NOBODY GOT THAT TO YOU?

MR. BISSELL: MAY I APPROACH --

THE COURT: FEEL FREE TO TAKE IT UP.

MR. BISSELL: I GAVE IT TO MR. HUMPHREYS. I THOUGHT FOR SURE --

THE COURT: IT'S NOW THAT PAPER GLIDER THAT MR. RUSSO IS FLYING ACROSS THE COURTROOM.

MR. BISSELL: THERE YOU GO.

THE WITNESS: YES, I HAVE SEEN THIS BEFORE.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q CAN YOU TELL US WHAT THIS DOCUMENT IS?

A THIS IS A AN E-MAIL THAT ADAM BEREKI SENT FROM HIS PERSONAL ACCOUNT TO ME ON FRIDAY, APRIL 6, 2012.

Q NOW, IF YOU LOOK AT THE -- THE SECOND-TO-THE-LAST PARAGRAPH BEGINNING WITH, "AS FAR AS," DO YOU SEE THAT?

A YES.

Q IS THAT YOUR DRAFT, OR IS THAT MR. BEREKI'S DRAFT?

A MR. BEREKI'S.

Q COULD YOU READ THAT, PLEASE?

A "AS FAR AS THE CONTRACT GOES, NO, NOTHING NEEDS TO BE SIGNED UNLESS YOU PREFER TO. YOU ARE VERY DEAR FRIENDS AND YOUR WORDS/COMMITMENT IS ENOUGH."

Q NOW, WHEN MR. BEREKI SAYS "YOU ARE VERY DEAR FRIENDS," YOU MET HIM EXACTLY HOW MANY TIMES BEFORE THIS?

A ONCE ON THE WALK-THROUGH.

Q DURING ANY CONVERSATION WITH MR. BEREKI BEFORE HIS APRIL 5, 2012 E-MAIL TO YOU IN WHICH HE COMMUNICATED HIS PROPOSAL FOR THE PROJECT, DID HE EVER MENTION THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES DEAL?

A NO, HE DIDN'T MENTION SPARTAN.

Q DID HE EVER MENTION SPARTAN AT ALL?

A NO.

Q HAVE YOU EVER HEARD OF SPARTAN ASSOCIATES IN CONNECTION WITH MR. BEREKI AT ANY TIME BEFORE APRIL 5, 2012?

A NO.

Q IN THE APRIL 5, 2012 E-MAIL FROM MR. BEREKI, EXHIBIT 303, IS THERE ANY MENTION IN THERE OF SPARTAN?

A NO.

Q IN APRIL 2012, DID YOU BELIEVE YOU WERE CONTRACTING WITH SPARTAN ASSOCIATES?

A NO.

Q WHO DID YOU BELIEVE YOU WERE CONTRACTING WITH?

A I BELIEVED I WAS CONTRACTING WITH ADAM BEREKI AND HIS PARTNER, GLENN OVERLEY.

Q WHAT WAS THAT UNDERSTANDING BASED ON?

A IT WAS BASED ON THE EXCHANGE OF E-MAILS ON APRIL 5.

Q IF YOU WILL FLIP TO EXHIBIT -- IT'S NUMBERED FIVE IN YOUR BOOKLET THERE, BUT IT'S 305.

HAVE YOU SEEN THIS DOCUMENT BEFORE?

A YES.

Q CAN YOU TELL US WHAT IT IS?

A THIS IS A COPY OF A STRING OF E-MAILS BETWEEN MYSELF AND ADAM BEREKI ON FRIDAY, APRIL 13, 2012.

Q THIS IS ROUGHLY ONE WEEK AFTER THE APRIL 5, 2012 E-MAIL AGREEMENT?

A YES.

Q AND CAN YOU TELL US WHO INITIATED THIS E-MAIL STRING?

A MR. BEREKI.

Q WHAT DID HE ASK IN HIS INITIAL E-MAIL TO YOU?

A HE ASKED FOR A CHECK FOR $15,000 TO COVER MATERIALS AND LABOR.

Q WHAT DID YOU RESPOND?

A I RESPONDED THAT I COULD SEND HIM A CHECK AND I WANTED TO KNOW IF I COULD MAIL IT OR DID HE WANT IT WIRED TO A BANK ACCOUNT AND TO WHOM TO MAKE IT OUT.

Q AND WHY DID YOU WANT TO KNOW TO WHOM TO MAKE IT OUT?

A I WANT TO KNOW IF I SHOULD MAKE IT OUT TO ADAM BEREKI OR ADAM BEREKI AND GLENN OVERLEY.

Q WHAT DID MR. BEREKI RESPOND?

A HE RESPONDED, "YES, TOMORROW IS FINE. MADE OUT TO ADAM BEREKI. MY HOME ADDRESS IS."

Q IF YOU LOOK AT EXHIBIT NO. 6 IN YOUR BOOKLET, BUT IT'S NUMBERED 306, HAVE YOU SEEN THAT DOCUMENT BEFORE?

A YES.

Q CAN YOU TELL US WHAT THIS IS?

A THIS IS AN IMAGE OF A CHECK AND A DEPOSIT WITH CHASE BANK.

Q AND WHEN YOU SAY "AN IMAGE," IS THAT AN IMAGE OF A CHECK?

A YES, THERE'S AN IMAGE OF A CHECK ON THE PAGE.

Q CAN YOU DESCRIBE WHAT THAT CHECK IS?

A THIS IS A CHECK THAT I WROTE TO ADAM BEREKI FOR $15,000 ON APRIL 13, 2012.

Q THAT WAS IN RESPONSE TO HIS REQUEST OF THE SAME DATE?

A YES, IT WAS.

Q WHO WAS THAT CHECK MADE PAYABLE TO?
A ADAM BEREKI.
Q BY THE WAY, ON THE EXHIBIT 5 YOU JUST LOOKED AT, THE STRING E-MAIL, WHOSE E-MAIL ACCOUNT DID MR. BEREKI'S E-MAIL COME TO YOU ON?
A HIS PERSONAL E-MAIL ACCOUNT AT GMAIL.
Q AT SOME POINT, DID YOU HEAR OF SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION?
A YES, I DID.
Q WHEN WAS THAT?
A IT WAS SEVERAL MONTHS INTO THE PROJECT IN JULY OF 2012.
Q HOW DID YOU HEAR OF SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION?
A ADAM ASKED US TO START MAKING THE CHECKS OUT TO SPARTAN INSTEAD OF ADAM BEREKI.
Q DID HE TELL YOU WHY?
A NO.
Q DID HE EXPLAIN WHO SPARTAN WAS?
A NO.
Q DID IT MATTER TO YOU?
A NO, IT DIDN'T.
Q DID YOU HAVE SOME UNDERSTANDING OF WHO SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION WAS?
A I THOUGHT SPARTAN WAS, I GUESS, ANOTHER ACCOUNT THAT HE WANTED TO USE.
Q DID YOU EVER ENTER INTO ANY AGREEMENT WITH

SPARTAN ASSOCIATES ON THIS PROJECT?

A NO.

Q WERE YOU EVER ASKED TO ENTER INTO ANY SORT OF AGREEMENT WITH SPARTAN ASSOCIATES?

A NO.

Q WERE YOU EVER PRESENTED WITH ANY TYPE OF AGREEMENT WITH SPARTAN ASSOCIATES ON THIS PROJECT?

A NO.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU. NO FURTHER QUESTIONS, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: MR. RUSSO, TO YOU.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q MS. HUMPHREYS, WHAT'S HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES?

A HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES IS A COMPANY THAT DOES EARNED VALUE MANAGEMENT SYSTEM CONSULTING.

Q IS THAT YOUR HUSBAND'S BUSINESS, YOUR BUSINESS, OR A COMBINATION?

A IT'S NOT MY BUSINESS.

Q OKAY.

A MY HUSBAND STARTED THE BUSINESS.

Q OKAY. SO IS IT A CORPORATION, TO YOUR KNOWLEDGE?

A IT'S AN S CORP.

Q OKAY. ISN'T IT TRUE THAT HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES MADE SOME OF THE PAYMENTS TOWARDS THE CONSTRUCTION ON THE LIDO PROPERTY?

A NO.

Q YOU'RE SAYING NONE OF THE CHECKS CAME FROM HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES?

A ARE YOU ASKING ME --

Q YES.

A -- IF THE CHECKS THAT WE PAID ADAM BEREKI CAME FROM HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES?

Q SOME OF THEM, NOT ALL OF THEM.

A I HAVE NO KNOWLEDGE OF THAT.

Q OKAY. HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, WHERE IS THAT BUSINESS LOCATED?

A SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Q RESEARCH AVENUE IN IRVINE; CORRECT?

A IT IS NOW.

Q 9910 RESEARCH AVENUE?

A I DON'T KNOW.

Q OKAY. YOU ARE AWARE THAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES DID THE TENANT IMPROVEMENTS AT YOUR HUSBAND'S BUSINESS OFFICE PRIOR TO THIS WORK ON LIDO ISLE?

A I HEARD THAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, ADAM, DID WORK AT THE OFFICE BUILDING BEFORE HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES MOVED INTO IT.

Q OKAY. AND --

THE COURT: WHEN DID YOU HEAR THAT?

THE WITNESS: I HEARD THAT A FEW MONTHS AGO.

THE COURT: AFTER THIS LAWSUIT WAS FILED?

THE WITNESS: YES.

THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. GO ON.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q ISN'T IT TRUE THAT ONE OF THE REASONS WHY YOU AND YOUR HUSBAND HIRED SPARTAN ASSOCIATES WAS BECAUSE OF ITS FINE WORK ON THE TENANT IMPROVEMENTS ON THE COMMERCIAL OFFICE BUILDING FOR YOUR HUSBAND'S BUSINESS?

MR. BISSELL: OBJECTION, YOUR HONOR. HE'S MISCHARACTERIZING THE WITNESS'S TESTIMONY SAYING ISN'T IT TRUE THAT YOU ENTERED INTO A CONTRACT WITH SPARTAN ASSOCIATES. SHE'S TESTIFIED IT'S HER UNDERSTANDING THAT SHE ENTERED INTO A CONTRACT --

MR. RUSSO: IS THAT AN OBJECTION OR IS THAT A SPEAKING OBJECTION?

MR. BISSELL: IT'S AN OBJECTION.

THE COURT: SEEMS THE LOCAL, LOCAL RULE; I.E., MY RULE, NO SPEAKING OBJECTIONS EVEN IN COURT TRIALS.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: ASIDE FROM THAT, MR. RUSSO, IF YOU WILL KINDLY REPHRASE.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q ISN'T IT TRUE THE REASON YOU ENTERED INTO ANY RELATIONSHIP WAS BECAUSE OF HIS FINE WORK FOR YOUR HUSBAND'S OFFICE BUILDING?

A I DIDN'T ENTER INTO AN AGREEMENT WITH SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

Q DO YOU KNOW HOW MANY ADDRESSES MR. BEREKI USES?

A NO.

Q BECAUSE YOU KEEP REFERRING TO IT AS HIS PERSONAL E-MAIL. DO YOU KNOW IF THAT'S THE SAME AS HIS WORK E-MAIL?

A I ONLY AM FAMILIAR WITH THE ABEREKI@GMAIL.COM.

Q SO YOU DON'T KNOW IF THAT IS HIS PERSONAL BUSINESS OR ANYTHING; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q YOU DON'T KNOW -- YES, YOU DON'T KNOW; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q ISN'T IT TRUE THAT PRIOR TO THE LIDO PROJECT, YOU MET MR. BEREKI AT FAMILY OCCASIONS OF YOURS?

A I HAD NEVER MET MR. BEREKI BEFORE APRIL 1ST.

Q ISN'T IT TRUE THAT HE ATTENDED YOUR MOTHER-IN-LAW'S FUNERAL PRIOR TO THIS?

A I DON'T KNOW.

Q ISN'T IT TRUE THAT HE ATTENDED YOUR BROTHER-IN-LAW'S FUNERAL PRIOR TO THIS?

A I DON'T KNOW.

Q OKAY. HE ATTENDED AND ACTUALLY SAT AT THE FAMILY TABLE AT YOUR SON'S WEDDING; CORRECT?

A I REMEMBER HIM BEING INVITED TO THAT WEDDING --

Q OKAY.

A -- WHICH WAS AFTER 2012.

Q YOU WOULD AGREE THAT HE WASN'T A FOREIGNER TO YOUR FAMILY; CORRECT?

A I HAD NEVER MET HIM. HE HAD NO FAMILIARITY TO MY FAMILY THAT I WAS AWARE OF PRIOR TO APRIL 1ST.

Q YOU WOULD AGREE, MA'AM, THAT YOU FELT THAT YOUR AGREEMENT WITH WHOEVER YOU WERE HIRING AS A CONTRACTOR WAS ADEQUATELY MEMORIALIZED IN YOUR E-MAILS WHICH ARE EXHIBIT NUMBER 303; CORRECT?

A I FELT THAT -- THAT ADAM PROPOSED A SCOPE OF WORK IN THE FIRST E-MAIL, AND OUR RESPONSE WAS AN ACCEPTANCE OF THAT PROPOSAL.

Q SO YOU HAD A MEETING OF THE MINDS AND IT WAS DOCUMENTED IN THE E-MAILS; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q SO IT'S NOT THAT THERE'S NO WRITING, IT'S JUST THE WRITING IS E-MAILS AS OPPOSED TO SOMETHING SIGNED; CORRECT?

A I HAD A CONCERN WHETHER WE NEEDED MORE THAN THAT, WHICH IS WHY I ASKED HIM ABOUT IT IN MY E-MAIL. BECAUSE I AM FAMILIAR WITH HAVING TO SIGN CONTRACTS WHEN YOU HIRE PEOPLE TO DO WORK FOR YOU.

Q YOU HAVE HIRED CONTRACTORS TO WORK ON OTHER VACATION HOMES; CORRECT?
A YES.
Q OKAY.
A OH, NO -- YES.
Q WELL, YOU HAVE TWO VACATION UNITS ON MAUI; CORRECT?
A YES.
Q OKAY. AND YOU HAVE BEEN THROUGH THE PROCESS OF REMODELING PROJECTS; CORRECT?
A YES.
Q OKAY. AND YOU WANTED A LICENSED CONTRACTOR FOR THE WORK ON YOUR LIDO PROPERTIES; CORRECT?
A YES.
Q OKAY. AND BECAUSE YOU KNEW YOU WERE GOING TO BE DOING PLUMBING AND ELECTRICAL AS WE CAN SEE IN EXHIBIT NO. 303; CORRECT?
A I WANTED LICENSED WORK DONE, YES.
Q OKAY.
A WITH PERMITS.
Q DID YOU, PRIOR TO STARTING THIS RELATIONSHIP, DOUBLE-CHECK TO MAKE SURE THAT THERE WAS A LICENSE FOR THIS SINCE PERMITS HAD TO BE PULLED?
A NO. I TOOK ADAM AT HIS WORD THAT HE HAD A LICENSE.
Q DID MR. BEREKI EVER TELL YOU -- WELL, HE TOLD

YOU HE WAS LICENSED; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q AND YOU'RE SAYING YOU DIDN'T REALIZE THAT THAT LICENSE WAS IN THE NAME OF SPARTAN ASSOCIATES; YOU THOUGHT IT WAS PERSONAL TO HIM?

A I HAD NEVER HEARD OF SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

Q DID YOU EVER CHECK?

A DID I CHECK WHAT?

Q TO SEE WHETHER OR NOT MR. BEREKI'S LICENSE WAS PERSONAL OR IN HIS BUSINESS NAME.

A NO.

Q I HATE TO DO THIS TO YOU, BUT WE GOT MULTIPLE BINDERS. ONE OF THEM IS MARKED ONE TO 65. I'M GOING TO WORK OFF THAT ONE AS OPPOSED TO THE ONE YOU WERE JUST LOOKING AT.

THE COURT: WELL, SPEAKING OF HERNIA, YOU MAY HAVE SET A NEW RECORD. I THINK THIS IS THE BIGGEST BINDER I HAVE SEEN. THIS MAY INDIVIDUALLY BE THE BIGGEST BINDER I HAVE EVER SEEN IN THIS DEPARTMENT.

MR. RUSSO: I HAD A HARD TIME CARRYING THOSE UP TODAY.

THE COURT: EXHIBIT NUMBER?

MR. RUSSO: 38, THANK YOU.

MR. BISSELL: YOUR HONOR, I DON'T HAVE THE BENEFIT OF THOSE EXHIBITS. IF I COULD TAKE A LOOK.

MR. RUSSO: SURE.

THE COURT: I GUESS MR. RUSSO COULDN'T CARRY A FOURTH BECAUSE THESE WERE TOO HEAVY. THE STRAW THAT BROKE THE CAMEL'S BACK.

MR. RUSSO: WE SEND EACH OTHER DROPBOXES OF THE EXHIBITS.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q MS. HUMPHREYS, DO YOU RECOGNIZE --

A I HAVEN'T --

Q I'M SORRY, MA'AM.

THE COURT: IT'S ALSO HARD TO WORK WITH.

THE WITNESS: AM I LOOKING FOR 38?

MR. RUSSO: YES, MA'AM.

THE COURT: YOU WEREN'T CONSERVING TREES, I CAN TELL YOU THAT.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q MS. HUMPHREYS, DO YOU RECOGNIZE EXHIBIT NO. 38 AS THE TERMINATION NOTICE IN WHICH YOU AND YOUR HUSBAND TERMINATED THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES FROM THIS PROJECT?

A THIS IS THE FIRST TIME I HAVE SEEN THIS.

Q YOU WERE AWARE THAT YOU -- DID YOUR HUSBAND SHARE WITH YOU THAT A TERMINATION NOTICE WAS SENT TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES?

A NO.

Q YOU WEREN'T AWARE OF IT?

A NO.

Q OKAY. I WOULD LIKE YOU TO TURN TO --

THE COURT: BY THE WAY, JUST SO THE RECORD IS CLEAR, YOU CHARACTERIZED THIS AS A TERMINATION NOTICE. IT'S ACTUALLY STYLIZED AS NOTICE OF CESSATION OF LABOR AND IT INDICATES THE LAST SENTENCE, QUOTE, "THIS NOTICE OF CESSATION OF CONSTRUCTION AND RELATED ACTIVITIES SHALL REMAIN IN EFFECT AND SHALL BE BINDING UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE FROM THE UNDERSIGNED," END QUOTE. IT DOESN'T STRICTLY SOUND LIKE A TERMINATION NOTICE.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q WAS IT ON OR ABOUT AUGUST 28, 2013, THAT YOU AND YOUR HUSBAND TERMINATED MR. BEREKI FROM THIS PROJECT?

A YES.

Q ARE YOU AWARE OF ANY NOTICE OTHER THAN THIS NOTICE HERE FOR THAT TERMINATION?

A NO.

Q MA'AM, CAN YOU PLEASE TURN TO EXHIBIT NUMBER 34.

A YES.

Q MA'AM, YOU ARE AWARE THAT A BUILDING PERMIT HAD TO BE BULLIED FOR THIS PROJECT?

A YES.

Q AND YOU KNEW THAT ONLY A LICENSED CONTRACTOR COULD PULL A BUILDING PERMIT?

A I DON'T KNOW THAT I KNEW THAT, BUT IT MAKES SENSE.

Q YOU CAN SEE THAT THE BUILDING PERMIT WAS PULLED BY THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INC.?

A YES. IS THIS ON NOVEMBER 14, 2012? THIS ONE?

Q YES, MA'AM.

AS A MATTER OF FACT, MR. BEREKI E-MAILED YOU A COPY OF THE BUILDING PERMIT FOR THIS, DIDN'T HE?

A I DON'T RECALL.

Q MA'AM, CAN YOU TURN TO EXHIBIT NO. 31 IN THAT SAME BINDER.

A YES.

Q WERE YOU WORKING ON INTERIOR PLANS WITH MR. BEREKI FOR THE LIDO PROJECT?

A I'M SORRY, I WAS READING. CAN YOU RESTATE YOUR QUESTION, PLEASE?

Q SURE.

DID YOU WORK WITH MR. BEREKI REGARDING INTERIOR PLANS FOR THE PROJECT?

A YES.

Q OKAY. AND IS THIS AN EXAMPLE OF THE INTERIOR PLANS, WHAT WE SEE IN THIS EXHIBIT 31?

A THIS DATED AUGUST 23RD, 2013?

Q YES, MA'AM.

A I WASN'T WORKING WITH HIM ON PLANS IN AUGUST OF 2013.

Q OKAY. DO YOU KNOW IF YOUR HUSBAND WAS?

A HE WAS NOT.

Q MA'AM, DID IT MATTER TO YOU WHETHER OR NOT YOUR CONTRACTOR WAS ADAM BEREKI VERSUS SPARTAN ASSOCIATES?

A DID IT --

MR. BISSELL: OBJECTION. IRRELEVANT.

THE COURT: SUSTAINED.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q MA'AM, CAN YOU TURN TO EXHIBIT NO. 32.

A YES.

Q LOOKING AT PAGE 1 OF EXHIBIT NO. 32, MA'AM, IS THAT YOUR E-MAIL TO MR. BEREKI ABOUT PAYMENT TO SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION?

A NO.

Q IS YOUR E-MAIL ADDRESS KMOEHUMPHREYS@YAHOO.COM?

A YES.

Q AND THE JULY 19, 2012, 1:59 P.M. E-MAIL AT THE TOP OF EXHIBIT 32-1, IS THAT FROM YOU?

A YES, TO ADAM BEREKI.

Q OKAY. AND IT SAYS THERE, "I JUST GOT BACK FROM WIRING $45,000 TO THE SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION ACCOUNT"?

A YES.

Q OKAY. SO YOU KNEW AT THIS POINT IN TIME THAT YOUR PAYMENTS WERE GOING TO SPARTAN; CORRECT?

A THIS WAS THE FIRST PAYMENT I MADE TO SPARTAN

CONSTRUCTION AFTER ADAM ASKED ME TO, INSTEAD OF WRITING CHECKS TO HIM, TO WIRE MONEY INTO THIS NEW BANK ACCOUNT.

Q OKAY. THROUGHOUT THIS PROJECT, ENGINEERS HAD TO BE HIRED; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q ARCHITECTS HAD TO BE HIRED?

A YES.

Q AND YOUR AGREEMENT WITH MR. BEREKI WAS THAT WHATEVER THOSE COSTS WERE FOR DESIGN PROFESSIONALS, THAT WAS GOING TO BE A COST PAID FOR BY YOU AND YOUR HUSBAND; CORRECT?

A NO.

MR. BISSELL: OBJECTION. RELEVANCY.

THE COURT: I WILL ALLOW THE QUESTION.

THE ANSWER WAS NO.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q DO YOU KNOW WHAT THE TERMS WERE FOR YOUR AGREEMENT WITH MR. BEREKI?

A YES.

Q OKAY. AND AMONGST THOSE TERMS WAS THAT HE WAS TO BE REIMBURSED FOR PAYMENTS FOR DESIGN PROFESSIONALS; CORRECT?

A THE TERMS OF OUR CONTRACT AGREEMENT AS OF APRIL 2012 WERE THAT WE HIRE MR. BEREKI AND GLENN OVERLEY FOR $500 A DAY AND WE WOULD PAY FOR ACTUAL COSTS OF LABOR AND MATERIALS. THE LABOR WOULD BE 15 TO $25 AN HOUR. THAT WAS THE TERMS OF OUR AGREEMENT.

Q SINCE THEN, MA'AM, YOU HAVE DISCUSSED WITH YOUR HUSBAND THE FACT THAT YOU HAD AGREED TO REIMBURSE MR. BEREKI FOR ANY DESIGN PROFESSIONALS EXPENSES; CORRECT?

A NO.

Q WERE YOU AWARE --

THE COURT: THIS IS A GOOD TIME FOR A 10-MINUTE RESTROOM BREAK. WHAT DO YOU THINK?

MR. RUSSO: SURE THING, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: MR. BEREKI, SO YOU KNOW, AFTER MR. RUSSO IS COMPLETE, THEN YOU HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY TO ASK SOME QUESTIONS AS WELL.

MR. BEREKI: THANK YOU FOR THAT, YOUR HONOR.

(RECESS.)

THE COURT: MS. HUMPHREYS, COME ON BACK.

THE WITNESS: COME ON DOWN.

THE COURT: MR. RUSSO, BACK TO YOU, PLEASE.

MR. RUSSO: SURE.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q MS. HUMPHREYS, YOU SAID THAT YOU AND YOUR HUSBAND MADE ALL THE PAYMENTS TO BEREKI & ASSOCIATES; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q YOU OPENED UP THE BINDERS MR. BISSELL WAS ASKING ABOUT RIGHT THERE TO TAB NUMBER 15?

A YES.

THE COURT: THE DEFENSE BOOK?

MR. RUSSO: YOU KNOW, LET ME MAKE IT EASIER. LET ME MAKE A REPRESENTATION. TAB 15 IN THAT BOOK IS THE SAME AS THE FIRST DOCUMENT, TAB 32, WHAT WE HAVE IN FRONT OF YOU, SO WE DON'T HAVE TO OPEN TWO BOOKS.

THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. 32.

MR. RUSSO: YEAH, LET'S MAKE IT EASIER.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q MS. HUMPHREYS --

MR. BISSELL: THAT'S YOUR 32?

MR. RUSSO: FIRST PAGE.

MR. BISSELL: OH, 32-SOMETHING?

MR. RUSSO: 32-2, I APOLOGIZE.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q WE WERE TALKING ABOUT 32-1 A MOMENT AGO BEFORE THE BREAK, MS. HUMPHREYS, AND YOU WERE SAYING THAT $45,000 WAS THE FIRST TIME THAT YOU WERE AWARE OF MAKING A PAYMENT TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES; CORRECT?

A ON JULY 19, 2012, I WIRED $45,000 TO SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION. THAT WAS MY FIRST PAYMENT TO THEM.

Q OKAY. LET'S GO TO 32-2, SAME AS EXHIBIT NUMBER 15 IN THE DEFENDANT'S BOOK -- OR 315 IN THE DEFENDANT'S BOOK.

IS THIS AN ACCURATE LIST OF ALL THE PAYMENTS MADE ON THIS PROJECT, MA'AM?

A I BELIEVE SO.

Q OKAY. LET'S GO THROUGH THE NEXT DOCUMENTS IN THE SAME EXHIBIT, 32.

SO 32-4, THAT'S THE FIRST CHECK FOR THE $15,000 FROM YOU AND YOUR HUSBAND'S JOINT ACCOUNT TO MR. BEREKI; CORRECT?

A NO. THIS CHECK IS DATED MAY 17.

Q OKAY.

THE COURT: WHAT HAPPENED TO 32-3?

MR. RUSSO: I DON'T KNOW.

MR. BISSELL: I THOUGHT THAT WAS A CHECK COMPILATION.

THE COURT: 32-2.

MR. RUSSO: I DON'T KNOW WHAT HAPPENED.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q BUT 32-4, IS THAT A CHECK PAYABLE TO MR. BEREKI?

A 32-4 IS A CHECK THAT I WROTE TO MR. BEREKI ON MAY 17, 2012.

Q OKAY. IF WE GO BACK A PAGE TO 32-2, WE SEE THAT THERE'S A RUNNING COMPILATION OF HOW MUCH MONEY WAS PAID IN THE RIGHT-HAND COLUMN; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q OKAY. SO WOULD THIS BE THE SECOND CHECK IN THAT COMPILATION DATED MAY 17, 2012, SO THE SECOND $15,000?

A YES.
Q OKAY. NOW I ASK YOU TO TURN TO 32-5.
A I AM THERE.
Q OKAY. AND AT THIS POINT IN TIME, YOU WERE WRITING THIS $50,000 CHECK TO SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION; CORRECT?
A NOVEMBER 15, 2012, SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION, $50,000, SIGNED BY ME.
Q AGAIN, THAT WAS FROM THE JOINT ACCOUNT; CORRECT?
A YES.
Q THE NEXT CHECK, 32-6.
WHAT IS THIS CHECK, MA'AM?
A THIS CHECK IS DATED AUGUST 31, 2012, MADE OUT TO SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION FOR $30,000, AND SIGNED BY GARY HUMPHREYS.
Q AND THIS SEEMS TO BE FROM A DIFFERENT ACCOUNT. DID HE HAVE HIS OWN ACCOUNT?
A WE HAVE SEVERAL DIFFERENT FAMILY BANK ACCOUNTS.
Q OKAY.
A THIS WAS ONE OF OUR PERSONAL BANK ACCOUNTS. AND THAT'S MY WRITING MAKING OUT THE CHECK.
Q ARE YOU A SIGNATORY ON THAT ACCOUNT?
A THEY ARE ALL LINKED TOGETHER, SO I BELIEVE SO, YES.

Q OKAY. GO TO 32-7, MA'AM.
A YES.
Q SO YOU HAD ALREADY -- AT THIS POINT IN TIME YOU HAD ALREADY BEEN WRITING CHECKS TO SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION. AND THEN THIS ONE, 32-7, IS $30,000 PAYABLE TO MR. BEREKI.
DO YOU SEE THAT?
A YES.
Q AT THIS POINT IN TIME, HAD MR. BEREKI TOLD YOU THAT THE PAYMENTS WERE TO BE MADE TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES?
A HE TOLD US THAT IN JULY OF 2012.
Q OKAY. BUT NEVERTHELESS, YOU WROTE A CHECK TO HIM PERSONALLY IN DECEMBER FOR THE $30,000; CORRECT?
A I DIDN'T WRITE THIS CHECK.
Q DID YOUR HUSBAND WRITE THIS CHECK?
A IT LOOKS LIKE HIS HANDWRITING AND HIS SIGNATURE.
Q OKAY. 32-8, LET'S GO TO THE NEXT CHECK.
THIS IS ANOTHER $30,000 CHECK TO MR. BEREKI; CORRECT?
A YES.
Q AND DID YOU WRITE THIS ONE, OR DID YOUR HUSBAND?
A MY HUSBAND.
Q OKAY. 32-9.
NOW THIS ONE IS A LITTLE BIT DIFFERENT. IS

THIS A CHECK THAT YOU WROTE?

A NO.

Q OKAY. WAS THAT YOUR HUSBAND'S HANDWRITING ON THAT CHECK?

A YES.

Q IT SAYS ADAM BEREKI, SPARTAN ASSOCIATES ON IT; CORRECT?

A MY COPY IS UNCLEAR. I CAN SEE IT SAYS ADAM BEREKI AND SCRIBBLE.

Q OKAY. YOU CAN'T SEE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES IN THE SECOND PART?

A I CAN BELIEVE THAT THAT'S WHAT IT SAYS, BUT I CAN'T READ IT AS THAT.

Q FAIR ENOUGH.

LET'S GO TO 32-10.

IS THIS A WIRE TRANSFER THAT YOU PREPARED OR THIS IS YOUR HUSBAND?

A I PREPARED THIS WITH THE BANKER.

Q OKAY. AND WAS THIS -- HOW MUCH WAS THIS PAYMENT FOR, MA'AM?

A I THINK IT SAYS $30,000.

Q OKAY. AND DO YOU KNOW TO WHICH ACCOUNT THIS WAS WIRED?

A THE RECIPIENT SAYS ADAM BEREKI AND THERE'S AN ACCOUNT NUMBER WRITTEN BELOW IT.

Q DO YOU KNOW IF THAT ACCOUNT WAS FOR SPARTAN

ASSOCIATES OR FOR MR. BEREKI?

A I DON'T.

Q GO TO 32-11.

IS THIS ANOTHER WIRE THAT YOU PREPARED?

A ALONG WITH THE BANKER, YES.

Q OKAY. AND WAS THIS TO THE SAME ACCOUNT AS THE LAST WIRE?

A I WOULD HAVE TO COMPARE THE NUMBERS.

Q OKAY. DO YOU KNOW WHETHER OR NOT THIS WAS TO MR. BEREKI'S PERSONAL ACCOUNT OR THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES' ACCOUNT?

A THE RECIPIENT IS ADAM BEREKI.

Q OKAY. YOU MENTIONED HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES. THAT'S A CORPORATION; CORRECT?

A HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES IS AN S CORPORATION --

Q OKAY.

A -- TO MY UNDERSTANDING.

Q OKAY. WHO WERE THE SHAREHOLDERS OF HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES?

A NOW?

Q HOW ABOUT --

A WHEN IT WAS FOUNDED?

Q FOUR YEARS AGO.

DO YOU KNOW?

A I APOLOGIZE FOR TALKING IN THE MIDDLE OF THE QUESTION.

THE COURT: IT'S OKAY.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q DO YOU KNOW, MA'AM, WHO THE SHAREHOLDERS WERE FOR HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES?

A AT WHAT PERIOD OF TIME?

Q DO YOU KNOW AT ANY TIME?

A YES.

Q HOW ABOUT IN 2012?

A YES.

Q WHO WAS THE SHAREHOLDERS?

A GARY HUMPHREYS.

Q OKAY. WERE THERE -- AT SOME POINT IN TIME WERE THERE OTHER SHAREHOLDERS OF HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES?

A YES.

Q WHEN WAS THAT, MA'AM?

A NOW.

Q OKAY. LET'S TURN TO EXHIBIT 32-12, MA'AM.

DO YOU RECOGNIZE 32-12?

A I HAVE NEVER SEEN IT BEFORE.

Q OKAY. SO IS THAT YOUR -- I SEE A SIGNATURE. IS THAT -- CHRIS HUMPHREYS, IS THAT YOUR SON?

A CHRIS HUMPHREYS IS MY STEPSON.

Q OKAY. AND DO YOU RECOGNIZE HIS SIGNATURE ON THIS CHECK?

A NO.

Q OKAY. DO YOU RECOGNIZE THIS AS A $90,000

CHECK FROM HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, INC., THE CORPORATION, TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES?

A YES.

Q SO IT WAS, IN FACT, THE CORPORATION THAT PAID SPARTAN ASSOCIATES THIS CHECK ON JULY 31ST, 2013; CORRECT?

MR. BISSELL: OBJECTION.

THE COURT: SUSTAINED.

MR. BISSELL: FOUNDATION.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q DO YOU KNOW WHO PAID THE $90,000 TO MR. BEREKI AS EVIDENCED BY THIS $90,000 CHECK?

A ARE YOU ASKING ME IF THIS CHECK SAYS IT'S PAYABLE TO ADAM BEREKI?

Q WELL, IT'S FROM A CORPORATION --

A TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

Q SO HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, THE CORPORATION, TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q LET'S GO TO THE NEXT CHECK, 32-13.

DO YOU RECOGNIZE THIS CHECK?

THE COURT: WHY DON'T WE GO INDIVIDUALLY -- SINCE I NOTICED THAT ALL OF THE FOLLOWING CHECKS APPEAR TO BE DRAWN ON THE HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, INC. ACCOUNT, PERHAPS YOU CAN COLLECTIVELY ASK ABOUT THEM AND SPEED IT UP A LITTLE BIT.

MR. RUSSO: OKAY.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q OKAY. THE NEXT CHECKS, 90,000, 95,000, 75,000, 60,000, 80,000, ALL OF THE REMAINING CHECKS THAT WERE IN THE ACCOUNTING ARE ALL ACTUALLY PAID BY THE CORPORATION, HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, INC., TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q AND THOSE ARE THE MONIES THAT YOU AND YOUR HUSBAND ARE TRYING TO SEEK BACK AS PAID BY YOU IN THIS CROSS-CLAIM; CORRECT?

A I DON'T KNOW THAT.

MR. RUSSO: I DON'T HAVE ANY FURTHER QUESTIONS AT THIS TIME.

THE COURT: MR. BEREKI.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q HI, KAREN.

YOU TESTIFIED THAT WE HAD A CONTRACT; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q OKAY. AND DID YOU BELIEVE THAT THE SIGNING OF YOUR NAME ON THE E-MAIL AGREEMENT OR ON THE AGREEMENT CONTRACT THAT WE HAD WAS YOUR AGREEMENT TO THE TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF THAT CONTRACT?

MR. BISSELL: OBJECTION. CALLS FOR A LEGAL CONCLUSION.

THE COURT: SUSTAINED.

MR. BISSELL: LACK OF FOUNDATION THAT SHE SIGNED IT.

THE COURT: SUSTAINED.

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q WOULD YOU AGREE THAT YOUR TYPING YOUR NAME ON AN E-MAIL CONSTITUTES YOUR SIGNATURE -- CONSTITUTES YOUR SIGNATURE?

MR. BISSELL: OBJECTION. LEGAL CONCLUSION.

THE COURT: SUSTAINED.

I AM AFRAID I MAY HAVE PUT YOU OFF A LITTLE BIT ON THIS PARTICULAR POINT. MY REQUEST IS THAT YOU STATE THE WORD "OBJECTION" AND THEN THE LEGAL BASIS FOR IT WITHOUT THE SPEAKING OBJECTION THAT WOULD FOLLOW THE LEGAL BASIS.

MR. BISSELL: UNDERSTOOD, YOUR HONOR. I WILL TRY TO FIND THAT MIDDLE GROUND.

THE COURT: PERFECT.

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q YOU TESTIFIED THAT, PURSUANT TO OUR CONTRACT, THAT YOU WOULD BE PAYING FOR THE ACTUAL COSTS OF ALL LABOR AND MATERIALS; IS THAT CORRECT?

A I BELIEVE MY TESTIMONY WAS THAT WE AGREED TO PAY YOU AND YOUR PARTNER GLENN $500 A DAY AND THE ACTUAL

COSTS OF LABOR AND MATERIAL, THE LABOR BEING 15 TO $25 AN HOUR. LABOR AND SUPPLIES -- SUPPLIES AND MATERIAL AND THE LABOR, YES.

Q SO WHAT I AM GETTING AT IS YOU WERE AGREEING TO PAY FOR THE ACTUAL COSTS FOR ALL THE LABOR THAT SPARTAN INCURRED, AS WELL AS ALL THE MATERIALS THAT SPARTAN PURCHASED FOR USE IN THE PROJECT?

A NO. MY AGREEMENT WAS WITH ADAM BEREKI AND GLENN OVERLEY. I HADN'T HEARD OF SPARTAN.

Q OKAY. WERE YOU AGREEING TO PAY FOR -- WAS IT YOUR UNDERSTANDING THAT YOU WERE AGREEING TO PAY FOR THE ACTUAL COSTS OF LABOR AND MATERIALS THAT WERE USED ON THE PROJECT?

MR. BISSELL: OBJECTION, YOUR HONOR. RELEVANCY AS TO THIS CAUSE OF ACTION. MIGHT BE RELEVANT --

THE COURT: SUSTAINED.

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q COULD YOU PLEASE TURN TO EXHIBIT 31. IT'S WHAT WE --

THE COURT: IN THE VERY BIG BOOK?

MR. BEREKI: IN THE VERY BIG BOOK, YOUR HONOR.

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q AND WE NEED TO GET TO 31-49.

YOU TESTIFIED THAT YOU HAD NEVER -- OR WERE NOT WORKING ON INTERIOR OR EXTERIOR DESIGN PLANS IN AUGUST 23 OF 2013; IS THAT CORRECT?

A YES.

Q ISN'T IT TRUE IN AUGUST -- ON AUGUST -- IN AUGUST OF 2013 YOU ACTUALLY CAME TO THE JOB SITE TO MEET WITH BOTH MYSELF AND BRYAN LEFEVER PERTAINING TO INTERIOR AND ARCHITECTURAL DESIGN ELEMENTS?

A IN THE BEGINNING OF AUGUST WE MET WITH YOU, YES.

Q AT THAT TIME, HAD YOU RECEIVED THIS -- OR PRIOR TO THAT DATE, HAD YOU RECEIVED THIS COMPILATION OF INTERIOR AND EXTERIOR DESIGN ITEMS?

THE COURT: REFERENCING THE ENTIRETY OF EXHIBIT 31?

MR. BEREKI: YES, YOUR HONOR.

THE WITNESS: WELL, THIS ONE IS DATED AUGUST 23. I HAD RECEIVED SOMETHING SIMILAR TO THIS.

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q PRIOR TO OUR MEETING?

A MY RECOLLECTION IS AT THE MEETING THAT BRYAN SHOWED US SOMETHING THAT HE PUT TOGETHER. PRIOR TO THE MEETING, I RECEIVED SOME THINGS ABOUT FURNITURE AND DESIGN CONSIDERATIONS, YES.

Q OKAY. AND AT THE MEETING, DID WE GO OVER THIS SPECIFIC PRESENTATION STARTING WITH 31-49?

A I DON'T KNOW.

Q OKAY. I'M GOING TO REPRESENT TO YOU THAT WE DID.

AND THEN SUBSEQUENT TO OUR MEETING, DID YOU

RECEIVE A COPY OF THIS AUGUST 23 PRESENTATION?

A IT LOOKS FAMILIAR. I CAN'T BE CERTAIN.

Q OKAY. CAN YOU TELL ME HOW IT LOOKS FAMILIAR?

A IT CONTAINS THINGS THAT WE TALKED ABOUT BUYING, FOR EXAMPLE, THE FAN ON 3161 AND THE CHAIR ON 3166.

Q HOW ABOUT THE SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION LOGO? WAS THAT ON THE PRESENTATION THAT YOU REVIEWED?

A I DON'T KNOW.

Q CAN YOU PLEASE TURN TO EXHIBIT 31-46.

A YES.

Q HAVE YOU EVER SEEN THIS DOCUMENT BEFORE?

A NO.

Q DO YOU KNOW WHAT IT IS?

A IT SAYS IT'S A FLOOR ASSEMBLY.

Q DO YOU THINK THAT WOULD BE THE FLOOR ASSEMBLY BETWEEN THE UPSTAIRS UNIT AND THE DOWNSTAIRS UNIT?

A PROBABLY.

Q OKAY.

THE COURT: OUT OF CURIOSITY -- THIS IS TO MR. BEREKI -- DID THE HALF-INCH LAYER OF PLYWOOD REPRESENT THE SUBFLOOR, OR IS THAT AN EXTRA LAYER, IN YOUR UNDERSTANDING?

MR. BEREKI: THE ACTUAL SUBFLOOR, YOUR HONOR, WAS THE THREE-QUARTER TONGUE-AND-GROOVE STRUCTURAL 1 PLYWOOD, AND THEN THERE WAS ANOTHER LAYER OF HALF-INCH

PLYWOOD ABOVE THAT.

THE COURT: OVER THE GENIEMAT?

MR. BEREKI: YES. THE GENIEMAT WAS THE SOUND ISOLATOR.

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q WERE YOU AWARE THAT I SENT THIS DOCUMENT ON 3146, 3147, AND 3148 TO -- VIA E-MAIL TO GARY?

A NO.

Q GARY NEVER SHARED THESE DOCUMENTS WITH YOU?

THE COURT: TOO MANY FIRST NAMES TEND TO CAUSE CONFUSION. WHEN YOU SAY "GARY," I DON'T KNOW WHO YOU'RE TALKING ABOUT.

MR. BEREKI: I'M SORRY, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: SO GIVE A FULL NAME WHEN YOU ASK THAT QUESTION.

MR. BEREKI: YES, YOUR HONOR.

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q SO GARY HUMPHREYS, YOUR HUSBAND, NEVER SENT YOU THESE DOCUMENTS; CORRECT?

A HE DIDN'T SEND ME 3146 AND 47, CORRECT.

Q OKAY. ON EACH -- ON EACH OF THESE DOCUMENTS, IT SAYS SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q DO YOU KNOW THE ADDRESS FOR THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INC.?

A NO.

Q YOU NEVER SENT A CHECK TO THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INC.?

A I DON'T KNOW THE ADDRESS OF SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INC. I KNOW THE ADDRESS FOR ADAM BEREKI. 818 SPIRIT LANE, I BELIEVE.

Q DID YOU KNOW THAT THE ADDRESS FOR THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INC. IS THE SAME ADDRESS FOR ADAM BEREKI?

A NO.

Q DID YOU EVER MAIL A CHECK TO THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INC. AT 818 SPIRIT, COSTA MESA, CALIFORNIA?

A I DON'T RECALL.

MR. BEREKI: THAT WILL BE ALL. THANK YOU.

THE COURT: MR. BISSELL, BACK TO YOU THEN.

MR. BISSELL: JUST A COUPLE, YOUR HONOR.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q HOW OFTEN DO YOU VISIT THE JOB SITE, MA'AM?
A HOW MUCH DID I VISIT THE JOB SITE?
Q YES.

THE COURT: TALKING ABOUT 30-1?
MR. RUSSO: YES, YOUR HONOR.
THE COURT: WOULD YOU LIKE TO MAKE A PRELIMINARY OFFER OF PROOF WITH RESPECT TO THE DATE AND PHOTOGRAPHER FOR THIS PHOTOGRAPH?
MR. RUSSO: I WILL MAKE AN OFFER OF PROOF BASED ON WHAT MR. BEREKI JUST TOLD ME THAT THIS WAS TAKEN IN APPROXIMATELY DECEMBER 2012.
THE COURT: BY MR. BEREKI?
MR. BEREKI: YES, YOUR HONOR.
THE COURT: OKAY.
BY MR. RUSSO:
Q MA'AM, ISN'T IT TRUE THAT WHEN THE CONSTRUCTION STARTED ON THIS PROJECT, MR. BEREKI HUNG A SPARTAN ASSOCIATES SIGN, THE SAME SIGN WE SEE HERE IN THE TOP-RIGHT CORNER OF EXHIBIT 30-1, ON THE PROJECT?
A I DON'T KNOW THAT.
Q OKAY. YOU SAID YOU VISITED THE PROJECT SPARINGLY. WHEN YOU WERE THERE, DIDN'T YOU SEE A

SPARTAN ASSOCIATES SIGN ON THE PROJECT?

A I DON'T RECALL.

Q WAS THERE CONSTRUCTION FENCING AROUND THE PROJECT?

A I DON'T RECALL.

Q OKAY.

MR. RUSSO: THANK YOU. NO FURTHER QUESTIONS.

THE COURT: MR. BEREKI?

MR. BEREKI: NOTHING FURTHER, YOUR HONOR.

MR. BISSELL: NO QUESTIONS, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: OKAY. IN THAT CASE, THANK YOU. YOU MAY STEP DOWN.

THE WITNESS: THANK YOU.

THE COURT: WHO IS YOUR NEXT WITNESS?

MR. BISSELL: NEXT WITNESS IS GARY HUMPHREYS, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: MR. HUMPHREYS. WELL, WE CAN GO FOR FIVE -- EIGHT MINUTES, AND THEN CONTINUE ON UNTIL LUNCH, THAT IS.

THE CLERK: DO YOU SOLEMNLY STATE THAT THE EVIDENCE YOU'RE ABOUT TO GIVE IN THE CASE NOW PENDING BEFORE THIS COURT SHALL BE THE TRUTH, THE WHOLE TRUTH, AND NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH, SO HELP YOU GOD?

THE WITNESS: I DO.

THE CLERK: CAN YOU PLEASE STATE YOUR FULL NAME AND SPELL IT FOR THE RECORD.

THE WITNESS: GARY, G-A-R-Y, C., HUMPHREYS. H-U-M-P-H-R-E-Y-S.

THE CLERK: THANK YOU, SIR.

THE WITNESS: GRAB MY WATER, IS THAT ALL RIGHT?

THE COURT: THAT'S PERFECTLY FINE. BRING IT WITH YOU. AND GOOD MORNING, MR. HUMPHREYS. HOW ARE YOU?

THE WITNESS: HOW ARE YOU?

THE COURT: BETTER THAN EVER. THANKS.

MR. BISSELL, TO YOU, PLEASE.

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q MR. HUMPHREYS, YOU HAVE HEARD YOUR WIFE TESTIFY AS TO THE TWO OF YOU BUYING THIS CONDOMINIUM UNIT ON LIDO ISLE AND THE REASONS YOU BOUGHT IT.

IS THAT CONSISTENT WITH YOUR UNDERSTANDING, OR IS ANYTHING DIFFERENT THAN YOU UNDERSTOOD IT?

A NO, THAT'S EXACTLY THE WAY I UNDERSTOOD IT.

Q ARE YOU FAMILIAR WITH ADAM BEREKI?

A YES, I AM.

Q WHEN DID YOU FIRST MEET MR. BEREKI?

A I THINK IT WAS IN THE FALL OF 2011.

Q AND WHAT WAS THE CIRCUMSTANCES?

A I WAS VISITING MY BROTHER IN VILLA PARK, AND HE WAS PUTTING IN A KIND OF A SOUND SYSTEM.

Q AND DID YOU SPEAK TO HIM AT THAT TIME?
A NOT MORE THAN HELLO, NICE TO MEET YOU, THAT KIND OF THING. I REALLY DIDN'T SPEAK WITH HIM.
Q BEFORE YOU PURCHASED THE CONDOMINIUM UNITS IN NEWPORT BEACH WITH YOUR WIFE, HAD MR. BEREKI DONE ANY CONSTRUCTION FOR YOU?
A NO, HE DID NOT. HOWEVER, HE CLEARLY DID SOME FOR MY BROTHER AND MY SON.
Q THAT WOULD BE BOTH -- WITH REGARD TO YOUR SON, YOUR SON OWNS THE BUILDING, YOU RENT SPACE -- YOUR BUSINESS RENTS SPACE FROM?
A YES.
Q THE CONSTRUCTION WORK THAT MR. BEREKI DID FOR YOUR SON WAS -- PART OF THAT WAS ON THAT BUILDING?
A YES, IT WAS.
Q THAT WAS PRESUMABLY UNDER SOME SORT OF AGREEMENT WITH MR. BEREKI AND/OR SPARTAN AND YOUR SON?
A YES.
Q DID YOU HAVE ANY INVOLVEMENT IN ANY OF THOSE DISCUSSIONS BETWEEN YOUR SON AND MR. BEREKI CONCERNING WORK TO THE PREMISES WHERE YOUR OFFICES ARE LOCATED?
A NO.
Q WERE YOU EVER PRESENT DURING CONVERSATIONS BETWEEN MR. BEREKI AND YOUR SON CONCERNING WORK DONE TO THE PREMISES WHERE YOUR OFFICES ARE LOCATED?
A NO.

THE COURT: PERHAPS WE COULD EXPLORE A LITTLE BIT. I AM SURE I HEARD MS. HUMPHREYS TESTIFY THAT THE OFFICE FOR HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES MOVED INTO THIS BUILDING SOMETIME AFTER THAT CONSTRUCTION WAS DONE. PERHAPS I AM MISTAKEN ON THAT, BUT I WOULD LIKE TO HAVE SOME IDEA ON THE PROXIMITY AND LOCATION AND SO ON TO THE MOVE, IF THERE WAS A MOVE.

MR. BISSELL: UNDERSTOOD, YOUR HONOR.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q THERE WAS A POINT IN TIME WHERE HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES WAS NOT OCCUPYING THE PRESENT LOCATION ON RESEARCH -- IS IT RESEARCH DRIVE IN IRVINE?

A CORRECT.

Q AND WHEN DID IT MAKE THE MOVE -- FIRST OF ALL, WHERE WAS IT LOCATED PRIOR TO ITS MOVE TO RESEARCH DRIVE?

A ON TUSTIN AVENUE IN THE CITY OF ORANGE.

Q OKAY. AND WHEN DID IT MOVE FROM TUSTIN AVENUE, CITY OF ORANGE, TO RESEARCH DRIVE IN IRVINE?

A I WOULD BE GUESSING. I CAN'T SAY FOR SURE. I DIDN'T HANDLE -- I WASN'T INVOLVED IN IT OR I COULD PROBABLY TELL YOU, BUT I CAN'T REMEMBER EXACTLY WHEN.

Q WHEN IT MOVED INTO THE PREMISES ON RESEARCH DRIVE, HAD TENANT IMPROVEMENT WORK BEEN DONE, TO YOUR KNOWLEDGE, TO THE BUILDING PRIOR TO YOUR MOVING IN?

A IT WAS SET UP LIKE WE WANTED IT. I DON'T KNOW

IF THAT MEANT IT NEEDED MODIFICATION BEFORE WE MOVED.

Q DO YOU REMEMBER MR. BEREKI DOING TENANT IMPROVEMENT WORK AFTER YOU MOVED YOUR BUSINESS TO THE RESEARCH DRIVE LOCATION?

A NO, I DON'T.

Q OKAY.

THE COURT: GENERALLY, I DON'T WANT MR. HUMPHREYS TO GUESS. SO THERE MAY BE AN OPPORTUNITY LATER TO GET MORE INFORMATION.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q YOU SAY YOU CAN'T RECALL EXACTLY WHEN YOU MOVED FROM TUSTIN AVENUE IN ORANGE TO RESEARCH DRIVE. IS THERE A REASON WHY YOU CAN'T RECALL? WERE YOU NOT INVOLVED IN THE MOVE?

A I WAS NOT INVOLVED IN THE MOVE AT ALL. MY PRIMARY ROLE WAS TO BE OUT ON THE ROAD CONSULTING. I DO VERY LITTLE AROUND THE OFFICE AND EVERYTHING ASSOCIATED WITH THE PHYSICAL PLANT.

Q SO --

A SO --

Q SO THERE'S A POINT IN TIME WHERE YOU SHOWED UP TO WORK IN TUSTIN -- ON TUSTIN AVENUE, AND THEN THERE WAS A PERIOD OF TIME WHERE YOU JUST STARTED SHOWING UP TO WORK IN IRVINE DRIVE; IS THAT CORRECT?

A YES. THEY TOLD ME WE HAD MOVED AND WHERE IT WAS LOCATED.

Q BUT YOU'RE NOT EXACTLY SURE WHEN THAT MOVE TOOK PLACE BECAUSE YOU WERE ON THE ROAD?

A EXACTLY.

Q DO YOU RECALL THE YEAR AT LEAST?

A 2010 TO '12. I AM JUST TOTALLY GUESSING.

Q OKAY. DO YOU RECALL WHEN YOU FIRST DISCUSSED WITH MR. BEREKI THE POSSIBILITY OF HIM DOING CONSTRUCTION WORK ON YOUR CONDOMINIUM UNIT?

A YES. THAT WAS IN SPRING OF 2012.

Q ALL RIGHT. AND CAN YOU DESCRIBE THE CIRCUMSTANCES OF THAT DISCUSSION?

A I BELIEVE HE CALLED ME A NUMBER OF TIMES. WE FINALLY SPOKE FOR A FEW MINUTES TO JUST SAY HELLO TO EACH OTHER. THE REAL MEETING OCCURRED ON THAT DAY WE MET ON APRIL OF 2012 AT THE JOB SITE. WE HAD A RENTER IN THERE PRIOR TO THAT. WE COULDN'T GO IN VERY EASILY, SO THAT'S WHY WE WAITED UNTIL THEN.

Q WAS THE RENTER NO LONGER THERE AS OF APRIL 1, 2012?

A I THINK THAT'S CORRECT.

Q OKAY. AND YOU HEARD -- YOU HEARD MS. HUMPHREYS TESTIFY AS TO WHAT WAS DISCUSSED AT THE MEETING ON THE SITE AND THAT MR. BEREKI EXPRESSED ENTHUSIASM FOR THE JOB.

DO YOU CONCUR WITH THAT TESTIMONY?

A ABSOLUTELY. HE WAS HIGHLY EXCITED; SAID THAT

WHAT I SAW AT MY BROTHER'S IS NOTHING COMPARED TO WHAT HE'S DONE BEFORE IN NEWPORT BEACH; THAT HE WAS REALLY EXCITED ABOUT TAKING THIS JOB ON. GIDDY. CLEARLY EAGER.

THE COURT: LET'S STOP THERE AND GO TO LUNCH ON THE SIDE NOTE OF HUSBAND AGREEING WITH WIFE.

THE WITNESS: GOOD.

THE COURT: ON THE CONTRARY, I THINK WE WILL PROBABLY SEE -- WE SEE IT A FAIR AMOUNT AT MY HOUSE. WHY NOT? ALL RIGHT, EVERYBODY. SEE YOU BACK AT 1:30. HAVE A GOOD LUNCH.

THE WITNESS: THANKS. YOU TOO.

(RECESS.)

AFTERNOON SESSION

(THE FOLLOWING PROCEEDINGS

WERE HELD IN OPEN COURT.)

THE COURT: SORRY FOR THE DELAY. I HAD TO TRACK DOWN THE BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONS CODE SECTION APPLICABLE TO OUR CASE.

SIR, COME ON DOWN.

THE WITNESS: THANKS.

THE COURT: MR. BISSELL, BACK TO YOU, PLEASE.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q MR. HUMPHREYS, BEFORE THE BREAK, YOU JUST TESTIFIED THAT THE TESTIMONY THAT YOUR WIFE HAD GIVEN THIS MORNING AS FAR AS WHAT YOU WANTED DONE TO THE UNIT, WHAT WAS DISCUSSED WITH MR. BEREKI, THAT WAS BASICALLY --

THE COURT: HE ABSOLUTELY AGREED WITH EVERYTHING SHE SAID. WE HAVE THAT DOWN.

THE WITNESS: EXACTLY RIGHT.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q DID MR. BEREKI TELL YOU AT ANY TIME PRIOR TO APRIL 5, 2012, WHAT HIS QUALIFICATIONS WERE FOR DOING THIS PROJECT?

A YES, HE DID.

Q WHAT DID HE TELL YOU?

A HE TOLD ME HE HAD DONE A NUMBER OF PROJECTS IN NEWPORT BEACH, SPECIFICALLY, AND WEST COVINA, ORANGE COUNTY, SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA IN GENERAL THAT WERE EVEN MORE COMPREHENSIVE THAN THIS PROJECT. AND I FELT GOOD WHEN HE FINISHED TELLING ME THE STORY THAT HE WAS MORE THAN QUALIFIED TO HANDLE THIS JOB.

Q DID HE TELL YOU HE WAS A LICENSED CONTRACTOR?

A YES, HE DID.

Q HOW DID THAT COME UP?

A I THINK I ASKED HIM, ARE YOU A LICENSED CONTRACTOR, JUST TO MAKE SURE. AND HE AFFIRMED THAT HE WAS.

Q DID YOU BELIEVE HIM WHEN HE TOLD YOU HE WAS A LICENSED CONTRACTOR?

A YES, I DID.

Q WOULD YOU HAVE HAD MR. BEREKI DO THIS JOB FOR YOU IF YOU BELIEVED THAT HE WAS NOT A --

A ABSOLUTELY NOT. I HAVE HEARD SOME TERRIBLE HORROR STORIES ABOUT THOSE SITUATIONS.

Q IF YOU WILL TURN --

A I HAVE TWO BOOKS HERE.

Q IT'S THE ONE THAT'S DEFENDANTS' EXHIBITS.

A IS THAT THE BIG ONE?

THE COURT: IT MAY BE BEHIND YOU, SIR.

MR. BISSELL: I THINK IT'S THAT ONE.

MR. RUSSO: THAT ONE.

THE WITNESS: DEFENDANTS' TRIAL EXHIBITS.

MR. BISSELL: YES.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q IF YOU WILL TURN TO WHAT'S TABBED IN YOUR BOOK --

A I COULDN'T HEAR, SORRY.

THE COURT: TURN TO TAB 3.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q TAB 3.

A OKAY. I'M THERE.

Q HAVE YOU SEEN THAT DOCUMENT BEFORE?

A YES, I HAVE.

Q AND YOU HEARD YOUR WIFE TESTIFY THIS MORNING THAT -- EXCUSE ME.

YOUR HONOR, IS IT ALL RIGHT TO QUESTION HIM ALONG THOSE LINES, OR DO YOU WANT ME TO GO THROUGH THE WHOLE SCENARIO OF ASKING HIM EVERY QUESTION THAT I ASKED MS. HUMPHREYS ABOUT THE UNDERSTANDING OF WHAT THIS WAS?

THE COURT: TAKE YOUR BEST SHOT.

MR. BISSELL: THANKS, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: WHICHEVER WAY YOU LIKE.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q YOU HAVE SEEN THIS DOCUMENT BEFORE, HAVE YOU NOT?

A YES, I HAVE.
Q WHEN DID YOU FIRST SEE THIS?
A ON THAT DATE OF APRIL 5TH OF 2012.
Q AND THIS DOCUMENT HAS BEEN IDENTIFIED AS A -- KIND OF A TWO-STRING E-MAIL BETWEEN YOURSELF AND MR. BEREKI. IS THAT YOUR UNDERSTANDING?
A MR. BEREKI, MYSELF, AND MY WIFE.
Q COULD YOU TELL US WHAT YOUR UNDERSTANDING OF THIS DOCUMENT WAS?
A IT WAS KIND OF OUR ACCEPTANCE, AND IN SOME CASES A REJECTION OR ASKING FOR CLARITY OF THE SUGGESTIONS HE MADE IN WHAT I HAVE CHARACTERIZED AS A PROPOSAL IN THE PRIOR TAB.
Q DID -- THE E-MAIL FROM MR. BEREKI AND YOU AND YOUR WIFE'S RESPONSE TO MR. BEREKI, IT WAS ALL CONTAINED IN THIS ONE DOCUMENT. DID THAT SET FORTH WHAT YOUR UNDERSTANDING WAS AS FAR AS THE PROJECT WAS CONCERNED FROM APRIL 5, 2012?
A YES, IT DOES.
Q DURING ANY OF YOUR CONVERSATIONS WITH MR. BEREKI, LEADING UP TO THE APRIL 5, 2012, E-MAIL CORRESPONDENCE, DID MR. BEREKI EVER MENTION SPARTAN TO YOU?
A NO, HE DIDN'T.
Q YOU'VE READ THE EXHIBIT -- THE E-MAIL EXCHANGE BETWEEN YOU AND YOUR WIFE AND MR. BEREKI, EXHIBIT 303.

DOES THE NAME SPARTAN APPEAR ANYWHERE IN THAT E-MAIL?

A NO, IT DOESN'T.

Q AT ANY TIME BEFORE MR. BEREKI STARTED WORK ON THE PROJECT, HAD YOU EVER HEARD OF SPARTAN?

A NO, I HADN'T.

Q WHO DID YOU BELIEVE YOU WERE CONTRACTING WITH AS OF APRIL 5, 2012, FOR THIS PARTICULAR PROJECT?

A ADAM BEREKI AND HIS PARTNER, GLENN OVERLEY.

Q NOW, YOU HAD NEVER MET MR. OVERLEY BEFORE; IS THAT CORRECT?

A THAT'S CORRECT.

Q DID MR. BEREKI EXPLAIN ANYTHING ABOUT HIS PARTNER, WHAT HIS QUALIFICATIONS WERE?

A I DON'T RECALL THAT HE DID.

Q YOUR UNDERSTANDING THAT YOU WERE CONTRACTING WITH MR. HUMPHREYS (SIC) AND HIS PARTNER IS BASED ON WHAT, THEN?

A WITH MR. BEREKI AND HIS PARTNER IS BASED ON THIS E-MAIL AND EXHIBIT 3. YOU SAID HUMPHREYS. THAT'S WHY I SAID --

Q I'M SORRY.

A -- BEREKI AND HIS PARTNER, GLENN OVERLEY. IT WAS BASED ON THIS E-MAIL, YES.

Q I WILL DO THAT OFF AND ON. I APOLOGIZE.

MS. HUMPHREYS HAS ALREADY TESTIFIED AS TO EXHIBIT 306, WHICH WAS THE MAY 13, 2012 CHECK. IT'S OUR EXHIBIT, NUMBER 6.

YOU'VE SEEN THAT CHECK BEFORE; CORRECT?

A YES, I HAVE.

Q AND YOU AND YOUR WIFE MADE FURTHER PAYMENTS TO MR. BEREKI ON THIS JOB; CORRECT?

A YES, WE DID.

Q IF YOU WILL FLIP TO TAB NUMBER 15 IN THE EXHIBIT BOOK YOU HAVE IN FRONT OF YOU.

A OKAY. I'M THERE.

Q CAN YOU IDENTIFY THAT DOCUMENT FOR US?

A YES. IT'S AN EXTRACT OF CHECKS AND WIRE TRANSFERS FROM KAREN AND ME, SOMETIMES HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES TO ADAM BEREKI OR SPARTAN.

Q IS THIS CHECK EXTRACT A COMPILATION PREPARED BY YOU UNDER YOUR DIRECTION?

A PREPARED UNDER MY DIRECTION.

Q BY WHO?

A MY ACCOUNTANT.

Q AND DOES THIS EXHIBIT REFLECT ALL PAYMENTS MADE BY YOU AND YOUR WIFE ON THIS JOB?

A I BELIEVE IT DOES.

Q WHAT WAS THE DATE OF THE FIRST PAYMENT TO SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION?

A JULY 19, 2012.

Q SO AT SOME POINT, HAD YOU HEARD OF SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION?

A YES. IN THE JULY TIME FRAME, A FEW MONTHS INTO THE PROJECT.

Q AND HOW DID YOU HEAR OF SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION?

A ADAM ASKED US TO START MAKING CHECKS TO SPARTAN.

Q DID HE EXPLAIN TO YOU WHY?

A NO.

Q DID YOU ASK HIM WHY?

A NO.

Q DID HE EXPLAIN TO YOU WHO SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION WAS?

A NO.

Q DID YOU HAVE ANY SORT OF UNDERSTANDING OF WHO YOU THOUGHT SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION WAS?

A I JUST FIGURED IT WAS A SEPARATE ACCOUNT OR DBA THAT HE WAS USING. I DIDN'T THINK ABOUT IT, QUITE FRANKLY.

Q AT ANY TIME DURING MR. BEREKI'S INVOLVEMENT ON THIS PROJECT, DID HE EVER APPROACH YOU WITH A PROPOSED CONTRACT FROM SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION?

A NO.

Q DID HE APPROACH YOU WITH ANY TYPE OF PROPOSAL FROM SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION?

A NO.

Q WAS THERE ANY POINT DURING MR. BEREKI'S INVOLVEMENT IN THIS PROJECT IN WHICH YOU THOUGHT THAT

YOU HAD CONTRACTED WITH SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION?

A NO.

MR. BISSELL: NO FURTHER QUESTIONS, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: MR. RUSSO.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q WHEN YOU WENT TO THE PROJECT AND SAW THE SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION SIGN IN FRONT OF IT, DID YOU ASK QUESTIONS ABOUT THAT?

MR. BISSELL: OBJECTION, YOUR HONOR. ASSUMES FACTS NOT IN EVIDENCE.

THE COURT: SUSTAINED.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q HOW MANY TIMES DID YOU GO TO THE PROJECT, SIR?

A THREE TO FIVE.

Q IN THE YEAR AND A HALF?

A THAT'S ABOUT RIGHT.

Q OKAY. AND YOU SAW THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES SIGN ON THE PROJECT?

A NO.

Q DID YOU WALK AROUND THE WHOLE PROJECT WHEN YOU GOT THERE?

A NOT NECESSARILY.

Q DID YOU LOOK FROM THE STREET AND NOT GO SEE

WHAT WAS GOING ON WITH THE WORK?

A I WENT AND SAW WHAT WAS GOING ON WITH THE WORK.

Q OKAY. CAN YOU TURN TO EXHIBIT 30. IT'S THE OTHER BINDER, SIR.

A OH, OKAY. 30. I'M THERE.

Q I WILL ADDRESS YOUR ATTENTION TO PAGE 30-1, THE FIRST PAGE.

A OKAY.

Q DO YOU SEE IN THE TOP-RIGHT CORNER OF THE PICTURE, THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES SIGN?

A I SEE THAT NOW.

Q YOU ARE SAYING YOU NEVER SAW THAT?

A NEVER SAW IT.

THE COURT: PERHAPS WE CAN GET SOME ORIENTATION.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q SIR, CAN YOU TELL ME WHAT IS DEPICTED IN 30-1?

A IT LOOKS LIKE THE FRONT END OF THE CONDOMINIUM ON THE BEACH SIDE THAT HAD BEEN OPENED UP.

Q OKAY. SO IF WE ARE INSIDE LOOKING TOWARDS ME ON THIS PICTURE --

A YES.

Q -- AM I LOOKING AT WATER OR TOWARDS THE STREET?

A YOU'RE LOOKING AT WATER.

Q OKAY.

THE COURT: SO IS THERE A STREET BETWEEN THE WATER AND THE FRONT OF THIS HOUSE?

THE WITNESS: NO.

THE COURT: SIDEWALK?

THE WITNESS: YES.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q WERE YOU AWARE, SIR, THAT THAT SIGN WAS ORIGINALLY POSTED ON THE FRONT OF THE HOUSE WHEN CONSTRUCTION BEGAN, BUT THE OWNER'S ASSOCIATION REQUIRED THAT IT BE REMOVED?

A NO.

Q YOU WEREN'T AWARE OF THAT?

A I WAS NOT AWARE OF THAT.

Q OKAY. SIR, DID YOU LOOK INTO THE LICENSURE OF MR. BEREKI?

A NO.

Q SO YOU DIDN'T CHECK TO SEE WHETHER OR NOT MR. BEREKI HAD A LICENSE HIMSELF; CORRECT?

A NO.

Q CAN YOU TURN, SIR, TO EXHIBIT NO. 32 IN THE BOOK BEFORE YOU.

A OKAY. I'M THERE.

Q SIR, CUTTING TO THE CHASE, ARE ALL THE CHECKS THAT ARE IN EXHIBIT NO. 32 THE CHECKS THAT MAKE UP THE CHECK REGISTER THAT WE HAVE DISCUSSED BEFORE, WHICH IS 32-2, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF THE FIRST $15,000 CHECK

MISSING?

A YES.

MR. RUSSO: OKAY. I WILL MOVE INTO ADMISSION EXHIBIT 32.

THE WITNESS: SORRY?

THE COURT: ANY OBJECTION?

MR. BISSELL: LET ME JUST MAKE SURE.

THE COURT: THIRTY-TWO CONSISTS OF PAGE 1 OF AN E-MAIL STRING DATED VARIOUSLY. AT THE TOP, JULY 19, 2012, THE NEXT ONE, JULY 19, 2012; THE NEXT ONE, JULY 20, 2012; THE LAST AT THE BOTTOM, FEBRUARY 1, 2017.

PAGE 2 IS THAT WHICH YOU PREVIOUSLY SHOWED, EXHIBIT 315, THE EXTRACTED CHECKS, PREPARED AT MR. HUMPHREYS' BY HIS ACCOUNTANT.

FOLLOWING THAT, 32, PAGE 4 -- THERE IS NO 32-3 BY THE WAY.

32-4 THROUGH 32-17, COPIES OF CHECKS PAYABLE EITHER TO MR. BEREKI AT VARIOUS TIMES OR TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INCORPORATED. SOME CHECKS DRAWN ON THE HUMPHREYS' PERSONAL ACCOUNT. SOME REFLECTED AS WIRE TRANSFER. AND THEN TOWARDS THE END, A SERIES OF CHECKS DRAWN ON THE ACCOUNT OF HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, INCORPORATED.

MR. RUSSO: COULDN'T HAVE DONE IT BETTER MYSELF, YOUR HONOR.

MR. BISSELL: NO OBJECTION, YOUR HONOR.

YOUR HONOR, DO YOU PREFER TO HAVE EXHIBITS ENTERED ALL AT ONCE AT THE END OF THE CASE?

THE COURT: IN A COURT TRIAL, I REALLY DON'T CARE. AND FOR OUR PURPOSES ON THIS PARTICULAR BIFURCATED MATTER, PROBABLY BETTER IF WE JUST DO THEM AS THEY COME.

SO 32 RECEIVED.

(EXHIBIT NO. 32 WAS ADMITTED INTO EVIDENCE.)

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q SIR, WERE YOU AWARE THAT A BUILDING PERMIT HAD TO BE PULLED ON THIS PROJECT?

A THE BUILDING PERMIT HAD TO DO WHAT?

Q THAT A BUILDING PERMIT HAD TO BE PULLED ON THIS PROJECT.

A I'M ASSUMING --

THE COURT: MIGHT BE PULLED -- PULLED IS ALMOST A TERM OF ART FOR THE CONSTRUCTION BUSINESS. SO PROBABLY THE QUESTION REPHRASED AS, WERE YOU AWARE OF WHETHER OR NOT THE CITY REQUIRED A PERMIT TO BE ISSUED FOR THE PERFORMANCE OF THIS WORK.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q WERE YOU AWARE THAT THE CITY REQUIRED A BUILDING PERMIT TO BE ISSUED FOR THE PERFORMANCE OF THIS WORK?

A I AM NOW.

THE COURT: GOOD QUESTION.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q AND WERE YOU AWARE, SIR, THAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES WAS THE APPLICANT FOR THAT BUILDING PERMIT?

A NO.

Q WERE YOU AWARE, SIR, THAT ARCHITECTS OR CIVIL ENGINEERS HAD TO BE HIRED FOR THIS PROJECT?

A I BELIEVE SO LATER.

Q AND WERE YOU AWARE, SIR, THAT IT WAS SPARTAN ASSOCIATES THAT HAD TO CONTRACT WITH THE CIVIL ENGINEERS?

A NO.

Q WERE YOU AWARE, SIR, THAT -- WHAT DESIGN PROFESSIONALS WERE YOU AWARE OF ON THIS PROJECT, SIR?

A I THINK THE ONLY NAME I REMEMBER IS WONG.

Q OKAY. AND DO YOU KNOW WHAT HIS PROFESSION WAS?

A I DO NOT.

Q WERE YOU AWARE, SIR, THAT EVERY SUBCONTRACT TO A PROJECT WAS WITH SPARTAN ASSOCIATES?

A I WAS NOT.

Q OKAY.

MR. RUSSO: NO FURTHER QUESTIONS.

THE COURT: MR. BEREKI?

MR. BEREKI: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q YOU MENTIONED A LITTLE BIT EARLIER ABOUT HEARING TERRIBLE WAR STORIES ABOUT CONSTRUCTION. CAN YOU GIVE US AN IDEA ABOUT WHAT YOU HEARD ABOUT --

THE COURT: LET'S NOT GO THERE.

MR. BISSELL: OBJECTION. RELEVANCY, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: SUSTAINED.

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q DID ALL YOUR FAMILY MEMBERS TELL YOU THAT SPARTAN HAD DONE A GOOD JOB ON THEIR PROJECTS?

A NO.

Q THEY DIDN'T?

A NO.

Q WHAT DID THEY SAY?

A ADAM BEREKI DID A GOOD JOB. I NEVER HEARD THE NAME SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

Q OKAY. SO THEY TOLD YOU THAT ADAM BEREKI HAD DONE A GOOD JOB ON ALL THEIR PROJECTS?

A YES.

Q AND YOUR BUSINESS OFFICE, THE WORK THAT YOU SAW DONE THERE, DID YOU FEEL THAT A GOOD JOB HAD BEEN DONE?

A YES.

Q OKAY. WERE THERE ANY COMPLAINTS ABOUT THE WORK PRODUCT ITSELF?

MR. BISSELL: OBJECTION. VAGUE.

THE COURT: WELL, IT'S COMPOUND BECAUSE WE ARE NOW WELL AWARE THERE ARE MULTIPLE PROJECTS. SO I WILL SUSTAIN ON COMPOUND AT THIS POINT.

YOU CAN FOLLOW UP, MR. BEREKI.

MR. BEREKI: MR. --

THE COURT: LET ME CLARIFY SINCE I KNOW YOU'RE NOT A LAWYER. BASICALLY IF YOU WANT TO ASK A QUESTION LIKE THAT, YOU NEED TO ASK PROJECT BY PROJECT AND ANOTHER COLLECTIVELY.

MR. BEREKI: OKAY.

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q WERE THERE ANY COMPLAINTS ABOUT THE WORK THAT SPARTAN DID ON YOUR -- AT THE HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES OFFICE BUILDING ON RESEARCH?

A I NEVER HEARD SPARTAN ASSOCIATES. SO I HAVE TO SAY NO, THERE WERE NO COMPLAINTS.

Q OKAY. WERE THERE ANY COMPLAINTS ABOUT THE WORK THAT ADAM BEREKI DID AT YOUR -- AT THE HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES OFFICE ON RESEARCH?

A NO.

Q OKAY. DO YOU HIRE CONTRACTORS IN YOUR BUSINESS?

A NOT CONSTRUCTION CONTRACTORS. CONSULTANTS, MANAGEMENT CONSULTANTS, ACCOUNTANTS, PEOPLE, EXPERTS IN NUCLEAR PHYSICS, THAT KIND OF THING.

Q OKAY. BUT YOU REFER TO THEM AS CONTRACTORS; CORRECT?

A CONSULTANTS, ASSOCIATES, THOSE KIND OF TITLES.

Q OKAY. COULD YOU PLEASE TURN TO EXHIBIT 40.

A OKAY. I'M THERE.

Q OKAY. AND THEN I ASK YOU TO GO TO EXHIBIT A WHICH BEGINS ON 40-8.

A OKAY. I'M THERE.

Q CAN YOU READ THE TITLE OF THIS PAGE THAT'S IN BOLD FOR US, SIR?

A HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, INC., INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR AGREEMENT.

Q SO IN YOUR COMPANY, WHAT DOES THIS INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR AGREEMENT APPLY TO?

MR. BISSELL: RELEVANCY, YOUR HONOR. OBJECTION.

THE COURT: SUSTAINED.

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q WAS YOUR TESTIMONY THAT YOU DON'T HIRE CONTRACTORS IN YOUR COMPANY?

A I AM SAYING THAT WE REFER TO THEM AS CONSULTANTS OR ASSOCIATES. I WASN'T SURE WHAT THE EXACT AGREEMENT NAME IS. IN FACT, I'M CONFIDENT IT'S CHANGED.

Q WOULD THOSE CONSULTANTS BE HIRED UNDER THIS INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR AGREEMENT?

MR. BISSELL: SAME OBJECTION. RELEVANCE.

THE COURT: SUSTAINED. LET ME INDICATE TO YOU,

MR. BEREKI, I CONSIDER THERE TO BE SOME DIFFERENTIATION. I UNDERSTAND YOUR POINT IN TERMS OF TITLE, INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR CONTAINED ON THIS ATTACHED EXHIBIT TO EXHIBIT 40, BUT IT WOULD BE RELEVANT AND GERMANE IF THIS WAS A CONTRACT TO PERFORM CONSTRUCTION-TYPE CONTRACTING WORK. HIRING SOMEBODY TO DO THE FUNCTION OF A MANAGEMENT CONSULTANT IN THE REALM OF MR. HUMPHREYS' BUSINESS, I THINK, IS AN ENTIRELY DIFFERENT THING, AND, THEREFORE, NOT RELEVANT.

MR. BEREKI: WHERE I'M COMING FROM IS THAT MR. HUMPHREYS, IN MY KNOWLEDGE, IS A MANAGEMENT CONSULTANT. HE WROTE THE BOOK ON PROJECT MANAGEMENT. AND IT -- HE MAY NOT BE INVOLVED IN CONSTRUCTION PROJECTS LIKE THIS AS MUCH, BUT HE DOES STATE THAT IN HIS WORK, THAT HIS MANAGEMENT PRINCIPLES, THAT HE BOTH TEACHES AND IS A SELF-PROCLAIMED EXPERT IN --

THE COURT: ASK HIM ABOUT THAT.

MR. BEREKI: OKAY.

THE COURT: I KNOW YOU'RE JUST ABOUT TO DO THAT.

MR. BEREKI: YES, I WAS, SIR.

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q OKAY. I'M GOING TO HOLD UP WHAT HAS NOT YET BEEN MARKED. WELL, IT IS ON THIS EXHIBIT -- ON THE LIST, BUT THIS BLUE BOOK. IT SAYS, "PROJECT MANAGEMENT USING EARNED VALUE," BY HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES.

DID YOU WRITE THIS BOOK, SIR?

MR. BISSELL: OBJECTION. RELEVANCY.
THE COURT: YOU CAN ANSWER YES OR NO.
THE WITNESS: YES.
BY MR. BEREKI:
Q AND IN THIS BOOK, ARE THERE PRINCIPLES RELATING TO THE HANDLING OF CONTRACTS?
A YES.
Q WOULD YOU AGREE THAT YOU HAVE EXTENSIVE EXPERIENCE IN VARIOUS TYPE OF CONTRACTS?
A FOR GOVERNMENT FUNDED CONTRACTS OVER $100 MILLION WHERE THERE'S A VERY SPECIFIC REQUIREMENT FOR A THING CALLED EARNED VALUE MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS.
Q OKAY. SO HOW ABOUT AN ACTUAL COST OR A COST-PLUS CONTRACT, DO YOU HAVE EXPERIENCE IN THAT?
A MANY OF MY CLIENTS HAVE COST PLUS CONTRACTS.
Q OKAY. AND WOULD YOU AGREE THAT YOU HAVE EXTENSIVE EXPERIENCE IN PROJECT MANAGEMENT?
A IN EARNED VALUE PROJECT MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS, YES.
Q OKAY. SO DURING THE PROJECT, DID I EVER ASK YOU TO MAKE A CHECK OUT TO LEGOLAND TO BUILD YOUR PROPERTY?
A I DON'T THINK SO.
Q OKAY. DID I ASK YOU TO MAKE A CHECK OUT TO JUDGE CHAFFEE?
THE COURT: WELL, LET'S NOT BE FACETIOUS.

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q HOW ABOUT PINKBERRY, THE ICE CREAM MANUFACTURER?

MR. BISSELL: OBJECTION. RELEVANCE.

THE COURT: SUSTAINED.

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q SO YOU HAVE STATED THAT YOU HAVE EXPERIENCE IN CONTRACTS AND PROJECT MANAGEMENT, YET YOU ARE ALLEGING THAT A SUBSTITUTION OCCURRED OF SPARTAN ASSOCIATES INTO THE PROJECT, AND DESPITE ALL OF THIS EXPERIENCE, WOULD YOU AGREE THAT THAT DID NOT SEND UP A RED FLAG TO YOU?

THE COURT: I WILL SUSTAIN MY OWN OBJECTION AS TOO MANY WORDS.

MR. BEREKI: OKAY.

THE COURT: SEE IF YOU CAN GO BACK AND REFRAME THE QUESTION. USUALLY, QUESTIONS, SINCE YOU'RE CROSS-EXAMINING -- LET ME EXPLAIN. SINCE YOU'RE CROSS-EXAMINING, YOU GET TO ASK LEADING QUESTIONS. I DON'T KNOW IF MR. RUSSO HAS GIVEN YOU THE LECTURE ON LEADING AND NON-LEADING QUESTIONS.

MR. RUSSO: WE HAD A FULL NIGHT OF IT LAST NIGHT.

THE COURT: OKAY.

MR. BEREKI: I AM JUST A ROOKIE, THOUGH.

THE COURT: A LEADING QUESTION IS ANY QUESTION THAT'S DESIGNED OR INTENDED TO PUT WORDS INTO THE MOUTH OF THE WITNESS THAT ADOPTS THE QUESTION BY SAYING YES.

MR. BEREKI: OKAY.

THE COURT: LEADING QUESTION. YOU WENT TO THE STORE LAST NIGHT, DIDN'T YOU? THE ANSWER WILL BE YES OR NO. PRESUMPTIVELY, THE ANSWER IS GOING TO BE YES. WHILE YOU WERE AT THE STORE, YOU BOUGHT A SIX PACK OF BEER, CORRECT? PRESUMPTIVELY, THE ANSWER WILL BE YES.

SO WHAT'S THE NON-LEADING FORM? NOT THAT YOU NEED TO KNOW THIS RIGHT NOW, BUT I WILL CLOSE THE BIG PICTURE. THE NON-LEADING FORM IS ANY QUESTION THAT EMPLOYS THE JOURNALIST'S TOOLS. WHAT ARE THE JOURNALIST TOOLS? WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE, WHY, HOW. WHERE DID YOU GO LAST NIGHT? CAN'T BE ANSWERED JUST YES OR NO. I WENT TO THE STORE. WHAT, IF ANYTHING, DID YOU BUY WHILE YOU WERE AT THE STORE? NOTICE I STUCK AN EXTRA CLAUSE IN THERE, "IF ANYTHING." THERE IS A TECHNICAL REASON FOR THAT, BUT YOU DON'T NEED TO WORRY ABOUT THAT. ANSWER, CAN'T BE YES OR NO. ANSWER, I BOUGHT A SIX PACK OF BEER.

THE REASON I AM SAYING THIS TO YOU IS THAT, TYPICALLY, LEADING QUESTIONS ARE SHORT, TO THE POINT. PREFACING WITH LONG PARAGRAPHS OF INFORMATION IS BASICALLY TESTIMONIALS THAT DON'T REALLY WASH VERY WELL AROUND HERE. YOU WANT TO ASK SHORT QUESTIONS, ALLOW THE WITNESS TO SAY YES OR NO. THE LONGER THE QUESTION IS, THE MORE I START GOING, I'M NOT GOING TO REQUIRE A "YES" OR "NO" ANSWER. I'M GOING TO LET THE WITNESS TAKE OFF

AND GIVE SEVERAL PARAGRAPHS OF RESPONSE TO THAT.

BECAUSE, OFTENTIMES, WITH THE LONGER QUESTION, THERE ARE CERTAIN BUILT-IN ASSUMPTIONS THAT MAY OR MAY NOT BE ACCURATE. AND AS WE HAVE ALREADY SEEN, MR. HUMPHREYS AND MRS. HUMPHREYS HAVE DONE A GOOD JOB OF DIFFERENTIATING TO LEADING QUESTIONS. YOU HAD A CONTRACT WITH SPARTAN, DIDN'T YOU? THAT'S THE SHORT VERSION OF WHAT ACTUALLY WAS ASKED. THE ANSWER, I DIDN'T HAVE A CONTRACT WITH SPARTAN AT ALL. I HAD A CONTRACT WITH MR. BEREKI.

MR. BEREKI: THANK YOU.

THE COURT: IT COULDN'T BE ANSWERED YES OR NO. THAT IS THE PROBLEM.

MR. BEREKI: I UNDERSTAND.

THE COURT: NOW, TO GET THE CHAFFEE FULL COURSE, YOU'RE GOING TO HAVE TO READ THE COUNTY BAR JOURNAL NEXT MONTH, BUT IN THE MEANTIME -- OR LAST QUARTER. MR. RUSSO PROBABLY GAVE YOU A COPY OF THE ARTICLE I WROTE ON LEADING QUESTIONS. IN THE MEANTIME, IT'S JUST IMPORTANT TO KEEP IN MIND THAT IT'S BEST TO HAVE YOUR QUESTION WRITTEN OUT. AND I KNOW IT'S A LITTLE LATE IN THE GAME FOR THAT, BUT AS WE GO THROUGH THIS TRIAL, YOU WANT TO WRITE OUT YOUR QUESTIONS SO THAT YOU WILL HAVE A GOOD FLOW. THERE'S NOTHING WRONG WITH READING QUESTIONS OR AT LEAST REFERRING TO NOTES SO YOU KNOW WHERE YOU'RE GOING.

MR. BEREKI: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: OKAY.

MR. BEREKI: I WILL TAKE THAT TO HEART.

THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. BACK TO IT, SIR.

BY MR. BEREKI:

THE COURT: HOLD ON A SECOND. START OVER AGAIN.

MR. BISSELL: 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, AND 315.

THE COURT: ANY OBJECTION TO 302?

MR. RUSSO: NO, YOUR HONOR.

MR. BEREKI: NO.

THE COURT: YOU'RE A PART OF THIS TOO.
MR. BEREKI: NO.
THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. 302 RECEIVED.

THE COURT: 306 IS THE COPY OF THE CHASE CHECK, $50,000. ANY OBJECTION?
MR. BEREKI: NO OBJECTION.
MR. RUSSO: NO OBJECTION.
THE COURT: RECEIVED.
(EXHIBIT NO. 306 WAS ADMITTED INTO EVIDENCE.)
THE COURT: LASTLY, 315, THIS IS THE SUMMARY OF CHECKS PAID OVER THE COURSE OF THE RUN OF THIS EVENT. ANY OBJECTION?

MR. RUSSO: IT'S -- I OBJECT THAT IT'S DUPLICATIVE OF THREE -- I'M SORRY -- OF 32. AND I BELIEVE THERE'S AN ABSENCE OF FOUNDATION FOR IT.

THE COURT: SO DID YOU MOVE 32?

MR. RUSSO: I DID.

THE COURT: THERE IT IS. I JUST DIDN'T NOTE IT IN MY BOOK. WELL, CONSIDERING THE FACT THAT 32 IS IN EVIDENCE, DO WE NEED TWO OF THEM?

MR. BISSELL: AGAIN, YOUR HONOR, I DON'T HAVE THEIR EXHIBIT BOOK. I'M GOING TO HAVE TO TAKE A --

THE COURT: TAKE A LOOK.

MR. BISSELL: AS LONG AS IT'S TRULY DUPLICATIVE --

MR. RUSSO: IT IS.

MR. BISSELL: -- WE DON'T.

THE COURT: WELL, ONE DIFFERENCE I CAN TELL YOU RIGHT NOW. 32-2, WHICH IS THE PAGE IN QUESTION, ON MY BOOK, THERE ARE A SERIES OF RED CHECKMARKS. THEN THERE ARE SOME BLUE INITIALS NEXT TO, IT LOOKS LIKE, THE BEREKI ENTRIES AND THEN SOMEONE IN BLUE HAS CIRCLED THE BALANCE OF 848,000.

MR. BISSELL: TO ME, THOSE ARE INSIGNIFICANT. SO I HAVE NO OBJECTION TO 32 COMING IN.

THE COURT: OKAY. WE WON'T DOUBLE DOWN ON THAT ONE.

MR. BISSELL: ALL RIGHT.

THE COURT: THANK YOU, SIR, YOU CAN STEP DOWN.

THE WITNESS: THANK YOU, SIR.

MR. BISSELL: YOUR HONOR, AT THIS TIME, CROSS COMPLAINANTS CALL ADAM BEREKI TO THE STAND.

(OFF THE RECORD.)

THE CLERK: DO YOU SOLEMNLY STATE THAT THE EVIDENCE YOU'RE ABOUT TO GIVE IN THE CASE NOW PENDING BEFORE THIS COURT SHALL BE THE TRUTH, THE WHOLE TRUTH, AND NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH, SO HELP YOU GOD?

THE WITNESS: I DO.

THE CLERK: CAN YOU PLEASE STATE YOUR FULL NAME AND SPELL IT FOR THE RECORD.

THE WITNESS: ADAM, A-D-A-M, ALAN, A-L-A-N, BEREKI, B-E-R-E-K-I.

THE CLERK: THANK YOU.

THE COURT: COME ON DOWN, MR. BEREKI. HAVE A SEAT. NOW, I NEED TO EXPLAIN SOMETHING TO YOU SINCE I HAVE JUST GIVEN YOU A LITTLE BIT OF CHAFFEE ON EVIDENCE ALREADY. BECAUSE YOUR POSITION IS ADVERSE TO

MR. BISSELL'S CLIENTS, EVEN THOUGH MR. BISSELL IS CALLING YOU, HE GETS TO ASK LEADING QUESTIONS OF YOU. ON, QUOTE, CROSS-EXAMINATION, MR. RUSSO IS GOING TO HAVE TO ASK YOU NON-LEADING QUESTIONS. AND TO THE EXTENT YOU WANT TO ASK YOURSELF QUESTIONS, I JUST WILL UNDERSTAND THAT YOU'RE GOING TO BASICALLY ASK YOURSELF NON-LEADING QUESTIONS. AGAIN, THOSE ARE THE WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHY, AND HOW QUESTIONS.

THE WITNESS: IS IT MY UNDERSTANDING THAT YOU'RE GOING TO GIVE ME A PERIOD OF TIME AFTER THIS TO ASK MY OWN QUESTIONS --

THE COURT: OH, SURE.

MR. BEREKI: -- TO HAVE A SMALL DIATRIBE OF MY OWN.

THE COURT: YOU'RE GOING TO BE UNDER OATH ASKING YOURSELF QUESTIONS TO WHICH YOU HAVE TO GIVE TRUTHFUL ANSWERS.

MR. BEREKI: YES, SIR. THAT WILL BE --

THE COURT: THERE IS A CERTAIN IRONY THERE. I DON'T KNOW WHY.

ALL RIGHT. MR. BISSELL, TO YOU, PLEASE.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q MR. BEREKI, IF YOU WILL TURN TO TAB NUMBER 2

IN DEFENDANTS' EXHIBIT BOOK, EXHIBIT 302.

A I'M THERE, SIR.

Q YOU RECOGNIZE THAT DOCUMENT?

A YOU SAID 302; CORRECT?

Q 202.

THE COURT: NO, 302. TAB --

MR. BISSELL: I'M SORRY. SORRY.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q 302, TAB NUMBER 2.

A I DO RECOGNIZE THIS DOCUMENT.

Q AND DID YOU DRAFT THAT?

A YES.

Q AND ON WHOSE E-MAIL ACCOUNT WAS THAT DOCUMENT SENT TO THE HUMPHREYS?

A THE ADAM BEREKI E-MAIL ACCOUNT.

Q DID SPARTAN HAVE AN E-MAIL ACCOUNT AT THIS TIME?

A I BELIEVE IT DID.

Q OKAY.

A HOWEVER, ADAM BEREKI WAS THE E-MAIL ACCOUNT THAT I USED FOR SPARTAN.

Q IF YOU WILL FLIP TO EXHIBIT -- YOUR EXHIBIT NOW, IN YOUR EXHIBIT BOOK, 39 -- 35-13.

A I'M SORRY. SAY AGAIN.

Q EXHIBIT 35-13.

A OKAY.

OKAY.

Q DO YOU RECOGNIZE THAT DOCUMENT, SIR?

A I DO.

Q WHAT IS THAT?

A THIS IS A CONTRACT WITH -- BETWEEN THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES AND ADP AND GUARD. ADP PROVIDED PAYROLL SERVICES AND GUARD PROVIDED WORKERS' COMP SERVICES.

Q AND WERE THOSE SERVICES TO BE PROVIDED IN CONNECTION WITH THE PROJECT YOU WERE DOING FOR THE HUMPHREYS?

A YES, SIR.

Q WHEN I SAY "THE HUMPHREYS," I'M TALKING ABOUT THE HUMPHREYS PROJECT ON LIDO NORD. DO YOU UNDERSTAND THAT, SIR?

A YES.

THE COURT: LET'S BE CLEAR. THE CONTRACT ITSELF ENCOMPASSES PAGE 35-11 THROUGH -13; IS THAT RIGHT?

THE WITNESS: YOUR HONOR, I BELIEVE IT ENCOMPASSES 35-1 THROUGH -- MAYBE THE ENTIRE 35 EXHIBIT. IT IS.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q SO IF YOU LOOK AT THE BOTTOM OF PAGE 35-13, THERE'S AN E-MAIL ACCOUNT THERE, IS THERE NOT?

A YES.

Q AND THAT E-MAIL ACCOUNT IS ADAM@THESPARTANASSOCIATES.COM?

A YES.

Q AND YOU WERE USING THAT E-MAIL IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE HUMPHREYS PROJECT?

A YES, SOMETIMES, I DID.

Q WELL, DID YOU JUST NOT TESTIFY THAT YOU ALWAYS USE THE ADAM BEREKI E-MAIL IN CONJUNCTION WITH SPARTAN ASSOCIATES FOR THIS PROJECT?

A I DID NOT USE THE WORD "ALWAYS."

Q BACK TO EXHIBIT 302. TURN TO PAGE 5 OF THAT EXHIBIT.

ARE YOU THERE?

A I'M THERE, SIR.

Q OKAY. NOW, AT THE LAST COMPLETE PARAGRAPH, YOU MENTIONED WHAT YOU AND YOUR PARTNER PROPOSED TO CHARGE THE HUMPHREYS ON THIS PROJECT; CORRECT?

A IN RELATING TO THIS DOCUMENT, IT'S NOT ON THIS DOCUMENT, NO.

A NO. IT WOULD BE 304; RIGHT?

Q NO.

A OKAY. 302, PAGE 4, YES. I'M HERE NOW.

Q SECOND TO THE -- THE LAST COMPLETE PARAGRAPH ON THE PAGE, THAT'S A PROPOSAL BY YOU AND YOUR PARTNER AS TO WHAT YOU TWO INTEND TO CHARGE THE HUMPHREYS ON THIS PROJECT?

A NO. IT'S A PROPOSAL FROM SPARTAN ABOUT WHAT THE LABOR RATE OF ADAM BEREKI AND GLEN CHARGE ON THE PROJECT.

Q OKAY. CAN YOU POINT TO ANYWHERE IN THAT DOCUMENT WHERE THE NAME SPARTAN IS MENTIONED?

A IT'S NOT.

Q NOW, THE COST OF THE WORK THAT YOU ESTIMATED AT THAT TIME, UNDERSTANDING THAT THE SCOPE CHANGED, IT WAS $143,000?

A ACTUALLY, THERE WERE TWO PROJECTS, WHAT WE DESCRIBED IN THIS E-MAIL AS PHASE ONE AND PHASE TWO. PHASE ONE WAS TO BE SOMEWHAT OF A COSMETIC REMODEL OF THE UNIT ITSELF, AND THAT WAS TO BE ABOUT $68,000, IS WHAT I ESTIMATED.

AND THEN THERE WAS ANOTHER PHASE OF THE PROJECT THAT WE SPOKE ABOUT, WHICH WAS PUTTING A DECK ON TOP OF THE UNIT BECAUSE THE HUMPHREYS INDICATED THEY WANTED TO HAVE LARGER DECK ENTERTAINMENT SPACE, AND THAT WOULD BE SOMETHING THAT WOULD BE RESEARCHED AND DISCUSSED OR AGREED UPON LATER. AND THAT AMOUNT WAS 75,000.

SO I THINK IF YOU ADD THE 68 AND 75, IT'S 143. BUT THE 75, TO MY RECOLLECTION, WASN'T YET AGREED UPON. IT WAS SOMETHING WE WERE GOING TO RESEARCH ON.

Q IT WAS YOUR ESTIMATE?

A YES.

Q IN THE LAST PAGE OF THIS E-MAIL, HOW DO YOU SIGN OFF?

A BEST, ADAM BEREKI.

Q NOW, YOUR PARTNER, MR. -- YOU TESTIFIED THAT -- YOU MENTIONED IN YOUR OPENING STATEMENT THAT MR. OAKLEY -- MR. OVERLEY WAS YOUR PARTNER ON THIS PROJECT?

A YES.

Q HE WAS AN INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR?

A NO. WELL, AN INDEPENDENT LICENSED CONTRACTOR, OR JUST AN INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR IN THE TERMS OF HOW YOU WOULD FILE A TAX RETURN FOR HIM?

Q HOW YOU WOULD FILE A TAX RETURN?

A YES, HE WAS TREATED AS AN INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR.

Q HE HAD NO INVOLVEMENT WITH SPARTAN OTHER THAN PARTNERING WITH YOU; CORRECT?

A ARE YOU REFERRING TO ME AS SPARTAN OR ME AS ADAM BEREKI?

Q EITHER/OR.

A OKAY. I THINK TO MAKE IT CLEAR, I'M UP HERE AS A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES. AND TO NOT DIFFERENTIATE THOSE ISSUES, I WOULD APPRECIATE IF YOU WOULD CLARIFY IN YOUR QUESTIONS WHICH ONE YOU'RE REFERRING TO OR JUST ASSUME THAT I'M ALWAYS TALKING FROM THE PLACE OF SPARTAN.

THE COURT: THE WITNESS'S COMPOUND OBJECTION IS SUSTAINED.

REPHRASE.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q READING FROM THE DEPOSITION THAT YOU GAVE IN THIS MATTER AT PAGE -- BEGINNING OF PAGE -- I'M SORRY -- 98, BEGINNING LINE 10 --

THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. HOLD ON A SECOND. 98, LINE 10. GOING TO WHERE?

MR. BISSELL: TO LINE -- I'M SORRY -- LINE 10 -- I'M SORRY -- TO LINE 13.

THE COURT: ANY OBJECTION?

MR. RUSSO: NO.

THE COURT: GO AHEAD AND READ.

MR. BISSELL: LET'S SEE.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q "QUESTION: MR. OVERLEY, WAS HE -- DID HE HAVE ANY INVOLVEMENT WITH SPARTAN?

"ANSWER: HE WAS AN INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR, YOU MIGHT SAY."

IF YOU WILL FLIP TO EXHIBIT 303, THE -- I'M SORRY. 305, IF YOU WOULD, SIR.

A OKAY. I'M HERE.

Q DO YOU RECOGNIZE THAT DOCUMENT?

A YES.

Q AND IN THIS DOCUMENT, YOU'RE COMMUNICATING WITH THE HUMPHREYS AND YOU'RE ASKING THEM TO CUT YOU A CHECK FOR $15,000; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q AND MS. HUMPHREYS, IN RESPONSE TO YOUR REQUEST, ASKS YOU WHO SHE SHOULD MAKE THE CHECK OUT TO.

DO YOU SEE THAT?

A I DO.

Q WHO IS IT THAT YOU'RE ASKING TO MAKE THE CHECK OUT TO?

A ADAM BEREKI.

Q IS THERE ANYTHING IN THE EXHIBIT 3 -- EXHIBIT 303 AGREEMENT THAT WOULD -- YOU CONTEND WOULD PUT THE HUMPHREYS ON NOTICE THAT THEY WERE CONTRACTING WITH ANYONE OTHER THAN YOU AND YOUR PARTNER, MR. OVERLEY? CAN YOU POINT TO THAT?

A IN THESE DOCUMENTS, NO.

Q IS THERE ANYTHING IN THE E-MAIL YOU SENT TO THE HUMPHREYS ON APRIL 13, THAT'S EXHIBIT 305, WHERE YOU'RE ASKING FOR PAYMENT AND ASKING THE PAYMENT BE MADE PAYABLE TO ADAM BEREKI, THAT WOULD PUT THE HUMPHREYS ON NOTICE THEY HAVE CONTRACTED WITH ANYONE OTHER THAN YOU?

A NO.

YOU'RE SPEAKING DOCUMENT SPECIFIC ONLY?

Q WELL, DID YOU HAVE CONVERSATIONS WITH THE HUMPHREYS PRIOR TO APRIL 5, 2012 WHERE YOU INDICATED TO THEM THAT YOU WERE GOING TO BE DOING THIS JOB WITH SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION AND NOT ADAM BEREKI?

A I BELIEVE THEY UNDERSTOOD IT WAS WITH SPARTAN

CONSTRUCTION.

Q ANY CONVERSATIONS TO THAT EFFECT?

A YEAH, I TOLD THEM THAT THAT'S WHAT MY COMPANY IS, SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION.

Q WHEN DID YOU TELL THEM THAT?

A DURING THE DAY WE MET THERE ON LIDO. I BELIEVE, AS MR. HUMPHREYS SAID, HE DID ASK FOR -- IF I WAS LICENSED AND I DID SAY THAT I WAS AS SPARTAN AND REFERRED HIM TO THE CALIFORNIA STATE LICENSE BOARD TO CHECK THE LICENSE NUMBER.

Q READING AGAIN FROM YOUR DEPOSITION OF PAGE 61, LINES 5 THROUGH 9.

"QUESTION" --

THE COURT: HOLD ON.

MR. BISSELL: I'M SORRY.

THE COURT: ANY OBJECTION?

MR. RUSSO: NO OBJECTION.

THE COURT: GO AHEAD.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q "QUESTION: ASIDE FROM TELLING YOU WHAT THEY WANTED, DID THE HUMPHREYS EVER MANAGE THE PROJECT?

"ANSWER: OH, YES.

"QUESTION: DID THEY HIRE CONTRACTORS?

"ANSWER: ME.

NOW, YOU REQUESTED AND RECEIVED PAYMENTS FOR A NUMBER OF MONTHS AND ACCEPTED PAYMENTS MADE OUT TO ADAM

BEREKI ON THIS JOB; CORRECT?

A CAN YOU STATE THAT AGAIN, PLEASE.

Q FOR A NUMBER OF MONTHS INTO THIS PROJECT, YOU ACCEPTED PAYMENTS FROM THE HUMPHREYS MADE OUT TO ADAM BEREKI; IS THAT CORRECT?

A YES.

Q FOR A NUMBER OF MONTHS ON THIS PROJECT, YOU PAID YOUR LABOR AND MATERIALS WITH CHECKS DRAWN ON THE PERSONAL ACCOUNT OF ADAM BEREKI AND/OR YOUR MOTHER; IS THAT CORRECT?

A CAN YOU ASK THOSE QUESTIONS ONE AT A TIME, PLEASE.

Q UNTIL JULY OF 2012, YOU PAID YOUR OWN LABOR AND MATERIALS ON THIS PROJECT ON CHECKS DRAWN ON EITHER YOUR PERSONAL ACCOUNT OR THEY WERE PAID ON CHECKS DRAWN ON YOUR MOTHER'S ACCOUNT; IS THAT CORRECT?

A NO.

Q NOW, YOU HAVE A -- YOU BROUGHT VOLUMES OF DOCUMENTS. CAN YOU POINT TO EVIDENCE OF A SINGLE PAYMENT MADE IN CONNECTION WITH THIS JOB TO ANYBODY, LABOR, MATERIALS, CONTRACTOR, THAT WAS PAID ON AN ACCOUNT BY SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION?

A I BELIEVE THE PAYMENTS FOR THE SHOP SPACE RENT WERE FROM SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION.

Q SHOP SPACE RENT?

A YES.

Q YOU BELIEVE THAT YOU PAID THE SHOP SPACE RENT ON CHECKS DRAWN FROM SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION?

A AT THIS MOMENT I BELIEVE I DO. I HAVE TO CHECK TO VERIFY THAT.

Q YOU HAVE BEEN ASKED TO PRODUCE THOSE DOCUMENTS. DO YOU HAVE THOSE DOCUMENTS?

A I HAVE THE CHECKS THAT SPARTAN WROTE, YES.

MR. BISSELL: CAN WE HAVE THE WITNESS PRODUCE THOSE DOCUMENTS? WE HAVE ASKED HIM TO PRODUCE THOSE. THEY WERE NOT PROVIDED IN DISCOVERY. WE DON'T BELIEVE THEY EXIST.

THE COURT: I WILL VACATE. YOU GUYS CAN SPEND ABOUT TEN MINUTES, THE THREE OF YOU, GO OVER THE PRODUCTION. LET MS. BOLCE KNOW WHEN YOU ARE READY TO RESUME.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

(RECESS.)

THE COURT: MR. BISSELL.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: HOW ARE WE DOING?

MR. BISSELL: I THINK WE'RE READY.

THE COURT: PROCEED.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q MR. BEREKI, YOU HAVE HAD A CHANCE TO SIT DOWN WITH MR. RUSSO, CORPORATION'S COUNSEL, TO LOOK OVER THE CHECKS YOU HAVE. YOU HAVE BEEN ASKED TO PRODUCE ANY

CHECKS PAYABLE ON THE -- A SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION ACCOUNT TO ANYBODY INVOLVED ON THIS PROJECT BEFORE, SAY, JULY 15, 2012.

YOU'VE MADE A SEARCH OF YOUR RECORDS?

A THE ONES THAT I HAVE AVAILABLE, YES. IT WASN'T UNTIL YOU ASKED THE QUESTION THAT I REALIZED THAT THAT CHECKBOOK I USED ON THIS PROJECT ACTUALLY BEGAN WITH CHECK 001 IN JULY. SO THERE MUST BE ANOTHER CHECKBOOK THAT IS OUTSTANDING THAT I DON'T HAVE BECAUSE THE BANK ACCOUNT HAS BEEN CLOSED DOWN FOR AT LEAST THREE YEARS NOW.

Q BOTTOM LINE IS YOU CAN'T PRODUCE A SINGLE RECORD OF PAYMENT TO ANYBODY ON THIS JOB ON A SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION ACCOUNT PRIOR TO JULY OF 2012; IS THAT CORRECT?

A I'M NOT SAYING I CAN'T PRODUCE IT. I'M SAYING I DON'T HAVE THAT INFORMATION AVAILABLE TO ME RIGHT NOW.

Q YOU WERE ASKED TO PRODUCE IT AND YOU HAVEN'T PRODUCED IT.

A I WASN'T AWARE THAT IT EXISTED.

Q ISN'T IT TRUE THAT SPARTAN -- AS FAR AS THIS PROJECT WAS CONCERNED, SPARTAN DIDN'T EVEN EXIST UNTIL JULY OF 2012?

A THAT'S NOT TRUE.

Q YOU DIDN'T APPLY TO THE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION FOR -- TO REGISTER SPARTAN AS AN EMPLOYER UNTIL JULY OF 2012; IS THAT CORRECT?

A THAT IS CORRECT.

Q AND YOU DIDN'T APPLY FOR WORKERS' COMPENSATION ON THIS JOB WITH SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION UNTIL JULY OF 2012; IS THAT CORRECT?

A THAT IS CORRECT, BECAUSE --

Q BOTH --

A -- SPARTAN DID NOT OPERATE WITH EMPLOYEES PRIOR TO THAT -- PRIOR TO THE NECESSITY TO DO SO ON THIS PROJECT. THIS PROJECT DEEMED EMPLOYEES WITH WORKERS' COMPENSATION NECESSARY.

Q AND IF YOU FLIP TO TAB NUMBER 51 IN THE BOOK, DEFENDANTS' BOOK IN FRONT OF YOU, DO YOU SEE THAT DOCUMENT?

A I BELIEVE I DO. 51?

Q TAB 51 IS DEFENDANTS' EXHIBIT 351. THAT IS YOUR TAB 51.

A YES.

Q DO YOU RECOGNIZE THAT DOCUMENT?

A I DO.

Q AND WHAT IS THAT?

A IT IS A WORK ORDER AUTHORIZATION TO BEGIN -- FOR WONG & ASSOCIATES TO BE A CONSULTING ENGINEER ON THE PROJECT.

Q WHAT'S THE DATE OF THAT?

A 8/14/2012.

Q AND WHO'S THE CLIENT ON THAT?
A ADAM BEREKI.
Q AND WHO APPROVED THAT?
A ADAM BEREKI.
Q IF YOU WILL TURN TO EXHIBIT --
A AND I WOULD ALSO LIKE YOU TO LOOK AT THE ADDRESS THAT SAYS 436 VIA LIDO NORD, AND THAT'S WHERE SPARTAN'S BUSINESS LICENSE WAS REGISTERED AS WELL, IS AT 436 VIA LIDO NORD.
Q THANK YOU.
A SURE.
Q IF YOU WILL TURN TO TAB 55, CROSS-COMPLAINANTS' EXHIBIT 355.
A OKAY.
Q THIS IS A COLLECTION OF 36 DIFFERENT CHECKS.
A OKAY.
Q YOU CAN THUMB THROUGH THOSE. DO YOU RECOGNIZE THOSE CHECKS? LET ME KNOW WHEN YOU'RE READY.
A YES, I APPEAR TO RECOGNIZE THEM.
Q OKAY. THESE ARE ALL CHECKS THAT WERE IN PAYMENT OF SOME COST INCURRED IN CONNECTION WITH THE HUMPHREYS PROJECT?
A YES. THEY APPEAR TO BE.
Q AND ON WHOSE ACCOUNT WERE EACH OF THESE CHECKS DRAWN?
A CAN YOU JUST LET ME KNOW IF THERE ARE ANY THAT SAYS ROSE AND BEREKI AT THE TOP. OTHERWISE, I WILL JUST SAY THEY ARE ALL FROM ADAM'S ACCOUNT.

Q IN THIS PARTICULAR EXHIBIT, I WILL REPRESENT TO YOU THAT NONE OF --

A OKAY. THESE ALL CAME FROM THE ACCOUNT OF ADAM BEREKI.

Q MR. BEREKI, AT THE TIME THAT YOU CONTRACTED WITH THE HUMPHREYS, DID YOU POSSESS A CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE ISSUED IN YOUR NAME?

A ISSUED IN MY NAME, NO.

Q AT THE TIME THAT YOU PERFORMED WORK ON THIS PROJECT, DID YOU POSSESS A CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE ISSUED IN YOUR NAME?

A NO.

Q AT THE TIME THAT YOU CONTRACTED WITH THE HUMPHREYS, DID YOU AND MR. OVERLEY POSSESS A JOINT VENTURE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE ISSUED TO THE TWO OF YOU AS A JOINT VENTURE?

A NO.

Q AT THE TIME -- AT ANY TIME WHEN YOU WORKED ON THIS PROJECT, DID YOU AND YOUR PARTNER, MR. OVERLEY, POSSESS A JOINT VENTURE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE ISSUED TO THE TWO OF YOU?

A NO.

Q AT THE TIME THAT YOU CONTRACTED -- ENTERED INTO THE CONTRACT WITH THE HUMPHREYS ON THIS PROJECT,

DID SPARTAN ASSOCIATES AND MR. OVERLEY POSSESS A JOINT VENTURE LICENSE ISSUED TO THE TWO OF THEM?

A CAN YOU SAY THAT AGAIN, PLEASE.

Q AT THE TIME THAT YOU -- THAT YOU CONTRACTED WITH THE HUMPHREYS, DID THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES AND MR. OVERLEY POSSESS A JOINT VENTURE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE ISSUED BY THE CALIFORNIA CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE BOARD?

A WELL, YOUR QUESTION ASSUMES THAT I CONTRACTED WITH THE HUMPHREYS AND I AM SAYING THAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES CONTRACTED WITH THE HUMPHREYS. SO.

Q ALL RIGHT. LET'S USE THE DATE. AS OF APRIL 5 -- AS OF APRIL 5, 2012, DID SPARTAN ASSOCIATES AND MR. OVERLEY JOINTLY POSSESS A JOINT VENTURE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE ISSUED BY THE CALIFORNIA CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE BOARD?

A NO.

Q AT ANY TIME DURING -- AT ANY TIME BETWEEN APRIL 5, 2012 AND SEPTEMBER 31, 2013, DID THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES AND MR. OVERLEY POSSESS A CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE ISSUED TO THEM AS JOINT VENTURES?

A NO.

MR. BISSELL: NO FURTHER QUESTIONS, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: MR. RUSSO.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q MR. BEREKI, WHO PERFORMED THE WORK AT THE VIA LIDO NORD PROJECT?

A THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

Q WERE YOU EVER DOING ANY OF THE WORK IN YOUR PERSONAL CAPACITY AS OPPOSED TO ON BEHALF OF SPARTAN ASSOCIATES?

A NO.

Q LET'S GO TO EXHIBIT 32, SIR.

A IN OUR BOOK?

Q YES.

A OKAY. OKAY.

Q DIRECTING YOUR ATTENTION TO 32-2, WHICH IS THAT REGISTER.

A OKAY.

Q THE FIRST $100,000 IN CHECKS WERE PAYABLE TO ADAM BEREKI; CORRECT?

A CORRECT.

Q AND THEN AFTER THAT, WAS ALL THE MONEY PUT INTO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES' ACCOUNTS AFTER THAT FIRST $100,000?

A YES.

Q OKAY. SO EVEN IF THE CHECK WAS PAYABLE TO ADAM BEREKI LATER ON, IT STILL WENT TO SPARTAN; CORRECT?

A CORRECT.

Q OKAY.

A AND EVEN THOUGH I ASKED THEM TO MAKE THE CHECK TO SPARTAN, THEY STILL MADE IT TO ADAM BEREKI, BUT IT STILL WENT IN THE SPARTAN ACCOUNT.

Q DURING THIS FIRST PERIOD, IT LOOKS LIKE THAT LAST CHECK BEFORE THINGS SWITCHED OVER WAS JUNE 22, 2012. WHAT WAS THE WORK THAT WAS GOING ON ON THIS PROJECT?

A PRIMARILY -- WELL, THE FIRST THING WE DID WAS TO GET THEM PACKED UP AND MOVED. SO I HAD TO BUY ALL THE MOVING SUPPLIES AND PAY FOR THE LABOR TO HAVE EVERYONE PACK UP ALL OF THE BELONGINGS THAT BELONGED TO THE HUMPHREYS -- THEIR PERSONAL BELONGINGS WERE THERE -- AND ALL OF THE FURNITURE. AND THEN WE TOOK THAT VIA TRAILER TO THE SHOP THAT HAD BEEN RENTED FOR USE ON THIS PROJECT AND PUT UP STEEL VERTICAL SHELVING, WRAPPED THE FURNISHINGS AND OTHER THINGS IN PLASTIC TO THEN BE PALLETIZED AND PUT IN STORAGE WHILE WE WERE WORKING ON THE PROJECT.

Q SO YOU HAD TO RENT STORAGE FOR ALL THEIR STUFF?

A I HAD THE STORAGE, AND, YES, I USED THAT TO STORE THEIR STUFF.

Q OF THIS $100,000, BEFORE EVERYTHING WAS TRULY SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, A PORTION OF IT WAS FOR RENTING A PLACE FOR THEIR STUFF AND MOVING IT THERE; CORRECT?

A THAT'S ONE ASPECT, YES.

Q OKAY. TO YOUR KNOWLEDGE, DOES THAT REQUIRE A CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE?

A NO.

Q OKAY. WHAT ELSE DID YOU DO?

A THERE WAS SIGNIFICANT COMMUNICATION BETWEEN THE HUMPHREYS AND I AND MY TEAM ABOUT DESIGN ISSUES. I WAS GOING TO BUILD THEM A CUSTOM MARQUIS, AND THERE WAS OTHER DESIGN FACETS THAT WERE DISCUSSED GOING BACK AND FORTH. SO A SIGNIFICANT AMOUNT OF TIME WAS SPENT ON THAT.

Q WAS THAT ANYTHING THAT REQUIRED A CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE?

A NO.

Q WHAT ELSE DID YOU DO?

A WE STARTED DEMOLITION.

Q OKAY. NOW, TELL ME ABOUT THE DEMOLITION OR TELL THE COURT ABOUT THE DEMOLITION. WAS THERE ANYTHING AS FAR AS A REMOVAL OF THE FOUNDATION DURING THIS PERIOD?

A NO.

Q WAS THERE ANY REMOVAL OF STRUCTURAL WALLS DURING THIS PERIOD, PART OF ANYTHING GOING ON WITH SPARTAN ASSOCIATES?

A IF YOU MEAN A LOAD-BEARING WALL BY STRUCTURAL WALL, NO. WE TORE DRY WALL OR PLASTER OFF THE WALL AND THAT IS A STRUCTURAL ELEMENT. BUT AS FAR AS PULLING OUT

THE WALL AND MOVING THE STRUCTURE OR ANYTHING LIKE THAT, NONE OF THAT OCCURRED.

Q WAS THERE ANYTHING YOU DID DURING THIS FIRST PERIOD THAT REQUIRED A CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE?

MR. BISSELL: OBJECTION. LACK OF FOUNDATION.

THE COURT: SUSTAINED.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q DO YOU KNOW, SIR, WHETHER OR NOT ANY OF THE WORK YOU PERFORMED REQUIRED A CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE?

MR. BISSELL: SAME OBJECTION.

THE COURT: TO THIS QUESTION, YOU CAN ANSWER YES OR NO.

THE WITNESS: AT THIS MOMENT, I RECALL THAT MOST EVERYTHING WE WERE DOING WAS DEMOLITION, THAT THERE WAS NOT ACTUAL CONSTRUCTION GOING ON. I HAVE TO REALLY LOOK BACK AT THE PICTURES AND REALLY GET A FEEL. BUT IF THERE WAS ANY WORK GOING ON, IT WAS VERY, VERY MINUTE.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q YOU ARE FAMILIAR WITH A C21 CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE FOR DEMOLITION?

A IT'S -- YES.

Q OKAY. THAT'S WHEN STRUCTURAL ELEMENTS ARE REMOVED; CORRECT?

A CORRECT.

Q OKAY.

A OR BUILDINGS ARE MOVED OR SIGNIFICANT SHORING

IS INVOLVED.

Q TO THE BEST OF YOUR RECOLLECTION, DID ANY OF THE DEMOLITION WORK THAT YOU PERFORMED FALL WITHIN THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE C21 LICENSE?

A NO.

Q LATER ON IN THE PROJECT, WERE THERE MORE STRUCTURAL ELEMENTS INVOLVED?

A YES.

Q AND BY THEN, YOU HAD STRUCTURAL ENGINEERS AND DESIGN PROFESSIONALS?

A YES.

Q AND A PERMIT WAS PULLED; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q WHO PULLED THE PERMIT?

A SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

Q NOW, YOU SAID THAT DURING YOUR MEETING WITH THE HUMPHREYS, THE ISSUE OF LICENSURE CAME UP; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q AND WHAT DID YOU TELL THEM?

A THAT I HAD A LICENSE. THAT I, SPARTAN, HAD A LICENSE.

Q DID YOU ASK THEM TO LOOK IT UP?

A I THINK HOW IT HAPPENED WAS THERE WAS A MENTION OF IT BY GARY HUMPHREYS, AS HE HAD SAID, AND THAT THERE WAS -- WHEN HE SAID THAT, IT TRIGGERED MY MEMORY THAT I HAD SAID TO HIM THAT HE COULD LOOK IT UP

ON THE STATE'S LICENSE BOARD TO VERIFY THAT, IN FACT, SPARTAN DID HAVE A LICENSE.

Q THE PRIOR PROJECTS, INCLUDING THE OFFICE BUILDING WHERE MR. HUMPHREYS' BUSINESS IS, WHO PERFORMED THAT WORK?

A THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

Q WHO WAS PAID FOR THAT WORK?

A THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

Q WHO CONTRACTED FOR THAT WORK?

A THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

Q IN JULY OF 2012, YOU APPLIED FOR THE WORKERS' COMP FOR THIS PROJECT; CORRECT?

A CORRECT.

Q AND WHO APPLIED FOR THAT?

A THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

Q AND WHY DID YOU NEED TO APPLY FOR IT THEN AS OPPOSED TO NOT HAVING IT BEFORE?

A THE WAY THAT THIS PROJECT ENDED UP, I WAS GOING TO BE USING A LOT OF UNSKILLED LABOR. USUALLY, GENERALLY SPEAKING, SKILLED LABOR YOU CAN 1099 AND TREAT AS AN INDEPENDENT SUBCONTRACTOR. HOWEVER, IN THIS CASE, BECAUSE I WAS HIRING PEOPLE THAT WERE UNSKILLED, I NEEDED TO TREAT THEM LEGALLY AS AN EMPLOYEE, AND SO THAT'S WHY THE EMPLOYEE ACCOUNT WAS SET UP.

Q WHEN MR. HUMPHREYS PAID YOU OR WHEN YOU WERE BEING PAID BY HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, DID THAT RAISE ANY

RED FLAGS WITH YOU?

A NO.

Q WITH THE EXCEPTION OF -- THERE WAS ONE ENGINEER, I BELIEVE, THAT THE CONTRACT WAS WITH YOU PERSONALLY; CORRECT?

A NO. IT HAS MY NAME ON IT, BUT THERE WERE SOME ISSUES WHERE PEOPLE PUT MY NAME ON CONTRACTS EVEN THOUGH IT WAS SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION. JUST LIKE THE HUMPHREYS WROTE CHECKS TO ADAM BEREKI, AND I ASKED THEM TO PUT SPARTAN ON THERE. IT'S JUST A REAL -- YOU KNOW, IT WASN'T -- I WASN'T -- THE WORD USUALLY COMES TO MIND AS ABLE ABOUT IT. I JUST WENT WITH THE FLOW.

Q WHAT KIND OF LICENSE DOES SPARTAN HAVE?

A A B.

Q WHAT'S ITS LICENSE NUMBER?

A 927244.

Q WAS IT ACTIVE DURING THE ENTIRE TIME OF THIS PROJECT?

A YES.

Q WHO'S THE RESPONSIBLE MANAGING OFFICER OF SPARTAN ASSOCIATES?

A I DON'T THINK I'M CLASSIFIED AS THE RMO, BUT ADAM BEREKI IS THE QUALIFYING INDIVIDUAL, THE ONE WHO HAD THE WORK EXPERIENCE AND TOOK THE EXAM.

Q THE BUILDING PERMIT FOR THE PROJECT, IS THAT FOR UNIT 34?

A THIS IS ONE OF THEM, YES.
Q OKAY. DID YOU SHARE -- WELL, 34 IS ONE OF THE BUILDING PERMITS?
A YES.
Q HOW MANY WERE THERE, SIR?
A THREE THAT SPARTAN HAD ISSUED.
Q DID ADAM BEREKI INDIVIDUALLY EVER APPLY FOR A BUILDING PERMIT FOR THIS PROJECT?
A NO.
Q OKAY.
MR. RUSSO: MOVE INTO ADMISSION EXHIBIT 34.
MR. BISSELL: NO OBJECTION.
THE COURT: RECEIVED.
(EXHIBIT NO. 34 WAS ADMITTED INTO EVIDENCE.)
THE COURT: THIRTY-FOUR IS ONE OF SEVERAL. WHICH ONE IS THIS IN ORDER? IS IT THE FIRST? THE LAST?
BY MR. RUSSO:
Q LOOKING AT EXHIBIT 34, SIR, IS THERE MORE THAN ONE BUILDING PERMIT HERE, SIR?
A YES. THERE ARE TWO AND A THIRD IS IN ANOTHER LOCATION.
Q WHAT IS THE OTHER LOCATION, IF YOU KNOW?
A I BELIEVE IT'S UP IN THE BEGINNING.
NO. I DON'T HAVE AN EXHIBIT LIST HERE IN THIS BINDER.
Q IT'S ALL RIGHT.

A IT'S UNDER SCE, WHICH IS A DOWNSTAIRS --

Q OKAY. SO THREE BUILDING PERMITS WERE PULLED AND IT WAS ALL BY SPARTAN ASSOCIATES; CORRECT?

A YES.

MR. RUSSO: WELL, AGAIN, MOVE INTO ADMISSION EXHIBIT 34, THE COMPLETE EXHIBIT.

MR. BISSELL: NO OBJECTION, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: WELL, 34 IS RECEIVED. BUT LET'S BE CLEAR. 34-1 APPEARS TO HAVE BEEN ISSUED ON NOVEMBER 14, 2012. AM I CORRECT?

MR. BISSELL: YES.

THE COURT: MR. RUSSO?

MR. RUSSO: THAT'S WHAT IT SAYS. IT'S ACTUALLY THE INSPECTION.

THE COURT: 34-2, IT LOOKS LIKE A MECHANICAL, ELECTRICAL, PLUMBING COMBINATION PERMIT, AND IT APPEARS TO HAVE BEEN ISSUED ON NOVEMBER 14, 2012. LEFT-HAND COLUMN, TOWARDS THE MIDDLE OF THE PAGE.

MR. RUSSO: YES.

THE COURT: AND THEN 34-3 LOOKS TO BE A PLUMBING SEWER LINE PERMIT. AND I'M HAVING TROUBLE FINDING A DATE OF ISSUANCE.

MR. RUSSO: 4/11/2013. IT'S MIDWAY ON THE LEFT.

THE COURT: OKAY. ARE THERE ANY OTHER PERMITS ISSUED FOR THIS PROPERTY OTHER THAN THESE THREE FOR THIS PROJECT?

THE WITNESS: THERE ARE ONLY TWO. AND THE SECOND PAGE, YOUR HONOR, THAT SAYS "CANCELED/EXPIRED," THIS IS -- ULTIMATELY WHAT HAPPENED WAS WHEN THE NEXT CONTRACTOR TOOK OVER, THEY CANCELED THIS PERMIT. SO THAT PAGE ISN'T AN ACTUAL PERMIT.

SO JUST TO BE A LITTLE BIT MORE CLEAR, THE YELLOW PAGE THAT YOU SEE, 34-1, THAT'S ONE PERMIT. THE SECOND ONE IS THE CANCELLATION OF THAT. AND 34-3 IS THE SECOND PERMIT ITSELF FOR PLUMBING AND SEWER LINE. AND THE THIRD PERMIT WAS FOR THE SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA EDISON TO PUT A BIG PIPE UNDERGROUND AND RUN IT TO A NEW POWER UNIT AT THE BUILDING.

THE COURT: GOING FROM WHAT, 100 AMP TO 200 AMP SERVICE?

THE WITNESS: ABOUT THAT, YES.

THE COURT: GO AHEAD.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q MR. BEREKI, EXHIBIT 35, ARE THESE ALL THE DOCUMENTS PERTAINING TO THE PAYROLL AND WORKERS' COMP FOR THE PROJECT?

A YES.

MR. RUSSO: I MOVE INTO ADMISSION EXHIBIT 35.

THE COURT: ANY OBJECTION ON PAYROLL?

MR. BISSELL: I'M NOT SURE I HAVE SEEN IT. LET ME TAKE A QUICK LOOK.

THE COURT: TAKE A LOOK, OF COURSE.

MR. RUSSO: SURE.

MR. BISSELL: NO OBJECTION, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: RECEIVED.

(EXHIBIT NO. 35 WAS ADMITTED INTO EVIDENCE.)

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q MR. BEREKI, CAN YOU TURN TO EXHIBIT 33, PLEASE.

A I'M HERE.

Q CAN YOU TELL ME IN SUMMARY, ALTHOUGH WE HAVE ALREADY BEEN OVER THESE DOCUMENTS, WHAT IS EXHIBIT 33?

A I WENT THROUGH SOME OF THE WORK ORDERS. I PICKED OUT A HANDFUL OF THEM. THESE ARE BASICALLY WORK ORDERS OR CONTRACTS BETWEEN SPARTAN AND OTHER COMPANIES THAT WERE HIRED TO DO WORK SPECIFICALLY ON THE LIDO PROJECT.

MR. RUSSO: MOVE INTO ADMISSION EXHIBIT 33.

MR. BISSELL: NO OBJECTION.

THE COURT: RECEIVED.

(EXHIBIT NO. 33 WAS ADMITTED INTO EVIDENCE.)

THE WITNESS: ACTUALLY, THERE'S ANOTHER EXHIBIT IN THERE, A TIMECARD.

THE COURT: WHICH PAGE WILL THAT BE?

THE WITNESS: 33-4, YOUR HONOR.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q MR. BEREKI, DID YOU PROVIDE ACCOUNTINGS TO THE HUMPHREYS FOR THIS PROJECT?

A I DID.

Q OKAY. AND THE ACCOUNTINGS, WERE THEY -- DID THEY DESIGNATE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES AS THE ONE BILLING THEM?

A YES.

Q OKAY.

A ALL WITH THE EXCEPTION OF THE FIRST ONE, I THINK IT WAS -- THE FIRST THREE MONTHS THERE WAS SOME SORT OF -- THIS IS AN EXCEL SPREADSHEET. JUST HOW I HAD ALWAYS DONE IT IN THE PAST, BUT SINCE IT BECAME -- THIS JOB BECAME EXTREMELY COMPLEX, I SWITCHED OVER TO QUICKBOOKS AND QUICKBOOKS STARTED GENERATING THIS OUTPUT, AND THE OUTPUT SAYS THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES ON IT.

THE COURT: NOW, MR. RUSSO, WHAT I'M HEARING IS THERE WERE AT LEAST TWO ACCOUNTINGS.

MR. RUSSO: I THINK THERE WERE A LOT OF THEM.

THE COURT: MAYBE WE NEED TO GO OVER IT.

MR. RUSSO: SURE.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q MR. BEREKI, CAN YOU TURN TO EXHIBIT NUMBER 39.

A SURE.

OKAY.

Q CAN YOU TELL ME WHAT EXHIBIT 39 IS, SIR?

A THIRTY-NINE IS A PARTIAL INVOICE BY THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES TO HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, INC.

THE COURT: WHAT'S THE DATE?

THE WITNESS: THERE IS NO DATE ON HERE, YOUR HONOR. BUT I CAN GIVE YOU -- IT WAS PRIOR IN FEBRUARY OF 2012. TWO MONTHS PRIOR TO THE LIDO PROJECT.

THE COURT: THIS IS AN ACCOUNTING WITH RESPECT TO THE WORK DONE ON RESEARCH DRIVE?

THE WITNESS: YES, SIR.

THE COURT: OKAY.

THE WITNESS: THIS WAS A PROJECT HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES BUSINESS HIRED SPARTAN TO DO AT THEIR BUSINESS OFFICE.

THE COURT: OKAY. GO AHEAD.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q SO DID YOU UNDERSTAND MR. HUMPHREYS TO BE THE PRESIDENT OF HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES?

A YES.

Q OKAY. SO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES HAD ALREADY DONE THIS PROJECT AND INVOICED HIS BUSINESS FOR IT; CORRECT?

A YES.

MR. RUSSO: MOVE INTO ADMISSION NUMBER 39.

MR. BISSELL: OBJECTION. RELEVANCE, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: OBJECTION SUSTAINED.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q MR. BEREKI, DID YOU INTERACT AT ALL WITH MR. HUMPHREYS REGARDING THE PROJECT AT 9910 RESEARCH DRIVE?

A THAT WOULD DEPEND UPON WHAT YOU MEAN BY INTERACT. I BELIEVE HE SHOWED UP THERE ONE DAY WITH CHRIS WHILE I WAS WORKING ON THE PROJECT. I SAID HI TO HIM AND THIS AND THAT. I THINK THAT WAS OUR ONLY INTERACTION ABOUT THIS --

Q OKAY.

A -- ABOUT THAT PROJECT.

Q CAN YOU TURN TO EXHIBIT NO. 18, SIR.

A SURE.

Q FINALLY FOUND THE ACCOUNTING. WHAT IS EXHIBIT 18?

A EXHIBIT 18 APPEARS TO BE ALL OF THE ACCOUNTINGS AND ASSOCIATED E-MAILS FOR THE PROJECT.

Q WAS THIS SOMETHING THAT YOU SUBMITTED TO MR. AND MRS. HUMPHREYS?

A YES.

Q OKAY.

A VIA E-MAIL.

Q WHEN YOU STARTED --

THE COURT: WHAT DATE?

THE WITNESS: EACH ONE OF THEM IS A DIFFERENT DATE, YOUR HONOR. THEY WERE SPACED OUT ABOUT A MONTH EACH.

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q SO WHAT WAS YOUR PROCEDURE AS FAR AS PROVIDING ACCOUNTINGS TO THE HUMPHREYS?

A I WOULD, GENERALLY SPEAKING, INCUR WORK IN THE FORM OF -- OR DO WORK IN THE FORM OF LABOR AND PURCHASE MATERIALS FOR THE PROJECT, AND THEN I WOULD PUT THEM INTO EITHER WHAT BEGAN AS THE SPREADSHEET. AND LATER I HIRED MY MOM, WHO'S AN ACCOUNTANT OR BOOKKEEPER, I SHOULD SAY, VERY EXPERIENCED IN THIS TO THEN DO THE PAYROLL AND PUT THE APPROPRIATE CHARGES TO BILL THEM, TO BILL THE HUMPHREYS.

Q HOW WOULD THESE ACCOUNTINGS BE SENT TO THE HUMPHREYS?

A VIA E-MAIL.

Q OKAY. SO LET'S LOOK AT THE SIXTH PAGE OF EXHIBIT 18.

A OKAY.

Q I SEE NEAR THE HOLE PUNCH, THE MIDDLE, IT SAYS "THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES."

A CORRECT.

Q OKAY. FROM THIS POINT FORWARD, DID ALL THE ACCOUNTINGS THAT YOU PROVIDED TO THE HUMPHREYS HAVE THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES ON IT?

A I BELIEVE -- I BELIEVE SO, YES.

Q DID THE HUMPHREYS EVER ASK YOU ABOUT THAT OR QUESTION IT?

A NO. I THOUGHT IT WAS CLEAR AS DAY, THEY UNDERSTOOD.

Q TOWARDS THE END OF EXHIBIT 18, STARTING ROUGHLY AT PAGE 49, WE NOW HAVE E-MAILS AS PART OF THIS EXHIBIT.

A CORRECT.

Q WERE THESE -- AND THEN YOU GOT A NUMBER OF PAGES, PERHAPS MAYBE ANOTHER 60 PAGES.

A CORRECT.

Q WERE THESE E-MAILS ASSOCIATED WITH THE TRANSMITTAL OF THE ACCOUNTING WITH THE SPARTAN ON IT TO THE HUMPHREYS?

A YES.

Q DID YOU HIRE DESIGNERS FOR THE HUMPHREYS PROJECT? OR HOW DID THAT GO AS FAR AS THE INTERIOR DESIGNING?

A I PRIMARILY DID IT, BUT I ALSO HIRED PEOPLE TO HELP ME OUT ON CERTAIN ASPECTS ON THAT.

Q AND THE DESIGNERS WHO WERE HIRED, WERE THEIR INVOICES PASSED ON THROUGH YOUR ACCOUNTING TO THE HUMPHREYS?

A YES.

Q HOW ABOUT THE ENGINEERING SERVICES, WERE THOSE PASSED ON?

A YES.

Q WERE THERE ANY OTHER DESIGN PROFESSIONALS ENGAGED WITH THIS?

A YES.

Q WHO ELSE WAS THERE?

A BRYAN LEFEVER.

Q WHAT WAS HIS PROFESSION?
A HE'S AN INTERIOR DESIGNER.
Q OKAY. AND DID BRYAN CONTRACT WITH THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES OR THE HUMPHREYS DIRECTLY?
A THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.
Q OKAY. AND THEN HE PASSED THAT ALONG?
A YES.
Q WHO ELSE DID YOU HAVE TO HIRE FOR THIS?
A I HIRED A PLUMBER, AN ELECTRICIAN, NUMEROUS UNSKILLED WORKERS. I HIRED A FOREMAN, AN ENGINEER, AN ARCHITECT, CRANE OPERATORS, METAL FABRICATORS, PEOPLE TO RE-ALIGN THE SEWER DRAIN UNDERNEATH THE HOUSE BECAUSE IT WAS ROTTEN. OTHER PEOPLE, OTHER CARPENTERS. A CONCRETE EXPERT. A CONCRETE SUBCONTRACTOR. A FIRE SPRINKLER SUBCONTRACTOR AND PAVING SUBCONTRACTOR. THAT'S WHAT'S COMING TO MIND.
Q OKAY. SIR, OF THE MONIES THAT WERE PAID, HOW MUCH OF IT WAS PAID THROUGH THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES ACCOUNT?
A I BELIEVE THAT NUMBER IS $758,000.
Q AND --
A GO AHEAD.
Q FINISH. I'M SORRY.
A OH, THAT'S FINE. THAT'S IT. $758,000.
Q OKAY. SO SOME OF IT YOU HAVE -- SOME OF THE FIRST $100,000 WENT INTO YOUR PERSONAL ACCOUNT. DID

SOME OF IT GO INTO THE SPARTAN ACCOUNT?

A 10,000 DID, YES.

Q SO 90 WENT IN YOUR PERSONAL ACCOUNT, 10 WENT INTO THE SPARTAN ACCOUNT; CORRECT?

A CORRECT.

Q AND THEN ALL THAT MONEY WAS SPENT BY SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, THE LICENSE CONTRACTOR ON THIS PROJECT; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q OF THE MONIES THAT THE HUMPHREYS SPENT ON THIS PROJECT, HOW MUCH OF IT WENT TO ADAM BEREKI, ALTHOUGH -- EVEN THOUGH YOU PAID IT OUT FOR WORKERS ON THIS?

A I'M SORRY. CAN YOU SAY THAT AGAIN?

Q SURE.

YOU HAD $100,000 IN CHECKS IN THE BEGINNING OR WIRES THAT WENT INTO -- THAT WAS MADE PAYABLE TO ADAM BEREKI; CORRECT?

A CORRECT.

Q OKAY. AND ALL THE REST OF THIS WAS ULTIMATELY MADE PAYABLE TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, OR THE CHECKS WERE, EVEN THOUGH YOU REQUESTED THAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES WOULD DEPOSIT IT IN THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES BANK ACCOUNT; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q AND SPARTAN ASSOCIATES PERFORMED ALL THE WORK ON THIS PROJECT; CORRECT?

A YES. WELL, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF THESE SUBCONTRACTORS THAT WERE HIRED, YES.

Q OKAY. THROUGH ITS SUBCONTRACTORS?

A I'M SORRY?

Q THROUGH ITS SUBCONTRACTORS --

A YES, YES. YES.

MR. RUSSO: I DON'T HAVE ANY FURTHER QUESTIONS.

THE COURT: MR. BISSELL?

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q JUST A POINT OF CLARIFICATION, MR. BEREKI. YOU TESTIFIED THAT THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES IS A LICENSED CONTRACTOR.

A YES.

Q ISN'T IT TRUE THAT THE --

A EXCUSE ME.

Q -- THE LICENSE FOR THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES HAS BEEN REVOKED BY THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE BOARD?

A WHAT I TESTIFIED TO WAS AT THE TIME OF THE PROJECT THE LICENSE WAS IN GOOD STANDING OR VALID, YES.

Q AND SINCE THEN IT'S BEEN REVOKED; CORRECT?

A WELL, IT WAS EXPIRED BECAUSE THE COMPANY DISSOLVED. AND WHEN THERE'S A DISSOLUTION OF A COMPANY,

THE LICENSE GOES WITH IT.

Q SIR, YOU'RE AWARE THAT THE LICENSE HAS BEEN REVOKED, AREN'T YOU?

A IT SHOWS A REVOKED STATUS, YES.

Q YOU KNOW WHY IT WAS REVOKED; CORRECT?

A I --

Q AND IT'S NOT BECAUSE THE CORPORATION IS DISSOLVED; CORRECT?

A CORRECT.

Q SO YOU HAD CONVERSATIONS WITH AN ATTORNEY IN SAN DIEGO ABOUT THE PROBLEM INVOLVING THE LICENSE. IT HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH A CORPORATION BEING DISSOLVED; IS THAT TRUE?

A I'M SORRY. SAY THAT AGAIN.

Q AS FAR AS THE REASON FOR THE LICENSE BEING REVOKED, IT HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH THE CORPORATION BEING DISSOLVED --

A NO. THE LICENSE IS NOT REVOKED BECAUSE THE CORPORATION IS DISSOLVED. I SAID THE LICENSE WAS EXPIRED BECAUSE THE CORPORATION DISSOLVED. AS OF RIGHT NOW, THE LICENSE SHOWS REVOKED, HOWEVER.

Q CORRECT.

AND THAT WAS BECAUSE OF SOME ILLEGAL ACTION TAKEN AGAINST THE LICENSE; CORRECT?

A I WOULD SAY IT WAS ILLEGAL ACTION TAKEN AGAINST THE LICENSE. AN ARBITRATION PROCEEDING WAS CONDUCTED WITHOUT MY PRESENCE, AND AN AWARD WAS ISSUED WITHOUT SPARTAN BEING ALLOWED TO ATTEND IT TO DEFEND ITSELF. THAT'S AN ILLEGAL PROCEEDING IN MY BOOK.

Q AND AS LONG AS WE ARE ON THE AREA OF THE LAW, YOU TESTIFIED TO WHAT'S REQUIRED AND WHAT ISN'T REQUIRED AS FAR AS A CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE, WHAT TYPE OF WORK REQUIRES A LICENSE, WHAT TYPE OF WORK DOESN'T. YOU HAVE TESTIFIED TO THAT.

CAN YOU TELL US BRIEFLY -- CAN YOU EXPLAIN TO US WHAT YOUR UNDERSTANDING IS OF WHAT WORK IS A LICENSE REQUIRED FOR.

A IT DEPENDS ON WHICH LICENSE YOU'RE TALKING ABOUT.

Q SAY A GENERAL BUILDING LICENSE, B LICENSE.

A A GENERAL BUILDING LICENSE, I BELIEVE YOU HAVE TO DO TWO OR MORE TRADES TO BE ABLE TO USE YOUR LICENSE ON A PROJECT. IF YOU'RE DOING THAT SINGLE TRADE, IT HAS TO BE DONE BY THAT LICENSEE.

Q DO YOU HAVE ANY KNOWLEDGE AS YOU SIT HERE TODAY AS TO WHAT TYPE OF WORK IS A LICENSE REQUIRED FOR?

A WHAT TYPE OF WORK A LICENSE IS REQUIRED FOR. I'M NOT SURE I'M UNDERSTANDING YOUR QUESTION, SIR.

Q OKAY. WELL, YOU HAVE TESTIFIED TO AS CERTAIN AREAS OF THE WORK THAT YOU SAY SPARTAN ASSOCIATES DID THAT DIDN'T REQUIRE A LICENSE.

A OKAY.

Q WELL, IF YOU KNOW WHAT A -- IF YOU KNOW THAT A LICENSE WAS NOT REQUIRED, OR YOU BELIEVE THAT YOU KNOW THAT A LICENSE WAS NOT REQUIRED FOR CERTAIN WORK, THEN THE QUESTION IS: DO YOU HAVE AN UNDERSTANDING OF WHAT KIND OF WORK A LICENSE IS REQUIRED FOR?

A YES.

Q CAN YOU TELL US?

A FRAMING, PLUMBING, ELECTRICAL, DRYWALL, ROOFING, STUCCO, CONCRETE. THOSE ARE THE ONES THAT ARE COMING TO MIND RELATIVE TO THIS PROJECT.

Q AND AS FAR AS -- HOLD ON ONE SECOND, PLEASE.

HAVE YOU EVER READ THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE LAW OR ANY SECTIONS OF THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE LAW THAT EXPLAINS WHEN A LICENSE IS REQUIRED?

A I'M SURE I HAVE, SIR.

Q OKAY. AND DO YOU KNOW -- ARE YOU FAMILIAR WITH THE TERM OF "THE WORK OF IMPROVEMENT" IN CONNECTION WITH CONTRACTING WORK?

A IMPROVEMENT?

Q HAVE YOU EVER HEARD THAT TERM BEFORE?

A HOME IMPROVEMENT I HAVE HEARD.

Q OKAY. ARE YOU FAMILIAR WITH ANY KIND OF MONETARY THRESHOLD THAT CAN'T BE CROSSED WITHOUT HAVING A CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE FOR ONE DOING HOME IMPROVEMENT WORK?

A THAT DEPENDS WHAT -- IT DEPENDS WHAT HOME

IMPROVEMENT WORK IS DEFINED AS. AND YOU CAN'T -- GO AHEAD.

Q CAN YOU TELL ME WHAT YOUR DEFINITION OF "HOME IMPROVEMENT WORK" IS?

A I REALLY HAVEN'T THOUGHT ABOUT IT BEFORE.

Q YOU HAVE MENTIONED THAT THE -- YOU SENT ACCOUNTINGS TO THE HUMPHREYS UNDER A SPARTAN ASSOCIATES HEADING. BUT THIS ALL OCCURRED SOMETIME IN JULY OF 2012?

A ALL THE INVOICES WERE NOT SENT IN JULY, NO.

Q BUT I'M TALKING ABOUT INVOICES WHERE -- THAT SHOW ANY INDICATION OF SPARTAN ASSOCIATES ON IT.

A I BELIEVE BEFORE THEN, THERE WEREN'T. IT WAS JUST AN EXCEL SPREADSHEET. AND I NOTIFIED THEM THAT I WAS DOING A ACCOUNTING CUTOVER TO THE QUICKBOOKS.

Q AND THIS ACCOUNTING CUTOVER TO THE QUICKBOOKS, THAT COINCIDED WITH THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES APPLYING TO THE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION TO REGISTER WITH THE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION AND IT COINCIDED WITH THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES APPLYING FOR WORKERS' COMP INSURANCE ON THIS JOB?

A YES.

MR. BISSELL: YOUR HONOR, I HAVE NO FURTHER QUESTIONS, BUT I MOVE INTO -- REQUEST TO BE MOVED INTO EVIDENCE EXHIBITS 341, 351, 355 -- I'M SORRY. I RETRACT EXHIBIT 341. WE DID NOT REFER TO THAT.

MR. RUSSO: SO 351, 355?
MR. BISSELL: YES.
MR. RUSSO: OKAY. I HAVE NO OBJECTION.
THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. 351 RECEIVED.
(EXHIBIT NO. 351 WAS ADMITTED INTO EVIDENCE.)
THE COURT: 355 ALSO RECEIVED.
(EXHIBIT NO 355 WAS ADMITTED INTO EVIDENCE.)
THE COURT: I WOULD GO AHEAD AND TAKE TEN MINUTES, RESTROOM BREAK, AND THEN COME BACK. AND MR. BEREKI MAY HAVE SOME QUESTIONS OF HIMSELF.
(RECESS.)
THE COURT: OKAY. PRESSING ON.
MR. BEREKI?
MR. BEREKI: I WOULD JUST LIKE TO GO OVER EXHIBIT 30 IN THE PLAINTIFFS' BOOK.
THE COURT: THE PHOTOGRAPHS?
MR. BEREKI: THE PHOTOGRAPH, JUST THE 30-1, SIR.
THE COURT: OKAY. I'M AT 30-1.
MR. BEREKI: I HAD TWO SIGNS, TWO SPARTAN SIGNS. ONE WAS PUT UP ON THE WATER SIDE OF THE BUILDING, THE OTHER WAS ON THE STREET SIDE. THE ASSOCIATION ASKED ME TO TAKE DOWN OR TURN DOWN THE SIGN ON THE STREET SIDE.
THE COURT: APPROXIMATELY WHAT DATE WAS THAT THAT IT WENT DOWN?
MR. BEREKI: WITHIN A COUPLE OF DAYS AFTER SPARTAN BEING ON THE PROJECT.

THE COURT: OKAY.

MR. BEREKI: THE WOMAN PATROLS THE PLACE LIKE IT'S NOBODY'S BUSINESS.

SO THEN THIS SIGN WASN'T ALWAYS ON THE OUTSIDE OF THE BUILDING HERE. IT WAS AS LONG AS I REMEMBERED IT OR OFTEN COULD TO PUT IT UP, BUT THE OTHER SIGN THAT HAD GONE ON THE FRONT OF THE BUILDING WAS INSIDE THE GARAGE.

THE COURT: WHEN YOU SAY "INSIDE THE GARAGE," YOU MEAN IT WAS HUNG ON THE WALL INSIDE THE GARAGE, OR IT WAS JUST LEFT STANDING --

MR. BEREKI: IT WAS HUNG ON THE WALL INSIDE THE GARAGE. AND ON-SITE THERE WAS ALSO --

THE COURT: WAS THE GARAGE OPEN OR CLOSED ALL THE TIME?

MR. BEREKI: DURING BUSINESS TIME, OPEN.

THE COURT: OKAY.

MR. BEREKI: WE HAD TURNED IT INTO A BARN DOOR TYPE OF THING AFTER REMOVING THE GARAGE DOORS.

ALSO ON THE SITE WAS IN-CASE-OF-AN-EMERGENCY WRITING, AND IT HAD MY PERSONAL CELL PHONE NUMBER ON IT, BUT IT SAID THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

THE COURT: OKAY.

MR. BEREKI: OR SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION, I'M SORRY.

I WOULD LIKE TO ALSO REFER TO EXHIBITS -- I BELIEVE IT'S -- THERE WAS A LEASE FOR A SHOP SPACE THAT WAS USED IN CONJUNCTION WITH THIS PROJECT. THAT LEASE

BEGAN IN MARCH OF 2012. AND THE PAYMENTS FOR THAT SHOP -- WELL, THE HUMPHREYS' FURNISHINGS WERE STORED IN THAT BUILDING BEGINNING THE DAY THAT WE BEGAN WORK ON THE PROJECT.

THE COURT: SO WAS I TO UNDERSTAND THERE WAS A SHOP AND A STORAGE SPACE?

MR. BEREKI: CORRECT.

THE COURT: GO ON.

MR. BEREKI: AND THAT SHOP SPACE WAS RENTED IN SPARTAN'S NAME.

AND FINALLY, TO SHOW SPARTAN'S HISTORY, CAN WE TURN TO EXHIBIT 39. MR. HUMPHREYS -- OR MR. RUSSO HAD ALREADY GONE OVER 39-1.

THE REMAINING EXHIBITS HERE ARE EACH OF THE SPARTAN INVOICES THAT I HAVE IN RECORD FOR ALL OF THE WORK THAT SPARTAN HAD DONE FOR THE HUMPHREYS' FAMILY MEMBERS, INCLUDING THEIR EXTENDED FAMILY MEMBERS. AND ON ALL OF THESE INVOICES, YOU WILL SEE THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES LOGO. ON MANY OF THEM, YOU WILL SEE GENERAL BUILDING CONTRACTOR WITH THE LICENSE NUMBER DOWN BELOW. THESE WERE PRIMARILY FOR MR. HUMPHREYS' SON, HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES' OFFICE BUILDING, CHRIS HUMPHREYS' MOTHER, CHRIS HUMPHREYS' MOTHER- AND FATHER-IN-LAW. AND ON EVERY PROJECT THIS IS HOW THEY WERE INVOICED.

THE COURT: OKAY. I SEE IT. NEXT.

MR. BEREKI: THAT'S ALL, YOUR HONOR.
THE COURT: MR. RUSSO, ANY FOLLOW-UP?
MR. RUSSO: NO, YOUR HONOR.
THE COURT: MR. BISSELL, HOW ABOUT YOU?
MR. BISSELL: I THINK JUST ONE OR TWO QUESTIONS, YOUR HONOR.
BY MR. BISSELL:
Q MR. BEREKI, YOU REFERENCE THE EXHIBIT, I THINK IT WAS 30.1, SHOWING A SIGN ON THE CONSTRUCTION SITE.
AND YOU'VE BEEN ON CONSTRUCTION SITES BEFORE; CORRECT?
A HAVE I BEEN ON CONSTRUCTION SITES?
Q YES. YOU'RE FAMILIAR WITH CONSTRUCTION SITES, ARE YOU NOT?
A YES.
Q IT'S PRETTY COMMON FOR ALL SORTS OF CONTRACTORS TO -- WHOEVER IS INVOLVED WITH THE JOB USUALLY CAN OR DOES HANG THEIR SIGN ON THE PROTECTIVE -- EITHER THE PROTECTIVE FENCING AT THE CONSTRUCTION SITE OR THE SITE ITSELF, ALL THE VARIOUS SUBCONTRACTORS, PAINTERS --
A THAT'S NOT BEEN MY EXPERIENCE, ACTUALLY. MOST PROJECTS THAT I HAVE SEEN, THE GENERAL IS THE ONLY ONE THAT PUTS THEIR SIGN UP BECAUSE THEY WANT THE BUSINESS TO SUBCONTRACT ALL THE OTHER SUBS.
Q SO FROM YOUR EXPERIENCE, IT'S NOT -- IT'S NOT USUAL OR IT'S UNUSUAL FOR A SUBCONTRACTOR TO HAVE HIS SIGN ON THE PROJECT?

A I CANNOT RECALL A PROJECT WHERE I HAVE SEEN A SUBCONTRACTOR'S SIGN ON THE PROJECT. THE ONES THAT ARE COMING TO MIND RIGHT NOW ARE -- ESPECIALLY ONE AT MY GYM, SNYDER LANGSTON, THERE ARE PROBABLY 20 SUBCONTRACTORS WORKING THERE AND NOT ONE HAS A SIGN UP EXCEPT FOR SNYDER LANGSTON BECAUSE THEY'RE THE GENERAL.

Q IF YOU WILL FLIP TO EXHIBIT 48 IN THE DEFENDANTS' -- TAB 48, EXHIBIT 348 IN THE DEFENDANTS' BOOKLET.

A 48 YOU SAID, SIR?

Q YES. TAB 48. ACTUALLY EXHIBIT 348.

A OKAY.

I'M HERE.

Q FLIPPING TO PAGE 048-002.

A OKAY.

Q DO YOU RECOGNIZE THIS DOCUMENT?

A I BELIEVE SO.

Q YOU TESTIFIED THAT YOU ENTERED IN A SHOP LEASE AS THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, OR DID I MISUNDERSTAND YOU?

A NO, I DID. I BELIEVE I DID.

Q IF YOU WILL FLIP TO PAGE 048-006 --

A RIGHT.

Q -- PARAGRAPH 1.1. CAN YOU TELL US WHO IT SAYS THE LESSEES ARE.

A GLENN OVERLEY AND ADAM BEREKI, JOINTLY AND SEPARATELY, GO DOORS AND SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

Q DOING BUSINESS AS; CORRECT? YOU FORGOT THE DBA.

A DBA GO DOORS/SPARTAN ASSOCIATES. GO DOORS IS GLEN'S COMPANY AND SPARTAN ASSOCIATES IS -- I'M THE SHAREHOLDER. IT'S MY COMPANY, SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

Q AND IF YOU FLIP TO PAGE 48-039.

A 039?

Q 039, THE SAME EXHIBIT.

A OKAY.

Q THE BOTTOM OF THE PAGE FOR LESSEES, WHO IS SIGNING THIS LEASE?

A ADAM BEREKI ON BEHALF OF SPARTAN.

Q ARE YOU -- DO YOU HAVE A DIFFERENT PAGE THAN I HAVE? I DON'T SEE "ON BEHALF OF SPARTAN." DO YOU SEE "ON BEHALF OF SPARTAN" THERE?

A WELL, AS THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES REPRESENTATIVE, YES. I SIGN MY NAME ON THE BACK OF THE SPARTAN CHECKS TOO. SAME THING. IT SAYS ABOVE, "THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES."

THE COURT: I'M SORRY. WHERE ARE YOU POINTING WHEN YOU SAY IT SHOWS ABOVE THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES?

THE WITNESS: AT THE VERY TOP OF THE DOCUMENT, IT SAYS "LEASE MODIFICATION AGREEMENT, GLENN OVERLEY AND ADAM BEREKI, JOINT AND SEPARATELY, GO DOORS, DBA SPARTAN ASSOCIATES."

THE COURT: THANK YOU.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU. NO FURTHER QUESTIONS, YOUR HONOR.

MR. RUSSO: JUST MOVE INTO ADMISSION EXHIBIT 30-1.

THE COURT: ANY OBJECTION FOR 30-1?

MR. RUSSO: THE PICTURE WITH THE SIGN.

MR. BISSELL: NO OBJECTION, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: 30-1 IS RECEIVED.

(EXHIBIT NO 30-1 WAS ADMITTED INTO EVIDENCE.)

MR. BISSELL: YOUR HONOR, WE REQUEST MOVING INTO EVIDENCE EXHIBIT --

THE COURT: WAIT A SECOND. LET ME GET TO -- AND MR. BISSELL?

MR. BISSELL: EXHIBIT 348.

THE COURT: IN ITS ENTIRETY.

MR. BISSELL: YES.

THE COURT: ANY OBJECTION?

MR. RUSSO: NO OBJECTION.

MR. BEREKI: NO OBJECTION.

THE COURT: 348 RECEIVED.

(EXHIBIT NO. 348 WAS ADMITTED INTO EVIDENCE.)

THE COURT: THANK YOU, SIR. YOU MAY STEP DOWN.

THE WITNESS: THANK YOU.

MR. BISSELL: YOUR HONOR, CROSS-COMPLAINANTS REST ON THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION --

THE COURT: WELL, HOLD ON A SECOND. I'M LOOKING FOR A LITTLE CLARIFICATION BEFORE YOU CAN SAY REST --

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU.

THE COURT: -- BECAUSE WHAT I SEE CONTAINED -- GIVE ME A SECOND TO FIND IT.

EXHIBIT 32-2, THIS IS THE PLAINTIFFS' VARIATION OR THE PLAINTIFFS' ITERATION OF THE EXHIBIT YOU OFFERED, BUT WE DIDN'T WANT TO DOUBLE DOWN.

MR. BISSELL: THE COMPILATION OF CHECKS?

THE COURT: COMPILATION OF CHECKS WHICH WE WENT OVER IN SOME DETAIL. AND SO WHAT I SEE ARE BASICALLY A SERIES OF CHECKS WRITTEN DIRECTLY ON THE ACCOUNT OF YOUR CLIENTS. AND THEN I SEE A SERIES OF CHECKS WRITTEN ON THE ACCOUNT OF HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, INC. WHICH IS NOT A PARTY IN THIS ACTION. WHILE THERE'S TESTIMONY AT THIS TIME MR. HUMPHREYS IS THE SOLE SHAREHOLDER OF THE CORPORATION, ADMITTEDLY AN S CORPORATION, ALTHOUGH AN S CORPORATION ONLY HAS CERTAIN TAX RAMIFICATIONS, IT DOESN'T REALLY CHANGE THE NATURE OF THE CORPORATE ENTITY, PER SE, IN TERMS OF ITS PERSONHOOD.

SO THE QUESTION IS: HOW DO YOUR CLIENTS FIT INTO THE PICTURE IN TERMS OF RECOVERY? SHOULD THEY RECOVER FOR CHECKS THAT A SEPARATE LEGAL ENTITY WROTE?

MR. BISSELL: I CAN HAVE MR. HUMPHREYS ADDRESS THAT ISSUE. WOULD YOU LIKE HIM TO RE-TAKE THE STAND AND I CAN ASK HIM ABOUT THAT?

THE COURT: WELL, IT'S YOUR CASE. I AM NOT TRYING TO TRY YOUR CASE.

MR. BISSELL: IF THE COURT HAS A QUESTION, I WOULD LIKE TO ADDRESS --

THE COURT: I THINK MR. RUSSO HAS RAISED THE ISSUE. THAT IS CERTAINLY WHAT I WAS HEARING FROM THE TEN OR SO QUESTIONS MR. RUSSO WAS ASKING. IT'S A FAIR QUESTION THAT NEEDS TO BE ADDRESSED EITHER IN TERMS OF TESTIMONY OF MR. HUMPHREYS AND/OR, I DON'T KNOW, MAYBE YOU WANT TO CONSIDER AMENDING THE COMPLAINT. THAT'S NOT WITHIN MY PURVIEW OF THIS. AND I'M SURE MR. RUSSO WOULD HAVE AN OBJECTION TO THAT, OR MR. BEREKI.

MR. BISSELL: I AM REQUESTING THAT I RECALL MR. HUMPHREYS TO THE STAND SO THAT WE CAN CLARIFY THAT ISSUE FOR THE COURT.

THE COURT: LET'S DO THAT.

MR. BISSELL: OKAY. GO AHEAD.

THE COURT: COME ON DOWN, MR. HUMPHREYS. YOU'RE STILL UNDER OATH. IT DIDN'T WEAR OFF.

FURTHER DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q MR. HUMPHREYS, IF YOU WILL TURN TO, IN THE DEFENDANTS' EXHIBIT BOOK --

A OURS?

Q THAT'S OURS.

-- EXHIBIT 315.

A 15?

THE COURT: TAB 15.

THE WITNESS: TAB 15, I'M THERE.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q ARE YOU THERE?

A YES.

Q AND YOU HAVE TESTIFIED THAT THIS WAS A COMPILATION OF CHECKS THAT YOU PREPARED UNDER YOUR DIRECTION ON YOUR ACCOUNT; CORRECT?

A YES.

Q NOW, YOU WILL SEE BEGINNING WITH CHECK DESIGNATED AS NUMBER 11 --

THE COURT: YOU KNOW WHAT, LET'S TAKE THE EXHIBIT THAT WAS RECEIVED, WHICH IS EXHIBIT 32.

THE WITNESS: OUT OF THE OTHER BOOK?

THE COURT: OUT OF THE BIG BOOK.

MR. BISSELL: OKAY.

THE COURT: MR. RUSSO WILL BE HAPPY TO SHARE THAT BOOK WITH YOU. IN PARTICULAR, 32 HAS THE BACKUP IN TERMS OF COPIES OF THE CHECKS THAT WERE WRITTEN. SO IT'S A LITTLE EASIER TO DELINEATE WHICH ONES WERE WRITTEN ON THE HUMPHREYS' PERSONAL ACCOUNT AND WHICH ONES WERE WRITTEN -- WERE DONE VIA A WIRE TRANSFER, WHICH ONES WERE DONE VIA CHECKS ON THE

HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, INCORPORATED ACCOUNT.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q ARE YOU WITH ME ON --

A I'M AT 32 --

Q DASH TWO?

A DASH TWO.

Q OKAY. NOW, DOES THAT APPEAR TO BE -- ASIDE FROM RED CHECKMARKS AND SOME BLUE INK NOTATIONS, DOES THAT APPEAR TO BE THE SAME CHECK COMPILATION THAT YOU HAD PREPARED UNDER YOUR DIRECTION?

A YES.

Q IF YOU WILL NOTICE, BEGINNING WITH CHECK 11 THROUGH -- SORRY.

THE COURT: 17?

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q IF YOU FLIP TO EXHIBIT 32-12, SAME EXHIBIT, JUST THE BACKUP --

A OKAY. I'M THERE.

Q ALL RIGHT. YOU WILL SEE THAT THAT'S A CHECK DATED JULY 31ST, 2013, AND THAT'S DRAWN ON HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES' BANK ACCOUNT?

A YES.

Q ALL RIGHT. IS THERE A REASON WHY THIS CHECK WAS DRAWN ON THE ACCOUNT OF HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES?

A YES.

Q CAN YOU TELL US WHY THAT WAS?

A QUITE A FEW OF THE TIMES. THIS WAS WHEN I HAD A LARGE PROJECT GOING IN TEXAS. I WASN'T IN TOWN. AND ADAM WOULD CALL AND SAY, "I NEED MONEY RIGHT AWAY." AND I WOULD SAY, "SEND IT, OFFICE," AND EITHER BOB OR CHRIS, THE TWO THAT HAVE SIGNATURE AUTHORITY, WOULD SEND IT. AND THEN THEY WOULD FACTOR IT UP AND THROW IT ON MY W-2. SO IT'S JUST AN EXPEDIENCY MEANS.

Q LET'S NOT GO QUITE SO FAST THROUGH THAT BECAUSE I DIDN'T QUITE FOLLOW THAT.

THE COURT: I AM GLAD I WASN'T THE ONLY ONE.

THE WITNESS: OKAY.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q YOU ARE SAYING THERE WAS TIMES WHEN YOU WERE OUT OF TOWN AND MR. BEREKI WOULD CALL AND SAY I NEED PAYMENT?

A YES.

Q AND YOU WEREN'T AVAILABLE TO ISSUE A CHECK ON YOUR OWN ACCOUNT?

A THAT'S RIGHT.

Q SO YOU CALL SOMEBODY FROM HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES AND SAY I NEED YOU TO CUT A CHECK TO MR. BEREKI OR SPARTAN ASSOCIATES?

A EXACTLY.

Q AND THEY WOULD DO THAT?

A YES.

Q AND WAS THERE A RECONCILIATION AS FAR AS THE PAYMENT MADE BY THE COMPANY AND YOU REIMBURSING THE COMPANY FOR ANY PAYMENTS MADE BY THEM AT MR. BEREKI'S REQUEST?

A YES. EVERY QUARTER THEY HAVE TO FACTOR IT UP FOR TAXES AND PAY THE IRS AND THE STATE.

Q SO --

A SO IT WAS JUST AN EXPEDIENCY MEANS.

Q I UNDERSTAND IT'S EXPEDIENCY.

BUT IS IT TRUE THAT, FOR INSTANCE, CHECK NUMBER 32-12 MADE PAYABLE TO THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES FOR $90,000, YOU, MR. HUMPHREYS, AND YOUR WIFE, MRS. HUMPHREYS, PERSONALLY ENDED UP PAYING THAT AMOUNT?

A THAT'S CORRECT.

Q WOULD THE SAME BE TRUE FOR CHECK NUMBER 32-13?

A YES.

Q ANY CHANGE IN THAT? ANY DIFFERENCE IN THE PROCESS?

A SAME PROCESS EVERY TIME.

Q DID YOU, IN FACT, PAY HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES $95,000 AS REIMBURSEMENT FOR THEIR CHECK NUMBER 16819 PAYABLE TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES?

THE COURT: PERHAPS A BETTER QUESTION WOULD BE, DEFINE OR DESCRIBE WHAT FACTORING IT UP WOULD ENTAIL, PLEASE.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

BY MR. BISSELL:

Q OKAY. FACTORING IT UP --

A SO TO YIELD --

Q NO. JUST TELL US WHAT FACTORING IT UP IS, PLEASE.

A FOR ME TO HAVE A $95,000 CHECK, I PROBABLY HAD -- I'M THROWING OUT A NUMBER -- 140,000 OF TAXABLE INCOME, AND THE DIFFERENCE WENT TO THE IRS OR STATE AT THE END OF EACH QUARTER. AM I MAKING SENSE NOW? IN OTHER WORDS, KAREN AND I PAID FOR EVERY BIT OF THESE THAT SAY HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES AT THE END OF EACH QUARTER.

Q HOW WAS THAT DONE?

A ON MY QUARTERLY INCOME TAX ESTIMATED PAYMENTS.

Q WELL, THAT'S YOUR QUARTERLY INCOME TAX ESTIMATED PAYMENTS. HOW IS HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES REIMBURSED FOR THE $95,000 REPRESENTED ON THEIR CHECK TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES THAT'S EXHIBIT 32-13? HOW WERE THEY REIMBURSED?

A BY KAREN AND I EARNING THE INCOME, 140,000 OR WHATEVER. AND THEN 45 WENT TO THE STATE OR FEDS AND THE REST WENT TO HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES.

Q SO WHEN YOU SAY "FACTOR UP," ARE YOU SAYING THAT PAYMENT TO YOU THAT YOU EARNED, INCOME TO YOU FROM HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, WAS DEDUCTED FROM YOUR PAY BASED ON CHECKS THEY HAD WRITTEN TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES AND

MR. HUMPHREYS (SIC)?

A YES.

Q IS THAT WHAT "FACTORING IT UP" MEANS?

A THAT'S A TERM THAT I HAVE USED. SORRY. YES.

Q AND WAS THAT THE SAME ACROSS THE BOARD WITH ALL CHECKS WRITTEN ON HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, INC. CHECKS TO MR. HUMPHREYS -- TO MR. BEREKI OR SPARTAN ASSOCIATES?

A YES, IT IS.

Q AND ON EACH OF THOSE CHECKS, WAS THERE WHAT YOU CALL FACTORING UP; I.E., THEY DEDUCTED FROM YOU INCOME THAT YOU HAD EARNED WORKING FOR THE COMPANY AND APPLIED THE INCOME TO THEMSELVES AS REIMBURSEMENT?

A YES, THAT'S EXACTLY RIGHT. AM I EXPLAINING IT VERY WELL? ARE WE OKAY?

MR. BISSELL: I HAVE NO FURTHER QUESTIONS, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: WE WILL FIND OUT AFTER MR. RUSSO AND MR. BEREKI HAVE THEIR CHANCE TO ASK YOU QUESTIONS.

FURTHER CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q WHY DO YOU HAVE A CORPORATION, SIR?

A WHY DO I HAVE A CORPORATION?

MR. BISSELL: OBJECTION. RELEVANCY.

THE COURT: YOU CAN ANSWER.

THE WITNESS: TO PROVIDE CONSULTING SERVICES TO MY CLIENTS.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q AND AS THE SHAREHOLDER, THAT SHIELDS YOU FROM PERSONAL LIABILITY; CORRECT?

A IN A SMALL FASHION, YES.

Q OKAY. AND THE HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES FILES ITS OWN TAX RETURNS EVERY YEAR?

A AS AN S CORP, I BELIEVE THEY FLOW IT THROUGH TO ME.

Q SO THE COMPANY FILES A TAX RETURN AND YOU GET A K-1; CORRECT?

A I DON'T REMEMBER THE NUMBER, BUT I KNOW I GET A FORM.

Q OKAY.

A OKAY.

Q YOUR PROFITS; CORRECT?

A SAY AGAIN?

Q YOUR PROFITS FROM THE COMPANY; CORRECT?

A PROFITS OR LOSSES.

Q AND YOU ALSO GET A W-2 FROM THE COMPANY AS AN EMPLOYEE FOR YOUR SALARY; CORRECT?

A CORRECT.

Q OKAY. AND AT NO POINT IN TIME DID YOU EVER WRITE A CHECK BACK TO HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES FOR ANY OF

THESE CHECKS THAT WERE WRITTEN TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES; CORRECT?

A WELL, BECAUSE THEY HANDLED IT IN THE ACCOUNTING.

Q OKAY. ULTIMATELY ALL YOU'RE SAYING IS YOU HAD TO ACCOUNT FOR IT AS REVENUE; CORRECT?

A SAY AGAIN?

Q ULTIMATELY, ALL YOU'RE SAYING IS YOU HAD TO ACCOUNT FOR IT AS REVENUE; CORRECT?

A REVENUE?

Q YES.

A I DON'T UNDERSTAND. TRY ME AGAIN.

Q YOU'RE SAYING THAT YOU -- THIS MONEY THAT HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES PAID ULTIMATELY WAS ATTRIBUTED TO YOU AS REVENUE ON YOUR W-2; CORRECT?

A WHEN YOU SAY "REVENUE," PART OF MY PAYROLL? IS THAT WHAT YOU'RE SAYING?

Q YES.

A OKAY.

Q BUT AT NO POINT IN TIME DID YOU WRITE A CHECK BACK TO HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES FOR THESE PAYMENTS IT MADE TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES; CORRECT?

A I HAVE AN INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR. THEY LOOK AT EVERY LITTLE NUMBER EVERY QUARTER AND SIGN OFF. THERE'S NO GAIN -- I WORK IN THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT BUSINESS. THERE ARE NO GAMES TO BE PLAYED

EVEN IF ONE WAS SO INCLINED TO DO SO.

Q THE ANSWER TO THE QUESTION IS NO, YOU DID NOT WRITE CHECKS BACK TO HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES FOR THE MONIES PAID TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES; CORRECT?

A OKAY.

MR. RUSSO: THANK YOU. NO FURTHER QUESTIONS.

THE COURT: MR. BEREKI, HOW ABOUT YOU?

MR. BEREKI: I DO, JUST A COUPLE, YOUR HONOR.

FURTHER CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. BEREKI:

Q DO YOU CARRY YOUR PERSONAL CHECKBOOK WITH YOU WHEN YOU TRAVEL?

A NO.

Q DO YOU CARRY A BUSINESS CHECKBOOK WITH YOU WHEN YOU TRAVEL?

A NO.

Q HOW DO YOU PAY FOR CORPORATE EXPENSES WHEN YOU TRAVEL?

A WITH A CREDIT CARD OR CASH.

Q OKAY. DURING THE PROJECT, DID WE EVER HAVE DISCUSSIONS ABOUT SETTING UP A REGULAR PAY SCHEDULE SO THAT THERE WOULDN'T BE ISSUES AROUND EXPEDIENCY, AS YOU CALL THEM?

A I DON'T REMEMBER IF WE DID.

Q THERE WAS NUMEROUS TIMES. I WILL REPRESENT TO YOU THAT WE SPOKE ABOUT --

THE COURT: YOU'RE NOT TESTIFYING YET.

MR. BEREKI: OKAY. NO FURTHER QUESTIONS.

THE COURT: MR. BISSELL?

MR. BISSELL: PARDON ME?

THE COURT: ANY MORE ON YOUR SIDE?

MR. BISSELL: NO, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: THANK YOU, MR. HUMPHREYS. YOU CAN STEP DOWN.

THE WITNESS: THANKS.

THE COURT: AND WITH THAT, I TAKE IT --

MR. BISSELL: WE REST, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: REST AS TO THIS PHASE?

MR. BISSELL: AS TO THE FIRST PHASE.

THE COURT: MR. RUSSO?

MR. RUSSO: SPARTAN ASSOCIATES RESTS AS TO THIS PHASE.

THE COURT: MR. BEREKI?

MR. BEREKI: I REST, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: I WISH I COULD REST. LET'S DO THIS. I NEED TO THINK ABOUT THIS A LITTLE BIT AND LOOK AT YOUR EXHIBITS. LET'S RE-JOIN TOMORROW MORNING, 9:30.

MR. RUSSO: YOUR HONOR --

THE COURT: LET'S SEE WHERE WE GO AFTER THAT.

MR. RUSSO: OKAY.

MR. BEREKI: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: GOOD NIGHT, EVERYBODY.

*****

WERE HELD IN OPEN COURT.)

THE COURT: GOOD MORNING, EVERYBODY.

MR. RUSSO: GOOD MORNING, YOUR HONOR.

MR. BISSELL: GOOD MORNING, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: PRETTY BAD ON THE FREEWAY, MR. RUSSO?

MR. RUSSO: NORTH OF JEFFREY, IT WAS A PARKING LOT. THERE WAS AN ACCIDENT. I AND EVERYONE ELSE TRIED TO DRIVE AROUND IT, ALL THE SIDE STREETS. IT WAS JUST ONE OF THOSE DAYS.

THE COURT: DID YOU USE THE WAZE PROGRAM ON YOUR PHONE?

MR. RUSSO: NO, I DIDN'T. ONCE I GOT ON AND I REALIZED IT WAS STOPPED, I JUST PUT THE GOOGLE MAPS ON AND SAW IT WAS RED FROM WHERE I WAS ALL THE WAY, MID-WAY BETWEEN JEFFREY AND CULVER. SO I DROVE AROUND AND GOT BACK ON AT CULVER AND IT WAS FINE, BUT IT TOOK A WHILE.

THE COURT: ON THE 5?

MR. RUSSO: I GOT OFF THE 5 BECAUSE I REALIZED AFTER TEN MINUTES WE WEREN'T GOING ANYWHERE.

THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. SO WHAT I AM ABOUT TO DO AT THIS TIME IS TO INVITE ARGUMENT WITH RESPECT TO THE

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION ISSUE, AND WE WILL SEE WHERE WE GO AFTER THAT.

SO MR. BISSELL, WE WILL START WITH YOU.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

YOUR HONOR, CIVIL CODE SECTION 1636 PROVIDES THAT A CONTRACT MUST BE INTERPRETED AS TO GIVE EFFECT TO THE MUTUAL INTENTION OF THE PARTIES AS IT EXISTED AT THE TIME OF THE CONTRACTING. THE CASE OF SHAW VERSUS REGENTS OF UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA 58 CAL.APP.4TH 44 STATES, "ALTHOUGH UNDER CIVIL CODE SECTION 1636 AND 1638 THE INTENT OF THE PARTIES DETERMINES THE MEAN OF THE CONTRACT, THE RELEVANT INTENT IS OBJECTIVE. THAT IS, THE OBJECTIVE INTENT IS EVIDENCED BY THE WORDS OF THE INSTRUMENT, NOT A PARTY'S OBJECTIVE INTENT. THE TRUE INTENT OF THE CONTRACTING PARTY IS IRRELEVANT IF IT REMAINS UNEXPRESSED."

IN THE CASE OF TRAVELERS -- I'M SORRY -- AUGBURN VERSUS TRAVELERS INSURANCE COMPANY, 207 CAL.APP. 50 STATED, "AS TO HARDSHIPS, ADVANTAGES, OR DISADVANTAGES, WHICH MAY RESULT FROM SUCH CONSTRUCTION, COURTS HAVE NOTHING TO DO."

SO WHAT WAS THE OBJECTIVE EXPRESSED INTENT OF THE PARTIES AT THE TIME THAT THEY ENTERED INTO THIS CONTRACT? FIRST OF ALL, WE ALL HAVE TO DEFINE WHAT THE CONTRACT IS. THE ONLY CONTRACT WE HAVE BETWEEN THE HUMPHREYS AND MR. BEREKI IS OUR EXHIBIT 303, WHICH WAS

THE APRIL 5, 2012 E-MAIL STRING IN WHICH MR. BEREKI COMMUNICATED HIS PROPOSAL FOR THE WORK ITEMIZING EACH ITEM OF WORK. MS. HUMPHREYS RESPONDED TO THAT PROPOSAL AND AGREED TO THE TERMS OF THE AGREEMENT AND HIRING MR. BEREKI AND MR. OVERLEY TO DO THE JOB.

THERE SIMPLY WAS NO OTHER CONTRACT. THERE WAS NO CONTRACT AT ANY TIME PROPOSED, OFFERED, SUGGESTED BY SPARTAN ASSOCIATES AND THE HUMPHREYS OR PROPOSED TO THE HUMPHREYS.

NOW, IT IS APPARENT THAT MR. BEREKI, AT SOME POINT, DEVELOPED AN UNEXPRESSED INTENT THAT THE CONTRACTING PARTY BE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES INSTEAD OF HIMSELF. HOWEVER, THE EVIDENCE IS CLEAR THAT THAT UNEXPRESSED INTENT DIDN'T EVEN DAWN ON MR. BEREKI UNTIL SEVERAL MONTHS INTO THE JOB.

THE EVIDENCE THAT SUPPORTS THAT IS MR. BEREKI AFTER THE -- SHORTLY AFTER THE EXHIBIT 303 CONTRACT WAS PROPOSED AND AGREED TO, HE REQUESTED THAT THE PAYMENTS BE MADE PAYABLE TO HIM PERSONALLY. MR. BEREKI PAID ALL OF THE JOB COSTS ON THIS PROJECT UP UNTIL JULY OF 2012 ON HIS PERSONAL ACCOUNT OR ON HIS MOTHER'S PERSONAL ACCOUNT, NOT ON THE SPARTAN ACCOUNT.

MR. BEREKI NEVER SENT AN INVOICE TO THE HUMPHREYS BEFORE JULY OF 2012 ON ANY DOCUMENT THAT WOULD EVEN HAVE THE NAME SPARTAN ON IT, MUCH LESS A LOGO OR ANYTHING THAT WOULD ALERT THE HUMPHREYS THAT SPARTAN WAS

PART OF THIS JOB.

MR. BEREKI DIDN'T SET UP SPARTAN AS A -- AN EMPLOYER UNTIL JULY OF 2012. THAT'S WHEN HE REGISTERED WITH THE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION AND THAT'S WHEN HE APPLIED FOR WORKERS' COMPENSATION INSURANCE FOR THIS JOB AS SPARTAN.

THE HUMPHREYS PAID MR. BEREKI $100,000 BEFORE MR. BEREKI EVEN BROUGHT UP THE NAME SPARTAN. PURE AND SIMPLY, SPARTAN WANTED PRESENCE IN THIS JOB IN ANY WAY, SHAPE, OR FORM BEFORE JULY OF 2012. AND, AGAIN, A CONTRACT'S INTERPRETED BY THE OBJECTIVE EXPRESSED INTENT AT THE TIME THE PARTIES ENTER INTO IT.

MR. BEREKI OFFERED AS EVIDENCE EXHIBIT 30-1 SHOWING A SPARTAN SIGN ON THE PROJECT AT SOME UNDISCLOSED DATE. BUT MR. BEREKI HAS TESTIFIED THAT FOR THE FIRST SEVERAL MONTHS, EVEN THOUGH HE HAD BEEN PAID $100,000, THE HUMPHREYS PAID HIM $100,000 ON THIS JOB, HE BASICALLY JUST HAD BEEN PUTTERING AROUND. EXHIBIT 30-1 SHOWS THE CONDOMINIUM IN A VIRTUALLY DEMOLISHED STATE. SO CLEARLY THAT PICTURE WASN'T TAKEN AT ANY EARLY STAGE OF MR. BEREKI'S INVOLVEMENT IN THE PROJECT.

WHAT WAS THE EVIDENCE OFFERED AS TO THE OBJECTIVE INTENT OF THE PARTIES AT THE TIME THAT THE CONTRACT WAS ENTERED INTO THAT SPARTAN WAS ONE OF THE CONTRACTING PARTIES? YOUR HONOR, THERE WAS ABSOLUTELY NONE. THERE IS NOTHING THERE THAT SUGGESTS SPARTAN

OBJECTIVELY WAS A CONTRACTING PARTY. IN FACT, IT WAS CLEAR FROM THE TESTIMONY OF MR. BEREKI WHEN HE WAS TALKING ABOUT -- FIRST HE TESTIFIED THAT HE HAD ENTERED INTO THIS SHOP RENTAL LEASE AS SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION. WELL, WHEN WE LOOKED AT THE LEASE, IT WAS CLEAR THAT HE DID NOT ENTER THE LEASE AS SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION. HE ENTERED IT AS ADAM BEREKI, DBA SPARTAN. IT'S CLEAR ADAM BEREKI NEVER UNDERSTOOD THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A CORPORATION AND HIMSELF. HE JUST DIDN'T UNDERSTAND. HE THOUGHT -- HE FELT THE CORPORATION WAS HIM, HE WAS THE CORPORATION. AND THAT'S NOT THE WAY IT WORKS UNDER THE LAW.

WHAT'S THE SIGNIFICANCE OF THE CONTRACTING? THE SIGNIFICANCE IS THE CONTRACTOR HAS TO BE LICENSED. MR. BEREKI SEEMED TO BE UNDER THE IMPRESSION THAT UNLESS HE WAS DOING SOMETHING STRUCTURAL, HE DIDN'T NEED A LICENSE. IN LIGHT OF WHAT TRANSPIRED ON THIS JOB, IT IS NOT SURPRISING THAT MR. BEREKI THINKS THAT, BUT HE'S CLEARLY WRONG.

A FUNDAMENTAL SECTION OF THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE LAW, BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONS CODE SECTION 7026 DEFINES A CONTRACTOR VERY BROADLY AS INCLUDING ANY PERSON WHO UNDERTAKES TO CONSTRUCT, ALTER, REPAIR OR IMPROVE ANY BUILDING OR STRUCTURE.

EXHIBIT 303, THE AGREEMENT THAT THE PARTIES ENTERED INTO, IS EVIDENCE OF SUCH UNDERTAKING. IT IS CLEAR A LICENSE IS REQUIRED. NO QUESTION ABOUT THAT.

MR. BEREKI WAS NOT LICENSED. HE'S TESTIFIED THAT HE HAD NO LICENSE ISSUED TO HIM AT ANY TIME, EITHER AT THE TIME THE CONTRACT WAS ENTERED INTO OR AT ANY TIME THE WORK WAS BEING PERFORMED BY MR. BEREKI. HE TESTIFIED THAT THE PARTNERSHIP OF HE AND MR. OVERLEY WERE NOT LICENSED AT THE TIME THE CONTRACTING WAS ENTERED INTO OR AT ANY TIME DURING THE WORK. IN FACT, THEY COULD NOT HAVE BEEN LICENSED BECAUSE MR. BEREKI DIDN'T HAVE A LICENSE. A JOINT VENTURE LICENSE REQUIRES THAT BOTH PARTIES TO THE JOINT VENTURE, OR IF IT'S MORE THAN TWO, HOWEVER MANY PARTIES TO THE JOINT VENTURE, EACH BE INDIVIDUALLY LICENSED. MR. BEREKI TESTIFIED THAT HE WAS NOT LICENSED.

EVEN IF ONE WERE TO SUBSCRIBE TO THE THEORY THAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES HAD CONTRACTED WITH THE HUMPHREYS, SPARTAN ASSOCIATES AND MR. OVERLEY, AND MR. BEREKI HAS TESTIFIED IT WAS AN INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR HE PARTNERED WITH ON THIS JOB, THAT PARTNERSHIP WAS NOT LICENSED. THERE WAS NO COMBINATION OR PERMUTATION OF INDIVIDUALS OR ENTITIES THAT PARTICIPATED ON THIS JOB THAT HAD THE REQUISITE LICENSE.

THE COURT RAISED THE QUESTION YESTERDAY AS TO THE QUESTION OF WHAT IS THE IMPACT, WHAT IS THE EFFECT OF THE FACT THAT NOT ALL PAYMENTS ON THIS JOB CAME TO MR. BEREKI DIRECTLY FROM THE HUMPHREYS. WHAT IS THE

EFFECT OF THAT? CAN THE HUMPHREYS STILL RECOVER ON DISGORGEMENT?

THE KEY STATUTE WHICH HAS BEEN BRIEFED, AND I AM SURE THE JUDGE HAS READ, IS BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONS CODE SECTION 7031, SUBSECTION E, "A PERSON WHO UTILIZES THE SERVICES OF AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR MAY BRING AN ACTION IN ANY COURT OR COMPETENT JURISDICTION IN THIS STATE TO RECOVER ALL COMPENSATION PAID TO THE UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR FOR PERFORMING -- PERFORMANCE OF ANY ACT OR CONTRACT."

NOW, THE COURT SUGGESTED YESTERDAY THAT MAYBE HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES SHOULD BE A CO-PARTY TO THE ACTION TO RECOVER THE FUNDS THAT THEY -- BASICALLY THEY WERE A CONDUIT, BUT -- THE FUNDS THAT WERE CONDUITED THROUGH THEM TO MR. BEREKI. THEY COULDN'T BE A PARTY TO THIS ACTION. THIS STATUTE IS LIMITED TO A PERSON WHO UTILIZES THE SERVICES OF AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR.

THE ONLY PEOPLE WHO UTILIZED THE SERVICES OF THE UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR OF MR. BEREKI AND MR. OVERLEY WERE THE HUMPHREYS. THEY WERE THE ONLY PERSONS THAT CAN BRING THIS ACTION. THERE IS NO LANGUAGE IN THAT CODE SECTION THAT LIMITS OR RESTRICTS WHERE THE SOURCE OF THE FUNDS COME FROM. IT'S JUST ALL COMPENSATION.

NOW THAT MAKES SENSE. IT MAKES SENSE THAT THERE'S NO LIMITATION BECAUSE I ASSUME THAT THE LEGISLATURE WAS -- TOOK SOME SORT OF CUE FROM THE

CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY THAT, HEY, WAIT A MINUTE, WE HAVE CONSTRUCTION LENDERS OUT HERE WHO ARE DISBURSING FUNDS ON PROJECTS ALL THE TIME. WE HAVE THIRD-PARTY CONSTRUCTION CONTROL AGENTS WHO ARE DISBURSING CONSTRUCTION FUNDS ON PROJECTS ALL THE TIME. WE HAVE CONSTRUCTION FUND ESCROW ACCOUNTS WHERE FUNDS ARE DISBURSED ALL THE TIME.

SO THERE ARE A MYRIAD OF EXAMPLES OR SITUATIONS WHERE PAYMENT DOESN'T HAVE TO COME OR DOESN'T COME DIRECTLY FROM THE PARTY WHO CONTRACTED WITH THE UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR. THERE ARE OTHER CONDUITS FOR THAT PAYMENT AND THE STATUTE MAKES NO DIFFERENTIATION OR NO RESTRICTIONS ON WHERE THAT MONEY COMES FROM. IT'S PURE AND SIMPLY ALL COMPENSATION PAID.

IF YOU LOOK AT THE INTENT, THAT SECTION OF 7031 WAS NOT AN ORIGINAL SECTION. THAT WAS APPLIED AFTER -- SEVERAL YEARS AFTER SECTION 7031 WAS ENACTED. SECTION 7031 WAS INITIALLY SIMPLY A SECTION THAT SAID AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR CANNOT BRING AN ACTION IN ANY COURT OF LAW TO RECOVER ON ANY JOB THAT HE'S PERFORMED WORK ON THAT REQUIRED A LICENSE.

WELL, THE LEGISLATURE UNDERSTOOD -- AT SOME POINT THEY UNDERSTOOD THAT, WAIT A SECOND, WE NEED TO TREAT PEOPLE EQUALLY HERE. THERE'S PEOPLE THAT HAVE PAID AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR AND THERE'S PEOPLE THAT HAVEN'T PAID AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR.

NOW, IF THE HUMPHREYS HADN'T PAID MR. BEREKI A DIME AND MR. BEREKI CLAIMED -- THE HUMPHREYS PAID HIM 848,000. SAY MR. BEREKI CLAIMS, HUMPHREYS, YOU DIDN'T PAY ME A DIME. I DID ALL THIS WORK. YOU OWE ME $848,000. WELL, HE WOULD BE OUT OF LUCK. HE'S NOT ENTITLED TO DIME ONE UNDER THE ORIGINAL SECTION OF 7031. NOW, UNDER THE ORIGINAL SECTION OF 7301, THOSE WHO HAD PAID THE UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR, THE PEOPLE IN THE HUMPHREYS POSITION, THEY COULDN'T RECOVER. SO THERE WAS AN UNEQUAL TREATMENT OF PARTIES DEALING WITH UNLICENSED CONTRACTORS UNDER SECTION 7031. WELL, THE LEGISLATURE RECOGNIZED THAT AND HE EQUALIZED THE IMPACT THAT SOMEBODY WHO DOESN'T PAY OR SOMEBODY WHO DOES PAY IS GOING TO BE TREATED THE SAME AS SOMEBODY WHO DOESN'T PAY; I.E., IF YOU OWE THE GUY 100 PERCENT OF WHAT WOULD OTHERWISE BE DUE ON THIS JOB, HE'S NOT ENTITLED TO IT. IF YOU PAID HIM 100 PERCENT OF WHATEVER HE IS ENTITLED TO ON THE JOB, YOU'RE ENTITLED TO RECOVER 100 PERCENT.

IN THE CASE ALATRISTE VERSUS CESAR'S EXTERIOR DESIGNS, INC. 183 CAL.APP.4TH 656, THE COURT STATED 7031(B) WAS DESIGNED TO TREAT PERSONS WHO HAVE UTILIZED UNLICENSED CONTRACTORS CONSISTENTLY REGARDLESS OF WHETHER THEY HAVE PAID THE CONTRACTOR FOR THE UNLICENSED WORK. THE ONLY WAY THAT 7031(B) CAN BE APPLIED IN THIS CASE WOULD BE CONSISTENT WITH NOT ONLY THE LANGUAGE OF THE STATUTE ITSELF -- THROUGH LANGUAGE OF THE STATUTE,

WHICH IS NOT VAGUE AND NOT AMBIGUOUS. AND THE INTERPRETATION OF THAT STATUTE IS FOUND IN THE ALATRISTE CASE, IS THAT THE HUMPHREYS ARE ENTITLED TO RECOVER ALL COMPENSATION PAID. THAT DOESN'T MATTER IF IT CAME FROM THEIR PERSONAL ACCOUNT OR IF IT CAME FROM A CONDUIT THROUGH WHICH THEY MADE PAYMENT OR WHETHER IT CAME FROM A RICH UNCLE. IT JUST MAKES NO DIFFERENCE. THE STATUTE IS CLEAR. ALL COMPENSATION.

THE EVIDENCE IS UNCONTROVERTED THAT THE HUMPHREYS PAID AS COMPENSATION TO MR. BEREKI ON THIS PROJECT $848,000. MR. BEREKI WAS REQUIRED TO HAVE A LICENSE. HE HAD NO LICENSE. UNDER THE LAW, THE HUMPHREYS ARE ENTITLED TO $848,000.

THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: THANK YOU. MR. RUSSO.

MR. RUSSO: YES, YOUR HONOR.

IF ONLY IT WERE SO SIMPLE. YOUR HONOR, THE BACKGROUND ON ALL THIS IS MR. BEREKI WAS WORKING IN THE POLICE FORCE WITH MR. HUMPHREYS' BROTHER.

THE COURT: WHICH POLICE FORCE WAS THAT?

MR. RUSSO: HUNTINGTON BEACH.

THE COURT: HB?

MR. RUSSO: YES. HE WENT OUT ON DISABILITY FROM THE POLICE FORCE. SO THAT WAS HOW THE RELATIONSHIP STARTED WITH THE BROTHER. HE JUST WENT INTO CONTRACT. THAT BUSINESS HAS NOW BEEN DISSOLVED. SO IT'S GONE.

DOESN'T HAVE ANY MONEY. HE'S OUT WITH HIS DISABILITY TRYING TO EARN A LIVING. THE COMPANY HAS NO MONEY. THE COMPANY HAS NO MONEY TO PAY THEIR ATTORNEY IN THIS CASE, BUT HERE WE ARE CLOSE TO TRIAL SO HERE I AM.

THE COURT: GOD, WE LOVE THE VOLUNTEERS.

MR. RUSSO: IT IS THAT. SO THE BOTTOM LINE IS WE'RE AT A POINT WHERE THROUGH SOME CREATIVE LAWYERING THIS NEW ISSUE CAME UP AT THE LAST MINUTE. THEY SAID THIS DISPUTE HAS BEEN GOING ON SINCE AUGUST OF 2013. THIS LAWSUIT HAS BEEN PENDING SINCE AUGUST OF 2015. AND THEN IN JANUARY OF THIS YEAR, THE CROSS-COMPLAINT WAS AMENDED TO ADD THIS CLAIM FOR DISGORGEMENT. SO IT'S NOT SOMETHING THAT WAS ON THEIR MINDS, IT'S NOT SOMETHING THAT THEY CARED ABOUT, IT'S NOT SOMETHING THEY CARED ABOUT WHEN I TOOK THEIR DEPOSITIONS. THIS WAS A LAST MINUTE, HEY, LET'S GIVE THIS ONE A SHOT.

SO SHOULD THERE BE SYMPATHY FOR THE HUMPHREYS IN LOSING THIS CLAIM WHEN WE HAVE BIGGER ISSUES IN THIS CASE? ABSOLUTELY NOT. THIS IS SOME GOOD, CREATIVE LAWYERING BY A GOOD LAWYER TO COME UP WITH THIS TECHNICAL ISSUE. AND IT'S A BIG FORFEITURE ISSUE. WE KNOW THE LAWS OF FORFEITURE. I HAVE BEEN ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THIS STATUTE AND ARGUED IT, AND IT'S DRACONIAN. IT IS. BUT THIS CASE DOES NOT FIT THE PIECES OF PUZZLE FOR FORFEITURE. THIS IS NOT AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR CASE.

WHAT DO WE HAVE HERE? WE HAVE PAYMENTS OVER $800,000. AND OF THAT, OVER 700,000 OF IT WAS PAID TO A LICENSED CONTRACTOR. THE LICENSED CONTRACTOR WHO PERFORMED THE WORK. THE STATUTE AT ISSUE 7031(B) TALKS ABOUT REPAYMENT FOR COMPENSATION PAID TO THE UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR FOR PERFORMANCE OF ANY ACT OR CONTRACT, WORK THAT HAD TO HAVE A LICENSE. OKAY. SO COMPENSATION TO THE UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR.

YOU HAVE SEEN THE CHECKS, EXHIBIT 32. AFTER THE FIRST $100,000, THE CHECKS WERE MADE TO THE CONTRACTOR WHO PERFORMED THE WORK WHO WAS LICENSED. INTERSPERSED LATER ON THERE WERE SOME PAYMENTS, THEY WERE DIRECTED TO MR. BEREKI, DESPITE THE TESTIMONY THAT HE ASKED THAT THEY BE PAID TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES. THEY GOT DEPOSITED INTO THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES' ACCOUNT AND SPARTAN ASSOCIATES DID THE WORK.

SO IT'S NOT EVEN AN ISSUE UNDER THE SUBSTANTIAL COMPLIANCE RULES THAT WENT ON. AND I UNDERSTAND, WITH THE CHANGES TO 7031, MOST OF THAT WAS -- SUBSTANTIAL COMPLIANCE WAS, FOR THE MOST PART, THE PAST. WE DON'T HAVE THAT REALLY, NOR DOES THIS FIT NEATLY WITHIN THE CONFINES OF SUBSTANTIAL COMPLIANCE. THIS IS JUST PURE INAPPLICABILITY IN THIS CASE OF 7031 BECAUSE IT'S NOT ABOUT THAT ORAL AGREEMENT, THE E-MAIL, THE STATUTE IS ABOUT UNLICENSED WORK. WE DON'T HAVE THAT HERE. THAT FIRST CONVERSATION, WHETHER OR NOT THEY

THOUGHT IT WAS SPARTAN ASSOCIATES OR MR. BEREKI, THAT'S NOT WHAT THE STATUTE SPEAKS TO. IT'S PAYMENTS TO AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR FOR WORK THAT NEEDED TO BE LICENSED. AND THE PAYMENTS, THEY KNEW WHO THEY WERE WRITING THE CHECKS TO WHEN THEY WERE WRITING TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, LICENSED CONTRACTOR, THIS DID NOT APPLY.

NOW WE DO HAVE THE FIRST $100,000 OF PAYMENTS WHICH WERE PAYABLE TO MR. BEREKI. WHAT I WOULD SUBMIT ON THAT, YOUR HONOR, IS IT'S -- IT DOESN'T REALLY MATTER WHO THOSE PAYMENTS WENT TO. THE POINT IS THERE'S BEEN A FAILURE OF PROOF BY THE HUMPHREYS ON THIS AS TO THAT WORK FOR WHICH THAT $100,000 WAS PAID WAS REQUIRED TO BE LICENSED. THERE'S BEEN NO EVIDENCE. TO THE CONTRARY, THE ONLY EVIDENCE YOU HAVE IS THAT BASED ON WHAT WAS GOING ON AT THAT TIME, DURING THE FIRST $100,000, THE TESTIMONY OF MR. BEREKI WAS THAT WE WERE LOADING UP THINGS, WE WERE GETTING STORAGE UNITS, WE WERE DOING THOSE THINGS, DOING SOME DEMOLITION. BUT IF YOU WERE TO LOOK AT THE C11 LICENSURE FOR DEMOLITION WORK, STRUCTURAL WORK, AT THAT POINT IN TIME, THERE'S NO EVIDENCE AT THAT POINT IN TIME THAT THIS WORK REQUIRED A LICENSE FROM HIM PERSONALLY. SO THAT'S A FAILURE OF PROOF ON THEIR PART.

THEN WE TURN TO THE ISSUE OF THE REAL PARTY IN INTEREST. THE FACT OF THE MATTER IS THAT A CORPORATION PAID $495,000 OF THE PAYMENTS TO SPARTAN ASSOCIATES.

THE CASES ON THAT ISSUE, ON REAL PARTY IN INTEREST, ARE THE DION VERSUS PELAYO CASE, 2006 145.CAL.APP.4TH 347 AND THE GANTMAN VERSUS UNITED PACIFIC INSURANCE CASE, 1999 232 CAL.APP.3RD 1560. THIS IS JUST FUNDAMENTAL STUFF. THE CLAIM HAS TO BE PROSECUTED BY THE REAL PARTY IN INTEREST, NOT SOMEBODY WHO'S INTERESTED, BUT THE ACTUAL REAL PARTY. THEY FAILED, AT LEAST AS TO $495,000 OF THE CHECKS, BECAUSE THEY WERE WRITTEN BY A CORPORATION WHO SHOULD HAVE BEEN JOINED IN THIS ACTION, SHOULD HAVE DONE AN ASSIGNMENT, SHOULD HAVE DONE SOMETHING LONG BEFORE NOW. IT'S LATE AND THERE COULD BE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS ISSUES ASSOCIATED WITH THAT PARTY COMING IN. IT'S NOW A SIMPLE AMENDMENT AT THIS POINT IN TIME.

SO THE FACT OF THE MATTER IS IT'S NOT A LITTLE ISSUE. THIS IS NOT THE SAME AS A CONSTRUCTION LENDER DISBURSING FUNDS. IN THE CASE OF CONSTRUCTION LENDER DISBURSING FUNDS, THAT MONEY IS THE BORROWER'S MONEY. YOU HAVE GOT THIS CONDUIT, BUT THAT'S THE BORROWER'S MONEY. THIS WAS THE CORPORATION'S MONEY. PERHAPS MR. HUMPHREYS GOT TAXED ON IT IN THE FUTURE, BUT AT THE TIME THE PAYMENTS WERE MADE, THE CORPORATION'S MONEY. SO THIS IS ANOTHER GLITCH IN THEIR CASE. SO FOR ALL THOSE REASONS, 7031 NOT APPLYING. REAL PARTY IN INTEREST. AND -- WELL, FOR THOSE TWO REASONS. THEY FAILED TO ULTIMATELY PROVE, AS THEY HAD TO WITH THEIR

BURDEN, THAT FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION IN THAT CROSS-COMPLAINT.

WE'VE GOT BIGGER ISSUES IN THIS CASE. WE GOT THE COMPLAINT. WE GOT THEIR CROSS-COMPLAINT FOR THE WORK BEING DEFICIENT. WE GOT OTHER ISSUES, BUT THIS IS NOT THE VEHICLE FOR THE HUMPHREYS TO GET WHAT THEY WANT. WE GOT THE REST OF THE CASE TO TRY.

THANK YOU.

THE COURT: THANK YOU, MR. RUSSO.

MR. BEREKI?

MR. BEREKI: NOTHING, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: YOU WILL RELY ON MR. RUSSO'S ARGUMENT?

THE COURT: HE WAS BRILLIANT, YES, SIR. THANK YOU.

THE COURT: I WILL TAKE 15 MINUTES, GO COLLECT MY THOUGHTS, REVIEW MY NOTES. SORRY FOR THE DELAY, BUT IT SEEMS LIKE GOOD IDEA. SO FEEL FREE TO TAKE A WALK ABOUT, RUN UP AND DOWN THE HALLWAYS, SWIM A COUPLE OF LAPS. WE WILL BE BACK.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU.

(RECESS.)

THE COURT: THANK YOU, OFFICER GINO.

MR. RUSSO.

MR. RUSSO: YES, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: ARE YOU BY ANY CHANCE A STUDENT OF ANCIENT GREEK HISTORY?

MR. RUSSO: WELL, IT SO HAPPENS THAT MY FAVORITE

PROFESSOR AT UC DAVIS WAS A GUY NAMED SPYRIDAKIS. HE TAUGHT ANCIENT --

THE COURT: HE DOESN'T SOUND TOO ANCIENT.

MR. RUSSO: HE TAUGHT ANCIENT HISTORY AND I TOOK ALL THREE OF HIS COURSES. GREEK HISTORY IS THE FIRST ONE, AND THEN A COUPLE -- WE DID ANCIENT ROME, MESOPOTAMIA. SO THE ANSWER IS, IT WAS MY FAVORITE COURSE.

THE COURT: EXCELLENT. THEN YOU'RE PROBABLY FAMILIAR WITH THE STORY FROM THE CITY-STATE OF SPARTA IN ANCIENT GREECE IN THE NAME OF THE COMPANY OPERATED BY MR. BEREKI. AS YOU KNOW, SPARTA WAS A VERY WARLIKE CIVILIZATION. THEIR YOUNG MEN WERE TRAINED AT A VERY EARLY AGE TO BASICALLY PREPARE AND FIGHT A NUMBER OF BATTLES BECAUSE IT WAS A WARLIKE CIVILIZATION THAT WENT ON. SO THE LINE FROM THE MOTHERS AND TWO SONS GOING OFF TO BATTLE ON BEHALF OF THE CITY-STATE OF SPARTAN. COME BACK VICTORIOUS OR COME BACK DEAD OVER YOUR SHIELD. LET'S HOPE THAT DOESN'T APPLY TO SOMEBODY HERE TODAY.

MR. RUSSO: ONE ANECDOTE. ONE OF MY FAVORITE THINGS ABOUT THAT -- AND I ALSO TOOK MILITARY HISTORY FOR A YEAR -- WAS THE INVENTION THAT MADE THE GREEKS SUCCESSFUL -- NOT THE SPARTANS BUT THE GREEKS -- WAS LENGTHENING THE PHALANX SO WHEN THEY ALL RAN INTO EACH OTHER, THEIRS WAS A FEW FEET LONGER. I THOUGHT THAT WAS A KIND OF AN INTERESTING DEVELOPMENT.

THE COURT: I THOUGHT YOU WERE GOING TO TELL ME IT WAS THE WHEEL.

MR. RUSSO: NO.

THE COURT: OR THE CATAPULT.

MR. RUSSO: NO, LENGTHENING THE PHALANX.

THE COURT: A LONGER SPEAR. I THINK THE ENGLISH CAME UP WITH ANOTHER LINE CALLED "HOISTED BY THEIR OWN PETARD." WHAT IS A PETARD?

MR. RUSSO: I DON'T RECALL WHAT A PETARD IS.

THE COURT: IT'S ANOTHER VERSION OF A SPEAR. ALL RIGHT. WELL, YOU ALL CAUSED ME TO HAVE A FEW MOMENTS OF CONSIDERATION HERE. MY INITIAL COMMENT, YOU KNOW, FINE LAWYERS AND GOOD LAWYERING, AS WE HAVE SEEN HERE, MAKES THIS DECISIONAL PROCESS ALL THE HARDER. I WANT TO THANK THE LAWYERS, BOTH OF YOU, FOR GOOD WORK, GOOD PRESENTATIONS. STILL, YOU KNOW, I HAVE TO SAY, AT THE BOTTOM, THE FACT IS THE FACTS WIN OR LOSE CASES. PEOPLE THAT THINK, HEY, YOU KNOW, I WANT CLARENCE DARO (PHONETIC) -- A NAME FROM THE PAST -- I WANT THE TOUGHEST LAWYER IN TOWN, SO ON AND SO FORTH. MY EXPERIENCE IS THAT BAD LAWYERING CAN LOSE CASES BECAUSE THE FACTS DON'T GET IN. ULTIMATELY, GOOD LAWYERING, WHICH IS WHAT I HAVE SEEN HERE, ACCOUNTS FOR THE FACT, AGAIN, THAT IT MAKES THE DECISION HARDER. AGAIN, IT'S THE FACTS THAT CONTROL, NOT THE LAWYERS THAT CONTROL. AN INTERESTING EXERCISE FOR ME, FROM THE STANDPOINT OF

JUST REVIEWING AND CONSIDERING WHAT'S REQUIRED UNDER THE CONTRACTOR LICENSE LAW, AND IN SOME WAYS, IT'S A LITTLE BIT OF A TRIP INTO ALICE IN WONDERLAND.

I TURN FIRST TO BUSINESS PROFESSIONS CODE SECTION 7159, WHICH IS ENTITLED "HOME IMPROVEMENT; HOME IMPROVEMENT GOODS OR SERVICES DEFINITIONS." WELL, THIS DEFINES THE -- UNDER -- SUBSECTION B DEFINES THE HOME IMPROVEMENT CONTRACT AS MEANING ANY AGREEMENT, WHETHER ORAL OR WRITTEN, BETWEEN THE CONTRACTOR AND THE OWNER FOR THE PERFORMANCES OF A HOME IMPROVEMENT, AS DEFINED BY SECTION 7151.

SECTION 7551 DEFINES A HOME IMPROVEMENT AS BEING THE REPAIRING, REMODELING, ALTERING, CONVERTING OR MODERNIZING UP OR ADDING TO RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY AND SHALL INCLUDE, BUT NOT BE LIMITED TO, THE CONSTRUCTION, ERECTION, REPLACEMENT, OR IMPROVEMENT OF DRIVEWAYS, SWIMMING POOLS, INCLUDING SPAS, HOT TUBS, TERRACES, PATIOS, AWNINGS, STORM WINDOWS, LANDSCAPING, FENCES, PORCHES, GARAGES, FALLOUT SHELTERS, BASEMENTS, AND OTHER IMPROVEMENTS OF THE STRUCTURE OR LAND WHICH IS ADJACENT TO A DWELLING. HOME IMPROVEMENT SHALL ALSO MEAN THE INSTALLATION OF HOME IMPROVEMENT GOODS OR THE FURNISHING OF HOME IMPROVEMENT SERVICES.

I THINK THAT THAT INCLUDES THE REMODELING PROJECT THAT WAS DONE ON THIS PROPERTY. ALTHOUGH I SUSPECT, AS AN ARGUMENT, THAT IT COULD BE LIMITED TO

THINGS OUTSIDE OF THE STRUCTURE ITSELF. IF THAT WERE THE CASE, THEN I SUSPECT THAT SECTION 7164 WOULD APPLY WITH RESPECT TO THIS.

WHY AM I TALKING ABOUT THIS? BECAUSE IF YOU LOOK AT SECTION 7159(C), IT REQUIRES THAT THE LICENSEE SHALL COMPLY WITH ALL OF THE FOLLOWING. IT SPELLS OUT, IN GREAT DETAIL, THE REQUIRED CONTENTS OF THE CONTRACT BETWEEN THE CONTRACTOR AND THE CONTRACTING PARTIES. AS WE HAVE SEEN NONE OF WHICH ARE PRESENT HERE, BUT JUST SO THAT WE'RE ON THE SAME PAGE, IT REQUIRES, AMONG OTHER THINGS -- AND THIS IS WHERE IT'S CONFUSING BECAUSE IT SAYS, FOR PURPOSES OF THIS SECTION, SUBSECTION B OF 7159, FOR PURPOSES OF THIS SECTION, HOME IMPROVEMENT CONTRACT MEANS AN AGREEMENT, WHETHER ORAL OR WRITTEN, OR CONTAINED IN ONE OR MORE DOCUMENTS, ET CETERA.

SO THERE SEEMS TO BE SOME ACKNOWLEDGMENT THAT IT CAN BE ORAL OR WRITTEN, BUT THEN IT GOES ON IN SUBSECTION C TO SAY, "IN ADDITION TO THE SPECIFIC REQUIREMENTS LISTED UNDER THIS SECTION, EVERY HOME IMPROVEMENT CONTRACT AND ANY PERSON SUBJECT TO LICENSURE UNDER THIS CHAPTER SHALL COMPLY WITH ALL OF THE FOLLOWING:

"ONE, THE WRITING SHALL BE LEGIBLE." THAT DENIES AN ORAL CONTRACT.

"TWO, ANY PRINTED FORM SHALL BE READABLE;

"THREE, BEFORE ANY WORK STARTED, THE

CONTRACTOR SHALL GIVE THE BUYER A COPY OF THE CONTRACT SIGNED AND DATED BY BOTH THE CONTRACTOR AND THE BUYER," WHICH SEEMS TO BELIE THE CONCEPT OF THE EXCHANGE OF E-MAILS AS BEING SOME FORM OF WRITTEN SIGNED AGREEMENTS, AS HAS BEEN ARGUED IN THIS CASE. SO I WON'T GO ON WITH ANY MORE OF THE DETAILS FOR THIS CODE SECTION.

SO NUMBER ONE, I HAVE CONCERNS ABOUT THE NATURE OF THE CONTRACT BETWEEN THE PARTIES;

NUMBER TWO, JUST DEALING WITH AN ISSUE THAT APPEARS TO BE INCIDENTAL TO THIS LITIGATION; THAT IS, WHETHER OR NOT HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, INCORPORATED SHOULD HAVE BEEN, COULD HAVE BEEN, OUGHT TO HAVE BEEN A PARTY TO THIS LAWSUIT, THE EVIDENCE HERE IS HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES IS A SUBCHAPTER S CORPORATION. THAT HAS NOT ONLY TAX SIGNIFICANCE, BUT IT HAS OTHER SIGNIFICANCE WITH RESPECT TO COMPENSATION OF EMPLOYEES TO THE CORPORATION, OF WHICH MR. HUMPHREYS IS BOTH AN OFFICER AND AN EMPLOYEE OF THE CORPORATION, AS I UNDERSTAND FROM THE EVIDENCE. WITH AN S CORPORATION, IT SERVES SIMPLY AS A CONDUIT AND PASSTHROUGH SO THE CORPORATION ITSELF PAYS NO TAXES. INSTEAD, ITS INCOME IS PASSED TO ITS EMPLOYEES AND OFFICERS TO THE EXTENT THAT THEY'RE COMPENSATED AND THEY PAY THE TAXES.

SO THE EVIDENCE SHOWS HERE THE PAYMENTS THAT WERE MADE THROUGH HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, INCORPORATED'S BANK ACCOUNT WERE ESSENTIALLY DEBITED AGAINST

MR. HUMPHREYS' COMPENSATION; EFFECTIVELY MAKING THE PAYMENT DIRECTLY FROM MR. HUMPHREYS TO WHETHER IT'S MR. BEREKI OR SPARTAN AT THIS POINT IS OF NO PARTICULAR MOMENT. IN THE COURT'S OPINION, THE COURT FINDS THAT THE HUMPHREYS & ASSOCIATES, INCORPORATED ENTITY IS NOT A NECESSARY PARTY TO THIS LITIGATION OR EVEN AN APPROPRIATE PARTY GIVEN THESE FACTS.

TURNING TO THE CROSS-DEFENDANTS' ARGUMENT OF -- WITH RESPECT TO WHAT THE HUMPHREYS KNEW OR UNDERSTOOD WHEN THE CHECKS STARTED GOING TO THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, I THINK THAT THE ARGUMENT PRESUPPOSES A CERTAIN LEVEL OF SOPHISTICATION AND EXPERIENCE THAT I CANNOT AND DO NOT ASCRIBE TO MR. HUMPHREYS. SURE, THEY REMODEL OTHER PROPERTIES. THEY OWN OTHER PROPERTIES. BUT NOTHING IN THE EVIDENCE SUGGESTS THAT THEY ARE KNOWLEDGEABLE ABOUT CONTRACTORS, KNOWLEDGEABLE ABOUT CONTRACTING, KNOWLEDGEABLE ABOUT CONTRACTING IN A SENSE OF BUILDING STRUCTURES. MR. HUMPHREYS' EXPERIENCE DEALING AS A CONSULTANT ON LARGE GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS DID NOT STRIKE ME AS FALLING WITHIN BUILDING CONTRACTS, BUT SOMETHING ELSE. AND, AGAIN, I THINK THAT THEY ARE ENTIRELY DIFFERENT DISCIPLINES, WHICH REQUIRE DIFFERENT LEVELS OF UNDERSTANDING AND EXPERIENCE.

THE PROBLEM FOR THE UNINITIATED IN DEALING WITH BILLING CONTRACTORS IS THE USE OF SUBCONTRACTORS, THE USE OF CORPORATE ENTITIES, SOMETIMES, TO REFLECT

PAYMENTS. I DON'T BLAME -- I DON'T FIND THAT MR. HUMPHREYS AND MRS. HUMPHREYS WERE IN SOME FASHION REQUIRED TO EXPLORE IN ANY PARTICULAR DETAIL WHAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INCORPORATED WAS THAT THEY WERE MAKING PAYMENTS TO UNDER THESE CIRCUMSTANCES.

TURNING TO MY OWN RESEARCH, I FOUND TWO CASES THAT I THINK ARE ANALOGOUS TO OUR CASE AND REQUIRE SOME CONSIDERATION. FIRST CASE IS BALL VERSUS STEADFAST-BLK. THIS IS A 2011 CASE RECORDED AT 196 CAL.APP.4TH 694.

HERE, JUST TO GIVE YOU THE SUMMARY, THE TRIAL COURT IN THIS INSTANCE SUSTAINED WITHOUT LEAVE TO AMEND THE PROPERTY OWNER'S DEMURRER TO A CAUSE OF ACTION FOR CLOSURE -- FOR FORECLOSURE OF A MECHANIC'S LIEN IN AN INDIVIDUAL LICENSED CONTRACTOR'S COMPLAINT. THE COURT FOUND THAT THE CONTRACTOR WAS NEVER LICENSED AS A CONTRACTOR TO DO BUSINESS UNDER THE FICTITIOUS BUSINESS NAME HE USED AND THUS WAS PRECLUDED, AS A MATTER OF LAW, UNDER BUSINESS PROFESSIONS CODE SECTION 7031, SUBDIVISION A FROM PURSUING THIS CAUSE OF ACTION.

AND JUST TO BE CLEAR, WHAT WE HAVE IS AN INDIVIDUAL CONTRACTOR, MR. BALL, WHO WAS DOING BUSINESS UNDER A DBA OF CLARK HEATING AND AIR CONDITIONING. AND AS IT HAPPENED, THIS DBA WAS NOT A CORPORATION; IT WAS JUST A DBA. AND SO WHEN BALL SUED, THE HOMEOWNER SAID, WELL, WAIT, WE HAVE THIS CONTRACT WITH CLARK HEATING AND AIR CONDITIONING AND THIS GUY IS NOT CLARK, WE DON'T THINK, AND THE TRIAL COURT AGREED.

THE COURT OF APPEAL REVERSED. THE COURT FOUND THAT THE TRIAL COURT HAD CONFUSED THE INDIVIDUAL OWNER TO WHOM THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE WAS ISSUED WITH THE NAME UNDER WHICH THE INDIVIDUAL CONDUCTED HIS CONTRACTING BUSINESS; I.E., THE FICTITIOUS BUSINESS NAME. THE CONTRACTOR WAS LICENSED AS A, QUOTE, SOLE OWNER, END QUOTE, AND NOT AS A PARTNERSHIP OR CORPORATE ENTITY PURSUANT TO THE CLASSIFICATION SYSTEM OF B&P CODE SECTION 7065. THE FICTITIOUS BUSINESS NAME HE USED WAS NOT AN ENTITY THAT COULD BE LICENSED; RATHER, IT WAS THE BUSINESS NAME UNDER WHICH THE INDIVIDUAL LICENSEE DID BUSINESS. NOT ONLY WAS THE FICTITIOUS BUSINESS NAME NOT A DISTINCT LEGAL ENTITY, IT WAS NOT AMONG THE CATEGORIES OF INDIVIDUALS OR ENTITIES DEFINED BY THE CONTRACTOR'S STATE LICENSE LAW, B&P CODE SECTION 7000, TO WHOM A CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE MAY ISSUE.

ACCORDINGLY, BECAUSE THE CONTRACTOR WAS A LICENSED CONTRACTOR, HE WAS ENTITLED TO PERFORM CONTRACTING WORK UNDER THE FICTITIOUS BUSINESS NAME. HIS FAILURE TO CONTRACT IN THE EXACT SAME NAME SET FORTH IN HIS LICENSE WAS, AT MOST, GROUNDS FOR DISCIPLINARY ACTION, BUT IT DID NOT BAR HIM FROM RECOVERING FOR WORK PERFORMED UNDER THE CONTRACTS.

SO NOW WE CONTRAST THE BALL OPINION WITH THE FACTS OF THIS CASE. AND I THINK OUR CASE HERE IS

DISTINGUISHABLE. FIRST OF ALL, AND FOREMOST, WE HAVE NO LICENSE IN THE NAME OF MR. BEREKI INDIVIDUALLY; INSTEAD, IT APPEARS HE WAS THE QUALIFYING CORPORATE OFFICER FOR THE LEGAL ENTITY, SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INCORPORATED. THAT WAS THE ENTITY TO WHICH THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE WAS ISSUED, AS OPPOSED TO OUR OTHER CASE. YOU KNOW, HERE, AS A MATTER OF LAW, THE CORPORATE ENTITY WAS ENTITLED TO BE LICENSED, WHICH IT WAS. THIS WILL TAKE US TO MORE CONSIDERATION LATER ON.

SO SECONDLY, I TURN TO THE OTHER CASE, 29 PALMS ENTERPRISES CORPORATION VERSUS BARDOS. THIS IS A 2012 CASE RECORDED AT 210 CAL.APP.4TH STARTING AT PAGE 14, 13. THIS CASE ACTUALLY APPEARS TO BE DIRECTLY ON POINT.

AND JUST TO GIVE YOU THE OVERVIEW, HERE WHAT WE HAVE IS A TRIBAL CORPORATION THAT SUED THE CONTRACTOR TO RECOVER MONEY PAID FOR WORK ON TRIBAL LAND ALLEGING B&P CODE SECTION 7031 17200 AND THAT THE CONTRACTOR WAS UNLICENSED AND THAT ITS PERFORMANCE OF WORK WITHOUT A LICENSE WAS UNFAIR COMPETITION.

HERE THE TRIAL COURT GRANTED THE SUMMARY JUDGMENT FOR THE TRIBAL CORPORATION. IN AFFIRMING THAT SUMMARY JUDGMENT, THE COURT OF APPEAL REJECTED THE CONTRACTOR'S ARGUMENT THAT B&P CODE SECTION 7031 WAS NOT ENFORCEABLE IN A CONTRACT MADE WITH THE TRIBAL ENTITY FOR WORK DONE ON TRIBAL LAND.

ALL RIGHT. WE DON'T HAVE A TRIBAL LAND ISSUE. WE ALL UNDERSTAND THAT, SO I WILL SKIP OVER THE CONSIDERATIONS THE DCA MADE WITH RESPECT TO THE TRIBAL LAND ISSUE AND THE TRIBAL CONTRACT AND INSTEAD TURN TO THE ISSUES THAT ARE GERMANE TO US.

THE COURT HELD THAT THE CONTRACT DID NOT CREATE A FACT ISSUE AS TO WHETHER IT SUBSTANTIALLY COMPLIED WITH THE REQUIREMENTS OF 7031 BECAUSE THERE WAS NOTHING INDICATING THAT THE CONTRACTOR ACTED REASONABLY AND IN GOOD FAITH TO MAINTAIN PROPER LICENSURE. AND THE EVIDENCE REFLECTED THAT THE CONTRACTOR KNEW IT WAS UNLICENSED AND DID NOT ACT PROMPTLY TO OBTAIN ITS LICENSE. ALTHOUGH THE OWNER OF THE UNLICENSED SOLE PROPRIETORSHIP WAS ALSO THE RESPONSIBLE MANAGING OFFICER FOR A CORPORATION THAT HAD BEEN LICENSED, THE OWNER DID NOT HOLD THE CORPORATION'S LICENSES AS AN INDIVIDUAL AND, THEREFORE, COULD NOT PERFORM WORK UNDER THAT LICENSE USING THE NAME OF THE SOLE PROPRIETORSHIP. THE CONTRACTOR COULD NOT RELY ON EQUITABLE ESTOPPEL TO CIRCUMVENT SECTION 7031.

AGAIN, I THINK THAT THE ARGUMENT ADVOCATED HERE IS THAT EITHER SPARTAN WAS THE CONTRACTING PARTY OR, ALTERNATIVELY, THAT MR. BEREKI WAS OPERATING UNDER SPARTAN'S LICENSE. THE SECOND PART OF THAT ARGUMENT IS UNDONE BY THE 29 PALMS CASE, WHICH BASICALLY HOLDS THAT AN INDIVIDUAL, SUCH AS MR. BEREKI, CANNOT RELY -- IF

HE'S CONTRACTING ON HIS OWN, CANNOT RELY ON HIS CORPORATION'S LICENSE TO CONTRACT.

SO WE HAVE TO NOW TURN TO THE ULTIMATE FACTUAL ISSUE THAT THE COURT MUST DECIDE. AND SO THAT REALLY TURNS ON JUST WHO WERE THE CONTRACTING PARTIES TO WHATEVER THIS AGREEMENT WAS, HARKENING BACK TO MY INITIAL DISCUSSION ABOUT THE NECESSARY ELEMENTS FOR A CONTRACT.

CLEARLY, THE HUMPHREYS INTENDED TO ENGAGE SOMEONE TO DO THE WORK ON THEIR SINGLE UNIT IN OR ABOUT APRIL OF 2012. I HAVE BEEN TOLD AND THE EVIDENCE IS A LITTLE UNCLEAR HERE, BUT WHAT I UNDERSTAND IS THAT WHAT HAPPENED IS THAT A SECOND UNIT WAS PURCHASED BY MR. AND MRS. HUMPHREYS APPROXIMATELY TWO TO FOUR MONTHS AFTER THIS APRIL 2012 E-MAIL EXCHANGE OCCURRED. AND THAT WHATEVER WORK IN ROLLING THAT SECOND UNIT INTO THE INITIAL UNIT WERE, THAT WAS ALSO SUBJECT TO WHATEVER THE AGREEMENT WAS BETWEEN THE PARTIES.

AND I HAVE TO SAY, IT WAS AT A CERTAIN LEVEL OF CONCERN THAT -- WHEN I SAY "WHATEVER THE AGREEMENT WAS," IT'S BECAUSE ULTIMATELY IT'S STILL, EVEN TO THIS DAY AFTER ALL THE EVIDENCE, STILL NOT CLEAR WHAT THE AGREEMENT WAS. JUST A LESSON IN OR COMMENT ON THE FACT THAT THESE TYPES OF CONTRACTS, PARTICULARLY WE'RE DEALING WITH TENS OF THOUSANDS, ULTIMATELY HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS, NEED TO BE NAILED DOWN IN DETAIL,

IN WRITING. THAT WRITING SUBSCRIBED TO WITH THE SIGNATURES OF THE PARTIES THAT ARE CONTRACTING.

WITH RESPECT TO THE SECOND PROPERTY, I FIND NO WRITING THAT ACTUALLY DETAILS WHAT WAS TO BE DONE ON THE SECOND PROPERTY OR HOW IT WAS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE INITIAL CONTRACT. I SUPPOSE IT COULD BE CONSIDERED AS SOME FORM OF A CHANGE ORDER THAT THE CODE EVEN REQUIRES CHANGE ORDERS BE IN WRITING AND BE ATTACHED TO THE ORIGINAL CONTRACT.

WHAT I DO FIND HERE IS THAT NOTHING IN THE APRIL 2012 E-MAILS OR THE MEETINGS AND DISCUSSIONS REVEALS SPARTAN AS THE CONTRACTING PARTY WITH THE HUMPHREYS. ALL OF THE LANGUAGE RELATES TO MR. BEREKI INDIVIDUALLY.

MY CONCERN HERE -- AND I AM SORRY IF THIS SOUNDS POLITICAL, BUT I WILL BORROW FROM SOMETHING THAT THEN-SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE NANCY PELOSI SAID WITH RESPECT TO THE ACA, THE AFFORDABLE CARE ACT. WE NEED TO PASS IT SO YOU CAN FIND OUT WHAT'S INSIDE OF IT. HERE WE HAVE A SITUATION WHERE, IN HINDSIGHT, IT -- THE CONTRACT, IN SOME FORM OR FASHION, NEEDED TO BE SIGNED BEFORE WE COULD FIND OUT WHO THE CONTRACTING PARTIES WERE. THAT'S SILLY.

THE ULTIMATE FINDING HERE IS THAT, AS WE SEE, ALL THE PAYMENTS INITIALLY OVER SEVERAL MONTHS WERE MADE TO MR. BEREKI INDIVIDUALLY. MR. BEREKI'S ACCOUNTS

PERSONALLY PAID FOR THE WORK ONCE HE WAS COMPENSATED BY THE HUMPHREYS. THE PAYMENTS TO SPARTAN SHOW UP SOME MONTHS LATER AND THEY DO NOT REFLECT ANY SORT OF RETROSPECTIVE MODIFICATION OF THE INITIAL AGREEMENT OR A SUBSTITUTION OF SPARTAN AS THE CONTRACTOR HERE. AGAIN, THIS IS THE PROBLEM WITH TRYING TO DO THINGS ON AN AD HOC BASIS.

THE COURT NOW FINDS THAT THIS CONTRACT WAS BETWEEN MR. HUMPHREYS AND MR. BEREKI INDIVIDUALLY. THERE WAS NO CONTRACT WITH SPARTAN, NOR WAS THERE ANY MECHANISM OR FORM WITHIN WHICH THE HUMPHREYS COULD UNDERSTAND THAT SPARTAN WAS THE ACTUAL CONTRACTING PARTY AS IS ASSERTED BY MR. BEREKI. GIVEN THOSE CIRCUMSTANCES, SINCE WE KNOW MR. BEREKI DID NOT AND DOES NOT POSSESS A CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE -- AND, ULTIMATELY, I WOULD JUST TELL YOU LAWYERS TO TAKE A LOOK AT A CASE ENTITLED MW ERECTORS VERSUS NIEDERHAUSER. IT'S A CASE OF 2005. I DON'T HAVE THE CITE IN FRONT OF ME AT THE MOMENT. I THINK IT'S REPORTED AT 34 CAL. 4.

THE REASON I CITE TO THE CASE, NUMBER ONE, IT'S A CALIFORNIA SUPREME COURT CASE. NUMBER TWO, IT IS CONSIDERED BY MANY TO BE THE BELLWETHER CASE ON THE ISSUE OF CONTRACTOR RESPONSIBILITY OR UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR RESPONSIBILITY. MW ERECTORS DID NOT HAVE A LICENSE AT THE TIME THAT IT WAS TO DO THE HEAVY STEEL CONSTRUCTION FOR A HOTEL OVER BY DISNEYLAND. SPENT

$2 MILLION PUTTING UP HEAVY STEEL. THERE WAS A DISPUTE BETWEEN THE GENERAL CONTRACTOR OR THE CONTRACTING PARTY, NIEDERHAUSER, AND MW ERECTORS, SO NIEDERHAUSER ELECTED NOT TO PAY THE $2 MILLION TO MW ERECTORS. IT TURNED OUT THAT MW ERECTORS LEARNED IN HINDSIGHT THAT THEY DIDN'T HAVE THEIR LICENSE AT THE TIME AND HAD LOST ITS LICENSE OR DROPPED THEIR LICENSE BY EXPIRATION OF TIME, SO THEY WENT AND GOT THE LICENSE. I DON'T THINK THE WORK HAD BEEN ENTIRELY COMPLETED AT THE TIME THAT IT DID RE-OBTAIN THE LICENSE.

THE SUPREME COURT IN REVERSING THE COURT OF APPEAL ON THIS ISSUE FOUND THAT THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE LAW IS DRACONIAN IN ITS EFFECT, BUT THAT'S THE INTENT OF THE LEGISLATURE. THE LEGISLATURE EXPECTS CONTRACTORS TO BE LICENSED AT ALL TIMES DURING THE PERFORMANCE OF WORK ON A PROJECT, AND IN FAILING TO BE SO LICENSED AT ANY POINT IN TIME, SUBJECT TO THE FORFEITURE.

AND SO IN MY OPINION, THE FORFEITURE IS REQUIRED HERE, AND THAT IS DISGORGEMENT. AND I KNOW MR. BISSELL CITED A CASE. I WOULD CITE TO YOU ALATRISTE VERSUS CESAR'S EXTERIOR DESIGNS, INC. THIS IS A CASE AT 183 CAL.APP.4 656, WHICH STANDS FOR THE PROPOSITION UNDER THE STATUTE AUTHORIZING RECOVERY OF ALL COMPENSATION PAID TO AN UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR. THE UNLICENSED CONTRACTOR WAS REQUIRED TO RETURN ALL COMPENSATION RECEIVED WITHOUT REDUCTIONS OR OFFSETS FOR

THE VALUE OF MATERIALS USED IN THE PROJECT.

THERE ARE PLENTY OF OTHER CASES IN THIS PARTICULAR AREA ALL SAYING ROUGHLY THE SAME THING, WHETHER IT COMES TO PAYMENTS FOR MATERIALS OR PAYMENTS TO SUBCONTRACTORS. AS INDICATED BY EXHIBIT 32, THE DISGORGEMENT AMOUNT IS THE $848,000.

THAT, I THINK, TAKES CARE OF THE CROSS-COMPLAINT, THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION. NOW, I INVITE COUNSEL TO MEET TOGETHER AND SEE WHERE WE GO FROM HERE.

MR. RUSSO: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: COME BACK AND LET ME KNOW IF YOU CAN DO THAT IN THE NEXT 20 MINUTES. I WOULD APPRECIATE THAT.

MR. RUSSO: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

MR. BISSELL: OKAY. THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: OKAY.

MR. RUSSO: BY THE WAY, I USED THAT MW ERECTORS CASE RIGHT AFTER IT WAS DECIDED IN ANOTHER CASE WITH JUDGE JOHNSTON FOR DISGORGEMENT, AND I REMEMBER IT BEING THAT CASE AT THE TIME.

THE COURT: IT'S STILL CITED IN AT LEAST ONE OF THE TWO CASES THAT I JUST READ FROM.

MR. RUSSO: YEAH.

THE COURT: I WAS RELATING THE STORY TO ONE OF OUR OUT-OF-COUNTY ASSIGNED JUDGES YESTERDAY IN THE LUNCH ROOM TO WHICH SHE SAID THANK YOU. SHE HAD ALSO USED

THAT CASE ON A NUMBER OF OCCASIONS.

MR. RUSSO: MINE WAS AFFIRMED ALSO IN THIS COURTROOM.

THE COURT: PARDON ME?

MR. RUSSO: THAT ONE WENT UP ON APPEAL AND IT WAS AFFIRMED ON DISGORGEMENT, BUT I REPRESENTED THE PERSON WANTING THE DISGORGEMENT AT THE TIME.

THE COURT: I UNDERSTAND.

(RECESS.)

THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. WHAT'S THE PLAN?

MR. RUSSO: WELL, WE'RE IN MUTUAL AGREEMENT THAT THE REMAINING CLAIMS SHOULD BE STAYED AS THIS ONE PRETTY MUCH CUTS THE LEGS OUT FROM UNDERNEATH EVERYTHING. THE QUESTION WE HAVE, AND I DON'T KNOW THE ANSWER, BUT WE'RE HOPING THAT MAYBE YOU DO, IS, IS THERE A WAY TO HAVE AN ORDER STAY IN THE REMAINING CLAIMS AND HAVE SOME SORT OF JUDGMENT BE ENTERED ON WHAT WE HAVE SO FAR SO THAT COULD POSSIBLY BE TAKEN UP ON APPEAL AT THIS POINT?

THE COURT: I THINK YOU'RE GOING TO END UP HAVING TO DO IT ALL OR NOTHING.

MR. BISSELL: IT WOULD BE SIMILAR TO I THINK IT'S CCP 637, WHICH ALLOWS FOR STAYING OF THE TRIAL OF THE DEFENSE PENDING THE ENTRY OF FINAL JUDGMENT ON OTHER CAUSES OF ACTION. THERE IS CAUSES OF ACTION, BUT THE THINKING IS IT'S JUST SORT OF THE OTHER SIDE OF THE COIN. TO THINK -- OUR THINKING IS THAT WE COULD SPEND

THE NEXT THREE DAYS PUTTING ON EVIDENCE OF DAMAGES THAT AREN'T GOING TO AMOUNT TO THE AMOUNT OF DISGORGEMENT. SO THERE'S REALLY NO POINT OF THAT, BUT THOSE ARE GOOD CAUSES OF ACTION.

NOW, IF THE COURT'S JUDGMENT ON THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION IS TAKEN UP ON APPEAL, AND SOMEHOW I DON'T BELIEVE IT WOULD BE, BUT IF IT HAPPENED TO BE OVERTURNED, WE DON'T WANT TO HAVE TO COME BACK AND BE LIMITED TO ONLY TRYING THAT ONE CAUSE OF ACTION, HAVING DISMISSED WHAT ARE ALSO, WE BELIEVE, GOOD MERITORIOUS CAUSES OF ACTION. BUT AS WE SIT HERE TODAY, IT JUST MAKES NO SENSE TO GO FORWARD AT THIS TIME ON ANY OF THOSE CAUSES OF ACTION.

MR. RUSSO: FUNDAMENTALLY, YOUR FINDINGS WOULD ALSO BE THE DEFENSE TO THE PLAINTIFFS' CLAIM IN ITS COMPLAINT. BECAUSE YOU FOUND THAT BEREKI WAS THE CONTRACTOR, HE'S UNLICENSED, AND, THEREFORE, THE GOODS AND MATERIALS SUPPLIED BY SPARTAN, WHICH IS THE CLAIM, WE LOSE BASED ON THAT FINDING. BUT WE HAVEN'T TRIED THAT CAUSE OF ACTION. THAT'S ESSENTIALLY WHAT WE GET. WE'RE IN TOTAL AGREEMENT THAT IT DOES NOT MAKE SENSE TO PROCEED.

MR. BISSELL: AND IT DOESN'T MAKE SENSE TO DISMISS PREMATURELY WHILE THERE IS STILL ANY UNCERTAINTY AS TO THE FINALITY OF THE COURT'S RULING IN THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION.

THE COURT: WELL, I'M NOT SURE THAT YOUR APPELLATE PRACTICE IS GOING TO BE SUSCEPTIBLE IN THAT KIND OF PROCEDURE. MY CONCERN IS WHAT THE COURT OF APPEAL EXPECTS IS BASICALLY A JUDGMENT ON ALL OF THE ISSUES. IF THERE'S SOME MECHANISM; I.E., A STAY, I'D LIKE TO KNOW WHAT THE AUTHORITY IS FOR THAT. I AM GOING TO HAVE TO LEAVE THAT TO YOU, BUT IN MY OWN APPELLATE EXPERIENCE, I HAVE, IN ONE CASE, HAD A TRIAL WHERE THE LEAD PLAINTIFF WAS BIFURCATED OUT, CASE TRIED, I LOST. FILED A NOTICE OF APPEAL. MEANWHILE, WE HAD TO COME BACK FOR A SECOND BITE OF THE APPLE WITH RESPECT TO THE BALANCE OF THE CLASS. AND WHAT I DID IS I STIPULATED A JUDGMENT IN FAVOR OF THE CLASS AND AGAINST MY CLIENT, SUBJECT TO REVIEW ON APPEAL OF BOTH HALVES OF THIS CASE. AND THE COURT OF APPEAL, IN THAT PARTICULAR CASE, SUBSCRIBED TO THE APPROACH AND SAID, NO, THIS WAS AN ACCEPTABLE PROCESS. BUT WE HAVE RESOLVED THROUGH THAT PROCESS BOTH THE LEAD PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS AND THE CLASS CLAIMS. SO EVERYTHING WAS THERE READY FOR THE COURT OF APPEAL TO DECIDE. ULTIMATELY, THAT CASE WENT TO THE STATE SUPREME COURT.

YOU GUYS WANT TO CHECK -- DO MORE RESEARCH THIS AFTERNOON AND COME BACK AND TELL ME IN THE MORNING?

MR. RUSSO: I AM ASSUMING WE COULD CRAFT SOME SORT OF STIPULATION THAT ULTIMATELY --

THE COURT: WHAT YOU SAY MAKES PERFECT SENSE.

MR. RUSSO: MAKE FINDINGS SUCH THAT IT IS THAT YOU FOUND FOR THE AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE ON THE COMPLAINT ALSO.

MR. BISSELL: WELL, IF I UNDERSTAND YOUR HONOR CORRECTLY, I THINK THE CONCERN IS THAT THE COURT OF APPEALS IS NOT GOING TO BE INTERESTED IN ANYTHING SHORT OF A FINAL JUDGMENT ON THIS, AND THE FINAL JUDGMENT HAS TO INCLUDE ALL CAUSES OF ACTION. IS THAT CORRECT?

THE COURT: PRECISELY. AND, AGAIN, YOU KNOW, I AM ALL FOR SAVING YOUR CLIENTS ON BOTH SIDES AS MUCH MONEY AS POSSIBLE.

MR. BISSELL: I'M NOT SURE A STIPULATION ON OUR PART, EVEN IF -- IT'S GOING TO DO IT. BECAUSE WE WOULD CERTAINLY STIPULATE --

THE COURT: I GUESS THE QUESTION IS WHAT'S THE WORST THAT COULD HAPPEN. IT GOES TO THE DCA, THEY GO WE'RE NOT GOING TO ACCEPT THE IDEA OF THE BALANCE OF A CASE BEING STAYED, SEND IT BACK TO COMPLETE THE CASE AND THEN WE WILL REVIEW IT ON APPEAL.

MR. BISSELL: YEAH.

THE COURT: FINE. IT COMES BACK IN PROBABLY NINE MONTHS TO A YEAR, AND WE GO ON AND TRY THE BALANCE OF THE CASE. I SUPPOSE THAT'S ONE POSSIBILITY. ON THE OTHER HAND, OF COURSE, THAT SUBJECTS ALL OF US TO SOME CRITICISM FROM OUR FRIENDS ACROSS THE STREET AT THE DCA.

MR. BISSELL: I DON'T WANT TO DO THAT.

THE COURT: WELL, I WOULD LIKE TO THINK THAT THEY

WOULD APPRECIATE THE CONCEPT OF NOT CONSUMING A LOT OF EXTRA COURTROOM TIME THAT COULD BE PUT TO OTHER PURPOSES; NOT CONSUMING ANY MORE OF YOUR CLIENT'S MONEY I GUESS IS THE ULTIMATE ISSUE THAT RESOLVES THE CASE. I DON'T HAVE A GOOD SENSE AS TO WHAT A PANEL OF THE DCA WOULD DO OVER THIS.

MR. BISSELL: FRANKLY, YOUR HONOR, I'M NOT OVERLY CONCERNED ABOUT THE PROSPECT OF APPEAL. I BELIEVE THAT THE COURT'S STATEMENT, THE DECISION IS SOUND. AND I HAVE SPOKEN TO MY CLIENTS ABOUT THAT AND WE TALKED ABOUT THE RISK, YOU KNOW, IF YOU DO DISMISS, WHAT ARE THE RISKS? WE HAVE AGREED THAT THE RISK IS MINIMAL. IF NECESSARY, WE WILL DISMISS. WE WOULD JUST PREFER NOT TO.

THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. LET'S ALL BE PRAGMATIC LAWYERS AROUND HERE. AND PRAGMATISM CALLS FOR TRYING TO KEEP THIS AS INEXPENSIVE AS POSSIBLE. TO DO ANOTHER SEVERAL DAYS OF TRIAL, FOR PARTICULARLY NO GOOD REASON, SEEMS TO ME TO BE THROWING IN GOOD MONEY AFTER BAD AT THIS POINT. IT MAY BE THAT THE DCA WILL TURN IT RIGHT AROUND, AS I SAID. IT MAY BE THAT THEY WILL AFFIRM AND THAT WILL BE EFFECTIVELY THE END OF IT.

I LIKE THE IDEA. MAYBE YOU FOLKS, INSTEAD OF COMING BACK TOMORROW, COULD WORK ON SOMETHING OVER THE NOON HOUR AND SEE WHAT YOU PUT TOGETHER.

MR. RUSSO: I AM THINKING ALONG THE LINES OF AN

OFFER OF PROOF ON THE PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS AND THEN YOU FIND FOR THE DEFENSE ON THAT SO WE WOULD HAVE EFFECTIVELY LAID THAT OUT.

THE COURT: WELL, ON THE PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS, YEAH, IT'S GOING TO BE A LACK OF STANDING --

MR. RUSSO: SURE.

THE COURT: -- AND THE 7031 ISSUE, THE FACTUAL FINDING THAT SPARTAN WAS NOT THE CONTRACTING PARTY AND HAS NO STANDING IN AND OF ITSELF.

MR. RUSSO: YES, THAT'S WHERE I WAS GOING.

THE COURT: ON THE DEFENSE CROSS-COMPLAINANTS' SIDE, THERE ARE OTHER REMAINING ISSUES WITH RESPECT TO THE TERMINATIONS THAT THE CROSS-COMPLAINANT MAY WISH OR MAY NOT WISH TO HAVE ADJUDICATED AT THIS POINT.

MR. BISSELL: IT'S CLEARLY EXPEDIENCY AT THIS POINT. WE HAVE NOTHING TO GAIN BY GOING FORWARD WITH THE CROSS-COMPLAINT. IT'S JUST A MATTER OF BEING CAUTIOUS AND NOT LETTING GOOD CAUSES OF ACTION GO BY THE BOARD IF -- UNTIL THEY BECOME NECESSARY.

THE COURT: EXCUSE ME FOR A SECOND. I HAVE TO GO. IF YOU WOULDN'T MIND COMING BACK AT 1:45 TO FILL ME IN ON WHERE YOU'RE GOING. MAYBE WE WILL GO ON THE RECORD AT THAT POINT IN TIME. MY APOLOGIES.

MR. RUSSO: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: THE TRAIN IS LEAVING THE STATION AT THE MOMENT.

AFTERNOON SESSION

(THE FOLLOWING PROCEEDINGS
WERE HELD IN OPEN COURT.)

THE COURT: ALL RIGHT. DO WE HAVE AN ANSWER TO THE GORDIAN KNOT PROBLEM?

MR. BISSELL: WE MIGHT, YOUR HONOR. WE HAVE COME UP WITH SOMETHING THAT'S ACCEPTABLE TO BOTH OF US.

THE COURT: THAT'S HALF THE BATTLE.

MR. BISSELL: IT'S ACCEPTABLE TO THE TWO OF US, BUT THAT DOESN'T NECESSARILY MEAN IT'S GOING TO FLY. WE WILL RUN IT BY YOU.

MR. RUSSO: WE GOT HOUSEKEEPING ON THE COMPLAINT ITSELF, AND WHAT I WOULD LIKE TO DO IS THEN MAKE AN OFFER OF PROOF OF WHAT THE EVIDENCE WOULD BE. THEY ACCEPT THE OFFER OF PROOF, BUT YOU RULE BASED ON THE DEFENSES OF THE LICENSURE AND STANDING AGAINST THE PLAINTIFF ON THAT.

THE COURT: OKAY.

MR. RUSSO: THAT WAY WE HAVE A JUDGMENT ON A COMPLAINT FOR THE SAME REASONS.

THE COURT: OKAY.

MR. RUSSO: AND THEN WE HAVE THE OTHER HOUSEKEEPING.

MR. BISSELL: AS TO THE REMAINING CAUSES OF ACTION ON THE FIRST AMENDED CROSS-COMPLAINT, EVERYBODY IS IN AGREEMENT THAT WE HANDLE IT THIS WAY:

THOSE CAUSES OF ACTION WOULD BE DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE.

IF JUDGMENT ON THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION BECOMES FINAL, THE DISMISSAL WITHOUT PREJUDICE WILL CONVERT TO DISMISSAL WITH PREJUDICE.

PENDING JUDGMENT BECOMING FINAL ON THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION, THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS ON THE RE-FILING OF THE DISMISSED CAUSES OF ACTION IS WAIVED.

IF THE NEW -- IF A NEW ACTION IS FILED ON THE DISMISSED CAUSES OF ACTION, DISCOVERY IS DEEMED COMPLETED AND WILL NOT BE RE-OPENED.

THE NEWLY FILED CASE WILL BE CONSOLIDATED WITH THE REMANDED CASE FOR TRIAL.

THE COURT: I THINK IT MAKES SENSE. DO YOU?

MR. BISSELL: I THINK IT COVERS IT.

THE COURT: I THINK THAT KEEPS THE DOOR FROM BEING SLAMMED IN YOUR FACE SHOULD IT FOR SOME REASON COME BACK, ON ONE HAND. ON THE OTHER HAND, IT SHOULD COME BACK PER STATUS QUO.

MR. BISSELL: THAT WAS THE INTENT.

THE COURT: AS TO -- TO BE SURE OF WHERE I AM GOING, I HAVE PULLED OUT THE PLAINTIFF'S COMPLAINT, THE COMMON COUNT, AND SERVICES RENDERED, AND COMMON ACCOUNT

OPEN BOOK ACCOUNT. AND I HAVE ALSO IN HAND THE FIRST AMENDED CROSS-COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES FOR NEGLIGENCE, FRAUD, ALTER EGO, PENALTY, ATTORNEY'S FEES, DISCOURAGEMENT AND RECOVERY AGAINST CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE BOND. I PRESUME YOU TWO WANT PART OF THAT RECOVERY FROM CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE BOND.

MR. BISSELL: WE WANT TO SAY THAT, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: OKAY. IS THAT NOT SOMETHING WE SHOULD DEAL WITH NOW AS OPPOSED TO LATER, OR IS THAT AN ISSUE THAT MIGHT BE SUBSUMED BY THIS DETERMINATION OF THE LICENSE?

MR. BISSELL: HERE IS MY THINKING, YOUR HONOR. THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE BONDS WERE ISSUED TO SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION.

THE COURT: WHICH I DETERMINED WAS NOT THE CONTRACTING PARTY.

MR. BISSELL: WAS NOT THE CONTRACTOR. NOW SPARTAN DID PERFORM WORK ON THE JOB. AND IF NECESSARY, WE'RE PREPARED TO PUT ON EVIDENCE THAT SPARTAN CONSTRUCTION, ALONG WITH MR. BEREKI, VIOLATED PROVISIONS OF THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE LOG, WHICH WOULD MAKE THOSE BONDS LIABLE. AT THIS POINT, WE'RE PREPARED TO DEFER THAT ALONG WITH THE OTHER CAUSES OF ACTION.

THE COURT: ALL RIGHT.

MR. RUSSO: IT'S KIND OF LIKE I FORGOT THEY EXISTED IN THE BEGINNING. IT'S ANOTHER ISSUE.

THE COURT: WELL, WELCOME TO THE BAR EXAM.

MR. RUSSO: YOUR HONOR, SO I THINK THE FIRST STEP WOULD BE THE OFFER OF PROOF.

THE COURT: PHASE ONE.

MR. RUSSO: YES, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: THE RUSSO PRESENTATION OFFER OF PROOF. SIR, IF YOU PLEASE.

MR. RUSSO: EXCUSE ME, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: IF YOU PLEASE.

MR. RUSSO: IF IT PLEASE THE COURT.

YOUR HONOR, THE PLAINTIFF, SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, WOULD MAKE AN OFFER OF PROOF THAT, IF CALLED, ADAM BEREKI WOULD BE THE WITNESS, AND THE TESTIMONY WOULD BE THAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES HAD RENDERED GOODS AND SERVICES TO THE HUMPHREYS, THE DEFENDANTS, AT THE FAIR MARKET VALUE FOR THE SERVICES AND GOODS OF $82,821.53 TO BE BACKED UP BY INVOICES AND TESTIMONY ABOUT THE REASONABLE VALUE OF THOSE SERVICES. THAT WOULD BE ON THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION, QUANTUM MERUIT.

AND THEN FOR THE SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION, GO HAND IN HAND THAT IT WAS AN OPEN BOOK ACCOUNT. ACCOUNTING WAS RENDERED TO THE HUMPHREYS AS DEFENDANTS THAT -- THEY WERE GIVEN THE ACCOUNTINGS AND THE SUM WAS $82,821.53 THAT WAS STILL DUE. IT WOULD BE CLAIMED ON THE SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION.

THE COURT: AND THOSE CLAIMS, I UNDERSTAND, ARE

BASED UPON THE VIEW OF PLAINTIFF SPARTAN THAT IT WAS THE GENERAL CONTRACTOR ON THE PROJECT?

MR. RUSSO: THAT'S CORRECT, THAT SPARTAN ASSOCIATES WAS THE GENERAL CONTRACTOR, AND THAT IT WAS DULY LICENSED AT ALL TIMES TO PERFORM IN THAT WAY.

THE COURT: OKAY. AND SO BASED ON THAT OFFER OF PROOF, AS WE HAVE JUST RECENTLY DISCUSSED, I WOULD FIND THAT SPARTAN DOES NOT HAVE STANDING, AS I DETERMINED EARLIER TODAY THAT MR. BEREKI WAS THE PURPORTED GENERAL CONTRACTOR ON THE CONTRACT. SPARTAN MAY HAVE BEEN APPARENTLY SUBSTITUTED, BUT IT IS CERTAINLY NOT WITH THE PERMISSION OR AGREEMENT OF MR. AND MRS. HUMPHREYS.

SO BASED ON THAT, I WOULD INDICATE JUDGMENT FOR DEFENDANT ON THE COMPLAINT. DEFENDANTS, PLURAL ON THE COMPLAINT.

THEN MR. BISSELL, I GUESS WE NEED YOUR RECORD WITH RESPECT TO WHAT YOU WANT TO DO OFFICIALLY WITH RESPECT TO THE BALANCE OF THE CAUSES OF ACTION.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE PARTIES HAVE DISCUSSED AND HAVE AGREED AND ARE WILLING TO STIPULATE TO HANDLING THE REMAINING CAUSES OF ACTION ON THE FIRST AMENDED CROSS-COMPLAINT AS FOLLOWS:

THE MANY CAUSES OF ACTION IN THE ENTIRETY WILL BE DISMISSED -- ARE BEING DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE. IF JUDGMENT ON THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION BECOMES FINAL,

THE DISMISSAL WITHOUT PREJUDICE WILL BE CONVERTED TO DISMISSAL WITH PREJUDICE. PENDING JUDGMENT ON THE FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION BECOMING FINAL, THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS ON THE RE-FILING OF AN ACTION ON THE DISMISSED CAUSES OF ACTION IS WAIVED.

THE COURT: OR TOLLED?

MR. BISSELL: WELL, ACTUALLY, WE DISCUSSED THAT. I THINK -- I DON'T KNOW THAT TOLLING HELPS BECAUSE, AT THIS POINT IN TIME, ALL OF THE STATUTES WOULD HAVE RUN. WE COULDN'T -- I THINK TOLLING STOPS IT AS OF NOW, AND NOW WOULD BE TOO LATE TO RE-FILE.

THE COURT: UNDERSTOOD. OKAY.

MR. BISSELL: IF A NEW ACTION IS FILED ON THE DISMISSED CAUSES OF ACTION, DISCOVERY IS DEEMED COMPLETED AND WILL NOT BE RE-OPENED. THE NEWLY FILED CASE WILL BE CONSOLIDATED WITH THE REMANDED CASE FOR TRIAL. AND THAT'S -- THAT IS THE STIPULATION.

THE COURT: DOES THAT COMPORT WITH YOUR UNDERSTANDING, MR. RUSSO?

MR. RUSSO: YES, YOUR HONOR. ON BEHALF OF SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, SO STIPULATED.

THE COURT: MR. BEREKI, HOW ABOUT YOU?

MR. BEREKI: SO STIPULATED.

THE COURT: THE COURT ACCEPTS THE STIPULATION. PURSUANT THEN TO MR. BISSELL'S MOTION, THE COURT WILL ORDER THE REMAINING CAUSES OF ACTION, NEGLIGENCE, FRAUD,

ALTER EGO, PENALTY, ATTORNEY'S FEES, AND RECOVERY AGAINST THE CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE BOND TO BE DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE. THE JUDGMENT WILL BE ON THE SOLE REMAINING CAUSE OF ACTION FOR DISCOURAGEMENT; CORRECT?

MR. BISSELL: CORRECT.

THE COURT: AND THE COURT UNDERSTANDS AND ADOPTS THE CONDITIONAL WAIVER OF THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS, THAT CONDITION BEING WHETHER OR NOT THE -- TRULY THE DCA RETURNS THIS CASE FOR RE-TRIAL ON A REVERSAL OF THE COURT'S DETERMINATION.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: GOOD WORK.

MR. RUSSO: THANK YOU VERY MUCH, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: SO MR. BISSELL, YOU'RE GOING TO PREPARE THE PROPOSED JUDGMENT. CIRCULATED, OF COURSE, TO MR. RUSSO AND MR. BEREKI.

MR. BISSELL: WILL DO.

THE COURT: SEND IT OVER HERE. I THINK THERE'S AN APPROPRIATE PERIOD OF TIME WE CAN HOLD IT JUST TO MAKE SURE IF THERE'S SOME OBJECTION, THAT THAT OBJECTION CAN BE MADE AND FILED.

AND WE WILL TAKE IT FROM THERE.

MR. BISSELL: I WILL DO SO. THANK YOU. THANK YOU FOR YOUR ATTENTION TO THIS CASE.

THE COURT: I JUST COMMENT -- I DON'T OFTEN SAY THIS. ONE OF THE INTERESTING THINGS USUALLY IN A TRIAL

OF THIS NATURE, THERE'S A, QUOTE, BAD GUY AND A GOOD GUY. I WOULD SAY ALL THREE OF YOU ARE VERY NICE PEOPLE. I'M SORRY IT CAME TO THIS FOR A LOT OF REASONS. AND SO THE JUDGMENT, YOU KNOW, IS WHAT IT IS. IT'S NOT A REFLECTION ON YOUR HUMANITY OR PERSONHOOD. I WISH YOU WELL.

MR. BISSELL: UNDERSTOOD, YOUR HONOR.

THE COURT: ALL OF YOU.

MR. BISSELL: THANK YOU, YOUR HONOR.

MR. HUMPHREYS: THANK YOU.

THE COURT: TAKE CARE. OH, CAN WE STIPULATE TO THE EXHIBITS BEING RETURNED TO YOU ALL FOR SAFEKEEPING?

MR. RUSSO: I THOUGHT THE COURT WANTED TO KEEP THE EXHIBITS.

THE COURT: GUESS AGAIN.

MR. RUSSO: YES, YOUR HONOR.

MR. BISSELL: YES, YOUR HONOR. OFF THE RECORD.

TO THE COURT, ALL PARTIES, AND THEIR ATTORNEY(S) OF RECORD:

The following Declaration and the Exhibits annexed hereto present additional evidence of the extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court alleged in this case. They Declaration and Exhibits are intended to be incorporated in the Motion to Vacate Void Judgment I filed on May 28, 2025. These Declaratory statements shall overrule those of my previous Declaration incorporated in the Motion.

Date: June 4, 2025

By: _____
Adam Bereki

FIRST-AMENDED DECLARATION OF ADAM BEREKI

I, Adam Bereki, declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that:

1. I have personal knowledge of the facts herein, except where stated on information and belief.
2. This declaration is fully incorporated in the Motion to Vacate (ROA 361).
3. While the Motion is titled "Motion to Vacate" my intent is that it is an Independent Action in Equity and invokes the inherent equity jurisdiction of the Superior Court of California as stated therein.
4. The 2017 judgment was a bill of pains and penalties, procured through extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court, falsely alleging I personally contracted and performed work, with no known evidence I preformed work as required by CACI 4560(3). The $930,000 penalty under § 7031(a) and (b) required me to repay compensation already returned through Spartan's licensed work, constituting a duplicative criminal fine under Cal. Penal Code § 15 for the same offense as § 7028, imposed through extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court. The Humphreys lacked standing and capacity to prosecute a penal action, as no sworn information or indictment was filed and no criminal complaint was served on me. Each constitutional violation listed occurred, causing the summary suspension of my vested right to act as the qualifying individual on a general contractor license under § 7071.17 when I could not afford to pay the judgment. This unlawful suspension, another bill of pains and penalties, resulted in an estimated $3 million in lost earnings. These lost earnings are based on estimated income losses from 2017–2025 and are attributable to earnings that would have flowed through to me as the qualifying individual of a general contractor license whether Spartan's or any other I qualified for. I have incurred additional losses of over $5 million dollars in investigation and defense time to vacate this void judgment, calculated as hours spent at the rate of $300 per hour. This time is partially evidenced by my filings on the dockets of each case included as RJN Ex's 1-12, and the Exhibits attached to the Ex parte Application for Emergency Stay filed on 3/14/25 in this case, (ROA's 306-322). Expenses of approximately $1 million include legal fees, medical bills (emotional, psychological, and physical distress), office and stationary supplies and equipment, gas, court parking, etc. Upon judgment in my favor, or before if time permits, I will file a supplemental declaration with a detailed accounting of all lost rights property, and damages (e.g., ~$1.20 million in home equity), supported by financial records and affidavits.

5. The summary suspension of my contractor's license under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7071.17, ninety days after the April 20, 2017, judgment (ROA 200), deprived me of my liberty to pursue my livelihood as a general contractor without a judicial hearing or appeal process, constituting a bill of pains and penalties (Cal. Const. Art. I, § 9. U.S. Const. Art I. §10); As the Qualifying Individual for The Spartan Associates, Inc. (License #927244), I held a vested right, which was suspended or revoked despite evidence that Spartan was the contractor, as shown by Newport Beach building permits and the Humphreys' payments of $758,000 to Spartan as provided in the citations of evidence in the Memorandum of Points and Authorities of this Motion. I am not aware of any evidence presented by the Humphreys that I personally performed licensed work rendering the judgment and suspension void.
6. I relied on Karen and Gary Humphreys, William Bissell, and Judge Chaffee's representation that the proceedings in the Superior Court of California for the County of Orange, Case No. 30-2015-00805807 were civil as opposed to criminal.
7. I was never told I was being subjected to highly penal/criminal proceedings and that my vested right to act as a qualifying individual would be summarily suspended or revoked as additional punishment, thereby denying my right to occupation in my profession as a general contractor.
8. I was never informed of my right to assistance of counsel prior to trial or appeal to prepare a meaningful and substantive defense and did not receive assistant counsel at trial, on appeal, or anytime after, despite my request (RJN, Ex. 6 [Denial of Request for Counsel, U.S. District Court].
9. At the time of the trial, I was not able to meaningfully and substantively represent myself because I had not received any formal training or education in civil and criminal procedure before trial or on appeal. I had little if any involvement in the criminal aspect of prosecution during my time as a police officer as my duties focused on investigation, apprehension, and reporting, not prosecution/criminal procedure.

10. I waived trial by jury, based on my belief and the representations of Karen and Gary Humphreys, William Bissell, and Judge Chaffee, that I was facing civil proceedings and that the proceedings would have the sanction of law and recognize and honor my inalienable and constitutionally recognized rights to liberty, property, privacy etc.
11. Had I known I was being subjected to highly penal/criminal proceedings including the deprivation of my right to earn a living as a general contractor, I would have objected to any such unlawful proceedings prosecuted by the Humphreys and Bissell without lawful authority and in violation of my due/judicial process rights.
12. I am not aware of any evidence of damages that the Humphreys presented at trial that I or Spartan caused.
13. I am not aware of any evidence presented by the Humphreys at trial that I profited from their project and was thereby enriched, unjustly or otherwise.
14. The fine was excessive as my qualifying net worth (independent of disability pension and the ~$82k owed by the Humphreys to Spartan, some which would have passed through to me) at the time was approx. $23,000. The judgment was more than forty times this amount. This excessiveness resulted in the suspension/revocation my vested right to work as a general contractor under § 7071.17, resulting in an additional ~$3 million dollar penalty due to lost work as I was unable to pay the judgment, obtain a payment bond, or obtain vacatur in any court of California or the United States and ultimately was forced into bankruptcy. I repeatedly asked the Humphreys to come to an agreement so that I could notify the licensing board and have my qualifying individual status reinstated and resume work as a general contractor. They offered to settle for $300,000 which was still more than times my qualifying net worth.
15. The Humphreys terminated Spartan from the project in August 2013. I cannot recall if Spartan received a "Notice of Cessation of Labor". But if not, I believe it was produced by the Humphreys in discovery (Ex. 5). The Notice, dated August 18, 2013, addressed to Spartan (not me individually), orders Spartan to cease all construction activities at the Humphreys Project. I have never received a similar notice and believe this further evidences the Humphreys knew their agreement was with and/or the work was performed by Spartan. See also the Humphreys Motion for Summary Judgment (ROA 66, p.ii) representing to the court that the "undisputed facts" were that "In April of 2012 The Spartan Associates entered into an agreement with the Humphreys for the performance of home improvement work on the Humphreys condominium unit" and that "The home improvement work to be performed by The Spartan Associates, Inc. on the Humphreys condominium unit had a value in excess of $500." I believe the Humphreys and Bissell also knew that they could not support a claim under §7031(b) unless these "undisputed facts" were swept under the rug/altered. When they lost their Motion for Summary Judgment based on these facts, they simply changed them. With a few days more than a month before trial (ROA 127 scheduled for 1/17/17) and after discovery had already been completed, they filed for leave to amend their cross-complaint with a new first cause of action under §7031(b) (ROA 139, 12/9/16) to not only defraud me and the court but also ambush me and Spartan with these surprise accusations.

16. Based on my direct experience at trial and my forensic investigation of this case, I believe the Humphreys conspired with their attorney, William Bissell to use these proceedings disguised as civil with intent to defraud and punish me (and deny Spartan compensation) without lawful authority and destroy me financially over a dispute involving their home remodel. They knew that §7031(b) did not mention or authorize an equitable remedy, "disgorgement", or "damages". Their repeated representation of civil proceedings including their filings in this case, service of judgments and orders upon me, and the trial, were a lawless sham and fraud to steal money and property from me under force of the legislative, executive, and judicial powers of California and color of law without lawful authority. In furtherance of their conspiracy to defraud me and the court, they filed a Proposed Judgment Order for "damages" knowing no damages had been evidenced at trial. Their Memorandum of Points and Authorities in their Motion for Severance (ROA 160) admitted that "since the amount paid by the Humphreys to Mr. Bereki exceeds the amount of damages they are claiming [est.$350,000 [First Amended Cross-Complaint] if they were to prevail on their first cause of action, the trial of the remaining cause of action for damages would be unnecessary." (Id. p.5). Assuming arguendo, their damages were $350k, the judgment they sought and were awarded, was nearly three times this amount and could, under no reasonable interpretation, be considered "damages", when they intentionally severed their claim for damages. (ROA 160). Simply put, the Humphreys wanted something for nothing and thought they could perpetrate fraud on me and the court to get it.

17. Spartan provided $930,000 of custom remodel work including labor and materials to Karen Humphreys and Gary Humphreys that they requested for their home at 436 Via Lido Nord, Newport Beach, California. The Humphreys have not paid the remaining approx. $82,000 for the materials and labor (ROA 2) due at the time of invoice on or about August 1, 2013 and have not paid the interest due thereon through the date of this filing. If the Humphreys had an issue with Spartan or its sub-contractors work, fine, there is a judicial process to remedy those issues. This fraud and corruption of that process is not it!

18. As a result of the actions of the Humphreys, Bissell, Chaffee, Goethals, Aronson, O'Leary, and all other public officials (RJN Ex. 1-12, ROA's 306-322) who have refused to abide their sworn duty to take action to investigate and/or intervene to stop this lawless violence upon me and my family, I have and continue to suffer severe emotional and economic distress as a direct and proximate result. I began disclosing this emotional distress this in my Declaration filed as a First Amended Reply to Opposition of Motion to Compel Bill of Particulars, Motion to Vacate, and Disqualify Judge Chaffee for cause, dated October, 2, 2017 (ROA 267). The Declaration (p.3) stated: "I am experiencing emotional and psychological duress resulting from the domestic terrorism attacks by Plaintiffs, their counsel, and this court acting without lawful authority and in violation of numerous felony criminal codes as evidenced herein. I demand the court, Plaintiffs, and their counsel immediately cease and desist and am requesting an emergency protective order and civil harassment restraining order against William Bissell, and potentially Karen and Gary Humphreys and David Chaffee." Page 13 stated: "The Elements of Psychological and Emotional Distress I have experienced (and continue to to varying degrees) as a result of the continued unlawful actions of the court and William Bissell on behalf of Plaintiffs are: panic and anxiety attacks, severe depression including suicidal thoughts (no, I am not a danger to myself or others), severe headaches, neck and upper back tension, body tremors, loss of appetite, social inactivity, gut/digestion problems and pain, fear of physical and other harm, loss of liberty, and decreased ability to earn an income. My medical records are obviously confidential but will support thousands of dollars in Emergency Room visits to multiple hospitals, and observations, tests, and treatment by specialists including psychologists. I am currently under the care of a doctor whom I see three days per week to mitigate the intensity of stress in my body in an attempt to cope."

19. I declared these facts of distress again in a Declaration attached to the Notice of Motion and Motion to Vacate post remittitur (ROA 294, Exhibit E). In paragraphs 1 and 2, I stated: I have been harmed financially, emotionally, psychologically, and physically by what I believe to be - including but not limited to -: fraud, gross negligence, abuse of process, intentional infliction of emotion distress, deprivations of my Rights and violations of due process by Plaintiffs Karen and Gary Humphreys and their Counsel, William Bissell, as evidenced in the Motion To Vacate Void Judgment filed forthwith on February 19, 2019, as well as previous motions I have filed in this case, such as the First Amended Reply To Opposition and Motion To Disqualify Judge For Cause on October 2, 2017. I have been harmed financially, emotionally, psychologically, and physically by what I believe to be - including but not limited to -; fraud, gross negligence, deprivations of my Rights and violations of due process by David R. Chaffee, Kathleen O'Leary, Richard. M. Aronson, and Thomas M. Goethals, acting coram non judice as evidenced in the Motion to Vacate Void Judgment filed forthwith on February 19, 2019, as well as previous motions I have filed in this case, such as the First Amended Reply To Opposition and Motion To Disqualify Judge For Cause on October 2, 2017.

20. Based on my training and experience in law enforcement, I believe I am the victim of the following crimes, (this is not an exhaust list of crimes or Defendants): robbery (Cal. Penal Code § 211- forcible taking of my rights, liberty and property without lawful authority); grand theft (Penal Code § 187); burglary (Cal. Penal Code § 459- entering the Superior courthouse with intent to commit grand theft); conspiracy to commit the foregoing crimes on me by the Humphreys and Bissell (Cal. Penal Code § 182(a)(1)); conspiracy by the Humphreys and Bissell to falsely move and maintain the lawless proceedings against me under §7031(b) (Cal. Penal Code § 182(a)(3)); and conspiracy by the Humphreys and Bissell to cheat and defraud me of my rights and property, by any means which are in themselves criminal, or to obtain money or property by false pretenses or by false promises with fraudulent intent not to perform those promises (Cal. Penal Code § 182(a)(4)).

21. I continue to be afraid for my safety and that of my family due to these lawless acts of violence that continue to be perpetrated on us, including most recently the theft of our home and approx. $1.2 million dollars in home equity while all officials of State and government refuse to perform a full, fair, impartial and/or independent investigation and/or refuse to intervene to stop this lawless violence.

22. All exhibits are true copies of the documents they purport to be, with exception of any bates numbering or other non-substantive marks I, or someone else may have made.

23. I submit Exhibit 6 (Report by Bryan Nickel, dated December 15, 2013 (contemporaneous with Spartan's termination in August 2013) to further demonstrate that The Spartan Associates, Inc., ("Spartan"), performed the construction work at 436 Via Lido Nord, Newport Beach, and was paid $758,000 by the Humphreys. The report confirms that Spartan was engaged to perform all construction work, including design, demolition, framing, plumbing, and electrical work, with approximately $505,000 in labor and materials and $758,000 in payments.

24. This "Report on Spartan Construction Work in Place and Costs" was prepared by Bryan Nickel and/or his construction company that was hired by the Humphreys to finish the project after Spartan's termination. Prior thereto, Nickel and/or his company was/were directed by the Humphreys and/or Bissell to investigate Spartan's work and prepare this report. In the report, Nickel states "Spartan was engaged to do the work" and "Spartan proceeded to design the new space and start work in April of 2012." "Spartan did purchase finish fixtures and appliances during this period, additionally Spartan engaged an acquaintance who worked at a commercial architecture firm to moonlight and draw up plans to secure a building permit. Building Permit number x2012-2116 was issued on November 14, 2012." (Ex .2 Building Permit). "For the period November 2012 to May 2013 Spartan proceeded to demolish and reframe the entire second floor, except for the street facing wall, and substantial amounts of the first-floor unit as he discovered, attempted to fix and rebuild old, deteriorated and water damaged portions of the structure." "We do know from the Owners banking records that Spartan has been paid $758,000."

25. The Humphreys and Bissell concealed this report in their First Amended Cross-Complaint (ROA 144) and at trial and never called Nickel as an expert witness to testify at trial, which would have defeated their claim. This constitutes extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court (Estate of Sanders, 40 Cal. 3d 607 (1985)).

26. Exhibit 8 (Declaration of William G. Bissell, dated June 1, 2016) and Exhibit 9 (Deposition of Robert Brockway, September 13, 2016) further support the claims of extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court. In Ex. 8, Bissell declared that expert witness Robert Brockway was prepared to testify at trial about "the services which were to be performed and which were performed by Adam Bereki and/or The Spartan Associates" on the Humphreys' project (Ex. 8, ¶ 5). In Brockway's deposition, attended by Bissell and Gary Humphreys (Ex. 9, p. 2, Lines 17–23), Brockway confirmed that The Spartan Associates, Inc. performed the work, stating, "I went over payroll records provided by Spartan, and I went over the W-2s to analyze the number of men, how long they were there, and what tasks they were doing" (Ex. 9, p. 7, Lines 2–10). He further noted, "Spartan was terminated on or about 8-28 of 2013" (Ex. 9, p. 39, Lines 9–10), indicating Spartan was the contractor (see also Ex.2 Notice of Cessation of Labor for Spartan). Brockway created an "invoice matrix" from "documents [receipts] that Spartan provided" (Ex. 9, p. 21, Lines 1–2) to assess expenses, reinforcing Spartan's role. Significantly, Brockway did not state that I personally performed any construction work, focusing instead on Spartan's operations and my work as Spartan's manager. Bissell's decision not to call Brockway, despite designating him as an expert and knowing his testimony would undermine the §7031(b) claim, was a deliberate concealment of evidence. I intend to question Bissell at the June 26, 2025, hearing about his failure to call Brockway, as his testimony is critical to establishing intent to conceal evidence central to the Humphreys' burden under Evidence Code § 500.

27. Non-Hearsay Purpose: Evidence of Defendants' Knowledge and Concealment The deposition testimony of expert witnesses Robert Brockway and Bryan Nickel are offered to demonstrate that the Humphreys and Bissell, were aware of material evidence confirming Spartan performed the work, but intentionally concealed this evidence at trial to defraud the court and me and secure a void judgment under § 7031(a) and (b). The testimony is not offered for the truth of the experts' statements but to show the Humphreys and Bissell's knowledge and fraudulent concealment, making it non-hearsay under California Evidence Code § 1200. Nickel's report confirms Spartan was paid $758,000 for work, and Brockway's deposition verifies Spartan's performance through payroll records and invoices (Ex. 9, p. 7, Lines 2–10). The Humphreys failure to call these experts, despite commissioning their reports, evidences extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court.

28. Supporting Authority: People v. Montes (2014) 58 Cal.4th 809, 863 (out-of-court statements admissible to show knowledge or effect on listener, not for truth); Rufo v. Simpson (2001) 86 Cal.App.4th 573, 591 (statements admissible to show concealment or state of mind); Kulchar v. Kulchar (1969) 1 Cal.3d 467, 471 (concealment of material evidence constitutes extrinsic fraud).

29. Adoptive Admissions: Defendants' Prior Reliance on Expert Findings The deposition testimony Brockway and statement of Nickel in his report are admissible as adoptive admissions under California Evidence Code § 1221 because the Humphreys previously relied on these experts' findings in their Motion for Summary Judgment (ROA 66, p. ii), stating the "undisputed facts" were that Spartan contracted and performed the work. By adopting these facts, which align with the experts' testimony that Spartan was the licensed contractor, the Humphreys admitted their truth. Their subsequent concealment of this evidence at trial, by not calling Nickel or Brockway and amending their cross-complaint to falsely claim Adam Bereki individually performed unlicensed work (ROA 139, 144), does not negate their prior adoption and supports the claim of extrinsic fraud. These adoptive admissions are not hearsay and are admissible to show the defendants' fraudulent intent.

30. Supporting Authority: Jazayeri v. Mao (2009) 174 Cal.App.4th 301, 316 (statements adopted by a party in prior filings are admissible as non-hearsay); Evid. Code § 1221; Estate of Sanders (1985) 40 Cal.3d 607, 618 (concealment of evidence known to party supports fraud on the court).

31. Impeachment: Prior Inconsistent Statements Contradicting Trial Claims The deposition testimony Brockway and report statements by Nickel are admissible under California Evidence Code § 1235 to impeach the defendants' trial position that Adam Bereki individually performed unlicensed work, as it contradicts their prior representations and trial omissions. In their Motion for Summary Judgment, the defendants admitted Spartan contracted and performed the work (ROA 66, p. ii), consistent with Nickel's report (Ex. 7) and Brockway's deposition (Ex. 9, p. 39, Lines 9–10). At trial, they concealed this evidence and failed to call the experts, allowing their attorney, William Bissell, to misrepresent that Bereki was the unlicensed contractor. The experts' testimony, showing Spartan's performance, is offered to demonstrate this inconsistency, not for its truth, and thus is not hearsay. This impeachment evidence further establishes the defendants' intent to defraud me and the court.

32. Supporting Authority: People v. Johnson (2018) 6 Cal.5th 541, 582-3 (prior inconsistent statements admissible for impeachment); Evid. Code § 1235; Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co. (1944) 322 U.S. 238, 246 (concealment of evidence to mislead court constitutes fraud).

33. Bissell misrepresented that I was an unlicensed contractor under BPC § 7031, stating at trial: "SECTION 7026 DEFINES a CONTRACTOR... as INCLUDING ANY PERSON who UNDERTAKES to CONSTRUCT... EXHIBIT 303... is EVIDENCE of such UNDERTAKING" (Ex. 1, p. 5, Lines 20–26). This is legally flawed, as § 7026 defines a "contractor" without imposing liability, whereas § 7031(b) requires proof that I performed unlicensed work: "a person who utilizes the services of an unlicensed contractor may bring an action... to recover all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor for performance of any act or contract" (BPC § 7031(b). CACI 4560(3) mandates evidence that I performed licensed work, yet no evidence shows I performed tasks like framing or plumbing (Ex. 5, 6, 8, 9). Instead, Spartan performed all work, as confirmed by the Notice of Cessation to Spartan (Ex. 5), Nickel's report (Ex. 6), Brockway's deposition (Ex. 9), and the Humphreys' own Motion for Summary Judgment admitting Spartan contracted (ROA 66, p. ii). As Spartan's Responsible Managing Officer (RMO) and Qualifying Individual (Ex. 7), I supervised under Spartan's license, not as an individual (White v. Cridlebaugh, 178 Cal. App. 4th 506, 517 (2009); WSS Industrial Construction, Inc. v. Great West Contractors, Inc., 162 Cal. App. 4th 581, 591 (2008)). The Humphreys and Bissell may argue I "hired" Spartan, but this is irrelevant, as § 7031(b) liability hinges on unlicensed performance, not contracting, and Spartan's licensed work negates their claim (WSS Industrial, 162 Cal. App. 4th at 591). To the extent the emails could be considered an agreement, the work stated thereon was never evidenced to have been performed. Reason being, the email project was abandoned. The court and Court of Appeal's reliance on my initial emails, which omitted Spartan, ignored that these were preliminary negotiations for Spartan, not a personal contract (Civ. Code § 1550; Lewis v. Fletcher, 101 Cal. App. 3d 459, 465 (1980); Donovan v. RRL Corp., 26 Cal. 4th 261, 280–81 (2001)). My intent, as Spartan's RMO since securing its license years before the Humphreys project, was always for Spartan to perform, as shown by the building permit in Spartan's name (Ex. 2) and payments to Spartan (Ex. 6). The Humphreys, family of my friend (Gary's brother), exploited my trust in the informal emails, knowing Spartan was the contractor (ROA 66, p. ii). Bissell's concealment of Spartan's performance (Ex. 6, 8, 9) and misrepresentation that my emails triggered § 7031(b) liability, despite no evidence of my performance, misled the court and exploited my pro se status, constituting extrinsic fraud and denying a fair hearing.

34. The Humphreys and Bissell's fraud was deliberate. The Humphreys' Motion for Summary Judgment admitted Spartan contracted (ROA 66, p. ii), but after losing, they amended their cross-complaint to target me (ROA 144), ambushing me before trial. This aligns with their Notice of Cessation addressed to Spartan (Ex. 5) and Bissell's designation of Brockway, confirming they knew Spartan performed the work.

35. Exhibit 11 (CHP Incident Report, dated September 21, 2024) and Exhibit 12 (Bill of Particulars, filed June 28, 2017) confirm the extrinsic fraud, fraud on the court, and jurisdictional defects in the 2017 judgment through Judge Chaffee's admissions on April 16, 2024. During an interview with the California Highway Patrol, Chaffee acknowledged the case was civil but "turned" with the Humphreys' cross-complaint under Business and Professions Code §7031(b) (Ex. 11, p. 7, Lines 19-21), reinforcing my reliance on his representations that the proceedings were civil, while concealing their punitive nature. Contradictorily, he stated §7031(b) is "not criminal and has 'no penalty attached,' but it is punitive" and "draconian" (Ex. 11, p. 7, Lines 23–24), failing to specify civil remedies and admitting the penal character of the ~$930k penalty, imposed without counsel or jury trial, violating due process. Chaffee ruled I contracted individually, stating, "we have no license in the name of Mr. Bereki individually; instead, it appears he was the qualifying corporate officer for the legal entity, Spartan Associates, incorporated" (Ex. 11, p. 4, Lines 1-3), based on initial emails from my personal account (Ex. 11, p. 2, Lines 17-19). This ignored evidence that The Spartan Associates, Inc. was the contractor, including payments to Spartan after July 2012 (Ex. 11, p. 2, Lines 33-25), the Notice of Cessation to Spartan (Ex. 5), building permits (Ex. 2). Even if I were the contracting party, Spartan, a licensed contractor, performed all work through its employees and subcontractors satisfying CACI 4560(3). Chaffee's reliance on Ball v. Steadfast (2011) (Ex. 11, p. 3, Lines 12–36) was erroneous, as Ball involved a sole proprietor with a personal license, unlike Spartan's corporate license and my RMO and Qualifying Individual Role under BPC §7096. Chaffee denied suspending my license, stating, "Judge Chaffee assumes that any suspension would come from the State Contractor's Board" (Ex. 11, p. 8, Lines 22–23), but the judgment's financial burden directly triggered the mandatory summary suspension under BPC §7071.17, a bill of pains and penalties. Chaffee falsely claimed I did not raise constitutional issues (Ex. 11, p. 8, Lines 1-2), despite my Bill of Particulars challenging jurisdiction and the Humphreys' standing (Ex. 12, Questions 4, 8, 14, 51; ROA's 244, 256, 260, 263), suppressed through fines for abuse of discovery, reflecting my pro se status and Bissell's concealment. Chaffee admitted, "the damages are not offset by the work that was completed" (Ex. 11, p. 8, Lines 32-33), refusing to consider Spartan's $930,000 in value, despite no evidence of damages, enabled by Bissell's fraud.

36. Exhibit 11 is admissible under California Evidence Code § 1280 as a public record, as it was prepared by a CHP officer in the course of official duties, records contemporaneous observations from an April 16, 2024, interview, and is trustworthy. Chaffee's statements are further admissible under Evidence Code § 1200 as non-hearsay, offered not for their truth but to show his representations that the proceedings were civil, which misled me into waiving protections like a jury trial, and his knowledge of the case's punitive nature. Additionally, these statements are admissible under § 1250 to reflect Chaffee's state of mind and judicial reasoning. Chaffee's acknowledgment that the case "turned" with the Humphreys' § 7031(b) cross-complaint and his contradictory claim that the ~$930,000 penalty was "punitive" yet "not criminal" demonstrate he concealed the proceedings' punitive character, enabling the Humphreys and Bissell's extrinsic fraud to secure a void judgment without due process safeguards. His false statement that I did not raise constitutional issues, despite my Bill of Particulars (Ex. 12), further evidences suppression of my jurisdictional challenges, corrupting the judicial process.

37. As Spartan's Responsible Managing Officer (RMO) and Qualifying Individual, I was required to supervise its construction operations under Business and Professions Code § 7068.1(a), as defined in Exhibit 7 (Application for Original Contractor License, CSLB). The qualifying individual "meets the experience and examination requirements for the license and is responsible for exercising supervision and control... to secure compliance with CSLB's laws" (BPC § 7068.1(a)). The CSLB determined I was Spartan's qualifying individual, making me a licensee under BPC § 7096 and inseparable from Spartan's license (White v. Cridlebaugh, 178 Cal. App. 4th 506, 517 (2009)). I performed the functions as RMO of Spartan's license on the Humphreys project.

38. Judge David Chaffee had a duty to ensure all CACI 4560 elements were met for a §7031(b) claim (Thompson v. Louisville, 362 U.S. 199 (1960)): (1) the Humphreys contracted with me, (2) a license was required, and (3) they paid me for work I performed. No known evidence was presented for Element 3. Chaffee's finding that I was unlicensed (ROA 193) without addressing Spartan's performance violated due process, enabling the Humphreys' fraud (Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co., 322 U.S. 238, 246 (1944)).

39. The Humphreys' fraud corrupted the judicial process. Bissell's concealment and § 7026 misuse, exploiting my pro se status, convinced Chaffee to order the ~930,000 penalty without evidence I performed work, actualizing their intent to corrupt the process (Kulchar, 1 Cal. 3d at 471; Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519, 520 (1972)).

40. The judgment is void for lack of jurisdiction. The Humphreys had no standing. Their failure to prove CACI 4560(3) and my licensee status (BPC § 7096) negate their claim (ROA 144). My inalienable right to gainful employment cannot be presumed incompetent without a judicial determination (Estate of Buchman, 123 Cal. App. 2d 546 (1954)), and BPC § 7026 does not define a "person" as a "natural person," exempting me from licensing requirements. Chaffee's false claim that I did not raise standing issues (Ex. 11, p. 8, Lines 1-2) ignores my Bill of Particulars challenging the Humphreys' standing and court jurisdiction (Ex. 12, Questions 4, 8, 14, 51), suppressed through fines, enabled by my pro se status and Bissell's concealment.

41. On September 20, 2017, I had the following email conversation with William Bissell:

1. Email from Adam Bereki to William G. Bissell
   Date: September 20, 2017, 3:14 PM
   Subject: Phone Call
   From: Adam Bereki abereki@gmail.com
   To: wbissell@wgb-law.com

   Hi Bill,

   I hope this finds you well. I called your office today to speak with you about what I believe to be a huge miscarriage of justice happening in this case surrounding the challenge to jurisdiction I filed on 4/18/17 before judgement was ordered in this case. If you have any interest in discussing this matter with me, I'd welcome that.

   If so, please let me know when would be a good time to call you and I'll do so.

   Sincerely,
   Adam Bereki

2. Email from William G. Bissell to Adam Bereki
   Date: September 20, 2017, 3:50 PM
   From: wbissell@wgb-law.com
   To: Adam Bereki abereki@gmail.com

   Mr. Bereki: I reviewed your "Writ of Error" at the time it was filed with the court. I saw nothing in it that would cause me to question the validity of the judgment entered by the court. You have appealed the judgment and presumably you will be giving it your best shot with the Court of Appeal. Because appellate procedure is very deadline sensitive I suggest that your time might be better spent focusing on your argument to be made to the court than discussing your theories with me.

   Sincerely,
   Law Office of William G. Bissell

3. Email from Adam Bereki to William G. Bissell
   Date: September 20, 2017, 4:09 PM
   From: Adam Bereki abereki@gmail.com
   To: wbissell@wgb-law.com

   Thank you Bill, I appreciate your reply. It's just that since the "writ of error" was a direct jurisdictional challenge before the entry of judgement. The judgement is void because you didn't prove the factual sufficiency of subject matter jurisdiction as you were required to do upon direct attack. At that point and until subject matter jurisdiction was proved, the court was want of jurisdiction to issue an order. You'll see the jurisdictional challenge was served two days before the judgement. I don't believe it's in judicial process for the court or other parties to just ignore and/or reject my documents however foreign or out of statutory procedure they may be. While I understand your position that you might think what I'm sharing is a legal "theory" I obviously believe otherwise and we can disagree. If I'm right though, you and the judge could be in a lot of trouble which is why I reached out to you first to see if you wished to speak with me humbly.

Sincerely,
Adam Bereki

4. Email from William G. Bissell to Adam Bereki
Date: September 20, 2017, 4:24 PM
From: wbissell@wgb-law.com
To: Adam Bereki abereki@gmail.com

Mr. Bereki: Thank you for your clarification and the opportunity to avoid the trouble that may befall me as a result of the trial conducted in this matter. As I remain unpersuaded by your position, I suppose I (and I guess Judge Chaffee as well) will just have to take my chances that the court will have the same view of your argument as I do.

42. Exhibit 13, consisting of email correspondence between myself and William G. Bissell dated September 20, 2017, further substantiates the extrinsic fraud and fraud on the court perpetrated by the Humphreys and Bissell. These emails demonstrate that Bissell was aware of my jurisdictional challenge filed on April 18, 2017, two days prior to the entry of judgment on April 20, 2017 (ROA 200). In my initial email, I invited Bissell to discuss the challenge, which asserted the court lacked subject matter jurisdiction. Bissell's dismissive reply, acknowledging he reviewed my "Writ of Error" but refusing to engage and urging me to focus on my appeal, reflects his deliberate avoidance of addressing the unproven jurisdictional foundation of the case (Decl. ¶ 38). His failure to contest the challenge's claims at the time, despite knowing its significance, evidences his intent to conceal jurisdictional defects, thereby corrupting the judicial process to secure a void judgment. These emails are admissible as non-hearsay under California Evidence Code § 1221, as adoptive admissions, and § 1200, as they are offered to show Bissell's knowledge and concealment, not for the truth of the statements contained therein.

43. Exhibits 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 9, and 13 demonstrate the Humphreys and Bissell's efforts to secure a claim against me despite lacking standing, corrupting the judicial process. Their fabrication of a claim that I personally contracted and performed unlicensed work (ROA 144), when they knew Spartan performed the work (Ex. 5; ROA 66, p. ii; Ex. 9), constitutes extrinsic fraud. By fabricating this claim to fraudulently invoke the court's jurisdiction, knowing they had no capacity or standing, they prevented a fair hearing (Kulchar v. Kulchar, 1 Cal. 3d 467, 471 (1969)). This lack of capacity and standing is a jurisdictional defect, rendering the judgment void (Albrecht v. United States, 273 U.S. 1, 8 (1923); People ex rel. Becerra v. Superior Court, 29 Cal. App. 5th 486, 496 (2018)).

44. The Court of Appeal opinion (RJN Ex. 2, Case No. G055075, filed October 31, 2018) supports my claim that no evidence showed I personally performed licensed construction work, as required by CACI 4560(3) (Decl. ¶ 5), by failing to identify substantial evidence for this element. The court found substantial evidence only that (1) I, not Spartan Associates, contracted with the Humphreys, based on their testimony about my initial representations and emails (RJN Ex. 2, pp. 10–11), and (2) payments from Gary Humphreys' corporation were attributable to the Humphreys personally, based on his testimony about income deductions (RJN Ex. 2, p. 12). These findings address the contractual relationship and payment source, not whether I performed licensed work such as framing or plumbing. The opinion's assumption that I "performed all the remodel work" (RJN Ex. 2, p. 4) lacks supporting evidence, as it cites no testimony or documents showing my performance, contrary to my evidence that Spartan performed the work. This gap, enabled by the Humphreys and Bissell's extrinsic fraud in concealing evidence that Spartan was the contractor (Ex. 5, 6, 9; Decl. ¶¶ 15–16, 25–27) and misrepresenting me as an unlicensed contractor (Ex. 1; Decl. ¶ 32), renders the judgment void for lack of jurisdiction, as the Humphreys failed to prove all elements of their § 7031(b) claim (Decl. ¶¶ 33, 37–41).

45. I respectfully request the Court vacate the void judgment (ROA 200) and grant relief as prayed in my motion, filed May 28, 2025.

Signed on June 4, 2025 at Las Vegas, Nevada.

436 Via Lido Nord
Report on Spartan Construction Work in Place and Costs

Overview

The initial scope of the project was to combine two condominium units at 436 Via Lido Nord in Newport Beach, CA on the second floor into one unit on a design build basis. Spartan was engaged to do the work on a verbal agreement to be paid "actual cost of the work plus $500 per day fee for supervision, contractor overhead and profit". Spartan proceeded to design the new space and start work in April of 2012. Spartan did not get a building permit for the work. On or about the first of June 2012 The City of Newport Beach cited (C2012-0143) the project for "Construction without B,E,M,P permits" Actual work on the project slowed for the next four and one half months with only two to three workers on site possibly demolishing some of the existing structure. Spartan did purchase finish fixtures and appliances during this period, additionally Spartan engaged an acquaintance who worked at a commercial architecture firm to moonlight and draw up plans to secure a building permit. Building Permit number x2012-2116 was issued on November 14, 2012. The scope of the permitted work allowed was limited to combining the units and reroofing the building. This scope involved limited access to the lower unit to pour pads for structural columns and reroute some plumbing.

For the period November 2012 to May 2013 Spartan proceeded to demolish and reframe the entire second floor, except for the street facing wall, and substantial amounts of the first floor unit as he discovered, attempted to fix and rebuild old, deteriorated and water damaged portions of the structure. Significant work was done, again, without design drawings and building permits. The plumbing and electrical systems were substantially modified and rebuilt, some of this mechanical work was permitted (P2013-0125, N2013-0061). Spartan was also the subject of three written City of Newport Beach code enforcement violations in February, March and April of 2013.

During this period Spartan never completed, as evidenced by City inspection sign off, any portion of he permitted work, most notably the foundation work.

Spartan seemed unaware of the various City of Newport Beach and Building Code thresholds of remodeling that trigger updating the existing structure to current building codes. In the first week of June 2013 the City of Newport Beach issued and posted a "Stop Work" Notice on the project (Red Tagged) for exceeding the scope of work allowed in the existing building permit. Spartan, however, notwithstanding the City's position, continued to work on the project. Concurrently, Spartan engaged a drafting company in Riverside to prepare plans reflecting the work put in place and the new worked now required to bring the structure current with the building code. This design and engineering work continued until Spartan was excused from the project in September 2013.

Spartan billed the Owner, Gary Humphreys $826,094 in total for work on the project and was paid $758,000 as of the date of this report. Spartan has provided a detail spreadsheet summary of the billed amounts and copies of various invoices and receipts related to the project but not a comprehensive cost and payment backup.

- Spartan Associates Inc. is a licensed California general contractor License # 927244 issued in 2009
- Adam Alan Bereki is listed as the Responsible Managing Officer
- Workman's Compensation coverage through Norguard Insurance Co.
- Limited construction experience, prior to 2009 employed as a policeman

Scope of Review of the Project and Costs.

The project will be reviewed in two parts, Performance/Value delivered and Cost of the Work.

Performance

On so many levels Spartan violated the trust and duty to the Owner to perform work on the property in a professional, knowledgeable and industry standard quality of work manner that this analysis should be used as a starting point to document further legal actions for recovery of damages based on the quality of the work and services performed by Spartan. Unfortunately, the author believes that Spartan, a corporation, and Adam Bereki, the Responsible Managing Officer, are largely uncollectable should a judgment be entered over the amount of the contractors bond ($12,000). A partial listing of the areas that could be further explored are as follows;

- Lost opportunity to improve the structure design
- Defective design and construction work both latent and patent
- Poor Management, Inefficient scheduling and use of the Owners funds
- Breech of fiduciary duty as a licensed contractor to secure permits prior to performing Work
- Damage to First Floor Unit (unpermitted work, loss of occupancy)
- No written Contract for the project
- No Evidence of Liability Insurance protecting the Owner from consequences of Spartan's actions.
- Exposing the building to code upgrade requirements

Cost of the Work Plus Fee

This portion of the project analysis is based on a review of Spartan supplied cost summary Excel spreadsheet and a collection of copies of receipts and invoices. It should be cautioned that the invoice copies are not supported by any banking / check copy information nor any reporting from a cost accounting software system. The information supplied is not sufficient to provide an opinion of an exact cost of the work but is adequate to provide a reasonable estimate of monies spent on items stored or incorporated into the building. Our estimate is that Spartan expended approximately $505,000 on labor and material that the industry would consider "Cost of the Work." The value received as discussed above under Performance is significantly less.

Spartan's billing for other costs include parking tickets, gas for Mr Bereki and his site supervisor, software, a vehicle lease and repairs, rentals on a "shop" and other owned tools, accounting and other contractor overhead, labor for site supervision, and a fee for Mr. Bereki. We estimate that these charges add up to approximately $321,000.

Days worked

Apparently, Spartan is unable to produce copies of a daily log of attendance and activities on the site. Our "days worked" estimate is based on a five day work week less federal holidays for the period April 2012 thru June 6th 2013 (Ordered by City of Newport to stop work.) We estimate 239 working days on the project.

Contractor's Overhead and Fee

At the discussed, but unwritten, $500 per day compensation beyond the cost of the work Spartan would be entitled to bill $119,500 in addition to the Cost of the Work for a total contract value estimated at $624,500 before credits for damages from poor performance. This would represent a fee mark up of approximately 23%. This is at the higher end, but within the industry range, for this type of work.

We do know from the Owners banking records that Spartan has been paid $758,000.

Based on our estimates of the Cost of the Work plus a $500 per day overhead and fee, Spartan has been OVERPAID approximately $133,500.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Dear Applicant:

Enclosed is the application from the Contractors State License Board (CSLB).

Please be aware that nearly half of all applications submitted to CSLB are inaccurate or incomplete and must be returned for correction.

Please complete your application in its entirety to ensure that your application is accepted for processing by CSLB.

After an application has been accepted by CSLB as complete (also known as "posted"), the applicant will be sent instructions on the process for obtaining and submitting fingerprints, as required by law. (Business and Professions Code sections 144 and 7069)

An incomplete application can needlessly delay your license. Delays can last several weeks or even months and possibly result in the application being deemed abandoned and becoming void and the application fee being forfeited. (Business and Professions Code sections 7074 and 7138 and Title 16, California Code of Regulations section 813)

Spending a few extra minutes now may save you weeks or months later!

Before you submit your application, follow these simple directions.

- Sign the form.
- Fill out all applicable information.
- Make sure you submit Certification of Work Experience forms that have been filled out completely, ensuring that you have provided four (4) years of applicable experience in the classification for which you are applying.

Carefully read the General Information and Instructions that immediately precede the application package and follow the specific instructions that are contained throughout the application to help ensure that your application is complete and accurate.

Please be aware that there are no schools or application preparation organizations that are affiliated with or agents of CSLB, although some may have company names that are confusingly similar to CSLB. If you discover that an organization has misrepresented itself as being associated with CSLB, you should submit a complaint to CSLB or the California Department of Consumer Affairs. However, official CSLB examination study guides are available free of charge on CSLB's website.

IMPORTANT NOTICE REGARDING CONVICTIONS PLEASE READ CAREFULLY

As part of the Contractors State License Board (CSLB) application process and as required by law, the applicant must be fingerprinted if they have not been fingerprinted by CSLB before or if the applicant's previous fingerprint record was purged by CSLB due to a voided application; disassociated, revoked, or cancelled license or registration; or for some other reason. After an application is accepted by CSLB as complete (also known as "posted"), the applicant will be sent instructions on the process for obtaining and submitting fingerprints, usually via live scan electronic transmission.

The applicant's fingerprints will be compared to the records of the California Department of Justice and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. If an applicant has ever been convicted of a crime, their criminal record information will be reported to CSLB. This includes DUIs and other Vehicle Code violations resulting in a conviction. Even if you pled "no contest," had the conviction set aside, or judgment deferred pursuant to Penal Code sections 1000 or 1203.4 (commonly understood as "expunged"), the past conviction will still be reported to CSLB.

Under certain circumstances, CSLB may request that an applicant provide mitigating information regarding their criminal history by completing and submitting the Disclosure Statement Regarding Criminal Plea/Conviction form that is available on CSLB's website on the Forms and Applications page. CSLB's Criminal Background Unit will contact the applicant if it is requesting this additional information. If so, the applicant can complete the disclosure and send an email scan of it to CBU@cslb.ca.gov or fax to 916-255-4135. Please note, completing the form or any other disclosure of mitigating evidence is voluntary, and the applicant may choose not to disclose any information. An applicant's choice not to disclose information shall not be a factor in a board's decision to grant or deny an application for licensure. (See Bus. & Prof. Code, § 480(f)(2).

Applicants with criminal convictions are not automatically denied licensure – each applicant is reviewed individually based on the applicable sections of law. When reviewing criminal convictions, CSLB considers factors such as the nature and severity of the crimes, the amount of time that has passed since the convictions, and any evidence of rehabilitation submitted by the applicant. CSLB has several regulations to review criminal convictions, including Title 16 of the California Code of Regulations sections 868, 868.1, and 869. Section 868 guides how to evaluate whether a crime is substantially related to the qualifications, duties, or functions of a licensee or registrant. Section 868.1 guides whether a felony financial crime is directly and adversely related to the fiduciary qualifications, duties, or functions of a licensee or registrant; and Section 869 guides whether an applicant has made a showing of rehabilitation.

For rehabilitation evaluation, in addition to other evidence of rehabilitation, CSLB is generally looking at how much time has passed since the conviction without further violations of law.

General Information and Instructions

GENERAL INFORMATION

Listed below is general information to assist you as you complete the attached application. Detailed instructions are also provided that address the content of the application section by section. Please refer to the Applicants page on the Contractors State License Board's (CSLB) website (www.cslb.ca.gov) for more detailed information about the licensing process.

Do not submit this General Information and Instructions portion with your completed application – the actual application begins immediately following this section on Application – Page 1 of 4 and includes the Certification of Work Experience and the Owner-Builder B-General Building Construction Project Experience form, if needed. Before you submit your application, please review and be sure you have complied with the following items.

- Enclose the nonrefundable $450 application fee with your completed application for licensure in a single classification. CSLB cannot process your application without the appropriate fee made payable to the Registrar of Contractors. The initial license fee ($200 for sole owner and $350 for non-sole owner) should be submitted separately after you pass the examination. If approved for the military expedite and initial license fee reduction provision (see instructions under Military), these initial license fees will be reduced by 50%. (Business and Professions Code [BPC] sections 7137 and 7138) Examination fees are paid directly to CSLB's approved testing vendor when the examinations are scheduled.
- Your application may be returned to you if it is insufficient or incomplete. You must provide any missing information, make corrections, and resubmit your completed application to CSLB within 90 days after the date that it was returned to you, or your application will be deemed abandoned and become void. You cannot reinstate an abandoned application – you must submit a new application and $450 application fee if you wish to pursue licensure. (BPC 7074 and Title 16, California Code of Regulations [T16 CCR] section 813)

Complete the application and all accompanying forms legibly in black or dark blue ink or on CSLB's website using the Easy-Fill feature. Please make sure that you and other authorized individuals sign and date the forms, where applicable.

- Leave no space blank. If a particular question or request for information does not apply to you, write "N/A" in the blank space to indicate that you have read the question and determined that it is not applicable.
- The "#" symbol is used interchangeably with the word "number" where space is limited on the application.
- If you need additional copies of forms (e.g., Certification of Work Experience, Section 4 – Personnel Full Legal Names and Addresses), please make copies of the blank forms before you begin or print additional copies from the CSLB website, under the Forms and Applications page.

SECTION 1 – BUSINESS NAME AND ADDRESS

Business Name Styles (Box 1)

In accordance with BPC section 7059.1, the business name for a contractor license must not be misleading in relation to the classification(s) issued to the license and must be compatible with the type of business entity licensed (see Section 2 on next page). For example, it would not be acceptable for ABC123 Tile to apply for a C-10 Electrical contractor license, but it would be acceptable for ABC123 Construction to apply for a B-General Building contractor license or for ABC123 Tile to apply for a C-54 Ceramic and Mosaic Tile contractor license. In addition, it would not be acceptable for a sole ownership or proprietorship to use the words "partners" or "incorporated" in its business name.

Business Addresses, Phone and Email (Boxes 3a – 3c)

- You must provide an address of record (mailing address) for your business that will be made available to the public if you become licensed. This address will be published on CSLB's website and will also be used for all official correspondence, notices, and orders from CSLB, such as renewal notices. P.O. boxes and private mailboxes (PMB) are acceptable for the address of record.
- You must also provide a business street address that will be used only for CSLB's internal administrative purposes – it will not be published on CSLB's website. P.O. boxes and PMBs are not acceptable for the business street address.

General Information and Instructions (continued)

- You are also asked to provide business phone and business fax numbers and a business email address. The business phone number is published on CSLB's website. If you have an email address at which you are currently receiving emails, you must provide it (BPC 7083.2). The email provided will not be part of your public license record. CSLB emails important license updates and changes to the law that may affect your license. All emails CSLB sends to the email address you provided are presumed to be received.

The License Classifications link on the CSLB website contains a full listing of the subcategories of the C-61 classification.

SECTION 2 – BUSINESS ENTITY (Box 4)

Applicants must designate their business entity. Below is information on the five business entity types that are covered by this application. Contractor licenses are also issued to joint ventures – such applicants must submit the separate Application for Joint Venture License, available at CSLB's website on the Forms and Applications page.

Corporations and LLCs must be registered and in good standing (not suspended or otherwise restricted) with California Secretary of State (SOS) in order to be licensed and remain licensed with CSLB. California SOS can be reached by calling (916) 653-6814 or by visiting their website at www.sos.ca.gov. Applicants who wish to change their business entity after the application is posted should withdraw their application and submit a new one.

Sole Owner

Check the "Sole Owner" box if the business is owned by only one individual person and is not a corporation or an LLC.

Partnership
Check the "Partnership" box if the business is a partnership. Partnerships must provide their federal employer identification number (FEIN), which is available from the U.S. Internal Revenue Service (IRS). The IRS can be reached by calling (800) 829-1040. Personal Social Security numbers are not acceptable for the FEIN. Limited Partnerships must be registered with the California SOS and in good standing prior to being issued a contractor license.

Corporation
Check the "California Corporation" box if the business is a corporation. Corporations must be registered with the California SOS and in good standing prior to being issued a contractor license. Corporations must provide a current and active California SOS registration number where indicated in Section 2 of the application.

Limited Liability Company
Check the "Limited Liability Company" box if the company is a limited liability company. LLCs must be registered with the California SOS, must be in good standing, and have filed their statement of information prior to being issued a contractor license. LLCs must provide a current and active registration number where indicated in Section 2 of the application.

If your business entity is an LLC, before you submit your application, please be aware that the following additional requirements apply to LLC licenses (please refer to CSLB's website for more information):

- $100,000 Surety Bond. LLC licenses are required to file a $100,000 surety bond (in addition to the $25,000 contractor's bond) for the issuance, reissuance, reinstatement, reactivation, and renewal of an LLC license for the benefit of any employee or worker damaged by the LLC's failure to pay wages, interest on wages, or fringe benefits, as well as other contributions. (BPC sections 7071.6 and 7071.6.5)
- $1 Million Liability Insurance Minimum. LLC licenses are required to carry liability insurance with the aggregate limit of $1 million for licensees with five or fewer persons and/or companies listed as personnel of record, plus an additional $100,000 required for each additional personnel, not to exceed $5 million total. (BPC section 7071.19)
- Personnel of Record. Every person and/or company that is an officer, responsible manager, member, or director of an LLC must be listed as personnel of record on LLC applications. All individuals who are members of the personnel of record are subject to fingerprinting. LLC officers and members must be listed on the LLC's record with California SOS. LLCs may also have additional officers who may not be included on the official California SOS record, but who must be listed on this application and who will become part of the contractor license (BPC section 7065).

Tribal Business
Check the "Tribal Business" box if the business is a federally recognized tribe under BPC 7025.1

A tribal business can be verified by submitting any one of the following three documents along with the application.
- A resolution that ratifies the charter for this tribal business under federal law ("IRA Section 17 corporation").
- A resolution authorizing this tribal corporation under tribal laws ("tribally chartered corporation").
- Articles of incorporation or by-laws for this tribal corporation.

SECTION 3 – QUALIFYING INDIVIDUAL FULL LEGAL NAME AND ADDRESS
The terms "qualifying individual" and "qualifier" are used interchangeably. The qualifying individual is the person who meets the experience and examination requirements for the license and who is responsible for exercising supervision and control of their employer's or principal's construction operations to secure compliance with CSLB's laws, rules, and regulations. (BPC section 7068.1 (a)) "Supervision and control" means "direct supervision or control" or monitoring and being available to assist others to whom "direct supervision and control" has been delegated. "Direct supervision or control" means supervising construction, managing construction activities by making technical and administrative decisions, checking jobs for proper workmanship, and/or supervision on construction sites.

A qualifying individual is required for every classification on every license issued by CSLB. The qualifying individual may or may not be the owner of the business.

You must complete the personnel information requested in Sections 3 and 4 of the application for each individual and company that will be listed on the license.

- Line 5a – Full legal names are required. You must provide the full legal name of all personnel. If an individual does not have a middle name, write "None" or "No Middle Name" in the space provided. If an individual has only an initial for their first or middle name, write "(Initial Only)" after the initial.
- Provide qualifier's date of birth where requested.

- All applicants are required to provide their U.S. Social Security number (SSN) or individual taxpayer identification number (ITIN) if an individual does not have an SSN.
- Box 5b – You must also provide a residence street address for the qualifier that will be used only for CSLB's internal administrative purposes – it will not be published on CSLB's website unless it is also the business address. P.O. boxes and PMBs are not acceptable for the qualifier's residence street address.
- Line 6 – Please enter any previous or current license numbers held by the qualifier in the provided box. Also enter the percentage of the new business owned/held by the qualifier (ranging between zero and 100%), the qualifier's driver's license number, and the qualifier's home phone number.
- Box 7 – Check the appropriate box that identifies the title/position of the qualifying individual. The title/position must be compatible with the business entity type, as entered in Section 2 above. Please be sure your selected title/position complies with the following:
  - Sole owner entity = either Owner or Responsible Managing Employee (RME) – see below
  - Partnership entity = either Qualifying Partner or RME
  - Corporation entity = either Responsible Managing Officer (RMO) or RME
  - LLC entity = any one of RMO, Responsible Managing Manager, Responsible Managing Member, or RME
  - Tribal Business entity = either RMO or RME
- An RME is a bona fide employee who is permanently employed by the applicant and is actively engaged in the operation of the applicant's contracting business for at least 32 hours or 80% of the total hours per week such business is in operation, whichever is less.
- Box 8 – You must print and sign your name and indicate the date below the certification statement at the bottom of Page 1 of the application. Failure to sign your application will result in the application being returned to you for correction.

SECTION 4 – PERSONNEL FULL LEGAL NAMES AND ADDRESSES (Other than Qualifying Individual)

You must complete the personnel information requested in Section 4 of the application for each individual and company that will be listed as personnel on the license, other than the qualifier listed in Section 3. Be sure to include the applicant's business name at the top of the page where requested.

- See Section 3 above for instructions on how to complete the specific fields of this section. If more than four (4) personnel must be reported, please make a copy of the blank form. All personnel must print and sign their names below the certification statement and include the date that the form was signed.
- Every person who is an officer, member, responsible manager, or director of a corporation, tribal business, or limited liability company seeking licensure under this chapter shall be listed on the application as a member of the personnel of record. (BPC 7065 (b) (1)
- LLCs can have managers or members that are corporations or other LLCs, as opposed to individual people. When an LLC has corporate or LLC managers or members, complete Section 4 for those companies, omitting the fields that do not apply (e.g., date of birth, SSN/ITIN, and driver license number). Since corporations and LLCs are incapable of signing documents (e.g., applications, renewals, etc.), you must also report at least one individual person who will be an authorized signer for that company. To do this, you must complete a portion of Section 4 using this individual person's personal information. Identify that person as the "Authorized Signer for _____" (inserting the name of the corporation or LLC on behalf of which the individual person will sign). This individual person will not be part of the official license personnel of record (unless they are also an actual responsible manager, member, or officer of the applicant LLC), but their information will be maintained by CSLB for signing purposes only.

SECTION 5 – REQUIRED APPLICATION QUESTIONS

Be sure to include the applicant's business name at the top of the page where requested. All questions must be answered, unless otherwise indicated, and all requested explanations and documentation must be provided, or the application will be returned for correction. Failure to thoroughly and accurately complete this section of the application can delay the licensure process or result in denial of the application.

Fingerprint Requirement

Please be sure to read the Important Notice Regarding Convictions on the front of this application packet. All applicants for licensure are required to submit a full set of fingerprints for the purpose of conducting a criminal background check. Fingerprints will be compared to the records of the California Department of Justice (DOJ) and the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) to determine whether a criminal history exists. Your license will not be issued until CSLB receives fingerprint results from both DOJ and FBI. Even though you may have been fingerprinted previously for an employer or another regulatory body, you will need to undergo the fingerprinting and criminal history check process again specifically for CSLB. California Penal Code section 11142 prohibits criminal history information from being released to any entity other than the requesting agency that you have authorized to receive it.

After an application has been accepted by CSLB as complete (also known as "posted"), each individual listed on the application who needs to fingerprint will be sent instructions on the process for obtaining and submitting fingerprints. Individuals in California are required to fingerprint by electronic live scan; individuals outside of California can fingerprint either by electronic live scan in California or by submitting hard card fingerprints that are completed in the applicant's location, as explained in the instructions that are sent after the application has been posted. Please note that submitting hard card fingerprints can significantly delay the licensure process due to the extra processing needed at DOJ and FBI. For more information, please visit CSLB's website and view information on the Applicants page.

Translator for Examination (Question 15)

Check the "Yes" box if you have difficulty understanding or reading the English language and you would like to use a translator to read the examination to you. Complete question #15 by listing in what language your translator will read the examination. The translator you choose must be approved in advance by CSLB. If you check the "Yes" box, information will be sent to you regarding the translator process. Some of CSLB's examinations have been translated into Spanish. If the applicant selects "Spanish" as their preferred language and there is an examination available in that language, they will be scheduled for that examination.

SECTION 6 – QUALIFIER EDUCATION, APPRENTICESHIP, LICENSURE, AND MILITARY SERVICE

Education and Apprenticeship (Question 16)

CSLB may grant up to three years of credit toward the four-year experience requirement for completed training in an accredited school and/or apprenticeship program in the construction trade for which the applicant is applying. (T16 CCR section 825). For formal education, request a certified official transcript from the applicant's educational institution. Include the sealed official transcript with the application when submitting. Degrees obtained outside of the United States must be translated, if in a language other than English, and evaluated by an accredited evaluation service in the U.S. before being submitted to CSLB.

For apprenticeship programs, the applicant must submit a copy of their apprenticeship certificate and indicate the dates of the program where requested on the application.

Reciprocity (Question 17)

Applicants who are seeking licensure in California and who are licensed in the same classification in another state may be eligible for the waiver of the trade examination if the qualifier meets the requirements for reciprocity (BPC section 7065.4). Please see CSLB's website (www.cslb.ca.gov) for more information. If you are licensed in a state and classification recognized by the Board, please have the licensing agency from your state complete a "License Verification Request" form and submit it with this application. The California Law and Business Examination will still be required if the applicant has not passed California Law and Business Examination within the last five (5) years. (See CSLB's website for more information on reciprocity on the Applicants page.)

Military Service (Questions 18 and 19)

Expedited Processing and 50% reduction of Initial License fee for Military Personnel
CSLB will expedite the licensure process and reduce the initial licensing fee by 50% for an applicant who is a current active-duty member of the Armed Forces or who was not dishonorably discharged after having served as an active-duty member of the United States Armed Forces or the National Guard or Reserves. Please provide the following documentation: Evidence of your current military duty (copy of your military orders) or your previous military service (copy of your latest DD 214 long form – Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty showing discharge status or a copy of a current and valid driver's license or identification card issued by this state or another state with the word "Veteran" printed on its face) or for National Guard discharge status (copy of your NGB 22 form), or for Reserves discharge status (copy of your DD256 form).

Expedited Licensure Application Processing for Service Members Enrolled in Skillbridge
CSLB will expedite the licensure process for service members who are enrolled in a Skillbridge program. Please provide documentation of enrollment in a Skillbridge program, such as an official letter from a commanding officer, in order to qualify for expedited processing.

Expedited Processing and Fee Waiver for Military Personnel Spouses or Domestic Partners
CSLB will expedite the licensure process and waive the application fee and initial license fee for an applicant who:

- Is married to, or in a domestic partnership or other legal union with, an active-duty member of the Armed Forces of the United States who is assigned to a duty station in California under official active-duty military orders.
  AND
- Holds a current license in another state, district, or territory of the United States in the profession or vocation for which the applicant seeks a license from the board.

If you answer "Yes" to question 19 and you would like to be considered for this expedited processing and waiver of licensure fees, please provide a copy of your current license from the other state, district, or territory of the United States documenting a contractor license, registration, permit, or certificate in the same classification for which you are seeking licensure AND documentation of your marriage or legal union AND your spouse's or partner's active military duty. For example, in addition to the licensure documentation, attach a copy of the marriage certificate or certified declaration/registration of domestic partnership filed with the Secretary of State AND military orders establishing a duty station in California. For other forms of "legal union" not recognized by California, you may submit other documentary evidence of legal union issued by the state that recognizes your legal union for consideration by CSLB in meeting this requirement.

If all of the above-mentioned requirements are met and all the required documentation is submitted with the application, the application fee and the initial license fee will be waived. All other fees will still be required.

Credit for Military Experience and Training
CSLB may grant credit toward licensure requirements for applicable work experience and training received while the applicant was an active-duty member of the Armed Forces of the United States performing duties in the classification for which they are applying. This work experience and training must be reported on a Certification of Work Experience form and must be supported by acceptable documentation. Include a copy of your Joint Service Transcripts (military transcripts) for evaluation. You may also provide evidence of current military duty (copy of applicant's military orders) or previous military service (copy of applicant's DD 214 – Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty). If you are claiming military experience, please be sure to check the "Yes" box for Question 18 on the application, as discussed above.

Immigration Status Expedites (Question 20)

CSLB will expedite the licensure process for an applicant who immigrated to the United States of America in certain circumstances. Please check the "yes" box to question 20 on this application if:

- You were admitted to the United States as a refugee pursuant to section 1157 of title 8 of the United States Code;
- You were granted asylum by the Secretary of Homeland Security or the United States Attorney General pursuant to section 1158 of title 8 of the United States Code; or,
- You have a special immigrant visa and were granted a status pursuant to section 1244 of Public Law 110-181, Public Law 109-163, or section 602(b) of title VI of division F of Public Law 111-8, relating to Iraqi and Afghan translators/interpreters or those who worked for or on behalf of the United States government.

If you selected YES, you must attach evidence of your status as a refugee, asylee, or special immigrant visa holder. Failure to do so may result in application review delays. Acceptable evidence includes:

- Form I-94, Arrival/Departure Record, with an admission class code such as "RE" (Refugee) or "AY" (Asylee) or other information designating the person a refugee or asylee.
- Special immigrant visa that includes "SI" or "SQ."
- Permanent Resident Card (Form I-551), commonly known as a "Green Card," with a category designation indicating that the person was admitted as a refugee or asylee.
- An order from a court of competent jurisdiction or other documentary evidence that provides reasonable assurance that the applicant qualifies for expedited licensure.

MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION

Experience and Examination Information

Applicants for licensure must meet specific experience and examination requirements, as explained below. Waivers of the trade examination may be granted under certain circumstances, as indicated on the next page. If you qualify for examination waiver or exemption, do not use this application – please instead use the Application for Original Contractor License – Waiver (7065) (form 13A-1A).

Experience Requirements

To be eligible for licensure, the qualifying individual must have had, within the last 10 years, at least four (4) years of experience in the classification for which they are applying. The experience must be at no less than a journeyman level, or as a foreman, supervising employee, contractor, or owner-builder. Owner-builder experience can only be used to qualify for a B-General Building classification, and certain requirements must be met. Please see the general information page of the Certification of Work Experience form for more information. A "journeyman" is defined as an experienced worker who is fully qualified (as opposed to a trainee) and is able to perform the trade without supervision, or one who has completed an apprenticeship program. Experience is documented on the Certification of Work Experience form. (T16 CCR section 825)

Examination Eligibility Requirements

The qualifying individual for a contractor license is required to pass the written Law and Business Examination and a specific trade examination if required (BPC section 7065) unless they meet the requirements for a waiver (see next page for information regarding examination waivers). These examinations are administered by an approved testing vendor and fees for the examinations are paid directly to the vendor by the applicant. Information about scheduling examinations will be mailed to you once the application is posted. Official CSLB examination study guides are available free of charge on CSLB's website under the Applicants tab. These study guides are available in English and Spanish.

Re-Examination

If you are required to take an examination, subject to some limitations, you have 18 months after the approval of your application to achieve a passing score on the examinations(s). During that time, you may take the examinations(s) as many times as needed within retesting guidelines. These re-examinations are administered by an approved testing vendor and the fee for the re-examinations are paid directly to the vendor by the applicant each time you reschedule an examination. Scheduling re-examinations will be done through the PSI Exams account. If a candidate fails one or both of their examinations, they must go to their PSI account to select the date, time, and location for their next examination. Candidates must wait 21 days after taking an examination before they may try it again. (See BPC section 7074 for more detailed information on re-examinations).

Please detach this General Information and Instructions portion before submitting the completed application package to CSLB.

Reasonable Accommodation – The Americans with Disabilities Act

In compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), CSLB provides reasonable accommodation for applicants with disabilities that may affect their ability to take the required examinations. Applicants wishing to request reasonable accommodation pursuant to the ADA must complete the Special Accommodation Request for Examination form (available on the Forms and Applications page on CSLB's website) and submit it to CSLB with the appropriate supporting documentation. In order to make the necessary arrangements to accommodate candidate needs, the form and supporting documentation should be submitted as soon as possible. As soon as the reasonable accommodation is approved, candidates may contact PSI Exams to schedule and pay for their examination(s).

Examination Waivers and Exemptions

The examination may be waived if the qualifying individual is currently or has been in the last five (5) years, actively engaged in the construction business and meets specific waiver requirements as mandated by law or has been actively licensed in good standing or has passed the required examinations in the classification for which they are applying. (See BPC sections 7065 – 7065.4 for a complete list.) If you are applying for licensure based on waiver of or exemption from the trade and Law and Business examinations, you should complete the Application for Original Contractor License – Examination Waiver (7065) instead of this application.

In addition, the trade examination may be waived if the qualifier meets the requirements for reciprocity. Please see CSLB's website (www.cslb.ca.gov) for more information. If you are licensed in a state and classification recognized by the Board, have the licensing agency from your state complete a "License Verification Request" form and submit it with this application. The Law and Business Examination will still be required if the applicant has not passed that examination within the last five (5) years. (See CSLB's website for more information on reciprocity on the Applicants page.)

Random Application and Experience Review

By law, CSLB must randomly review three percent (3%) of applications, including the experience claimed on Certifications of Work Experience forms that must be verifiable through payroll records or similar documents. In the event that your application is selected for review, please see CSLB's website for a Summary of Acceptable Documentation (located at CSLB's website on the Applicants page) that may be submitted to CSLB to support claimed experience. In addition, CSLB staff may contact the certifier of experience or other parties to verify experience. (BPC section 7068 and T16 CCR 824)

C-22 Asbestos Abatement Contractor License

The C-22 – Asbestos Abatement contractor performs abatement, including containment, encapsulation, or removal, and disposal of asbestos containing construction materials, as defined in Section 6501.8 of the Labor Code, in and on buildings and structures. All work performed and all documentation prepared by an asbestos abatement contractor shall be done in accordance with DOSH regulations and requirements.

The Board shall not issue an asbestos abatement contractor license unless the applicant or contractor is duly registered with DOSH pursuant to Section 6501.5 of the Labor Code or has an active application for registration in process with DOSH. All holders of the C-22 – Asbestos Abatement classification shall have completed DOSH registration training requirements, as contained in Section 1529 of Title 8 of the California Code of Regulations.

You may wish to contact DOSH prior to applying for the asbestos certification or the C-22 – Asbestos Abatement classification to be sure that you understand their requirements for registration since DOSH registration is required in order to perform asbestos-related work. DOSH's Asbestos Contractors' Registration Unit (ACRU) can be reached at (916) 574-2993 or ACRU@dir.ca.gov, or you can visit their website at http://www.dir.ca.gov/dosh/ACRU/ACRUhome.htm.

C-47 General Manufactured Housing Contractor License

Prior to obtaining a C-47 – General Manufactured Housing contractor classification, you must complete a federally approved initial installer training. Along with your application, please submit a "Certificate of Completion of Training" from a qualified trainer approved by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The license applicant is responsible for ensuring the training program is approved by HUD. Existing C-47 license holders are exempt from the requirement.

Bond, Insurance, and Other Licensure Requirements

All contractors must meet specified bond, insurance, and other requirements for licensure with CSLB, as indicated below. Failure to maintain a required bond or insurance may result in the suspension of the license. For information on bonds, see A Guide to Contractor License Bonds, available on CSLB website under the Resources tab and then choose CSLB Publications. Bonds may be submitted to CSLB electronically by the issuing surety company.

Contractor's Bond

All contractors must have a $25,000 contractor's bond on file with CSLB. (BPC section 7071.6)

Bond of Qualifying Individual

An additional $25,000 qualifying individual's bond must be filed for all contractors that are qualified by an RME, or under certain other circumstances for corporate and LLC contractors when the qualifying individual (RMO, responsible managing manager, or responsible managing member) holds less than 10 percent of the voting stock of the corporation or membership interest in the LLC. (BPC section 7071.9). Tribal businesses are exempt from this specific requirement.

LLC Employee/Worker Bond

All LLC licenses are required to have an additional $100,000 employee/worker bond on file with CSLB for the benefit of workers employed by or contracted to work for an LLC. (BPC section 7071.6.5)

Disciplinary Bond

The Certificate of Insurance must be issued in the business name shown on this application. Contractors that have no employees and are not otherwise required to have workers' compensation insurance must complete the Exemption from Workers' Compensation form, available on CSLB website's Forms and Applications page. (BPC section 7125)

LLC Liability Insurance

All LLC licenses are required to have liability insurance in an amount that is not less than one million dollars ($1,000,000) or more than five million dollars ($5,000,000). The amount is determined based on the number of personnel of record on the license. For five (5) or fewer personnel, the amount is $1 million. For each additional member of personnel, the amount increases by $100,000, up to a maximum of $5 million. For example, an LLC that has eight (8) personnel would be required to carry a $1,300,000 liability insurance policy. (BPC section 7071.19)

Asbestos Open Book Examination

All qualifiers must complete the Asbestos Open Book Examination as part of the licensure process. Information about this examination and the link to take it can be found on CSLB's website at www.cslb.ca.gov. (BPC section 7058.5) Completion of this required open book examination does not authorize the licensee to engage in asbestos-related work.

Reissuance or Reassignment of License Number

If the qualifier has previously been licensed, it may be possible to have the previous license number reissued or reassigned under certain circumstances. Sole owner numbers may be reissued to corporations or LLCs, and corporate license numbers may be reissued to LLCs. ## EXPERIENCE

Mr. Brockway is an expert consultant with over 34 years of experience in construction planning, scheduling, estimating, and project management. He has amassed vast experience in every aspect of a multitude of project delivery systems. From carpenter to contract manager and director of preconstruction, Robert Brockway has personally constructed, planned, scheduled, estimated, coordinated, supervised, and managed over $1.7 billion of in-place construction.

Robert Brockway's professional career in commercial and industrial construction commenced in 1982 with Mr. Brockway filling the role of utility man in the fabrication and installation of industrial iron work, and then progressed through training to carpentry which ultimately led to employment as a journeyman carpenter. By 1987 Mr. Brockway achieved the position of Project Estimator with Delran Builders Company, Inc. in Wyndmoor, Pennsylvania. He advanced to Chief Estimator in 1992, and through 2016 held a senior management position with multiple construction firms nationally. During his time with these firms, he scheduled, managed, and created estimates for various public, private, and negotiated projects, including new and renovated residential, commercial, hospitality, industrial, educational, and institutional facilities.

Mr. Brockway has developed a mastery of the construction, materials, processes, and protocols necessary to plan, bid, and build, various types of structures for a multitude of end-users including high rise, multi-unit residential, mixed-use, retail, malls, site development, infrastructure, rail, airports, laboratory, hospitals, parking structures, sports complexes, mass transit, Federal Aviation, Department of Energy, Department of Defense, Army Corps of Engineers, and historic restorations.

While at Delran Builders Mr. Brockway scheduled and estimated various urban renewal projects in the Mid-Atlantic region which included interface with local, state, and federal contracting entities as well has local historical societies. Projects ranged in price exceeding $12MM.

Robert Brockway continued his career trajectory by accepting positions as Vice President of Estimating and Chief Estimator for J.J. Deluca and Daniel J. Keating Company of Narberth, Pennsylvania. This period included work on educational, institutional, commercial, condominiums, high-rise, mass transit, airports, hospitals, stadiums, and urban construction ranging in value to $45MM.

In 1999 Mr. Brockway expanded his knowledge base by providing specialized consulting services which included providing pre-construction and project management services on a per project basis for several contractors lacking the experience to enter commercial construction projects. Additional endeavors included providing on-site training to construction personnel in the areas of estimating, project management, construction-scheduling, and field supervision.

During this same time period, Mr. Brockway custom tailored, prepared, implemented, administered, and presented comprehensive marketing and business plans to bonding companies and potential investors. Further consultations included providing services to a major bonding company reviewing potential client's business structure and analyzing the potential risks. This led to the opportunity to be engaged to compile and estimate damages caused by a hurricane to an entire school district for use in insurance settlements.

From 2004 through 2011 Mr. Brockway was able to leverage his considerable body of experience into participation in the construction of dozens of significant projects in the Mid-Atlantic region with the area's top firms. While working for Jeffery M. Brown Associates of Huntingdon Valley, Pennsylvania he maintained and nurtured the Class "A" commercial portfolio of a Fortune 500 development company and prepared estimates for, and managed, several Class "A" retail, commercial, and condominium projects. As a construction management department head for IMC Construction, Inc., in Malvern, Pennsylvania, Mr. Brockway was responsible for the total management of all project activities from project inception to closeout including: Pre-Construction, Bid Compilation, Estimating, Scheduling and Planning, and Project Management. He was personally responsible for management and assignment of project managers, estimators, and field personnel, establishment and implementation of project management and estimating procedures, fiscal responsibility for all assigned projects and departmental expenditures, administration of subcontracts (including preparing of same), budget management of projects, schedule preparation and execution, and negotiation of contracts with owners and subcontractors. While at IMC Construction Mr. Brockway was able to successfully lead new market penetration efforts in a stagnant economy, and craft a multi-pronged approach to minimizing risk and increasing profits on zero margin projects. He also established and implemented company-wide project management software protocols and procedures. During his tenure in Pennsylvania, Mr. Brockway worked on projects across the nation that ranged in value to $454 MM.

Mr. Brockway was not only an estimator and manager; beginning in 1988, he took on the role of educator, instructor, and guest lecturer at various colleges and technical schools, including the American Builders and Contractors Association, The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Metropolitan Regional Council, Villanova University, Community College of Philadelphia, and Penn State University. Mr. Brockway's parallel 21 year career teaching in trade schools and colleges included teaching accredited carpenter apprenticeship training for the first year module, journeyman upgrade courses that included scheduling, and core required college level courses including estimating, construction management, and job site management.

In 2011, Mr. Brockway relocated to California and McCormick Construction Company, Inc., in Burbank, and continued to estimate and provide construction management expertise for several commercial projects in excess of $100MM. Work included providing expert level conceptual estimating reports for various end users for use in commercial development proforma and design build proposals including Municipal lease-back developments. He has also worked with a world renowned engineer to prove concept of emerging technologies in high rise residential construction. Robert Brockway, having been first duly sworn by the Certified Shorthand Reporter, was called as a witness, examined, and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Mr. Tolman, you've had your deposition taken before, haven't you?

A Mr. Brockway.

Q My mistake. Okay. Mr. Brockway, you and Mr. Tolman, you guys work together?

A Yes.

Q Okay. For this assignment, originally Mr. Tolman was designated. When did you learn that you were going to be a witness in this case?

A Around the exact same time, and it had to do with John's schedule at the time. So, I took it over almost from inception.

Q When did that begin?

A I'm going to estimate that it was in 2014.

Q So, you've been on this project for a couple of years?

A Since its inception, yes.

Q You've given depositions before, haven't you?
A Yes.
Q Many times?
A Enough times.
Q Any reason for me to go over the rules?
A No, I understand them.
Q Any reason why your deposition can't go forward today?
A No.
Q Who were you hired by in this case?
A William Bissell, attorneys.
Q Had you done any work for him before?
A I have not personally, no.
Q Had your firm done work for his firm before?
A I don't know. I don't have knowledge of that.
Q What did he tell you about what your assignment was going to be in this case?
A I was -- we were hired or I was instructed to examine and analyze the performance on the work onsite, how it was performed, means and methods, et cetera about the management and management practices that were appropriate for a job like that, to give an approximation or estimate of the cost of what something like that would have cost, and to opine on what was spent versus what was needed.

Q Okay. So, was any part of your assignment determining whether or not the construction was done appropriately?

A Well, if you consider means and methods, I do. I guess the answer would be yes.

Q How about whether or not the work was substandard or defective?

A Not defective as an architectural opinion, no. It's more or less means and methods, which is how you go about doing something, the standards that you follow, the management, and then the cost. So, as far as code, architectural defects, things like that, no, I will not be opining on that.

Q So, were the items you were looking at is how long it took and the cost?

A And how the means and methods, again how they went about performing the work and management techniques applied to carry out the work.

Q Where did you get your understanding as to what means and methods were actually used and what to help form your opinion?

A In the documents that I turned over to you, there's a series of e-mails that describe things. There is a lot of photographs and some letters that went along the way. In that there was no daily job logs. It's common in a job. I didn't have any day-to-day records. What I had to do was take -- I went over payroll records provided by Spartan, and I went over the W-2s to analyze the number of men, how long they were there, and what tasks they were doing. I would match up the timing of the payroll records with the photographs that Spartan provided, and there was a lot of photographs. So, I got an idea of how long things went. There was some descriptions in e-mails that gave me clues to what means and methods were or were not applied to the job.

Q And by means and methods, what do you mean?

A An example would be, there's several primary areas that jump out to me. No. 1, at the beginning of the project, standard means and methodology for carrying out what I consider a residential renovation of this type at this location. Standard procedures are, you get building permits and you get working drawings. What I was able to determine through -- I'm sorry. I also examined Mr. Bereki's deposition testimony for additional information as far as means and methods go.

An example to me would be, at the beginning of demolition to the property without building permits, the need to demolish, beginning demolition without a set of working drawings, that's abnormal. That's not in the standards of how you do those kinds of things. The other example of means and methods, I saw a multitude from photographs of occurrences of unsafe practices. According to OSHA, things such as lack of shoring when demolishing structural elements, lack of PPE, which is personal protective equipment, inappropriate like that. Those are two examples of that. I was able to discern that largely from the photographs and descriptions in the deposition testimony and e-mail communications.

Q Why did you believe that looking at safety issues and OSHA-type stuff was important to what you were doing?

A Well, it is common in the industry, any builder, anybody who has gotten a license in California or spends any time performing construction work, OSHA goes over it all. You look at a job site and get an idea of how they go about doing work.

I'm going to give you a specific example that concerned me. There's a photograph of somebody sawing a structural element, which is a post, a vertical post, at the very bottom of it, trying to saw it. That's inherently dangerous without protective shoring, meaning if they saw that and it falls down, that person is going to be injured. That gives me an example as far as training goes of somebody on the job site.

I also looked at the progression of the work. In the beginning of the job, for the first several months because there was a stop-work order for lack of permit, there was a whole bunch of demolition that continued to go on. There's a lot of payroll records of a whole bunch of folks there. In my opinion, in examining the project itself, voluminous photographs, and video, that there's way too many men do to too limited amount of work. These gave me clues as to how they were proceeding. Meaning, when you approach a job, when you start a job, means and methods, you get a permit, you get a set of drawings, and you start to work.

The original -- according to the original agreement, which was an e-mail, which is what I'm basing it on, dated April 5th of 2012, the original work was what I'm going to call a cosmetic renovation, which is go in there, update some outlets, do some painting, do some finish-type work with the second part of that being for a future rooftop patio. That's a relatively contained, finite scope of work, pretty easy to get a set of drawings for that.

Standard procedure to get drawings on a renovation project, you go out to the existing building. First of all, you can go to City Hall and try to pull up permit drawings from the past if it is an existing building of what is already built.

Q Do you know whether or not there were any existing plans for this property?

A I do not, and what I was about to say is, there is not. I do that as a builder and somebody who does this all of the time because it help you with field measurements. It gives you a basis to go check the building. If that does not exist, and that's not uncommon, they can't find it or if the building is really old, you go to the building and field measure it. You field measure the building. It's common practice, and you come up with an architectural drawing, something that you can get a permit off of. You can have a licensed professional prepare the drawing, seal the drawing, and get a permit and then you begin. You don't need to perform demolition to prepare the drawings. It's not standard.

Q Does the City issue demolition permits?

A They issue demolition permits for building teardowns.

Q On remodeling, isn't it true that the City of Newport Beach does not issue demolition building permits?

A The selective demolition required for this project falls under the building permit. That is also not uncommon.

Q So, in this case, as I understand it, there were a lot of unknowns about what was going on. How is a contractor supposed to find out what the current state of things are without doing some demolition to figure it out?

A First of all, I don't know what you mean by "unknowns."

Q Structural integrity.

A Well, that could be the case with anything that has ever been built, whether it has an unknown. It's standard practice. You don't demolish a building to find out if it is structurally stable. That is not the right thing to do. It is unsafe. It is not standard practice. You prepare a drawing of what is known, that's existing conditions. You don't do a whole exploratory. I have done innumerable projects, similar renovation-type projects with such unknowns. If you can't visually see it with the eye, you don't see it. You get the permits so you can proceed.

Once you begin to proceed with the set of drawings with no information, No. 1, I'm going to go back to the original scope was not a destructive demolition in phase one. It was a cosmetic job. It was not structural. If during the course of your renovations, you discover something based on your experience or knowledge of residential construction, if something comes to you that you feel is unsafe or just doesn't look right, the common thing, the standard thing to do is, because you get an architect or engineer to examine it, and they will say, "This is good. That's not good." They may come up with a sketch, maybe they won't. They'll address the problem. If there's significant changes that have to be made based on an inspection, you stop the work. The architect prepares a document or writes a letter or describes what you need to do. You inform the City, and you continue working. So, that's kind of a standard process of how that works.

Q So, he should have gotten the general building permit on the project, and then during the progress, done exploratory work and see if things needed to be changed?

A I do know there was originally a plan for a patio on the roof. Ultimately, that work did not happen. During the course -- well, first of all, anybody with a little bit of framing experience, this is basic framing. There is basically three types of framing in California in general. There's post and beam, there's balloon framing, and western platform framing.

Houses built in that era are generally built with one of those standards, one of those type of wood framing. It's relatively simple. You would have an inherent knowledge of what is likely in those walls just by examining it. You can look at the building and probably poke one hole in a piece of drywall if you had a question.

If you had a post and beam, you can see where it is or you can measure off and be able to determine where that is, and if it was balloon framing, which means you frame one stud that passes all floors. Western platform framing, you have a stud wall with a platform floor and another stud wall and a roof. It's going to fall into one of those three categories. You would know that by knowing the era it was done, by looking at the building, you can tell that.

Q What was the state of the construction when you first went there?

A If it would have been -- I did not go there. I sent somebody with videos and photographs which I turned over to you.

Q When you said you reviewed photographs, were those Mr. Bereki's photographs that he turned over in discovery or ones that your own client had?

A I reviewed both. I got Spartan's photographs at a much, much later date. So, the initial -- when Bert L. Howe initiated the project, there was an inspection scheduled. John Tolman was there on that day. I was unavailable. So, he took extensive videos of walking the site, and he took extensive photographs, a lot, and I produced those to you. I had the additional photographs that Spartan provided at a later date.

Q Is that at the end of 2013, beginning of 2014?
A It was what then?
Q When the first photographs were taken.
A I would guess the photographs were dated. Like I said, my recollection is '14.
MR. BISSELL: Are you talking about the Tolman photographs?
MR. RUSSO: Yeah.
THE WITNESS: I would be guessing because I don't remember. It could have been in '14. Could have been in '13. I don't know. I could guess, but the documents will -- the photographs are dated.
BY MR. RUSSO:
Q And you said you reviewed correspondence. Was that between Mr. Humphreys and Mr. Bereki?
A I reviewed limited. There's a couple kinds of correspondence. There's letters from an architect and from the City or whatever. The correspondence I am referring to now is e-mail communication, very few that I had. One was the original agreement, the April 5th, 2012 date. Another was an exchange with Mr. Bereki explaining his point of view on what happened when I guess this matter started to come to a head, and maybe a couple of more. I certainly didn't see anything in the file that was provided to me that there was voluminous e-mails. I was not provided with those.

Q So, one of your thoughts was, there was a lack of communication?

A I didn't say that.

MR. BISSELL: Objection; mischaracterizes his testimony.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Well, do you know how they communicated?

A Well, I wasn't there. I can tell you what Mr. Bereki testified to because I read his deposition. I can tell you how he explained it.

Q Did you feel that Mr. Humphreys' involvement was too limited in this situation?

A That's a difficult question to answer, what too limited means. He could be not involved at all, and the project would still be okay.

Q I believe in his deposition, he testified he only went to the project three or four times.

A That's not unusual.

Q So, you went or you or Mr. Tolman went to get a current state of events when you took on the project; correct?

A I'm sorry?

Q You went or Mr. Tolman went to determine what the current state of the situation was at the beginning?

A Mr. Tolman went to the site and took extensive video and photographs of the site, yes.

Q Was your understanding of what the agreement was as to the scope of work limited to those e-mails or did you do anything else to determine what the scope was?

A First of all, the original agreement I'm going to use that in quotes, "the April 5th e-mail communication," defines what I will call considered very loosely, what the scope of work is, certainly what the intent of Spartan was when they started the project.

Through the scant e-mails that I was able to review, it become apparent that issues came up through somebody's opinion that there's structural work that needed to be done. It also came up that there was a stop-work order because of no permit. It's not unusual and is not surprising. There was a set of architectural drawings that were prepared. Wong is the name of the architect. It is the original drawings, and that showed what the scope of work was, the original scope of work was. When I say original, I'm going to refer to the April 5th e-mail, which is renovation and possible roof patio.

Q Was that when it was just a single unit though?

A Correct, and then drawings were prepared after, and then the project was expanded to include another unit and drawings were prepared, and it has footings on it. It has some supplemental wood framing, et cetera, on it.

So, the scope changed from what the original intent was.

Q And did you believe there was adequate documentation regarding the change in the scope?

A I believe that the architectural documents speak for themselves. When you say "adequate," as any builder or licensed contractor or anybody who does this professionally, we rely on the licensed professionals to tell us what needs to be done. I have a lot of experience, but I always rely on that for liability reasons, No. 1. The licensed architect or engineer is going to tell me what is needed. I'm going to follow that exactly, and I will be safe. That's a standard practice we do.

If you proceed with work that's not shown on the architect's drawings, and let's say there's a structural failure, you're now at fault. That's negligence. You don't do that. I've never done that. It's not standard practice to do that.

Q As a big picture, you haven't found any fault in Mr. Bereki's work or Spartan's work; correct?

A What do you mean by "fault"?

Q Anything wrong with it. It sounds to me you're addressing the costs, the timing, but not whether or not the work was appropriate; is that correct?

A "Appropriate" is a loose term, and when you say I'm just addressing the costs and things like that, what I'm -- by looking at the photographs, an e-mail, and the payroll records and the material purchased, invoices provided by Spartan, you can develop a timeline of what was bought, when, and how long it took to do that.

In my opinion, for example, at the beginning of the project, which started on or about the second week of April, the first week April, on the 9th, I believe -- I'm basing on that the photograph -- until the time they actually got the permit was a very long time, and all of the photographs don't show the work proceeding very quickly. Removing drywall to expose a building, it's quick. It's a relatively small building. Overall, it's about 3200 square feet approximately. That work should take no more than two weeks, especially with the number of men they had on the project.

So, what I'm talking about with Bereki's work or Spartan's work, it took way longer. I can't justify in my mind how it took months and months to peel drywall off and do various pieces of cabinetry. That's what I'm talking about that it took too long.

Q Did you believe that it was appropriate or inappropriate for Spartan to do the exploratory work downstairs?

A It was inappropriate without a permit.

Q Okay. So, you're not saying it didn't need to be done. It's that it should have been permitted first?

A I don't know why they did exploratory renovation. It was cosmetic. I see no documents that tell me why that was done, other than they needed to demolish the building to prepare the drawings, which I already opined on.

Q Do you know what remodel work happened on the first floor shortly before the Humphreys' project started?

A There's not enough detailed information for me to say what happened. I just have brief descriptions of things. I don't know. You talking about the downstairs, Laugharns?

Q It doesn't sound like it's spelled.

MR. BISSELL: Laugharn.

THE WITNESS: If you're talking about that property, there's not enough information in the project file that I saw to make me with certainty know what that was, other than some brief description I got from either Mr. Bereki's testimony or his e-mail communications.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Did you speak with the Laugharns at all?

A No.

Q So, have you reviewed anything for this project of yours in this case outside of the documents exchanged from the parties? Have you gone to any outside sources?

A Yes. What I do in the standard practice, I go and use electronically public information. For example, the California State Licensing Board. I go there. They have public records. So, I can see what the licenses are, when they were obtained, things like that. I went to the Newport Beach City Hall records electronically and pulled out permitting information and everything I could that they had. I also examined their standards of practice. I'm sorry. Each municipality has a little bit differing permitting procedures, which is not unusual. So, I reviewed all of their standards and procedures for doing work in Newport Beach on Lido Island. Also the California State Board, all of the rules and regulations, I do that once in awhile to refresh specifics on a specific project. I also contacted places such as Home Depot for lumber prices to get an idea what the market rate for certain materials are. As far as outside documents, in my recollection right now, that's probably it.

Q Was there anything you felt was overcharged on this project? And I also understand you say it took too long. Was there, whether it be a subcontractor cost or a material cost, anything like that which you felt was far too much?

A Yes, and what I did was, the documents that Spartan provided, I took and made a matrix of all of the receipts. There was a lot. It was very painstaking of everything, made a description of what it was, and I put it in categories, power tools, hand tools, subcontractor, lumber, office supplies, et cetera.

Before I did that, I did an estimate of the Wong drawings. So, I did a take-off. I did a quantity survey, we call it, to count of the materials that's required, and then I developed pricing for that as far as materials. I developed labor pricing for that. I came up with a baseline for me of around what the project like this should cost.

When I finished my analysis, at a later date, because I didn't have the Spartan documents originally, I put all of these together and categorized everything, and I had trouble making the ends meet. By that, there's only so much material that can go into the building. For example, wood. The building is only so big. I got a price which is reasonable. Home Depot was a good enough barometer or any lumber yard. I took the price of materials spent and it was vastly different. So --

Q Because he came in so low?

A No.

Q Okay.

A It was vastly different.

MR. BISSELL: It was a good attempt.

THE WITNESS: Probably 300 percent, 400 percent higher that I couldn't justify where it went or why that was necessary. There's only so much that went into the building. By looking at the photographs, after a point, after Spartan had been terminated from the project, I looked at what was in place, and I can compare that to the drawings to my take-off, my quantity survey and receipts, and I don't want to say it makes no sense to me, but it literally was a 400 percent difference that I don't know where it went.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Well, the receipts are what they are. You're saying too much material was ordered or too high of a price was paid? What is your opinion on that?

A My opinion is when you look at the project and estimate the standard, there's what I refer to as bricks and sticks, lumber, drywall, flooring, cabinets, appliances, electrical outlets. Those are finite items that you can count and put a value on, a market rate value on. I obtain those through getting material prices, using experience and reference guides to put labor to, and you come up with a price, and the price of what was ultimately spent to the date when Spartan was terminated was 400 percent higher than that.

So, when you say were the prices too high, there was what I considered inappropriate charges, unusual, improper charges for a project of this nature on the project.

Q Inappropriate because too much was charged for it?

A Unnecessary. I saw thing like truck leases and shop rentals and power tool purchases and hand tool purchases and furniture and furnishing such as pillows and blankets and things like that.

Q So, there were charges that you felt were not necessary or appropriate; correct?

A Improper.

Q Well, we're talking about materials, and you said the materials came in 400 percent more. Are you throwing in these other costs into materials?

A Let me clarify. When I say the 400 percent, I'm talking about the overall cost, which includes the basic four categories of construction, labor, materials, subcontractor, and equipment. Overhead which are soft costs. Four basic categories. What I'm telling you is what I believe those four categories should have cost and what I examined for the information available to me was approximately 400 percent high.

Q Altogether; correct?
A Yes, all of those.
Q Labor, material, equipment, and what?
A Subcontract.
Q Did you determine that any of the subcontracting was at an unreasonable cost?
A Without having specific details of scope, meaning no written contract with details, it's common to provide a contract, for example, to an air-conditioning HVAC contractor, who will say, "I will put in one unit and all the duct work and thermostats for X," and he gives you a price. I didn't see that. I did it without knowing all of the details. For me to tell you whether that was inappropriate, I don't have enough information to determine that.

I do believe that the amount labor that was used on the project is -- I'm going to use the term wildly inappropriate for the number of man-hours spent on a project of this type, including the revisions that took place, the structural things, extra pieces of wood, things like that that had to take place.
Q As far as equipment, were there equipment charges you felt were unreasonable?
A Yes. Well, I thought they were inappropriate or improper, I should say, for a project of this nature. If this was, I don't believe it was a true time and material cost, in the definition, the licensing board definition, it was kind of not legal how they did this. I'm not an attorney, but my experience tells me it's not legal to proceed like this.

On a labor and material or time and material-type project, when you hire somebody to do this work, it's inherent that they have a car, that they own the power tools. It's much like when I go to Pep Boys. I'm not buying the mechanic's tools. I'm paying for that service. He has all the equipment he needs to do that project.

So, for what appears to me, the quantity of hand tools, power tools, things like that purchased for the project is improper. It's not normal. It's not a standard of practice, standard of care. It is often -- in my experience how this is addressed, if this was a proper time and material cost plus-type contract, which it is not, what is common is, is that because a project when you have unknowns, it's not uncommon for that. You have a baseline to start with.

For example, in the e-mail agreement, Mr. Bereki provided some timeframes and provided dollar values. I have no idea how they were derived at. It's common to estimate what is known and then apply the cost to perform the work, and you start with the baseline. You say, "I believe it's going to be between X and Y, the value of the project." You proceed. What is common is that you keep records. It's very important that you keep records for time and materials.

For example, when you were paying somebody for X-number of hours to do something, it's common at the end of the day, people in construction, you keep daily logs. You have to because OSHA requires that you do it to protect yourself. At the end of the day, you summarize that you worked here for three hours, the agreed upon rate is X, and we used so much material. Here are the receipts for the material. You have a labor and material, whatever agreed upon management fee or other fee. That's the appropriate way to do that.

If you need a specialized piece of equipment, not everybody has a concrete saw. Not everybody has a dump truck. If you feel like you need a specialized tool or equipment for the project, you would rent it for the time period, and you would turn the receipt over to the owner or whoever you're contracted to. It's a common procedure. You wouldn't buy everything that you need for an indefinite period of time.

I saw many instances where there was equipment, in my opinion, on a job site that was not necessary to stay there for months on end. Yes, you need a concrete saw. You rent a concrete saw for a finite amount of time, pass along the rental charges. You need to dump things, you make arrangements with the dumpster to rent or pay for that service. You do it for a finite period of time. If you need something delivered, you don't buy a truck. If you feel you need to have your own truck, you go to U-Haul and rent one for $50 a day or $30 a day and turn it back. That's common. You don't load up everything you may or may not need for the entire duration of the project and charge the owner for something you used for a couple of finite pieces of work.

Q Would you agree that if you can buy a piece of equipment for less than the expected rental rate of that equipment for when that equipment would be on the job, that it's okay to buy the equipment?

A That's depends significantly.

Q On what?

A An example, I saw an example of when -- one that comes to mind is a paint sprayer, over a thousand dollars, somewhere north of a thousand dollars for that. I know that you can rent a paint sprayer for less than $80 a day. I looked at this project, there is certainly no more possible work to be done than a week, the painting would be done in a week. Painting is very quick. It's just labor. Especially if you're spraying, the whole building can be sprayed in two days, detail work done in three or four days.

There's an example I saw where my opinion is to buy even more than one sprayer was inappropriate. If there is a case or the builder wants to make a case that it's cheaper to buy it, you need some sort of analysis. There's nothing on this project that took so long that you needed to buy a piece of equipment. This is residential construction. It's relatively not complex. It's a residential building. There's wood, concrete, drywall, and finishes. It's pretty simple. I saw no need for purchasing specialized equipment.

Q I understand that dumpsters were not allowed due to the confinement on Lido. When you have to haul away stuff on a daily basis, what is the appropriate way to do it and who pays for it?

A Well, there's more than one way to do that. In the photographs, I saw dumpsters. You can -- if they're not allowed, if you can't get a special permit for it, sometimes you can and you have to pay a fee for that, you get a dumpster and haul it off. If that's not appropriate, a way you could do it, let's say you need a dump truck or larger truck to carry debris. How I've done it in the past, how it's common to do it, you do the demolition. You get the rubbish, you get it together.

You rent a truck or you hire a truck, hire a guy that hauls junk or debris to load it and get it out and do that repeatedly if you need to, but that's not unusual to do that. You don't need to buy a truck. Me, I would hire somebody who hauls junk. If I needed a dump truck or a larger truck, I would rent a U-Haul for a day or two or three days.

Q Did you feel it was appropriate or inappropriate for Mr. Bereki to charge for the use of his truck if, in fact, it would have cost more to lease one than what he was charging?

A That's a confusing question. You're trying to say if he bought in lieu of leasing and it's cheaper?

Q He charged Mr. Humphreys part his payment on his truck because it was being used at the project as opposed to him going to rent a truck and charging the whole thing.

A It's wholly improper to put any cost of that truck, to pass it onto Mr. Humphreys.

Q It would have been appropriate for him to rent a truck instead; is that correct?

A No, that's not what I said. It's improper and wholly improper to charge a personal vehicle to Mr. Humphreys. If Spartan had used that truck 24 hours a day for the length of the project at whatever the cost came out to, you don't pass that along on a labor, material, and cost plus job.

Q Is there some definitive place that you could look to determine what the scope of costs are for purposes of a cost plus a fee contract?

A I'm not sure what you're asking.

Q Sure. Is there a definitive place to look to determine what is an appropriate cost of a job for purposes of an agreement such as this?

A You said cost of a job?

Q Yes.

A That's where expertise and experience comes in and building standards. You're talking about an estimate?

Q No, what costs can be passed along to the customer if not otherwise delineated in a written agreement that we all wish we had here?

A The standards in the industry, and I will say, California State Licensing Board and their building codes are very closely in line to AIA documents. What you will find in the AIA documents, it's common. They list, they give you categories of what cost plus items are. It's a pretty specific listing what that is and also a range of markups, what an appropriate markup is. That's one document where I would start with.

Q In this case, Mr. Bereki didn't mark anything up whereas in contracts such as the successor, who did work on this, marked up a percentage on the cost. Why is it acceptable to mark up a percentage on a cost versus making sure every possible cost is included?

A That's a compound, difficult question. I have no idea that Mr. Bereki or Spartan did not mark up their cost. I don't know that. There's not enough evidence to say they did or did not. All I know is what was stated in the April 5th e-mail as far as fees or to cover their costs of labor, management or expertise that you're paying for. There is an enormous difference in what I found in project records dollarwise to what was appropriate to pay for that work.

An example would be the project, taking X-number of days, you multiply that by $500 a day, as I recall in this e-mail for the number of days he's on the project compared with what the record indicates is 200,000 plus dollars that Mr. Bereki received for that work or Spartan received for that work. So, I don't know that he didn't mark it up.

I looked at the payroll records in the agreement. When you look at the payroll records that we have for number of hours worked, you do a simple function of division. You will see that some folks are making $30 an hour when maybe they were going to make a range of 15 to 25. So, I can't say that's not a markup. There's an irregularity that I can't justify.

Q You had prepared a report. Is the one I have right here the right one?

A Yes, it has a print date of 9-12-16.

Q Is this as far as your damage analysis for taking too long or for charges that you thought were excessive or inappropriate, does this accurately summarize your conclusions on this?

A To date, it summarizes my conclusions, yes.

Q Was there something you haven't done that you wish you had done that would change that report?

A No.

Q Okay. You said "to date."

A When I say "to date," because there's always a possibility that new information can become available.

Q Did you look at what the subsequent contractor Mr. Nickel did after he started on the job?

A I would say I looked at the documentation. I did not analyze it. I was not hired to analyze those, but yes, I looked at it.

Q In your conclusions, is there some reliance on what Mr. Nickel did after he started on the job?

A What do you mean by "reliance"? I didn't look at Mr. Nickel's enough to tell you right, wrong, left, right, what it stood for. I didn't rely it on it whatsoever for a couple of reasons. I was not paid or engaged to analyze Nickel's project. The information became available to me. We looked at it real quick.

Q I understand, for instance, he testified earlier today that he had a new set of architectural plans. Did you see the new set of architectural plans?

A I did see those.

Q Did that at all influence your opinion?

A That work is -- my opinion is going from the time of April 5th, 2012 to approximately on or about August 28, 2014, I think was the termination date.

Q Okay.

MR. RUSSO: Was it 2013?

MR. BEREKI: Yeah.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q It sounds like we have a disparity in dates. I think the termination date was actually in 2013.

A I believe you're correct.

Q You're looking at things in the snapshot as of the time of termination; is that correct?

A I'm looking at the timeframe from April 5th of '12 to August 28 of '13. I will say, I did notice in Spartan's records that there was payroll after that date. So, it went into September a little bit.

Q So, anything that happened after August of 2013 didn't weight into the opinions that you're here to testify about; correct?

A No.

Q Okay. We've got your report. We will mark it as Exhibit 1 to your deposition.

(Whereupon Plaintiff's Exhibit 1 was marked for identification.)

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Are there any other reports that summarize your opinions?

A No. This a worksheet that collects all of that. I'm sorry. Maybe I spoke too soon. I did some estimating spreadsheets and additional schedules, if you want to consider that a report.

Q Okay. I see next to your left hand, there seems to be some scheduling.

A Yes. These are just -- what this is, is simply a timeline this plots events and plots payrolls and things of that nature. This is for reference.

Q Okay. You gave me a flash drive with a bunch of documents. Are all of these reports on there?

A It's all on there. These are not reports. They're to help the deposition if we needed it. They've been provided.

Q Let's go through Exhibit 1. The run date is November 12th --

A September 12th.

Q Sorry. September 12th, 2016.

MR. BISSELL: Do you happen to have another copy of it?

MR. RUSSO: I'll get you a copy.

MR. BISSELL: Thanks.

(Recess held.)

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Apparently, the engineering was Wong, and the architect was Overly.

A That's correct. I used the Wong drawings because he's the licensed professional.

Q Okay. Do you know how long into the project it was that the Wong drawings were prepared?

A Yes.

Q When is that?

A Seventy days after the agreement of April 5th.

Q And you're basing what things should have cost in your opinion and how long it took based on the Wong drawings; correct?

A No. I'm basing it on everything. There's four aspects I considered. The two aspects are the original agreement, which was a renovation with the potential roof patio, there was the Wong drawings, and then there was Spartan/Bereki mentioned work at the Laugharns, however you pronounce that, and the soil pipe, and so I take all of those things into consideration. I recognized the project changed from what was conceived until what the Wong drawings illustrated.

Q Did you feel that in those first 70 days before the plans were prepared that things were not moving quick enough?

A Things should not have been moving at all.

Q You're saying because there was no permit?

A For two reasons, yes. A, there's no permit, and so he shouldn't be there, and Wong produced the drawings 70 days later. What are you doing if you don't know what the architectural drawings are going to say? When you found out that you needed a permit or you needed drawings, what were you doing in the meantime? Payroll records indicate work was going on. Photographs tell me a little bit of demolition is all that was done.

So, the proper thing to do, you're not supposed to proceed without a permit. They did. Spartan did. You go there, and you have the stop work order. You should stop until you obtain the permit. He obtained the permit sometime well after the drawings were prepared. No work should have been taking place there.

Q Do you know why it took so long to get the permit?

A I know there were several review cycles, which is not common with any municipality.

Q Do you know whether or not -- do you have an opinion as to whether or not the architectural plans were prepared promptly from when Mr. Overly was engaged?

A Not having specific, rock hard evidence of when specifically Mr. Overly was engaged, just some hearsay on e-mails, to say it's an appropriate amount of time, I can't opine on that without additional information. I only can opine on that 70 days after you started the project, which is slightly over two months, that's a long time to produce drawings.

Q Okay. Let's go through your report. Do you break up what you contend the damages are into components here?

A Yes.

Q Okay. The first one, scheduled delay --

A Yes.

Q -- what are you intending to convey here?

A What I did -- and that's why I brought this visual aid here. I can give you a copy of this. What we did is, the multiple phases of the project, Phase 1, interior renovation, in the April 5th e-mail, Mr. Bereki estimates that's going to take 30 days. Phase 2 in that

April 5th e-mail, Mr. Bereki says it's going to take approximately 45 days. That's approximately a month and a half. For what I call the structural remodeling and all that work with the Wong drawings, there was no schedule provided by Mr. Bereki or Spartan. So, I did one to estimate how long that should take, and I came up with a duration of 154 days or 153 days.

Q So, that's to do the -- if nothing else, just the interior renovations that were originally planned back on April 5th, 2012 and then expanded when the new unit came in?

MR. BISSELL: Objection; mischaracterizes his testimony.

THE WITNESS: No.

MR. BISSELL: It's the Wong drawings.

THE WITNESS: It's the Wong drawings and everything else that occurred, meaning modifications to the Laugharns and mentioning of an underground drain, but that didn't delay the project. That 153 days encompasses all work necessary.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Okay. When the original, somewhat vague scope started to the additional unit to Wong getting involved and deciding what needed to be down below that you included, you believe that the whole project should have taken 153 days?

A Yes.

Q Are those workdays or calendar days?

A Calendar days.

Q So, that includes Saturdays and Sundays?

A Correct.

Q And based on this, you believe it took 157 days too long to get to where he was?

Q And the chart you have to your left, can I see that?

A (Witness complies.)

Q (Counsel peruses document.)

Is this a source that you go to to decide how long these things should have taken or is it just your experience?

A Well, it's a method. As a side, I have decades of experience. I have a lot of experience with this practicality application and instruction. You go through a process, which is a standard to come up with a bar chart that accompanies those 84 days that I went through the process. I also used -- did a takeoff for quantity survey of all of the materials and labor required for the project, and we come up with a number of days. That's another analysis for coming up with workdays. So, I believe I went through a thorough process for developing days.

Q Okay.

A Creating a schedule.

Q Were you aware that the property has never been rented since the completion of construction?

A I don't know whether it's been rented or not.

Q So, why have the rental value if the intent of the owner was never to rent the property?

A I have no idea. The potential to rent the property was lost. I don't know what is in the owner's mind or what events could have occurred or how long they were going to be here or if they could have rented it. If they could have rented it, they lost that opportunity, in my analysis, of 357 days worth of opportunity to rent the property.

Q Do you know how often the Humphreys actually go to the property?

A No.

Q Okay. Did you ever ask Mr. Humphreys if his intent was to actually rent the property out?

A I don't believe I asked him that specifically,

no.

Q Let's look at the next category, Supervision Compensation.

A Yes.

Q Can you tell me how you came up with that?

A Essentially, it's the same mathematics as in the Schedule Delay. What I'm saying here is, it should have taken 153 days to do all of this work. The supervision rate or day rate assuming he worked every single day including weekends, and I'm not saying that's true. I erred on the conservative side, giving the benefit of the doubt that Spartan was there every single day, seven days a week. At $500 a day, an acceptable fee for that would have been 76,500, as I have listed. From the records, I was able to glean right around $201,000. So, my opinion is the delta between that is $124,500 of unnecessary costs.

Q Okay. The next item is Tools.

A Yes. What I did, I will show you visually, this is an Excel worksheet that is part of this, and I took from Spartan's deposit, all of their records, which is all of the invoices, and on this piece of paper, along this column, I listed, these are the vendors, here is the description, and it's dated, and I put in categories. For example, Labor, Material, Subcontract, Equipment, Power Tools, Hand Tools, Administration, Gas, Furniture, Automotive Expenses, Appliances, Architecture, Engineering, City Fees, et cetera. I came up with this matrix, what I'm showing you here, and under the category of Hand Tools is hammers, wrenches, tape measures, common carpentry tools. I came up with a purchase that I have listed here of 20,042 -- I'm sorry -- 2,042.

Q That's each actual item listed on the spreadsheet?

A Yes.

Q Are the items on the spreadsheet based on what Spartan charged or how did you get that number?

A By the receipts provided, receipts or invoices.

Q If I wanted to know what tools you thought he should have owned and not charged Mr. Humphreys for, it's on that spreadsheet?

A It's on here. I color coded it so it's easy to find.

MR. BISSELL: Do you want to mark that as Exhibit 2 since he's talking about this?

MR. RUSSO: Sure. I will mark it as Exhibit 2. Let me take that.

(Whereupon Plaintiff's Exhibit 2 was marked for identification.)

///

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q What would you call the document we just marked as 2, sir?

A Invoice matrix. We will call it that.

Q It specifically has to do with hand tools or is it more general?

A All invoices.

Q Okay. The next item is Power Tools.

A Yes.

Q How did you decide what power tools -- are those power tools purchased and charged for?

A Yes.

Q And is there a standard in the industry when you do have to buy a power tool about who keeps it at the end?

A It's highly unusual who keeps it. What I'm paying for when I hire a tradesman, they come with a hammer, tape measure. They come with hand tools and the basic power tools. In the case of carpentry, they would need a saw, maybe some drills, and possibly some screwdrivers. They come with that. That's what you're buying.

Q Okay. The subsequent contractor, Mr. Nickel, came with nothing. He was more of an administrative general contractor and didn't do any of the labor. Why is it that if he charges for these items for his subcontractors, it's okay, but yet Mr. Bereki who's on the job charging for these things is not okay?

MR. BISSELL: Objection; incomplete and inaccurate hypothetical.

THE WITNESS: And what I was going to say is, it's two completely different scenarios. No. 1, I did not have access to whatever agreement Mr. Nickel came to. I do have access to what the understanding of Mr. Bereki or Spartan was, and I don't know if I should speculate what Mr. Nickel did, but what is not uncommon is if I hire a subcontractor like Mr. Bereki did for $3,000 to do electrical work, this electrician isn't charging back for his wire cutters, his -- whatever he might need, an amp meter or any specialized piece of equipment.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Is there within the AIA guidelines or any guidelines, is there anything that sets forth the industry standard on what power tools can be charged for and what cannot?

A Going off of my memory, they list -- they describe. Power tools are different than equipment. I want to make that distinction. A power tool is a power screwdriver, a drill, a reciprocating saw, something like that. Equipment is something specialized. Equipment is like scaffolding. Equipment is a crane. Equipment is a forklift. I want to make that distinction, first of all.

So, small tools, hand tools, it's all considered by AIA, including power tools like I described, saw, screwdriver, et cetera, that's all considered under tools, and that is a part of the labor rate. Equipment above and beyond that is charged separately.

Q Okay. So, were there particular power tools charged for that you took issue with?

A All of them. Without looking at them, power tools -- when I'm paying for a carpenter, I pay for that. Same thing when I take my car to Pep Boys, I'm not paying for the wrenches. I bought that when I am paying his hourly rate.

Q Where would I look at on what I marked as Exhibit 2 to see where the power tool list is or is it incorporated within everything else?

A When you look across the top of the first page, PT is power tools. It's $118.74, and that's a Ryobi screwdriver, and if you go down there, the next entry is $156, a Dewalt screw gun. Then screwdriver kits, et cetera, et cetera. That's how you'll track it.

Q I got it. Would it have been appropriate for Mr. Bereki to hire a tradesman that had the tools and charged more than Mr. Bereki purchasing these power tools and includes it within his daily rate?

A According to the agreement, Mr. Bereki or Spartan forgive me, if I'm mispronouncing it or Spartan sold the owner that he is the tradesman. So, he should have had the tools. When you say it would have been cheaper or appropriate to hire a tradesman, it's so hypothetical, I don't know how to address it.

Q Next, Equipment.

A Again, on the sheet that I provided you where it says E, that's equipment. So, the first expense is a stylus for an iPad and propane tanks and different types of supplies that you can follow if you go down the column.

Q If these items needed to be rented, would that have been appropriate?

A If they were necessary.

Q Was there any equipment that you determined was not necessary?

A My determination was that the equipment that's listed here, any reasonable contractor would possess those. They would possess a broom and dust pan and things like that.

Q So, would it be fair to summarize your position on the equipment is that Mr. Bereki should have owned this already?

A Any contractor would own those things, a broom, ladder, trash cans, at least some. If there was a whole bunch necessary, a multitude of trash cans or ladders or different things likes that, there would have to be a reason for that.

Q Is it your opinion that the charges themselves were unreasonable outside of the fact you're saying there shouldn't have been a charge at all?

A The receipts speak for themselves. If there's a receipt that came from whatever store, that's what the market rate is.

Q The next item is Vehicle Cost.

A Yes.

Q You're saying categorically, there shouldn't have been any vehicle costs?

A Categorically is a strong term. As I said earlier in my testimony that if there was an absolute necessity for a specialized vehicle to be used on this project and Spartan deemed it appropriate to use it on the project, then you can rent something. You wouldn't outright purchase one. If I needed to dump things or to deliver some stone, if I couldn't hire a driver with a truck, which is common, then I would rent one from U-Haul or Ryder or some other reputable rental outfit for the period of time necessary.

Q Was there a period of time when a truck was necessary for this job for hauling purposes?

A I will say that it's not uncommon at some point that something will have to be hauled. I would add, for material deliveries, the materials are delivered by the suppliers in all cases. There may come a time when something came up and you were short a couple of two-by-fours. You can call them to redeliver that. Everything is else is delivered, you can get delivered to you.

Q It's okay to charge the client to have it delivered, but it's not okay to pick it up and charge him for that?

A That's an interesting question because it's compound.

Q Okay.

A Okay. What the owner is being charged for is Mr. Bereki's time and the time it takes to perform the work. So, if it takes him two hours to go pick that up, that's included in what the negotiated or stated day rate of $500 is. You wouldn't charge above and beyond that.

Q If he needs to use his work truck for that to go get materials, you believe any charge for that use of the truck is inappropriate?

A No. 1, I would have it delivered. All of the supply is delivered. If you made a mistake and you are short and they're going to charge you an extra delivery charge of 50 bucks or something, you can pass that along to the owner.

MR. BISSELL: Even if it's your own mistake?

THE WITNESS: If it's a mistake, no. I'm trying to use the example, let's say it was not a mistake and it's newly discovered that you needed material and you have to have it delivered, it's a short load. That's when it's less than a full load and they charge you for that, that is an example of an equipment charge. It goes with the materials. When you get lumber from the lumber yard, the cost of delivery is sometimes built into the cost. Sometimes they charge extra. It's an expected cost. That type of cost is appropriate to charge.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q For purposes of your analysis, you categorically found that the charges for the use of the automobile and everything associated with it was unreasonable; correct?

A Categorically do I say it's unreasonable? Yes.

Q So, the $22,910.38, that was all of the charges for the automobile; correct?

A I don't know if that was all of the charges. That was all I was able to glean from the documents.

Q You excluded from reasonable every charge associated with the auto you were aware of?

A Repeat that.

Q Sure. You determined that every charge associated with the automobile was unreasonable at least as to the charges you saw; correct?

A Of all the charges I saw, yes.

Q Next is Labor Overpayment.

A Yes.

Q Can you tell me what you're trying to convey here?

A Okay. What I was able to examine is, I had the payroll records and I had W-2 statements, which is a federal form you turn into taxes for the people that worked on this project. I will take the first category. I take Wolf Construction consulting fees. As is described, Wolf Construction is either an associate of Spartan or was somehow was going to be the foreman on the project. Somewhere along the line, it was determined to be around $300 a day to pay him. Assuming he was on the job every single day, 7 days a week, which I do not believe he was, you take that rate and multiply it by the 153 days. You come up with $45,900. That's what was agreed to pay him for what was agreed to. The amount I have there is $63,744.

Q Let me stop you one second. 153 days. If work was not done on the weekends, is it still 153?

A We use calendar days. So, there's -- I don't know what days they work. We have to use calendar days. What I'm saying is, I'm giving everything in this case, Spartan, Wolf Construction, the benefit of the doubt that we're paying you for seven days a week.

Q You're basing the number of days that Spartan or Wolf Construction worked on their charges?

A No, should have done this project in 153 days.

Q What I'm saying is, in determining how long it did take -- I'm trying to figure out -- if they only worked Monday through Friday, then would the project have taken more than 153 calendar days?

A No.

Q Why not?

A Well, I would ask you why.

Q Well, if they worked every Saturday and Sunday, is it still 153 calendar days?

A The answer is yes. I'm going to tell you why. In standard practice for scheduling, we use calendar days for a reason. There's seven days in a week. It's an actuality we can measure. During the calendar days, we are assuming there's nonworking days, holidays, probably a weather day, maybe it rains or something. That's taken into account, which is why when those things happen, and maybe you can do it on Saturday. Saturday is a workday. The 153 days is assuming you have five days a week at the bear minimum to get it done. That's how we're basing the 153 days on. I hope that answered your question.

Q Do you know or conclude whether or not there were any weather days?

A I didn't study that, meaning, how I would study that, I would go the National Weather Service. There's plenty of websites that's acceptable in legal proceedings that I used in the past. They give me that information. The case in this project was an enclosed building. There could have been occasional weather days. It doesn't snow in Newport Beach, at least I've never seen it. They get occasional moisture in the air. That would not have stopped construction.

Q Okay. Wolf Construction, you determined that Wolf Construction should have been paid for 153 labor days. Is that what you're saying?

A Yes.

Q Times 300, that's where you get the 43,900; correct?

A Correct, and the consulting fees, 63,744, I got from the records that were provided by Spartan. I totaled those up. The number could be a little different, but that's the records I could find where he was compensated. It appears he was compensated both for materials and labor. The materials he was compensated for is not included in this figure. This is just labor. These are some things he was reimbursed for like getting lumber. That is not in this number. It is in the material numbers. I want to make that clear.

Q Is it somewhere else in your damage analysis?

A This would be listed in the matrix I provided.

Q Did you find that all of the materials Wolf Construction charged for that were passed along to Mr. Humphreys, was any of that unreasonable?

A I'm glad you asked that because I know in some cases, by that I mean, I'm going pick a number at random, $300, with a description of what it is, not necessarily an invoice backing it up. When I'm doing my analysis, I'm giving Spartan and Wolf the benefit of the doubt that what they said it cost was true. I'm giving them the benefit of the doubt. Meaning, I could not necessarily coordinate an invoice for what Mr. Wolf was compensated for.

Q This payroll, is that based on the invoices from Mr. Bereki? Where does that number come from?

A The 236,842 comes from the payroll records provided by Spartan.

Q Okay.

A If you want, I have another matrix I used for that. I titled this sheet "Cost Worksheet - Payroll" and before I hand it to you, this is the payroll records, this is the W-2 records (indicating).

Q (Counsel peruses document.)

So, were the W-2 records actually from Wolf Construction?

A I'm talking all labor. Wolf Construction is outside of the labor in this payroll. Wolf was paid in addition to this figure.

Q In addition to the -- so, what makes up the 236?

A The payroll you have in your hand, which is the payroll that Spartan provided. I painstakingly went through every single one, listed the person's name, what the compensation was, how it was described, the number of hours, when it was described, the rate of pay, did some math to figure out what the rate of pay was, if it wasn't listed, what it was based on the hours and gross pay and I made that sheet to determine it.

Q Are you questioning whether or not these sums were actually paid to these people?

A When you say questioning, I can only go off evidence. The evidence I have is the W-2 is to me the concrete evidence. It is a federal document. That is the hardest evidence of what was paid to those workmen listed there. In my analysis, I only found 165,386 that went to those guys, not the 236 plus thousand listed on the payroll records. I don't have any evidence to cover that gap.

Q From Spartan's records, you showed 236,000 in payroll not including Wolf Construction fees; correct?

A Correct.

Q And of the 236, you then looked for those individual employees and you found W-2s from Spartan to them only for 165,386; is that correct?

A Correct.

Q So, you believe there was possibly overcharging of roughly $70,000; is that correct?

A That's not what I believe. That's what the evidence shows that I have examined. So, there's a difference that I can't account for.

Q Okay. We have two issues here on the labor overpayment. One, you thought Wolf Construction worked an excessive number of days; correct?

A No. Stay with the delay. 153 days was appropriate. I said an excessive number of days. I'm saying, the project should have taken 153 days, and his compensation should have been 45,900. I'm saying, at the time of Spartan's termination, I could determine he was paid at least $63,000, and that's an overcharge of whatever the delta is of that number, 17,000 or so.

Q That's because he was on the job more days than what you felt was appropriate?

A To complete the work, yes.
Q Aside from that, you have the payroll charge not matching up with W-2s?
A Yes.
Q And the last item is Accounting. Why did you put Accounting down?
A Because it's not for a time and material type of arrangement. You wouldn't -- it's not appropriate or proper. Assuming again, if we have a contract that was legal and proper, you wouldn't charge that to a job of this nature.
Q Why not?
A I would ask back why? It's unusual. I would ask why. Why do you need an accountant?
Q If you're being paid for all costs, why wouldn't the accountant be part of the costs?
A That is an indirect cost.
MR. BISSELL: It's an inappropriate and inaccurate hypothetical.
BY MR. RUSSO:
Q Did the agreement between Spartan and Humphreys differentiate between direct and indirect costs?
MR. BISSELL: It doesn't mention costs.
THE WITNESS: The e-mail which you call an agreement, which I don't, but that's all we have, doesn't get to that specificity. It implies that we're paying, the Humphreys are paying for Bereki's or Spartan's expertise and supervision and management and skill in his daily rate. Some tasks to me are implied, which includes accounting. Accounting on a job like this is pretty much simple. You count how many hours you worked and what the invoices are for the materials you spent. This, agree or not, disagree, it's unusual, it's improper. You don't add an accountant's cost to a time and material project.

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Okay. Next item is Material Overpayment. Is this where you did a takeoff on what you thought the material should be and what the charges were?

A Yes. What I did as best I could from the matrix that I previously handed to you --

Q That's in the first matrix?

A Yes.

Q Exhibit No. 2?

A Yes. That's what it appears was spent on total materials. I did a quantity survey, and that's the estimate as I described to you before, how much lumber was required, what the market rate is, and came up with a price, and it's $56,753. You will see the next line, Construction Material Contingency, it's 10 percent of the original 56,000. I am giving the benefit of the doubt for the 10 percent of the materials. So, my opinion in my analysis, the cost of materials is approximately $62,000 based on everything I looked at.

So, I looked at that $62,000. I looked at the $141,000, approximately a hundred percent difference, and I don't know how that is justified.

Q Were the actual materials specified such that you knew what they were supposed to be?

A There's two things I need to add to this. The materials I came up with was for everything on the job. It was to complete the job according to the Wong drawings, Overly may have assisted in preparing them. My material takeoff includes of all of that 100 percent. It's very important to note, on August 28, the work -- I can estimate it was approximately 25 to a third percent complete on those drawings.

So, the reality, that number should be a third of $62,000. Do you follow what I'm trying to say? The project wasn't complete at the time of termination. My estimate of materials is for all the materials required. I'm giving the benefit of the doubt as far as my numbers. If I got down into it, I would probably cut my material price in half.

Q So, the approximately $62,000 was to complete the work under the -- what you called the Wong drawings?

A Correct.
Q Okay. And is that all materials of every kind or more lumber, concrete type stuff?
A All materials.
Q Including all finish materials?
A Yes. All materials, yes.
Q And does that include things like fixtures and everything?
A Correct. Let me clarify that. The subcontract invoices that I saw in here, I let those go, meaning, I didn't reduce those costs any. If he paid an electrician or plumber to do the work because I didn't have the scope of work, if there's any fixtures or materials in those prices, I didn't discount that, if you will.
Q Okay. In coming up with the 141,000 you're saying?
A Right.
Q Okay. So, there might have been other materials built into the contractor's fees?
A There could have been. I don't have enough information to know for sure.
Q Okay. And again, is that in the spreadsheet?
A Yes.
Q Exhibit No. 2?
A The materials, yes.

Q Is that under NT?

A No, under M, the second column from the left. You see 141? You see the matching number there.

Q So, that's ultimately adding up what the actual costs were?

A The materials from what I could determine from the invoices, yes.

Q Is there somewhere within your files where you did the takeoff on what the material costs should have been?

A Yes. This one here is two sheets entitled "Estimate Takeoff," and it's self-explanatory.

Q (Counsel peruses document.)

Did you go out and do some research on the cost of the materials or are they built within a program that you have?

A No, there's no program. What we generally do or I do, I will say, and what I do for a living, literally do, I don't know if hundreds, but it's certainly dozens of cost estimates a year, and we have a historical database. What I always do and what I did in this case, we go look for pricing. Lumber is a -- you go to Home Depot, Lowes or some lumberyard. I would have done that. I didn't pull it out of a program. This is just an Excel spreadsheet. It's not a specialized, proprietary program.

Q Next, Business Equipment.

A What I have here is furniture, shelves, computer, printers, software, things like that. Again, if this was a legally executed contract, you wouldn't have that anyway, but to pass on the price of the computer software, stuff like that to the owner is highly unusual and improper. If I needed -- No. 1, I go back to, we're paying for specialty services from Spartan to do this work. To buy a computer, to buy a bunch of software for design work is inappropriate for this scenario. If I wanted to demonstrate different designs in 3D, things like that, anywhere you buy the stuff, they have the software, and you can tell them what you want and they will print out the sketches for free. You don't need to buy a computer and all of the software. It's highly unusual. It's unnecessary.

Q Again, you're not questioning the actual charge. You're saying it wasn't necessary to begin with?

A Again, my opinion on a charge, if it says it on the invoice, if there's an invoice from a vendor, then I accept it as market rate. If it's just a number listed in a ledger somewhere with no backup, I gave them the benefit of the doubt, but looking at the equipment under that line item, it looks appropriate, and if the invoice backed it up, I put it on there.

Q Overhead. What about Business License and Insurance?

A That's the cost of doing business that Spartan takes care of. That's their business. They don't pass that onto the owner, and the overhead with the excessive stationery and how-to books and things like that, you don't pass it onto the owner. Bottom line is, when it comes to reference books, whatever you come across, we don't go out and buy the book and pass it on. The wonderful thing with the world today is that we have the internet. The information is free on the website. If you need a page, you can print it. If you want to know how to do something, we don't need to buy all of these things to keep around in case something comes up. Plus, I'm assuming that the professional has inherent knowledge on how do those things.

Q Business License.

A That's a cost of why I'm doing business. It's inappropriate to charge the owner for that.

Q Okay. I believe the last item is Shop.

A I have two other categories. Shop/Office Rental and Equipment Rentals. I pulled -- that's for the forklift specifically, and I have probably $300, like 15 months, whatever the amount of months was. The forklift wasn't necessary. It surely wasn't required for 15 months or however long it was kept at the site nor was it required to outfit a shop office to do the project.

Q Why not have the place to, for instance, make the cabinets?

A Why or why not do it in the house?

Q So, your opinion is that it wasn't necessary to have a shop because it should have been done on the premises?

A No, that's not what I said. I would go back to, why did you have to have a shop to do the cabinet, and were the cabinets requested to be custom made or would it have been better to buy them off the shelf? You can get any number of cabinets relatively economic to hand-building them from the store, I mean from a cabinet maker, a cabinet supplier. You don't need a shop to make the cabinets or anything for that matter.

Q If it was cheaper to make the cabinet including the shop rental than buying them, would this be an inappropriate charge?

A That's a loaded question. I will put it like this: I see no evidence in the reports that an analysis was done that we shopped for cabinets, this is what I came up with. I propose to build them for less. That's a hypothetical question we can't answer. There was no -- as far as I can tell, the Humphreys weren't given a choice.

Q Is it unusual for there to be a rental as a staging area to store materials and equipment for a project like this?

A When you go to normal procedure, I'm going to go back to that this is a relatively simple piece of residential construction. Yes, it's on Lido Island, space is at a premium. That is not unusual, like working in any urban center or anywhere else there's no room. What's common practice is, if I need stuff on the project, I have it delivered when I can use it. For example, if I have a whole bunch of lumber, I will have the amount delivered that I can get put up in a reasonable amount of time. In this case, you had a garage that existed at the property or you can store it in the work area. If I had all of these kitchen cabinets and I wanted them, I would bring them to the site when I needed them. I wouldn't get them six months ahead of time and have them sit and pay for rent. That's kind of silly. What we do, we set delivery dates to make sure we are ready to receive them so they're not sitting.

I put forth in my experience, I've done projects with zero staging area, zero delivery area. It comes down to managing your deliveries. If there's an extraordinary circumstance, I would bring it up with the owner. In this case with this type of construction for this building, nothing I've seen in the records would not have fit somewhere on this project if it had to stay for a day or two.

Q What was wrong with the forklift rental?

A I don't know what the forklift was used for. If a forklift was required, he didn't need it for the duration of the project.

MR. RUSSO: Okay. I'm going to ask my client if I have any more questions, and I'll be right back.

(Recess held.)

BY MR. RUSSO:

Q Can you tell me what the date of Wong drawings is that you're referring to?

A 6-14-12.

Q Can you tell me on what we marked as Exhibit No. 2, your spreadsheet, can you tell me what the different categories are, for example, S, what is that?

A Subcontract.

Q E, that's equipment?

A Equipment.

Q PT again?

A Power tools.

Q HT?

A Hand tools.

Q Administration?

A That's --

Q Just as it sounds. Gas, that was associated with the car?

A Fuel.

Q Furniture, what's wrong with that?

A I had to have a category for it. Furniture is furnishing. It's not part of the construction. It's part of the category.

Q A&E?

A Architectural and engineering fees.

Q Did you feel any of those fees were inappropriate?

A I saw the receipts of what they cost. That appears to be market rate. That's what he paid for it.

Q Does the customer or contractor pay for building permits?

A Depends on the agreement, but it's not uncommon for the owner to pay for the building permits.

MR. RUSSO: Thank you. I have no further questions. Any questions?

MR. BISSELL: No questions here.

MR. RUSSO: I propose that relieve the reporter of her duties under the Code of Civil Procedure; the original of the transcript can be sent to Defense counsel; a certified copy can be used for all purposes; he will let me know by

SYNOPSIS:

In March 2022, I was assigned to investigate Adam Bereki's complaint against Orange County Superior Court Judge D. Chaffee. Judge Chaffee oversaw a civil case between Adam Bereki and Karen and Gary Humphreys. Adam Bereki alleged grand theft against Judge Chaffee for his judgment and decision on the case.

Subject 1:
Judge David Chaffe [redacted]

Subject 2:
Adam Bereki (CA / B6970543)
818 Spirit
Costa Mesa, CA 92626

INVESTIGATION:

In April 2012, Adam Bereki entered a contract with the Humphreys, Karen and Gary, to complete a remodel of their newly purchased condominium unit in Newport Beach, California. Adam Bereki previously completed work for Gary Humphreys' brother and son. The Humphreys took the recommendations and hired Adam Bereki to complete the remodel. Adam Bereki sent a proposal to the Humphreys through email, and they agreed to the terms of the project. The daily fees for Adam Bereki and his partner, Glenn Overley, along with the prices for parts and labor were also discussed and agreed upon through the emails.

In May 2012, the Humphreys purchased the condominium unit directly above the unit Adam Bereki was hired to remodel. The Humphreys retained Adam Bereki's services for the second unit and ultimately decided to convert it into one unit. Work on the Humphreys' condominium units seized, and the last services were dated August 21, 2013.

Adam Bereki filed a civil suit against the Humphreys on August 21, 2015. He filed the suit after the contract was terminated, and he was not paid the remaining balance of $82,000. On October 13, 2015, the Humphreys filed a cross-complaint against Adam Bereki.

The Humphreys were able to bring a cross-complaint because Business and Professions Code 7031(e) allows for a party who utilizes the services of an unlicensed contractor to may bring an action in ANY court of competent jurisdiction to recover all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor. The Humphreys were the only people to utilize Adam Bereki's services, so they were able to bring forth an action against him. Adam Bereki claimed he is the sole owner and operator of The Spartans and Associates, Incorporated, a construction company, with a valid contractor license.

The two-day case took place between March 27-28, 2017, and was overseen by Orange County Superior Court Judge David Chaffee. Representing the Humphreys was William G. Bissell, Law Offices of William G. Bissell. Adam Bereki represented himself along with J. Scott Russo, Russo & Duckworth LLP. J. Scott Russo was also defending the Suretec Insurance Company, a contractor license bond.

The cross-complaint sought the disgorgement of the funds paid by the Humphreys to Adam Bereki, The Spartan Associates or Spartan Construction, which was $848,000. The cross-complaint alleged that Adam Bereki worked on the Humphreys condominiums without a valid contractor's license.

The first cause of action in the trial was about who the Humphreys contracted with. Based on emails and lack of written contracts, the court decided the contract was between the Humphreys and Adam Bereki, and not Adam Bereki's company, The Spartan Associates.

J. Scott Russo made the argument that Adam Bereki was a "little lax" for accepting the first few payments under his name and not his company but ultimately the majority of the money accepted was done by The Spartan Associates. Additionally, the building permits were obtained by The Spartan Associates. J. Scott Russo argued the work done was done under a B license and was correctly done.

J. Scott Russo argued that although there was not a written contract, the emails exchanged between the Humphreys and Adam Bereki constituted a contract. J. Scott Russo contended that the emails were from Adam Bereki, on behalf of The Spartan Associates, since Adam Bereki was the sole "shareholder" and employee. The emails that began talking of fees and costs began on April 5, 2012. The emails were sent from Adam Bereki's personal email account. The initial emails mentioned Adam Bereki's partner, Glenn Overley, but he didn't mention The Spartan Associates.

After July 2012, Adam Bereki requested the Humphreys make payments to The Spartan Associates and not to Adam Bereki. From April 2012 to July 2012, payments were made to Adam Bereki. From July 2012 forward, the payments were made to either Spartan or Spartan Construction.

The Humphreys and William G. Bissell argued that Adam Bereki was unlicensed at the time of entering the contract. William G. Bissell argued that although Adam Bereki was The Spartan Associates Responsible Management Officer, he was required to have a contractor's license as an individual. Even the partnership between Glenn Overley and Adam Bereki would have needed a joint venture license. Since Glenn Overley was an independent contractor, he was required to have his own contractor's license.

Judge Chaffee ruled that the contract was made between Adam Bereki and the Humphreys, therefore rendering Adam Bereki as an unlicensed contractor. Judge Chaffee ruled that Adam Bereki would return $848,000 to the Humphreys. Judge Chaffee acknowledged that the emails exchanged between Adam Bereki and the Humphreys met the definition of a contract.

Judge Chaffee referenced three cases to make his decision:

- Ball v. Steadfast (2011), 196 Cal.App.4th p. 694.
- 29 Palms Enterprises Corporation v. Bardos (2012), 210 Cal.App.4th p. 14, 13.
- MW Erectors v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Company, Inc. (2005), 36 Cal.4th p. 412.

Ball v. Steadfast (2011), 196 Cal.App.4th p. 694

In Ball v. Steadfast, a licensed contractor was not licensed as a contractor to do business in the name of "Clark Air Conditioning Heating." Ball sued in his own name to a foreclosure on a mechanic's lien. The foreclosure came from a nonpayment under the contracts entered.

The court held that Ball was not licensed as a contractor to do business under the name Clark Heating and Air Conditioning. Ball appeared on the contractor license as the owner of Clark Heating and Air Conditioning. The license was issued to Clark Heating and Air Conditioning.

The court determined that "Ball entered the contracts on behalf of his sole proprietorship, not on behalf of a separate legal entity that could, and should, have obtained its own license." (Ball, supra, 196 Cal.App.4th at p. 703)

Judge Chaffee interpreted that in Ball v. Steadfast, "the contractor was licensed as a "sole owner" and not as a partnership or corporate entity pursuant to the classification system of B&P code section 7065." Furthermore, Judge Chaffee interpreted that because Ball failed to contract work under the wrong business name, and not the name on his license, it was grounds for disciplinary action, but it did not bar him from attempting to recover payment for the work he performed.

Judge Chaffee stated, "First of all, and foremost, we have no license in the name of Mr. Bereki individually; instead, it appears he was the qualifying corporate officer for the legal entity, Spartan Associates, incorporated."

29 Palms Enterprises Corporation v. Bardos (2012), 210 Cal.App.4th p. 14, 13

In 29 Palms Enterprises Corporation v. Bardos, 29 Palms Enterprises Corporation filed a complaint against Cadmus Construction Company. The complaint was because Cadmus Construction Company, and indirectly Bardos were not licensed as contractors in California. The court ordered Cadmus Construction Company to disgorge all of the fees 29 Palms Enterprises Corporation had paid.

It was determined Bardos was the Responsible Managing Officer, and he did not have a license in his personal name. Additionally, the court ruled that Bardos' corporation, Bardos Construction, Inc., was a different entity from his dba (doing business as) Cadmus Construction Company. Cadmus Construction Company was licensed, and Bardos Construction Inc. did hold a license. The court ordered the return of all costs to 29 Palms Enterprises Corporation. Bardos believed the judgment was not an equitable result. The court responded by saying, "It has long been settled that the courts may not resort to equitable considerations in defiance of Section 7031."

Judge Chaffee interpreted that Bardos was the Responsible Managing Officer for a licensed corporation, but he did not hold the corporation's licenses as an individual. Bardos could not perform work under that license using the name of the "sole proprietorship."

Judge Chaffee used the case to establish that either Spartan and Associates was the contracting party or, alternatively, Adam Bereki operated under The Spartan and Associates' license. Because of the ruling in 29 Palms Enterprises Corporation, Adam Bereki "cannot rely on his corporation's license to contract."

MW Erectors v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Company, Inc. (2005), 36 Cal.4th p. 412

In MW Erectors v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Company, Inc., MW Erectors, a steel contractor was not licensed at the time the contract was made but obtained a license shortly after. Ultimately, the Supreme Court concluded that licensing is required at all times during the performance of the labor. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Company, Inc. elected not to pay MW Erectors.

Judge Chaffee stated that the California Supreme Court's ruling on the issue of unlicensed contracting is "draconian in its effect" but that was the intent of the legislature. The legislature expects contractors to be licensed at all times during the times they are contracted and failing to do so, opens a person or company to forfeiture.

Adam Bereki's Allegations

1. Business and Professions Code section 7031 action is a criminal prosecution in disguise of a civil action to criminally prosecute and punish an unlicensed contractor for committing the public offense of contracting without a license – a misdemeanor offense as defined by Business and Professions Code section 7028.

   Business and Professions Code section 7028 is defined as:

   (a) Unless exempted from this chapter, it is a misdemeanor for a person to engage in the business of, or act in the capacity of, a contractor within this state under either of the following conditions:

   (1) The person is not licensed in accordance with this chapter.

   (2) The person performs acts covered by this chapter under a license that is under suspension for failure to pay a civil penalty or to comply with an order of correction, pursuant to Section 7090.1, or for failure to resolve all outstanding final liabilities, pursuant to Section 7145.5.

   (b) A first conviction for the offense described in this section is punishable by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars ($5,000) or by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding six months, or by both that fine and imprisonment.

2. That as a result of Allegation #1, private parties cannot commence Business and Professions Code section 7031 actions because the Executive Power of California is vested exclusively in the Governor pursuant to California Constitution Article V, Section 1.

3. That as a result of Allegation 1 and Allegation 2, the Humphreys lacked Constitutional Authority to prosecute Adam Bereki. That should have prevented Judge Chaffee of the ability to hear the case and give a judgment.
4. As a result of Allegation 1, Allegation 2, and Allegation 3, Justices O'Leary, Goethals, and Aronson of the Fourth District Court of Appeal lacked Constitutional Authority to affirm Judge Chaffee's judgment.

5. Based the aforementioned allegations, the State of California lacked the Constitutional authority to summarily suspend The Spartan and Associates/Adam Bereki's general contractor license pursuant to Business and Professions Code section 7071.17.

Judge Chaffee returned all the compensation paid to the Humphreys. Adam Bereki believes he already returned the amount that was paid to him through the work that was completed on the Humphrey's property. The work that was completed added value to the Humphrey's home. Adam Bereki believes the punishment was not authorized by Business and Professions Code section 7031(b) because Adam Bereki and The Spartan and Associates returned the money in the form of value.

Adam Bereki cited, Lewis & Queen v. N. M. Ball Sons (1957), 48 Cal 2d. 141, 152. Adam Bereki interpreted the case to state that "Courts may not resort to equitable considerations in defiance of Business and Professions Code section 7031."

Adam Bereki explained that the case demonstrated that the courts are not allowed to consider the value of materials and labor. Adam Bereki believes his interpretation appears to be exactly what the court intended. He stated that if an unlicensed contractor received money but didn't complete the work, then Business and Professions Code section 7031(b) would apply appropriately. However, if the unlicensed contractor returned the money or compensation as value to the homeowner, then a judge would be relieved of his authority to issue any relief through Business and Professions Code section 7031(b) because it would be an "arbitrary" penalty.

In support of this claim, Adam Bereki cited case, Town of Gilbert Prosecutors Office v. Downie (2008), 218 Arizona 466. In this case the Supreme Court of Arizona found that the full amount of payments returned would constitute economic loss for restitution purposes.

In conclusion, Adam Bereki believes he was unfairly punished by having to pay the Humphreys a total of $930,000. Adam Bereki explained that nowhere in the trial where "damages" mentioned. There was no evidence of improper work or damages to the Humphrey's property due to Adam Bereki's work. Due to Judge Chaffee not recognizing any of the work Adam Bereki performed at the property, he was not authorized to order Adam Bereki to return the compensation under Business and Professions Code section 7031(b).

Adam Bereki believes that the punishment, if there was to be one, should be Business and Professions Code section 7028(b), which authorizes a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding six months, or by both that fine and imprisonment. Adam Bereki does not agree that he was fined a significant amount more than the $5,000 because it is an excessive fine and in violation of the Excessive Fines Clause (Eighth Amendment). The fine should have been proportionate to the offense and he should have the ability to pay it. Because Judge Chaffee did not take those things into consideration, he lacked the authority to fine or punish Adam Bereki.

Adam Bereki believes that the Humphreys and their attorney, William Bissel do not have the executive or constitutional authority to commence Business and Professions Code section 7031(b). Additionally, Adam Bereki believes Judge Chaffee should have dismissed the case against him due to California Penal Code section 1382(a), Dismissal of the Action for Want of Prosecution Otherwise.

Adam Bereki believes that because the action against him was intended to be criminal in nature, he was entitled to protections given in a criminal proceeding, such as; assistance of counsel, confrontation of his accusers, and trial by jury. Adam Bereki was not afforded any of these protections.

Judge Chaffee's Statement

April 16, 2024, at 1000 hours, I spoke with Judge D. Chaffee on the phone. Judge Chaffee remembered presiding over the case, although he had forgotten some of the names and small details.

I informed Judge Chaffee of Adam Bereki's allegations, and he told me he was aware. Judge Chaffee acknowledged the case was a civil case but "turned" when the Humphreys brought forth the cross-complaint.

Judge Chaffee confirmed that Business and Professions Code section 7031 is not criminal and has "no penalty attached," but it is punitive. Judge Chaffee described section 7031(b) as "draconian" but said the legislature intended the law to work in favor of the consumer.

In response to Adam Bereki's claim that he should have been charged with Business and Professions Code section 7028 because it was his first offense, Judge Chaffee stated, "He was not charged with that."

Adam Bereki filed a civil action against the Humphreys for unpaid contractor fees. The Humphreys filed a cross-complaint against Adam Bereki because they realized he was contracting without a license.

The case that Judge Chaffee oversaw was a civil case, not a criminal case. Judge Chaffee does not believe Adam Bereki was charged by the Orange County District Attorney's office. Adam Bereki brought forth the civil case for civil damages, and in turn, the Humphreys filed for civil damages. Judge Chaffee "was not inviting a criminal prosecution of him. We were limited to civil remedies for a civil action that he brought."

Adam Bereki made a claim that his trial was a civil case disguised as a criminal trial. Judge Chaffee confirmed that Adam Bereki did not "raise that issue" at trial, and even if he raised it at his appeal, it would have been barred because it was not raised at trial. Judge Chaffee's judgment was affirmed by the California Court of Appeals, and the review was denied by the California Supreme Court. Ultimately, Adam Bereki's appeal was rejected by the United States Supreme Court.

Judge Chaffee acknowledged he lost any jurisdiction on the case when Adam Bereki filed his Notice of Appeal. Judge Chaffee is retired and has no legal authority to handle the case.

Adam Bereki claimed that Judge Chaffee lacked the Constitutional standing to bring any civil or criminal penalties against him. Since Adam Bereki did not raise the issue at trial, it was waived for the purposes of appeal. Even if Adam Bereki had brought forth the issue at trial, he was "wrong."

Adam Bereki claimed that the Humphreys lacked Constitutional standing to prosecute him, thereby depriving the Orange County Superior Court and Judge Chaffee of Constitutional authority to punish him. Judge Chaffee acknowledged that Adam Bereki's claim is not correct because he was the person who commenced the civil complaint. The Humphreys simply filed a cross-complaint. Since Adam Bereki did not raise the issue at trial, it was not available to him at the appeal.

Adam Bereki claims that the State of California lacked the Constitutional authority to suspend The Spartan and Associates/Adam Bereki's general contractor license. Judge Chaffee confirmed he did not suspend Adam Bereki's license. Judge Chaffee assumes that any suspension would have come from the State Contractor's Board. Judge Chaffee confirmed that the license can only be placed under one name. Adam Bereki chose to place the license with the Spartan and Associates. Adam Bereki chose to contract the job he did for the Humphreys under his name and not the company and, therefore, was found to be contracting without a license.

Judge Chaffee believes that Adam Bereki's mistakes causing this result. Judge Chaffee believes that Adam Bereki's work was not what he promised the Humphreys. Judge Chaffee looked at pictures from the work completed by Adam Bereki and did not complete the work properly.

Adam Bereki stated he should not be forced to pay the fine because he returned the money in the form of work and materials. Judge Chaffee confirmed that the damages are not offset by the work that was completed, and the Humphreys are entitled to receive their money in return for Adam Bereki contracting without a license.

CONCLUSION:

Adam Bereki brought forth a civil case against the Humphreys for an outstanding balance owed from a contracting job. In turn the Humphreys filed a cross-complaint against Adam Bereki for contracting without a valid contractor license. The judgement by Judge Chaffee from civil case was in favor of the Humphreys. The judgement was based on prior cases with similar contractual situations. Adam Bereki appealed the case with the Fourth District Court of Appeal and the judgement was affirmed. Adam Bereki then filed appeals to the California Supreme Court and the United States Supreme Court, but the appeals were denied.

Adam Bereki's appeals were denied because appellate courts do not consider new evidence. An appeal is not considered a new trial. The allegations Adam Bereki brought forth cannot have been disputed in an appellate court because he did not raise those issues at the original trial. Therefore, he could not present his allegations because it would have been considered new evidence in the eyes of the appellate courts. In order Adam Bereki to present his new allegations, Adam Bereki would be required to file a new lawsuit against the Humphreys.

Contracting without a license is a misdemeanor offense, violation of section 7028 of the Business and Professions Code. During the civil case, no criminal charges were filed on Adam Bereki for contracting without a license by the Orange County District Attorney's office.

Based on this investigation, Adam Bereki's claim of grand theft committed against him by Judge Chaffee was not substantiated. Any additional pertinent information presented at a later date, will be added to a supplemental report. At this time, no further follow up will be conducted and I recommend this investigation be closed.

Hi Bill,

I hope this finds you well. I called your office today to speak with you about what I believe to be a huge miscarriage of justice happening in this case surrounding the challenge to jurisdiction I filed on 4/18/17 before judgement was ordered in this case. If you have any interest in discussing this matter with me, I'd welcome that.

If so, please let me know when would be a good time to call you and I'll do so.

Sincerely,

Adam Bereki

Mr. Bereki: I reviewed your "Writ of Error" at the time it was filed with the court. I saw nothing in it that would cause me to question the validity of the judgment entered by the court. You have appealed the judgment and presumably you will be giving it your best shot with the Court of Appeal. Because appellate procedure is very deadline sensitive I suggest that your time might be better spent focusing on your argument to be made to the court than discussing your theories with me.

Sincerely.

Thank you Bill, I appreciate your reply. It's just that since the "writ of error" was a direct jurisdictional challenge before the entry of judgement. The judgement is void because you didn't prove the factual sufficiency of subject matter jurisdiction as you were required to do upon direct attack. At that point and until subject matter jurisdiction was proved, the court was want of jurisdiction to issue an order. You'll see the jurisdictional challenge was served two days before the judgement. I don't believe it's in judicial process for the court or other parties to just ignore and/or reject my documents however foreign or out of statutory procedure they may be. While I understand your position that you might think what I'm sharing is a legal "theory" I obviously believe otherwise and we can disagree. If I'm right though, you and the judge could be in a lot of trouble which is why I reached out to you first to see if you wished to speak with me humbly.

Sincerely,

Adam Bereki

Mr. Bereki: Thank you for your clarification and the opportunity to avoid the trouble that may befall me as a result of the trial conducted in this matter. As I remain unpersuaded by your position, I suppose I (and I guess Judge Chaffee as well) will just have to take my chances that the court will have the same view of your argument as I do.

UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT

FOR THE CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

In re: Adam Alan Bereki

Case No. 8:22-BK-12076-SC

Chapter 7

DEBTOR'S RESPONSES AND OBJECTIONS TO CITIZEN BANK N.A.'S MOTION FOR RELIEF FROM STAY WITH SUPPORTING DECLARATION (REAL PROPERTY)

Date: March 1, 2023
Hearing: 10:00 AM
Courtroom: 5C

Adam Bereki ("Debtor"), in the above-captioned matter responds and objects to Citizen Bank N.A.'s, ("Citizen's"), Motion seeking an Order lifting the automatic stay.

There are extraordinary circumstances in this case requiring this Court's mandatory non-discretionary duty to intervene and deny Citizen's Motion sua sponte. Debtor's right to fundamental due process continues to be actively denied resulting in irreparable harm and damages.

Background

1. On 12/8/22 Debtor was involuntarily forced to file bankruptcy as a direct result of fraud and other State and Federal crimes being perpetrated upon him by purported "Creditors" Karen and Gary Humphreys, ("the Humphreys"), and their attorney, William Bissell, in conspiracy with State and Federal Officials to steal his money, property, and liberty under color of law but without lawful authority.

2. On or about 1/10/23, Debtor timely filed Schedules A/B declaring that he had a legal interest in the real property located at 818 Spirit, Costa Mesa, California, ("property"). He declared that the property was valued at approximately $1,142,000.00 and that three Creditors had claims secured thereby. The secured claims listed were:

1. Citibank N.A., 1st Mortgage, for $457,693.71, ("Claim 1")
2. Citizen's, Line of Credit, for $36,396.75, ("Claim 2")
3. Karen and Gary Humphreys, Judicial Lien, for $848,000, ("Claim 3")

3. Included with Debtors' Schedule filings was a Declaration and supporting authenticated evidence rebutting the presumptive validity of the "Judgment" upon which the "Judicial Lien" of "Claim 3" is based. See Dkt.15. The Declaration and supporting verified documents are incorporated as if fully set forth herein.

4. The "Judgment" is fraudulent and void because it was rendered in direct violation of the California and United States Constitutions by a State Court acting without subject matter jurisdiction. The "Judgment" is at the heart of the conspiracy of why Debtor has been forced into bankruptcy to begin with and cannot be used as a means to allow any purported Creditors, including Citizen, to take Debtor's property without lawful authority.

Objections to Citizen's Motion

5. In its Motion for Relief from Automatic Stay, ("Motion"), Citizen asserts two grounds for relief. Those grounds are that pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §362(d)(2)(A), the Debtor has no equity in the property; and, pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §362(d)(2)(B), the property is not necessary to an effective reorganization. Id. p.4. Debtor objects to the Court granting relief to Citizen on both issues for the following reasons:

1. Citizen's equity calculation is incorrect. There is substantial equity in the property and Citizen's claim remains secured because Claim 3 ($848,000) is not a valid lien.

2. The statements made by Citizen's witness to substantiate the value of its claim are inadmissible hearsay and should be stricken from the record because they do not meet the business record exception as no certified business records were included. The statements should also be stricken because they are untrustworthy based on conflicting evidence debtor was sent by Citizen.

3. Without the foregoing evidence of a claim, Citizen has not stated an injury in fact and therefore lacks standing to any relief.

4. The terms of the purported "Deed of Trust" and "Credit Line Agreement" require that payment is due in full in about eight years. Consequently, there has been no apparent default to allow Citizen to foreclose as it requests.

There is Substantial Equity in the Property and Citizen's Lien is Secure

6. Citizen's claim that there is no equity in the property is false because it is based upon the false premise that the "lien" represented by "Claim 3" actually exists. "California Courts have long recognized the maxim that a lien cannot survive (much less be created in the first place) absent the existence of an enforceable underlying obligation." In re Thomas, 102 B.R. 199, 201 (E.D. Cal. 1989) (Citations omitted). There is no underlying obligation to the "Judicial lien" of "Claim 3" and there is substantial equity in the property to safely continue to secure Citizen's lien (assuming its validity).

7. In 2017, Debtor was maliciously criminally prosecuted in a purported "civil case" by the Humphreys and Bissell for allegedly performing construction work without a contractor license even though he was the qualifying individual (the person who met the licensing requirements) for his company's general contractor license. During the trial Debtor was denied the right to know the true nature and cause of the accusation against him, denied the assistance of counsel, denied trial by jury, and denied all the remaining heightened protections required in criminal proceedings.

8. Following the two-day bench trial, Debtor was excessively, cruelly, and unusually punished by being fined nearly $930,000, an amount more than an estimated 42 times his qualifying net worth and 186 times the maximum criminal penalty for the same offense. As a result of being punished without judicial proceedings, he was subjected to a bill of pains and penalties in violation of Article I, §10 of the U.S. Constitution.

9. Under the California Constitution, the entirety of the Executive power is vested in the Governor to see that the law is faithfully executed. Consequently, private parties such as the Humphreys lack both the capacity and standing to prosecute other private parties for the commission of public offenses like contracting without a license. Because no complaint, information, or indictment was ever filed by any official of the Executive branch of California on behalf of the People against Debtor, the Court lacked the capacity and subject matter jurisdiction to prosecute Debtor resulting in a fraudulent and void "Judgment".

10. Ninety days after the "Judgment" was issued, Debtor was further egregiously punished by another bill of pains and penalties when his vested right to remain a qualifying individual for a general contractor license was summarily suspended or revoked by operation of statute without a judicial hearing. Debtor has been forcibly restrained from earning a living in his profession as a general contractor ever since.

11. As a direct consequence of these egregious and unconscionable circumstances, Debtor's private contracts and obligations became impaired (another violation of Art. I, §10) that has resulted in his inability to discharge Claims 1 and 2 and nearly all the unsecured claims in his Schedules.

12. In good faith, Debtor has pursued a remedy in every known State and Federal Court in the Nation with subject matter jurisdiction to vacate the void judgments. All have refused to exercise jurisdiction when they had a mandatory non-discretionary ministerial duty to do so. Debtor also filed Petitions for Redress of Grievance with officials of State and Federal law enforcement and the California Assembly. All have refused to fully, fairly, and impartially investigate and/or intervene to stop the criminal behavior and protect his liberty, money, and property. Debtor must be afforded judicial process before anymore of his property is taken, including granting Citizen relief from the stay to ultimately allow it to foreclose on his home.

13. Citizen cannot rely upon this egregiously unlawful conduct to commence foreclosure proceedings of Debtor's home after having received due notice without becoming part of the conspiracy to commit and/or aid and abet these crimes. While Citizen may have a valid claim, it is not facing the irreparable harms of total financial destruction and the denial of all rights, privileges, and immunities secured by the California and U.S. Constitutions like Debtor continues to be. Debtor must be afforded due process which imposes upon this Court (and the United States Trustee) the mandatory duty to investigate these claims and to intervene to stop the irreparable harm, damages, and fraud that continue to be perpetrated upon him and his estate before taking any adverse action in this case.

14. The automatic stay is in place for the very purpose it was intended: to "[stop] all collection efforts, all harassment, and all foreclosure actions, [and to be] relieved of the financial pressures that drove him into bankruptcy. H.R.Rep. No. 595, 95th Cong., 1st Sess., at 340 (1977), reprinted in 1978 U.S.C.C.A.N. 5963, 6296-97." Dean v. TWA, 72 F.3d 754, 755 (9th Cir.1995).

15. The stay is necessary to protect Debtor's rights, liberty, and property as well as his Creditors while he commences Adversary Proceedings to, amongst other reorganization issues, determine the validity of the lien surrounding "Claim 3", which continues to cause him and his estate irreparable harm and damages as 'they' continue to be denied the right to judicial relief. The right to liberty includes "the right to be free from, and to obtain judicial relief for, unjustified intrusions of personal security." Ingram v. Wright, 430 U.S. 651, 673 (1977). Citations omitted. Lifting the stay and allowing Citizen to commence foreclosure proceedings would only perpetrate the irreparable harm against Debtor and his estate and further deprive 'them' of due process.

16. Additionally, Debtors estate has genuine claims for damages, punitive damages, and restitution for deprivation of constitutionally protected rights, intentional infliction of emotional distress, wrongful foreclosure, fraud, malicious prosecution, and false imprisonment (constructive), amongst other claims pertaining to "Claim 3". The claim for false imprisonment alone involves damages amounting to over three million dollars. Upon lawful adjudication, this claim could be used to pay all the valid Creditors of Debtors estate.

17. Returning to the central claim of Citizen's Motion: To obtain relief from the automatic stay, the party seeking relief must first establish a prima facie case that "cause" exists for relief under 11 U.S.C. §362(d)(1). In re Gould, 401 B.R. 415, 426 (9th Cir. BAP 2009). The only causes Citizen claimed to be entitled to relief under are: (1) Debtor has no equity in the property (11 U.S.C. §362(d)(2)(A)); and, (2) that the property is not necessary to an effective reorganization (11 U.S.C. §362(d)(2)(B)).

18. Under 11 U.S.C. 362(g), a creditor has the burden of proving that a debtor does not have equity in the property. In its equity calculation, Citizen claims "Debtor's equity in the property is "$-303,588.74". (Motion p.8, sec. h). By removing "Claim 3" there would be an estimated $684,306.29 in equity after paying off "Claim 1". By then subtracting Citizen's alleged cost of sale at 8% ($91,360) (assuming the property were sold, which remains to be determined) the equity would be $592,946.29, approximately twelve times Citizen's claim.

19. But even assuming "Claim 3" were valid, under well-established law "[t]he fact that the debtor has no equity in the estate is not sufficient, standing alone, to grant relief from the automatic stay under section 362(d)(1)." In re Mellor, 734 F.2d 1396 1400 (9th Cir. 1984). The reason is because a junior lien, such as that of "Claim 3", "cannot affect the outcome of the holder of a perfected senior interest" and therefore "cannot be considered in determining whether the interest of a senior lienholder is adequately protected". (Id. p.1401). "Claim 1" is the only lien senior to Citizen's and after deducting "Claim 1" and the cost of sale from the value of the property, there remains $592,946.29 to satisfy Citizen's alleged $48,535.03 claim.

20. Citizen's equity cushion calculation is also incorrect. Citizen calculates the equity cushion to be $635,771.26 and 55% of the fair market value of the property. (Motion p.8, Sec. g). In doing so, it has erroneously included the value of its "lien" in the calculation. "The existence of an equity cushion is determined by starting with the value of the property [and] deducting senior liens or encumbrances [...]" In re Hollister, 628 B.R. 154, 159 (C.D. Cal. 2021). Taking the value of the property at $1,142,000 and deducting the only purported senior lien of "Claim 1" ($435,693.71) reveals that the equity cushion is $684,306.29 and 59% of the fair market value of the property. Under well-established law, "[a] 20% cushion has been held to be an adequate protection for a secured creditor." Mellor at p.1401 citing In re McGowan, 6 Bankr. 241, 243 (B.Ct. E.D. Pa. 1980) (holding a 10% cushion is sufficient to be adequate protection).

21. By its own sworn Declaration, Citizen admitted that there was no merit to its claim by finding an equity cushion of 55%, more than twice what has been repeatedly held to be adequate protection. "[I]t has been held that the existence of an equity cushion, standing alone, can provide adequate protection." Mellor at p.1400.

22. Based on all the foregoing, the property is also necessary to an effective reorganization and/or the settlement of claims effecting Debtor's estate, including Citizen's. Citizen has not provided any evidence to the contrary in support of this claim.

Citizen Lacks Standing to Foreclose Because There Has Been No Breach of the "Deed of Trust" or "Credit Line Agreement"

23. Citizen requests relief so that it "may proceed under applicable nonbankruptcy law to enforce remedies to foreclose upon and obtain possession of the property." (Motion p.5, line 2). The problem here is that there has been no alleged or apparent default under the purported "Deed of Trust" ("DOT") dated 10/30/2006, (Motion Exhibit 1), that would authorize Citizen to foreclose.

24. Item 4 the "DOT" states that "The Credit Line Agreement ["Agreement"][1] in the amount of $110,798.00 executed by the Mortgagor/Grantor and dated the same day as this Security Instrument, which, if not paid earlier, is due and payable in full 300 months from the due date of the first payment." Bolded emphasis added. No date is listed for the due date of the first payment. Hypothetically assuming it was on or around 11/1/2006, 300 months from that date would be 25 years later, or 11/1/2031. At the time of this writing, the date is February 13, 2023. According to the "DOT", the "Agreement" is not due and payable in full for another eight years.

25. Under Motion Exhibit 2, "TERM" of the "Agreement", The "Maturity Date" would be 25 years (300 months later) or 10/30/2031, another eight years away.

[1] While Debtor has provided Responses and objections to Citizen's purported claims, he does not admit to the authenticity or validity of the purported "Deed of Trust" and "Credit Line Agreement" attached as Exhibits to Citizen's Motion and has changed his Schedules to reflect this claim as "disputed".

26. Under both the alleged "DOT" and "Agreement", payment in full is not due for another eight years and Citizen has not alleged any other grounds of default necessary to be relieved from the stay to commence foreclosure.

27. Under "8. DEFAULT" of the "DOT" "Trustor will be in default if any of the following occur[:] Fraud. [...] Payments. Any Consumer Borrower on any Secured Debt that is an open end home equity plans fails to make a payment when due." Debtor has not failed to make a payment when due and has therefore not defaulted. Property. Any action or inaction by the Borrower or Trustor occurs that adversely affects the Property or Lender's rights in the Property[.] This includes, but is not limited to the following a) Trustor fails to maintain the required insurance on the Property, b) Trustor transfers the property, c) Trustor commits waste or otherwise destructively uses or fails to maintain the Property such that the action or inaction adversely affects the Lender's security, d) Trustor fails to pay property taxes on the Property or otherwise fails to act and thereby causes a lien to be filed against the Property that is senior to the lien of this Security Instrument [...], h) a judgment lien is filed on the against Trustor and subjects Trustor and the property to action that adversely affects Lender's interest, or i) a prior lienholder forecloses on the property and as a result, Lender's interest is adversely affected."

28. Debtor/Trustor has not committed fraud and has complied with all apparent Payment and Property requirements. To the extent that any claims could be alleged that Debtor has not complied with any of the requirements under "Payments" or "Property", Debtor objects that said violations were not caused by his "action or inaction" but by the lawless actions of the Humphreys, Bissell, and State and Federal officials.

29. Under "9. REMEDIES ON DEFAULT. [...] Lender may accelerate the Secured Debt and foreclose this Security Instrument in a manner provided by law if Trustor is in default."

30. As Debtor/Trustor is not knowingly in default and Citizen has not submitted claim to the contrary, it has no apparent remedy to foreclose.

Citizen Has Not Provided Evidence of a Claim to Make The Required Equity Calculations Because its Witness's Statements Are Inadmissable Hearsay and Not Trustworthy

31. Debtor objects to Citizen's witness, Dimitas Poole, testimony pertaining "to the amount of Movant's claim with respect to the Property (as of 12/12/2022)" (Motion p.7, Item 8) for the reason that there is no apparent default and that nothing in Poole's testimony as a "Bankruptcy Specialist" or "custodian of the books, records, and files" evidences that she possesses the qualifications and expertise to testify to the validity and accuracy of the charges. No foundation was laid pertaining to her training, experience, and qualifications in law or accounting to interpret the terms and conditions of the "DOT" and the "Agreement" necessary to formulate the alleged charges due on Debtor's account. To the extent that Poole was just attempting to certify business records, no records were included. It is the records themselves, not the foundational declaration, that serves as proof of the matters asserted.

32. Debtor requests that Poole's testimony on Citizen's "Claim" in Items 8 and 11 of its Motion be stricken as hearsay pursuant to Federal Rules of Evidence, Rule §802. Poole has not produced any authenticated financial records that she could have certified to be true and correct as the "custodian of the books, records, and files". There can be no business record hearsay exemption if no records are produced.

33. Debtor also requests the statements made in Items 8 and 11 be stricken as untrustworthy because they are in direct conflict with a "Payoff Quote" Citizen sent Debtor for the same date (12/12/22) in Citizen's Motion. (Page 7, line 8g). In comparing the charges in the Motion under Item 8, with those of the Payoff Quote (Exhibit 1), the following is observed:

| PAYOFF QUOTE (12-12-22) | | CITIZENS MOTION (12-12-22) | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Principal Balance | $34,631.22 | $34,631.22 | Principal |
| Interest | $1,549.12 | $1,614.12 | Accrued Interest |
| Escrow/Impound Overdraft | $9,681.85 | $9,681.85 | Advances (prop. taxes, insur.) |
| Unpaid late charges | $302.94 | $0 | Late Charges |
| Recoverable Advances | $575.00 | | |
| Recording Fee | $173.00 | | |
| | | $2,607.94 | Costs (Attorney's fees, foreclosure fees |
| TOTAL | $46,913.13 | $48,535.03 | |

34. While in the grand scheme of an equity or equity cushion calculation the difference between the "totals" may be negligible, the point is that Poole testified to their accuracy and there's a $1621.19 conflict in Citizen's own records. Moreover, the interest, advances, recordings fees, and costs, also don't align.

35. Citizen's Motion also states that cost Advances include insurance. Debtor has been paying the insurance as evidenced by his checking account payment activity printout from 11/1/21 to 2/3/23. Exhibit 2. USAA insurance is both his home and automobile insurance carrier and the payments listed include both premiums.

36. Citizen has not produced any authenticated financial records or trustworthy testimony evidencing that Debtor owes it $48,535.03 to substantiate its "Claim". Debtor requests this Court strike Item's 8 and 11 of Citizen's Motion and all calculations associated therewith in support of its Motion pursuant to Federal Rules of Evidence, Rule §901.

37. Debtor also objects to Exhibits 1 and 2 annexed to Citizen's Motion on the grounds that they are not "true and correct copies of the recorded security instrument and assignments" – as declared under penalty of perjury by Poole – and are not copies certified by the Clerk-Recorder for the County of Orange. When compared to the documents on file with the Clerk-Recorder's online records, the Clerk's recording stamp is different, text (albeit non-substantive) appears to have been added, handwritten information is missing, and certain portions of the document have been redacted. (Debtor has included the first page of the "DOT" on file with the Clerk and the Clerk's authentication so these differences can be seen). Debtor requests Exhibits 1 and 2 be stricken pursuant to Rule §901 and that Citizen bring the original unaltered versions of these documents to the hearing so they can be inspected by Debtor and the Court.

Conclusion

38. Citizen has abysmally failed to meet its burden of proof on all issues it has raised and as a result of failing to state a claim that it has been injured in fact, lacks standing to any relief. Consequently, this Court has a duty to dismiss Citizen's Motion. "A federal court may exercise jurisdiction over a litigant only when that litigant meets constitutional and prudential standing requirements." Veal v. Am. Home Mortg. Servicing, Inc., (In re Veal), 450 B.R. 897, 906 (9th Cir. BAP 2011) citing Elkgrove Unified School Dist. V. Newdow, 542 U.S. 1, 11 (2004). "Standing is a threshold question in every federal case, determining the power of the court to entertain the suit." Ibid. citing Warth v. Seldin, 422 U.S. 490, 498 (1975) (Other citations omitted).

39. Debtor has met his burden of proof that there is substantial equity in the real property securing Citizen's purported interest when the totality of the issues pertaining to Debtor's estate are accounted for. Citizen's interest remains protected by the property that continues to appreciate. Debtor has also filed bankruptcy in good faith and continues to follow the rules of bankruptcy procedure.

Request for Relief

For all the foregoing reasons, Debtor requests this Court deny Citizen's Motion for Relief in its entirety and strike the aforementioned testimony and Exhibits from the record.

Debtor also requests this Court, on its own Motion, award sanctions against Citizen and its attorney, Christina Khil, to compensate Debtor for his time spent conducting legal research and responding to this frivolous Motion that has clearly been presented to harass Debtor and cause unnecessary delay. Unnecessary delay has been caused by the fact that Debtor was taken away from performing critical research and investigation necessary to present timely Adversary Proceedings pertaining to claims involving his estate by having to Respond and Object to the Motion. In addition to the fact that none of Citizen's legal contentions are supported by well-established existing law, its factual allegations have no evidentiary support to substantiate its alleged "Claim".

Upon service of the Motion, Debtor sent Khil an email on 2/9/23 requesting to meet and confer to settle the issues raised therein to avoid requiring Debtor to use his precious life resources without compensation to respond. Khil did not reply. Debtor also asked Khil to properly serve him by email with an actual-sized copy of the Motion so he would not have to pay to download one from PACER. (The copy he was served with contained four pages of the Motion imposed on the front and back of an 8 ½ x11 paper and was barely discernible without a magnifying glass). Exhibit 4. Khil did not reply.

As Debtor does not have a law degree or any experience in bankruptcy procedure, it takes him a substantial amount of time to properly research and draft legitimate meritorious responses that are grounded in fact and law. He spent over 50 hours conducting research, drafting his responses and objections, and ensuring proper service. The work he did was precisely what Khil was hired for, and was minimally required to do to properly evaluate this claim prior to filing it. It is not Debtor's job to perform this work without compensation under coercion or threat that if he didn't respond or appear at the hearing, as stated in the Motion (p.2), that "the court may deem such failure as consenting to the motion." At the rate of $300 per hour, Debtor is owed $15,000 for his services.

Notice to All Parties

Pursuant to LBR 9013-1(f)(2) any reply to this response must be filed with the Court and served on the responding party no later than 7 days prior to the hearing on the Motion.

To the Honorable Scott C. Clarkson, United States Bankruptcy Judge, the Office of the United States Trustee, and all interested parties:

Adam Bereki, ("Declarant"), hereby provides the following Statement of Intent to file two adversary proceedings challenging the validity of two purported "liens" listed on the First-Amended Schedules in the case of In re Adam Alan Bereki, case number 8:22-BK-12076. Declarant is providing this Statement of Intent because of certain parties' intent to obtain relief from the emergency stay and the Court's tentative ruling, made on or about April 10, 2023, stating its inclination to grant that relief, which he believes constitutes prejudicial error.

Declarant believes he and the estate will be prejudiced and continue to be irreparably harmed and damaged if the Court ultimately grants the relief allowing the party to commence foreclosure proceedings for reasons already alleged on the record and the fact that the stay relief is based upon the validity and extent of certain purported "liens" that he reasonably believes to be void or unsecured. (Declarant has previously provided substantial evidence to demonstrate that this claim pertaining to the "Judicial lien" being void is not smoke and mirrors, intended harm creditors or unnecessarily delay the administration of the estate. See Dkt. 15).

Declarant believes any relief granted on the stay would be premature and highly prejudicial because he has not had the opportunity to challenge the validity of the "liens" upon which the equity calculations for stay relief and the Court's tentative ruling are based. According to the Tentative for the scheduled hearing on April 12, 2023, the "Court is inclined to GRANT relief from stay under 11 U.S.C. Section 362(d)(2) for Debtor's lack of equity in the property."

If the "liens" at issue are either void or unsecured as Declarant reasonably believes, then they cannot be used as evidence upon which to base the equity calculations of the stay relief. Because the First-Amended Schedules indicate the "liens" in question are disputed and the fact that Declarant intends to commence adversary proceedings to determine their validity and extent, the Court must first determine their validity and extent before they can be used as material, reliable, and trustworthy evidence in the equity calculations. See e.g. In re Ahn, 804 Fed. Appx. 541,543 (9th Cir. 2020) (finding bankruptcy court was first required to determine the validity of a lien before avoiding it). "It makes sense that a court must first ensure that a valid lien exists, because, if no valid judicial lien attached to the debtor's property, then there is no lien to avoid and the lien avoidance cause of action would be moot. In other words, if there is a question as to a lien's validity, the bankruptcy court would err by assuming the validity of the lien and proceeding to the merits of the lien avoidance action, because there may be no injury in fact that the §522(f) action could remedy. Therefore, if the validity of a lien is disputed or becomes disputed, the court must determine, as a necessary predicate to resolving the lien avoidance action under §522(f), whether there is a valid judicial lien to avoid." Anh, at fn3. See also Wiget v. Nielsen (In re Nielsen), 197 B.R. 665, 667-8 (9th Cir. B.A.P 1996) (superseded on other grounds).

In this case, basing stay relief upon the validity and security of "liens" that either don't exist or are unsecured would also be error. Because the "liens" at issue are clearly indicated as "disputed" in the First-Amended Schedule, the Court must first determine their validity and extent before relying upon them as evidence for relief. Presumptions are not evidence (Cal. Evidence Code §600) and cannot be used as a means of avoiding the Constitutional requirement of due process. Bailey v. Alabama, 219 U.S. 219, 239 (1911).

Presently, the two "liens" Declarant intends to commence adversary proceedings upon are listed in the First-Amended Schedules as (1) "Citibank N.A. Owner Trustee", ("Citibank N.A."), in the updated amount of approx. $502,000; and, (2) "Karen and Gary Humphreys", ("Judicial lien") in the amount of $848,000. If the "Judicial Lien" alone is found to be void, there would be approximately $592,946.29 in equity. Hypothetically assuming the validity and security of the "Citibank N.A." "lien", this would result in at least a 55% equity cushion, according to calculations listed in "Debtor's Responses and Objections to Citizens Bank N.A.'s Motion for Relief From Stay".

Declarant initially listed the aforementioned "liens" on the Schedules as "secured" based on reasonable belief of their presumptive validity. With reference to the Judicial lien, however, he also provided a sworn declaration and authenticated evidence to rebut that presumption because the underlying Judicial Judgment violates the California and United States Constitutions and is therefore void. See Dkt. 15. Based upon these facts, Declarant subsequently felt it would be more accurate to amend the initial Schedule and list this "claim" in the First-Amended Schedule as unsecured and disputed. His intent was not deceitful or malevolent.

Upon further investigation of the purported claim titled "Citibank N.A.", Declarant, who is a retired police officer and expert forensic investigator with a specialty in fraud cases, discovered a series of issues pertaining to the validity and enforceability of the alleged obligation that, based on his training and experience, indicate serious fraud. Similar elements of fraud are well known in this Circuit. See e.g. Deutsche Bank Nat'l Trust Co. v. Tarantola (In re Tarantola), 2010 Bankr. LEXIS 2435, exhibiting a near carbon copy of the issues discovered by Declarant. Consequently, Declarant also changed the "Citibank N.A." "lien" from secured to unsecured and disputed.

Declarant intends to file adversary proceedings to challenge the validity and extent of each of the aforementioned "liens" and has been diligently working to that end since filing bankruptcy. In the process of writing the complaints and conducting an ongoing investigation to further discover the nature and extent of the fraud pertaining to the "Citibank N.A." "lien", two purported "creditors", including "NewRez", allegedly acting on behalf of "Citibank N.A.", filed Motions for relief from the stay. Declarant has thus far spent about twenty days and over 160 hours responding to those Motions, which required a significant diversion of his time and attention from the investigation and writing the adversary complaints.

The Court should also be aware of another apparent error overlooked by Declarant and the Court pertaining to Declarant's actual interest in the subject property. Declarant stated in the Schedules that he has only a legal and no beneficial interest therein. See also Declaration, Dkt. 15. The "Judicial Lien" therefore, can only attach to the extent of his beneficial interest, accord: Riverdale Mining Co v. Wicks, 14 Cal. App 526, 536 (1910), holding "[t]he law is well settled that the lien of a judgment does not attach to a naked title, but only to the judgement debtor's interest in the real estate; and if he has no interest, though possessing the naked title, then no lien attaches." For this reason alone, the validity and extent of the purported "Judicial Lien" cannot be relied upon in the equity calculations because Declarant has only "naked title". This issue can also be addressed in the adversary proceedings.

Declarant requests this Court take the aforementioned facts and his intent into consideration and allow him twenty-five days to continue his investigation and to complete and file the complaints so (1) the true validity and extent of the liens can be determined first before granting relief from the stay; (2) the estate will be effectively administered; (3) Declarant will be given a true fresh start; and, (4) all void and/or unsecured liens wrongfully recorded and/or attached to property he holds legal title to, will be removed.

I, Adam Bereki, declare under penalty of perjury of the laws of the United States of America that the foregoing statements of fact are true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief. [28 U.S.C. §1746(1) and (2)].

On June 13, 2023, the Court held a hearing on Debtor's Amended Motion to Avoid Lien Under 11 U.S.C. § 522(f) [Dk. 61] ("Motion"). Appearances are as noted in the record. Having considered the Motion, the docket as a whole, the discussion with the parties on the record, and for the reason stated on the record, the Court granted the Motion, in part, and instructed Debtor to lodge an order. Rather than lodge an order, or seek reconsideration, Debtor filed an objection to entry of an order on the Motion.

As set forth on the record, and for the reasons stated below, the Court hereby GRANTS the Motion to avoid the lien that impaired Debtor's exemption, but DENIES the remaining relief requested which sought a determination that the underlying judgment was void.

Debtor's Opposition to entry of an order on the Motion, filed June 15, 2023 [Dk. 88] ("Opposition"), is OVERRULED.

1. June 13 Hearing and Debtor's Opposition

During the June 13 hearing, the Court advised Debtor that to the extent Debtor sought a determination as to the validity of the underlying debt, the Court would not do so within the context of a motion to avoid lien and that an adversary proceeding was required. The Court further cautioned Debtor that any frivolous filings could be subject to sanctions.[1] The Court further instructed Debtor to lodge an order on his Motion. Rather than lodge an order, Debtor (the moving party) filed the Opposition, which is overruled. It is premised upon inaccurate conclusions of law and spurious allegations that generally allege that the Court refused to do its duty and follow the mandate of the law.

2. The 522(f) Motion

The Motion seeks to avoid the judicial lien of Karen and Gary Humphreys recorded April 27, 2017, as Recorder's Instrument Number 201700017070718, as impairing Debtor's $600,000 homestead asserted under California Code of Civil Procedure § 704.730 on property located at 818 Spirit, Costa Mesa, Orange County. California (the "Property"). See, Dk. 61. Debtor listed the Property as his residence on his petition. See Dk, 1.

[1] Debtor's discharge was entered on March 27, 2023 [Dk. 32]. No adversaries were filed against him. Thus, the Court is unclear as to the basis of Debtor's concern or the necessity for the additional relief. The granting of this motion, combined with the failure of the Humphrey's to seek dischargeability of the debt owed to them, serves to strip the security and permanently enjoin any collection activities, eliminating Debtor's liability for any such judgment.

Given that the pleadings of pro se debtors are to be construed liberally, the Court construed the 522(f) motion in this manner, as it is required to do.[2] While Debtor asserts that he only possesses bare legal title in the Property, and has a 0% interest, he also asserted a $600,000 homestead exemption. See, Amended Schedules filed 2/15/23 [Dk. 18]. Debtor also used the mandatory form motion to avoid a lien under 11 U.S.C. §522(f). Since the form of the title to the property is not determinative of whether Debtor may assert a homestead, and Debtor did assert a homestead (to which no objection was taken), it follows that Debtor's homestead may be impaired by a judicial lien. Accordingly, given the foregoing, the Court found that the Humpheys' lien impaired Debtor's homestead.

3. Adversary Proceeding

The Court was not required to, and could not by motion, determine the nature of Debtor's interest in the Property or the validity of the underlying debt. These issues may only be determined pursuant to an adversary proceeding, pursuant to Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure Rule 7001 which provides as follows:

> An adversary proceeding is governed by the rules of this Part VII. The following are adversary proceedings:
>
> (1) a proceeding to recover money or property, other than a proceeding to compel the debtor to deliver property to the trustee, or a proceeding under §554(b) or §725 of the Code, Rule 2017, or Rule 6002;
> (2) a proceeding to determine the validity, priority, or extent of a lien or other interest in property, but a proceeding under Rule 3012 or Rule 4003(d);
> (3) a proceeding to obtain approval under §363(h) for the sale of both the interest of the estate and of a co-owner in property;
> (4) a proceeding to object to or revoke a discharge, other than an objection to discharge under §§727(a)(8), (a)(9), or 1328(f);
> (5) a proceeding to revoke an order of confirmation of a chapter 11, chapter 12, or chapter 13 plan;
> (6) a proceeding to determine the dischargeability of a debt;
> (7) a proceeding to obtain an injunction or other equitable relief, except when a chapter 9, chapter 11, chapter 12, or chapter 13 plan provides for the relief;

[2] See, Mohsen v. Wu (In re Mohsen), 2010 Bankr. LEXIS 5074, *13-14 (9th Cir BAP 2010) (While the pleadings of pro se litigants are to be liberally construed, a court is not required to search the record and make their arguments for them. Aguasin v. Mukasey, 297 Fed. Appx. 706 (9th Cir. 2008). Additionally, arguments must be briefed in order to be preserved. Id.)

> (8) a proceeding to subordinate any allowed claim or interest, except when a chapter 9, chapter 11, chapter 12, or chapter 13 plan provides for subordination;
> (9) a proceeding to obtain a declaratory judgment relating to any of the foregoing; or > (10) a proceeding to determine a claim or cause of action removed under 28 U.S.C. §1452.

FRBP 7001.

It is not the Court's responsibility to act as legal counsel for Debtor.[3] It is clear from the Court's reading of the Opposition that Debtor, who is pro se, lacks a fundamental understanding of the bankruptcy process and substantive law and encourages Debtor to seek counsel. At a minimum, the Court encourages Debtor to visit the pro se clinic for useful information and guidance.

4. Conclusion

For the reasons stated on the record at the June 13 hearing, the Court hereby GRANTS the Motion and avoids the lien under 11 U.S.C. § 522(f). All other relief sought is denied.

Debtor may file a further motion for reconsideration; in any such motion for reconsideration, Debtor must address (1) the Court's comments in footnote 1 of this order and the necessity for seeking the additional relief sought; and (2) why the additional relief sought can be obtained via motion instead of by adversary, as

DECLARATION OF ADAM BEREKI

January 10, 2023

I, Adam Bereki, declare under penalty of perjury of the laws of California and the United States of America that the following statements of fact are true and correct:

NOTICE OF BANKRUPTCY FRAUD BY CERTAIN PURPORTED "CREDITORS", FILING OF BANKRUPTCY UNDER EXTREME DURESS AND COERCION, AND EXPLANATION OF OWNERSHIP OF REAL PROPERTY LOCATED AT 818 SPIRIT COSTA MESA, CALIFORNIA

1. In 2017, I was maliciously criminally prosecuted in the Superior Court of California- County of Orange by private parties, Karen and Gary Humphreys, and their attorney, William Bissell, for allegedly performing construction work without a contractor license even though I was the licensee of a general contractor license in the name of my former solely owned and operated company, The Spartan Associates, Inc. See license #927244 and case 30-2015-00805807, and U.S. Supreme Court Case 22A246.

2. During the "trial" I was denied assistant counsel, trial by jury, and all of the heightened protections of criminal proceedings and then excessively, cruelly, and unusually fined about $930,000. See Exhibit [A]- Minute Order and "Judgment". I was denied ALL Constitutional protections and all Constitutional protections continue to be denied to me.

3. Based on the illegal and void "Judgement", the Humphreys and/or their Attorney then filed a a false and fraudulent "Abstract of Judgment" in the office of the Clerk-Recorder for the County of Orange. The Abstract attached to the real property located at 818 Spirit, Costa Mesa, California, held in The Living Trust of Adam Bereki ("Living Trust"). See attached Exhibit [B] for a certified copy of the Abstract.

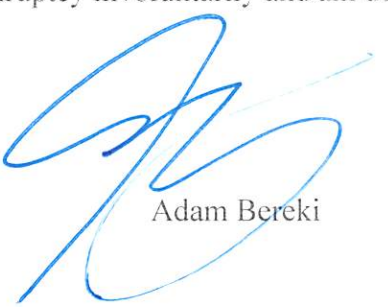
4. While the Living Trust is the legal title holder of the property, the beneficiary and true owner is my mother, Roseanne Bereki, who purchased the home from me in 2010 (about five years prior to the suit with the Humphreys). Please see her attached Declaration as well as the Declarations of attorneys David Robin and Jim Bohm, Exhibit [C]. The Humphreys and Bissell were notified of this ownership interest and have also refused to remove the Abstract based on these circumstances.

5. About 90 days after the "Judgment", Spartan's license, as well as my ability to act as a qualifying individual on any general contractor license was suspended (or revoked) pursuant to Cal. Business and Professions Code §7071.17. While there is no official documentation that I am aware of for this suspension (or revocation) it is commanded by §7071.17. Prior to the license suspension (or revocation) I was NOT afforded any hearing at all and have consequently been forcibly restrained from earning a living in my profession as a general contractor ever since with no apparent means of judicial or other relief.

6. In 2021, Roseanne (who had been making all of the mortgage and property tax payments for the Spirit Property) was forced to retire due to a severe medical illness. Upon retirement, she became unable to continue to afford to make the mortgage, property tax, and other payments.

7. As a result of the force of the unlawful "Judgement", and the denial of any remedy in any office of the governments of California or the United States (See U.S. Supreme Court case 22A426 incorporated and fully set forth herein, Exhibit [C]) Roseanne and I have been forcibly restrained from selling the Spirit property to avoid foreclosure sale.

8. As a result of the fraud and other illegal actions of the Humphreys and Bissell in obtaining a false and fraudulent "Judgment" against me, I believe any claims they may make in these Bankruptcy proceedings pertaining to this "Judgment" are also fraudulent and criminal abuse of abuse proceedings. I have reported this matter in writing to Michael Hauser of office of the United States Bankruptcy Trustee on January 9, 2023.



9. As Roseanne is the sole and true beneficial owner of the Spirit property, I have no beneficial interest therein as reflected on Official Form 106A/B. However, since the Living Trust is the legal title holder, I claimed the real property exemption pursuant to Cal. Code of Civ. Proc. §704.730.

EXPLANATION OF EXEMPTIONS PERTAINING TO DISABILITY PENSION AND PERSONAL PROPERTY

10. On or about July 2010, I was medically retired as a police officer employed by the City of Huntington Beach, California. As a result of this retirement, I receive a tax-exempt disability retirement pension. Pursuant to Cal. Code of Civ. Proc. §704.110(b) and Cal. Gov't Code §21255, I believe this pension is entirely exempt from Bankruptcy and have indicated so on Official Form 106C. In addition to exempting this pension in its entirety, I have also claimed exemptions for all of the personal property that I have purchased with these exempt funds. I exempted the firearm as it was included as part of the compensation for my disability retirement.

Based on all of the foregoing, I am being forced to file this bankruptcy involuntarily and am doing so under extreme duress and coercion.

Executed on January 10, 2023, in Costa Mesa, California.

2nd day of trial

At 9:55 a.m. Court reconvenes with plaintiff(s), defendant(s) and counsel present as noted above.

At 9:57 a.m. Mr. William G. Bissell presents closing argument on behalf of Cross-Complainants/Defendants, Karen & Gary Humphreys.

At 10:12 a.m. Mr. J. Scott Russo presents closing argument on behalf of Cross-Defendant, The Spartan Associates, Inc..

Mr. Adam Bereki waived closing argument.

At 10:19 a.m. Court declares a recess.

At 10:52 a.m. Court reconvenes with plaintiff(s), defendant(s) and counsel present as noted above.

Having fully considered the arguments of all parties, both written and oral, as well as the evidence presented, the Court finds and determines that Mr. Adam Bereki is the contractor and he does not possess contractor's license.

The Court finds judgment for the Cross Complainants, Gary & Karen Humphreys (First Cause of Action, for Disgorgement of Funds Paid) and against cross-defendant, Adam Bereki.

The Court invites counsels to meet and discuss the plan for the remaining cause of actions and the complaint.

At 11:19 a.m. Court declares a recess.

At 11:37 a.m. Court reconvenes with plaintiff(s), defendant(s) and counsel present as noted above.

Legal discussions held with regards to remaining cross-complaint cause of actions and the complaint as set forth on the record.

Counsels are to resume discussions during lunch hour and report to the Court at 1:45 p.m.

At 11:47 p.m. Court declares a recess.

At 1:48 p.m. Court reconvenes with plaintiff(s), defendant(s) and counsel present as noted above.

Counsels reached an agreement as set forth on the record.

Mr. J. Scott Russo presents an offer of proof on plaintiff's complaint that if called Mr. Adam Bereki would be the witness and the testimony would be that Plaintiff, Spartan Associates had rendered goods and services to the defendants. The fair market value for the services and goods of $82,821.53 to be backed up by invoices and testimony about the reasonable value of those services that would be the first cause of action Quantum Merit. For the 2nd cause of action, go and in hand that it was an open book accounting was rendered to the defendants that they were given the accountings and the sum was $82,821.53 that was still due.

Based on Mr. Russo's offer of proof, the Court understand that those claims are based upon the view of plaintiff Spartan Associates, Inc. was the general contractor on the project. The Court finds that Spartan Associates does not have standing as determined earlier today that Mr.Bereki was the purported general contractor on the contract. Spartan Associates, Inc. may have been apparently substituted but it is certainly not with the permission or agreement of the defendants. Based on that, the Court finds judgment for the defendants on the complaint.

The parties have discussed, agreed and stipulates on the record as follows: The entirety of remaining causes of action on the First Amended Cross-Complaint will be dismissed without prejudice. If judgment on the first cause of action becomes final, the dismissal without prejudice will be converted to dismissal with prejudice. Pending judgment on the first cause of action becoming final, the statute of limitations on the re-filing of an action of the dismissed causes of action is waived. If a new action is filed on the dismissed causes of action , discovery deemed completed and will not be re-opened and the newly filed case will be consolidated with the remanded case for trial.

Pursuant to Mr. Bissell's Motion, the Court orders the remaining causes of action, negligence, fraud, alter ego, penalty, attorney's fees and recovery against the Contractor's license bond be dismissed without prejudice. The judgment on the First Amended Cross Complaint is on the 1st cause of action for discouragement only.

CASE TITLE: THE SPARTAN ASSOCIATES, INC. vs. HUMPHREYS

CASE NO: 30-2015-00805807-CU-CO-CJC

The Court directs Mr. William G. Bissell to prepare the judgment.

At 2:03 p.m. Pursuant to oral stipulation set forth on the record, exhibits are released and returned to the submitting parties/counsels for maintenance, custody and safekeeping pending any post-verdict or appeal proceedings. All identification tags and other identifying markings are to remain in place pending this period.

At 2:05 p.m. The Court is adjourned in this matter.

NOTICE OF TRESPASS

NOTICE TO CEASE AND DESIST

Attention:

William G. Bissell
Attorney for Karen and Gary Humphreys
14 Corporate Plaza Dr. Suite 130
Newport Beach, CA 92660

Notice is hereby given you are trespassing upon my property, the title to: [818 Spirit Costa Mesa, California, "Spirit"] by filing a lien upon it for judgment against Adam Bereki payable to Karen and Gary Humphreys.

1. I, Roseanne Bereki, declare and state as follows:

1. I am not a guarantor for any debts, public or private of Adam Bereki.

2. I have had no contractual relationship with Karen or Gary Humphreys.

3. There have been no legal proceedings between myself and Karen of Gary Humphreys upon which judgement has been entered in their favor against me.

4. There are a plethora of other legal documents not on file with the Clerk that nullify the title to the Spirit property on file at the Orange County Clerk-Recorders office.

5. In November of 2010, my son, Adam Bereki, was no longer able to make the payments for the Spirit property he owned. In fact, he had missed two mortgage payments.

6. Adam had attempted to sell the property numerous times but was unsuccessful due to the depressed market conditions.

7. Adam offered to sell the property to me if I would immediately pay the past due payments on the first mortgage and second (equity line of credit), and assume these as well as all tax and other related payments going forward. I agreed.

8. Adam left the property at that time and I moved in. I paid the missed mortgage payments, brought all other payments up to date and began paying all of the mortgage, property tax, and insurance payments and have done so ever since.

9. This agreement between Adam and I is also memorialized in written documents releasing all of the interests in the Spirit property to me.

10. Concurrent with Adam and I's written agreements, we informed several people of our agreement. Refer to the attached declarations of fact by Jim Bohm, esq. and David Robin, esq.

11. Pursuant to my full ownership interest in Spirit, I have been claiming the mortgage interest deduction on my annual income tax. If necessary, I can provide another declaration by Ken Lorin, CPA.

12. Upon taking ownership of Spirit, I made numerous legal and mortgage expert consultations regarding how I could put the recorded title into my name. I was told that any transfer of title would likely result in the mortgage company calling due the loan(s).

13. I have attempted to refinance the property two times since taking ownership in an effort to, amongst other things, change title. Due to other financial obligations on my credit record, I was not able to get approved under terms which were favorable to and affordable to me. If necessary, another affidavit from Mortgage Banker Tim Fahl can be provided.

14. Every single financial document in my possession, including all cancelled checks and checking account records confirms the facts which I have stated above.

15. The Spirit property belongs to me, not Adam Bereki. He has no legal interest in it whatsoever pursuant to our legally binding agreements.

16. I am nearing retirement and am suffering from a severe medical condition which could cause my retirement to be imminent. In pursuance thereof and my basic human rights, I need access to the funds in the equity of my home and full control over it which has been restricted by your lien.

17. I understand you did not have legal notice of the terms and agreements between Adam Bereki and I regarding the Spirit property, which is why I am giving you notice now and allowing you ample time to remedy your actions before penalties below are imposed.

18. I demand you remove the lien you have filed and attached to my property within ten business days from the date of service of this Notice. Postage delivery time is incorporated in the ten days (not an extension thereto) and you have also been emailed a copy.

19. Failure to remove the lien will, on the 11th day after notice will result in the following:

a. You will be deemed guilty of trespass upon my property and subject to the following fines and penalties:

1. For each calendar day (beginning at 12:01 AM on the 11th day) the lien remains on my property, you will be charged a fee of $2500. Any portion of a day after 12:01AM constitutes the whole day.

2. You will be charged for any and all legal expenses I deem necessary to complete the process of removing the lien. This includes but is not limited to court filing fees, travel time, mileage expenses at $.90 per mile, parking fees, postage, copying, scanning, printing, attorneys fees, and clerical or other assistant fees I deem necessary.

3. You will be charged a fee of $500 for each hour (or portion thereof) I spend in preparing documentation, testifying, researching, attending any court proceedings in this matter or anything whatsoever relating to it.

4. This document is governed by the common law of the State of California. Any legal proceedings arising out of failure to perform to this notice of trespass shall be dealt with proceedings under common law exclusively.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California the foregoing is true and correct. Executed this 12th day of May, 2017, at Costa Mesa, California.

Without Prejudice

DECLARATION OF DAVID ROBIN

I, David Robin, declare and state as follows:

1. I am an attorney duly licensed to practice law before all courts in the State of California and am owner of The 4600 Group, Inc.

2. Unless otherwise indicated, the matters attested to herein are based on my direct and personal knowledge and if called upon as a witness to testify, I could and would, competently testify hereto:

3. I have known Roseanne and Adam Bereki personally and professionally for approximately 31 years.

4. In or about November 2010, Roseanne informed me Adam was unable to pay several financial obligations including the mortgage and property taxes of his home at 818 Spirit Costa Mesa, California. She said he had already missed two mortgage payments.

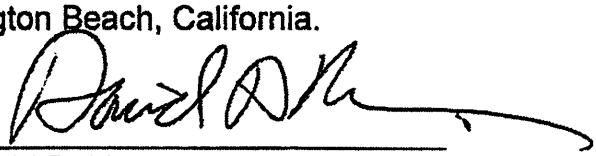
5. At that time, Roseanne told me Adam decided to sell his house to his mother, Roseanne Bereki for the consideration of her bringing all past payments, taxes and other expenses current and assuming all financial obligations going forward.

6. Roseanne advised me Adam had also attempted to sell the house several times but was unable to due to the depressed market conditions and the decline in real estate values.

7. Pursuant to the agreement between Roseanne and Adam, Adam moved out of the house and Roseanne moved in.

8. I learned from both Roseanne and Adam that pursuant to their agreement, Adam was moving out of the country for an indefinite period of time. I learned that he went to the Philippines.

9. At present, Adam has moved back into the house and is living in a guest room. Roseanne has told me Adam is paying her rent for the room. Roseanne occupies the master bedroom.



10. Since November of 2010, Roseanne has always referred to the house (818 Spirit Costa Mesa, California) as her house in our conversations. As part of the change of ownership from Adam to Roseanne, I am aware during contemporaneous conversations from 2010 to the present time that Roseanne pays all of the property taxes on the house and claims the deduction on her personal income tax filings. In my conversations with Adam he refers to the house as "Mom's house."

11. Roseanne has worked for me for the past 24 years as the Manager of Finance and Human Resources for my company. She manages all of the business financial accounts and the HR for the firm. There has never been an integrity violation on her part.

12. It is my belief, based on the statements and actions of both Roseanne and Adam Bereki, the house at 818 Spirit Costa Mesa, California, belongs, by agreement between them, to Roseanne Bereki.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed this 12th day of May 2017, at Huntington Beach, California.

I, James G Bohm, declare and state as follows:

1. I am an attorney duly licensed to practice law before all courts in the State of California and am a partner in the law firm of Bohm Wildish LLP.

2. Unless otherwise indicated, the matters attested to herein are based on my direct and personal knowledge and if called upon as a witness to testify, I could and would, competently testify thereto.

5. At that time, Adam told me he decided to sell his house to his mother, Roseanne Bereki for the consideration of her bringing all past payments, taxes and other expenses current and assuming all financial obligations going forward. Adam advised me that due to the decline in real estate at that time and the amounts of the first and second loans on the house, the house had little to no equity when the cost of sale was considered. Pursuant to this agreement, Adam then moved out of the house and Roseanne moved in.

6. Adam advised me at that time that he was moving out of the country for an indefinite period of time. I learned that he went to the Philippines.

7. At present, Adam has moved back into the house, living in a guest room, and he has told me he is paying rent to Roseanne. Roseanne occupies the master bedroom.

Re: The Spartan Assoc. v. Humphreys OCSC # 30-2015-00805807

Dear Ms Bereki:

In response to your "Notice of Trespass - Notice to Cease and Desist" dated May 15, 2017, according to the official records of the Orange County Recorder, your son Adam Bereki is the holder of legal title to the 818 Spirit Costa Mesa property. As such, the Humphreys have every right to file a judgment lien against any and all right title and interests held by Adam in that property as well as any other property in which he has legal title or holds some interest. To the extent you and your son may be involved in some scheme which constitutes a breach of the terms of Adam's agreement with his lender and/or commit lender fraud, the Humphreys cannot concern themselves with or be a party to those activities and the actvities you describe certainly do not constitute grounds for the Humphreys to release their lien.

The Humphreys actions consist of filing an abstract of the judgment which indicates only that judgment has been entered against Adam Bereki, the amount of that judgment and Adam's last known address, all of which is 100% accurate and fully sanctioned under the law. You are not mentioned anywhere in that recorded abstract. Accordingly please be advised that any action taken by you as described in your May 15th notice will be aggressively defended and all rights, causes of action and damages which arise from the filing of a frivolous or meritless action, and/or an abuse of the legal process will be aggressively pursued.

Sincerely,

RE: REPORT OF FRAUD ON UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT CASE #8:22-12076 In re Adam Alan Bereki

DATE: January 9, 2023

---

This complaint letter is to establish my claim that I have been unlawfully forced into bankruptcy as a direct and proximate result of fraud, treason, and other crimes being perpetrated against me and my estate by public officials and private parties in conspiracy therewith to steal my money, property, and liberty under color of law but without lawful authority. I have attached a copy of a verified complaint I recently made to the United States Supreme Court with supporting authenticated evidence establishing my allegations. I will expect your prompt investigation into these complaints to protect me and my estate and this Honorable Bankruptcy Court from being used as a weapon of oppression and domestic violence.

Sincerely,

Adam Bereki

This Application is made pending the filing and Lawful adjudications of an Emergency Petition for Original Writs of Quo Warranto, Mandamus, and Habeas Corpus to be sent within 40 calendar days of the date this Stay is granted.

I. WHY THE RELIEF PETITIONER REQUESTS IS NOT AVAILABLE FROM ANY OTHER COURT OR JUDGE

Petitioner has been unlawfully restrained of his liberty and irreparably harmed and damaged by the repeated and deliberate denial of all rights, privileges, and immunities guaranteed to him by the California and U.S. Constitutions.

A. BACKGROUND

Petitioner is a former police officer in southern California with more than twenty years of experience in forensic civil and criminal investigations and a specialty in cases involving highly sophisticated fraud and government corruption. In March of 2017, he became aware of a criminal Enterprise orchestrated individually and/or collectively by officials of all three branches of the governments of California and the United States designed to egregiously deprive him and the American People of the rights, privileges, and immunities secured by the California and United States Constitutions.

Petitioner became aware of the Enterprise when it was used to maliciously prosecute and falsely constructively imprison him for allegedly performing construction work without a license even though he was the licensee of a general contractor license.

During the faux "trial" held in the Superior "Court" of California-County of Orange, he was maliciously prosecuted by private parties for violating the contractor "licensing laws" under the fraudulent pretense of a remedial civil action in equity for "disgorgement". He was never told the true nature and cause of the accusation(s) against him, never informed of his right to or afforded the assistance of counsel, never allowed to confront his accuser(s), denied all of the heightened protections in criminal proceedings, and then excessively fined about $930,000 resulting in a bill of pains and penalties.

When Petitioner challenged the jurisdiction of the "Court" to excessively, cruelly, and unusually punish him–including by depriving him of the right to a judicial proceeding–he was further punished by monetary sanctions obviously intended to silence his dissent.

When Petitioner was unable to pay the excessive fine (an amount more than 42 times his qualifying net worth) his general contractor license (the one he allegedly didn't have) was summarily suspended without any hearing or means of appeal by operation of the contractor "licensing laws". Consequently, he has been unlawfully restrained from earning a living in his profession as a general contractor for more than five years causing an estimated three million dollars in lost earnings, irreparable harm, and other damages that include the impairment of his private contracts and obligations. As recognized by a former Justice of this Court, "by taking away his opportunity to earn a living, you can drain the blood from his veins without even scratching his skin."[1]

Among the impairment of Petitioner's private obligations is the fraudulent and wrongful non-judicial foreclosure proceedings on the "Deed of Trust" secured by the real property held in his Living Trust because he and his estate are unable to discharge the alleged monthly mortgage obligation as a direct result of the restraint of his liberty. Prestige is also fraudulently attempting to foreclose on this "Deed of Trust" to steal Petitioner's home when it knows neither the "Deed of Trust" nor the real property are security for an entirely separate security instrument traded on the U.S. Stock Exchange as a purported "mortgage backed security".

At almost the same time as the "trial", and in mirror-like despotic fashion, Petitioner was also subjected to another bill of pains and penalties in the form of a "mandatory arbitration" proceeding executed by the Contractors State License Board and a private arbitration company. Not only was there no statutory authority for the Board and arbitration company to create or conduct a "mandatory arbitration" proceeding, or to assign the proceeding to unelected unappointed private arbitrators who don't hold public office, he was never given notice of the proceedings. After discovering what had transpired and repeatedly objecting, his license was summarily suspended/revoked without any hearing or known means of appeal.

Having honorably served in law enforcement and seen first-hand how the justice system can operate for the good of our society and with integrity, Petitioner was initially shocked and in disbelief at what had transpired. He initially thought it was just a series of sloppy government mistakes that could be corrected on appeal or through other checks and balances. What he didn't understand was that it was not a mistake at all and was just the beginning of the fraud, treason, and other crimes that would be perpetrated upon him as he sought remedial justice that continues to be denied.

Over the past five years, Petitioner put the purported system of "checks and balances" in every branch of State and Federal government to a real test as he sought relief. In addition to meticulously following the State and Federal "Court" appellate processes and being denied relief at every step, he made complaints to five municipal Police departments, the Orange County Sheriff-Coroner department, California Highway Patrol, Orange County District Attorney, U.S. Dept. of Justice and FBI, California Assembly and Senate, California Governor and Attorney General, and the California Commission on Judicial Performance. In every instance, the officials involved either acted with careless disregard or deliberate indifference to the irreparable harm and damages being suffered by him as result of the obvious and ongoing deprivation of his rights. In every instance, the officials refused to fully, fairly, and impartially investigate his criminal complaints and deprivation of rights claims and/or to intervene to stop the ongoing irreparable harm and damages.

All of the authenticated Exhibits pertaining to Petitioner's investigation, including many digital audio recordings, are available for viewing and/or download in the spirit of full disclosure and transparency at http://www.thespiritoflaw.com.

This Application and Petitioner's forthcoming Petition for Extraordinary Original Writs will evidence his forensic investigation throughout the entire process from treasonous "conviction" to every attempt at seeking relief. It will expose the egregiously anti-Constitutional policies and procedures that have been established under color of law but without lawful authority by "official" actors of the Enterprise to obliterate the system of checks and balances and overthrow the Constitutional Republican forms of government of California and the United States.

In the words of the Founders, "[a]n elective despotism was not the government we fought for; but one which should not only be founded on free principles, […] in which the powers of government should be so divided and balanced […], as that no one could transcend their legal limits, without being effectually checked and restrained by the others."[2]

Article III of the Constitution mandates that "[t]he judicial Power of the United States shall extend to all Cases, in Law and Equity, arising under this Constitution" and therefore, that "[t]he constitution gave to every person having a claim upon a State, a right to submit his case to the Court of the nation"[3]. Despite this, this "Court"

[3] "The constitution gave to every person having a claim upon a State, a right to submit his case to the Court of the nation. However unimportant his claim might be, however little the community might be interested in its decision, the framers of our constitution thought it necessary for the purposes of has refused its mandatory duty to hear Petitioner's case twice– an act it has repeatedly admitted is "treason to the Constitution".[4]

This Court has a mandatory, non-discretionary ministerial duty to exercise jurisdiction over this case to: (1) conduct a full, fair, and impartial investigation; (2) intervene to stop the crimes and irreparable harm and damages being perpetrated upon Petitioner and the American People; and, (3) to take all Lawful action necessary and within the bounds of its authority to restore the Republican governments of California and the United States.

B. EXTRAORDINARY CIRCUMSTANCES REQUIRING THIS COURT TO EXERCISE JURISDICTION AND GRANT THE REQUESTED RELIEF

The right to liberty includes "the right to be free from, and to obtain judicial relief for, unjustified intrusions of personal security."[5] Based on the extraordinary circumstances presented herein, unless the jurisdiction of this Court is exercised, there is a complete absence of any judicial or other trustworthy and effective corrective process available in the "governments" of California and the United States leaving Petitioner and the American People without a Constitutional form of government. Even if there appears to be another corrective process available, the evidence presented herein will reveal that it is a façade intended to create the illusion of justice and that rogue "officials" will continue to abuse their authority as a means justice, to provide a tribunal as superior to influence as possible, in which that claim might be decided."Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 383-4 (1821).

[4] "We have no more right to decline the exercise of jurisdiction which is given than to usurp that which is not given. The one or the other would be treason to the constitution." Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 404 (1821).

to commit additional crimes and treason to aid and abet the Enterprise to ensure its survival while simultaneously denying Petitioner and the American People Lawful remedy.

1. Petitioner has exhausted all apparent remedies in the "Courts" of California and the United States and has been denied a judicial determination of his rights in every instance;

2. There is a complete and total absence of any State or Federal corrective processes as the officials of all three branches of the governments of California and the United States involved in this case are allegedly engaged in fraud, deceit, and/or treason and other crimes to deliberately deprive Petitioner of his rights, liberty, and property and have either exercised jurisdiction over his person and/or property without Lawful authority and/or have refused to exercise jurisdiction to perform their sworn duties to investigate and intervene as mandated by Law;

3. There is no judicial Constitutional Court in the State of California with subject matter jurisdiction upon which Petitioner can present these claims
    i. California "Courts" claim that they lack subject matter jurisdiction to hear and determine cases involving Federal questions. Exhibit [D] p.5438, pp.5441-5447. Amongst other structural jurisdiction issues, this has resulted in the apparent summary suspension of the writ of Habeas Corpus secured by Art. I, §9, cl. 2 in all Cal. "Courts";
    ii. The Cal. "Constitution of 1879" does not vest any Court of California with subject matter jurisdiction at Law or Equity as mandated by the U.S. Constitution. Article VI, §5 of the Cal. "Constitution of 1879" that once granted the Superior Courts subject matter jurisdiction at Law and Equity was repealed in 1966. The "Courts" of California appear to have been proceeding without any Lawful authority ever since.
    iii. The Cal. "Constitution of 1879" does not grant the Legislature any power to create lower Courts or to vest them with any statutory jurisdiction, including jurisdiction over the "statutes" involved in this case;
    iv. All "Courts" of California involved in this case have either committed fraud and treason to the Constitutions of California and the United States by exercising personal and/or subject matter jurisdiction without Lawful authority and/or repeatedly refusing to exercise jurisdiction to stop the crimes and the irreparable harm and damages resulting therefrom. Most recently, this includes summary denials of Petitioner's

Application for Emergency Stay and Petition Writ of Habeas Corpus;

4. The Contractor's State Licensing Board and its "mandatory arbitration" program are treason to the Constitutions of California and the United States and there are no checks and balances in the government of California to stop it;

5. Congress has not vested any inferior Court of the United States with subject matter jurisdiction at Law or Equity as defined by the U.S. Constitution to hear and determine Petitioners claims;

6. There is no lawful representative quorum in the "Legislature" of California or the "Congress" of the United States;

7. The "Judges" of the Superior "Court" of California-County of Orange Breached Their Mandatory Duty to Grant Petitioner's Application for Emergency Stay and To Provide Habeas Corpus Relief.

ADDITIONAL ISSUES RAISED IN THE FORM OF QUESTIONS

Petitioner has included a preliminary copy of the questions to be presented in his forthcoming Petition for Original Writs in Appendix [S], beginning on page 90. There are many additional issues raised therein, all of which are fully incorporated in this Application.

CORPORATE DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

First National Bank of Omaha is a subsidiary of the public traded corporation, First National of Nebraska. Citibank N.A. may be a subsidiary of publicly traded Citigroup.

NOTICE

By direction of the office of the Clerk of Court, Petitioner has not included the voluminous Exhibits referenced herein but intends them to be fully incorporated. They will be delivered to the Court on the Court's request and can be viewed and/or downloaded in the meantime at: https://www.thespiritoflaw.com/exhibits.

PARTIES TO THE PROCEEDINGS

Petitioner

Adam Bereki is one of the People domiciled in California. He is not a "citizen of the United States", or "person subject to the jurisdiction thereof" according to the so-called "14th Amendment" or a statutory resident of the District of Columbia, a municipal corporation[6] chartered[7] by Congress masquerading as a "State"[8] or as the "United States."[9] According to the Supreme Court of California, the People of California do not owe their Citizenship to the "14th Amendment".[10]

Petitioner also cannot possibly be "subject to the jurisdiction [of the United States]" by virtue of the so-called "14th Amendment" because it was never Lawfully ratified commensurate with Article V,[11] having been forced upon the People without a Lawful representative quorum in "Congress" and by means of federal regional martial law rule imposed by the Reconstruction Acts.[12] Martial law appears nowhere in the Constitutional amending processes found in Article V. Moreover, Petitioner has not made any knowing, voluntary, or intelligent waiver of rights to be subject to the jurisdiction of the "14th Amendment" which is, on account of having never been ratified and in violation of all six Articles of the Constitution, "foreign to our Constitution and unacknowledged by its law." Any claims for privileges or "rights" pursuant to the "14th Amendment" and all statutes, regulations, rules, and codes in pursuance thereof or in pursuance any other unlawful authority made herein are under extreme duress and coercion.

The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void."

STATEMENT OF JURISDICTION

Under our Constitutional government of defined and limited powers, the Constitution is the "supreme Law of the Land",[13] not the arbitrary acts of public officials. As public officials are agents of the People, challenges to their authority cannot be summarily denied and avoided at the whim or discretion of the official. "[W]henever an act of […a] government [official] is challenged[,] [the] grant of power must be shown, or the act is void."[14]

Petitioner's accompanying Petition for Original Writs of Quo Warranto, Mandamus, and non-statutory Habeas Corpus challenging the authority of officials of the State of California and the United States to excessively, cruelly, and unusually punish and/or to conspire to punish him and deprive him of his rights, liberty, and property without a judicial determination thereof are writs of right and are not to be confused with any "discretionary" writs. Cf. Rule 20 of the Rules of the Supreme Court declaring that petitions for extraordinary writs are "not a matter of right, but of discretion."

On petition for non-statutory Original Writ of Habeas Corpus, this Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter pursuant to Article I, §9, Cl. 2 and Article III, §2, which declares, that "[t]he judicial Power shall extend to all Cases, in Law and Equity, arising under this Constitution […]." (Emphasis added). See also Ex parte Siebold,[15] holding that "[t]he only ground on which this Court, or any court, without some special statute authorizing it, will give relief on habeas corpus […] is the want of jurisdiction in such court over the person or the cause, or some other matter rendering its proceedings void."

Petitioner asserts that the officials in the challenged actions herein lacked jurisdiction over his person and/or of the cause and that he has been falsely constructively imprisoned and subjected to involuntary servitude as a result of an ultra vires prosecution and other "official" actions taken under color of law but without Lawful authority. Accordingly, this Court also has power to grant this Writ pursuant to Article III, §2, Article I, §9 Cl. 2, Article I, §9 and §10, the First and Fifth Amendments, §14 of the Judiciary Act of 1789, and/or 28 U.S.C. §2241(c)(1) and (2) because Petitioner has been unlawfully restrained "under or by color of the authority of the United States[,] [an] act done or omitted in pursuance of an Act of Congress, [and] order[s], [and] judgment[s] of judge[s] of the United States."

On Petition for Original Writs of Quo Warranto and Mandamus, this Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to Article III, §2, Article I, §9 and §10, the First and Fifth Amendments, §14 of the Judiciary Act of 1789, and/or §28 U.S.C. §1651(a).

Pursuant to Article I, §9, Article VI, §2, and Article III, §2, this Court has personal jurisdiction over all of the parties who are either officers of the Court, officials of California or the United States or People or entities that have submitted to the jurisdiction of this Court by filing pleadings subject to its review. All parties have been properly served pursuant to the "Rules" of this Court.

II. VERIFIED STATEMENT OF THE CASE

A. BACKGROUND

The case against Petitioner arose as a simple and straightforward civil contract dispute over non-payment for materials and labor services rendered by his company, The Spartan Associates, Inc.[16] ("Spartan"), pursuant to its alleged agreement with Karen and Gary Humphreys, ("the Humphreys"), to perform custom remodel construction work on their condominium units in Newport Beach, California. When the Humphreys refused to pay Spartan, Spartan initiated a suit in the Superior Court of California-County of Orange with claims for quantum meruit and open book account.

In response to Spartan's suit, the Humphreys filed cross-complaints against Spartan, Petitioner, and two surety companies. Among the allegations were claims for damages, negligence, and misrepresentation.

The Humphreys initial defense strategy was to a file a Motion for Summary Judgment on the grounds that because Spartan had allegedly not complied with certain aspects of the contractor "licensing laws" that it lacked standing to the relief it sought. The part of their Motion most relevant here claimed that: (1) the "undisputed facts" establish that Spartan was a licensed building contractor and that Spartan (not Petitioner) entered into an agreement with them for home improvement work. Exhibit [A3] pp.231-233. Bolded emphasis added.

[16] A corporation chartered under the laws of the State of California that was solely owned and operated by Petitioner and had repeatedly elected itself as a subchapter S corporation. Spartan remains in the process of dissolution as a result of the issues in this case.

When the Humphreys failed to prove as a matter of law that they were entitled the relief they sought, they concocted a new claim that they never contracted with Spartan, but instead with Petitioner, and that since Petitioner was allegedly unlicensed, they were entitled a full refund without offsets for the benefits they received pursuant to Cal. Business and Professions Code. §7031(b). (This would amount to a $930,000 total forfeiture to Petitioner while the Humphreys would also receive a windfall of the $930,000 in custom work Spartan performed on their home).

Immediately prior to "trial", the Humphreys amended their complaint with the new first cause of action under §7031(b) they called "disgorgement", while simultaneously severing all of their other remaining cross-claims in a Motion for Severance that was granted by the "Court". "Trial" proceeded on their first cause of action for "disgorgement" only.

As will be evidenced, Business and Professions Code §7031(b) does not mention let alone authorize a claim for "disgorgement"– an equitable remedy designed to strip a wrongdoer of their illegal profits. Rather, §7031(b) authorizes a total penal forfeiture as punishment for committing the offense of contracting without a license– a public offense that can only be prosecuted under the Executive power of California by the District Attorney's office, not private parties like the Humphreys.

B. PROCEDURAL HISTORY

1. "Trial": Superior "Court" of California-County of Orange

On March 27-28th, 2017, Petitioner was criminally prosecuted in the Superior Court of California-County of Orange, under the fraudulent pretense of a remedial civil action in Equity for allegedly performing construction work without a license pursuant to Cal. Business and Professions Code §7031(b). At "trial" he was denied all the heightened protections of criminal proceedings including the assistance of counsel and trial by jury. Upon "conviction" he was excessively fined (ordered to forfeit) about $930,000 without any of the protections of the excessive fines clause pursuant to §7031(a) and (b).

Despite the facts that: (1) Spartan was listed on the City of Newport Beach Building Permits as the contractor (vf)[17](Exhibit [A5] pp.499-501); (2) Petitioner was the qualifying individual for Spartan's general contractor license (vf); (3) the Humphreys and Gary Humphreys company, directly paid Spartan $758,000 (Exhibits [A4] p.128 line 19–p.129 line 3, p144 line 17–p.146 line 9 and [A5] pp.475-488); (5) the Humphreys never presented any known evidence Petitioner was a "person" required to be licensed[18] (vf); (6) the Humphreys never presented any known evidence that Petitioner, independent of Spartan, performed any specific work on their project and that this work was required to be licensed (vf); and, (7) the Contractors State Licensing Board had determined Petitioner was "qualified" as a general building contractor (vf), "Judge" David Chaffee, found that Petitioner (not Spartan) was the contractor, that he was unlicensed, and "subject to the [total] forfeiture". Exhibit [A4]– Reporter's Transcript p.201.

Chaffee awarded the Humphreys "disgorgement of funds paid" in the amount of $848,000 pursuant to Cal. Business and Professions Code §7031(b). Appendix [A]– [17] All statements followed by "(vf)" indicated a verified fact. The same applies to all statements made citing Exhibits verifying the statement.

[18] See Bass v. United States, 784 Fed. 2d. 1282, 1284 (1986).

Minute Order pp.4-5 and [B]– Judgment p.7 even though §7031(b) fails to grant the "Court" subject matter jurisdiction to award the forfeiture of payments made to licensed contractors. Chaffee also held that Petitioner was barred from recovering the approximate $82k allegedly due Spartan on its quantum meruit claim because he was the contractor (not Spartan) pursuant to §7031(a). Appendix [B]– Minute Order, p.5. See also Proc. Hist. Exhibits [A1-A5] found on http://www.thespiritoflaw.com.

Ninety days after the "Judgment Order" was issued on April 20, 2017, Petitioner's vested right to act as a qualifying individual for a general contractor license (which included Spartan's license) was summarily suspended/revoked indefinitely by operation of Cal. Business and Professions Code §7071.17 without a hearing or any known appeal process. No known official record exists for this suspension, even though it is commanded by §7071.17.

2. "Appeal"–Fourth District "Court" of Appeal

On appeal to the California Fourth District "Court" of Appeal, "Justices" Aronson, Goethals, and O'Leary (CJ) affirmed Chaffee's "Judgment" in its entirety, holding that all of Petitioner's claims on appeal were "meritless" and that he was not being punished because the $930,000 fine was not penal, but instead an "equitable remedy" known as "disgorgement".[19] Appendix [C]– Opinion pp.9-22 dated October 31, 2018, and Proc. Hist. Exhibits [A5-A18].

3. Challenge to Jurisdiction: Superior "Court" of California- County of Orange

[19] Humphreys v. Bereki, 2018 Cal. App. Unpub. LEXIS 7469 p.14 (2018).

When the Appellate "Justices" awarded costs against Petitioner (to further take his money and property without Lawful authority) and remitted the case to the Superior "Court", he again challenged jurisdiction. "Judge" Di Cesare refused to vacate the void "Judgment" finding that the appellate "Court's" arbitrary edict was "final". Appendix [D]– Minute Order p.23 dated March 15, 2019, Reporter's Transcript pp.24-37, Proc. Hist. Exhibits [A19-A23], and [E1].

4. Petition for Review– California Supreme "Court"

On Petition for Review to the Supreme "Court" of California, "Justices" Tani Cantil-Sakouye (CJ), Carol A. Corrigan, Goodwin H. Liu, Mariano-Florentino Cuellar, Leondra R. Kruger, Joshua P. Groban, and Ming W. Chin, sitting en banc, denied Petitioner's Petition for Review. Ordinarily review by the Supreme Court is discretionary. In this case however, it was mandatory because Petitioner never received a full, fair, or impartial trial or appeal and there was no other Court of California to obtain a remedy. Appendix [E] p.38, and Proc. Hist. Exhibits [A24-A27]. The "Court" has no record of which "Justices" voted to arbitrarily deny the Petition. Exhibit [C] pp.2595-2608.

5. Petition for Writ of Certiorari– U.S. Supreme "Court"

On Petition for Writ of Certiorari to this "Court", unknown "Justices" arbitrarily denied Petitioner's challenge to jurisdiction on October 7, 2019, despite the fact that Article III, §2 of Constitution mandated the Court to hear and determine his case. The "Court" also had a duty to hear his case especially because he had never been afforded a full, fair, impartial or independent trial or appeal and there was no Court in California to obtain a judicial remedy. See case# 18-1416.

8. Independent Action in Equity– U.S. District "Court" Central District of California

In an Independent Action in Equity in the United States District "Court" for the Central District of California, Petitioner challenged the jurisdiction of the State "Court" "Judgments" and the Constitutionality of §7031 and §7071.17. District "Judge" Marshall refused to perform a full, fair, impartial, and independent investigation of his claims and held that the "Court" lacked subject matter jurisdiction to grant him relief because of the doctrines of collateral estoppel and Rooker-Feldman. Appendix [G]– Opinion pp.41-50 dated February 6, 2020, and Procedural History Exhibits [A29-A36]. Upon notice of appeal, Marshall declared Petitioner's appeal "frivolous" and denied his in forma pauperis status. Appendix [H] pp. 51-52. She also denied his request for counsel. Appendix [F] p.39.

7. "Appeal"– Ninth Circuit "Court" of Appeals

On appeal to the Ninth Circuit "Court" of Appeals, "Judges" Thomas (CJ), Tashima, and W. Fletcher, dismissed Petitioner's appeal as "frivolous" on November 12, 2020. Appendix [I] p.53, and Proc. Hist. Exhibits [A38-A42].

8. Emergency Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus– U.S. Supreme "Court"

On September 16, 2021, Petitioner sent an Emergency Petition for Writs or Error and/or non-Statutory Habeas Corpus to this "Court". It was received on September 22, 2021. Exhibit [A43]. The Clerk refused to file the Petition and returned it because it was allegedly not in the proper form as required by the "Rules of "Court" (Appendix [N] p.72).

According to this Court, "the Constitution does not require that the case or controversy should be presented by traditional forms of procedure[.]"[20] Equally important, the "Rules of Court", which have the force and effect of law and can result in the summary denial of Constitutional rights (as they did here), have never been approved by "Congress" or the President and therefore are without authority. The Clerk's office has also repeatedly acted in the capacity of a "gatekeeper" to screen cases before they are given to the Justices. The Clerk of Court has never been appointed as an Article III United States Judge by any President or confirmed by the Senate, and therefore has no power whatsoever to act in the capacity of a Constitutionally unauthorized "gatekeeper" to exercise the judicial power of the United States and summarily reject cases. Cf. Rule 5 of the FRCP whereby "[t]he clerk must not refuse to file a paper solely because it is not in the form prescribed by these rules or by a local rule or practice."

See also Appendix [S]– Questions Presented: 21-22.

9. Criminal Complaints/ Petitions for Redress of Grievance

While pursuing a judicial remedy, Petitioner filed Petitions for Redress of Grievance and/or criminal complaints with the Governor of California (Gavin Newsom), Attorney General of California, California Commission on Judicial

[20] Nashville, C. & St; Louis Ry. Co. v. Wallace, 288 U.S. 249, 264 (1933)

Performance, Assembly of California through the office of Assemblywoman Cottie Petrie-Norris, the Senate of California through the office of Senator John MW Moorlach, Santa Ana Police Department, Orange County Sheriff-Coroner Department, Newport Beach Police Department, Costa Mesa Police Department, Irvine Police Department, California Highway Patrol, Orange County District Attorney, U.S. Department of Justice, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. All of the officials who received the complaints have either refused to perform a full, fair, impartial, and independent investigation into his claims and/or refused to intervene to stop the irreparable harm and damages being perpetrated upon him. Exhibits [C], [D], [E], [F] and section II(D)(3) infra.

10. Application for Emergency Stay/ Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus Superior "Court" of California- County of Orange

As a direct and proximate cause of the fraud, deceit, treason and other crimes perpetrated upon Petitioner–especially the restraint of his liberty with no apparent means of relief–his private contracts and obligations became impaired resulting in two actions (thus far) taken by "creditors". In the first action, Prestige Default Services, LLC, the (Trustee) for the "Deed of Trust" securing the "Promissory Note" for a "loan" pertaining to real property held in Petitioner's living trust, initiated non-judicial foreclosure proceedings on July 7, 2022 for non-"payment" of $37,958.42. Exhibit [D] pp.5225-5230. In the second action, First National Bank of Omaha sued Petitioner for "damages" for breach of credit card contract in the Superior "Court" of California, County of Orange, for failure to "pay" $13,052.87. See case #30-2022-01271693.

Petitioner responded to both actions by filing a Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus in the Superior "Court" on September 7, 2022, challenging the personal and subject matter jurisdiction of the State of California and the United States to unlawfully prosecute and punish him and/or sanction this behavior, including denying him a remedy, republican form of government, and impairing the obligations of his private contracts. The requested relief included a request for expedited processing[21] and for an emergency stay of both of the above actions. Proc. Hist. Exhibit [A46]. The Deputy Clerk set a hearing date for the Petition for October 13, 2022.

Pursuant to Cal. Civil Code §2924(a)(2), the foreclosure redemption period is not less than three months, or about October 7, 2022, 90 days after July 7, 2022 when the Notice of Default was filed and six days after the hearing date for the Habeas Petition was set. Because Petitioner had been denied relief in every branch of government and could not cure the defaults by "payment", his only apparent recourse other than an emergency stay would be to file for bankruptcy involuntarily. To stop the irreparable harm and damages, including to avoid being forced into bankruptcy, he filed an Ex parte Application for Emergency Hearing on the Petition and set the hearing date for September 15, 2022. Proc. Hist. Exhibit [A47].

While the appearance of a hearing was conducted by Superior Court "Judge" Sandra Leal, Petitioner was denied a full, fair, and impartial hearing and judicial determination of his rights resulting in the summary denial of his Application and all claims for relief. On the record, Leal held that she "[didn't] find that there [were] exigent circumstances […and] that a Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus [was not] applicable in this situation." Appendix [R] p.89.

[21] Cal. Rules of Court, Rule 4.551(h).

Pursuant to Cal. Penal Code §1473(a) "[a] person unlawfully […] restrained of their liberty, under any pretense, may prosecute a writ of habeas corpus to inquire into the cause of the imprisonment or restraint." (Bolded emphasis added). Leal made no apparent meaningful inquiry. See also In re Winchester,[22] holding that habeas corpus is the proper remedy to collaterally attack a judgment [restraining liberty] in violation of fundamental constitutional rights, In re McDonald[23], and Deshaney v. Winnebago County Dep't of Social Services,[24] holding that:

> "[W]hen the State takes a person into its custody and holds him there against his will, the Constitution imposes upon it a corresponding duty to assume some responsibility for his safety and general well-being. The affirmative duty to protect arises […] from the limitation which [the State] has imposed on his freedom to act on his own behalf."

The Minute Order issued by Leal contains no Lawful authority or other substantive reasoning for her summary denial of not only Petitioner's right to Habeas relief, but to all his rights secured by the California and U.S. Constitutions that continue to be violated.

On October 13, 2022, the hearing initially scheduled for the Petition was commenced before Superior "Court" "Judge" Corey Cramin. Cramin summarily denied the Petition and requests for an emergency stay. Cramin's "Minute Order", like Leal's, contains no Lawful authority or other substantive reasoning for his summary denials. Appendix [R] p.90.

C. OVERVIEW OF THE CRIMINAL ENTERPRISE

The criminal Enterprise operates as a shadow government, what some have called "The Deep State", in interstate commerce and/or under Federal regional martial law rule, whereby it uses the appearance and facade of the Lawful California and U.S. Constitutional governments to carry out its agenda while committing crimes, treason, and acts of racketeering upon the People of California and America to systematically their Lawful governments. Many of these subversive acts also appear to be taking place under the guise of the "progressive" movement, apparently intent on overthrowing Republican forms of government with communist or totalitarian forms of government.

The principal ways the Enterprise functions and continues to expand its parasitic sphere of influence is either through the arbitrary exercise of power without Lawful authority and/or the refusal to exercise the Constitutionally mandated powers vested in the official offices occupied by members of the Enterprise.

D. ANTI-CONSTITUTIONAL POLICIES AND PROCEDURES OF THE ENTERPRISE/ EXTRAORDINARY REASONS RESULTING IN THIS COURT'S MANDATORY DUTY TO EXERCISE JURISDICTION AND GRANT THE REQUESTED RELIEF

1. Malicious Prosecution and False Imprisonment

a. Destruction of Inalienable Rights and Unlawful Creation of Fourth Branch of Government

To understand how Petitioner became subjected to the malicious prosecution for unlicensed contracting in the first place, it's imperative to examine how the contractor "licensing laws" under the California Business and Professions Code came into existence.

One of the primary reasons behind establishing our Constitutional forms of government of carefully defined and limited powers was to recognize and protect the inherent rights of People to life, liberty, and property, and to declare, without any ambiguity, that these rights were innate in the individual, antecedent to the formation of government, and could not be taken away by whichever way the political winds blew.[25] Put differently, these "creator-endowed inalienable rights" were not mere privileges subject to the arbitrary whim of government officials, democracies/mob majorities, commercial regulations, or "police powers".

As one of the checks and balances to ensure these private inalienable rights remained protected beyond their mere parchment declaration, the Judicial branch of government was established to adjudicate disputes involving them, but only through procedures that had been established over centuries that were firmly rooted in the common Law upon which every State (except Louisiana) had been admitted to the union. Many of these protections also became enumerated in the Bills of Rights of Constitutions.

[25] "The very purpose of a Bill of Rights was to withdraw certain subjects from the vicissitudes of political controversy, to place them beyond the reach of majorities and officials and to establish them as legal principles to be applied by the courts. One's right to life, liberty, and property, to free speech, a free press, freedom of worship and assembly, and other fundamental rights may not be submitted to vote; they depend on the outcome of no elections." Board of Education v. Barnette, 319 U.S. 624, 638 (1943).

In the early 1900's, however, the "Legislature" of California, acting without any Lawful representative quorum or Lawful authority, began converting private inalienable[26] (not lienable, non-commercial) rights into revocable public privileges in interstate commerce.[27] While done under the guise of "protecting the public", the real agenda was to create and empower a centralized totalitarian[28] Police State ("total State" or "the Enterprise") by implementing a new authoritarian system of government under Roman civil law in direct violation of the California and U.S. Constitutions. The intent of this new "government"–as directly evidenced by the untold millions of rules, regulations, statutes, and codes it has since created–was to dominate and control nearly every aspect of the lives of the People of California while masquerading as a Lawful Republican, "free" form of government despite having no consent of the governed or Lawful authority.

The implementation of the total State/ Enterprise required three primary means: (1) for government "officials" to commit fraud, treason, and other crimes by either exercising powers without Lawful authority to create and enforce the new policies and procedures of the total State/Enterprise; (2) for government "officials" to refuse to perform the sworn mandatory non-discretionary duties of their office, including, most specifically, those duties known as "checks and balances"; and, (3) for the People to refuse to perform their duties as principals of their government to keep their agents within the chains of the Constitution thereby stopping the usurpers of the total State/ Enterprise from implementing the takeover.

[26] Secured by: Article I, §1 of the Cal. Constitution; Article I, §10 and the Ninth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. See also Hale v. Henkel, 201 U.S. 43, 74 (1906) recognizing that "[t]he individual […] is entitled to carry on his private business in his own way. His power to contract is unlimited. He owes no duty to the State […]."

[27] Inalienable rights secured on Land by the California and U.S. Constitutions are either not recognized or secured in interstate commerce governed by international law, Roman civil law, and/or Admiralty/Maritime jurisdictions where there is no Constitution/ Bill of Rights securing them. Commerce (com- with, mer- sea) is a jurisdiction dealing with commodities and things that doesn't recognize the inalienable rights of sentient beings.

[28] A form of government and a political system that prohibits all opposition parties, outlaws individual and group opposition to the State and its claims, and exercises an extremely high degree of control and regulation over public and private life. It is regarded as the most extreme and complete form of authoritarianism. In totalitarian States, political power is often held by autocrats, such as dictators and absolute monarchs, who employ all-encompassing campaigns in which propaganda is broadcast by state-controlled mass media in order to control the citizenry.

One of the most explicit acts of the Enterprise was to literally create a Fourth branch of government, without any authority whatsoever, that would combine the powers of all three of the existing Legislative, Executive, and Judicial branches Constitutionally made separate. These branches were intentionally made separate because the People and Framers, having just escaped the throes of tyranny, knew that "the accumulation of all powers, legislative, executive, and judiciary, in the same hands, whether of one, a few, or many, and whether hereditary, self-appointed, or elective, may justly be pronounced the very definition of tyranny."[29] And they "regarded [the separation of powers as a system of] checks and balances [and] self-executing safeguard against the encroachment or aggrandizement of one branch at the expense of the other."

To this end, The California Constitution of 1849 established a tripartite Republican form of government that almost mirrors that of the United States government. Each branch was vested with certain "core" or "essential" functions that were not be usurped by another branch.[30] Article IV, Section 1 declares that "[t]he legislative power of this State is vested in the California Legislature which consists of the Senate and Assembly [...]" Article V, Section 1 declares that "[t]he supreme executive power of this State is vested in the Governor [and that] "[t]he Governor shall see that the law is faithfully executed". Article VI, Section 1 declares that "the judicial power of this State is vested in the Supreme Court, courts of appeal, and superior courts, all of which are courts of record." Just to ensure this separation of powers was abundantly clear, Article III, Section 3 separately declares that "[p]ersons charged with the exercise of one power may not exercise either of the others except as permitted by this Constitution."[31]

Despite the foregoing, one Fourth branch agency, known today as the Contractors State Licensing Board, sprung into existence to take total control of the construction industry in California and to create a means for the non-judicial determination of property rights in construction-related disputes by forcing parties into highly unconstitutional "mandatory arbitration" proceedings in direct violation of the separation of powers. The "mandatory arbitration program" was created by the Licensing Board and/or employees thereof treasonously exercising the Legislative and Executive powers of California that have never been conferred upon it/them.

To initially create and empower the Board, the "Legislature" had to effectively [31] See especially Justice Thomas' dissent in Seila Law, LLC v. Consumer Fin. Prot. Bureau, 140 S. Ct. 2183, 2216 (2020). "The Constitution does not permit the creation of officers exercising "quasi-legislative" and "quasi-judicial powers" in "quasi-legislative" and "quasi-judicial agencies." No such powers or agencies exist. Congress lacks the authority to delegate its legislative power, and it cannot authorize the use of judicial power by officers acting outside of the bounds of Article III[.] Nor can Congress create agencies that straddle multiple branches of Government. The Constitution sets out three branches of Government and provides each with a different form of power[…]. Free-floating agencies simply do not comport with this constitutional structure.

rob[32] the People of California of their inalienable right to their time and labor (Cal. Const. Article I, §1) by denying them a hearing and judicial determination of their rights while simultaneously converting their inalienable rights into revocable privileges entirely subject to the "licensing laws" and "policies" of the Board. This policy was most clearly expressed by the Attorney General of California in Opinion 47-175:

> "Since a license to conduct any of the regulated activities [in California] is a mere statutory privilege [not an inalienable right]–a creature of statute–it is at all times subject to legislative control, including destruction or termination by the legislative process."

The destruction of inalienable rights at the hands of political majorities was exactly what the doctrine of separation of powers and checks and balances was intended to protect against. But the system of check and balances could only work if the Courts, Executive officials, and the People were steadfast in their duties. They weren't, and "The New Despotism"[33] in the form of the total State/ Enterprise was born. [34]

b. The "Legislature" of California Was Without Authority to Transfer the Executive Power of California to Private Parties Depriving the Superior Court of Subject Matter Jurisdiction

At first blush, Business and Professions Code §7031(b) appears to be civil remedial statute giving private parties the privilege of recovering compensation they [32] Robbery is the taking of property (such as rights) without Lawful authority by means of force or fear. See e.g. Cal. Penal Code §211. If a government official uses force and/or fear to take something (rights, liberty, property) without Lawful authority (Constitutionally prescribed due process), then they are committing the felonious crime of robbery.

paid to an unlicensed contractor by commencing a civil suit. But §7031(b) is a wolf in sheep's clothing. It's really an action intended for private parties to commence an unlawful criminal prosecution disguised as a remedial civil action. To discover the wolf lurking behind the sheep's clothing, it's necessary to forensically examine the "Legislative" intent, the history of interpreting and enforcing §7031(b) claims by California "Courts", and most importantly, what the real effect of the statute has on an unlicensed contractor.

1. Business and Professions Code §7031 Imposes a Total Penal Forfeiture Not Equitable Disgorgement

California Business and Professions Code §7031(b) is a public regulatory penal statute that governs contractor licensing under California's contractor "licensing laws". It declares that:

> "a person who utilizes the services of an unlicensed contractor may bring an action in any court of competent jurisdiction in this state to recover all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor for performance of any act or contract."

According to the Supreme "Court" of California, "the Legislature's obvious intent [of enacting §7031(b) was] to impose a stiff all-or-nothing penalty for [performing] unlicensed [construction] work by specifying that a contractor is barred from all recovery for such an act or contract if unlicensed at any time while performing it."[35]

[35] MW Erectors v. Neiderhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Co., Inc., 36 Cal. 4th 412, 426 (Cal. Supreme Ct. 2005). Italicized emphases original. Internal quotations omitted. Bolded emphasis added.

More accurately however, §7031(b) prescribes punishment in the form of a total forfeiture[36] because an unlicensed contractor is required to forfeit "all compensation paid" by a customer without offsets for the reasonable value of goods and services provided.[37] In other words, even if the contractor performs flawless work, the homeowner gets to keep the work and receives a full refund.

One august authority addressing these precise issues is the Town of Gilbert Prosecutors Office v. Downie,[38] which Petitioner cited on appeal to the Fourth District. Exhibit [A6] pp.29-30. The Gilbert case involved "disgorgement" and the criminal prosecution of an unlicensed contractor where the Supreme Court of Arizona found that "a rule of total disgorgement [forfeiture] regardless of any benefit conferred on the victim […] may lead to absurd or troubling results." Discussing the issue, the high Court found that "when determining the proper amount of restitution to be paid to a victim, consideration should be made for [the] value conferred on the victim;" Id. p.18. and, that restitution "should not compensate victims for more than their actual loss." Id. p.13. Citing both the Seventh[39] and Ninth[40] Circuit Courts of Appeal, the Gilbert Court declared that they "[found] no significant difference between returning cash, one form of value, and returning other forms of value, such as permits, chattels, services, or other property [and that the concept of] loss is […] rooted in value, not solely in the exchange of money." Id. p.25.

In his concurring opinion, Justice Hurwitz added that under the pretense of a total forfeiture of "disgorgement" without offsets for the value conferred, "a homeowner who received flawless work from an unlicensed contractor would be refunded the full amount paid but would nonetheless also retain the work performed." He concluded "[i]t is impossible for me to view such a victim as having suffered any loss, economic or otherwise..." Id. p.30.

Notably, the Fourth District "Justices" refused to even acknowledge this case and found all of Petitioner's claims making these Lawful and rational arguments "meritless".

After Petitioner was purportedly found to be the unlicensed contractor (as opposed to Spartan), he was denied all offsets for the alleged $930,000 work that was performed by Spartan on the Humphreys project and ordered to pay the Humphreys an additional $848,000. He was also denied the right to compensation for the approximate $82,000 that the Humphreys refused to pay pursuant to §7031(a).

The legislative history of §7031(b) confirms this draconian punishment was indeed intended by the California "Legislature" and "Governor" upon its enactment. See Exhibit [B] p.860:

> "Under the bill, individuals may bring such an action even if the contractor has fully performed. In that case, those using the unlicensed contractor have not been harmed in any way, but are nevertheless authorized to sue to recover compensation paid. As a result, those using unlicensed contractors are arguably unjustly enriched because they are able to reap the benefits of the work done by the unlicensed contractor and are then authorized by statute to sue to recover from the contractor all compensation paid."

As this Court has declared, the inquiry of whether a statutory scheme is remedial or punitive is over "[i]f the [intent] of the legislature was to impose punishment […]."[41]

Other obvious indications of §7031's purely penal nature are: (1) that §7031(b) falls squarely within the definition of a crime or public offense as defined by Cal. Penal Code §15[42]; and, (2) that the same conduct is made criminal by Cal. Business and Professions Codes §7028 and §16240.

It should be carefully noted that the maximum fine for a first offense of unlicensed contracting under §7028 is $5,000, not $930,000.

Pursuant to a Public Records Request to the Orange County District Attorney, the ten most recent first-offense convictions for violating §7028 averaged a fine of $750 and a year of informal probation. Exhibit [C] pp.2550-2557.

Chaffee's "Judgment" was no accident or "harmless error". He had direct knowledge of §7031's penal nature by the fact that he was the trial "Judge" in the MW Erectors case that went to the Cal. Supreme "Court" where it found that §7031 imposed "a stiff all-or-nothing penalty". Chaffee also cited MW Erectors in his discussion of his "Judgment" at "trial", identified it as the "bellwether case on the issue of […] unlicensed contractor responsibility" (Exhibit [A4]– Reporter's Transcript p.200) and admitted that he was imposing a forfeiture. Id. p.201.

2. The Trial "Court" "Judge" Lacked Subject Matter Jurisdiction to Award a Total Forfeiture Disguised as Equitable Disgorgement Because the Humphreys Never Stated a Claim for Disgorgement

Business and Professions Code §7031 mentions nothing about "disgorgement". Nor is an action for "disgorgement" defined anywhere by California statute. The word disgorgement is also not used anywhere in the legislative of history of §7031. Exhibit [B]. And, as previously evidenced, the "Legislature" and "Governor" (Gray Davis) were perfectly aware of the possibility of the unjust enrichment that the enforcement of §7031(b) could create.

According to this Court's recent decision in the case of Liu v. SEC,[43] a claim for "disgorgement" is an equitable remedy designed to strip a wrongdoer of illegal profits, not the total penal forfeiture of an entire transaction without offsets for benefits conferred.

Even assuming §7031(b) called for a true claim of equitable disgorgement, Petitioner is: (1) unaware of any evidence on the trial "Court's" record that he profited even one dollar let alone the $930,000 awarded by Chaffee to the Humphreys (vf); or, (2) that he was unjustly enriched by allegedly performing the custom remodel work requested by the Humphreys (vf). See for e.g. Restatement of the Law 3d, Restitution and Unjust Enrichment, §51, comment i:

> "Allegations that the defendant is a wrongdoer, and that the defendant's business is profitable, do not state a claim in unjust enrichment. By contrast, a claimant who is prepared to show a causal connection between defendant's wrongdoing and a measurable increase in the defendant's net assets will satisfy the burden of proof as ordinarily understood."

[43] Liu v. SEC, 140 S. Ct. 1936, 1940 (2020).

The Humphreys evidenced that they (and Gary Humphreys company, Humphreys & Associates, Inc.) paid a total of $848,000 to Petitioner and Spartan, which was undisputed (vf). In an action for unjust enrichment, however, "[t]he emphasis is on the wrongdoer's enrichment, not the victim's [payments]".[44] Therefore, if §7031(b) actually provided a claim for disgorgement, Petitioner was entitled to offsets for the compensation that had already been returned to the Humphreys. Under the Maxims and Principles of Equity Adjudication, "[n]o one is presumed to give something for nothing. And no one can in reason and conscience expect to receive something for nothing."[45]

Not only does §7031(b) not authorize a claim for "disgorgement", the punishment provided by §7031(b) is neither equitable nor remedial. The Supreme "Court" of California and lower "Courts" have also repeatedly held that "courts may not resort to equitable considerations in defiance of section 7031"[46], evidencing it is not an equitable action. Consequently, the Humphreys never stated a claim for equitable disgorgement or unjust enrichment and Chaffee clearly imposed a total penal forfeiture.

"To accord a type of relief that has never been available before and especially (as here) a type of relief that has been specifically disclaimed by longstanding judicial precedent–is to invoke a default rule, […] not of flexibility but of omnipotence".[47]

4. The Trial "Court" "Judge" Lacked Subject Matter Jurisdiction to Award a Total Penal Forfeiture Disguised as "Damages" Because the Humphreys Never Stated a Claim for Damages

Even though Chaffee's "Minute Order" stated that he awarded the Humphreys "disgorgement", the "Judgment Order" he later signed, Appendix [B] pp.7-8, is for "[d]amages". Petitioner is also unaware of any evidence on the trial "Court's" record of any "damages" even remotely commensurate with any State or Federal Court definition thereof (vf).

In Birdsall v. Coolidge,[49] this Court defined damages as "a compensation, recompense, or satisfaction to the plaintiff, for an injury actually received by him from the defendant" and that "the amount awarded shall be precisely commensurate with the injury suffered, neither more nor less, whether the injury be to the person or estate of the complaining party."

Under Cal. Civil Code §3281, which purportedly codified the common Law definition of damages in California, "[e]very person who suffers detriment from the unlawful act or omission of another, may recover from the person in fault a compensation therefor in money, which is called damages." "[A] [p]laintiff has [the] burden of proving, with reasonable certainty, damages actually sustained by him as result of defendant's wrongful act, and [the] extent of such damages must be proved as fact. [The] burden of proving damages placed on plaintiff is not lessened by his presentation of [a] prima facie case of negligence against [the] defendant"[50] "[and] [d]amages cannot be recovered if the evidence leaves them uncertain, speculative, or remote."[51]

According to the California Second District "Court" of Appeal's opinion in the case of Eisenberg Village etc. v. Suffolk Construction Co., Inc.,[52] "the disgorgement mandated by section 7031(b) is not designed to compensate the plaintiff for any harm, but instead is intended to punish the unlicensed contractor" and "[t]he fact that a contractor does not have a valid license does not, by itself, cause the plaintiff harm other than, perhaps some sort of psychological harm in knowing that he or she hired someone who was not in compliance with the law." In other words, the so-called "injury" from hiring an unlicensed contractor upon which the "licensing laws" are founded is purely hypothetical.

Under California law, "any provision by which money or property is to be forfeited without regard to the actual damage suffered calls for a penalty and is therefore void."[53] See also Cal. Civil Code §3275 and Ebbert v. Mercantile Trust Co.[54] requiring equitable relief from a penalty or forfeiture by compensation for damages actually suffered. No such relief was afforded to Petitioner.

The case against Petitioner was clearly not to remediate damages for an actual injury suffered by the Humphreys. The Humphreys severed their alleged claim for damages and proceeded to "trial" only on their first-amended claim for "disgorgement." At "trial" they introduced no evidence of damages, including any damages that arguably could have been caused by Petitioner's purported lack of a license. In other words, there was no evidence presented of a traceable connection or nexus between the Humphreys claim and the remedy they sought. Their non-existent "injury" was purely hypothetical and speculative and not based in reality. Accordingly, they failed to state a claim for "damages" and thereby deprived Chaffee of subject matter jurisdiction to award any.

5. State and Federal "Court" History of Treason Involving §7031 Actions

The case against Petitioner is not an anomaly. Perhaps the most egregious case involving §7031 is that of Judicial Council of California v. Jacobs Facilities, Inc.,[55] where the so-called "Judicial" Council of California sought a $22.7 million "dollar" forfeiture under the same false and fraudulent veil of equitable "disgorgement" against Jacobs, a company it hired to maintain the California "Court" buildings that had admittedly done a good job. In response to a public records request, the "Judicial" Council admittedly spent over $3 million "dollars" of the People's tax "money" in its attempts to prosecute, punish, and likely financially destroy Jacobs due to a harmless and apparently unintentional licensing mix-up during Jacobs corporate reorganization. $3,307,408.78 to be exact. Exhibit [C] p. 1815. One has to wonder just what degree of sociopathy[56] it must take to spend more than 3 million "dollars" to try to ruin a company that provided quality service and caused no harm. This is precisely the lack of humanity and direct evidence of the severe mental illness that is rampant in the behavior of the "officials" of this case (and many others) to use one's position of honor, profit, and trust without empathy or fairness and as a weapon of domestic violence, treason, and oppression.

It is unknown exactly how many other similar cases like Petitioner's have taken place as California's "Court" records management system has no means of performing even an elementary database search of cases or judgments based upon specific statutes like §7031, which has been in existence since 1929. The following are just a handful of other cases Petitioner was able to locate because an appeal was filed. (Please note that the facts of these cases and the judgment figures provided are the result of a preliminary or cursory case analysis, not a forensic examination. They may require further study for accuracy.): (1) Twenty-Nine Palms v. Bardos, 210 Cal. Cridlebraugh*, 178 Cal. App. 4th 506 (2009)– a forfeiture in the amount of $84,621.45 plus interest and "Court" costs awarded against JC Master Builders, Inc. pursuant to §7031(b).

At the Federal level, United States District "Courts" enforce these same Enterprise "policies". See e.g. Davis Moreno Constr., Inc. v. Frontier Steel Bldgs. Corp.,[57] where the "Court" awarded a forfeiture in the amount of $168,025.90 against Frontier pursuant to §7031(b) and an unknown amount pursuant to §7031(a); and the Ninth Circuit bankruptcy case of Paul Bardos, supra.

In every case Petitioner examined, the so-called "Judges" not only refused to recognize the penal nature of the forfeiture they imposed–and consequently any protections guaranteed by State and Federal Constitutions (especially the excessive fines clause protections)–they also refused to dismiss the case for lack of personal and subject matter jurisdiction on the grounds that "a private citizen lacks a judicially cognizable interest in the prosecution […] of another."[58]

5. The Trial "Court" "Judge" Lacked Subject Matter Jurisdiction to Punish Petitioner Because Private Parties Lack State and National Constitutional Standing to Prosecute Other Private Parties

1. The History of Criminal Forfeiture Laws

In the case of United States v. Seifuddin,[60] the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit examined the history of forfeiture laws and found that:

> "the classical distinction between civil and criminal forfeiture was founded upon whether the penalty assessed was against the person or against the thing. Forfeiture against the person operated in personam and required a conviction before the property could be wrested from the defendant. Such forfeitures were regarded as criminal in nature because they were penal; they primarily sought to punish. Forfeiture against the thing was in rem and the forfeiture was based upon the unlawful use of the res, irrespective of its owner's culpability. These forfeitures were regarded as civil; their purpose was remedial."

Applying this criteria to the instant case, it is plainly obvious that the action against Petitioner was an in personam forfeiture intended to punish him for allegedly committing the public offense of unlicensed contracting (even though he was licensed). A total forfeiture like this would be appropriate if he committed a robbery or defrauded the Humphreys by taking their money without conferring any value upon them. But that's clearly not what happened.

In United States v. Shapleigh, the Circuit Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit found that "[t]o protect the substantial rights of the parties [and] to wisely administer the law, courts must frequently look beyond the outward form to the real substance and nature of things."[61] "It is not the form, but the nature of the proceeding that must determine the rule to be applied to it." Id.

2. The Humphreys Admitted Their Intent to Prosecute and Punish Petitioner

In their First Amended Trial Brief, the Humphreys stated that they intended to (and ultimately did in fact) prosecute and punish Petitioner for violating the "licensing law"s by seeking a $930,000 fine/total forfeiture upon him. They claimed that "Adam Bereki, both at the time the contract with the Humphreys was entered into, and at all times during his performance on the Project, was unlicensed as a contractor in violation of California Business & Professions Code §7028 [the criminal statute for unlicensed contracting]. As a consequence of Mr. Bereki's unlicensed status and under the provisions of California Business & Professions Code §7031(b), the Humphreys are entitled to recover from cross-defendant Bereki all sums paid by [them] to Mr. Bereki, which sums total $848,000."

3. The Humphreys Lacked Standing Under the California Constitution to Criminally Prosecute Petitioner

While the California Constitution does not overtly have a case or controversy standing requirement like the U.S. Constitution, this standing requirement is implicit its separation of powers provisions.

The Humphreys lacked standing under the Cal. Constitution to prosecute Petitioner for the commission of a public offense because Article V, §1 vests the entirety of Executive power exclusively in the Governor to see that the law is faithfully executed. The People conveyed the entirety of the executive power upon the Governor because it was believed that "a basic step in organizing a civilized society is to take that sword out of private hands and turn it over to an organized government, acting on behalf of all the people. Indeed, the . . . power a man has in the state of nature is the power to punish the crimes committed against that law. But this he gives up when he joins a […] political society, and incorporates into a commonwealth."[62] Therefore, only officials of the Executive branch of California could prosecute Petitioner, not the Humphreys.[63] The "Legislature", therefore, was entirely without any authority to transfer the Executive power of the Governor to private parties.

See also Justice Thomas's concurring opinion in the case of Spokeo Inc. v. Robbins, stating that historically, "[c]ommon-law courts, […] have required a further showing of injury for violations of "public rights"–rights that involve duties owed to the whole community, considered as a community, in its social aggregate capacity. Such rights include […] general compliance with regulatory law."[64] And that "[e]ven in limited cases where private plaintiffs could bring a claim for the violation of public rights, they had to allege that the violation caused them some extraordinary damage, beyond the rest of the community."[65]

The Humphreys neither alleged nor proved that they were caused any extraordinary damage and no sworn information or indictment was ever filed in the name of The People of California pursuant to Cal. Gov't Code §100 to vest the Superior "Court" with personal and subject matter jurisdiction[66] to prosecute and punish Petitioner.

"A lack of standing is a jurisdictional defect."[67] As a result, Chaffee had a mandatory, non-discretionary, ministerial duty to dismiss the Humphreys claim under §7031(b) sua sponte for lack of personal and subject matter jurisdiction and want of prosecution.[68] Instead, he arbitrarily chose to proceed with a faux "trial", knowing or reasonably knowing he had no Lawful authority whatsoever to do so, thereby committing fraud upon Petitioner and his estate in the procurement of personal and subject matter jurisdiction and in the subsequent issuance of his fraudulent ultra vires "Judgment Order".

4. The Humphreys Lacked Standing Under the U.S. Constitution to Criminally Prosecute Petitioner

Because the U.S. Constitution is the "supreme Law of the Land" (Art. VI, §2), the judicial power of the United States must be capable of acting upon all State action which comes into conflict with its superior authority. For how could a State and the Judges which are bound thereby transcend its authority by creating claims that the Article III power could not reach? This would especially be true when a defendant in State Court invokes the concurrent jurisdiction of the United States by claiming rights secured by the U.S. Constitution requiring the State Court Judge to sit in that concurrent jurisdictional capacity. All State judicial action therefore, must meet the standing requirements of Article III. The same guarantee is made by Article I, §10 requiring a judicial proceeding.

The Humphreys claim under §7031(b) fails to meet even one of the Article III standing requirements as declared in Steel Co. v. Citizens for a Better Env't [69]. They presented no evidence of an injury in fact that was concrete and actual; no evidence of a fairly-traceable connection between their non-existent injury and Petitioner's conduct; and no evidence that their non-existent injury would be redressed by fining him $930,000.

The fact that the Humphreys claims fails to meet any of the Article III standing requirements is directly linked to all of the other standing issues raised by Petitioner. Had these Article III requirements been carefully considered by the Cal. "Legislature" and "Courts", §7031's unconstitutionality would have been blatantly obvious from the outset.

The deliberate refusal to abide Constitutional standing requirements–namely by creating claims for relief with hypothetical or fictitious injuries–appears to be one of the core issues at the heart of the implementation of the total State and its "public policies". Historically, claims at common Law (on Land)[70] were for actual injuries because they could be readily determined by witnesses and evidence. In stark contrast, claims involving presumptive injuries and liquidated damages were found in Admiralty or Maritime jurisdictions because they arose on the open sea (liquid) where there was likely to be no evidence of the incident or any witnesses to determine who to attribute fault to.

To specifically prevent against the abuses of Admiralty jurisdiction coming onto Land and being used to overthrow the Constitutional standing and due process requirements of claims at common Law, cases in Admiralty were specifically excluded from arising under the U.S. Constitution. State Courts were also forbidden from exercising Admiralty jurisdiction.[71] This is specifically why States cannot create claims such as those in Admiralty that transcend the case or controversy standing requirements of Article III that arise under the Constitution. Admiralty claims don't arise under the Constitution, they arise extra–Constitutionally under international law. See especially section II(4)(b)(i), infra.

This Court has repeatedly declared that the judicial power of the United States is "limit[ed] […] to the resolution of cases and controversies[,]" "otherwise the power is not judicial."[72] As the power exercised against Petitioner is not judicial, it is clearly arbitrary and lawless.

c. Post "Trial" Acts of Fraud and Treason to Steal Petitioners Property and Further Punish Him by Restraining Him from Earning a Living in His Profession as a General Contractor

1. The Humphreys Filed a False and Fraudulent Abstract of Judgment and Commercial Lien

Following "trial", the Humphreys continued the conspiracy with their Attorney, William Bissell, and Chaffee, to steal Petitioner's money, property, and liberty by filing a false and fraudulent "Abstract of Judgment" with the Clerk-

Recorder for the County of Orange on April 27, 2017 (Exhibit [D] pp.5249-5253) and a "commercial lien" with the Cal. Sec. of State on April 28, 2017 (file 177582830223). Exhibit [D] p.5439. The "Abstract" and "commercial lien" were false and fraudulent because they were based upon Chaffee's "Judgment Order" they collectively knew, or reasonably should of known, was without any Lawful authority whatsoever.

The "Abstract" became attached to the real property at 818 Spirit Costa Mesa, California held in Petitioner's living trust and thereby operated to unlawfully restrain him and his mother (the true and beneficial owner of the property) from their rights to the free and unrestricted use of the property and the equitable assets therein. This included their inability to sell or refinance the property to avoid the foreclosure sale or to meet other needs.

2. Petitioner's Vested Licensing Right Was Summarily Suspended/Revoked Without Any Hearing or Means of Appeal

As previously stated, Petitioner contends that he had an inalienable right to his time and labor in construction as recognized by Article 1, §1 of the Cal. Constitution. As a result, he could not be required to obtain a license and pay a recurring fee for the privilege of earning a living in an ordinary avocation of life.[73] The Cal. "Legislature" was therefore without authority to arbitrarily convert his inalienable (not lienable, non-commercial) right into a revocable commercial public privilege in interstate commerce. Even if this were not the case, the fact that he became a qualifying individual of a general contractor license was a vested right that also could not be taken without judicial process[74] pursuant to Article I, §10.

The "State" had also previously determined Petitioner "competent" as a general contractor. It therefore remains unknown how he could be magically transformed "incompetent" by Chaffee at "trial" simply because he allegedly didn't have a license in his own name and/or didn't pay the licensing tax.[75] As the qualifying individual of a general contractor license, Petitioner was a licensee.[76]

Ninety days after the fraudulent "Judgment Order" was issued on April 20, 2017, Petitioner's vested right was summarily suspended/revoked by operation of Cal. Business and Professions Code §7071.17 without a hearing or any known appeal process because he was unable to pay the unlawful "Judgment" or meet any of the other requirements of §7071.17 to obtain or maintain a license. He was consequently deprived of all of the heightened protections of judicial criminal proceedings and the right to trial by jury on this issue, resulting in a bill of pains and penalties.

i. The "Justices" of this "Court" Breached Their Mandatory Duty to Exercise Jurisdiction by Refusing to Granting Petitioner's Petition for Writ of Certiorari and to Affordi Him Relief Mandated by Law

After a §7031 defendant discovers that there is no judicial remedy available in any "Court" of California, they might believe they had a right under the U.S. Constitution to an appeal in the U.S. Supreme Court. But this would be delusional.

Even though Article III of the Constitution mandates that the judicial power of the United States "shall extend to all Cases in Law and Equity" the "Justices" have created and enforced a "policy" whereby they believe they can arbitrarily vote on whether or not to hear a case and thereby determine who will or won't receive the protections guaranteed by the Constitution. [77] [78] Nowhere in Article III is there an arbitrary voting provision and "Congress" and this "Court" is without authority to amend the Constitution in violation of Article V to create one.

See Commentaries on the Constitution (1833), Joseph Story §1584 "The judicial power, therefore, be vested in some court by Congress; and to suppose that it was not an obligation binding on them, but might, at their pleasure, be omitted or declined, is to suppose under the sanctions of the Constitution, they might defeat the Constitution itself. See also Office of the Clerk, Guide for Prospective Indigent Petitioners for Writs of Certiorari, July 2019 stating "It is important to note that review in this Court by means of a writ of certiorari is not a matter of right, but of judicial discretion. The primary concern of the Supreme Court is not to correct errors in lower court decisions, but to decide cases presenting issues of importance beyond the particular facts and parties involved." Bolded emphasis added. While this policy may be lawful if the applicant had a full, fair, and impartial judicial determination of rights in the first instance in State or Federal Court, it absolutely is not if this did not happen and the applicant has been deprived of Constitutionally protected rights. In such a case, review by the Supreme Court becomes mandatory and not discretionary pursuant to at least Article I, §9 or §10 and fundamental due process. Petitioner has never had a judicial determination of rights by any Court of California or the United States acting with Lawful subject matter jurisdiction/ within Constitutional bounds.

As declared by this Court more than two hundred years ago, "[t]he constitution gave to every person having a claim upon a State, a right to submit his case to the Court of the nation. However unimportant his claim might be, however little the community might be interested in its decision, the framers of our constitution thought it necessary for the purposes of justice, to provide a tribunal as superior to influence as possible, in which that claim might be decided."[79]

On October 7, 2019, Petitioner's Petition for Writ of Certiorari was summarily denied without any Lawful authority.

ii. The U.S. District "Court" "Judge" Breached Her Mandatory Duty to Exercise Jurisdiction to Grant Petitioner Relief

In concert with this "Court's" "policy" to arbitrarily refuse to hear cases, the "Judges" of the U.S. District "Court" for the Central District of California and the U.S. "Court" of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit have arbitrarily created and enforced another "policy" whereby they also summarily deny all rights and protections guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution on the ground that they have no authority to provide relief in at least cases challenging State "Court" "judgments" that violate the U.S. Constitution.

The "policies" of this "Court" and the Ninth Circuit "Courts" not only result in giving the full faith and credit of the United States to the Lawless acts of State "officials", but also deny the People their right to a judicial determination of their rights under the U.S. Constitution. In this Court's own words, these "policies" amount to "treason"[80] to the Constitution.[81] Without access to any judicial Court, every single "law" or "statute" whether lawfully enacted or not is a bill of attainder or pains and penalties and totally unenforceable pursuant to Article I sections 9 or 10.

*****

After this "Court" refused to grant his Petition for Writ of Certiorari, Petitioner filed a verified complaint in the form of an Independent Action in Equity in the United States District "Court" for the Central District of California. His First Amended Complaint rebutted the presumptive validity of the State "Court" "Judgements" and included a request for the assistance of counsel, declaratory relief, injunctive relief, and restitution. The case was assigned to District "Court" "Judge" Consuelo B. Marshall.

In response to his Complaint, the Humphreys filed a Motion to dismiss pursuant to FRCP Rules 12(b)(1), 12(b)(6), and 12(b)(7). Notably, they failed to address any of the issues relating to Petitioner's challenges to the lack of subject matter jurisdiction of the "Judgments" that rebutted their presumptive validity.

Assuming Marshall retained subject matter jurisdiction based upon her denial of Petitioner's request for assistant counsel (Appendix [F] pp.39), she had a mandatory, non-discretionary, ministerial duty to investigate Petitioner's claims that he was not given a full, fair, and impartial trial or appeal. Under this Court's precedents "the requirement of determining whether the party against whom an [81] See also Heck v. Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477 (1994) whereby if anyone has been harmed as a result of an unconstitutional conviction or imprisonment, they are denied a claim for damages unless the sentence has first been declared invalid.

estoppel is asserted [has] had a full and fair opportunity to litigate is a most significant safeguard,"[82] and "collateral estoppel cannot apply when the party against whom the earlier decision is asserted did not have a full and fair opportunity to litigate that issue in the earlier case."[83] "If a defendant were convicted and punished for an act that the law does not make criminal, there can be no room for doubt that such a circumstance inherently results in a complete miscarriage of justice and presents exceptional circumstances that justify collateral relief."[84]

Marshall refused to abide her sworn duty to perform the mandatory investigation and arbitrarily granted the Humphreys Motion to Dismiss with prejudice based on the collateral estoppel and Rooker-Feldman doctrines. Appendix [G] pp.41-50. Marshall's "ruling" declared that "[t]he purpose of the [Rooker-Feldman] doctrine is to protect state judgements from collateral federal attack," (Appendix [F] p.45, lines 19-20) and "[that Petitioner's] action is barred pursuant to the Rooker-Feldman doctrine because [he] seeks relief from the state court judgment and alleges legal error by the state trial and appellate court." Appendix [F] p.47, lines 25-28.

Marshall's "ruling" would be Lawful if the word "valid" were included, such that "the purpose of the Rooker-Feldman doctrine was to protect valid state judgements from collateral attack"– not just any State judgment, and certainly not one that is void for lack of personal and/or subject matter jurisdiction and in violation of the U.S. Constitition. "Unless a court has jurisdiction, it can never make a record which imports uncontrollable verity to the party over whom it has usurped jurisdiction, and he ought not, therefore, to be estopped from proving any fact which goes to establish the truth of a plea alleging the want of jurisdiction."[85] "The constitutional provision that full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the judicial proceedings of other states, does not preclude inquiry into the jurisdiction of the court in which a judgment is rendered over the subject matter or the parties affected by it, nor into the facts necessary to give such jurisdiction."[86] The Federalist Papers also make mandatory Federal relief abundantly clear by declaring that "[t]he general government will at all times stand ready to check the usurpations of the state governments. If [the People's] rights are invaded by either, they can make use of the other as the instrument of redress."[87]

Marshall acknowledged Petitioner's claims: (1) that the State trial and appellate "Courts" violated due process; (2) lacked subject matter jurisdiction; and, (3) that §7031 was unconstitutional because it is penal in nature. Despite this, she declared that each of these issues "were actually litigated by [him] in the state court action[s] and necessarily decided in a final judgment," (Appendix [F] p.49, lines 16-17) concluding as a result that he was "collaterally estopped from bringing [the Federal Court] action." Id. p.49, lines 20-23. render and affirm these "Judgments" and thereby make them "final". It is also unknown how the personal and/or subject matter jurisdiction of these "Courts" (if ever lawfully acquired) was also not lost through subsequent egregious due process violations and/or fraud committed during the proceedings in the procurement of subject matter jurisdiction.

Marshall's "ruling" also fails to cite any authority whereby an arbitrary void judgment in violation of the California and U.S. Constitutions can be collaterally estopped or is subject to the Rooker-Feldman doctrine. Because judgments rendered without personal or subject matter jurisdiction are void and not entitled to full faith and credit elsewhere, the doctrines of collateral estoppel and Rooker-Feldman do not apply and cannot be used to overrule or supersede the Constitution.[88] A fake "trial" put on by a "Judge" acting coram non judice cannot in any manner be considered a judicial proceeding whose fraudulent "Judgment Order" results in finality or full faith and credit. "[T]he principle of finality rests on the premise that the proceeding had the sanction of law […]."[89] Furthermore, the supremacy clause mandates, and this Court has declared, that "[w]here rights secured by the Constitution are involved, there can be no rule making or legislation which would abrogate them–[including the doctrines of collateral estoppel and Rooker-Feldman]."[90] the land."[91] This Court has also held that it is a "universal principle" that judgments can be collaterally attacked when questions of power in the officer or fraud in the party are raised.[92] A State can't transcend the U.S. Constitution and then claim its judgment is res judicata and/or collaterally estopped. But this is exactly what the freewheeling Ninth Circuit Enterprise "policy" and arbitrary Constitutional "Amendment" Marshall's edict intends.

This Court has repeatedly made it clear that District Courts can entertain independent actions that attack State Court judgments as void. See Atchison, T & S.F. Ry. Co. v. Wells, 265 U.S. 101, 103 (1924) (1 year post Rooker); and Simon v. Southern Railway Co., 236 U.S. 115, 122 (1915) (pre Rooker). See also *United States v. District Courts can also entertain independent actions to vacate void judgments when such claims are also authorized by State law. In Parsons Steel Inc. v. First Alabama Bank,[93] this Court held that pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1738 (the Full Faith and Credit Act), a "federal court must give the judgment the same effect that it would have in the courts of the State in which it was rendered."[94] Under California law a void judgment is subject to attack at any time, either directly or by way of an independent action in equity.[95] See also Cal. "[a]ny judicial record may be impeached by evidence of a want of jurisdiction in the Court or judicial officer, of collusion between the parties, or of fraud in the party offering the record, in respect to the proceedings."

On this issue, Marshall's "ruling" relies on the holding of the Supreme Court of California in the case of DKN Holdings LLC v. Faerber,[96] where the Court declared the circumstances in which collateral estoppel and issue preclusion apply: "(1) after final adjudication (2) of an identical issue (3) actually litigated and necessarily decided in the first suit and (4) asserted against one who was a party in the first suit or one in privity with that party." Not one of these constitutes a holding that collateral estoppel/issue preclusion applies to an arbitrary judgment by a "Court" acting without personal and/or subject matter jurisdiction. And none of these overrule Art. 6, §2 of the Constitution– "[w]here rights secured by the Constitution are involved, there can be no rule making or legislation which would abrogate them."[97]

Marshall also arbitrarily denied Petitioner's challenges to the Constitutionality of Business and Professions Codes §7031(a), §7031(b), and §7071.17 on the grounds that the relief he sought was an "order vacating or voiding the state court judgment."[98] While Petitioner's prayer for relief admittedly requested vacating and declaring the State "Judgment" void, Marshall omitted the fact that his request also included "any other relief [that] the Court determine[d] reasonable and just." "[U]nder [a] general prayer, other relief may be granted than that which is particularly prayed for."[99]

Contrary to Marshall's arbitrary edict, Feldman actually held that the facial challenge to the constitutionality of a State statute could not be precluded because it "[does] not require review of a judicial decision in a particular case" and "is a challenge to the validity of the rule rather than a challenge to an application of the rule."[100] Petitioner therefore had a right to challenge the Constitutionality of these statutes and to a judicial remedy. "Whenever the legislature passes an act which transcends the limits of the police power, it is the duty of the judiciary to pronounce it invalid."[101] Furthermore, "an unconstitutional law is void and is as no law. An offence created by it is not a crime. A conviction under it is not merely erroneous, but is illegal and void and cannot be a legal cause of imprisonment. […] If laws are unconstitutional and void, the […] Court acquired no jurisdiction of the causes […]."[102]

Therefore, if §7031(a) or §7031(b) were found to be unconstitutional, declaring the judgments void would be the precise relief Marshall had a mandatory non-discretionary, ministerial duty to grant. "Dismissal for lack of subject-matter jurisdiction because of the inadequacy of the federal claim is proper only when the claim is so insubstantial, implausible, foreclosed by prior decisions of this Court, or otherwise completely devoid of merit as not to involve a federal controversy."[103]

Finally, while Petitioner's complaint was not captioned as a Petition for non-statutory writ of habeas corpus (Art. I, §9, Cl. 2), the substance was in fact a challenge to the jurisdiction of the State Courts to bind him indefinitely in constructive custody without remedy and financially destroy him amounting to civil capital punishment with prejudice. "The writ of habeas corpus is the fundamental instrument for safe-guarding individual liberty against arbitrary and lawless state action."[104] Habeas relief is also not barred by any of the estoppel doctrines asserted by the Marshall or the Humphreys.[105]

But Marshall's lawless assault on Petitioner's rights, liberty, and property did not stop there. On February 26, 2020, he filed a timely notice of appeal of her ultra vires "Order" granting the Humphreys Motion to Dismiss. In response, she filed another arbitrary and ultra vires "Order" on February 27, 2020, revoking his previously granted in forma pauperis status and declaring his appeal "frivolous". Appendix [H] pp.51-52. According to this Court, an appeal is frivolous if it lacks any arguable issue in law or fact.[106] As Petitioner's appeal contained arguable issues of law, it was clearly not frivolous.

iii. The Judges of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals Breached Their Mandatory Duty to Exercise Jurisdiction to Hear Petitioner's Appeal and Grant Him Relief Mandated by Law

On March 20, 2020, Petitioner filed a Motion for the Appointment of Assistant Counsel and to proceed in Forma Pauperis on appeal in the United States Court of

While Petitioner's appeal was pending, this Court issued its decision in Liu v. SEC, supra, a case in which it vacated the Ninth Circuit's affirmation of the District "Court's" judgment imposing yet another ultra vires penal forfeiture disguised as "equitable disgorgement".[107] Pursuant to Liu, Petitioner immediately filed a Notice/Request for Consideration of Additional Authorities. Exhibit [A41].

Despite the resounding clarity evidencing the purported nature of "disgorgement" declared in Liu, and that Petitioner had in fact been subject to a penal forfeiture without Lawful authority, "Chief Judge" Sidney Thomas and "Associate Judges" Atsushi Tashima and William Fletcher arbitrarily dismissed his appeal as "frivolous" with no further explanation. o. Superior Court of California- County of Orange

On August 16, 2022, Petitioner filed a judicial complaint with the Superior Court-County of Orange that was delivered to Presiding "Judge" Erick Larsh. Exhibit [D] pp.5511-5524.

The complaint alleged criminal activity, egregious deprivations of rights, and damages and irreparable harm directly caused by the unlawful behavior of Chaffee and the "Justices" of the Fourth District. The complaint was directed by Larsh to Layne Melzer, the Supervising "Judge" for the "Court's" civil panel. Id. p.5503.

Melzer responded in a letter dated October 31, 2022. Id. p.5503-5505.

Melzer told Petitioner that "each judicial officer of the court exercises independent judicial authority, and no judge – even judges who exercise some degree of supervisory authority – has the authority to review, overrule, intervene in, or otherwise affect the outcome of any matter proceeding before another judicial officer" (Id. p.5504), that "the Court is powerless to afford […] the relief [he] requested", and "[t]he judgment is therefore final". Id. p.5505.

Melzer breached his mandatory, non-discretionary duty to conduct a full, fair, and impartial investigation into Petitioner's claims and to intervene to stop the irreparable harm and damages being perpetrated upon him. Notably, his response fails to acknowledge let alone address the substantive violations of Constitutional law evidenced by Petitioner.

Melzer's response and refusal to abide his sworn duties further evidences that even in the face of clear and unequivocal violations of Constitutional rights, it is not the will of the People and the Constitution that is the "supreme Law of Land", but the arbitrary and lawless acts of "officials" of the Enterprise, fraudulently purporting to be "Judges".

The Enterprise "policy" Melzer admits to is that either there is no Constitution of California or the United States, or that if there is, Enterprise "Judges" are not bound by it and therefore above it. The truth is "[t]he judiciary is but the creature of the Constitution […]. It can not [sic] rise above the source of its own existence. If it could do this, it could annul the Constitution, instead of simply declaring what it means."[108] "[A Judge] must act judicially in all things, and cannot transcend the power conferred by law."[109] "[W]here the language of the Constitution is express and the intent plain, there is no power in the judicial department to set it aside […]."[110] If a court transcends the limits of its authority, the resulting judgment would not be merely erroneous, but absolutely void.[111] Moreover, violating due process is a crime[112] and a crime cannot be committed to procure or maintain personal or subject matter jurisdiction.

The fraud, deceit, and treason being advocated by Melzer is not the Law under a Constitutional government of defined and limited powers–where exceptions from a power mark its extent […]"[113]–but one under a different form of government entirely–a despotic and totalitarian form of government.

The root of this issue appears to stem from this "Court's" entire history of jurisprudence concerning the nature of subject matter jurisdiction and immunity doctrines in attempt to guarantee omnipotence to "Judges" and other Enterprise "officials" by transcending the sovereignty of the American People to grant immunity to "officials" who commit crimes and treason upon them.

The California and U.S. Constitutions were carefully crafted to provide absolute immunity too all officials who follow the Law. To create the Enterprise immunity "policies" that transcend Law, this "Court" has repeatedly violated the doctrine of separation of powers by exercising powers that are exclusively conferred upon Congress. The "Justices" even openly admit that their "qualified immunity precedents […] represent precisely the sort of freewheeling policy choices that [they] have previously disclaimed the power to make."[114] Without the power to make a Law, there can consequently be no power to enforce it. Either would be a clear act of treason.

To obtain the omnipotence inherent in the fraudulent doctrine of "judicial immunity", this "Court" took the doctrines of subject matter jurisdiction and judicial immunity from a different Country ruled by a monarchy and no written Constitution, and, without any authority, "legislated" them into our nation's jurisprudence. In other words, this "Court" took the edicts of an arbitrary, despotic form of a government[115] and forced them into the "Laws" of our Republican form of government of defined and limited powers.

The purpose of the doctrine of judicial immunity when it was created in Britain was to end the collateral attacks on judgments and to remodel the Court system to match that of the hierarchical ecclesiastic Courts.[116] "The attractiveness of the ecclesiastical model lay in its hierarchical structure. […The] hierarchical system enable[d] the [King's Courts] to authoritatively ascertain and declare legal precepts […in] relation to the local courts[.] [To accomplish this,] they needed to monopolize the existing means of correcting errors"[117] by removing the complaint of false judgment against a Judge that could be brought by the People. A statute was thereby enacted which made the claim of false judgment a royal plea, which could only be heard in the King's Courts.[118]

The graduated hierarchy of ecclesiastical courts became an attractive model. The king's court profited by this new idea; the king's court ought to stand to the local courts in somewhat the same relation as that in which the Roman curia stands to the courts of the bishops." Ending collateral attacks on false judgments and limiting the correction of errors to the hierarchical system were only the first two steps in the culmination of the judicial immunity doctrine. The third step involved extending the doctrine of sanctity of records to all the King's Courts. The doctrine of sanctity of records originated as a royal edict of the King known as a "prerogative" whereby whatever the King said happened in his presence in Court was "indisputable".[119] "When this [arbitrary] privilege was extended from the King to his judges, the court of record was born and the foundation for limited judicial immunity was set. Since the record of a court of record was incontrovertible, no party could allege that an act noted therein was wrong, and thus the source of the record–the judge–could not be subject to civil or criminal liability for an abuse of power."[120] "The record was a potent weapon to use in the political struggle because of the unimpeachable authority of its origins, the King himself. Impugning the integrity of the record verged on impugning the integrity of the monarch."[121]

The doctrine of the sanctity of records was clearly based on the delusional regal maxim that "the king can do wrong" and the divine right of Kings whereby Kings are only answerable to God. These delusions clearly were not intended to survive the American revolution. As poignantly recognized by this Court in the case of Chisholm v. Georgia[122], contemporaneously with this Country's founding:

> It will be sufficient to observe briefly, that the sovereignties in Europe, and particularly in England, exist on feudal principles. That system considers the Prince as the Sovereign, and the people as his Subjects; it regards his person as the object of allegiance, and excludes the idea of his being on an equal footing with a subject, either in a Court of Justice or elsewhere. That system contemplates him as being the fountain of honor and authority; and from his grace and grant derives all franchises, immunities and privileges; it is easy to perceive that such a sovereign could not be amenable to a Court of Justice, or subjected to judicial controul [sic] and actual constraint. It was of necessity, therefore, that suability became incompatible with such sovereignty. Besides, the Prince having all the Executive powers, the judgment of the Courts would, in fact, be only monitory, not mandatory to him, and a capacity to be advised, is a distinct thing from a capacity to be sued. The same feudal ideas run through all their jurisprudence, and constantly remind us of the distinction between the Prince and the subject. No such ideas obtain here; at the Revolution, the sovereignty devolved on the people; and they are truly the sovereigns of the country, but they are Sovereigns without Subjects (unless the African slaves among us may be so called) and have none to govern but themselves; the citizens of America are equal as fellow citizens, and as joint tenants in the sovereignty.
> From the differences existing between feudal sovereignties and Governments founded on compacts, it necessarily follows that their respective prerogatives must differ. Soverignty [sic] is the right to govern; a nation or State-sovereign is the person or persons in whom that resides. In Europe the sovereignty is generally ascribed to the Prince; here it rests with the people; there, the sovereign actually administers the Government; here, never in a single instance; our Governors are the agents of the people, and at most stand in the same relation to their sovereign, in which regents in Europe stand to their sovereigns. Their Princes have personal powers, dignities, and pre-eminences, our rulers have none but official; nor do they partake in the sovereignty otherwise, or in any other capacity, than as private citizens.

"Judge" Melzer has it backwards. David Chaffee is not King and is answerable to Petitioner and the American People. In America "if [a Judge] act[s] without authority, [her] judgments and orders are regarded as nullities. They are not voidable, but simply void; and form no bar to a recovery sought, even prior to a reversal, in opposition to them. They constitute no justification; and all persons concerned in executing such judgments or sentences, are considered, in law, as trespassers."[123]

This "Court" and the "Courts" of the Ninth Circuit's attempt to transplant the British doctrine of sanctity of records and the divine right of kings to this Country to amend the Constitution by ending the collateral attack of State judgments is without authority and void. The provisions of the California and U.S. Constitutions are mandatory and prohibitory (Cal. Const. Art. I, §26; Art. VI, 2). As emphatically declared by Alexander Hamilton in Federalist No. 28 "[t]he general government will at all times stand ready to check the usurpations of the state governments. If [the People's] rights are invaded by either, they can make use of the other as the instrument of redress."[124] Article III, §2 also mandates that "[t]he judicial Power of the United States "shall extend to all Cases, in Law and Equity, arising under this Constitution". 1. State Courts have had concurrent Federal Court jurisdiction since the inception of this Country. See e.g. Claflin v. Houseman,[126] declaring "State courts have concurrent jurisdiction whenever, by their own constitution, they are competent to take it[.]"
2. Pursuant to the Cal. Constitution of 1849, which, according to the Cal. Petitioner, however, has been unable to locate any "District Courts" or any other Courts of California vested with common Law general jurisdiction as these Courts appear to have been abolished. See section b below. It is also unknown how a litigant can possibly exhaust State habeas relief and raise Federal issues as purportedly required by 28 U.S.C. §2254, when there is no jurisdiction to do so.

When Henshall was unable to obtain habeas relief, he filed a Petition for Redress of Grievance with California Assemblyman Kevin Mullin and asked that he submit the Petition to the floor of the Assembly. ### b. The Cal. "Constitution of 1879" does not vest any Court with subject matter jurisdiction at Law or Equity as mandated by the U.S. Constitution

While the States admitted to the union of States known as the United States of America were purportedly comprised of separate sovereign bodies politic, as a unified entity, the States surrendered certain immunities to Federal supervision like those in Article I, §10 as another check and balance protection to guard against State official abuses of power. There is also a lesser-known limitation on the judicial power of the States found in Article III. Under Article III, there are only two jurisdictions that arise under the Constitution, Laws of the United States, and Treaties made under their authority. Those jurisdictions are Law and Equity.

At the time of America's founding, it was proceedings "according to the course of the common Law" [127] where the rights to jury trial by jury, due process of law, and many other rights, privileges, and immunities were recognized and later became enshrined in the Constitution. It was also why every State in the Union (with the exception of Louisiana) was admitted under the common Law and not Roman civil law. California specifically repealed all Roman civil law in effect prior to its admission as a State.[128]

[127] Section 14, Article II Northwest Ordinance 1787 declaring "[t]he inhabitants of the said territory shall always be entitled to […] judicial proceedings according to the course of the common law[.]"; 7th Amendment.

Another jurisdiction known as Admiralty (based on Roman civil law) was specifically excluded as a direct result of the abuses by King George III that became one of the principle causes of the American Revolution.[129] Consequently, the States were deprived of all judicial power to exercise Admiralty jurisdiction as it was vested exclusively in the Courts of the United States.[130] As States also had no authority to transcend the Constitution and subject the People thereof to a jurisdiction foreign to their Constitution, they are only empowered to vest their Courts with jurisdiction in cases at Law and Equity. Additionally, State Courts must have concurrent jurisdiction with the Courts of the United States to be so empowered to answer Federal questions arising in State cases. If State Courts are not vested with these jurisdictions, they cannot entertain Federal questions, as recognized by this Court in the case of Claflin v. Houseman, 93 U.S. 130, 136 (1876).

Up until recently, the California Constitution of 1849 and the purported Cal. "Constitution of 1879" vested the Courts of California with the separate and distinct jurisdictions of Law and Equity. However, as part of the Enterprise scheme to (1) abolish proceedings according to the course of the common Law (section II(D)(6), (Please confirm that there is no Article VI, §5 in the current version of the "Constitution of 1879"). This "repeal" is akin to removing Article III, §2, Cl. 1 from the U.S. Constitution.

Today, the "Constitution of 1879" vests the Superior "Courts" of California with jurisdiction in "all other causes". "All other causes" is not a jurisdiction known to the Constitution, history and laws of California or the United States and does not reveal the form or nature of the proceedings by which the Superior "Courts" exercise subject matter jurisdiction. "All other causes" is also not defined anywhere in the "Constitution of 1879" or by Lawfully enacted statute.

Consequently, there is no Court in California with subject matter jurisdiction in any case at Law or Equity arising under the U.S. Constitution in order grant Petitioner any relief thereby, including by Writ of Habeas Corpus. See Cleveland Trust Co. v. Nelson, [131] holding that "[a] mere assumption of jurisdiction by a court, however long continued, cannot confer a jurisdiction otherwise nonexistent under the constitutional grant of judicial power" and State ex rel Wernmark v. Hopkins, 213 Ore. 669 (Supreme. Ct. 1958).

i. Superior Courts of California Lack Subject Matter Jurisdiction in Cases of Admiralty Jurisdiction

[131] Cleveland Trust Co. v. Nelson, 51 F.2d 276, 277 (1931).

As all competent jurists know, money and Law operate as opposite sides of the same coin. In other words, there are different forms of money and each of these circulates under different modes of proceedings or subject matter jurisdictions of law. Therefore, one's choice of money determines what rights, privileges, and immunities as well as the means and methods of adjudicating disputes that arise thereunder. For this reason, the Founding Fathers specifically chose gold and silver coin (also known as "specie") as the only "tender for payment of debts" under the Constitution and laws of the United States.[132] Another form of tender such as checks, money orders, promissory notes, and other negotiable instruments also known as "commercial paper" were specifically excluded.

Unlike gold and silver coin that circulate according to the course of the common Law, commercial paper circulates in commerce/Admiralty[133] and international law and not under the Constitution and Laws of the United States. See Art. III, §2 carefully noting that (1) cases in Admiralty jurisdiction do not arise under the Constitution and laws of the United States;[134] and, (2) that the judicial power for all cases arising under the Constitution and Laws of the United States extends only to cases in Law and Equity.

[132] See especially Exhibit [G]– Memorandum of Law: The Money Issue by Larry Becraft, the 7th Amendment whereby "[i]n Suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved", and Calder v. Bull, 3 U.S. 386, 390 (1798) declaring that "[t]he prohibitions not to make any thing but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts, and not to pass any law impairing the obligation of contracts, were inserted [in the Constitution] to secure private rights […]." Underlined and italicized emphasis added.

Merchants' Bank*, 47 U.S. 344, 392 (1848). "The law respecting negotiable instruments may be truly declared in the language of Cicero, adopted by Lord Mansfield in Luke v. Lyde, 2 Burr. R. 883, 887, to be in a great measure, not the law of a single country only, but of the commercial world." Swift v. Tyson, 41 U.S. 1, 19 (1842).

Because commerce involves the relationship between debtors and creditors, commercial paper (ie Federal Reserve Notes) cannot be made tender for the payment of a debt under the Constitution because commercial paper can only discharge an obligation.[135] But most importantly, in cases arising at Law or Equity under the Constitution the judicial power of all State and United States Courts is incapable of acting upon any case involving commercial paper because it does not circulate at Law or Equity.[136]

Article I, §8, Cl.5 gives Congress the power to "coin money" which means to "stamp pieces of metal for use as a medium of exchange […] according to fixed standards of value."[137] It does not give "Congress" or this "Court" the power: (1) to unilaterally Amend the Constitution in violation of Article V by making commercial paper (such as Federal Reserve Notes) legal tender; (2) to delegate this non-existent power to the President or to a private banking institution such as the Federal Reserve Bank; or, (3) to subject the American People to a jurisdiction foreign to their Constitution and unacknowledged by its laws. Furthermore, the People's contracts cannot be impaired by forcing them to accept debt instruments or to be bound to a currency in which they cannot Lawfully pay their debts, and by virtue thereof, become indentured servants or slaves to an ever expanding "national debt" upon which they have not consented to and purportedly cannot question (e.g. section 4 of the "14th Amendment"). Not only was there no Lawful representative "Congress" to authorize the "Federal Reserve Act of 1913" or the "14th Amendment", there is no Lawful representative "Congress" to authorize any expenditures on behalf of the American People to bind them in any way whatsoever.

Federal Reserve Notes (that can only discharge an obligation) are not Lawful money and cannot be made legal tender like gold and silver coin that actually pay a debt.[138] Federal Reserve Notes are also undefined in American law and are not "dollars" as defined by the Coinage Act of 1792.

Federal Reserve Notes have no intrinsic value as true "credit" and are only evidence of the so-called "national debt". According to Marriner S. Eccles, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board "if there were no debt in our money system […] [t]here wouldn't be any money."[139] See also Congressional Record– House, August 19, 1940, pp.10548-10555 stating that "the Federal Reserve System is a private banking system, and every dollar of credit it puts into circulation is based on someone's debt […]") Id. p.10550. In other words, if the national debt were "repaid," there wouldn't be any "money".

With the exception of Louisiana, all of the American States were admitted to the Union under English/American common Law, not Interstate Commerce/ Admiralty/ Roman civil law. any of the American People can have their Republican form of government based on the rule of common Law altered to be subjected to Roman civil law/Interstate Commerce/Admiralty. Petitioner has not made any such waiver of rights, including to be subjected to the modern codified version of the law merchant/Interstate Commerce in the form of the Uniform Commercial Code.

Based on the facts that: (1) all of the transactions involved in this case involved negotiable instruments circulating in Interstate Commerce/Admiralty; (2) claims for setoff that are recognized in cases at common Law and Equity were denied; (3) Admiralty cannot entertain pleas of setoff;[140] (4) the proceedings were not according to the course of the common Law or Equity (and thereby not a case arising under the Constitutions of California or the United States); and, (5) Petitioner was subjected to strict liability akin to claim for liquidated damages, the case against him clearly arose and proceeded according to the course of Roman civil law in Admiralty jurisdiction for which the State of California lacks subject matter jurisdiction. "The case of a State which pays off its own debts with paper money […has] no jurisdiction over the contract. They cannot enforce it, nor judge of its violation."[141]

c. The Cal. "Constitution of 1879" Does Not Grant the Legislature Any Power to Create Lower Courts or to Vest Them with Any Statutory Jurisdiction Including Jurisdiction Over the Statutes Involved in This Case

Another structural jurisdictional issue is that the "Constitution of 1879" does not vest the "Legislature" with any authority to create lower or inferior statutory [140] Bains v. James and Catherine, 2 F. Cas 410, 412 (1832).

Courts or to vest them with any special statutory jurisdiction.[142] Article VI, §1 of the *original "*Constitution of 1879" which purportedly conferred judicial power on inferior Courts established by the Legislature, and Article VI, §13, which vested power in the Legislature to define the subject matter jurisdiction of these Courts,[143] have both been repealed.

Unless the power or authority of a Court to perform a contemplated act can be found in the Constitution or laws enacted thereunder, the "legislature cannot either limit or extend that jurisdiction."[144] Consequently, the Superior "Courts" of California lack subject matter jurisdiction in all cases arising under Business and Professions Code §7031 (and apparently all other statutory cases whatsoever).

Furthermore, the aforementioned "Amendments" to the "Constitution of 1879", and many others substantively altering California's form of government, have not, in Petitioner's research, been approved by "Congress" pursuant to Article IV, §3. Nor is there any apparent Lawful "Congress" to approve such changes.

5. The Contractor's State Licensing Board's "Mandatory Arbitration" Program is Treason to the Constitutions of California and the United States judicial proceedings, trial by jury, and his money, property, and liberty without Lawful authority. Appendix [O] pp.73-79, Exhibit [F]. According to the arbitrary "Award", Appendix [O] p.73, the proceeding occurred under the authority of Cal. Business and Professions Code §7085. Appendix [Q] pp.86-87.

§7085 does not authorize the Contractors State License Board and the Arbitration Mediation Conciliation Center, Inc. ("AMCC"), to create and/or enforce a "mandatory arbitration" proceeding. Rather, it purports to authorize a voluntary arbitration process requiring "the concurrence of both the licensee and the complainant".[145] Petitioner did not and has never made any knowing, voluntary, or intelligent waiver of any rights to be subjected to this or any other "mandatory arbitration" proceeding as recognized by the CSLB in a document it apparently created stating "THE CONTRACTOR DID NOT RETURN A "SUBMISSION TO MANDATORY ARBITRATION". Appendix [O] p.74.

When Petitioner failed to comply with the "Award", his vested right to remain the qualifying individual of a general contractor license was arbitrarily suspended without a judicial hearing or known process of appeal by operation of Cal. Business and Professions Code §7085.6. Appendices [O] pp.75-78 and [Q] pp. 87-88. He has thereby been restrained from earning a living in his profession as a general contractor ever since with no apparent remedy and no access to a judicial Court.

In comparison, when members of the State Bar of California[146] are faced with [145] The CSLB admits to referring 8,275 mandatory arbitration cases to the AMCC since January 1, 2006. Appendix [O] p.79.

[146] Another vehicle of the Enterprise by and through which it creates and executes its "policies" is membership by "Legislators", "Executives", and "Judges", whether active or not, in the malevolent monopolies of Bar Associations like the State Bar of California. For example, §7031(b) was: proposed to the Cal "Legislature" by an attorney serving as a "Judge" (Quentin Kopp); ratified by attorneys in discipline or a licensing suspension or revocation, there is a full-time State Bar "Court" comprised of trial judges and a three-judge appellate "Court" that makes recommendations to the Supreme "Court" of California who is the final arbiter of attorney discipline.[147] No such substantive and equal protections exist for contractors–or any other known regulated profession–in Commiefornia. Nor is review by the Supreme "Court" of California mandatory prior to licensee discipline like it is for attorneys.

a. The Contractors State License Board is Unconstitutional

The separation of powers of the California Constitution flatly forbids the Cal. "Legislature" from combining the Legislative, Executive, and Judicial powers of California in any way to create a fourth branch of government in the form of the agency known as the Contractors State License Board. This fundamental change to California's Republican form of government has not, in Petitioner's research, ever been authorized by a Lawful quorum in either the "Legislature" of California or "Congress" in violation of Article IV, §3 Article IV, §4 and Article I, §10.

The "Legislature" was also without any authority to transfer the judicial power the "Legislature"; signed into law by an attorney occupying the office of Governor (Gray Davis); prosecuted by attorneys, (such as William Bissell) and adjudicated by "Judges" (such as David Chaffee). The State Bar of California and its members, along with the Orange County Bar Association, have also played an active role in the creation of the Civil Jury Instructions. Exhibit [C] pp.1621-1642, 2625-2651. §7031(b) "Judgments" are enforced by the office of the Governor (such as fmr. Governor Edmund G. Brown, Jr.). Members of the Bar also sit on the Contractors State License Board (Kevin Albanese) and prosecute "mandatory arbitration" proceedings (Jamie Handrick). They also occupy seats in "Congress" (Adam Schiff). As officers of the "Court", Bar members are flatly forbidden by the doctrine of separation of powers from serving in multiple branches of government intentionally designed to be separated as a check and balance, whether their status in the Bar is active or not.

of California to the AMCC to conduct arbitration hearings, especially by unelected and unappointed "arbitrators" who don't hold public office.

6. Congress Has Not Vested Any Inferior Court of the United States with Subject Matter Jurisdiction at Law or Equity as Defined by the U.S. Constitution to Hear and Determine Petitioner's Claims

28 U.S.C. §1331 also known as "Federal question jurisdiction" declares that: "[t]he district courts shall have original jurisdiction of all civil actions arising under the Constitution, laws, or treaties of the United States." According to the United States House of Representatives Committee on Revision of the Laws,[148] the "[w]ords 'all civil actions' were substituted for 'all suits of a civil nature, at common law or in equity' to conform with Rule 2 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, ["FRCP"]". FRCP Rule 2 states "There is one form of action—the civil action."

In further explanation of the meaning of "the civil action", the 1966 Amendment to the FRCP in the Notes of the Advisory Committee on Rules, declares that "[t]his is the fundamental change [of the FRCP] necessary to effect unification of the civil and admiralty procedure. Just as the 1938 rules abolished the distinction between actions at law and suits in equity, this change would abolish the distinction between civil actions and suits in admiralty."[149]

The obvious problem here is that the Constitution does not confer the judicial power of the United States in any jurisdiction known as "the civil action". The principles and distinctions between Law, Equity, and Admiralty upon which the judicial power of the United States is vested and separately and exclusively distributed by Article III cannot be "abolished", "unified", or blended together in one suit known as "the civil action". This is not only because "[a] case in Admiralty does not […] arise under the Constitution or laws of the United States,"[150] but also because the Constitution specifically sets out the procedures for making amendments in Article V and these procedures have not been followed. Moreover, "Congress" is without any authority to delegate its law-making power to the Judicial branch to create and enact these "rules" that have the force and effect of law.[151]

"The Constitution of the United States […] recognize[s] and establish[es] the distinction between law and equity. of causes of action at law and in equity in the same suit, this course is not permissible in the federal courts. In truth, the difference between causes of action at law and in equity is matter of substance and not of form, and no legislative enactment can really remove it. In the national courts this meradicable [sic eradicable] difference is as sedulously preserved in the forms and practice available for their maintenance as it is in the natures of the causes themselves and in the principles upon which they rest."[155]

"Courts created by the general Government [of the United States other than the U.S. Supreme Court] possess no jurisdiction but what is given them by the power that creates them, and can be vested with none but what the power ceded to the general Government will authorize them to confer."[156] Without being vested with a jurisdiction as precisely declared by the Constitution (either Law or Equity), "the court cannot proceed at all in any cause. Jurisdiction is power to declare the law, and when it ceases to exist, the only function remaining to the court is that of announcing the fact and dismissing the cause."[157] See also Mayor v. Cooper,[158] holding that "two things are necessary to create jurisdiction, whether original or appellate. The Constitution must have given to the court the capacity to take it, and a [Constitutional] act of [Congress] must have supplied it. Their concurrence is necessary to vest it. The means of properly conferring subject matter jurisdiction vested by the Constitution upon an inferior Court can be found in section 11 of the Judiciary Act of 1789 (1 Stat. 73), whereby the Circuit Courts of the United States were vested with subject matter jurisdiction of all suits of a civil nature "[…] at common law or in equity[…]" with omitted exceptions.[159]

Finally, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure which "have the force and effect of law"[160] were not given "any affirmative consideration, action, or approval of the rules by Congress or by the President"[161] as required by Article I, §7, Cl.2.

Consequently, Congress has not vested any inferior Court of the United States with the judicial Power of the United States in any case at Law or Equity recognized under the Constitution, leaving this Court the only Constitutional Court of the United States in which to present this case. See also section II(b)(ii-iii), infra, whereby even if the District "Court" were, despite the foregoing, vested with jurisdiction at Law or Equity, the "Court" claimed it lacked subject matter jurisdiction to vacate a void judgment of a State in violation of the U.S Constitution, which are fundamental powers of both Courts of Law and Equity.

7. There is No Lawful Representative Quorum in the "Legislature" of California or the "Congress" of the United States

[159] By no coincidence Circuit Courts have been abolished as part of this scheme.

[161] 374 U.S. 865-66.

Since at least 1929, "Congress" has refused to apportion the number of representatives in the House to the population of the People of the States leaving them without any representative government based on the rule of Law or consent of the governed.

One of the chief complaints of the American colonists at the time of the Revolution was that they believed they were not represented in British Parliament that consistently took adverse actions to their interests and without their consent. The famous political slogan "no taxation without representation" originated at this time. Consequently, the Declaration of Independence declared that the newly established governments of the thirteen united States of America were to "deriv[e] their just powers from the consent of the governed[.]"

As one of the checks and balances subsequently framed into the Constitution to ensure this consent and the representation of the People, Article I, §2, Cl. 3 clearly and unambiguously set forth a minimum and maximum ratio of representation in the House of Representatives of Congress. In 1929 however, "Congress", acting without any lawful representative quorum, arbitrarily decided to "amend" the Constitution in violation of the procedures set forth in Article V by fixing the number of "representatives" at 435. Consequently, there has been no Lawful representative quorum in "Congress" for nearly 100 years. Today, with a population nearing 330,000,000 People, a proper ratio of representation in the House of Representatives would be close to 11,000 members, not 435. Cf. Section 14, Article II of The Northwest Ordinance of 1787 guaranteeing that even the inhabitants territories "shall always be entitled to […] a proportionate representation of the people in the legislature[.]

A similar situation has occurred in the "Legislature" of California with its 80 "representatives" for nearly 40 million people. No apportionment according to population has been made since at least 1879 despite being mandated by Article I, §14 of the Constitution of 1849 declaring that "representation shall be apportioned according to population."

8. The "Judges" of the Superior "Court" of California-County of Orange Breached Their Mandatory Duty to Grant Petitioner's Application for Emergency Stay and To Provide *Habeas Corpus Relief

Upon the filing of Petitioner's verified Ex parte Application for Emergency Stay and Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus, Superior "Court" "Judges" Leal, and subsequently, Cramin, had a mandatory, non-discretionary, ministerial duty to (1) fully, fairly, and impartially investigate his claims; and, (2) upon determination of their validity, to grant him all requested relief as mandated by Law. The refusal/ "denial" to abide these sworn mandatory duties is not a Lawful action because all Judge's lack discretion and subject matter jurisdiction to violate the Constitution.

a. First National Bank of Omaha ("FNBO")

On April 12, 2022, FNBO was given notice of the issues pertaining to Petitioner and his estate's inability to discharge the alleged mortgage obligation due to the crimes being perpetrated upon him and his estate by public "officials" and private parties in conspiracy therewith, in a recorded phone call he made to FNBO. During the call, Petitioner provided the address to his website, http://www.thespiritoflaw.com, where FNBO could find and verify his claims.

Despite providing this evidence to FNBO, FNBO directed its attorneys, The Dunning Law Firm, APC ("Dunning Firm") and the Dunning Firm's apparent employees, Donald Dunning and James MacLeod, to sue Petitioner in the Superior "Court" of California-County of Orange on or about July 25, 2022. In other words, FNBO and its attorneys intended to obtain relief from the same entity accused of committing crimes against Petitioner that were the direct and proximate cause of his inability to meet his private obligation with FNBO.

Upon being served with FNBO's complaint, Petitioner filed a timely Challenge to Jurisdiction/ Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus and Ex Parte Application for Emergency Stay. Exhibits [A46 and A47].

Amongst numerous claims, the Petition and Application challenged FNBO's standing on the grounds that: (1) because the State of California had deprived Petitioner of due process and was actively engaged in depriving him of his liberty, the judicial power of California could not be used to further take his money or property until he was afforded due process on the previous claims that were the proximate cause of damages in the alleged claim by FNBO; (2) that because all of the purported transactions occurred in interstate commerce, the State of California was entirely without subject matter jurisdiction over the case; and, (3) that even if Petitioner had failed to discharge the alleged obligation that it could not result in the claim of "damages" made by FNBO (Exhibit [D] p.5483) because, as this Court has declared, "the act of discharging the debt is a mere nullity and that it is still due."[162]

[162] Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 403 (1821).

FNBO's opposition and MacLeod/ Dunning Firm's declaration in support thereof (Exhibit [D] pp.5461-5467) failed to meaningfully and substantively address these issues and thereby failed to sustain FNBO's burden of proof to standing on direct jurisdictional attack.

Based upon the verified claims and evidence filed by Petitioner, FNBO had two apparent options so as not to violate its ordinary duty of care[163] owed to Petitioner, or to become complicit in the conspiracy against him. FNBO could either (a) present authenticated evidence that Petitioner's claims were false and the Court thereby lacked a mandatory duty to fully, fairly, and impartially investigate his claims and grant him the mandatory relief he requested; or, (b) to (1)unequivocally declare that it had no intention of using the Court's jurisdiction as a means of causing Petitioner harm; (2) by affirming that the Court had a mandatory duty to investigate Petitioner's claims; and, (3) by refusing to exercise the Court's jurisdiction until the requisite fair and impartial due process was afforded to Petitioner. The position to effectively support Petitioner in achieving a Lawful resolution that could also lead to the Lawful resolution of FNBO's claims would in no way hinder the Dunning Firm or MacLeod or Dunning's duty to represent FNBO. On the contrary, it would have protected them and FNBO from aiding and abetting the conspiracy.

The Superior "Court's" jurisdiction cannot be used as a sword on the one hand to commit crimes and deprivations of Petitioner's rights, while on the other, as a shield to refuse to grant him the relief mandated by Law. Put differently the "Court" cannot use its authority to unlawfully restrain Petitioner while consequently finding him guilty of the "damages" resulting from that restraint that he didn't cause.

[163] See e.g. Cal. Civil Code §1714(a). In this same light, private parties can be liable under 42 U.S.C. §1983 when they conspire with State officials in the deprivation of rights secured by the U.S. Constitution. Lugar v. Edmundson Oil Co., Inc., 457 U.S. 922 (1982).

As officers of the Court, Dunning and MacLeod also had a sworn mandatory duty to support the Constitutions of California and the United States (Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §6067) and not to war against them by either directly or indirectly advocating the fraud, treason, and other crimes being perpetrated upon Petitioner or by being involved in additional substantive due process violations to violate his rights and take his money or property without Lawful authority.

FNBO, The Dunning Firm, Dunning, and MacLeod (collectively hereafter "FNBO") decided war to against Petitioner and the California and U.S. Constitutions by: (1) advocating that Petitioner had no right to the relief he sought (Exhibit [D] pp.5461-5467); (2) by violating due process in failing to meaningfully and substantively respond to the direct jurisdictional attack and substantiate each of the issues raised by Petitioner to evidence their standing and the Court's subject matter jurisdiction[164] to award the relief they sought and were eventually awarded. (At the very least this included providing competent authority that none of the alleged transactions occurred in interstate commerce and by substantiating exactly what jurisdiction they occurred in, if not interstate commerce); (3) by MacLeod lying to the "Court" under oath, on the Dunning Firm and FNBO's behalf, that Petitioner had not presented authenticated evidence of his claims (Exhibit [D] p.5467, line 8) even [164] See e.g. McNutt v. Gen. Motors Accep. Corp., 298 U.S. 178 (1936). Additionally, having not been vested with common Law general jurisdiction, the Superior "Court" could not be sitting in that capacity and thereby its jurisdiction had to be affirmatively stated, proved, and on the record. See Ex Parte Knowles, 5 Cal. 300, 306 (Cal. Supreme Ct. 1855), Parsons v. Tuolumne Co. Water Co., 5 Cal. 43 (Cal. Supreme Ct. 1855), In re Estate of Strong, 119 Cal. 663, 666-7 (1898), Estate of Scarlata, 193 Cal. App. 2d 35, 41 (1961), Cohen v. Barrett, 5 Cal. 195, 210 (Cal. Supreme. Ct. 1855), *Cent. though Petitioner had (Proc. Hist. Exhibit [A46] pp.8-9); (4) by MacLeod/The Dunning Firm violating due process by failing to provide Petitioner with a Declaration and Exhibits filed in the "Court" to support FNBO's "damages" claim when Petitioner directly notified MacLeod that he never received service of the documents (Exhibit [D] pp.5499-5502) and still has not; (5) by MacLeod/ The Dunning Firm requesting the "Court" to award judgment in FNBO's favor even though they knew, that Petitioner never received a full, fair and impartial judicial determination of his rights, not to mention on his Ex Parte Application and Habeas petition hearings (Exhibit [D] pp.5452-5459) and in the action commenced by FNBO;[165] (6) by MacLeod/ The Dunning Firm falsely and fraudulently telling Petitioner that final "Judgment" had been entered by the Court when he/they knew that due process had not been followed for all of the above reasons, including the fact that Petitioner was not given any opportunity to meet the evidence of FNBO's "damages" claim because the Deputy Clerk issued "Judgement" on the same day (October 21, 2022) that FNBO filed its Declaration and supporting evidence. Exhibit [D] pp.5450-51. This was this same evidence that MacLeod/ The Dunning Firm refused to provide Petitioner a copy of after he informed them that he had never received service. MacLeod/ Dunning Firm refused to provide Petitioner copies of the Declaration and supporting evidence on the grounds that "default ha[d] [already] been entered[,] [he (Petitioner)] was not before the Court", and his "fee waiver was denied." Id. None of these responses preclude [165] "[I]f [a Court] act[s] without authority, its judgments and orders are regarded as nullities. They are not voidable, but simply void, and form no bar to a remedy sought in opposition to them, even prior to a reversal. They constitute no justification, and all persons concerned in executing such judgments or sentences are considered in law as trespassers." Elliott v. Lessee Persol, 26 U.S. 328, 329 (1828).

Petitioner's fundamental due process right to be served process and to have an opportunity to meet and oppose all claims against him.

By conspiring with State "officials" to violate due process to receive a "Judgment" in its favor FNBO has become directly involved in the conspiracy to take Petitioner's money and property without Lawful authority.

By denying Petitioner mandatory relief yet exercising jurisdiction to award FNBO relief "Judges" Leal and Cramin also aided and abetted the conspiracy by amongst other crimes, committing treason by refusing to exercise the "Court's" jurisdiction to fully, fairly, impartially, investigate his claims and to grant him the relief mandated by Law.

In a final apparent act to silence Petitioner and prevent him from continuing to defend himself because he was unable to afford to pay the "Court" filing fees, "Judicial Officer" June Jee An denied his Fee Waiver request on the ground that his "savings account amounts may cover [the Court] fees." Exhibit [D] p. 5480. Petitioner does not have a savings account and did not indicate anywhere on the Fee Waiver form that he had any money in a savings account. Exhibit [D] pp.5471-5478. His monthly income was listed at $4,721.60 while his monthly expenses totaled more than $9,000. There is no known process to appeal a Fee Waiver denial. It should also be noted that all of Petitioner's previous Fee Waiver applications had been approved in every State action.

b. Citibank N.A. Not in its Individual Capacity But Solely as Owner Trustee For New Residential Mortgage Loan Trust 2018-2[166] ("Citibank N.A.")

On March 7, 2022, shellpoint–a company purporting to be the servicer (Exhibit [D] pp.5040-1) of the mortgage pertaining to the "Deed of Trust" (Id. pp.5288-5303) and "Promissory Note" (Id. pp.5330-5331) allegedly executed by Petitioner–was given notice of the issues pertaining to Petitioner and his estate's inability to discharge the alleged mortgage obligation due to the crimes being perpetrated upon them by public "officials" and private parties in conspiracy therewith, in a recorded phone call. During the call, Petitioner provided the address to his website, http://www.thespiritoflaw.com, where shellpoint could find and verify his claims.

Despite the foregoing notice, Prestige Default Services, LLC, ("Prestige") the purported "Trustee" of the Deed of Trust (Id. p.5222) initiated non-judicial foreclosure proceedings by filing a "Notice of Default" in the Office of the Clerk-Recorder for the County of Orange pursuant to Cal. Civil Code §2924 on July 7, 2022. Exhibit [D] p.5225-5230.

In response, Petitioner filed a Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus and Application for Emergency Ex parte hearing. Proc. Hist. Exhibits [A46 and A47]. Amongst numerous claims, the Petition and Application challenged Prestige's standing on the grounds that: (1) because the State of California had deprived Petitioner of due process and was actively engaged in depriving him of his liberty, the judicial power of California could not be used to further take his money or property until he was afforded due process on the previous claims that were the proximate cause of "damages" in the alleged claim by Prestige[167]; (2) because all of the purported transactions occurred in interstate commerce, the State of California was entirely without subject matter jurisdiction over the case; and, (3) Petitioner could not be subjected to non-judicial foreclosure proceedings in violation of Article 1, §10 because he never made a knowing, voluntary, or intelligent waiver of rights.

Prestige failed to oppose Petitioners direct jurisdictional challenges entirely.

Shellpoint, Citibank N.A., and Prestige have also all refused to substantively respond to Petitioner's repeated requests under the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act and the Freedom of Information Act for information and documentation pertaining to the alleged "loan" and mortgage at issue in the foreclosure proceedings. Exhibit [D] pp.5334-5339, 5503.

Petitioner is not in possession of any authenticated evidence: (1) that Citibank N.A. or any other bank "loaned" him anything; or (2) that Citibank N.A. has standing to foreclose on the "Deed of Trust" given the facts that (a) the alleged security Prestige relies upon is not the "Deed of Trust" executed by Petitioner, but an entirely different security instrument listed on the U.S. Stock Exchange[168], that not only does not secure the "Promissory Note" but is also not secured by the real property located at 818 Spirit Costa Mesa, California; (b) the "Promissory Note" has become separated from the "Deed of Trust", by repeated transfers that were all made without the "Note"

[167] Pursuant to the obligations of the "Promissory Note", Petitioner and/or his estate have a duty "to keep of the promises made in [the] Note, including the promise to pay the full amount owed." Exhibit [D] p.5331.

[168] https://sec.report/Document/0000891092-18-003130/

(Exhibit [D] p.5218-19, 5287) that by Law cannot be rejoined. See e.g. Carpenter v. Longan,[169] declaring that "[a]n assignment of the note carries the mortgage with it, while an assignment of the latter alone is a nullity" and Restatement (Third) of Property (Mortgages) §5.4 (1997) March 2019 Update:

> "[I]t is nearly always sensible to keep the mortgage and the right of enforcement of the obligation it secures in the hands of the same person. This is so because separating the obligation from the mortgage results in a practical loss of efficacy of the mortgage […]. When the right of enforcement of the note and the mortgage are split, the note becomes, as a practical matter, unsecured."

The "Deed of Trust" that purports to be secured by the real property located at 818 Spirit Costa Mesa, California is not listed on the U.S. Stock Exchange.Whomever the beneficiaries of the New Residential Mortgage Loan Trust 2018-2 are, they do not have a known beneficial interest in the "Deed of Trust" secured by the real property located at 818 Spirit Costa Mesa, California. What they apparently have is a limited partnership interest in a completely separate security instrument on the U.S. Stock Exchange. The "Deed of Trust" is also not a security for the security listed on the U.S. Stock Exchange.

In the same way that a stockholder only possesses a property interest in the shares held, the owner(s) of the security held by New Residential Mortgage Loan Trust 2018-2 only possess an interest in the instrument it holds, which is not the "Deed of Trust" Prestige has sought to foreclose on.

There is also no known authority under California or Federal statute by which a mortgage created under California statute can be converted into and governed by [169] Carpenter v. Longan, 83 U.S. 271, 274 (1872).

Federal statute and traded on the U.S. Stock Exchange. Any conversion of the "Deed of Trust" into different security instrument or foreign venue renders the original a nullity.

Despite the foregoing, Patricia Sanchez, "Trustee Sale Officer" for Prestige filed a "Notice of Trustee Sale" in the Office of the Clerk-Recorder for the County of Orange on October 31, 2022. Exhibit [D] pp.5508-5510. The sale date is scheduled for December 12, 2022.

Petitioner has no apparent remedy in any other Court of California or the United States. Even filing bankruptcy will not afford him any protection as the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Ninth Circuit has repeatedly been involved in the fraud surrounding §7031 actions and is not empowered to adjudicate his Article III claims. And the District "Court" has already dismissed his claims with prejudice on the grounds it lacked subject matter jurisdiction to adjudicate them.

Based on all of the issues presented, Petitioner contends: (1) there is no judicial Constitutional Court of California and no apparent judicial officer willing to abide their sworn duties pertaining to at least the issues presented in this case; (2) no Lawful representative quorum in the "Legislature"; (3) no apparent Executive official willing to abide their sworn duties pertaining to at least the issues presented in this case (from the "Governor", Gavin Newsom, to any other "official" in State or local law enforcement); (4) that the Republican form of government of California admitted as a State under English/American common Law has been overthrown or replaced by a municipal form of government under Roman civil law[170] without the consent of the People, a Lawful representative quorum in the Cal. "Legislature" and "Congress" and is currently operating without the required system of checks and balances outside of the California and U.S. Constitutions; (5) that the Republican form of government of California in the "City of Costa Mesa" where Petitioner is domiciled has been overthrown or replaced by a municipal "council-manager form of government"[171] based on Roman civil law that operates outside of the California and U.S. Constitutions; (6) that none of the sovereign People of California appear to occupy any office of California "government" or Congress, having been denied access (Appendix [S] Questions:29-31); (7) that only another foreign body politic known as a "citizen of the United States" or "United States citizen" that has no recognized

III. CONCLUSION

Ernst Huber, a leading Nazi theorist, in a definitive presentation of the Nazi political-legal position wrote:

> "The authority of the Fuhrer is complete and all-embracing; it unites in itself all the means of political direction; it extends into all fields of national life; it embraces the entire people, which is bound to the Fuhrer in loyalty and obedience. The authority of the Fuhrer is not limited by checks and controls, by special autonomous bodies or individual rights, but is free and independent, all-inclusive and unlimited."[172]

On what happens to personal liberty in the "total state", Huber stated:

> "Not until the nationalistic political philosophy had become dominant could the liberalistic idea of basic rights be really overcome. The concepts of personal liberties of the individual as opposed to the authority of the state had to disappear; it is not to be reconciled with the principle of the nationalistic Reich. There are no personal liberties of the individual which fall outside the realm of the state and which must be respected by the state ... There can no longer be any question of a private sphere, free of state influence, which is sacred or untouchable before the political unity. The constitution of the nationalistic Reich is therefore > not based upon a system of inborn and inalienable rights of the individual… Id. p.50.

In such regimes "there is no longer any distinction between private matters and public matters"; there are no private matters. "The only person who is still a private individual in Germany," declared Robert Ley, a member of the Nazi hierarchy, ... "is somebody who is asleep."[173]

IV. RELIEF

Pursuant to Article III of the Constitution this Court has a mandatory, non-discretionary ministerial duty to exercise jurisdiction over this case. "We have no more right to decline the exercise of jurisdiction which is given than to usurp that which is not given. The one or the other would be treason to the Constitution."[174]

You will please grant this Application for the Emergency Stay of: (1) the "foreclosure proceedings" of the "Deed of Trust" secured by the real property located at 818 Spirit Costa Mesa, California; and (2) enforcement of the "Judgement" in Superior "Court" of California-County of Orange case #30-2022-01271693; pending this Court's Lawful adjudication of all of the issues presented in Petitioner's Petition for Original Writs of Quo Warranto, Mandamus, and Habeas Corpus to be sent to the Court within forty days of the date of the Stay Order. Petitioner should also be allowed to present his Petition in 8.5 x11 format without any page restrictions with all applicable fees waived.

[174] Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 404 (1821).

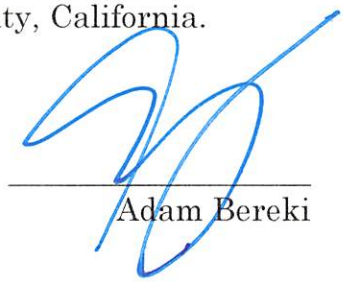
This Court will please also exercise its inherent Equity powers or those of supplemental jurisdiction to grant Petitioner emergency restitution so that he will be able to fully meet his needs and obligations; be fairly compensated for a preliminary portion of his time and all expenses having been forced into involuntary servitude to perform this multiyear forensic investigation.

Petitioner has spent an average of eight hours per day, five days per week, for 291 weeks (the week of April 3, 2017 through November 4, 2022) conducting this investigation. The rate he should reasonably be paid is the same rate for legal services provided by a lawyer, such as Mr. Bissell (the Humphreys counsel), whose customary rate is $300 per hour (Exhibit [A3] p.123). At this rate, the compensation due Petitioner is about $3,540,000.

Petitioner has also incurred a preliminary estimate of $350,000 in expenses that include "Court" and attorney's fees; office expenses (paper, toner, postage, envelopes, printers, scanner, filing cabinets, 3-ringed binders, computer, software, paper cutter, website and domain hosting, cloud storage, part time assistant, etc…); research (law and history books, repeated consultations with expert legal historians); and medical (regular psychotherapy, acupuncture, and other specialist visits and professional consultations to help cope and treat extreme levels of stress resulting from the intentional infliction of emotional distress by "officials").



Pending further adjudication, which will incur additional time and expenses, Petitioner feels it is fair and reasonable that he be immediately compensated ten percent of the balance for his time (approx. $354,000) and all expenses (to be accounted for in a Motion sent within five calendar days upon granting the Stay). The Court will equitably apportion the amount due between Respondents Karen and Gary Humphreys, William Bissell, the Law Offices of William Bissell, David Chaffee, Kathleen O'Leary, Richard Aronson, and Thomas Goethals. All payments are to be made in Lawful money and are not in any way to way be considered as settlement or waiver of any of Petitioner's claims at Law or in Equity against these People or any others. The amounts paid will however be deducted from any additional claims upon which they are found to be liable.

The Court invites counsels to meet and discuss the plan for the remaining cause of actions and the complaint.

At 11:19 a.m. Court declares a recess.

At 11:37 a.m. Court reconvenes with plaintiff(s), defendant(s) and counsel present as noted above.

At 11:47 p.m. Court declares a recess.

At 1:48 p.m. Court reconvenes with plaintiff(s), defendant(s) and counsel present as noted above.

Counsels reached an agreement as set forth on the record.

Mr. J. Scott Russo presents an offer of proof on plaintiff's complaint that if called Mr. Adam Bereki would be the witness and the testimony would be that Plaintiff, Spartan Associates had rendered goods and services to the defendants. The fair market value for the services and goods of $82,821.53 to be backed up by invoices and testimony about the reasonable value of those services that would be the first cause of action Quantum Merit. For the 2nd cause of action, go and in hand that it was an open book accounting was rendered to the defendants that they were given the accountings and the sum was $82,821.53 that was still due.

Based on Mr. Russo's offer of proof, the Court understand that those claims are based upon the view of plaintiff Spartan Associates, Inc. was the general contractor on the project. The Court finds that Spartan Associates does not have standing as determined earlier today that Mr.Bereki was the purported general contractor on the contract. Spartan Associates, Inc. may have been apparently substituted but it is certainly not with the permission or agreement of the defendants. Based on that, the Court finds judgment for the defendants on the complaint.

The parties have discussed, agreed and stipulates on the record as follows: The entirety of remaining causes of action on the First Amended Cross-Complaint will be dismissed without prejudice. If judgment on the first cause of action becomes final, the dismissal without prejudice will be converted to dismissal with prejudice. Pending judgment on the first cause of action becoming final, the statute of limitations on the re-filing of an action of the dismissed causes of action is waived. If a new action is filed on the dismissed causes of action , discovery deemed completed and will not be re-opened and the newly filed case will be consolidated with the remanded case for trial.

Pursuant to Mr. Bissell's Motion, the Court orders the remaining causes of action, negligence, fraud, alter ego, penalty, attorney's fees and recovery against the Contractor's license bond be dismissed without prejudice. The judgment on the First Amended Cross Complaint is on the 1st cause of action for discouragement only.

* * *

This case involves the purported general contractor for a condominium remodel project, Adam Bereki, on one side, and the condominium owners, Gary and Karen Humphreys (the Humphreys), on the other. After the Humphreys terminated Bereki's involvement, a now defunct corporation formerly owned by Bereki, Spartan Associates, Inc. (Spartan Associates), sued Humphreys, claiming they still owed approximately $83,000 for work on the project. The Humphreys denied the allegations and cross-complained against Bereki and Spartan Associates. Among the remedies they sought was disgorgement of all payments made for the project, pursuant to Business and Professions Code section 7031, subdivision (b)[1], due to Bereki's alleged failure to possess a required contractor's license.

Following a bifurcated bench trial on the disgorgement cause of action, the trial court found in favor of the Humphreys and ordered Bereki to repay them all monies received in relation to the remodel work — $848,000. Its ruling and a stipulation by the parties disposed of the remainder of the case and Bereki appealed. He challenges the disgorgement on a variety of constitutional, legal, and factual grounds. We find no merit in his contentions and, therefore affirm the judgment.

I ## FACTS

The Humphreys own a condominium on Lido Isle in the City of Newport Beach. It was originally two separate units. The couple hired Bereki to do some remodeling which would, among other things, turn the two units into a single unit. After an on-site walkthrough, the Humphreys exchanged e-mails with Bereki to confirm the scope of the project. In one of his e-mails, Bereki stated he and his partner would perform the work for a specified rate.

[1] All further statutory references are to the Business and Professions Code unless otherwise indicated.

The Humphreys agreed to the proposed scope and rates, and also inquired whether a written contract was necessary. Bereki responded that it was not; their "'words/commitment [was] enough.'" To start the project, Bereki asked the Humphreys for a $15,000 check deposit payable to him, personally.

Several months into the remodel the Humphreys, at Bereki's request, started making their progress payments to Spartan Associates instead of paying Bereki directly as an individual. Bereki never gave them an explanation for the change or what, if any, involvement Spartan Associates had in the project, but the accountings he sent included the name "Spartan Associates."

After approximately a year and a half, the Humphreys terminated Bereki's involvement and later hired a different general contractor to complete the project.

Believing the Humphreys still owed approximately $82,800 for materials used in the remodel and labor performed, Spartan Associates sued to recover that amount. The Humphreys generally denied the allegations in the complaint, and filed a cross-complaint against Bereki, Spartan Associates, and a surety company. Among the allegations were causes of action for negligence, intentional misrepresentation, and negligent misrepresentation. The trial court later granted them leave to amend the cross-complaint to include a cause of action for disgorgement of funds paid to an unlicensed contractor, pursuant to section 7031, subdivision (b).

At the Humphreys' request, the trial court bifurcated the disgorgement claim from the remainder of the claims in the cross-complaint, and it held a trial on that issue first. During the course of the two-day bench trial on the disgorgement cause of action, the court heard testimony from the Humphreys and Bereki.

Karen Humphreys testified it was her understanding, based on the initial e-mails exchanged with Bereki, that she and her husband were contracting with Bereki and his partner to do the work. They wanted a licensed contractor to do the work and obtain all the necessary permits, and she "took [Bereki] at his word that he had a license."

She also testified there was no mention of Spartan Associates until months after the project began and insisted they never entered into a contract with Spartan Associates.

Gary Humphreys concurred with his wife's testimony about the remodel details, the series of events that transpired between them and Bereki, and the agreement he believed they entered into with Bereki. In addition, he confirmed Bereki told him he was a licensed contractor and stated he would not have hired him if he knew it was otherwise.

In contrast, Bereki testified the contract for the couple's remodel project was between the Humphreys and Spartan Associates. He nevertheless acknowledged his initial e-mail communications to the Humphreys made no mention of Spartan Associates, including the one which set forth the proposed scope of work and hourly rates. When asked about contractor's licenses, he admitted he never possessed one as an individual or as a joint venture with his partner. Spartan Associates, however, did have a contractor's license at the time of the project.

As for the work done for the Humphreys, Bereki testified he believed Spartan Associates performed all of it. He testified that the three city permits for the project were all obtained by, and issued to, Spartan Associates. Additionally, he produced contracts with subcontractors who performed aspects of the remodel work. The majority of these contracts were between the given subcontractor and Spartan Associates.[2]

The trial court found in favor of the Humphreys on the disgorgement cause of action based on its determination that Bereki, not Spartan Associates, was the contractor who performed all the remodel work. As a result, the court also found in favor of the Humphreys on Spartan Associates's complaint. The remainder of the cross-complaint was dismissed without prejudice at the Humphreys' request.

[2] Bereki filed an unopposed motion to augment the record on appeal with certain exhibits admitted in the trial court. We deny the request because the exhibits already are "deemed part of the record" by Court Rule. (Cal. Rule of Court, rule 8.122(a)(3).) We have considered the copies of the exhibits he provided in conjunction with our review of this appeal.

II

DISCUSSION

Bereki challenges the portion of the judgment disgorging all compensation paid to him for his work on the Humphreys' remodel project.[3] Though articulated in various ways, his arguments boil down to the following: (1) disgorgement under section 7031, subdivision (b), is unconstitutional or, alternatively, criminal in nature; (2) the trial court erred in ordering disgorgement because Spartan Associates, not Bereki, performed the work and Spartan Associates held a contractor's license; (3) even assuming Bereki performed the work, the state's contractor licensing requirement does not apply to him as a "natural person"; (4) there was insufficient evidence to support disgorgement, including no evidence of injury due to Bereki's failure to be individually licensed; (5) the court should have offset the disgorgement amount by the value the Humphreys received through the remodel work; (6) it was improper to order full disgorgement because certain payments were not made from the Humphreys' personal accounts; and (7) the court

---

3 Bereki appears to also challenge a postjudgment sanctions order the trial court issued based on Bereki's motion to compel a response to a demand for a bill of particulars filed after entry of judgment. The sanctions order is not encompassed by his earlier appeal from the judgment. And although such a postjudgment order is separately appealable (Code Civ. Proc., § 904.1, subds. (a)(2) & (b)), Bereki did not file another appeal. Accordingly, the issue is not before us. (Silver v. Pacific American Fish Co., Inc. (2010) 190 Cal.App.4th 688, 693 [court without jurisdiction to review postjudgment order from which no appeal is taken].)

erroneously failed to provide a written statement of decision.[4] We find no merit to any of these contentions.

A. Disgorgement Remedy Under Section 7031

Relying heavily on White v. Cridlebaugh (2009) 178 Cal.App.4th 506, 517 (White), the decision in Alatriste v. Cesar's Exterior Designs, Inc. (2010) 183 Cal.App.4th 656, 664-666 (Alatriste) aptly summarizes the nature, purpose and scope of the litigation prohibition and the disgorgement remedy provided in section 7031, subdivisions (a) and (b).

"Section 7031[, subdivision] (b) is part of the Contractors' State License Law (§ 7000 et seq.), which 'is a comprehensive legislative scheme governing the construction business in California. [This statutory scheme] provides that contractors performing construction work must be licensed unless exempt. [Citation.] "The licensing requirements provide minimal assurance that all persons offering such services in California have the requisite skill and character, understand applicable local laws and codes, and know the rudiments of administering a contracting business. [Citations.]"

[4] After briefing was complete, Bereki filed a motion asking that we take judicial notice of a plethora of items, among which are the federal Constitution and other foundational documents for this country, federal and state statutes, and a variety of case law. To begin, "[r]equests for judicial notice should not be used to 'circumvent [ ]' appellate rules and procedures, including the normal briefing process." (Mangini v. R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 1057, 1064, overruled on another point as stated in In re Tobacco Cases II (2007) 41 Cal.4th 1257.) Further, "[a] request for judicial notice of published material is unnecessary. Citation to the material is sufficient." (Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guaranty Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 26, 45, fn. 9.) We therefore deny Bereki's request as unnecessary to the extent it included such materials. As for the remaining items, we likewise deny the request because we find them not properly the subject of a request for judicial notice and/or irrelevant to resolution of the matters before us. (Evid. Code, §§ 451, 452; Schifando v. City of Los Angeles (2003) 31 Cal.4th 1074, 1089, fn. 4 [appellate court will not take judicial notice of irrelevant material].)

[Citation.] The [laws] are designed to protect the public from incompetent or dishonest providers of building and construction services. [Citation.]' [Citation.]

"This statutory scheme encourages licensure by subjecting unlicensed contractors to criminal penalties and civil remedies. [Citation.] The civil remedies 'affect the unlicensed contractor's right to receive or retain compensation for unlicensed work.' (Ibid.) The hiring party is entitled to enforce these remedies through a defensive 'shield' or an affirmative 'sword.' [Citation.]

"The shield, contained in section 7031[, subdivision] (a), was enacted more than 70 years ago, and provides that a party has a complete defense to claims for compensation made by a contractor who performed work without a license, unless the contractor meets the requirements of the statutory substantial compliance doctrine. [Citation.] Section 7031[, subdivision] (e), the substantial compliance exception, provides relief only in very narrow specified circumstances, and 'shall not apply . . . where the [unlicensed contractor] has never been a duly licensed contractor in this state." [Citation.]

"The California Supreme Court has long given a broad, literal interpretation to section 7031[, subdivision] (a)'s shield provision. [Citation.] The court has held that [it] applies even when the person for whom the work was performed knew the contractor was unlicensed. [Citation.] . . . . [It] explained that '"'Section 7031 represents a legislative determination that the importance of deterring unlicensed persons from engaging in the contracting business outweighs any harshness between the parties, and that such deterrence can best be realized by denying violators the right to maintain any action for compensation in the courts of this state. [Citation.] . . .'"' [Citation.] '"Because of the strength and clarity of this policy [citation]," the bar of section 7031 [, subdivision] (a) applies "[r]egardless of the equities."' [Citations.]

"In 2001, the Legislature amended section 7031 to add a sword remedy to the hiring party's litigation arsenal. This sword remedy, contained in section 7031[,subdivision] (b), currently reads: 'Except as provided in subdivision (e), a person who utilizes the services of an unlicensed contractor may bring an action in any court of competent jurisdiction in this state to recover all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor for performance of any act or contract.' [¶] By adding this remedy, the Legislature sought to further section 7031[,subdivision] (a)'s policy of deterring violations of licensing requirements by 'allow[ing] persons who utilize unlicensed contractors to recover compensation paid to the contractor for performing unlicensed work. [Citation.]' [Citation.]" (Alatriste, supra, 183 Cal.App.4th at pp. 664-666, fns. omitted.)

Based on the statutory language and legislative history, both Alatriste and White "concluded that the Legislature intended that courts interpret sections 7031[, subdivision] (a) and 7031[, subdivision] (b) in a consistent manner, resulting in the same remedy regardless of whether the unlicensed contractor is the plaintiff or the defendant." (Alatriste, supra, 183 Cal.App.4th at p. 666, citing White, supra, 178 Cal.App.4th at pp. 519-520.) These principles are well-settled under the law.

Bereki contends the disgorgement remedy is penal in nature and, therefore, a contractor defending against such a claim must be afforded all criminal rights and protections. Not so. Disgorgement is a civil consequence — "an equitable remedy" — for performing work without a required contractor's license. (S.E.C. v. Huffman (5th Cir. 1993) 996 F.2d 800, 802 (S.E.C.); see Walker v. Appellate Division of Superior Court (2017) 14 Cal.App.5th 651, 657 [§ 7031 contemplates civil proceedings].) The Legislature created a separate criminal penalty. Specifically, section 7028 provides that acting or operating in the capacity of a contractor without a required license is a criminal misdemeanor subject to jail time, or fines, and restitution. (§ 7028, subds. (a)-(c), (h).)

For similar reasons, Bereki's attempt to characterize disgorgement as an award of unconstitutional punitive damages is unavailing. As an equitable remedy, disgorgement is not punishment and, therefore, it does not implicate the excessive fines clause of the Eighth Amendment to the United States Constitution. (S.E.C., supra, 996 F.2d at p. 802; see U.S. v. Philip Morris USA (D.C. 2004) 310 F.Supp.2d 58, 62-63.)

B. Contractor Licensing Requirement

Before turning to application of section 7031, subdivision (b), we address Bereki's claim that he, in his individual capacity, did not need a contractor's license. His argument is twofold, one part legal and the other part factual. We reject both.

As for the legal argument, Bereki asserts that licensing requirements only apply to "fictitious" persons, not "natural" persons such as himself. He cites no authority for his unique interpretation of the relevant statutes. And, the statutes provide otherwise. Contractors who are required to obtain a license include "[a]ny person . . . who . . . undertakes, offers to undertake, purports to have the capacity to undertake, or submits a bid to construct any . . . home improvement project, or part thereof." (§ 7026.1, subd. (a)(2).) In turn, "'[p]erson'" is defined to include "an individual[,]" as well as a variety of types of business entities and associations. (§ 7025, subd. (b).) "In ordinary usage[,] the word 'individual' denotes a natural person not a group, association or other artificial entity. (See Webster's Third New Internat. Dict. (2002 ed.) p. 1152 [giving a primary definition of 'individual' as 'a single human being as contrasted with a social group or institution'].)" (City of Los Angeles v. Animal Defense League (2006) 135 Cal.App.4th 606, 623, disapproved of on other grounds in City of Montebello v. Vasquez (2016) 1 Cal.5th 409, 416.) There is nothing in the statutes that indicates a different, specialized meaning. (Halbert's Lumber, Inc. v. Lucky Stores, Inc. (1992) 6 Cal.App.4th 1233, 1238 ["In examining the language, the courts should give to the words of the statute their ordinary, everyday meaning [citations] unless, of course, the statute itself specifically defines those words to give them a special meaning"].)

Bereki's factual attack concerns the trial court's conclusion that he, not Spartan Associates, was the contractor who performed the remodel work for the Humphreys. Though he implores us to engage in de novo review of this issue, it is a factual determination which we review for substantial evidence. (Escamilla v. Deppartment of Corrections & Rehabilitation (2006) 141 Cal.App.4th 498, 514.) There is ample evidence in the record supporting the court's conclusion.[5]

Both of the Humphreys testified that on the first day they met Bereki for a walkthrough of the site, he informed them that he and his partner would act as the general contractor for the project. Bereki followed up with a written proposal and estimate, which he sent to the couple from his personal e-mail address. When they inquired whether he had a contractor's license, he assured them he did, and when they asked him to whom they should make out their payment checks, he told them to put them in his name.

At no time during this series of events did Bereki ever mention Spartan Associates. Notably, Bereki did not apply to the State Board of Equalization to register Spartan as an employer until roughly three months after the remodel work began. Then, about four months into the project, he introduced the corporation into the mix by asking the Humphreys, without any explanation, to make future payments to Spartan Associates.

---

[5] Bereki filed a motion asking us to consider additional evidence not presented in the trial court, among which are two declarations, an e-mail correspondence and a letter. He believes the documents are relevant to establishing the identity of the contracting parties. We deny the motion as "[i]t has long been the general rule and understanding that 'an appeal reviews the correctness of a judgment as of the time of its rendition, upon a record of matters which were before the trial court for its consideration.'" (In re Zeth S. (2003) 31 Cal.4th 396, 405, italics added.) Circumstances warranting an exception to this rule are very rare and we do not find them extant here, particularly in light of the conflicting evidence weighed by the trial court. (See Diaz v. Professional Community Management, Inc. (2017) 16 Cal.App.5th 1190, 1213 ["'The power to take evidence in the Court of Appeal is never used where there is conflicting evidence in the record and substantial evidence supports the trial court's findings.'"].)

Based on what transpired, the couple believed they contracted with Bereki, in his individual capacity, to complete the remodel work.

While Bereki claims the Humphreys lied when they testified at trial because some of their factual statements purportedly contradicted those they made at the summary judgment stage, our role is not to resolve factual disputes or to judge the credibility of witnesses. (Leff v. Gunter (1983) 33 Cal.3d 508, 518.) The trial court bore that responsibility in this case, and our review of the record reveals substantial evidence to support its conclusion that Bereki, not Spartan Associates, was the contractor for the job.

C. Disgorgement Remedy Under Section 7031

Separate from his general attacks on section 7031, subdivision (b), Bereki challenges its application under the specific facts of this case. He first asserts disgorgement is an improper remedy because it gives the Humphreys a double benefit — the remodel improvements and the money they otherwise would have paid for them. In the context of the statute at issue, however, courts have uniformly rejected such an argument and required disgorgement, even though this remedy often produces harsh results. (See, e.g., Alatriste, supra, 183 Cal.App.4th at pp. 672-673; White, supra, 178 Cal.App.4th at pp. 520-521; see also Jeff Tracy, Inc. v. City of Pico Rivera (2015) 240 Cal.App.4th 510, 521.) Full disgorgement is required; offsets and reductions for labor and materials received are not permitted.

Equally meritless is Bereki's contention that there was no justiciable claim under the statute because there was no evidence the Humphreys were injured by his lack of a contractor's license. Bereki cites no authority for that novel proposition. Injury is not an element of a cause of action under the statute. The disgorgement consequence is not remedial in nature. Similar to the licensing requirement, it is a proactive measure intended to decrease the likelihood of harm due to "incompetent or dishonest providers of building and construction services." (White, supra, 178 Cal.App.4th at pp. 517.)

We also are not persuaded by Bereki's objection to the amount the court ordered him to repay to the Humphreys. He highlights evidence showing that some of the payment checks came from Gary Humphreys' corporation, and he argues the Humphreys are not entitled to those amounts given they did not pay them in the first instance. While we do not necessarily see eye-to-eye with Bereki's legal reasoning, we need not reach the legal aspect of his argument due to the trial court's factual findings.

The trial court, relying on Gary Humphreys' uncontradicted testimony, found that the contested payments ultimately were attributable to Gary Humphrey himself. Substantial evidence supports this conclusion. The Humphreys testified that the business is an S corporation, and at the relevant time Gary Humphreys was the sole shareholder and an employee. Gary Humphreys explained he was traveling often for business during the remodel, including at times when Bereki insisted on needing money "'right away.'" To facilitate the payments, Gary Humphreys had persons in his corporation with signing authority write checks from the corporate account. The amounts paid on the Humphreys behalf were then accounted for through a reduction in the regular income Gary Humphreys received from the corporation. He paid income taxes on those amounts because they were included in the figures listed on his annual W-2 form.

Under these circumstances, we find ample evidence to support the trial court's factual finding that although certain payments to Bereki were made from the Humphreys' business account, they ultimately were accounted for in a way that ensured they were personal payments from the Humphreys, as individuals. Accordingly, the Humphreys were entitled to "all compensation paid." (§ 7031, subd. (b).)

We recognize that the provisions of section 7031, including the disgorgement remedy, are harsh and may be perceived as unfair. As courts have explained, however, they stem from policy decisions made by the Legislature.

"[T]he choice among competing policy considerations in enacting laws is a legislative function" (Coastside Fishing Club v. California Resources Agency (2008) 158 Cal.App.4th 1183, 1203), and absent a constitutional prohibition, we may not interfere or question the wisdom of the policies embodied in the statute. (Marine Forests Society v. California Coastal Com. (2005) 36 Cal.4th 1, 25; Alatriste, supra, 183 Cal.App.4th at p. 672.)

D. Statement of Decision

Though he admits he did not timely request a statement of decision, Bereki claims the trial court should have nevertheless provided one after he made an untimely request. To the contrary, "[n]o statement of decision is required if the parties fail to request one." (Acquire II, Ltd. v. Colton Real Estate Group (2013) 213 Cal.App.4th 959, 970; see also Code Civ. Proc., § 632.) The trial court's denial was proper. (See In re Marriage of Steinberg (1977) 66 Cal.App.3d 815, 822 [upholding court's refusal to make findings of fact and conclusions of law due to party's failure to timely request them].)

Tentative Ruling posted on the Internet and posted in the public hallway.

The Court having fully considered the arguments of all parties, both written and oral, as well as the evidence presented, now makes the tentative ruling final as follows:

MOTION TO VACATE

The Motion "to Vacate Void Judgment" filed by Mr. Adam Bereki is Denied. The arguments presented on this motion were already raised and rejected, and the appellate decision affirming the underlying judgment on the merits is now final. Upon remittitur, the trial court is revested with jurisdiction of the case only to carry out the judgment as ordered by the appellate court. (People v. Dutra (2006) 145 Cal.App.4th 1359, 1365-1366.) Arguments on the merits of the underlying judgment cannot be entertained anew here. The Motion is therefore Denied.

Counsel for the Humphreys to give notice.

MORNING SESSION

(PROCEEDINGS IN OPEN COURT:)

* * *

THE COURT: Thank you. Is there an appearance on court call, please.

Someone on court call, please.

THE CLERK: Mr. Bereki?

MR. BEREKI: Your Honor, can you hear me?

THE COURT: We can now. Please state your name.

MR. BEREKI: Adam Bereki in propria persona.

THE COURT: Thank you. Welcome.

MR. BEREKI: Thank you.

THE COURT: And then counsel for the plaintiff.

MR. BISSELL: William Bissell, Your Honor, for the opposing parties, Karen and Gary Humphreys.

THE COURT: Thank you very much. Okay. So we do have a court reporter here. I do want to find out how much time that you wanted to take to argue the matter, then I'll put that into my consideration as to when I'll call the case.

So, Mr. Bissell, did you have a time estimate, if any?

MR. BISSELL: Your Honor, we would submit on the tentative.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Bereki, do you have a time estimate at all?

MR. BEREKI: 10 -- 10 minutes, Your Honor. I just have some questions to ask of you for clarity because my next step is obviously to go to the US Supreme Court, so I just want some clarity on your tentative.

THE COURT: Okay. Do you have -- do you have the tentative? Have you been able to pull it off the internet?

MR. BEREKI: Yes. I'm looking at it, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right.

Okay. Very good. So I'll come back to you then.

MR. BEREKI: Thank you.

THE COURT: Thank you for your patience.

(Recess.)

THE COURT: Okay. The matter is Spartan Associates versus Humphreys.

MR. BISSELL: Good morning, Your Honor. William Bissell for Respondents, the Humphreys.

THE COURT: Thank you.

Mr. Bereki, would you make your experience.

MR. BEREKI: Yes, Your Honor. Adam Bereki in

propria persona. Your Honor, this case hinges upon whether federal constitutional protections were denied and whether the trial in appellate court had jurisdiction to deny these protections. The matter goes to the jurisdiction of the Court, not the merit as was cited in the tentative.

While the rule that Your Honor cited may be applicable, it cannot be used to overrule the federal constitutional protections that I'm contending were denied here. This is held in Miranda v. Arizona at 384 US 436 at 491. The US Supreme Court stated there: Where rights secured by the Constitution are involved, there shall be no rule-making or legislation that would abrogate them.

The law of case doctrine that was cited in the tentative authority, which is People v. Dutra, does not apply here. It states: Because the rule is merely one of procedure and does not go to the jurisdiction of the Court, the doctrine will not be adhered to where its application will result in an unjust decision. For example, where there has been a manifest misapplication of existing principles resulting in substantial injustice.

That is exactly what I'm claiming here, Your Honor, that there's been a substantial injustice. And so, because this is a motion to vacate a void judgment, I'm challenging the jurisdiction of the court to issue the Humphreys costs, and they have not substantiated the jurisdiction of the court to violate the Constitution and award the costs or even to have judgment awarded in their favor.

THE COURT: Thank you very much. Thank you.

Counsel, did you want to say something?

MR. BISSELL: I'm not sure how to respond to that, Your Honor. It's clear that the question of jurisdiction has been determined not once but twice: Once at the trial court level, once at the appellate court level, and presented to the California Supreme Court and rejected as a -- as grounds for review at that level. The -- you know, the Superior Court is a court of general jurisdiction; it has jurisdiction over all matters not exclusively reserved to the Courts of Appeal or the California Supreme Court. It had subject matter jurisdiction over this action.

Mr. Bereki appeared at the trial in this matter, he presented his case, he presented evidence, he questioned witnesses, he cross-examined witnesses. So, clearly, he had submitted to personal jurisdiction in this case. So the jurisdiction question is, to me, put to rest. If he wants to raise it, he has to raise it at another level.

Now, Mr. Bereki here is -- he's unhappy with the Court's ruling, with the Court's decision. He thinks it's in error. Well, that's not a void judgment. That's a judgment you take up on appeal. He's done that. He's lost on appeal. If he's still unhappy, he has another level to go. That's where he has to go. He has no business being in this court today to present this motion.

THE COURT: Thank you.

Mr. Bereki?

MR. BEREKI: Yes, Your Honor. This is not just a matter of me being unhappy with the judgment. The Supreme Court in Kokesh v. SEC recently heard this matter regarding disgorgement. And what the Court -- what the matter was before that court was, I believe, Mr. Kokesh -- there was a judgment awarded, a disgorgement judgment awarded against him for about $40 million. And there was a statute in this case -- the determination was to whether that disgorgement penalty was -- was a penalty or not, because, if it was, then the statute of limitations would apply and he would not be liable for that disgorgement.

So the court heard the matter and determined that the disgorgement in that case was a penalty.

So, in this case, there's been a near-million-dollar disgorgement judgment awarded against me. And I'm claiming that that judgment, based upon the Kokesh decision by the Supreme Court, is a penalty. And if you apply the same holdings that they did in Kokesh to this case, it clearly evidences that the holding in this case is punitive as well.

So here's where the constitutional protections apply and why I'm challenging the jurisdiction of the court: Because a court does not have jurisdiction to violate either the California Constitution or the Constitution of the United States.

So if the trial in Appellate Court found that this award was not punitive, in spite of the fact that the US Supreme Court held that it was, I'm contending that the 14th Amendment protections for excessive punitive damage awards have to apply here and that essentially due process was violated because the court did not recognize that the judgment was punitive in nature.

So, in my mind, if the constitution's been violated, that's not a judicial act and the court doesn't have jurisdiction to do that, which is why I keep challenging jurisdiction. And, on appeal and in the trial court, I have not yet seen one authority presented by the Humphreys or by the courts that overrule the Supreme Court's authority in Kokesh or the more than 100 years' authority case cited in that case that discuss exactly what a punitive judgment is. And the judgment in this case, disgorgement, strictly to be nonpunitive under the laws of restitution -- nonpunitive restitutionary disgorgement can only apply to the profits that I made acting as the, quote/unquote, unlicensed contractor in this case. Can't order disgorgement of all the moneys were paid whatsoever, because, once you go beyond profits, as the Court held in Kokesh, it becomes punitive.

So the Humphreys have to be able to substantiate how they got a near-million-dollar award that wasn't punitive. And nowhere in this case and nowhere in any of the decisions of the Appellate Court or anywhere else do they do that. So it's very clear to me that this award that goes beyond any compensation that I received is punitive.

And if you look at the Exhibit B, which is the order for judgment in this case, it lists damages at $848,000. Well, my contention is these are punitive damages. Well, if they are, then the 14th Amendment's protections for excessive punitive damages apply. And if you apply those protections in this case, the maximum award that they could have got is $5,000; not a million.

So, I mean, this is hugely, hugely significant, and the jurisdictional issue is not just me being upset with the Court's judgment. I'm happy to take a lick and keep going on with life, but I want to see the authorities for the Court to do this, and they just aren't here.

The two cases that the Appellate Court cited are actually SEC versus Huffman. That one was overruled or superseded by Kokesh. And the other one was United States versus Phillip Morris, and that one is also, so to speak, in my favor because it says that it's not in the Court's equity powers to issue punishment. And it -- disgorgement only applies to the ill-gotten gains or profits, not to all of the compensation that was paid for a project.

THE COURT: Thank you very much.

Did you want to retort, for a moment only?

MR. BISSELL: Just for a moment only, Your Honor.

These arguments go to the merits of the case that has been determined as final and remitted to the Superior Court for one purpose only: For the entry of an award of costs. Even a case where the Court has made an error of law, even if the error of law is apparent on its face, which it's not here, that is not a void judgment and cannot be attacked at this level.

THE COURT: Mr. Bereki, you did read the tentative; right?

MR. BEREKI: I did, Your Honor. And what I'm saying is that appears to be a legislative rule that is attempting to over -- to supersede the Constitution. Because the Miranda v. Arizona decision states, quote: Where rights secured by the Constitution are involved, there shall be no rule-making or legislation that would abrogate them. And under the supremacy clause of Article 6, Section 2, the Constitution has authority here.

So if these are punitive damages and the Court violated the Constitution, it does not have jurisdiction to issue a remittitur and award costs or to affirm the judgment of the Humphreys, period.

THE COURT: Well, what I --

MR. BEREKI: And the authorities that I've established here are -- Kokesh is one. I mean, literally 100 years of precedent of determining what a punitive damage award is, which is clearly punishment because --

THE COURT: No, I got it. No, I understand. Your papers make that clear and your argument makes that clear. The tentative, however, is the present state of the law, and so it will have to be the order of the Court.

I want to thank you very much for your very articulate presentation and --

MR. BEREKI: No problem, Your Honor. Can I ask you a couple of questions?

THE COURT: Well, the Court doesn't really answer questions. The Court reviews the papers and then gives tentatives. So I can really offer no direction. The issues that you're dealing with and have argued involve substantive law, and that is something that really has to be addressed, in this circumstance, with the Court of Appeal. Already been to the Court of Appeal. Petition to the Supreme Court. And you may have other remedies, but I really cannot comment on any of those or offer you any assistance.

MR. BEREKI: I'm not interested in you practicing law or doing that. I just had some questions about how -- the decision that you made to issue the tentative in this case.

THE COURT: Yeah. It is in the tentative. It is in the tentative. So I have other people in the courtroom, and I'm going to have to get to their case, but I really want to appreciate -- tell you that I appreciate your fine argument and that of counsel.

So have a good day. The tentative --

MR. BEREKI: Okay. Your Honor, can I wait until the other people are done so that we can go through this?

THE COURT: Well, I really do not want to get involved in doing any more than I've already done. I cannot give any legal advice or give any direction, and the --

MR. BEREKI: I'm clearly not asking for that, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Excuse me.

MR. BEREKI: I have questions -- just to give an example, the judgment order says there's damages in $848,000. So I have questions as to what specific type of damages these are.

THE COURT: Yeah, no, I'm not prepared --

MR. BEREKI: I need to know that to be able to prepare a meaningful and substantive petition to the Supreme Court. If no one's going to answer these questions, well, I feel that that's denying me a hearing, and I have a right to know what the actual judgment order is and how the --

THE COURT: The Appellate Court -- excuse me.

As a matter of fact, the Appellate Court, in its opinion, did address those issues. So I do have to move on. The tentative is the order of the Court.

You have a very nice day. Thank you.

MR. BEREKI: Thank you.

THE COURT: Bye-bye.

MR. BISSELL: Thank you, Your Honor.

ORDER RE: DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO DISMISS THE FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT PURSUANT TO RULE 12(B)(1), (6) & (7) OF THE FEDERAL RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE AND REQUEST FOR JUDICIAL NOTICE [JS-6]

The matter before the Court is Defendants Gary Humphreys and Karen Humphreys' (collectively, "Defendants'" or "The Humphreys'") "Motion to Dismiss the First Amended Complaint Pursuant to Rule 12(b)(1), (6), & (7) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and Request for Judicial Notice." (Dkt. No. 9 (the "Motion").)[1]

I. BACKGROUND

This action arises from a state court judgment in favor of Defendants and

[1] Following the hearing on the Motion, Plaintiff filed a document entitled "Additional Authorities and Corrected Testimony To Be Considered By the Court re: Defendants Motion to Dismiss Filed 11/19/19," which has been reviewed by the Court. (Dkt. No. 30 (hereinafter, "Additional Authorities").)

against Plaintiff in connection with remodeling work performed by Plaintiff. On April 20, 2017, following a bench trial, the Superior Court, County of Orange, entered judgment in favor of The Humphreys and against Plaintiff in the amount of $848,000 (plus costs).[2] (FAC Exs. D, G.) The Superior Court found Plaintiff (as opposed to his company Spartan Associates) was the contractor who performed the remodel work for The Humphreys, and found Plaintiff was not a licensed contractor. Accordingly, the superior court awarded The Humphreys disgorgement of all compensation paid by The Humphreys to Plaintiff for the remodel work pursuant to Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031.[3] Plaintiff appealed the state court judgment. The California Court of Appeals affirmed the judgment in favor of The Humphreys. Plaintiff's request for review by the California Supreme Court was denied, and Plaintiff's writ for certiorari with the United States Supreme Court was also denied.

Plaintiff then commenced this action on October 28, 2019. On November 8, 2019, Plaintiff filed a First Amended Complaint ("FAC") as a matter of right naming only The Humphreys as defendants. (Dkt. No. 11.) The FAC alleges this action is "an Independent Action in Equity to relieve a party from a judgment, order or proceeding pursuant to FRCP Rule 60(d)" (FAC at p.13), and that this action "is a direct attack on the jurisdiction of the California trial and appellate Courts in case numbers – 30-2015-00805897, and G055075" (id. at p.17).

II. STATEMENT OF THE LAW

A. Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 12(b)(1)

On a Rule 12(b)(1) motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction,

---

[2] While the superior court judgment reflects judgment entered against Plaintiff in the amount of $848,000, the FAC alleges Plaintiff was "fined $930,000 for allegedly doing remodel construction work without a contractor's license." (FAC at p.16.)

[3] California Business & Professions Code § 7031 provides: "[A] person who utilizes the services of an unlicensed contractor may bring an action in any court of competent jurisdiction in this state to recover all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor for performance of any act or contract."

the party asserting jurisdiction bears the burden of proving jurisdiction exists. Sopak v. Northern Mountain Helicopter Serv., 52 F.3d 817, 818 (9th Cir. 1995). A motion under Rule 12(b)(1) may challenge the court's jurisdiction facially, based on the legal sufficiency of the claim, or factually, based on the legal sufficiency of the jurisdictional facts. White v. Lee, 227 F.3d 1214, 1242 (9th Cir. 2000). Where the Rule 12(b)(1) motion attacks the complaint on its face, the court considers the complaint's allegations to be true, and draws all reasonable inferences in the plaintiff's favor. Doe v. Holy See, 557 F.3d 1066, 1073 (9th Cir. 2009) (citation omitted). Where the Rule 12(b)(1) motion challenges the substance of jurisdictional allegations, the court does not presume the factual allegations to be true, and may consider evidence such as affidavits and testimony to resolve factual disputes regarding jurisdiction. McCarthy v. United States, 850 F.2d 558, 560 (9th Cir. 1988).

B. Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 12(b)(6)

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) allows a court to dismiss a complaint for "failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted." Dismissal of a complaint can be based on either a lack of a cognizable legal theory or the absence of sufficient facts alleged under a cognizable legal theory. Balistreri v. Pacifica Police Dep't, 901 F.2d 696, 699 (9th Cir. 1990). To survive a motion to dismiss, the complaint "must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.'" Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 663, (2009) (quoting Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007)). A formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not suffice. Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555. To conform to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8, the plaintiff must make more than "an unadorned, the-defendant-harmed me" accusation. Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678. Labels and conclusions are insufficient to meet the Plaintiff's obligation to provide the grounds of his or her entitlement to relief. Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555. "Factual allegations must be enough to raise a right to relief above the speculative level." Id. If a complaint cannot be cured by additional factual allegations, dismissal without leave to amend is proper. Id. On a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim, courts accept as true all well-pleaded allegations of material fact and construes them in a light most favorable to the non-moving party. Manzarek v. St. Paul Fire & Marine Ins. Co., 519 F.3d 1025, 1031–32 (9th Cir. 2008). A court may only consider the allegations contained in the pleadings, exhibits attached to or referenced in the complaint, and matters properly subject to judicial notice. Tellabs, Inc. v. Makor Issues & Rights, Ltd., 551 U.S. 308, 322 (2007).

C. Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 12(b)(7)

Rule 12(b)(7) permits a party to move to dismiss the case for "failure to join a party under Rule 19." Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 12(b)(7). Rule 19 requires "[a] person who is subject to service of process and whose joinder will not deprive the court of subject-matter jurisdiction" to be joined as a party if:

> (A) in that person's absence, the court cannot accord complete relief among existing parties; or
>
> (B) that person claims an interest relating to the subject of the action and is so situated that disposing of the action in the person's absence may:
>
> > (i) as a practical matter impair or impede the person's ability to protect the interest; or
> >
> > (ii) leave an existing party subject to a substantial risk of incurring double, multiple, or otherwise inconsistent obligations because of the interest.

Fed. R. Civ. P. 19. If "a person who is required to be joined if feasible cannot be joined, the court must determine whether, in equity and good conscience, the action should proceed among the existing parties or should be dismissed." Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 19(b).

III. DISCUSSION

A. Request for Judicial Notice

Defendants request that the Court take judicial notice of the following:

1. Judgment entered against Plaintiff in Orange County Superior Court, Case No. 30-2015-00805807 (Ex. A);
2. Plaintiff's opening brief filed with the California Court of Appeals appealing the superior court judgment (Ex. B);
3. California Court of Appeals' opinion affirming superior court judgment (Ex. C);
4. Plaintiff's Petition for Review Filed with the Supreme Court of California, Case No. S252954 (Ex. D);
5. California Supreme Court's denial of Plaintiff's Petition for Review (Ex. E);
6. Plaintiff's Petition for Writ of Certiorari filed with the United States Supreme Court, Case No. 18-1416 (Ex. F); and
7. United State Supreme Court's denial of Plaintiff's Petition for Writ of Certiorari (Ex. G).[4]

(Hereinafter, "RJN".) The Court grants Defendants' request for judicial notice because the accuracy of Exhibits A-G can be "readily determined from sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned." Fed. R. Evid. 201.

B. Rooker-Feldman Doctrine

Defendants move to dismiss the FAC for lack of subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to the Rooker-Feldman doctrine. The Rooker-Feldman doctrine bars losing parties "from seeking what in substance would be appellate review of the state judgment in a United States district court." Johnson v. De Grandy, 512 U.S. 997, 1006-07 (1994). "The purpose of the doctrine is to protect state judgments from collateral federal attack." Doe & Assocs. Law Offices v. Napolitano, 252 F.3d 1026, 1030 (9th Cir. 2001). For the Rooker–Feldman "to apply, a plaintiff must seek not only to set aside a state court judgment; he or she must also allege a legal error by the state court as the basis for that relief." Kougasian v. TMSL, Inc., 359 F.3d 1136, 1140 (9th Cir. 2004).

Here, Plaintiff seeks relief from the superior court judgment pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(d) (FAC at p.13), and an order from this Court (1) vacating the judgment entered against Plaintiff in the superior court action and (2) ordering the superior court to remove the property lien based on the judgment entered against Plaintiff in the superior court action (id., Prayer for Relief). The FAC also alleges the instant federal action "is a direct attack on the jurisdiction of the California trial and appellate Courts in case numbers – 30-2015-00805897, and G055075." (Id. at p.17.) Therefore, Plaintiff seeks relief from the state court judgment affirmed by the California Court of Appeals.

The FAC also alleges a legal error by the superior court and California Court of Appeals on the ground that the superior court and appellate court entered and affirmed the judgment against Plaintiff without supporting evidence, and erred in holding disgorgement pursuant to Cal. Bus. & Proc. § 7031 is an equitable remedy rather than a penalty, thereby "resulting in a void judgment." (FAC at p.82, 90.)

(1) Extrinsic Fraud on the Court

Where the federal plaintiff does not complain of a legal injury caused by a state court judgment, but rather of a legal injury caused by an adverse party, Rooker-Feldman does not bar jurisdiction. Noel v. Hall, 341 F.3d 1148, 1163 (9th Cir. 2003). Therefore, the Rooker-Feldman doctrine does not apply where the plaintiff alleges extrinsic fraud on a state court and seeks to set aside a state court judgment obtained by that fraud. Kougasian, 359 F.3d at 1141.

Plaintiff contends this action is not barred because this Court has the power to set aside or enjoin state-court judgments procured by fraud. The FAC alleges Defendants committed "fraud in the procurement of jurisdiction" in the superior court action because Defendants took one position during summary judgment (i.e., that they had contracted with Spartan (Plaintiff's company) to perform the work) and then took a contrary position during trial (i.e., that they believed they contracted with Plaintiff to perform the work). (FAC at 94-97.) Such alleged conduct does not constitute "extrinsic" fraud on the court since such evidence was presented by Defendants before the superior court, nor constitute a legal injury caused by Defendants. Rather, the FAC alleges the superior court erred in entering judgment despite Defendants taking contrary positions throughout the state court litigation. Therefore, the extrinsic fraud exception to the Rooker-Feldman doctrine does not apply. Kougasian, 359 F.3d at 1141.

(2) Constitutional Challenge

Plaintiff also argues the Rooker-Feldman doctrine does not bar this action because the FAC raises a constitutional challenge to California Business & Professions Code §§ 7071.17 and 7031. While the FAC raises a "facial" and "as applied" challenge to the constitutionality of Sections §§ 7071.17 and 7031, the relief sought by Plaintiff is an order vacating or voiding the state court judgment. Moreover, the basis for Plaintiff's constitutional challenge is that the Superior Court and California Court of Appeals lacked subject matter jurisdiction to enter and affirm the judgment against Plaintiff because (1) there is no evidence supporting the judgment; and (2) disgorgement pursuant to Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031 is a penalty and an excessive fine, and therefore unconstitutional. The California Court of Appeals, however, found there was evidence supporting the Superior Court's judgment and held disgorgement pursuant to Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031 is an equitable remedy, not a penalty or fine. (RJN, Ex. C.) Thus, despite purporting to raise a "constitutional" challenge in his FAC, Plaintiff seeks relief from the state court judgment in this action and asserts legal errors by the Superior Court and California Court of Appeals. Therefore, the Rooker-Feldman doctrine applies to bar Plaintiff's instant action.

* * *

Accordingly, the Court finds Plaintiff's action is barred pursuant to the Rooker-Feldman doctrine because Plaintiff seeks relief from the state court judgment and alleges legal errors by the state trial and appellate court. See Bell v. City of Boise, 709 F.3d 890, 897 (9th Cir. 2013).

C. Res Judicata / Collateral Estoppel

Defendants also move to dismiss the FAC as barred by the res judicata / collateral estoppel doctrines.[5]

Issue preclusion, or collateral estoppel, bars relitigation of issues that have been adjudicated in a prior action. DKN Holdings LLC, 61 Cal. 4th at 824. Pursuant to the doctrine of collateral estoppel, "a federal court must give to a state-court judgment the same preclusive effect as would be given that judgment under the law of the State in which the judgment was rendered." Migra v. Warren City Sch. Dist. Bd. of Educ., 465 U.S. 75, 81 (1984); see also 28 U.S.C. § 1738. Under California law, collateral estoppel/issue preclusion applies: "(1) after final adjudication (2) of an identical issue (3) actually litigated and necessarily decided in the first suit and (4) asserted against one who was a party in the first suit or one in privity with that party." DKN Holdings LLC, 61 Cal. 4th at 825.

Here, the FAC alleges the superior court lacked jurisdiction and violated Plaintiff's due process rights because there was no evidence supporting the judgment. The FAC, however, alleges Plaintiff challenged the jurisdiction of the superior court in a motion to vacate the judgment, which was denied. (FAC at 97-98.)

Plaintiff appealed the state court judgment. In his appeal, Plaintiff argued the Superior Court committed due process violations and lacked subject matter jurisdiction, and argued Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031 was unconstitutional because it is penal in nature. (RJN, Ex. B.) The California Court of Appeals affirmed the Superior Court's judgment, and found Plaintiff's arguments on appeal had "no merit." (Id. Ex. C; see also FAC at p.19 (alleging California Court of Appeal held the superior court judgment against Plaintiff was a "non-punitive"

[5] "Res judicata" refers to claim preclusion. Henrichs v. Valley View Dev., 474 F.3d 609, 615 (9th Cir. 2007) Since the claims asserted by Plaintiff in this action were not asserted in the state court action, res judicata would not apply to bar Plaintiff's claims here.

"equitable remedy").)

Plaintiff filed a petition for review with the California Supreme Court wherein Plaintiff argued the superior court and California Court of Appeals lacked jurisdiction and violated Plaintiff's due process rights, and argued Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 7031 and 7071.17 were unconstitutional and authorize imposition of penalties. (RJN, Ex. D.) The California Supreme Court denied Plaintiff's petition for review. (Id. Ex. E.) On April 23, 2019, Plaintiff filed a petition for writ of certiorari with the United States Supreme Court, which was denied. (Id. Exs. F, G.)

Therefore, the issues raised by Plaintiff in this federal action regarding the Superior Court and California Court of Appeal's lack of jurisdiction and violation of Plaintiff's due process rights, the unconstitutionality of Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 7031 and 7071.17, Plaintiff's contention that disgorgement pursuant to Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 7031 is a penalty/fine rather than an equitable remedy, and the lack of evidence supporting the Superior Court's judgment and California Court of Appeals decision affirming the judgment, were actually litigated by Plaintiff in the state court action and necessarily decided in a final judgment. See DKN Holdings LLC, 61 Cal. 4th at 825; Rodriguez v. City of San Jose, 930 F.3d 1123, 1132 (9th Cir. 2019).

Thus, even if the instant action was not barred pursuant to the Rooker-Feldman doctrine, the Court finds Plaintiff is collaterally estopped from bringing this action. See Reyn's Pasta Bella, LLC v. Visa USA, Inc., 442 F.3d 741, 750 (9th Cir. 2006).

IV. CONCLUSION

Accordingly, the Court GRANTS Defendants' Motion to Dismiss, and dismisses the action with prejudice because Plaintiff is collaterally stopped from bringing this action.[6] The Court also finds this action is barred pursuant to the Rooker-Feldman doctrine.[7]

IT IS SO ORDERED.

DATED: February 6, 2020.

CONSUELO B. MARSHALL
UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE

[6] Because Plaintiff's claims are barred on collateral estoppel grounds, leave to amend would be futile. See Tait v. Asset Acceptance, LLC, 2013 WL 3811767 (C.D. Cal. July 22, 2013).

[7] Defendants also move to dismiss the FAC on the ground Plaintiff fails to join the superior court and California Court of Appeals which are "indispensable parties." Because the Court dismisses this action pursuant to the Rooker-Feldman doctrine, and finds collateral estoppel would bar Plaintiff from bringing this action, it does not reach the issue of whether the superior court and California Court of Appeals are indispensable parties.

Case No.: CV 19-2050-CBM-ADS(x)

ORDER RE: NINTH CIRCUIT'S REFERRAL AND REVOCATION OF PLAINTIFF'S IN FORMA PAUPERIS STATUS [34]

Plaintiff filed the Complaint in this action on October 28, 2019. (Dkt. No. 1.) On October 31, 2019, the Court granted Plaintiff's Request to Proceed in Forma Pauperis. (Dkt. No. 5.) On February 6, 2020, this Court issued an order granting Defendants' Motion to Dismiss, and dismissed the action with prejudice because Plaintiff is collaterally estopped from bringing this action and the action is barred pursuant to the Rooker-Feldman doctrine. (Dkt. No. 31 (the "Order").)

Plaintiff filed a notice of appeal of the Order on February 10, 2020. (Dkt. No. 32.) On February 24, 2020, the Ninth Circuit referred the matter to this Court "for the limited purpose of determining whether in forma pauperis status should continue for this appeal or whether the appeal is frivolous or taken in bad faith."

(Dkt. No. 34.)

The Court finds Plaintiff's in forma pauperis status should not continue for the appeal because Plaintiff's appeal of the Order is frivolous. Therefore, the Court revokes Plaintiff's in forma pauperis status. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(3) ("An appeal may not be taken in forma pauperis if the trial court certifies in writing that it is not taken in good faith."); Hooker v. Am. Airlines, 302 F.3d 1091, 1092 (9th Cir. 2002) (revocation of in forma pauperis status is appropriate where the district court finds the appeal to be frivolous).

The clerk of this Court shall provide notice to the Ninth Circuit and the parties of this Order.

Dear Mr. Bereki:

At its July 2020 meeting, the Commission on Judicial Performance voted to close your complaint dated June 8, 2020.

Your complaint concerns legal rulings made by the judges. This commission is not a court and does not have the authority to reverse judicial decisions. Even if a judge's decision is later determined to be legally incorrect by an appellate court, that by itself is not a violation of the Code of Judicial Ethics and is not misconduct. A judge's legal error might be a basis for investigation by this commission if there is sufficient evidence of bad faith, bias, abuse of authority, disregard for fundamental rights, intentional disregard of the law, or any purpose other than the faithful discharge of judicial duty. The information you have provided is not sufficient to establish any of those factors.

If you wish to provide additional information regarding your complaint, it will be considered. You should provide specific information that fully describes what the judges said or did that you believe was misconduct. You may wish to consult the "Filing a Complaint" and "FAQ's" tabs on the commission's website (http://cjp.ca.gov) for further information about what a complaint should contain.

With respect to the legal proceedings that gave rise to your complaint, you may wish to consult an attorney or legal services provider to see if they can help you. This office cannot provide individuals with legal assistance.

We appreciate your time and effort in bringing this matter to the commission's attention.

Very truly yours,

NARRATIVE

On Wednesday, September 2, 2020, Deputy D. Foster #3340 and I were dispatched to Orange County Sheriff's Department Headquarters, located at 550 N. Flower Street in the City of Santa Ana, reference a report.

Upon arrival, we spoke to Adam Alan Bereki (06/18/1979). Adam told us the following: Adam is a former police officer with the Huntington Beach Police Department and was medically retired about 10 years ago. After retiring, Adam started a construction company, Spartan Associates. Adam obtained a contractor's license under Spartan Associates and not under his own name.

From April 2012 to August 2013, Spartan Associates was contracted by Gary and Karen Humphreys (NFD) to remodel a condominium in Newport Beach. In August of 2013, Gary and Karen terminated Spartan Associates. At that time, Gary and Karen had paid Spartan Associates $848,000.00 and still had a pending balance of $82,000.00 that they refused to pay Spartan Associates. Spartan Associates attempted to negotiate the price owed with Gary and Karen but they rejected all negotiations. In August of 2015, Spartan Associates filed a lawsuit [Case#2015-00805807] against Gary and Karen, for the time and materials owed, which amounted to $82,000.00.

On February 16, 2016, Gary and Karen filed a motion for summary judgement. Gary and Karen initially asserted they entered an agreement with Spartan Associates for construction on their condominium. In early 2017, Gary and Karen filed a 1st amended cross complaint with new info. Gary and Karen amended that they contracted with Adam and not Spartan Associates.

On April 20, 2017, the court found that Adam did not have a contracting license in his name, therefore he violated B&P 7031(b). Judge David R. Chaffee ruled that Adam was to pay Gary and Karen $848,000 in Disgorgement. Adam disagreed with the judgement based on the fact that Adam felt they had contracted with his company. Neither Adam nor Spartan Associates ever had a formal contract with Gary and Karen and all agreed to items were in an email chain which Adam did not provide. Adam provided me a statement with a list of checks written by Gary and Karen for all work completed. In this list there are 7 checks written to Adam and 10 checks written to Spartan Associates.

Due to the $848,000.00 owed by Adam, a lien was placed on 818 Sprint, Costa Mesa, CA. 92626. Adam stated in November 2010, his mother Roseanne Bereki (09/25/1953) took over as legal owner of the residence and Adam's name is on the legal title. Adam also lost his business' contractors license.

On March 18, 2017, Adam filed a Writ of Error with the Orange County Superior Court and challenged the jurisdiction of the court. Shortly after, Adam received an email stating they denied the request to vacate judgement.

On June 6, 2017, Adam again went to the Orange County Superior Court and challenged the jurisdiction of the court. Shortly after the court responded and fined Adam approximately $1,500.00, for abuse of discovery. Adam's motion was again denied.

On January 10, 2018, Adam filed an appeal with the Fourth Appellate District Court of Appeal. On October 31, 2018, Adam received the Appeal Court judgement, stating all arguments had no merit.

On October 28, 2019, Adam filed a complaint with the US Supreme Court. On February 27, 2020, the court denied Adam's case, due to the appeal being frivolous.

Adam believes that B&P 7031(b) is unconstitutional and the $848,000.00 disgorgement was given to him as a fine and a fine can only be levied if he is charged with a crime. Adam cited MW Erectors, Inc. v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Co., Inc., 36 Cal. 4th 412 and Rambeau v. Barker, 2010 Cal. App. Unpub. Lexis S610 to prove that the violation of B&P 7031(b) and subsequent penalties were imposed illegally and unjustly. Adam stated the fine levied under B&P 7031(b) is actually criminal forfeiture. Adam provided a definition of criminal forfeiture under US v. Seifuddin, 820 F.2d 1074, "If the statute under which the forfeiture alleged is penal, it will be treated as criminal forfeiture." Under People V. Cowan, 47 Cal. App. 5th 32, Adam believes his forfeiture was an excessive fine and his ability to pay was not taken into consideration. The courts rejected these claims stating his amount owed is Disgorgement and not a fine.

Adam also believes the amount was excessive because it did not take into consideration the amount of materials and work completed on the construction project. Adam asserted that his company completed $848,000.00 worth of work therefore he should only have to pay back any profit he made on the project. Adam cited, US Supreme Court Case Liu V. SEC, 2020 Lexis 3374. This case states: "the profit-based measure of unjust enrichment reflects a foundational principle: It would be inequitable that a wrongdoer should make a profit out of his own wrong. At the same time courts recognize that the wrongdoer should not profit by his own wrong, they also recognized the countervailing equitable principle that the wrongdoer should not be punished by paying more than a fair compensation to the person wronged."

Adam stated his rights have been violated under Title 18, U.S.C., Section 242 –Deprivation of Rights under the Color of Law. Adam believes he has been given an excessive fine by the courts that is cruel and unusual punishment. Adam believes his 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 14th Amendment Rights have been violated. Adam believes that Judge Chaffee is in violation of CPC 211- Robbery and CPC 484g Theft by False Pretense, by imposing the $848,000.00 fine. At the conclusion of the initial judgment, Adam has subsequently represented himself in every court with self-taught legal knowledge. Adam has met with attorneys regarding his case but does not have the funds necessary to retain them as council. Adam has exhausted all legal avenues in the courts to rectify his perceived constitutional violations.

Adam came to the Sheriff's Department as a last resort in an attempt to prove his Constitutional rights have been violated. As the Sheriff's Department is an agent of the Executive Branch of the State Government, Adam would like to use our agency as Checks and Balances with the Legislative and Judicial Branches of the State Government. Adam stated he would hold the Sheriff's Department responsible if we failed to adequately investigate his claims.

NARRATIVE

Phone Call from Adam Bereki, 09/15/2020:

On Tuesday. 09/15/2020, at approximately 1105 hours, I received a telephone call from a male subject verbally identifying himself as Adam Bereki wanting to check on the status of his report and to provide additional details. I recorded the conversation on my department issued digital audio recorder and later placed a copy of the audio recording onto a compact disc which I booked into Sheriff's Evidence in Santa Ana, Sheriff's Evidence Item# OS20-029161.3. I referred to the digital audio recording when preparing the following summary of my phone conversation with Mr. Bereki:

Bereki was advised I had been assigned this case and wanted to know if I was familiar with it. I summarized for Bereki that he was alleging several of his Constitutional Rights had been violated by a judicial officer and that there were additional criminal allegations against the same Judiciary based on judgements occurring in Civil Court. Bereki emphasised that in addition to the specific judicial officer he feels violated his constitutional rights, the "Whole State" of California's "Judicial Branch" has perpetuated a "Policy" in violation of persons constitutional rights. Bereki further stated that this policy, enacted into law by the California Legislature and "Upheld" by the Judicial Branch is supporting an unconstitutional "Policy" or law and one of the only remedies is for the Executive Branch of the government to perform its "Duty to enforce the law". Bereki has reached out to the following:

- California Commission on Judicial Performance
  - Bereki "Filed a complaint" which was returned to him stating he was "Complaining about legal errors by the judge". Bereki told me that in addition to the legal errors, he was also filing the complaint to address his "Deprivation of Rights".
- Federal Bureau of Investigation
  - Bereki has contacted the FBI three times within the last two to three months; however, the first time he called the "Crime Tip Line" and was told "We don't investigate that" and the second time he was told a "Complaint" was taken but no case number was provided to Bereki and the person taking the "Complaint" did not provide their name to Bereki. Bereki called the FBI again approximately two to three weeks after the second call to inquire about the status of his complaint, obtain the case number, and obtain the Agents name and he said, "They refused to give me all of those". Bereki believes he contacted the FBI office in Orange the second time.
    - Bereki served a Public Records Act Request on the FBI to try to obtain a copy of his phone call and was told they did not have a copy of the call.
- California State Assemblywoman Cottie Petrie-Norris
- California State Senator John Moorlach
- California Attorney General's Office
  - Approximately one week ago, Bereki emailed the California Attorney General's Office Public Information Unit. Bereki'sl requested information about how to file a complaint regarding a deprivation of rights complaint regarding a public official and has not yet received a response.

Bereki also wanted to clarify the following information from the initial report taken by deputies on 09/02/2020:

- Where the Initial Information Report reads, "Adam filed a complaint with the US Supreme Court". Bereki clarified that he went to the Federal District Court for The Central District Court of California to attempt to have the Federal District Court "Vacate" the "Void Judgement" from the California Court.
  - Bereki stated the Federal District Court Judge "Dismissed" his case, advising Bereki that the Federal Court did not have the authority to "Hear and determine the case".

- When Bereki attempted to file an Appeal, the same Federal District Court Judge advised the Federal Appeals Court that Bereki's Appeal was "Of bad faith and frivolous".
  - In Response to this, In March of 2020, Bereki filed a "Statement" regarding why the Appeal should move forward and he has not yet heard a response.

- Bereki also wanted to note that in the Initial Report's closing sentence where it states "...he would hold the Sheriff's Department responsible if we failed to adequately investigate his claims", that in addition to the Sheriff's Department's "Duty to investigate" it is also the Sheriff's Department's duty to "Protect" him and "Intervene" when his "Rights and property are being violated and unlawfully taken".

I advised Bereki that his initial report was being reviewed and I would be working on attempting to identify the appropriate Executive Branch agency to investigate the matter or defer the matter back for further review through the Judicial Branch in the appeal process.

NARRATIVE

On Wednesday, November 25, 2020, at approximately 1240 hours, I received a phone call from Sgt. S. Millhollon that he had inadvertently been forwarded a call reference this case from Bereki. Sgt. Millhollon gave me the number Bereki called him from (949-241-6693) and asked that I call him back.

At approximately 1300 hours, I contacted Bereki and asked him how I could help. He told me he was looking for a status update on his case. I advised him that the case had been reviewed by the California Department of Justice and that both they and the Orange County District Attorney's Office would not prosecute the case, or investigate it any further. I provided him with my full name and pin number and we ended the call.

At approximately 1305 hours, Bereki called my office line back, and asked if the Orange County Sheriff's Department was refusing to protect him from, "Lawless actions by government officials acting without authority." I advised him that our investigation into his allegations had ended. Bereki thanked me for my time and the conversation ended.

Both phone calls were recorded. The recordings were placed onto a compact disc and booked into Sheriff's Evidence under this case number.

Hi Mike,

I called and left a message for you last week to speak about your findings pertaining to the complaint I filed that you closed and have not received a return call. I am interested in knowing the factual findings and legal basis associated with your determination to close my case. These findings don't appear to be documented in your report and reasonably should be given each of the issues I raised.

My phone number is 949 241 6693.

Thank you for your help.

Sincerely,

Adam Bereki

Lt. Knutson,

Pursuant to a recent public records act request on your agency, I received a copy of the information report I filed as well as the supplemental investigation reports by Sgt. Andersen and Inv. Leeb pertaining to my allegations of fraud and deprivation of constitutional rights by judges and other public officials that I recently spoke with you and Commander Hallock about.

After receiving the supplemental reports made by Inv. Leeb, I called and left a message to speak with him on 12/2/20 . He has not returned my call. On 12/14/20, I also sent him an email and have not received a reply.

The essence of Inv. Leeb's findings in his supplemental report dated 11/4/20 states: "given that there is no criminal activity able to be discovered from what has been reported, this case will be closed pending any additional information." The report was approved by whom I suspect is Leeb's supervisor, E.Weidenkeller.

My phone message and email specifically asked Inv. Leeb to share the factual findings and legal basis of his conclusions that "there [was] no criminal activity able to be discovered." This information should very reasonably be part of his investigation report but is nowhere to be found. Inv. Leeb needs to explain exactly how he resolved each issue presented in my complaint. This includes but is not limited to how he determined there was constitutional authority for the judge/State of California to fine me $930,000 without any of the heightened protections of the excessive fine clause and in direct violation of the separation of powers declared in Article V of the California Constitution. A person, whether a civilian or public official who takes property without Constitutionally prescribed due process commits theft and/or fraud and potentially robbery if done under the full force of the State as in this case.

The fact that Inv. Leeb contacted the OCDA and CA DOJ who allegedly were not interested in prosecuting the case does not absolve him or the OCSD of their duty to fully and impartially investigate my valid claims and take remedial action including action to protect my liberty and property from unlawful taking.

If the OCSD or Inv. Leeb do not understand the law surrounding the claims I have made, I remain totally willing and available to help. I provided a significant amount of case law to the reporting officer who told me it would be booked into evidence so ti could be reviewed by the investigator. Despite this, there no indication in Inv. Leeb's reports that he read any of the cases or how he determined them to be incorrect or not relevant in relation to my claims. This is also information that should reasonably be included in his investigation report.

While I cannot be sure, it feels to me like Leeb spoke with County Counsel and perhaps the other aforementioned agencies and concluded, with little to no research of the actual law pertaining to the issues in my complaint, that what the judge/Court did was lawful based on the Opinion of the appellate Court that was also involved and then subsequently closed the case. This is not acceptable. How under any rational basis could a $930,000 fine for a simple licensing law violation could be lawful without any of the Constitutional protections of the excessive fines clause that specifically prohibit this behavior?

In another public records act request to your agency, I received copies of police academy training manuals from POST known as Learning Domains ("LD"). LD2 specifically reviews Constitutionally protected rights and Law Enforcement's duties to enforce the law and protect the public against the arbitrary deprivation thereof by government. I have enclosed it for reference. On page 1-5 it says "To be effective leaders, peace officers must be aware of the constitutional rights of all individuals [...] and the role the criminal justice system has in protecting those rights."

Investigator Leeb has clearly not performed an adequate and full investigation before abritrarily closing my case and told me the OCSD is not going to protect me or my property in this situation. Please inform me if this is in fact the official position of the OCSD or order Inv. Leeb to fully perform his sworn duties.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions.

Sincerely,

Adam Bereki

On 10-28-2021, I was working as a detective sergeant, assigned to the Property Crimes Unit-West of the Newport Beach Police Department. I received a voice message from a subject who identified himself as Adam Bereki. In the message, Bereki stated he was dealing with "some very peculiar circumstances," and that he needed some help with "crimes being perpetrated by judges."

I contacted Bereki, a Costa Mesa resident, by telephone. Over the course of the following four weeks, I had several separate telephone conversations with Bereki, some lasting over an hour in length, where he described his situation. In summary, Bereki had a civil judgment against him in 2017 for $848,000.00 after a court (Orange County Superior Court in Santa Ana) determined he operated as a contractor without a license during a residential remodel project in Newport Beach. In 2018, Bereki appealed the decision to the California Court of Appeals, Fourth Appellate District, Division 3 in Santa Ana. The appellate court affirmed the lower court's decision.

Bereki insisted I investigate this case as a criminal matter, stating as a police officer, I was bound by the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of California to investigate the violation of his constitutional rights; in this case a violation of the 8th Amendment prohibiting excessive fines. Bereki also stated the crimes of fraud, theft, forgery, and robbery were committed by the judges involved in this decision, based on his interpretation of the judicial process and subsequent case law, as well as his belief the involved judges have been misinterpreting the law for years leading up to his case.

On 12-7-2021, I contacted Orange County Deputy District Attorneys Bill Feccia and Clyde Von Der Ahe to discuss this case. Both DAs were in agreement that criminal courts have no jurisdiction to intervene in sustained civil judgments. They also stated that the Constitution protects people against the deprivation of life, liberty, or property in circumstances when they were not afforded the benefit of due process of law. DDA Feccia advised me to recommend Bereki either file a motion for re-hearing of his case through the appellate court, or petition the Supreme Court of the United States to hear his case.

I relayed this information to Bereki, who adamantly disagreed. Bereki asked if he was permitted to contribute a written statement to this case. I told him he was free to do so. Bereki reminded me that he has contacted numerous different law enforcement agencies and spoken to numerous different police officers about this case, all of whom have refused to assist him. Bereki said a potential next step for him would be to sue all the departments and officers who did not investigate this case further, including me and the Newport Beach Police Department.

This case shall be categorized as a Suspicious Circumstance due to the lack of probable cause to indicate a violation of the California Penal Code has occurred. A printout of the decision from Bereki's appellate case was scanned into this file, along with the emails and attachments sent to me by Bereki.

To Whom It May Concern:

I just received the attached letter of license revocation dated 1/14/16.

I have sent multiple letters regarding this matter and seem to receive no response that addresses the situation or fosters resolution.

In short, allegations were made against a license I am the RMO of and an arbitration hearing was conducted. I was NEVER notified as the RMO of these arbitration proceedings and therefore did not attend.

A judgment was made during the arbitration proceedings.

I have NEVER been provided any documentation whatsoever about the claims against this license. What I mean by documentation is any evidence showing the alleged damages and associated costs were actually incurred by the complainant. In fact, the complainant had a year to notify my company of any problems per our contractual agreement and to my best knowledge did not comply.

I have contacted the attorney who is handling the case for the complainant. I have requested they send me documentation of the claim repeatedly however no documentation has been received. I have also negotiated a settlement with the complainant pending their providing of documentation (assuming I was responsible) but have still NOT received any documentation. The CSLB has also not provided any evidence of these claims.

As all of this has been unfolding, the CSLB seems to keep taking actions against my license based upon this arbitration proceeding I was NOT privy to. I was not able to defend myself to something I had no idea was happening. As a result a judgment was filed and my license revoked.

I have telephoned the CSLB numerous times about this matter as well as written several letters to no avail. Can someone please help me? I tried again this morning, to the Sacramento Case Management Division that apparently sent this letter and every mailbox I tried was full. No one answered the phone.

I am truly interested in the integrity of my license and doing the right thing.

If there is some type of rebuttal process I can go through to challenge the arbitration decision please provide that information along with any forms to me.

I think a phone call could resolve things much more expediently. Please feel free to call.

Sincerely,

Adam Bereki

RE: Application Fee # 2014 01 08850

Dear Mr. Bereki:

This responds to your letter dated August 7, 2015, to the Contractors State License Board (CSLB) regarding the status of your license, # 944018.

I hope it will be helpful to provide some background on this matter. CSLB records confirm that you are the qualifier on two licenses, Spartan Associates, license # 927244; and Handyman Connection of San Diego, license # 944018. Handyman Connection is the license that was revoked on April 30, 2015. After a complaint was received against this license on July 25, 2013, the case was sent to mandatory arbitration on September 30, 2014. You are responsible as the qualifier to be aware of and comply with the terms of the arbitration (Business and Professions Code [BPC] section 7068.1). The license of Handyman Connection was revoked on April 30, 2015 per BPC section 7085.6 – failure to comply with an arbitration award.

Regarding the matter at issue, you made application for a license on January 8, 2015, prior to the revocation. You had a case that had been sent to arbitration with an outstanding award during the application process; therefore, your application was returned to provide verification that you had complied with the arbitration award. When you did not provide that verification, your application went void. A letter to that effect was sent to you (copy enclosed) on March 24, 2015.

As is explained in the application documents, the $300 application fee is an earned fee and cannot be refunded because of the expense incurred in handling the application (BPC 7138). For this reason, the following notice is provided at the top of the application form: "The application fee for a single classification ($300) is not refundable once the application has been filed." CSLB staff has initiated a refund of your $180 two-year license fee. I have asked that the processing time be expedited for you. You should receive your refund in a few weeks.

You may reapply on April 30, 2017. However, you will need to show rehabilitation, post a $15,000 disciplinary bond, and resolve any outstanding arbitration award before the license will be issued.

Sincerely,

David Fogt, Chief
Enforcement Division

(a) Unless exempted from this chapter, it is a misdemeanor for a person to engage in the business of, or act in the capacity of, a contractor within this state under either of the following conditions:

(1) The person is not licensed in accordance with this chapter.

(2) The person performs acts covered by this chapter under a license that is under suspension for failure to pay a civil penalty or to comply with an order of correction, pursuant to Section 7090.1, or for failure to resolve all outstanding final liabilities, pursuant to Section 7145.5.

(b) A first conviction for the offense described in this section is punishable by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars ($5,000) or by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding six months, or by both that fine and imprisonment.

(c) If a person has been previously convicted of the offense described in this section, unless the provisions of subdivision (d) are applicable, the court shall impose a fine of 20 percent of the contract price, or 20 percent of the aggregate payments made to, or at the direction of, the unlicensed person, or five thousand dollars ($5,000), whichever is greater, and, unless the sentence prescribed in subdivision (d) is imposed, the person shall be confined in a county jail for not less than 90 days, except in an unusual case where the interests of justice would be served by imposition of a lesser sentence or a fine. If the court imposes only a fine or a jail sentence of less than 90 days for second or subsequent convictions under this section, the court shall state the reasons for its sentencing choice on the record.

(d) A third or subsequent conviction for the offense described in this section is punishable by a fine of not less than five thousand dollars ($5,000) nor more than the greater amount of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or 20 percent of the contract price, or 20 percent of the aggregate payments made to, or at the direction of, the unlicensed person, and by imprisonment in a county jail for not more than one year or less than 90 days. The penalty provided by this subdivision is cumulative to the penalties available under all other laws of this state.

(e) A person who violates this section is subject to the penalties prescribed in subdivision (d) if the person was named on a license that was previously revoked and, either in fact or under law, was held responsible for any act or omission resulting in the revocation.

(f) If the unlicensed person engaging in the business of or acting in the capacity of a contractor has agreed to furnish materials and labor on an hourly basis, "the contract price" for the purposes of this section means the aggregate sum of the cost of materials and labor furnished and the cost of completing the work to be performed.

(g) Notwithstanding any other law, an indictment for any violation of this section by an unlicensed person shall be found, or information or a complaint shall be filed, within four years from the date of the contract proposal, contract, completion, or abandonment of the work, whichever occurs last.

(h) For any conviction under this section, a person who utilized the services of the unlicensed person is a victim of crime and is eligible, pursuant to subdivision (f) of Section 1202.4 of the Penal Code, for restitution for economic losses, regardless of whether he or she had knowledge that the person was unlicensed.

(i) The changes made to this section by the act adding this subdivision are declaratory of existing law.

Cal. Business and Professions Code §7031

(a) Except as provided in subdivision (e), no person engaged in the business or acting in the capacity of a contractor, may bring or maintain any action, or recover in law or equity in any action, in any court of this state for the collection of compensation for the performance of any act or contract where a license is required by this chapter without alleging that they were a duly licensed contractor at all times during the performance of that act or contract regardless of the merits of the cause of action brought by the person, except that this prohibition shall not apply to contractors who are each individually licensed under this chapter but who fail to comply with Section 7029.

(b) Except as provided in subdivision (e), a person who utilizes the services of an unlicensed contractor may bring an action in any court of competent jurisdiction in this state to recover all compensation paid to the unlicensed contractor for performance of any act or contract.

(c) A security interest taken to secure any payment for the performance of any act or contract for which a license is required by this chapter is unenforceable if the person performing the act or contract was not a duly licensed contractor at all times during the performance of the act or contract.

(d) If licensure or proper licensure is controverted, then proof of licensure pursuant to this section shall be made by production of a verified certificate of licensure from the Contractors State License Board which establishes that the individual or entity bringing the action was duly licensed in the proper classification of contractors at all times during the performance of any act or contract covered by the action. Nothing in this subdivision shall require any person or entity controverting licensure or proper licensure to produce a verified certificate. When licensure or proper licensure is controverted, the burden of proof to establish licensure or proper licensure shall be on the licensee.

(e) The judicial doctrine of substantial compliance shall not apply under this section where the person who engaged in the business or acted in the capacity of a contractor has never been a duly licensed contractor in this state. However, notwithstanding subdivision (b) of Section 143, the court may determine that there has been substantial compliance with licensure requirements under this section if it is shown at an evidentiary hearing that the person who engaged in the business or acted in the capacity of a contractor (1) had been duly licensed as a contractor in this state prior to the performance of the act or contract, (2) acted reasonably and in good faith to maintain proper licensure, and (3) acted promptly and in good faith to remedy the failure to comply with the licensure requirements upon learning of the failure.

(f) The exceptions to the prohibition against the application of the judicial doctrine of substantial compliance found in subdivision (e) shall apply to all contracts entered into on or after January 1, 1992, and to all actions or arbitrations arising therefrom, except that the amendments to subdivisions (e) and (f) enacted during the 1994 portion of the 1993–94 Regular Session of the Legislature shall not apply to either of the following:

(1) Any legal action or arbitration commenced prior to January 1, 1995, regardless of the date on which the parties entered into the contract.

(2) Any legal action or arbitration commenced on or after January 1, 1995, if the legal action or arbitration was commenced prior to January 1, 1995, and was subsequently dismissed.

Cal. Business and Professions Code § 7071.17

(a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the board shall require, as a condition precedent to accepting an application for licensure, renewal, reinstatement, or to change officers or other personnel of record, that an applicant, previously found to have failed or refused to pay a contractor, subcontractor, consumer, materials supplier, or employee based on an unsatisfied final judgment, file or have on file with the board a bond sufficient to guarantee payment of an amount equal to the unsatisfied final judgment or judgments. The applicant shall have 90 days from the date of notification by the board to file the bond or the application shall become void and the applicant shall reapply for issuance, reinstatement, or reactivation of a license. The board may not issue, reinstate, or reactivate a license until the bond is filed with the board. The bond required by this section is in addition to the contractor's bond. The bond shall be on file for a minimum of one year, after which the bond may be removed by submitting proof of satisfaction of all debts. The applicant may provide the board with a notarized copy of any accord, reached with any individual holding an unsatisfied final judgment, to satisfy a debt in lieu of filing the bond. The board shall include on the license application for issuance, reinstatement, or reactivation, a statement, to be made under penalty of perjury, as to whether there are any unsatisfied judgments against the applicant on behalf of contractors, subcontractors, consumers, materials suppliers, or the applicant's employees. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, if it is found that the applicant falsified the statement then the license will be retroactively suspended to the date of issuance and the license will stay suspended until the bond, satisfaction of judgment, or notarized copy of any accord applicable under this section is filed.

(b) (1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, all licensees shall notify the registrar in writing of any unsatisfied final judgment imposed on the licensee. If the licensee fails to notify the registrar in writing within 90 days, the license shall be automatically suspended on the date that the registrar is informed, or is made aware of the unsatisfied final judgment.

(2) The suspension shall not be removed until proof of satisfaction of the judgment, or in lieu thereof, a notarized copy of an accord is submitted to the registrar.

(3) If the licensee notifies the registrar in writing within 90 days of the imposition of any unsatisfied final judgment, the licensee shall, as a condition to the continual maintenance of the license, file or have on file with the board a bond sufficient to guarantee payment of an amount equal to all unsatisfied judgments applicable under this section.

(4) The licensee has 90 days from the date of notification by the board to file the bond or at the end of the 90 days the license shall be automatically suspended. In lieu of filing the bond required by this section, the licensee may provide the board with a notarized copy of any accord reached with any individual holding an unsatisfied final judgment.

(c) By operation of law, failure to maintain the bond or failure to abide by the accord shall result in the automatic suspension of any license to which this section applies.

(d) A license that is suspended for failure to comply with the provisions of this section can only be reinstated when proof of satisfaction of all debts is made, or when a notarized copy of an accord has been filed as set forth under this section.

(e) This section applies only with respect to an unsatisfied final judgment that is substantially related to the construction activities of a licensee licensed under this chapter, or to the qualifications, functions, or duties of the license.

(f) Except as otherwise provided, this section does not apply to an applicant or licensee when the financial obligation covered by this section has been discharged in a bankruptcy proceeding.

(g) Except as otherwise provided, the bond shall remain in full force in the amount posted until the entire debt is satisfied. If, at the time of renewal, the licensee submits proof of partial satisfaction of the financial obligations covered by this section, the board may authorize the bond to be reduced to the amount of the unsatisfied portion of the outstanding judgment. When the licensee submits proof of satisfaction of all debts, the bond requirement may be removed.

(h) The board shall take the actions required by this section upon notification by any party having knowledge of the outstanding judgment upon a showing of proof of the judgment.

(i) For the purposes of this section, the term "judgment" also includes any final arbitration award where the time to file a petition for a trial de novo or a petition to vacate or correct the arbitration award has expired, and no petition is pending.

(j) (1) If a judgment is entered against a licensee or any personnel of record of a licensee, then a qualifying person or personnel of record of the licensee at the time of the activities on which the judgment is based shall be automatically prohibited from serving as a qualifying individual or other personnel of record on any license until the judgment is satisfied.

(2) The prohibition described in paragraph (1) shall cause the license of any other existing renewable licensed entity with any of the same personnel of record as the judgment debtor licensee or with any of the same judgment debtor personnel to be suspended until the license of the judgment debtor is reinstated, the judgment is satisfied, or until those same personnel of record disassociate themselves from the renewable licensed entity.

(k) For purposes of this section, lawful money or cashier's check deposited pursuant to paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of Section 995.710 of the Code of Civil Procedure, may be submitted in lieu of the bond.

(l) Notwithstanding subdivision (f), the failure of a licensee to notify the registrar of an unsatisfied final judgment in accordance with this section is cause for disciplinary action.

Cal. Business and Professions Code §7085

(a) After investigating any verified complaint alleging a violation of Section 7107, 7109, 7110, 7113, 7119, or 7120, and any complaint arising from a contract involving works of improvement and finding a possible violation, the registrar may, with the concurrence of both the licensee and the complainant, refer the alleged violation, and any dispute between the licensee and the complainant arising thereunder, to arbitration pursuant to this article, provided the registrar finds that:

(1) There is evidence that the complainant has suffered or is likely to suffer material damages as a result of a violation of Section 7107, 7109, 7110, 7113, 7119, or 7120, and any complaint arising from a contract involving works of improvement.

(2) There are reasonable grounds for the registrar to believe that the public interest would be better served by arbitration than by disciplinary action.

(3) The licensee does not have a history of repeated or similar violations.

(4) The licensee was in good standing at the time of the alleged violation.

(5) The licensee does not have any outstanding disciplinary actions filed against him or her.

(6) The parties have not previously agreed to private arbitration of the dispute pursuant to contract or otherwise.

(7) The parties have been advised of the provisions of Section 2855 of the Civil Code.

For the purposes of paragraph (1), "material damages" means damages greater than the amount of the bond required under subdivision (a) of Section 7071.6, but less than fifty thousand dollars ($50,000).

(b) In all cases in which a possible violation of the sections set forth in paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) exists and the contract price, or the demand for damages is equal to or less than the amount of the bond required under Section 7071.6, but, regardless of the contract price, the complaint shall be referred to arbitration, utilizing the criteria set forth in paragraphs (2) to (6), inclusive, of subdivision (a).

Cal. Business and Professions Code §7085.6

(a) (1) The failure of a licensee to comply with an arbitration award rendered under this article shall result in the automatic suspension of a license by operation of law.

(2) The registrar shall notify the licensee by certified mail of the failure to comply with the arbitrator's award, and that the license shall be automatically suspended 30 calendar days from the date of that notice.

(3) The licensee may appeal the suspension for noncompliance within 15 calendar days after service of the notice by written notice to the registrar.

(4) Reinstatement may be made at any time following the suspension by complying with the arbitrator's award and the final order of the registrar. If no reinstatement of the license is made within 90 days of the date of the automatic suspension, the license and any other contractor's license issued to the licensee shall be automatically revoked by operation of law for a period to be determined by the registrar pursuant to Section 7102.

(5) The registrar may delay, for good cause, the revocation of a contractor's license for failure to comply with the arbitration award. The delay in the revocation of the license shall not exceed one year. When seeking a delay of the revocation of his or her license, a licensee shall apply to the registrar in writing prior to the date of the revocation of the licensee's license by operation of law and state the reasons that establish good cause for the delay. The registrar's power to grant a delay of the revocation shall expire upon the effective date of the revocation of the licensee's license by operation of law.

(b) The licensee shall be automatically prohibited from serving as an officer, director, associate, partner, manager, or qualifying individual of another licensee, for the period determined by the registrar and the employment, election, or association of that person by another licensee shall constitute grounds for disciplinary action. A qualifier disassociated pursuant to this section shall be replaced within 90 days from the date of disassociation. Upon failure to replace the qualifier within 90 days of the disassociation, the license of the other licensee shall be automatically suspended or the qualifier's classification removed at the end of the 90 days.

QUESTIONS PRESENTED

It is the duty of all Americans to question the authority of officials of the government they "ordained and established for themselves and their posterity" who purport to exercise authority to take their life, liberty, or property. Conversely, it is the duty of these officials to answer by stating the authority upon which they act. If they cannot affirmatively provide an authority, or, if they refuse to answer, their acts are without authority and void.

With regard to the following questions, this Court should keep firmly in mind that "[t]he judiciary cannot, as the legislature may, avoid a measure because it approaches the confines of the constitution. [It cannot] cannot pass it by because it is doubtful. With whatever doubts, with whatever difficulties, a case may be attended, [this Court] must decide it, if it be brought before [you]. [You] have no more right to decline the exercise of jurisdiction which is given, than to usurp that which is not given. The one or the other would be treason to the constitution. Questions may occur which [you] would gladly avoid; but [you] cannot avoid them. All [you] can do is, to exercise [y]our best judgment, and conscientiously to perform [y]our duty."[1]

This Court should also note that in the event the Justices intend to use the so-called "Ashwander Doctrine"[2] to "dispose" of this case by only addressing the issue(s) they abritrarily feel like rather than all of the issues presented, that Petitioner challenges the Court's subject matter jurisdiction on the grounds that it lacks the authority to Legislate "doctrines" such as the "Ashwander Doctrine" to deliberately avoid performing its Constitutionally mandated duties.

1. What are the mandatory non-discretionary duties required of each public official included as a Party as they pertain to the power(s) conferred on their office by the Constitutions of California and the United States regarding every issue involved in this case.

2. What mandatory non-discretionary duties were violated by each public official included as a Party as they pertain to the power(s) conferred on their office by the Constitutions of California and the United States regarding every issue involved in this case.

3. Cal. Business and Professions Code §7031(b) requires that an unlicensed contractor "return all compensation paid" to a consumer without equitable offsets for the value of work performed without any evidence of profit.
    a. Is the "remedy" under §7031(b) a penal forfeiture (fine) or equitable disgorgement? If neither, what is the "remedy"?
    b. Is a violation of §7031(b) a "crime" or "public offense" as defined by Cal. Penal Code §15?
        i. Do the words "crime" and "public offense" as used in Penal Code §15 mean the same thing? If not, what is the difference?
    c. Is the violation of §7031(b) considered criminal or quasi-criminal?
    d. What is the difference between a criminal and quasi-criminal crime or public offense?
        i. State all provisions of the California and U.S. Constitutions that authorize quasi-criminal actions.
        ii. State all protections that apply to quasi-criminal actions under the California and US Constitutions.
    e. If a violation of §7031(b) is a crime or public offense, by what authority(ies) can the "Legislature" of California transfer the Executive power (exclusively vested in the Governor) to private parties to commence criminal and/or quasi-criminal prosecutions?
        i. In Petitioner's case, should the People of California have been the Plaintiff?
            1. If yes, what effect does the fact that the People of California were not the Plaintiff have on the personal jurisdiction over Petitioner and the subject matter jurisdiction of the case for the Superior Court to render judgment and the Fourth District Court of Appeal to affirm that judgment?
        ii. What is the standard for burden of proof in a §7031 action?
            1. What is the standard for burden of proof in a quasi-criminal action?
    f. Did Petitioner have a right to a trial by jury and to all of the heightened protections of criminal proceedings, including the assistance of counsel? If not, why not?
        i. By what authority(ies) did the trial Court Judge, David Chaffee, deny Petitioner each of these protections?
    g. By what authority(ies) did the Superior Court of California have subject matter jurisdiction to conduct a criminal prosecution commenced by private parties?

4. The Supreme Court of California has repeatedly held that the purpose of the "licensing laws" (Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §§7000 et seq.) are to "protect the public from incompetence and dishonesty in those who provide building and construction services"[3]:

a. Does this declared purpose create an irrebuttable presumption whereby unless one obtains a license they are presumed "incompetent and dishonest" in the performance of the skills of a contractor as defined in §7026?
    i. Is whether or not one is competent and honest an issue of fact to be determined by a jury or Judge at trial?
    ii. By what authority(ies) did the Cal. "Legislature" determine that Petitioner was incompetent and dishonest?
        1. Was Petitioner entitled to a judicial determination and trial by jury on both of these issues?
        2. What is the standard for burden of proof on these issues?
    iii. No known evidence was presented at "trial" pertaining to Petitioner's level of competence and integrity in construction, or on the project in question. By what authority(ies) did Chaffee make these determinations and/or rely upon those of the "Legislature"?
        1. What effect did this determination made without evidence have on the validity and finality of the "Judgment"?
    iv. See general contractor license #927244. How could Chaffee presume Petitioner to be incompetent and/or dishonest at "trial" when the Licensing Board had previously determined that he was competent and issued a general contractor license listing him as a licensee and qualifying individual?
    v. Does the Legislative presumption of incompetence and dishonesty only extend to construction related activities as defined by §7026?
        1. What effect does the presumption of incompetence and dishonesty have on election day?

5. According to the "Judgment" Appendix [B] pp.07-08 and California Civil Jury Instruction §4561, the hiring of an unlicensed contractor results in "damages".
    a. What is the definition of "damages" as used in the "Judgment" and §4561?
    b. Are these "damages" an irrebuttable presumption?
    c. Are these "damages" purely hypothetical?
        i. What competent authenticated evidence was relied upon at "trial" to establish a finding of "damages" in the amount of $848,000 against Petitioner?
            1. What effect does the fact that there was no competent authenticated evidence presented at "trial" on whether or not Petitioner caused actual (not hypothetical or fictitious) damages have on the validity and finality of the "Judgment"?

2. What effect does the fact that there was no competent authenticated evidence presented at "trial" on whether or not Petitioner caused actual (not hypothetical or fictitious) damages have on the Humphreys standing to receive an award of "damages" and on the subject matter jurisdiction of Court to make such an award?
3. In what subject matter jurisdictions (and by what authority(ies)) arising under the California and U.S. Constitutions can Petitioner be subjected to a claim for hypothetical and/or fictitious damages?

d. Is whether or not "damages" occurred an issue of fact to be determined by a jury or Judge at trial?
   i. By what authority(ies) can "damages" be summarily determined by the "Legislature" or a "Judge" without any competent evidence?
   ii. How could Petitioner make any meaningful and substantive defense against a claim involving hypothetical and/or fictitious injury(ies) that (1) don't' exist in reality; (2) upon which no evidence was presented at "trial"; and, (3) are based upon an irrebuttable presumption?
   iii. Who specifically is/are the accuser(s) making the claim of "damages" against Petitioner?
      1. How could Petitioner meaningfully and substantively confront this(ese) accuser(s) when their identity was unknown/ not disclosed?
         a. What effect did the fact that Petitioner was not able to confront his accuser(s) have on the validity and finality of the "Judgment"?
         b. What effect did the fact that Petitioner was not able to confront his accuser(s) have on the Humphreys standing to receive an award in their favor and on the subject matter jurisdiction of the Court to make such an award?

6. Keeping in mind: (1) that only the subject matter jurisdictions of Law and Equity arise under the Constitution for the United States[4]: (2) that offsets and other equitable remedies were denied/not allowed at "trial" or on "appeal"; (3) that the injury/damages Petitioner purportedly caused were purely fictitious and/or hypothetical and akin to liquidated "damages"; (4) that Petitioner was denied all of the heightened protections of criminal proceedings, including trial by jury; (5) that Admiralty jurisdiction, the law of the sea (liquid), does not recognize equitable offset[5] or trials by jury; (6) that each of the transactions for the project occurred by commercial negotiable instruments circulating in Interstate Commerce, a jurisdiction "closely connected" with Admiralty[6]:

[4] Unless otherwise noted, all references to the "United States" are to the United States of America.

a. What subject matter jurisdiction did the "trial" proceed and was the "Judgement" issued?
b. What was the venue of the "trial"?
c. In what jurisdiction(s) and venue(s) do contracts made and/or performed under the "licensing laws" operate?

7. Prior to the purported enactment of the "licensing laws", the People of California's inalienable right to their time and labor in performing carpentry and construction work was recognized. See Article I, §1 of the Cal. Constitutions of 1849 and 1879. However, according to the Attorney General of California in Opinion 47-174, §7028/§7031, "a license to conduct any of the regulated activities [in California] is a mere statutory privilege [not an inalienable right] – a creature of statute – [and] is at all times subject to legislative control, including destruction or termination by the legislative process":
    a. Define "inalienable".
    b. What is the definition of an "inalienable right" as used in the Declaration of Independence and Article I, §1 of the Cal. Constitutions of 1849 and 1879?
        i. What is the nature and extent of each of the inalienable rights secured by these organic documents?
        ii. What inalienable rights are recognized in Interstate Commerce?
        iii. What inalienable rights are recognized under the "14th Amendment"?
        iv. What inalienable rights are recognized in "citizens of the United States" as declared by the "14th Amendment"?
    c. By what authority(ies) can the Cal. "Legislature" convert the private inalienable rights to contract[7] and to property (in the form of one's time and labor, Cal. Const. Article I, §1) into a revocable privilege/public right?

d. Exhaustively define the difference between public and private rights under the Laws of California and the United States.
    i. Are private rights subject to the political process/ political majorities? If yes, by what authority(ies) and to what extent?

e. By what authorities can this conversion/taking of private rights occur without notice and a judicial hearing? See for e.g. Article I, §10 forbidding the taking of rights, liberty and property without judicial process and Section 14 of Article II of the Northwest Ordinance of 1787 as reenacted by the First Congress guaranteeing "judicial proceedings according to the course of the common law" even to inhabitants of territories.
    i. See Cal. Civil Code §3521 "[h]e who takes the benefit must bear the burden" and Exhibit [J]– Invisible Contracts by George Mercier:
        1. Is an Application for Original Contractor License an application for benefits as the term "benefit" is used in §3521?
        2. Does an Application for Original Contractor License constitute a contract?
        3. Is there a waiver of any rights, privileges, or immunities as secured by the Constitutions of California and the United States implicit in an Application for Original Contractor License?
            a. If yes, which specific rights are waived and how does this waiver occur knowingly, voluntarily, and intelligently?
        4. Provide the authenticated evidence that Petitioner made a knowing, voluntary, and intelligent waiver of the rights in

f. See for e.g. Bass v. United States, 784 Fed. 2d. 1282, 1284 (1986). Is whether or not one is a "person" and therefore subject to the Business and Professions Code (or any statutory enactment) an element of claim and/or offense?
    i. No known evidence was presented at "trial" that Petitioner was a "person" subject to the "licensing laws". Was this a violation of due process? A bill of pains and penalties?
            a. Define Bill of Attainder and Pains and Penalties.
                i. What is the definition of a "judicial act"?
        2. What effect does the lack of evidence on this issue have on the validity and finality of the "Judgment"?
        3. What effect does the lack of evidence on this issue have on the Humphreys standing to receive a judgment in their favor and the subject matter jurisdiction of the Court to award such relief?

ii. Noting that "Person", as used in §7025, defines who the "licensing laws" apply to also includes corporations and other fictitious entities:
    1. How could Petitioner have the same status and standing (in other words rights, privileges and immunities) as a corporation or other fiction of law?

iii. Even though there was no known evidence presented at "trial" as to whether Petitioner was a "person" to whom the "licensing laws" applied, on appeal, the "Justices" determined that Petitioner was such a person (as an "individual") and therefore, that the "licensing laws" applied to him:
    1. Define "individual".
    2. What status and standing (rights, privileges, and immunities) does an "individual" have under the Constitution and Laws of California and the United States?
        a. Is an individual a State Citizen? A "citizen of the United States"? "United States citizen?"
    3. Did the determination that Petitioner was an "individual" by the "Justices" violate due process in that he was not afforded: the right to confront his accuser(s), to a trial by jury on this issue, and to oppose this claim with evidence of his own?
        a. What effect does the fact that the "Justices" summarily determined Petitioner was an "individual" have on the subject matter jurisdiction of the Court of Appeal to render judgment on this issue?
    4. What evidence did the "Justices" rely upon to make the determination that Petitioner was an "individual"?
        a. Present the authenticated evidence relied upon to the record of this case.
    5. It has become apparent throughout Petitioner's investigation that in many statutory enactments, words that have a clearly understood meaning in common usage are given an opposite or other meaning. For example, the word "person", which most ordinary People consider to only mean a biological, sentient being, is used to also mean a corporation or other fiction of law, the complete opposite of biological, sentient being. The word "individual" is also often used in the same way. In Petitioner's experience, a principle reason for this behavior is to intentionally deceive and/or create confusion so that someone either takes (or doesn't take) certain action based upon their reliance of the deception. For example, someone may believe that they have to obtain a professional license because they are a "person" when a license is actually only required for a corporation. Another example might be for a State Citizen to believe they are required to pay Federal income taxes when said taxes may only apply to residents of the District of Columbia.

a. Is it a violation of due process to redefine words in statutory and other enactments to have an opposite meaning than in common usage?

8. Is performance of work by an unlicensed contractor an element of the offense under §7031(b)?
    a. No known evidence was presented that Petitioner performed any specific work on the project.
        i. What effect does this have on the validity and finality of the "Judgement"?
        ii. What effect does this have on the Humphreys standing to receive judgement in their favor and the subject matter jurisdiction of the Court to award such relief?

9. Are all of the elements of a claim, whether in a civil or criminal case (including quasi-criminal cases), required to be proved by competent authenticated evidence?
    a. What effect does the lack of competent authenticated evidence of any element of a claim or offense have on the validity and finality of a judgment?
    b. What effect does the lack of competent authenticated evidence of any element of a claim or offense have on the subject matter jurisdiction of a Judge to deprive a litigant of life, liberty, and/or property?
    c. By what authority(ies) is a Judge empowered to legislate new claims or offenses into existence by only requiring that certain elements of an existing offense or claim are met? In other words, if a claim or offense has five elements and only three are proved, by what authority(ies) can a Judge deprive a litigant of their life, liberty, and/or property?
    d. In the example in c where only three out of the five elements were met, would this result in the create of a new law, an ex post facto law?
    e. Specifically, what are the elements of the offense of §7031 and which of these elements were met at "trial"?
        i. Was Petitioner subject to an ex post facto law?

1. If Petitioner was subject to an ex post facto law, what effect did this have on the subject matter jurisdiction of the Court to deprive Petitioner of his rights, liberty, and/ property?

ii. Does the prohibition against ex post facto laws also apply in civil and quasi-criminal cases?

10. As part of fundamental due process (and a judicial determination of rights as secured by Article I, §9 and §10), are findings of facts and conclusions of law for each element of a claim or offense and every issue in a case requisite to a valid final judgment?
    a. If not, how can Petitioner/the People be required to guess these determinations in order to present a meaningful and substantive Motion for New Trial, appeal, or other challenge to jurisdiction?
    b. Without this knowledge, how is it possible to exercise the right to instruct our "representatives" and/or be able to nominate and elect those who will adhere to their Oath of Office?
    c. Was it a violation of due process for Chaffee to refuse to render a findings of facts and conclusions of law addressing his specific findings and conclusions for each element of the offense and every issue in the case against Petitioner?
    d. Does Cal. Code of Civil Procedure §632 violate due process and/or (Article I, §10) by not requiring a Superior Court Judge to render a finding of facts and conclusion of law upon questions of fact?
    e. What effect did the fact that Chaffee refused to create and file a findings of facts and conclusion of law have on the validity and finality of the "Judgment"?
        i. Does the refusal of a Judge to issue a findings of facts and conclusions of law result in a bill of attainder or pains and penalties?
    f. What effect did the fact that Chaffee refused to create and file a findings of facts and conclusion of law have on Petitioner's ability to make a meaningful and substantive appeal?

11. Under Cal. Business and Professions Code §7071.17, if a contractor is unable, or refuses to comply with an unlawful "Judgment" pursuant to §7031(b), their license (and or ability to obtain one) is summarily suspended by operation of statute and without any known right to appeal.
    a. As held by this Court, "[e]xclusions from any of the professions or any of the ordinary avocations of life […] can be regarded in no other light than as punishment for such conduct."[8] Was the suspension/ revocation of Supreme Ct. 1922) holding that "[t]he portion of the act which authorizes the [Registrar of Contractors] to forfeit the license of a [contractor] and take it away from him is highly penal in its nature."

Petitioner's status as the qualifying individual of a general contractor license penal/punitive?

i. Did Petitioner have the right to a judicial determination of rights on this issue? A right to trial by jury? To the heightened protections of criminal proceedings, including the assistance of counsel? By what authority(ies) were these protections denied? What is the standard for burden of proof on this issue?

ii. Did the "Legislature" of California unlawfully exercise the Judicial power of California to summarily suspend and/or revoke Petitioner's license status and punish him?

1. Did this act of the "Legislature" constitute a bill of pains and penalties?

b. Did the suspension/ revocation of Petitioner's status as a qualifying individual result in false imprisonment?

c. Is Petitioner entitled to just compensation for the entire period of deprivation of this right?

i. If yes, what does "just compensation" mean/ how is it determined in this instance?

ii. Does "just compensation" include interest?

12. Given that Contractors State Licensing Board had determined Petitioner was qualified to act as a general contractor and had issued a general construction license naming him as a licensee (license #92744), did Petitioner have a vested right to a license?

a. Was the suspension and/or revocation of Petitioner's status as a qualifying individual for a general contractor license (Appendix [O] pp.75-77, Exhibit [F]) punitive?

b. Did Petitioner have a right to a judicial determination of his rights on this issue? To the heightened protections of criminal proceedings, including the assistance of counsel? A trial by jury? By what authority(ies) were these protections denied?

c. Was the suspension/ revocation of Petitioner's status as a qualifying individual a bill of pains and penalties? An unlawful taking and/or seizure?

d. Did the suspension/ revocation of Petitioner's status as a qualifying individual result in false imprisonment?

e. Is Petitioner entitled to just compensation for the entire period of deprivation of this right?

i. If yes, what does "just compensation" mean/ how is it determined in this instance?

ii. Does "just compensation" include interest?

13. See Appendix [O] pp.73-79 and Exhibit [F]. Under Cal. Business and Professions Code §7085, the Contractors State License Board has created and enforced a "mandatory arbitration program":
    a. Does §7085 authorize mandatory arbitration?
    b. By what authority(ies) did officials and employees of the State of California and the Contractors State License Board create and/or enforce the mandatory arbitration program?
    c. Keeping in mind that only the subject matter jurisdictions of Law and Equity arise under the Constitution for the United States, in what subject matter jurisdiction do proceedings under the "mandatory arbitration program" occur?
    d. Did Petitioner make a knowing, voluntary, and intelligent waiver of rights to be subjected to "mandatory arbitration"? If yes, provide the authenticated evidence of this waiver of rights.
    e. Did Petitioner have a right to a judicial determination of his rights and a trial by jury upon the issues in the complaint?
    f. Petitioner as Spartan's Responsible Managing Officer and the Qualifying Individual of Blackrock and Spartan's licenses was not given notice of the mandatory arbitration proceeding. Did this failure to notify him of the proceedings constitute a violation of due process?
    g. Petitioner was not provided with any evidence of the claim to prepare for a meaningful and substantive defense at the mandatory arbitration hearing. Did this failure to provide him evidence of the claim constitute a violation of due process?
    h. Was the mandatory arbitration award a bill of pains and penalties?
    i. By what authority(ies) can the Executive and Judicial powers of California be transferred to and/or exercised by a private arbitration company known as the Arbitration Mediation Conciliation Center, Inc. ("AMCC")?
        i. By what authority(ies) can employees of the AMCC exercise the Executive and/or Judicial power(s) of California?

14. See complaints to public officials made by Petitioner in Exhibits [C-F] and "Parties". Do officials of the Executive and Legislative branches of California and the United States have a mandatory, non-discretionary ministerial duty to investigate and/or intervene when they receive a complaint that an official of the Judicial and/or Legislative branch(es) has acted without authority to deprive one of the People of their rights, liberty, and/or property secured by the California and/or United States Constitution(s)?

States refuse to enforce the provisions of the Constitutions of California and/or the United States within the capacity of their office?

b. See Exhibits [E31] and [D] pp.5166-5178 whereby Sean Paul Crawford refused to investigate and intervene in Petitioner's complaints on the grounds that he lacked jurisdiction because the incidents did not occur within the City of Irvine. By what authority(ies) does municipal law overrule and/or supersede the Constitutions of California and the United States? Do the Constitutions of California and the United States not apply within certain Cities and/or Counties in California? If yes, which, and by what authority(ies)?
c. See e.g. Exhibit [D] pp.4805-4809 whereby the City Attorney of Newport Beach, Aaron Harp, refused to provide Petitioner with a findings of fact(s) and conclusions of law pertaining to his complaints against Newport Beach Police officials for dereliction of duty(ies). When Petitioner specifically asked for these findings and conclusions, Harp refused to provide them and told Petitioner they constituted "legal advice":
    i. When a Citizen makes a complaint for deprivation of Constitutionally protected rights, is the government agency required to produce a findings of fact(s) and conclusion(s) of law pertaining to every issue presented by the complaint?
    ii. Did Harp's refusal to provide a findings of facts and conclusions of law constitute a violation of due process?
d. Explain the precise contours of all facets of the duties for officials of each branch of State and Federal government upon receipt of a complaint for deprivation of Constitutionally protected rights/ petition for redress of grievance.

15. Keeping in mind that only "Cases in Law and Equity" arise under the Constitution, Laws of the United States and Treaties made under their authority, that the Constitution is the "supreme Law of the Land" and that "the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding":
    a. By what authority(ies) did Chaffee and the Fourth District appellate "Justices" exercise a subject matter jurisdiction called "all other causes" (Art. VI, §10, Cal. Const. 1879)?

[9] Parsons v. Tuolumne Co. Water Co., 5 Cal. 43 (Cal. Supreme Ct. 1855). (Citations omitted).

1. Did the Humphreys sustain their burden of proof on these issues? If yes, how did they sustain this burden and by what authority(ies)?
2. Did the Humphreys failure to sustain their burden of proof on these issues result in a violation of due process?
    a. If yes, what effect did this have on the validity and finality of Marshall's judgment?

d. Given that Petitioner was "prosecuted" for the commission of a public offense and never informed of nor afforded the right to assistant counsel at "trial", did he have a right to the assistance of counsel in the proceedings in the District Court?
    i. If yes, by what authority(ies)?
    ii. If not, by what authority(ies) was he not entitled this assistance?
    iii. What effect did Marshall's denial of assistant counsel have on the validity and finality of her "Judgment"?
    iv. What effect did Marshall's denial of assistant counsel have on the personal and subject matter jurisdiction of the Court?

    iv. What effect did the Ninth Circuit "Judges" denial of assistant counsel have on the personal and subject matter jurisdiction of the Court?
g. Did the "Judges" of the Ninth Circuit violate Petitioner's right to appeal?

    ii. What effect did this have on the personal and subject matter jurisdiction of the Court?
h. State each issue Petitioner raised on appeal and by what authority(ies) each issue was "frivolous".
i. 20. Define "assistance of counsel" as used in the Sixth Amendment and the Cal. Constitution. More specifically, define "assistance" and "counsel".

a. In what specific cases and actions is the "assistance of counsel" limited only to attorney's licensed by a Bar Association?
    i. Does this limitation reflect a presumption that Petitioner (and the American People) is/are incompetent in the practice of law and/or the assistance in the practice of law of cases concerning other People?
        1. If yes, on what authenticated evidence and by what authority(ies) is this presumption based?
        2. By what authority(ies) is Petitioner not competent to determine who can provide meaningful and effective assistance in any lawful action?
b. Given that the State Bar of California (founded in 1927) did not exist at the time of the enactment of the Cal. Constitutions of 1849 and 1879, and the American Bar Association (founded in 1878) did not exist at the time of the enactment of the U.S. Constitution, by what authority(ies) and authenticated historical facts can the term "assistance of counsel" mean only a Bar licensed attorneys?
c. By what authority(ies) can the Sixth Amendment be amended such that "assistance of counsel" means only a Bar licensed attorney?
d. Petitioner has contacted an estimated fifteen lawyers/ law firms and all have refused to "represent" or "assist" him in this matter. Does the fact that he has not been able to find meaningful and substantive assistance from a Bar licensed attorney result in the effective denial of assistance of counsel?
e. Given that Petitioner cannot afford an attorney based on the restraints of his liberty, does this result in the effective denial of assistant counsel?
f. Does Petitioner have a right to the assistance of counsel in this matter before the Court?
g. h. Given the appearance of gross incompetence and severe psychological issues of all of the active and inactive members of the State Bar of California involved in this case, would it not be an effective denial of assistant counsel to require Petitioner to be assisted and/or represented by a member of the Bar?
i. Does the State Bar of California constitute a monopoly under the Sherman Antitrust Act (26 Stat. 209 Ch. 647)?
    i. If so, how can Petitioner be compelled to only receive assistance from an organization in violation of Federal Statutes?

21. Petitioner submitted a meaningful and substantive complaint for deprivation of rights arising under the U.S. Constitution to this Court on or about September 16, 2021. Exhibit [A43]. By purportd authority vested in the Clerk of Court under the Rules of the U.S. Supreme Court, Petitioner's complaint was never given to the Justices and was returned unfiled. Exhibit [A44], Appendix [N] p.72.

    Keeping in mind that Article III of the Constitution declares that "[t]he judicial Power shall extend to all Cases, in Law and Equity, arising under this Constitution […]." (Emphasis added); Rule 5 of the FRCP declares that "[t]he clerk must not refuse to file a paper solely because it is not in the form prescribed by these rules or by a local rule or practice"; and that this Court has held: (1) "the Constitution does not require that the case or controversy should be presented by traditional forms of procedure";[10] (2) that "[w]here rights secured by the Constitution are involved, there can be no rulemaking or legislation that would abrogate them";[11] (3) that "[t]he exaltation of form over substance is to be avoided";[12] and, (4) that "[t]he very essence of civil liberty certainly consists in the right of every individual to claim the protection of the laws, whenever he receives an injury":

    a. Did the Clerk's refusal to file Petitioner's complaint constitute:
        i. A denial of the right to a judicial determination of his rights and all of the rights prayed for in his complaint?
        ii. A violation of due process?
        iii. A denial of the right to Petition a Federal Court for Redress of Grievance pursuant to Article III, §2 and/or the First Amendment?
        iv. A bill of pains and penalties?
    b. By what authority(ies) can the Clerk be vested with and/or exercise the judicial power of the United States under Rule 1 of the Rules of the U.S. Supreme Court to refuse to file and thereby adjudicate Petitioner's complaint by summary denial of all of the issues he presented?
    c. By what authority(ies) did the Justices of this Court create, enact, and or/enforce the Rules of U.S. Supreme Court, such as Rule 1, that have the force and effect of law, without the approval of Congress or the President?
    d. By what authority(ies) did the Justices of this Court create, enact, and or/enforce the Rules of U.S. Supreme Court, such as Rule 1, that result in a summary denial of rights secured by the Constitution?

    a. See for e.g. Senate Report 93-549, Essays on Emergency Powers. Has the Writ of Habeas Corpus (Art. I, §9, Cl.2) been suspended in whole or in part as a result of any of these States of Emergency? If so, which parts and by what authority(ies)?
    b. By what authority(ies) do the Courts of California not have concurrent jurisdiction of a Federal Court?

23. Keeping in mind that only "Cases in Law and Equity" arise under the Constitution, Laws of the United States and Treaties made under their authority, and that the Constitution makes these jurisdictions of Law and Equity separate:
    a. By what authority(ies) can these jurisdictions be combined along with admiralty (a jurisdiction that does not arise under the Constitution, Laws of the United and Treaties made under their authority) to create "one form of action" as declared in Rule 2 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure?
    b. By what authority(ies) can these changes be made without the approval of Congress and the President?

24. See Exhibit [K] p.98. According to the California Secretary of State, the California Constitution of 1849 has never been repealed.
    a. Is the Cal. Constitution of 1849 still in full force and effect? (i) If yes or no, by what authority(ies)?
    b. The Cal. "Constitution of 1879" does not define who the People and Citizens of California are. Who are the People and/or Citizens of California? Is there a difference between a People and a Citizen?
    c. Provide a complete list (and therefore full disclosure) of all amendments to the Cal. "Constitution of 1879".
        i. Which of these Amendments have been required to be approved by Congress?
        ii. Which of these amendments have been approved by Congress?

25. Keeping in mind the facts presented by Lysander Spooner in No Treason, No VI, The Constitution of No Authority (1870) (Exhibit [I]), what specifically constitutes "consent of the governed" to be subject to the Cal. Constitutions of 1849 and 1879, Chapter 9. Contractors of the Cal. Business and Professions Code, the law merchant/Cal. Commercial Code, Interstate Commerce as defined by Article I, §8, Cl.3, and the Constitution for the United States of America?

26. Do the Constitutions of California and the United States of America each establish a trust?
    a. Are the public officials of California and the United States of America trustees of either or both of these trusts?
    b. Provide a comprehensive list of which provisions of the Constitutions of California and the United States are mandatory and which are discretionary.
    c. Provide a comprehensive list of which provisions of the Constitutions of California and the United States are ministerial.
    d. Does the Oath of Office of a public official have the same force and effect as a contract?
    e. Does violation of an Oath of Office constitute intent to "advocate the overthrow of our constitutional form of government" as declared in 5 U.S.C §7311?
    f. Which officials involved in this case have violated their Oath of Office?
    g. Pursuant to Article XX, §3 of the Cal. "Constitution of 1879" are officials required to take and subscribe an Oath of Office for each position they hold? For e.g. is a Police Officer required to take and subscribe an Oath of Office when promoted to the position of Police Sergeant– a position with different duties, responsibilities, and pay than that of a Police Officer?
        i. Based upon the answers to all of the foregoing questions, which officials listed in "Parties" are not lawfully in office?
            1. If any officials in "Parties" are not lawfully in office: (1) what effect does this have on their ability to accept compensation from the public treasury; and, (2) on their ability to make lawful determination(s) of Petitioners claims (claims for deprivation of Constitutionally protected rights, privileges, and/or immunities)?
    h. See Exhibit [D] pp.5159-5161. By what authority(ies) can Executive officials overrule, supersede, or amend the Cal. "Constitution of 1879" by creating and/or implementing policies to not subscribe an Oath of Office?
    i. See Exhibit [D] p.5200. By what authority(ies) can "officials" make up their own Oath of Office?
    j. See for e.g. Parties: Brian Wadkins, Mike Manson et al. who have not subscribed an Oath of Office.
        i. What effect does the failure to subscribe an oath of office have on an official's ability to receive compensation from the public treasury? On the official's authority to make any lawful orders or commands or to lawfully perform the function of their office?

27. Article III of the Constitution mandates that the judicial power of the United States "shall extend to all Cases in Law and Equity"[13]. In furtherance of this declaration, this Court has held that "[t]he constitution gave to every person having a claim upon a State, a right to submit his case to the Court of the nation. However unimportant his claim might be, however little the community might be interested in its decision, the framers of our constitution thought it necessary for the purposes of justice, to provide a tribunal as superior to influence as possible, in which that claim might be decided."[14] Consequently, the judicial power of the United States must be fully vested in Federal Courts in both original and appellate forms. Despite the foregoing, Congress has apparently not vested any judicial power of the United States at Law or Equity in any known District Court of the United States. See II(D)(6) of the Application for Emergency Stay. Furthermore, pursuant to at least 28 U.S.C. §1257, this Court has enforced a policy created by "Congress" whereby appellate review of State Court judgments "is not a matter of right, but of judicial discretion."[15] The result being, as directly evidenced by this case, that Petitioner (and all like situated litigants) have no apparent access to a Constitutional Court exercising the judicial power of the United States as conferred by Article III.
    a. By what authority(ies) has "Congress" refused to vest the judicial power of the United States in any original case at Law or Equity in any District Court of the United States?
    b. By what authority(ies) has "Congress" refused to vest the judicial power of the United States in any appellate case at Law or Equity in any District Court of the United States?

refuses to exercise appellate review of State Judgments where claims in violation of the Constitution are made?

d. Based on the fact that Congress has apparently refused to vest the full judicial power of the United States in any original case at Law or Equity, does this Court consequently have original jurisdiction in all cases at Law or Equity? If not, in what Court would Petitioner file such a case?

28. Pursuant to Article I, §10, was Petitioner entitled to a judicial determination of his rights in the first instance in all cases in which his rights, liberty, and/or property were to be taken under the authority of the State of California?
    a. Define the terms "Bill of Attainder" and "Bill of Pains and Penalties".
    b. Carefully noting that the Constitution imposes the restrictions of these Bills on a "State" specifically and not any specific branch of government or official, does the restriction against these Bills apply whenever State action imposes punishment by taking the rights, liberty, and/or property of one of the People by force of the Legislative, Executive or Judicial power of the State?
    c. Did the supposed ratification of the "14th Amendment" effectively amend Article I, §9 and §10? Did it amend any other provisions of the Constitution?
        i. If yes, precisely state and define all such Amendments.
        ii. Clearly define the extent the supposed ratification of the "14th Amendment" had on the State-Federal relationship originally established by the Constitution.
        iii. Were all of these Amendments to the Constitution effected by the supposed ratification of the "14th Amendment" disclosed to the People at the time of its "ratification"?
            1. If yes, provide the authenticated evidence of these disclosures for every "Amendment".
            2. If not, would non-disclosure of any of these issues nullify the validity of the Amendment?

foregoing, there appear to be two separate bodies politic in at least the State of California, if not every other State admitted into "this Union". Those bodies politic are the Citizens of California and citizens of the United States and/or United States citizens (Cal. Political Code §201).

a. Given that this Court has declared that corporations are "citizens of the United States"[19], who and/or what is a "citizen of the United States" (as used in the "14th Amendment") and a "United States citizen" (as used in the Cal. Elections Code §201?
b. State precisely all characteristics or circumstances in the individual or entity that determine whether one is a Citizen of a State, "citizen of the United States" or "United States citizen".

d. Who and/or what specifically is subject to the "jurisdiction thereof" as declared in the "14th Amendment"?
    i. What specifically is the "jurisdiction thereof" and what is its extent?
e. By what authority(ies) can Congress dictate to the States who are to be its Citizens?
f. In Petitioners research, it appears that the acceptance of Federal benefits such as Social Security, results in the fact that one also is considered a resident of the District of Columbia even though they may actually physically reside in a State. Does the fact that one is a "citizen of the United States", "United States citizen", or that one accepts any Federal benefits also mean, in any instance (other than if one actually physically resides in the District of Columbia) that one is a resident of the District of Columbia? If yes, state all instances in which this is the case and by what authority(ies)?

ii. Provide the authenticated evidence that there was a lawful quorum in the House and Senate to ratify the "14th Amendment".
iii. Under Article V, was the "14th Amendment" required to be ratified by conventions of People in the States? If not, why not?

30. In the case of Santa Clara County v. Southern Pacific Railroad, 118 U.S. 394 (1886) this Court first decided that the word "person" in the "14th Amendment" included corporations. See also Connecticut insurance v. Johnson, 303 U.S. 77 (1938) noting the dissent of Justice Black.
    a. At the time of the purported ratification of the "14th Amendment" was it disclosed to the People that the word "person" as used therein also meant corporations?
        i. If yes, provide the authenticated evidence of this disclosure.
        ii. If not, by what authority(ies) did this Court amend the Constitution to change the intended meaning of "person" to include corporations?
        iii. What effect(s) did this Court's inclusion of corporations as persons have on the make-up of the body politic of the United States and every State?
        iv. What Article(s) of the Constitution (other than the "14th Amendment") gives corporations the status and standing to state a claim in a judicial Constitutional Court of the United States"

31. Under our Constitutional governments of defined and limited powers, the Constitution is the "supreme Law of the Land". Therefore, "whenever an act of […] government is challenged a grant of power must be shown, or the act is void."[20] Pursuant to the First and Fifth Amendments, Petitioner also has a right to petition every branch of State and National government for Redress of Grievance. Commensurate with this right is the requirement that the office petitioned be lawfully occupied in order that a lawful investigation and/or intervention to redress the grievance(s) be made.

    Pursuant to Petitioner's investigation, a number of the Parties that purport to be duly elected, appointed, or employed as public officials, do not appear to lawfully be in office and thereby have no apparent authority to accept compensation from the public treasury or to provide any lawful redress of his complaints. This has resulted in further depriving Petitioner of his rights, liberty and property because his complaints have not been and cannot be lawfully addressed.

    Various provisions of the Constitution make Citizenship and/or residence in a State a central issue in whether or not an official can lawfully hold office. The apparent intent of these requirements includes: (1) that aliens and/or enemies not be allowed to hold office; and, (2) that the States and the People thereof receive effective representation in the government of the Nation by maintaining the independence and sovereignty of the bodies politic of each State.

In Petitioner's research (which remains inconclusive on the extent of these issues) there appears to be repeated action by the Federal government to centralize its power and authority by compounding the American People into one common mass as "citizen[s] of the United States" to make them (and/or the States) subject to its authority for taxation and other regulatory purposes, in direct contravention of the original intent of the Constitution. See especially Exhibit [J]– Invisible Contracts by George Mercier. The intent of this action appears to be the destruction of: (1) the separate and independent bodies politic of the States and consequently the States themselves (as the States cannot exist without a sovereign political body); and, (2) destruction of the inalienable rights secured by State Constitutions to State Citizens as the "14th Amendment" does not recognize any creator endowed inalienable rights and citizens of the United States apparently have none.

Under the apparent original intent of the Framers, the Federal government was not given any power to create Citizens. Each of the States reserved the power to define Citizenship by their respective Constitutions. The value of this Citizenship is that in many State Constitutions, inalienable rights inherent in the individual and antecedent to the formation of government were recognized. In other words, the rights of the People were not mere government privileges that could be revoked by political majorities or arbitrary edicts.

Consequently, there was no separate political body comprising "citizens of the United States" because the United States was never intended to be a separate political body. It is only a union of States with defined and limited powers derived from those States. "Citizens of the United States" as defined by the "14th Amendment" are consequently not represented in any State government or in Congress. A person only was considered a Citizen of the United States by virtue of the fact that they were a State Citizen. See especially the statements of Senator Reverdy Johnson (D) Maryland in the Congressional Globe of the 39th Congress pp. 1776 et seq.

One of the apparent methods of compounding the People into one common mass and thereby subjecting them to the jurisdiction of the United States as defined in the "14th Amendment", was to create confusion around the issue of State and Federal citizenship and to subsequently require the People to declare that they are a "citizen of the United States" (as opposed to a State Citizen) in order to obtain Federal benefits. These benefits, by no mistake, are in many cases required to function in society. The declaration of U.S. citizenship also appears to be required to: (1) obtain and hold any government office in California (and potentially that of every other "State"); (2) open a bank account; (3) vote in any election in California (and potentially that of every other "State"); and, (4) obtain a U.S. passport. See Exhibit [K] pp. 2, 8, 14.

The apparent result in at least California is that there are no State Citizens who hold office in any branch of California or U.S. government. Having no apparent State Citizens and not being represented in any branch of U.S government, the "States" are no longer separate sovereign political bodies, but are political subdivisions of the United States and "subject to the jurisdiction thereof".

According to section 201 of the Cal. Elections Code, "no person is eligible to be elected or appointed to an elective office unless that person is a registered voter." Under section 2101, "[a] person entitled to register to vote shall be a United States citizen."

a. If the People of California must be a "United States citizen" to vote, who specifically is the sovereign body politic of California (see e.g. Cal. Gov. Code §100)?
b. Is the sovereign body politic of California "United States citizens"?
c. In what State(s) admitted into "this Union" do "United States citizen[s]" reside or inhabit? Or, are they residents in the District of Columbia? See e.g. 26 U.S.C. 7408(d).
d. Keeping in mind that Article I, §2, requires that members of the House of Representatives be inhabitants of States, by what authority(ies) can a "United States citizen" become a representative in Congress?
e. By what authority(ies) can the Citizens of California be excluded from all offices of the governments of California and the United States?
f. See Cal. Elections Code §7100. By what authority(ies) can a "United States citizen" designate a presidential elector for the State of California?
g. Provide an authenticated list of the names of all Citizens of California who voted in the 2020 Presidential Election.
h. Provide an authenticated list of the names of all Electors of California (as chosen by the Citizens of California) who voted in the 2020 Presidential Election.
i. Are the Electors certified by Gavin Newsom in the 2020 Election Citizens of California or citizens of the United States?

32. In his attempt to stop the irreparable harm and damages being perpetrated upon him, Petitioner made numerous complaints to the FBI, the principal law enforcement agency of the Executive branch of the United States. To his knowledge and belief, the FBI has refused to investigate and/or intervene and appears to have an unwritten policy and practice to refuse to investigate and/or intervene in complaints for deprivation of Constitutionally protected rights.

The Chief Executive of the United States is the President. The right to Petition the office of the President for Redress of Grievance is guaranteed at any time pursuant to the First Amendment, especially when his subordinates refuse to execute their sworn duties. Pursuant to the First Amendment and Article IV, §4,[21] there must be a Lawfully enacted President in office to receive a complaint and make Lawful redress of grievance.

The People are the principals of the government they established. As there is no known complete certified public official record available for Petitioner (or any of the American People) to meaningfully and substantively verify the results any Presidential election, there is no known way to verify that Presidents, Vice Presidents, and all officials appointed by or under their authority are lawfully in office, and consequently, that they have any authority to address any of Petitioner's complaints (or take any Executive action whatsoever).

Elections aren't determined simply because certain public officials (who also may not Lawfully be in office) just say so by declaring a certain candidate "won the race". The documents of all elections must be completely transparent and verifiable by all of the People at all times.

a. Does Petitioner and each of the People have a duty to ensure their agents are Lawfully elected and/or appointed and Lawfully hold office at all times?
b. Does Petitioner and each of the People have a right to all the information necessary to determine the accuracy of all elections?
c. Does the fact that there is no complete certified record publicly available for Petitioner to meaningfully and substantively verify the results of the most recent President Election result in a violation of due process and to a Republican Form of Government based on the rule of Law and the consent of the governed?

33. As one of the checks and balances framed into the Constitution to ensure the meaningful representation of the People, Article I, §2, Cl. 3 clearly and unambiguously sets forth a minimum and maximum ratio of representation in the House of Representatives of Congress. Thereunder, the People of each [21] According to Article IV, §4, "The United States shall guarantee to every state in this union a republican form of government, […] and on application of the legislature, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened) against domestic violence. If, as Petitioner has alleged, the Legislature cannot be convened because there is no lawful representative quorum in the House, then, in addition to the rights secured by the First and Fifth Amendments, there must be a lawfully occupied office of the Executive.

State admitted into the Union have a right to a minimum of one representative and a maximum of one representative for every 30,000 inhabitants. It is also required that the number of the representatives "shall be apportioned […] within every subsequent term of ten years". See especially Federalist Papers No. 55, 56, Congressional Globe of February 9th, 1866, pages 763, and 764, Commentaries on the Constitution by Joseph Story, §642–§645, and Section 14 of Article II of the Northwest Ordinance of 1787 guaranteeing, even to inhabitants of territories, the right of proportional representation.

Today, with a population nearing 330,000,000 People, a proper ratio of representation in Congress of the United States would be close to 11,000 members, not 435.

a. By what authority(ies) did "Congress" pass the Act of June 18, 1929, otherwise known as the Permanent Apportionment Act, (46 Stat. 21, Pub. Law 71-13), fixing the number of Representatives in the House at 435?
b. Would an Act of this type and magnitude not have required a Constitutional Amendment by conventions of the People in the States as referred to in Article V? If not, why not?
c. Was there a lawful quorum in the House to pass the Act of June 18, 1929?
d. If the Act of June 18, 1929 is not Constitutional, please determine the Constitutionality of all acts of "Congress" dating back to when it began operating without a lawful quorum.
e. Additional safeguards pertaining to the separation of powers enumerated in the Constitution are (1) Article IV, §4 (whereby the United States shall guarantee a Republican Form of Government and protect the States (of whom the People are the sovereign bodies politic) from invasion and domestic violence upon Application of the Legislature); and (2) the First Amendment right to petition any branch of government for redress of grievance. If the Act of June 18, 1929 is not Constitutional and there is effectively no Congress to guarantee these protections and remedies, has Petitioners rights secured by Article IV, §4 and the First Amendment been violated?
f. Do the Judges of State and Federal Courts have a duty prior to the enforcement of any Act of a State Legislature or Congress to ensure that it was lawfully ratified?

34. According to the Cal. Secretary of State, the Cal. Constitution of 1849 has never been repealed. Article I, §14 of the Cal. Constitution of 1849 provides that "Representation shall be apportioned according to population." Mysteriously, this right was entirely removed from the purported Cal. "Constitution of 1879" and there has been no apportionment in the Cal. "Legislature" since at least its "ratification". Today, with a population nearing 40,000,000 People, a proper ratio of representation would be close to 1300 members, not 80.

a. By what authority(ies) has the California "Legislature" refused to apportion representation according to population?
b. Is there a lawful representative quorum in the Cal. "Legislature"?
    i. If no, has Petitioner thereby been denied the right and/or opportunity to Petition the "Legislature" for redress of grievance?
    ii. If no, please determine the Constitutionality of all acts of the Cal. "Legislature" dating back to when it began operating without a lawful quorum.
c. Is proportionate representation a critical aspect of a Republican Form of Government based on the rule of law and the consent of the governed secured by Article IV, 4?
    i. If yes, by what authority(ies) did "Congress" approve the Cal. "Constitution of 1879"?
        1. Would the failure to make this approval not be in direct dereliction of Congress' duty prescribed by Article IV, §4?
        2. Has Petitioner been deprived of a Republican form of government?

35. If California was a State admitted under English/ American common Law (see Fowler v. Smith 2 Cal. 568, 568-9 (1852) and not Roman civil law, how can the "Legislature" of California change and/or alter this fundamental process of governance (and the means and methods of adjudicating disputes) without the explicit consent of the People and Congress?
    a. Carefully distinguish between the systems of jurisprudence known as the common Law and Roman civil law. See especially Excellence of Common Law: Compared and Contrasted with Civil Law: In Light of History, Nature, and Scripture by Brent Allen Winters.

36. By what authority(ies) has this Court created and enforced the doctrines of Legislative, Judicial, and Executive immunity?
    a. Evidence specifically how each of these policies, crafted under a completely different and incompatible form of government, apply under the Constitutional Republican form of government for the United States of America of carefully defined and limited powers.

37. The Constitution vests the judicial power in Judges while also clearly defining and limiting the extent of this power (subject matter jurisdiction) by specific Articles and Amendments that articulate the ways and means by which a Court must proceed before depriving anyone of life, liberty, or property. Consequently, a Court must have subject matter jurisdiction over each issue in a case before the judicial power can be exercised to deprive anyone of any rights, privileges, or immunities. Under this Court's precedents however, subject matter jurisdiction appears to only apply to the issue of whether or not a Court has authority to hear and determine a case in the first instance.

a. Define subject matter jurisdiction.
b. By what authority(ies) does subject matter jurisdiction only apply to the type of the case and not to every issue in a case?
c. This Court has declared that "[i]t is a rule of construction, acknowledged by all, that the exceptions from a power mark its extent […]."[22] If the Constitution forbids a Judge from doing some act such as imposing an excessive fine, how can a Judge impose an excessive fine while maintaining subject matter jurisdiction?
    i. Define "exceed jurisdiction".
        1. How can a Judge exceed authority that was never granted to begin with? In other words, if the Constitution explicitly forbids a Judge from imposing an excessive fine, how can it be an excess of authority for a Judge to impose an excessive fine?
d. What effect does fraud and violations of due process have on personal and subject matter jurisdiction?

38. Keeping in mind that Article I, §8, Cl. 5 only gives Congress the power "[t]o coin Money, regulate the Value thereof, and of foreign Coin, and fix the Standard of Weights and Measures":
    a. by what authority(ies) did Congress pass the Federal Reserve Act of 1913 (Pub. Law. 63-43)?
        i. Was there a lawful representative quorum in "Congress" at the time of the purported passage of Pub. Law. 63-43?
        ii. By what authority(ies) can Congress perform the acts in Pub. Law. 63-43?
        iii. Even if there were a lawful representative quorum and Congress possessed the power to perform the acts in Pub. Law. 63-43, by what authority(ies) did/can Congress delegate these powers to the President?
    b. Define "coin money" as used in Article I, §8, Cl. 5.
    c. Define "elastic currency" as used in Pub. Law. 63-43 and state the Constitutional authority which gives Congress the power to create an "elastic currency".
    d. In what subject matter jurisdiction does gold and silver coin and bullion circulate?
    e. In what subject matter jurisdiction do Federal Reserve Notes circulate?
    f. Keeping in mind the Coinage Act of 1792 and the Seventh Amendment, what is the definition of a "dollar" as stated on a Federal Reserve Note?

    i. In what jurisdiction does this Certificate circulate?

h. See Bank of Columbia v. Okely, 17 U.S. 235 (1819).
    i. Does section 4 of the "14th Amendment" make all "citizens of the United States" hypothecators of goods and/or stipulators in the admiralty?
    ii. By what authority(ies) can "citizens of the United States" be restrained from questioning the fiscal policies of their government?
    iii. Are State Citizens also restrained from questioning the fiscal policies of their government? If so, by what authority(ies)?
i. Explain the entire process by which "money" is created under the Federal Reserve System.
j. According to Marriner S. Eccles, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, "if there were no debt in our money system […] [t]here wouldn't be any money."[23] See also Congressional Record– House, August 19, 1940, pp.10548-10555 stating that "the Federal Reserve System is a private banking system, and every dollar of credit it puts into circulation is based on someone's debt […]") Id. p.10550. See also Cohens v. Virginia, 19 U.S. 264, 403 (1821) stating that "the act discharging [a] debt is a mere nullity and that it is still due."

    ii. How can the National Debt ever be repaid?
k. Can specie as defined by the Coinage Act of 1792 be subjected to any State (of California) and Federal taxes? If so, which specific taxes and by what authority(ies)?
l. What specifically is/are the difference(s) between discharging an obligation and paying an obligation?
m. By what specific authority(ies) does Petitioner become a "taxpayer" and (i) subject to the Internal Revenue Code; and, (ii) subject to the Revenue and Taxation Code of California? (iii) What role does obtaining a social security number and any Federal benefits have in the determination of whether Petitioner is a taxpayer and subject to either of the aforementioned tax codes?

n. Keeping in mind that "[t]he prohibitions not to make any thing but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts, and not to pass any law impairing the obligation of contracts, were inserted to secure private rights […]", Calder v. Bull, 3 U.S. 386, 390 (1798), what effect(s) does the use of Federal Reserve Notes have on private rights and the obligations of private contracts?
    i. What is the definition of a "private right"?
        1. List and exhaustively define the extent of all "private rights" that are recognized under the California and U.S. Constitutions.
o. By what authority(ies) was the so-called "National Debt" created?
p. Who and/or what specifically is security and/or collateral for the "National Debt"?

s. Provide authenticated evidence that the so-called "National Debt" was created by Petitioner's consent.
t. By what specific lawful, legal, and/or administrative process(es) can Petitioner sever the contract and/or bond as a security and/or collateral for the "National Debt"?

w. Does Petitioner have absolute right, title, and interest in his body and the products of his faculties?
    i. If not, by what authority(ies) and who/what entity(ies) has any rights, title, and/or interest?

39. Keeping in mind that individual rights have historically been tied to Land and that the Constitution for the United States of America "and Laws of the United States, which shall be made in Pursuance thereof" are declared to be the "supreme Law of the Land" (Article VI, 2), are the inalienable rights or any other rights, privileges, or immunities whether guaranteed by the Cal. Constitution and U.S. Constitutions tied to or in any way associated or dependent upon whether one claims ownership (stake's a claim) in Land?

a. If yes, please explain the full nature and scope of this Land-rights connection and precisely how one stake's a claim.
b. To stake a claim in Land, must one use gold or silver coin or bullion to pay in full for the Land?
    i. What effect does the use of Federal Reserve Notes have, if any, upon one's ability to lawfully pay for and stake a claim in Land?

40. See Exhibit [D] pp.5217-5230 and Cal. Civil Code §2924. By what authority(ies) can Petitioner be denied a judicial determination of his rights in foreclosure proceedings such as the proceeding for the foreclosure of the real property at 818 Spirit Costa Mesa, California?

    e. How is the property itself foreclosed upon when it is only the Deed of Trust that is the security for the note?
